15 There is nothing without a man, that can defile him, when it entreth into him: but the things which proceede out of him, are they which defile the man.

16 If any haue eares to heare, let him heare.

17 And when he came into an house, away from the people, his disciples asked him concerning the parable.

18 And he said vnto them, What? are ye without vnderstanding also? Do ye not know that whatsoeuer thing from without entreth into a man, cannot defile him, 19 Because it entreth not into his heart, but into the belly, & goeth out into the draught which is the [h] purging of all meates?

20 Then he said, that which commeth out of man, that defileth man.

21 *For from within, euen out of the heart of men, proceede euil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murthers, 22 Thefts, [i] couetousnesse, wickednesse, deceite, vncleannesse, a [k] wicked eye, backebiting, pride, foolishnesse.

23 All these euill things come from within, and defile a man.

27 But Iesus saide vnto her, Let the children first be fedde: for it is not good to take the childrens bread, and to cast it vnto [o] whelpes.

28 Then she answered, and said vnto him, [p] Trueth, Lord: yet in deede the whelpes eate vnder the table of the childrens crummes.

12 Then he [c] sighed deepely in his spirite, and saide, Why doeth this generation seeke a signe? Verely I say vnto you, [d] A signe shall not be giuen vnto this generation.

13 ¶ So he left them, and went into the ship againe, and departed to the other side.

14 ¶ *And they had forgotten to take bread, neither had they in the ship with them, but one loafe.

15 [2] And he charged them, saying, Take heede, and beware of the leauen of the Pharises, and of the leauen of Herod.

16 [3] And they reasoned among themselues, saying, It is, because we haue no bread.

17 And when Iesus knewe it, he said vnto them, Why reason you thus, because ye haue no bread? perceiue ye not yet, neither vnderstand? haue ye your hearts yet hardened?

29 And he saide vnto them, But whom say ye that I am? Then Peter answered, and said vnto him, Thou art that Christ.

30 [7] And hee charged them, that concerning him they should tell no man.

31 [8] Then he began to teach them that the Sonne of man must suffer many things, and should be reproued of the Elders, and of the hie Priestes, and of the Scribes, and be slaine, and within three dayes rise againe.

32 [9] And he spake that thing boldly. Then Peter tooke him aside, and began to rebuke him.

33 Then hee turned backe, and looked on his disciples, and rebuked Peter, saying, Get thee behinde me, Satan: for thou [h] vnderstandest not the things that are of God, but the things that are of men.

34 ¶ [10] And he called the people vnto him with his disciples, and said vnto them, *Whosoeuer will follow me, let him forsake himselfe, and take vp his crosse, and follow me.

10 And in the houſe his diſciples aſked him againe of that matter.

13 [*2] Then they brought little children to him, that he ſhould touch them, and his diſciples rebuked thoſe that brought them.

2 God of his goodneſſe comprehendeth in the couenant not onely the fathers, but the children alſo: and therefore ſo bleſſeth them.

14 But when Ieſus ſawe it, he was diſpleaſed, and ſaid to them, Suffer the litle children to come vnto me, and forbid them not: for of ſuch is the kingdome of God.

15 Verely I ſay vnto you, Whoſoeuer ſhall not receiue the kingdome of God [3] as a litle childe, he ſhall not enter therein.

3 We muſt in malice become children, if we will enter into the kingdome of heauen.

16 And he tooke them vp in his armes, and put his hands vpon them, and bleſſed them.

17 [4] And when he was gone out on the way, there came one *running, and kneeled to him, and aſked him, Good Maſter, what ſhall I doe, that I may poſſeſſe eternall life?

4 Two things are chiefly to be eſchewed of them which earneſtly ſeeke euerlaſting life: that is to ſay, an opinion of their merites or deſeruings, which is not onely vaine, but condemned by the true confeſſion of the faith: and the loue of riches, which turneth aſide many, from that race wherein they ran with a good courage.

*Matth.16.16 luke 18.18.

18 Ieſus ſaid to him, Why calleſt thou me good? there is none good but one, euen God.

*Exod.20.13.

19 Thou knoweſt the commaundements, *Thou ſhalt not commit adultery. Thou ſhalt not kill. Thou ſhalt not ſteale. Thou ſhalt not beare falſe witneſſe. Thou ſhalt [d] hurt no man. Honour thy father and mother.

d Neither by force nor fraude, nor any other meane whatſoeuer.

20 Then he anſwered, and ſaide to him, Maſter, all theſe things I haue obſerued from my youth.

21 And Ieſus looked vpon him, and loued him, and ſaide vnto him, One thing is lacking vnto thee. Goe and ſell all that thou haſt, and giue to the poore, and thou ſhalt haue treaſure in heauen, and come, followe me, and take vp the croſſe.

22 But he was ſad at that ſaying, & went away ſorowfull: for he had great poſſeſſions.

23 And Ieſus looked round about, & ſaide vnto his diſciples, Howe hardly doe they that haue riches, enter into the kingdome of God!

24 And his diſciples were afraide at his wordes. But Ieſus anſwered againe, and ſaid vnto them, Children, howe hard is it for them that truſt in riches, to enter into the kingdome of God!

25 It is eaſier for a camell to goe through the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

26 And they were much more aſtonied, ſaying with themſelues, Who then can be ſaued?

*Matth.19.25. luke 18.26.

27 But Ieſus looked vpon them, and ſaid, With men it is impoſſible, but not with God: for with God all things are poſſible.

5 To neglect all things in compariſon of Chriſt, is a ſure way to come to eternall life, ſo that we fall not away by the way.

28 [*5] Then Peter began to ſay vnto him, Lo, we haue forſaken al, and haue followed thee.

29 Jesus answered, and said, Verely I say vnto you, there is no man that hath forsaken house, or brethren, or sister, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or landes for my sake and the Gospels, 30 But he shal receiue an [c] hundred folde, now at this present, houses, and brethren, and sisters, and mothers, and children, and landes [f] with persecutions, and in the world to come, eternall life.

31 * But many that are first, shall be last, and the last, first.

32 ¶ *6 And they were in the way, going vp to Hierusalem, and Jesus went before them and they were troubled, and as they followed, they were afraide, and Jesus tooke the twelue againe, and began to tell them what things should come vnto him,

33 Saying, Beholde, wee goe vp to Hierusalem, and the Sonne of man shalbe deliuered vnto the hie Priestes, and to the Scribes, and they shall condemne him to death, and shall deliuer him to the Gentiles, 34 And they shall mocke him, and scourge him, and spit vpon him, and kill him: but the thirde day he shall rise againe.

35 ¶ *7 Then James & John the sonnes of Zebedeus came vnto him, saying, Master, [g] we would that thou shouldest doe for vs that we desire.

36 And he said vnto them, What would ye I should doe for you?

37 And they said to him, Graunt vnto vs, that wee may sit, one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy glory.

38 But Jesus saide vnto them, Ye knowe not what ye aske, Can ye drinke of the cup that I drinke of, and be baptized with the baptisme that I shalbe baptized with?

39 And they saide vnto him, We can. But Jesus said vnto them, Yee shall drinke in deed of the cup that I shall drinke of, and bee baptized with the baptisme wherewith I shall be baptized:

40 But to sit at my right hande and at my left, is not mine to giue, but it shall be giuen to them for whom it is prepared.

41 And when the ten heard that, they began to disdaine at James and John.

42 [8] But Jesus called them vnto him, and saide to them, * Ye know that [h] they which are princes among the Gentiles, haue domination ouer them, and they that be great among them, exercise authoritie ouer them.

43 But it shall not bee so among you: but whosoeuer will be great among you, shall bee your seruant.

44 And whosoeuer will bee chiefe of you, shalbe the seruant of all.

45 For euen the Sonne of man came not to bee serued, but to serue, and to giue his life for the ransome of many.

46 ¶ *9 Then they came to Jericho: and as hee went out of Jericho with his disciples, and a great multitude, Bartimeus the sonne of Timeus, a blinde man, sate by the wayes side, begging.

47 And when hee heard that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to cry, and to say, Jesus the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on me.

48 And many rebuked him, because hee should hold his peace: but he cried much more, O Sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on me.

49 Then Jesus stood stil, and commanded him to be called: and they called the blinde, saying vnto him, Be of good comfort: arise, hee calleth thee.

50 So he threw away his cloake, and rose, and came to Jesus.

51 And Jesus answered, & saide vnto him, What wilt thou that I doe vnto thee? And the blinde saide vnto him, Lord, that I may receiue sight.

52 Then Jesus saide vnto him, Goe thy way: thy faith hath saued thee. And by and by, hee receiued his sight, and followed Jesus in the way.

4 And they went their way, and found a Colt tied by the doore without, in a place where two wayes met, and they loosed him.

5 Then certaine of them that stoode there, saide vnto them, What doe yee loosing the Colte?

6 And they saide vnto them, as Jesus had commanded them: So they let them goe.

7 ¶ * And they brought the Colt to Jesus, and cast their garments on him, and he sate vpon him.

11 * So Jeſus entred into Hieruſalem, and into the Temple: and when hee had looked about on all things, and nowe it was euening, he went foorth vnto Bethania with the twelue.

12 * And on the morowe when they were come out from Bethania, he was hungrie.

13 [2] And ſeeing a figge tree afarre off, that had leaues, he went to ſee if he might finde any thing thereon: but when he came vnto it, he found nothing but leaues: for the time of figs was not yet.

14 Then Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid to it, Neuer man eate fruite of thee hereafter while the world ſtandeth: and his diſciples heard it.

18 And the Scribes & high Prieſtes heard it, and ſought how to deſtroy him: for they feared him, becauſe the whole multitude was aſtonied at his doctrine.

19 But when euen was come, Ieſus went out of the citie.

20 ¶ * [4] And in the morning as they iourneyed together, they ſawe the figge tree dried vp from the rootes.

21 Then Peter remembred, and ſaid vnto him, Maiſter, beholde, the figge tree which thou curſedſt is withered.

22 And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaide vnto them, Haue [e] the faith of God.

23 For verely I ſay vnto you, that whoſoeuer ſhall ſay vnto this mountaine, Be thou taken away, and caſt into the Sea, and ſhall not wauer in his heart, but ſhall beleeue that thoſe things which he ſaith, ſhal come to paſſe, whatſoeuer he ſaith, ſhall be done to him.

25 * But when ye ſhall ſtand, and pray, forgiue, if yee haue any thing againſt any man, that your Father alſo which is in heauen, may forgiue you your treſpaſſes.

26 For if you will not forgiue, your Father which is in heauen, will not pardon you your treſpaſſes.

27 ¶ * [5] Then they came againe to Hieruſalem: and as hee walked in the Temple, there came to him the high Prieſtes, and the Scribes, and the Elders, 28 And ſaid vnto him, By what authoritie doeſt thou theſe things? and who gaue thee this authoritie, that thou ſhouldeſt doe theſe things?

29 Then Jeſus anſwered, and ſaide vnto them, I will alſo aſke of you a certaine thing, and anſwere ye me, and I will tel you by what authoritie I doe theſe things.

30 The baptiſme of John, was it from heauen, or of men? anſwere me.

31 And they thought with themſelues, ſaying, If we ſhall ſay, From heauen, he will ſay, Why then did ye not beleeue him?

32 [6] But if wee ſay, Of men, we feare the people: for all men counted John, that he was a Prophet indeed.

33 Then they anſwered, and ſaide vnto Jeſus, We cannot tell. And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid vnto them, Neither wil I tell you by what authoritie I doe theſe things.

9 What shall then the Lorde of the vineyarde doe? Hee will come and destroy these husbandmen, and giue the vineyard to others.

10 Haue yee not read so much as this Scripture? * The stone which the builders did refuse, is made the head of the corner.

11 This was done of the Lorde, and it is marueilous in our eyes.

12 Then they went c about to take him, but they feared the people: for they perceiued that he spake that parable against them: therefore they left him, and went their way.

13 ¶ *2 And they sent vnto him certaine of the Pharises, and of the Herodians that they might take him in his talke.

14 And when they came, they saide vnto him, Master, we knowe that thou art true, and carest for no man: for thou d considerest not the person of men, but teachest the e way of God truely, Is it lawfull to giue tribute to Cesar, or not?

15 Should wee giue it, or should wee not giue it? but he knew their hypocrisie, and said vnto them, Why tempt ye me? Bring mee a penie, that I may see it.

16 So they brought it, and hee saide vnto them, Whose is this image and superscription? and they said vnto him, Cesars.

17 Then Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, * Giue to Cesar the things that are Cesars, and to God, those that are Gods: and they marueiled at him.

18 ¶ *3 Then came the Sadduces vnto him, (which say, there is no resurrection) and they asked him, saying, 19 Master, * Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mans brother die, and leaue his wife, f leaue no children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise vp seed vnto his brother.

20 There were seuen brethren, and the first tooke a wife, and when hee died, left no issue.

21 Then the second tooke her, and he died, neither did hee yet leaue issue, and the thirde likewise:

22 So those seuen had her, and left no issue: last of all the wife died also.

23 In the resurrection then, when they shall rise againe, whose wife shall shee be of them? for seuen had her to wife.

24 Then Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, Are yee not therefore deceiued, because ye know not the Scriptures, neither the power of God?

25 For when they shall rise againe from the dead, neither men marry, nor wiues are married, but are as the Angels which are in heauen.

26 And as touching the dead, that they shall rise againe, haue yee not read in the booke of Moses, howe in the bush God spake vnto him, saying, I * am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob?

27 God is not the God of the dead, but the God of the liuing. Yee are therefore greatly deceiued.

28 ¶ *4 Then came one of the Scribes that had heard them disputing together, and perceiuing that hee had answered them well, he asked him, Which is the first commaundement of all?

29 Iesus answered him, The first of all the commandements is, * Heare, Israel, The Lord our God is the onely Lord.

30 Thou shalt therefore loue the Lord thy God with al thine heart, and with all thy soule, and with all thy minde, & with all thy strength: this is the first commandement.

31 And the second is like, that is, * Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe. There is none other commaundement greater then these.

32 Then that Scribe said vnto him, Well, Master, thou hast saide the trueth, that there is one God, and that there is none but he,

33 And to loue him with all the heart, and with all the vnderstanding, and with all the soule, and with all the strength, and to loue his neighbour as himselfe, is more then all the whole burnt offerings and sacrifices.

34 Then when Iesus saw that he answered discreetly, he said vnto him, Thou art not farre from the kingdome of God. And no man after that durst aske him any question.

35 ¶ *5 And Iesus answered and saide teaching in the Temple, How say the Scribes that Christ is the sonne of Dauid?

36 For Dauid himselfe saide by f the holy Ghost, * The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, til I make thine enemies thy foote-stoole.

37 Then Dauid himself calleth him Lord: by what meanes is hee then his sonne? and much people heard him gladly.

38 *6 Moreouer he said vnto them in g his doctrine, Beware of the Scribes which loue to goe in h long robes, and loue salutations in the markets, 28 Now learne a parable of the figge tree. When her bough is yet tender, and it bringeth foorth leaues, yee knowe that ſommer is neere.

30 Uerely I ſay vnto you, that this generation ſhall not paſſe, till all theſe things be done.

g The latter day is not curiouſly to be ſearched for, which the Father alone knoweth, but let vs rather take heed, that it come not vpon vs vnawares.

31 Heauen and earth ſhall paſſe away, but my words ſhal not paſſe away.

*Matth.24.13.

33 * Take heede: watch, and pray: for ye know not when the time is.

34 For the Sonne of man is as a man going into a strange countrey, and leaueth his house, and giueth authoritie to his seruants, and to euery man his worke, and commandeth the porter to watch.

35 Watch ye therefore, (for ye knowe not when the master of the house will come, at euen, or at midnight, at the Cocke crowing, or in the dawning,) 36 Least if hee come suddenly, hee should finde you sleeping.

37 And those things that I say vnto you, I say vnto all men, Watch.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The Priestes conspiracie against Christ. 3 The woman powring oyle on Christes head. 12 The preparing of the Passeouer. 22 The institution of the Supper. 41 Christ deliuered into the handes of men. 43 Iudas betrayeth him with a kisse. 53 Christ is before Caiaphas. 66 Peters deniall.

*Matth.26.2. luke 22.1.

1 By the wil of God, against the counsel of men, it came to passe that Christ should be put to death vpon the solemne day of the Passeouer, that in all respects the truetly might agree to the figure.

AND * 1 two dayes after followed the feast of the Passeouer, & of vnleauened bread: and the hie Priestes, and Scribes sought how they might take him by craft, and put him to death.

2 But they said, Not in the feast day, least there be any tumult among the people.

*Matth.26.6. ioh 12.2.

3 * And when hee was in Bethania in the house of Simon the leper, as hee sate at table, there came a woman hauing a box of oyntment of spikenard, very costly, and shee brake the box, and powred it on his head.

2 Rash iudgements are frustrate before God.

4 2 Therefore some disdained among themselues, and said, To what ende is this waste of oyntment?

1 Which is about sixe pounds English.

5 For it might haue bene solde for more then 1 three hundreth pence, and bene giuen vnto the poore, & they murmured against her.

3 Christ suffered himselfe to be anointed once a wise for certaine considerations: but his buriall is to be duely emprinted in the heart.

6 But Jesus saide, Let her alone: why trouble ye her? she hath wrought a good worke on me.

7 3 For ye haue the poore with you alwaies, and when ye will ye may doe them good, but me ye shall not haue alwayes.

4 This woman by the secrete instinct of the spirit, anoynting Christ, letteth before mens eyes, his death and burial which were at hand.

*Matth. 26.14. luke 22.4.

8 4 She hath done that shee coulde: shee came afore hand to anoint my body to the burying.

5 Couetousnes clothed with a zeale of charitie, is an occasion to betray and crucifie Christ.

9 Verely I say vnto you, whersoeuer this Gospel shalbe preached throughout the whole world, this also that she hath done, shall be spoken of in remembrance of her.

10 ¶ * 5 Then Judas Iscariot, one of the twelue, went away vnto the high Priestes, to betray him vnto them.

11 And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised that they would giue him money: therefore he sought how he might conueniently betray him.

*Mat.26.17. luke 22.8.

6 Christ being made subiect to the Law for vs, doth celebrate the Passeouer according to the Lawe: and therewithal by a miracle sheweth that notwithstanding he in the flesh shall straightway suffer, yet that he is God.

12 ¶ * 6 Now the first day of vnleauened bread, b when c they sacrificed the d Passeouer, his disciples saide vnto him, Where wilt thou that we goe and prepare, that thou maiest eate the Passeouer?

b That is, vpon which day, and in the euening of the same day, which was the beginning of the fifteenth, Looke Matth.26.17.

c They vsed to sacrifice.

d This is spoken thus, by the figure Metonymia, which is vsual in Sacraments, and by the Passeouer is ment the Paschal lambe.

13 Then hee sent foorth two of his disciples, and said vnto them, Goe ye into the citie, and there shall a man meete you bearing a pitcher of water: folow him.

14 And whithersoeuer he goeth in, say ye to the good man of the house, The Master saith, Where is the lodging where I shall eate the Passeouer with my disciples?

e The Greeke word signifieth that part of the house that is highest from the ground, to what vse soeuer it be put, but because they vsed to sup in that part of the house, they called it a supping chamber.

15 And he will shew you an e vpper chamber which is large, trimmed and prepared: there make it readie for vs.

16 So his disciples went foorth, and came to the citie, and found as he had said vnto them, and made ready the Passeouer.

*Psal.41.10. matt.26.20,23. luke 22.14. iohn 13.18,21.

7 The figure of the law, which is by and by to be fulfilled, is abrogated: & in place thereof are put figures of the new couenant answerable vnto them, which shal continue to the worlds ende.

17 ¶ And at euen hee came with the twelue.

18 * 7 And as they sate at table and did eate, Jesus said, Verily I say vnto you, that one of you shal betray me, which eateth with me.

f That vseth to eate meate with me.

19 Then they began to bee sorowfull and to say to him one by one, Is it I? And another, Is it I?

20 And he answered and said vnto them, It is one of the twelue that f dippeth with mee in the platter.

*Acts.1.16. *Mat.26.26. 1.cor.11.24.

21 Truely the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: * but woe be to that man, by whom the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had bene good for that man, if he had neuer bene borne.

22 * And as they did eate, Jesus tooke the bread, and when he had giuen thanks, he brake it and gaue it to them, and said, Take, eate, this is my body.

23 Also he tooke the cup, and when he had giuen thankes, gaue it to them: and they all dranke of it.

24 And he saide vnto them, This is my blood of that new Testament which is shed for many.

25 Verely I say vnto you, I wil drinke no more of the fruit of the vine vntill that day, that I drinke it new in the kingdome of God.

26 And when they had sung a Psalme, they went out to the mount of Olives.

*John 16.32.

8 Christ foretelleth how he shal be forsaken of his, but yet that he wil neuer forsake them.

*Zach.13.7. *Chap.16.7.

9 Here is set foorth in an excellent person, a most sorowfull exampie of mans rashnesse and weakenesse.

27 ¶ * 8 Then Jesus said vnto them, All ye shall be offended by mee this night: for it is written, * I will smite the shepheard, and the sheepe shall be scattered.

28 But after that I am risen, I wil go into * Galile before you.

29 9 And Peter saide vnto him, Although all men should be offended at thee, yet would not I.

30 Then Jesus saide vnto him, Verely I say vnto thee, this day, euen in this night, before the Cocke crow twise, thou shalt deny me thrise.

g That doubling of wordes letteth out more plainely Peters vehement affirmation.

31 But he said more earnestly, If I should die with thee, I wil not deny thee: like wise also said they all.

32 ¶ *10 After, they came into a place named Gethsemane: then he said to his disciples, Sit ye here, til I haue prayed.

*Mat.26.36. luke 22.39.

10 Christ suffering for vs in that flesh which he tooke vpon him for our sakes, the most horrible terrours of the curse of God, receiueth the cup at his fathers handes, which he being iust, doth straight way drinke of for the iniust.

33 And hee tooke with him Peter, and James, and John, and he began to be troubled, and in great heauinesse, 34 And saide vnto them, My soule is very heauie, euen vnto the death: tarie here, and watch.

h This doubling of the word, was vsed in those dayes, when their languages were so mixed together: for this word, Abba, is a Syrian word.

35 So hee went forwarde a litle, and fell down on the ground, and prayed, that if it were possible, that houre might passe from him.

36 And he saide, h Abba, Father, all things are possible vnto thee: take away this cuppe from me: neuertheless not that I wil, but that thou wilt, be done.

11 An horrible example of the sluggishnes of men, euen in the disciples whom Christ had chosen.

37 11 Then hee came, and found them sleeping, and said to Peter, Simon, sleepest thou? couldest not thou watch one houre?

38 ¶ Watch ye, and pray, that ye enter not into tentation: the spirite in deede is ready, but the flesh is weake.

39 And againe he went away, and prayed, and spake the same wordes.

40 And hee returned, and found them asleepe againe: for their eyes were heauie: neither knew they what they should answere him.

41 And he came the thirde time, and saide vnto them, Sleepe henceforth, and take your rest: it is ynough: the houre is come: beholde, the Sonne of man is deliuered into the handes of sinners.

42 Rise vp: let vs goe: loe, he that betrayeth me, is at hand.

* Mat.26.47. luke 22.47. iohn 18.3.

12 As men did willingly spoyle God their Creator of his praise, in forsaking and betraying him: so Christ willingly going about to make satisfaction for this ruine, is forsaken of his owne, and betrayed by one of his familiars as a theefe, that the punishment might be agreeable to the sinne, and we who are very traitors, forsakers, and sacrilegers, might be deliuered out of the deuils snare.

43 *12 And immediatly while he yet spake, came Iudas that was one of the twelue, and with him a great multitude with swordes and staues from the hie Priestes, and Scribes, and Elders.

44 And hee that betrayed him, had giuen them a token, saying, Whomsoeuer I shall kisse, hee it is: take him and leade him away i safely.

i So diligently, that he scape not out of your hands.

45 And assoone as he was come, hee went straightway to him, and saide, Haile Master, and kissed him.

k That is, Peter.

46 Then they layd their handes on him, and tooke him.

47 And k one of them that stoode by, drew out a sworde, and smote a seruant of the high Priest, and cut off his eare.

48 And Iesus answered and saide to them, Yee bee come out as against a theefe with swordes, and with staues, to take me.

49 I was dayly with you teaching in the Temple, and yee tooke mee not: but this is done that the Scriptures should be fulfilled.

1 All his disciples.

50 Then they l all forsooke him, and fled.

13 Vnder pretence of godlines, all things are lawful to such as doe violence against Christ.

m Which he cal about him, when he hearing that sturre in the night suddenly ranne foorth: wherby we may vnderstand with how great licentiousnes these villaines violently set vpon him.

51 13 And there followed him a certaine yong man, clothed in m linnen vpon his bare body, and the yong men caught him.

52 But hee left his linnen cloth, and fled from them naked.

*Mat. 26.57. luke 22.54. iohn 18.24.

n The highest Councel was assembled, because Christ was accused as a blasphemer and a false prophet: for as for the other crime of treason, it was forged against him by the Priests, to enforce Pilate by that meanes to condemne him.

53 * So they led Iesus away to the hie Priest, and to him came n together all the high Priests, and the Elders, and the Scribes.

14 Christ who was so innocent that he could not be oppressed, no not by false witnesses, is at length, for confessing God to be his Father, condemned of impietie before the hie Priest: that we, who denied God, and were in deede wicked, might be quit before God.

54 And Peter followed him a farre off, euen into the hall of the high Priest, and sate with the seruants, and warmed himselfe at the fire.

55 14 And the * high Priestes, and all the Councill sought for witnesse against Iesus, to put him to death, but found none.

* Mat.26.59. *Iohn 2.19.

o Of God, who is most worthy of all praise.

56 For many bare false witnesse against him, but their witnesse agreed not together.

57 Then there arose certaine, & bare false witnesse against him, saying,

58 We heard him say, * I wil destroy this Temple made with handes, and within three dayes I will builde another made without handes.

59 But their witnesse yet agreed not together.

60 Then the hie Priest stoode vp amongst them, and asked Iesus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? what is the matter that these beare witnesse against thee?

61 But he held his peace, and answered nothing. Againe the hie Priest asked him, and said vnto him, Art thou that Christ the Sonne of the o Blessed?

62 And Iesus said, I am he, * and ye shall see the Sonne of man sit at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the cloudes of heauen.

* Mat.24.30.

63 Then the hie Priest rent his clothes, and saide, What haue we any more needs of witnesses?

64 Yee haue heard the blasphemie: what thinke yee? And they all condemned him to be worthy of death.

15 Christ suffering all kinde of reproch for our sakes, getteth euerlasting glory to them that beleeue in him.

65 15 And some began to spit at him, and to couer his face, and to beat him with fistes, and to say vnto him, Prophesie. And the sergeants smote him with their rods.

* Marke 26.69. luke 22.55. iohn 18.25.

16 An heauie example of the frailtie of man together with a most comfortable example of the mercie of God, who giueth the spirit of repentance and faith to his elect.

66 *16 And as Peter was beneath in the hall, there came one of the maydes of the hie Priest.

67 And when shee sawe Peter warming himselfe, she looked on him, and saide, Thou wast also with Iesus of Nazareth.

68 But hee denied it, saying, I know him not, neither wotte I what thou sayest. Then he went out into the porch, and the cocke crew.

69 *Then

69 *Then p a maid sawe him againe, and began to say to them that stood by, This is one of them.

70 But he denied it againe: and anone after, they that stoode by, sayd againe to Peter. Surely thou art one of them: for thou art of Galile, and thy speach is like.

71 And he began to curse, and sweare, saying, I know not this man of whom ye speake.

72 *Then the second time the cocke crew, & Peter remembred the word that Jesus had sayd vnto him, Before the cocke crowe twise, thou shalt deny me thrise, & waying that with himselfe, he wept.

*Mat. 26.71.
p If we compare the Euangelists diligently together, we shal perceiue that Peter was knowen of many through the maidens report: yea, and in Luke, when the second deniall is spoken of, there is a man seruant mentioned, and not a maid.

CHAP. XV.

1 Of the things that Christ suffered vnder Pilate. 11 Barabbas is preferred before Christ. 15 Pilate deliuereth Christ to be crucified. 17 He is crowned with thorne. 19 They spit on him, and mocke him. 21 Simon of Cyrene carrieth Christes crosse. 27 Christ is crucified betweene two theeues. 29 He is railed at. 37 He giueth vp the ghost. 43 Ioseph burieth him.

AND *1 anone in the dawning, the hie Priests held a Council with the Elders, and the Scribes, and the whole Councill, and bound Jesus, and led him away, and a deliuered him to Pilate.

2 Then Pilate asked him, Art thou the King of the Iewes? And he answered, and sayd vnto him, Thou saiest it.

3 And the hie Priests accused him of many things.

4 *Wherefore Pilate asked him againe, saying, Answerest thou nothing? behold how many things they witnesse against thee.

5 But Jesus answered no more at all, so that Pilate marueiled.

6 Now at the feast, Pilate b did deliuer a prisoner vnto them, whomsoeuer they would desire.

7 Then there was one named Barabbas, which was bound with his fellowes, that had made insurrection, who in the insurrection had committed murther.

8 And the people cried aloude, & began to desire that he would doe as he had euer done vnto them.

9 Then Pilate answered them, and said, Will ye that I let loose vnto you the King of the Iewes?

10 For hee knew that the hie Priests had deliuered him of enuie.

11 But the high Priestes had mooued the people to desire that he would rather deliuer Barabbas vnto them.

12 And Pilate answered, & said againe vnto them, What will yee then that I doe with him, whom ye call the King of the Iewes?

13 And they cried againe, Crucifie him.

14 Then Pilate said vnto them, But what euil hath he done? And they cried the more feruently, Crucifie him.

15 So Pilate willing to content the people, loosed them Barabbas, and deliuered Jesus, when he had scourged him, that hee might be crucified.

16 Then the souldiours led him away into the hall, which is the common hall, and called together the whole band,

17 2 And clad him with purple, & platted a crowne of thornes, and put it about his head, 18 And began to salute him, saying, Haile King of the Iewes.

19 And they smote him on the head with a reed, and spat vpon him, and bowed the knees, & did him reuerence.

20 And when they had mocked him, they tooke the purple off him, and put his owne clothes on him, and led him out to crucifie him.

21 *And they 3 compelled one that passed by, called Simon of Cyrene (which came out of the countrey, and was father of Alexander and Rufus) to beare his crosse.

22 *4 And they brought him to a place named Golgotha, which is by interpretation, the place of dead mens skuls.

23 And they gaue him to drinke wine mingled with myrrhe: but he receiued it not.

24 *5 And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, casting lots for thē, what euery man should haue.

25 And it was the third houre, when they crucified him.

26 And the title of his cause was written aboue, THAT KING OF THE IEWES.

27 They crucified also with him two theeues, the one on the right hand, and the other on his left.

28 Thus the Scripture was fulfilled, which saieth, * And hee was counted among the wicked.

29 And they that went by, railed on him, wagging their heads, and saying, *Hey, thou that destroyest the Temple, and buildest it in three dayes, 30 Saue thy selfe, and come downe from the crosse.

31 Likewise also euen the hie priests mocking, sayd among themselues wō the Scribes, He saued other men, himselfe he cannot saue.

32 Let Christ the King of Israel nowe come downe from the crosse that wee may see, & beleeue. They also that were crucified with him, reuiled him.

33 ¶ Now when the sixt houre was come, 6 darkenesse arose ouer c all the land vntill the ninth houre.

*Mat. 27.1, luke 22.66. ioh. 18.19.
1 Christ being bound before the iudgement seate of an earthly Iudge, in open assembly is condemned as guilty vnto the death of the crosse, not for his owne sinnes, (as appeareth by the Iudges owne mouth) but for all ours, that we most guiltie creatures being deliuered from the guiltinesse of our sinnes, might be quitted before the iudgement seate of God, euen in open assembly of the Angels.
a It was not lawfull for them to put any man to death, for all causes of life and death were taken away from them, first by Herode the great, and afterward by the Romanes, about some yeeres before the destruction of the Temple, and therefore they deliuer Iesus to Galile.
*Math. 27.12. luke 23.3. ioh. 18.35.
b Vied Pilate to deliuer.

2 Christ, going about to take away the sinnes of men, who went about to vsurpe the throne of God himselfe, is condemned as one that panted after the kingdom, and mocked with a false shew of a kingdom, that we on the other side, who shall in deed be eternal kings might receiue the crowne of glory at Gods owne hand.
*Matth. 27.32. luke 23.26.
3 The rage of the wicked hath no measure, but in the meane season, euen the weakenesse of Christ, being in paine vnder the heauy burden of the crosse, doeth manifestly shew that a lambe is led to be sacrificed.
*Matth. 27.33. luke 23.33. ioh. 19.17.
4 Christ is led out of the walls of the earthly Jerusalem, into a foule place of dead mans carkases, as a man most vncleane, not touching himselfe, but touching our sinnes, which were laid vpon him to the end that we being made cleane by his blood, might be brought into the heauenly Sanctuarie.
*Luke 23.34.
5 Christ hangeth naked vpon the crosse, and as the wickedest caitife that euer was, most likely inpoouerished that we being clothed with his righteousnes, & dressed with his curses, and sanctified by his only oblation, may be taken vp into heauen.
*Esai. 53.12.
*Iohn 2.19.
6 How angry god was against our sinne, which he punished in our suretie his sonne, it appeareth by this horrible darknesse.
c By this word land, he meaneth Palestina: so that the strangenesse of the wonder, is so much the more set foorth in that, that at the feast of the Passeouer, and in the full moone, when the Sunne shined ouer all the rest of the world, and at midday, that corner of the world, wherein so wicked an acte was committed, was ouer couered with most grosse darknesse.

34 And at the [7] ninth houre Jesus cried with a loud voyce, saying, *Eloi, Eloi, lamma-sabachthani? which is by interpretation, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

35 And some of them that stood by, when they heard it, said, Behold, he calleth Elias.

36 And one ran, and filled a *spunge full of vineger, and put it on a reede, and gaue him to drinke, saying, Let him alone: let vs see if Elias will come, and take him downe.

37 And Jesus cried with a lowd voice, and gaue vp the ghost.

38 And the vaile of the Temple was rent in twaine, from the top to the bottome.

39 Now whē the Centurion, which stood ouer against him, saw that he thus crying, gaue vp the ghost, he said, Truely this man was the Sonne of God.

40 ¶ * There were also women, which beheld afarre off, among whom was Mary Magdalene, and Mary (the mother of James the lesse, and of Joses) and Salome, 41 Which also when hee was in Galile, *followed him, and ministred vnto him, and many other women which came vp with him vnto Hierusalem.

42 *And nowe when the night was come (because it was the day of the preparation that is before the Sabbath)

43 *Joseph of Arimathea, an [d] honorable counseller, which also looked for the kingdome of God, came, & went in [e] boldly vnto Pilate, and asked the body of Jesus.

44 And Pilate maruciled, if he were already dead, and called vnto him the Centurion, and asked of him whether he had bin any while dead.

45 And when hee knew the trueth of the Centurion, he gaue the body to Joseph:

46 Who bought a linnen cloth, and tooke him downe, and wrapped him in the linnen cloth, and laid him in a tombe that was hewen out of a rocke, and rolled a stone vnto the dooze of the sepulchre:

47 And Mary Magdalene, and Mary Joses mother, beheld where he should be laied.

7 Christ striuing mightily with Satan, with sinne, and with death, all three armed with the horrible curse of God, grieuously tormented in body hanging vpon the crosse, and in soule plunged in the depth of hell, yet he ouercometh him selfe, crying with a mighty voyce: and notwithstanding the wound which he receiued of death, in that that he died, yet by smiting both things aboue, and things beneath, by renting of the vaile of the Temple, and by the testimonie wrung out of the which murdered him, he sheweth euidently vnto the rest of his enemies which are as yet obstinate, & mocke at him, that he shall be knowen out of hand to be conquerour & Lord of all.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Of Christes resurrection. 9 He appeareth to Mary Magdalene and others. 15 He sendeth his Apostles to preach. 19 His ascension.

AND *when the Sabbath day was past, Mary Magdalene, & Mary the mother of James and Salome, bought sweete ointments, that they might come and anoint him.

2 Therefore early in the morning, the first day of the weeke, they came vnto the sepulchre when the Sunne was now risen.

3 And they said one to another, Who shall rolle vs away the stone from the dooze of the sepulchre?

*Luke 24.1. John 20.1.

4 And when they [a] looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away (for it was a very great one)

5 *So they went into the [b] sepulchre, and sawe a yong man sitting at the right side, clothed in a long white robe: and they were sore troubled.

6 But he said vnto them, Be not so troubled: ye seeke Jesus of Nazareth, which hath bene crucified: he is risen, he is not here: behold the place where they put him.

7 But go your way, and tel his disciples, & Peter, that he wil go before you into Galile: there shal ye see him, *as he said vnto you.

8 And they went out quickly, & fled from the sepulchre: for they trembled, and were amased: neither said they any thing to any man: for they were afraid.

9 ¶ [1] And when Jesus was risen againe, early ṕ first day of the weeke, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, *out of whom he had cast seuen deuils:

10 And she went & told them that had bene with him, which mourned and wept.

11 And when they heard that he was aliue, and had appeared to her, they beleeued it not.

12 ¶ *[2] After that, he appeared vnto two of them in another forme, as they walked and went into the countrey.

13 And they went, & told it to the remnant, neither beleeued they them.

14 ¶ *[c] Finally he appeared vnto the eleuen as they sate together, and reproched them for their vnbeliefe and hardnesse of heart, because they beleeued not them which had seene him, being risen vp againe.

15 [3] And he sayd vnto them, *Goe ye into all the world, and preach the Gospel to [d] euery creature.

16 He that shall beleeue and bee baptized, shall be saued: *but he that will not beleeue, shall be damned.

FOrasmuch as [1] many haue [a] taken in hand to set forth the storie of those things, whereof we are fully perswaded,

2 [b] As they haue deliuered them vnto vs, which from the beginning sawe them their selues, & were ministers of the word,

3 It seemed good also to me ([c] most noble Theophilus) as soone as I had searched out perfectly all things [d] from the beginning, to write vnto thee thereof from point to point,

4 That thou mightest [e] acknowledge the the certaintie of those things, wherein thou hast bene instructed.

5 IN [2] the [f] time of [g] Herod King of Iudea, there was a certaine Priest named Zacharias, of the * [h] course of Abia: and his wife was of the daughters of Aaron, & her name was Elisabet.

6 Both were [i] iust before God, and [k] walked in all the [l] commandements and ordinances of the Lord, [m] without reproofe.

7 And they had no child, because that Elisabet was barren: and both were well stricken in age.

8 And it came to passe, as he executed the Priests office before God, as his course came in order, 9 * According to the custome of the Priests office, his lot was to burne incense, when hee went into the [n] Temple of the Lord.

10 And the whole multitude of the people were without in prayer, * while the incense was burning.

11 Then appeared vnto him an Angel of the Lord standing at the right side of the altar of incense.

12 And when Zacharias saw him, he was troubled, and feare fell vpon him.

13 But the Angel sayd vnto him, Feare not, Zacharias: for thy prayer is heard, and thy wife Elisabet shal beare thee a sonne, and thou shalt call his name Iohn.

14 And thou shalt haue ioy and gladnesse, and many shall reioyce at his birth.

15 For hee shall bee great in the [o] sight of the Lord, and shall neither drinke wine, nor [p] strong drinke: and hee shall bee filled with the holy Ghost, euen from his mothers wombe.

16 * And many of the children of Israel shall he [q] turne to their Lord God.

17 * For hee shall goe [r] before him [s] in the spirite and power of Elias, to turne the [t] hearts of the fathers to the children, and the disobedient to the [u] wisedome of the iust men, to make readie a people prepared for the Lord.

18 Then Zacharias sayd vnto the Angel, Whereby shal I know this [x]: for I am an olde man, and my wife is of a great age.

19 And the Angel answered, and sayd vnto him, I am Gabriel * that stand in the presence of God, and am sent to speake vnto thee, and to shew thee these good tidings.

20 And beholde, thou shalt bee dumme, and not bee able to speake, vntill the day that these things bee done, because thou beleeuedst not my wordes, which shall be fulfilled in their season.

21 Now the people waited for Zacharias, and marueiled that hee taried so long in the Temple.

22 And when hee came out, hee could not speake vnto them: then they perceiued that hee had seene a vision in the Temple: For he made signes vnto them, and remained dumme.

23 And it came to passe, when the dayes of his office were fulfilled, that he departed to his owne house.

24 And after those dayes, his wife Elisabet conceiued, and hid her selfe fiue moneths, saying, 25 Thus hath the Lord dealt with mee, in the dayes wherein hee looked on mee, to take from me my rebuke among men.

26 ¶ [3] And in the first moneth, the Angel Gabriel was sent from God vnto a citie of Galile, named Nazareth, and the virgins name was Mary.

28 And the Angel went in vnto her, and ſayd, Haile thou that art [x] freely beloued: the Lorde is with thee: [a] bleſſed art thou among women.

29 And when ſhe ſawe him, ſhe was [b] troubled at his ſaying, and thought what maner of ſalutation that ſhould be.

30 Then the Angel ſayd vnto her, Feare not, Mary: for thou haſt [c] found fauour with God.

31 * For loe, thou ſhalt conceiue in thy wombe, and beare a ſonne, *and ſhalt call his name Jeſus.

32 He ſhall be great, and ſhalbe [d] called the Sonne of the moſt High, and the Lorde God ſhall giue vnto him the throne of his father Dauid.

33 * And hee ſhall reigne ouer the Houſe of Jacob for euer, and of his kingdome ſhall be none end.

34 Then ſaid Mary vnto ꝑ Angel, [e] How ſhall this be, ſeeing [f] I know not man?

35 And the Angel anſwered, and ſaid vnto her, The holy Ghoſt ſ ſhal come vpon thee, and the power of the moſt High ſhall ouerſhadowe thee: therefore alſo that [h] holy thing which ſhal be borne of thee, ſhall be [i] called the Sonne of God.

36 And behold, thy [k] coſine Eliſabet, ſhee hath alſo conceiued a ſonne in her olde age: and this is her [l] ſixt moneth, which was called barren.

37 For with God ſhall nothing be vnpoſſible.

38 Then Mary ſayd, Behold the ſeruant of the Lorde: bee it vnto mee accoꝛding to thy woꝛd. So the Angel departed from her.

39 ¶ [q] And Mary aroſe in thoſe dayes, and went into the [m] hill countrey with haſte to a [n] citie of Juda, 40 And entred into the houſe of Zacharias, and ſaluted Eliſabet.

41 And it came to paſſe, as Eliſabet heard the ſalutation of Mary, the babe [o] ſprang in her belly, and Eliſabet was filled with the holy Ghoſt.

42 And ſhe cried with a loud voyce, & ſaid, Bleſſed art thou among women, becauſe [p] the fruit of thy wombe is bleſſed.

43 And whence commeth this to me, that the mother of my Lord ſhould come to me?

44 For loe, aſſoone as the voice of thy ſalutation ſounded in mine eares, the babe ſprang in my belly for ioy.

45 And bleſſed is ſhe that beleeued: for thoſe things ſhall be perfoꝛmed, which were told her from the Lord.

46 [s] Then Mary ſayd, My ſoule magnifieth the Lord, 47 And my ſpirite reioyceth in God my Sauiour.

48 For hee hath [q] looked on the [r] poore degree of his ſeruant: for behold, from henceforth ſhall all ages call me bleſſed, 57 ¶ [d] Now Eliſabets time was fulfilled, that ſhe ſhould be deliuered, & ſhe brought forth a ſonne.

58 And her neighbours and coſines heard tell how the Lord had ſhewed his great mercy vpon her, and they * reioyced with her.

59 And it was ſo that on the eight day they came to circumciſe the babe, & called him Zacharias after the name of his father.

60 But his mother anſwered, and ſaid, Not ſo, but he ſhall be called John.

61 And they ſayd vnto her, There is none of thy kindred, that is named with this name.

62 Then they made ſignes to his father, how he would haue him called.

63 So hee aſked for writing tables, and wrote, ſaying, His name is John, & they marueiled all.

1 Auguſtus Ceſar taxeth all the world. 7 Chriſt is borne. 13 The Angels ſong. 21 Chriſt is circumciſed. 22 Mary purified. 28 Simon taketh Chriſt in his armes. 29 His ſong. 36 Anna the Propheteſſe. 40 The childe Chriſt. 46 Ieſus diſputeth with the doctors.

[1] AND [1] it came to paſſe in thoſe dayes, that there came a decree from Auguſtus Ceſar, that all the [a] world ſhould be [b] taxed.

2 (This firſt taxing was made when Cyrenius was gouernour of Syria)

3 Therefore went all to bee taxed, euery man to his owne Citie.

4 And Joſeph alſo went vp from Galile out of a citie called Nazareth, into Judea, vnto the [c] city of * Dauid, which is called Bethleem (becauſe hee was of the houſe and linage of Dauid,)

5 To bee taxed with Mary that was giuen him to wife, which was with child.

6 ¶ And ſo it was, that while they were there, the dayes were accompliſhed that ſhee ſhould be deliuered.

7 And ſhe brought forth her firſt begotten ſonne, [f] wrapped him in ſwadling clothes, and laid him in a cratch, becauſe there was no roume for them in the Inne.

8 ¶ [2] And there were in the ſame country, ſhepeheerds, [d] abiding in the field, and keeping watch by night ouer their flocke.

9 And loe, the Angel of the Lord [e] came vpon them, & the glory of the Lord ſhone about them, and they were ſore afraid.

10 Then the Angel ſayd vnto them, Bee not afraid: for behold, I bring you glad tidings of great ioy, that ſhall be to all the people, 11 That is, that vnto you is borne this day in the citie of Dauid, a Sauiour, which is Chriſt the Lord.

12 And this ſhalbe a ſigne to you, Ye ſhall find the babe ſwadled, and laid in a cratch.

13 And ſtraight way there was with the Angel [f] a multitude of heauenly ſouldiours, praiſing God, and ſaying, 14 Glory bee to God in the high heauens, and peace in earth, and towardes men [g] good will.

15 And it came to paſſe when the Angels were gone away from them into heauen, that the ſhepeheards ſayde one to another, Let vs goe then vnto Beth-leem, and ſee this thing that is come to paſſe which the Lord hath ſhewed vnto vs.

16 So they came with haſte, and found both Mary and Joſeph, and the babe laid in the cratch.

17 And when they had ſeene it, they publiſhed abroad the thing, that was tolde them of that child.

18 And all that heard it, wondered at the things which were tolde them of the ſhepherds.

19 But Mary kept all thoſe ſayings, and pondered them in her heart.

20 And the ſhepheards returned glorifying and praiſing God, for all that they had heard and ſeene as it was ſpoken vnto them.

38 Shee then comming at the same instant vpon them, confessed likewise the Lord, and spake of him to all that looked for redemption in Hierusalem.

39 And when they had performed all things according to the Law of the Lord, they returned into Galile to their owne citie Nazareth.

40 And the child grew, and waxed strong in Spirit, x and was filled with wisedom, and the grace of God was with him.

41 ¶ 7 Now his parents went to Hierusalem euery yeere, * at the feast of the Passeouer.

42 And when he was twelue yeere old, and they were come vp to Hierusalem, after the custome of the feast, 43 And had finished the dayes thereof, as they returned, the childe Iesus remained in Hierusalem, and Ioseph knew not, nor his mother.

44 But they supposing, that he had bene in the company, went a dayes iourny, and sought him among their kinsfolke, and acquaintance.

45 And when they found him not, they turned backe to Hierusalem, and sought him.

46 And it came to passe three dayes after, that they found him in the Temple, sitting in the mids of the Doctors, both hearing thē, and asking them questions:

47 And all that heard him, were astonied at his vnderstanding and answeres.

48 y So when they sawe him, they were amased, and his mother sayd vnto him, Sonne, why hast thou thus dealt with vs? behold, thy father and I haue sought thee with very heauy hearts.

49 Then sayd he vnto them, How is it that ye sought me? knew ye not that I must go about my Fathers busines?

50 But they vnderstood not the word that he spake to them.

51 z Then he went downe with them, and came to Nazareth, and was subiect to them: and his mother kept all these sayings in her heart.

52 And Iesus increased in wisedome, and stature, and in fauour with God and men.

3 * And he came into all the coasts about Iordan, preaching the baptisme of repentance for the remission of sinnes,

4 As it is written in the booke of the sayings of Esaias the Prophet, which saith, * The voyce of him that crieth in the wildernesse is, Prepare yee the way of the Lorde: make his pathes straight.

5 Euery valley shall be filled, and euery mountaine and hill shall be brought lowe, and crooked things shall be made straight, and the rough wayes shalbe made smoothe.

6 And all flesh shall see the saluation of God.

7 Then saide hee to the people that were come out to be baptized of him, * O generations of vipers, who hath forewarned you to flee from the wrath to come?

8 Bring foorth therefore fruites worthie amendement of life, and beginne not to say with your selues, Wee haue Abraham to our father: for I say vnto you, that God is able of these stones to raise vp children vnto Abraham.

9 Now also is the axe laide vnto the roote of the trees: therefore euery tree which bringeth not forth good fruit, shalbe hewen down, and cast into the fire.

10 ¶ Then the people asked him, saying, What shall we doe then?

11 And he answered, and said vnto them, * He that hath two coates, let him part with him that hath none: and he that hath meate, let him doe likewise.

12 Then came there publicanes also to be baptized, and saide vnto him, Master, what shall we doe?

13 And hee saide vnto them, Require no more then that which is [b] appointed vnto you.

14 The souldiers likewise demaunded of him, saying, And what shall wee doe? And hee said vnto them, Doe violence to no man, neyther accuse any falsly, and bee content with your [c] wages.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Of Chriſtes temptation, and faſting. 16 He teacheth in Nazareth to the great admiration of all. 24 A Prophet that teacheth in his owne countrey is contemned. 33 One poſſeſſed of the deuil is cured. 38 Peters mother in Law healed, 40 and diuers ſicke perſons are reſtored to health. 41 The deuils acknowledge Chriſt.

AND [1] Jeſus ful of the holy Ghoſt returned from Jordane, and was led by that Spirit into the wildernesſe,

2 * And was there fourtie dayes tempted of the deuill, and in thoſe dayes he did eate nothing: but when they were ended, he afterward was hungry.

3 [2] Then the deuill ſaide vnto him, If thou bee the Sonne of God, commaund this ſtone that it be made bread.

4 But Jeſus anſwered him, ſaying, It is written, * That man ſhall not liue by bread only, but by euery word of God.

5 Then the deuill tooke him vp into an high mountaine, and ſhewed him all the kingdomes of the worlde, in the twinckling of an eye.

6 And the deuill ſayde vnto him, All this [a] power will I giue thee, and the glory of thoſe kingdomes: for that is [b] deliuered to me: and to whomſoeuer I will, I giue it.

7 If thou therefore wilt worſhip me, they ſhalbe all [c] thine.

8 But Jeſus anſwered him, and ſayde, Hence from mee, Satan: for it is written, * Thou ſhalt worſhip the Lorde thy God, and him alone thou ſhalt ſerue.

9 Then hee brought him to Hieruſalem, and ſet him on a pinacle of the Temple, [c] & ſaide vnto him, If thou be the ſonne of God, caſt thy ſelfe downe from hence,

10 For it is written, * That hee wil giue his Angels charge ouer thee to keepe thee:

11 And with their hands they ſhal lift thee vp, leaſt at any time thou ſhouldeſt daſhe thy foote againſt a ſtone.

12 And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaide vnto him, It is ſaide, * Thou ſhalt not tempt the Lord thy God.

13 And when the deuill had ended all the tentation, he departed from him for a litle ſeaſon.

14 ¶ And Jeſus returned by the power of the ſpirite into Galilee: and there went a fame of him throughout all the region rounde about.

15 For hee taught in their Synagogues, and was honoured of all men.

16 *[3] And he came to Nazareth where he had bene brought vp, and (as his cuſtome was) went into the ſynagogue on the Sabboth day, and ſtood vp to reade.

17 And there was deliuered vnto him the booke of the Prophet Eſaias: and when he had [d] opened the booke, he found the place, where it was written,

18 * The Spirit of the Lord is vpon mee, becauſe hee hath annoynted me, that I ſhould preach the Goſpel to the poore: hee hath ſent mee, that I ſhoulde heale the broken hearted, that I ſhoulde preach deliuerance to the captiues, and recouering of ſight to the blinde, that I ſhould ſet at libertie them that are bruiſed:

19 And that I ſhoulde preach the acceptable yeere of the Lord.

20 And hee cloſed the booke, and gaue it againe to the miniſter, and ſate downe: and the eyes of all that were in the Synagogue were faſtened on him.

21 Then he began to ſay vnto them, This day is the Scripture fulfilled in your eares.

22 [4] And all [e] bare him witnes, and [f] wondered at the [g] gracious wordes, which proceeded out of his mouth, and ſaid, Is not this Joſephs ſonne?

23 Then he ſaid vnto them, Ye wil ſurely ſay vnto me this Prouerbe, Phyſitian, heale thy ſelfe: whatſoeuer we haue heard done in Capernaum, do it here likewiſe in thine owne countrey.

24 And hee ſaide, Verily I ſay vnto you, * No prophet is accepted in his owne countrey.

25 But I tell you of a trueth, manie widowes were in Iſrael in the dayes of * Elias, when heauen was ſhutte three yeeres and ſixe moneths, when great famine was throughout all the [h] land:

26 But vnto none of them was Elias ſent, ſaue into Sarepta, a citie of Sidon vnto a certaine widowe.

27 Alſo many lepers were in Iſrael, in the time of * Elizeus the prophet: yet none of them was made clean, ſauing Naaman the Syrian.

28 [5] Then al that were in the ſynagogue, when they heard it, were filled with wrath, 29 And roſe vp, and thruſt him out of the citie, and ledde him vnto the edge of the hill, whereon their city was built, to caſt him downe headlong.

30 But he paſſed through the mids of them, and went his way, 31 ¶ * And came downe into Capernaum a citie of Galilee, and there taught them on the Sabbath dayes.

32 * And they were aſtonied at his doctrine: for his word was with authoritie.

33 * And in the Synagogue there was a man

2 And saw two shippes stand by the lakes side, but the fishermen were gone out of them, and were washing their nets.

3 And hee entred into one of the shippes, which was Simons, and required him that he would thrust off a little from the land: and hee sate downe and taught the people out of the shippe.

4 ¶ Nowe when hee had left speaking, hee saide vnto Simon, Launch out into the deepe, and let downe your nettes to make a draught.

5 Then Simon answered, and saide vnto him, [b] Master, we haue trauailed sore all night, and haue taken nothing: neuertheless at thy word I will let downe the net.

6 And when they had so done, they enclosed a great multitude of fishes, so that their net brake.

7 And they beckened to their partners, which were in the other shippe, that they shoulde come and helpe them, who came then, and filled both the shippes, that they did sinke.

8 Now when Simon Peter saw it, he fel downe at Iesus knees, saying, Lord, goe from me: for I am a sinfull man.

9 For he was vtterly astonied, and all that were with him, for the draught of fishes which they tooke.

10 And so was also Iames and Iohn the sonnes of Zebedeus, which were companions with Simon. Then Iesus saide vnto Simon, Feare not: frō henceforth thou shalt catch mē.

11 And when they had brought the shippes to land, they forsooke all, and followed him.

12 ¶ [*1] Now it came to passe, as hee was in a certaine citie, behold, there was a man ful of leprosie, and when he sawe Iesus, he fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lorde, if thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

13 So he stretched forth his hand, & touched him, saying, I wil, bee thou cleane. And immediatly the leprosie departed from him.

21 Then the Scribes and the Pharisees began to reason, saying, Who is this that speaketh blasphemies: who can forgiue sinnes but God onely?

22 But when Jesus perceiued their reasoning, he answered, & said vnto them, What reason ye in your hearts.

23 Whether is easier to say, Thy sinnes are forgiuen thee, or to say, Rise and walke?

24 But that yee may knowe that the Sonne of man hath authority to forgiue sinnes in earth, (he said vnto the sicke of the palsey) I say to thee, Arise: take vp thy bed, and goe to thine house.

25 And immediatly hee arose vp before them, and tooke vp his bed whereon he lay, and departed to his owne house, praising God.

5 The Church is a company of sinners through the grace of Christ repentant, which banket with him, to the great offence of the proud and enuious worldlings.

6 It is the point of hypocrites and ignorant men, to put an holines in fasting, and in things indifferent.

7 Lawes generally made without any consideration of circumstances, for fasting, and other things of like sort, are not onely tyrannous, but very hurtfull in the Church.

* Matth. 12. 1. marke 2. 23.

1 Christ sheweth against the superstitious, who sticke in euery trifle, that the Law of the holy Sabbath, was not giuen to be kept without exception: much lesse that the saluation of man should consist in the outward keeping of it.

a Epiphanius noteth well in his treatise, where he confuteth Ebion, that the time, when the disciples plucked the eares of corn, was in the feast of vnleauened bread: Now, whereas in those feasts, which were kept many dayes together, as the feast of Tabernacles, and the Passeouer, their first day, & the last were of like solemnitie, Leuit. 23. Luke fitly calleth the last day the second Sabbath, though Theophylact vnderstanderh it of any other of them, that followed the first.

2 Charitie is the rule of all ceremonies.

b Whoso beleeueth not his neighbour, when he can, he killeth him.

3 In that that Christ vseth earnest and long prayer, in choosing twelue of his owne company, to the office of the Apostleship, he shewed how religiously wee ought to behaue our selues in the choyse of ecclesiasticall persons.

* Chap. 9. 1. mat. 10. 1. mar. 13. 3. and 6. 7.

13 And when it was day, * hee called his disciples, and of them hee chose twelue which also he called Apostles.

14 (Simon whom hee named also Peter, and Andrew his brother, James & John, Philip and Bartlemew:

15 Matthew and Thomas: James the sonne of Alpheus, and Simon called Zelous, 16 Judas James brother, and Judas Iscariot, which also was the traitour,)

17 Then he came downe with them, and stood in a plaine place with the company of his disciples, and a great multitude of people out of all Judea, and Hierusalem, and from the c sea coast of Tyrus and Sidon, which came to heare him, and to be healed of their diseases:

18 And they that were vexed with foule spirits, and they were healed.

19 And the whole multitude sought to touch him: for there went vertue out of him, and healed them all.

20 ¶ *4 And he lifted vp his eyes vpon his disciples, and said, Blessed be ye poore: for yours is the kingdome of God.

21 * Blessed are ye that hunger nowe: for yee shalbe satisfied: * blessed are ye that weepe now, for ye shall laugh.

22 * Blessed are yee when men hate you, and when they separate you, and reuile you, and put out your name as euil, for the Sonne of mans sake.

23 Reioyce ye in that day, & d be glad: for behold your reward is great in heauen: for after this maner their fathers did to ỹ Prophets.

24 * But woe be to you that are riche: for ye haue e receiued your consolation.

25 Wo be to you that are full: for yee shall hunger. Wo be to you that now laugh: for yee shall waile and weepe.

26 Woe be to you when all men speake well of you: for so did their fathers to the false prophets.

27 ¶ *5 But I say vnto you which heare, Loue your enemies, do wel to them which hate you.

28 Blesse them that curse you, and pray for them which hurt you.

29 * And vnto him that smiteth thee on the one cheek, offer also the other: * and him that taketh away thy cloke, forbid not to take thy coate also.

30 Giue to euery man that asketh of thee: and of him that taketh away the things that be thine, aske them not againe.

31 * And as ye would that men should doe to you, so doe ye to them likewise.

32 * For if ye loue them which loue you, f what thanke shall ye haue? for euen the sinners loue those that loue them.

33 And if ye doe good for them which doe good for you, what thanke shall yee haue? for euen the sinners doe the same.

34 * And if ye lend to them of whome yee hope to receiue, what thanke shal ye haue? for euen the sinners lend to sinners, to receiue the like.

35 Wherefore loue ye your enemies, and do good, and lend, h looking for nothing again, and your rewarde shalbe great, and yee shalbe the children of * the most High: for he is kind vnto the vnkinde, and to the euill.

36 Be ye therefore merciful, as your father also is merciful.

37 ¶ *6 Judge not, and ye shal not be iudged: condemne not, and ye shal not be condemned: i forgiue, and ye shalbe forgiuen.

38 Giue, and it shall be giuen vnto you: a good measure, k pressed down, shaken together and running ouer shal men giue into your bosome, for with what measure ye mete, with the same shal men mete to you againe.

39 7 And hee spake a parable vnto them, * Can the blind leade the blinde? shal they not both fall into the ditch?

40 * The disciple is not aboue his master: but whosoeuer will be a perfect disciple, shall be as his master.

41 ¶ * 8 And why seest thou a mote in thy brothers eie, and considerest not the beam that is in thine owne eye?

42 Either howe canst thou say to thy brother, Brother, let me pul out the mote that is in thine eye, when thou seest not the beame that is in thine owne eye? Hypocrite, cast out the beame out of thine own eye first, and then shalt thou see perfectly to pul out the mote that is in thy brothers eye.

43 ¶ *9 For it is not a good tree that bringeth forth euil fruite: neither an euil tree, that bringeth forth good fruite.

44 * For euery tree is known by his owne fruit: for neither of thornes gather men figs, nor of bushes gather they grapes.

45 A good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth good, and an euil man out of the euill treasure of his heart bringeth forth euil: for of the abundance of the heart his mouth speaketh.

46 ¶ * But why call ye me Lorde, Lord, and do not the things that I speake?

47 10 Whosoeuer commeth to me, and heareth my words, and doth the same, I will shew you to whom he is like:

48 He is like a man which built an house, and digged deepe, and laide the foundation on a rocke: and when the waters arose, the flood beate vpon the house, and could not shake it: for it was grounded vpon a rocke.

1 Of the Centurions seruant. 9 The Centurions faith. 11 The widowes sonne raised from death at Nain. 19 Iohn sendeth his disciples to Christ. 33 His peculiar kinde of liuing. 37 The sinfull woman washeth Iesus frete.

* Matth.8.5.

WHen *[1] he had ended all his sayings in the audience of the people, hee entred into Capernaum.

1 Christ admonisheth the Iewes, by setting before them the example of the Centurion, that for their obstinacie and rebellion, he will goe to the Gentiles.

2 And a certaine Centurions seruaunt was sicke and readie to die, which was deare vnto him.

3 And when he heard of Iesus, he sent vnto him the Elders of the Iewes, beseeching him that he would come, and heale his seruant.

4 So they came to Iesus, and besought him instantly, saying that he was worthy that he should doe this for him:

5 For he loueth, saide they, our nation, and he hath built vs a Synagogue.

6 Then Iesus went with them: but when he was now not farre from the house, the Centurion sent friends to him, saying vnto him, Lorde, trouble not thy selfe: for I am not worthie that thou shouldest enter vnder my roofe:

7 Wherefore I thought not my selfe worthie to come vnto thee: but say the worde, and my seruant shalbe whole:

8 For I likewise am a man set vnder authoritie, and haue vnder mee souldiers, and I say vnto one, Goe, and hee goeth: and to another, Come, and he commeth: and to my seruant, Doe this, and he doeth it.

9 When Iesus heard these things, hee marueiled at him, and turned him, and saide to the people that followed him, I say vnto you, I haue not founde so great faith no not in Israel.

10 And when they that were sent, turned backe to the house, they found the seruant that was sicke, whole.

2 Christ auoucheth openly his power ouer death.

11 [2] And it came to passe the day after, that he went into a citie called [a] Nain, and many of his disciples went with him, and a great multitude.

a Nain is the name of a towne in Galilee, which was situate on the other side of Kison, which falleth into the sea of Galile.

12 Nowe when he came neere to the gate of the citie, beholde, there was a dead man caried out, who was the onely begotten sonne of his mother, which was a widowe, and much people of the citie was with her.

13 And when the Lorde sawe her, hee had compassion on her, and said vnto her, Weepe not.

14 And hee went and touched the coffin (and they that bare him, stood stil) and he saide, Yong man, I say vnto thee, Arise.

15 And he that was dead, sate vp, and began to speake, and he deliuered him to his mother.

16 Then there came a feare on them all, and they glorified God, saying, A great Prophet is risen among vs, and God hath visited his people.

17 And this rumour of him went foorth throughout all Iudea, and throughout all the region round about.

3 Iohn sendeth from the prison his vnbelieuing disciples, to Christ himselfe, to be confirmed.

18 [3] And the Disciples of Iohn shewed him of all these things, 19 So Iohn called vnto him two certaine men of his disciples, and sent them to Iesus, saying, Art thou hee that should come, or shall we wait for another?

20 And when the men were come vnto him, they said, Iohn Baptist hath sent vs vnto thee, saying, Art thou he that should come, or shal we wait for another?

b When Iohns disciples came to Christ.

21 And [b] at that time, hee cured many of their sicknesses, and plagues of euill spirites, and vnto many blinde men hee gaue sight freely.

22 And Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, Goe your wayes and shewe Iohn, what things ye haue seene and heard: that the blinde see, the halt goe, the lepers are cleansed, the deafe heare, the dead are raised, and the poore receiue the Gospel.

23 And blessed is he, that shall not be offended in me.

4 That which the Prophets shewed long before, Iohn verieth at hand: & Christ himselfe doeth present it daily vnto vs, in the Gospel, but for the most part in vaine, for that many seeke nothing els, but foolish toyes and vaine glory.

24 [4] And when the messengers of Iohn were departed, he began to speak vnto the people, of Iohn, What went yee out into the wildernes to see? A reede shaken with the wind?

25 But what went yee out to see? A man clothed in soft rayment? beholde, they which are gorgeously apparelled, and liue delicately, are in Kings courts.

26 But what went ye forth to see? A Prophet? yea, I say to you, and greater then a Prophet.

* Matth.3.1.

27 This is he of whom it is written, *Behold, I sende my messenger before thy face, which shal prepare thy way before thee.

28 For I say vnto you, there is no greater Prophet then Iohn, among them that are begotten of women: neuertheless, hee that is the least in the kingdome of God, is greater then he.

c Said that he was iust, good, faithfull, and mercifull.

d To their owne hurt.

* Matth.11.16.

5 What way soeuer God followeth in offering vs the Gospel, the most part of men procure offences vnto themselues: yet notwithstanding some church is gathered together.

29 Then all the people that heard, and the Publicanes [c] iustified God, beeing baptised with the baptisme of Iohn.

30 But the Pharises & the expounders of the Law despised the counsel of God [d] against themselues, and were not baptised of him.

31 *[5] And the Lorde saide, Whereunto shall I liken the men of this generation? and what thing are they like vnto?

32 They are like vnto litle children sitting in the market place, and crying one to another, and saying, We haue piped vnto you, and ye haue not daunced: we haue mourned to you, and ye haue not wept.

33 For Iohn Baptist came, neither eating bread, nor drinking wine: and ye say, He hath the deuill.

34 The Sonne of man is come, and eateth and drinketh: and ye say, Beholde, a man which is a glutton, and a drinker of wine, a friend of Publicanes and sinners:

35 But wisdome is iustified of all her children.

36 ¶ [6] And one of the Pharises desired him that he would eate with him: and he went into the Pharises house, and sate downe at table.

37 And behold, a woman in the citie, which was a sinner, when she knewe that Iesus sate at table in the Pharises house, she brought a box of oyntment.

38 * And she stoode at his feete behinde him weeping, and beganne to wash his feete, with teares, and did wipe them with the haires of her head, and kissed his feete, and anoynted them with the oyntment.

39 [7] Nowe when the Pharise which bade him, sawe it, he spake within himselfe, saying, If this man were a Prophet, he would surely haue knowen who, and what maner of woman this is which toucheth him: [8] for she is a sinner.

40 [9] And Iesus answered, and saide vnto him, Simon, I haue somewhat to say vnto thee. And he said, Master, say on.

41 There was a certaine lender which had two debters: the one ought fiue hundreth pence, and the other fiftie:

42 When they had nothing to pay, he forgaue them both: Which of them therefore, tell me, will loue him most?

43 Simon answered, and said, I suppose that he, to whom he forgaue most. And he saide vnto him, Thou hast truely iudged.

44 Then he turned to the woman, and said vnto Simon, Seest thou this woman? I entred into thine house, and thou gauest me no water to my feete: but thee hath washed my feete with teares, and wiped them with the haires of her head.

45 Thou gauest me no kisse: but she, since the time I came in, hath not ceased to kisse my feete.

46 Mine head with oyle thou diddest not anoynt: but she hath anoynted my feete with oyntment.

47 Wherefore I say vnto thee, Many sinnes are forgiuē her: [f] for she loued much. To whom a litle is forgiuen, he doeth loue a litle.

48 And he saide vnto her, Thy sinnes are forgiuen thee.

49 And they that sate at table with him, began to say within themselues, Who is this that euen forgiueth sinnes?

50 And he saide to the woman, Thy faith hath saued thee: goe in peace.

3 And Ioanna the wife of Chuza Herods steward, and Susanna, and many other which ministred vnto him of their substance.

4 * [1] Nowe when much people were gathered together, and were come vnto him out of all cities, he spake by a parable.

5 A sower went out to sow his seede, and as he sowed, some fell by the wayes side, and it was troden vnder feete, and the foules of heauen deuoured it vp.

6 And some fell on the stones, and when it was sprong vp, it withered away, because it lacked moysture.

7 And some fell among thornes, and the thornes sprang vp with it, and choked it.

8 And some fell on good ground, & sprang vp, and bare fruite, an hundreth folde. And as he said these things, he cried, He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

9 Then his disciples asked him, demanding what parable that was.

10 And he saide, Unto you it is giuen to knowe the * secrets of the kingdome of God, but to other in parables, that when they * see, they should not see, and when they heare, they should not vnderstand.

11 * The parable is this, The seede is the word of God.

12 And they that are beside the way, are they that heare: afterward commeth the deuill, and taketh away the word out of their hearts, least they should beleeue, and be saued.

13 But they that are on the stones, are they which when they haue heard, receiue the word with ioy: but they haue no rootes: which for a while beleeue, but in the time of tentation goe away.

14 And that which fell among thornes, are they and fell downe before him, and with a loude voice said, What haue I to doe with thee, Jesus the sonne of God the most high? I beseech thee torment me not.

29 For he commaunded the foule spirite to come out of the man: (for oft times he had caught him: therefore hee was bound with chaines, and kept in fetters: but he brake the bandes, k and was caried of the deuil into wildernesse.)

30 Then Jesus asked him, saying, What is thy name? and he said, Legion, because many deuils were entred into him.

31 And they besought him, that he would not commaund them to goe out into the deepe.

32 And there was there by, an heard of many swine, feeding on an hill: and the deuils besought him, that he would suffer them to enter into them.

33 Then went the deuils out of the man, and entred into the swine: and the hearde was caried with violence from a steepe downe place into the lake, and was choked.

34 When the heardmen sawe what was done, they fled: and when they were departed, they tolde it in the citie and in the countrey.

and he asked them, saying, Whom say the people that I am?

19 They answered, and saide, John Baptist: and others say, Elias: and some say, that one of the olde Prophets is risen againe.

20 And he said vnto them, But whom say ye that I am? Peter answered, and said, That Christ of God.

21 And he warned and commanded them, that they should tell that to no man, 22 [5] Saying, *The sonne of man must suffer many things and be reproued of the Elders, and of the hie Priestes and Scribes, and be slaine, and the third day rise againe.

23 ¶ *And he saide to them all, If any man will come after me, let him denie himselfe, and take vp his crosse [6] daply, and followe me.

24 *For whosoeuer will saue his life, shall lose it: and whosoeuer shall lose his life for my sake, the same shall saue it.

25 *For what auantageth it a man, if he winne the whole world, and destroy himselfe, or lose himselfe?

26 *For whosoeuer shalbe ashamed of me, and of my wordes, of him shall the Sonne of man be ashamed, when he shall come in his glorie, and in the glorie of the Father, and of the holy Angels.

27 *And I tell you of a suretie, there be some standing here, which shal not taste of death, till they haue seene the kingdome of God.

28 *[6] And it came to passe about an eight dayes after those wordes, that he tooke Peter and John, and James, and went vp into a mountaine to pray.

29 And as hee prayed, the fashion of his countenance was changed, and his garment was white and glistered.

30 And behold, two men talked with him, which were Moses and Elias:

31 Which appeared in glory, and tolde of his [h] departing, which he should accomplish at Hierusalem.

32 But Peter and they that were with him, were heauie with sleepe, and when they awoke, they sawe his glory, and the two men standing with him.

33 And it came to passe, as they departed from him, Peter said vnto Jesus, Master, it is good for vs to be here: let vs therefore make three tabernacles, one for thee, & one for Moses, and one for Elias, & wist not what he said.

34 Whiles he thus spake, there came a cloude and ouershadowed them, and they feared when they were entring into the cloude.

35 *And there came a voyce out of the cloude, saying, This is that my beloued Sonne, heare him.

36 And when the voyce was past, Jesus was found alone: and they kept it close, and told no man in [i] those dayes any of those things which they had seene.

37 ¶ [7] And it came to passe on the next day, as they came downe from the mountaine much people met him.

38 *And beholde, a man of the companie cried out, saying, Master, I beseeche thee, beholde my sonne: for he is all that I haue.

39 And loe, a spirit taketh him, and suddenly he crieth, and he teareth him, that he foameth, and hardly departeth from him, when he hath [k] hurted him.

40 Now I haue besought thy disciples to cast him out, but they could not.

41 Then Jesus answered, and said, O generation faithlesse, and crooked, how long now shall I be with you, and suffer you? bring thy sonne hither.

42 And whiles he was yet comming, the deuill rent him, and tare him: and Jesus rebuked the vncleane spirit, and healed the childe, and deliuered him to his father.

43 ¶ [8] And they were all amased at the mightie power of God: and while they all wondred at all things, which Jesus did, he said vnto his disciples, 44 [l] Marke these wordes diligently: *for it shall come to passe, that the sonne of man shall be deliuered into the hands of men.

45 But they vnderstood not that word: for it was hid from them, so that they coulde not perceiue it: and they feared to aske him of that word.

46 ¶ *[9] Then there arose a disputation among them, which of them should be the greatest:

47 When Jesus sawe the thoughts of their hearts, he tooke a litle childe, and set him by him, 48 And said vnto them, Whosoeuer receiueth this litle childe in my Name, receiueth me: and whosoeuer shall receiue me, receiueth him that sent me: for he that is least among you all, he shall be great.

49 ¶ *[10] And John answered and saide, Master, we sawe one casting out deuils in thy Name, and we forbad him, because he followeth thee not with vs.

50 Then Jesus saide vnto him, Forbid ye him not: for he that is not against vs, is with vs.

51 ¶ [11] And it came to passe, when the dayes were accomplished, that he should be receiued vp, he [m] setled himselfe fully to goe to Hierusalem, 52 And sent messengers before him: and they went and entred into a towne of the Samaritans, to prepare him lodging.

6 For a friend of mine is come out of the way to me, and I haue nothing to set before him:

7 And he within should answere, and say, Trouble me not: the doore is nowe shut, and my children are with me in bed: I cannot rise and giue them to thee.

8 I say vnto you, Though he would not arise and giue him, because he is his friend, yet doubtlesse because of his [b] importunitie, he would rise, & giue him as many as he needed.

[b] Word for word, impudencie: but that impudencie which is spoken of here, is not to be cald fault withall, but is very commendable before God, for he liketh well of holy importunitie.

9 *And I say vnto you, Aske, and it shall be giuen you: seeke, and ye shall finde: knocke, and it shall be opened vnto you.

10 *For euery one that asketh, receiueth: and he that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.

12 Or if he aske an egge, will he giue him a scorpion?

13 If ye then which are euill, can giue good gifts vnto your children, how much more shal your heauenly Father giue the holy Ghost to them, that desire him?

15 [3] But ſome of them ſaide, * He caſteth out deuils through Beelzebub the chiefe of the deuils.

16 And others tempted him, ſeeking of him a ſigne from heauen.

17 [4] But he knew their thoughts, and ſaid vnto them, * Euery kingdome diuided againſt it ſelfe, ſhall be deſolate, and an houſe diuided againſt an houſe, falleth.

18 So if Satan alſo bee diuided againſt himſelfe, howe ſhall his kingdome ſtande, becauſe yee ſay that I caſt out deuils [c] through Beelzebub?

19 If I through Beelzebub caſt out deuils, by whom do your children caſt them out? Therefore ſhall they be your Iudges.

20 But if I by the [d] finger of God caſt out deuils, doubtles the kingdome of God is come vnto you.

21 When a ſtrong man armed keepeth his [e] pallace, the things that he poſſeſſeth, are in peace.

22 But when a ſtronger then he, commeth vpon him, and ouercommeth him: hee taketh from him all his armour wherein hee truſted, and deuideth his ſpoyles.

23 [5] He that is not with me, is againſt me: and he that gathereth not with me, ſcattereth.

24 * [6] When the vncleane ſpirite is gone out of a man, he walketh through drie places, ſeeking reſt: and when he findeth none, he ſaith, I will return vnto mine houſe whence I came out.

25 And when hee commeth, hee findeth it ſwept and garniſhed.

26 Then goeth he, and taketh to him ſeuen other ſpirits worſe then himſelfe: and they enter in, and dwel there: * ſo the laſt ſtate of that man is worſe then the firſt.

27 ¶ [7] And it came to paſſe as he ſaid theſe things, a certaine woman of the companie lifted vp her voyce, and ſaid vnto him, Bleſſed is the wombe that bare thee, and the paps which thou haſt ſucked.

28 But he ſaid, Yea, rather bleſſed are they that heare the word of God, and keepe it.

29 ¶ * [8] And when the people were gathered thicke together, hee began to ſay, This is a wicked generation: They ſeeke a ſigne, and there ſhall no ſigne be giuen them, but the ſigne of * Ionas the Prophet.

30 For as Ionas was a ſigne to the Niniuites: ſo ſhall alſo the Sonne of man be to this generation.

31 * The Queene of the South ſhal riſe in iudgement, with the men of this generation, and ſhal condemne them: for ſhe came from the vtmoſt parts of the earth to heare the wiſedome of Solomon, and beholde, a greater then Solomon is here.

32 The men of Nineue ſhall riſe in iudgement with this generation, & ſhal condemne it: for they * repented at the preaching of Ionas: and behold, a greater then Ionas is here.

33 ¶ * [9] No man when he hath lighted a candle, putteth it in a priuie place, neither vnder a buſhell, but on a candleſticke, that they which come in, may ſee the light.

34 * The light of the bodie is the eye: therefore when thine eye is ſingle, then is thy whole body light: but if thine eye be euil, then thy body is darke.

35 Take heede therefore, that the light which is in thee, be not darkneſſe.

36 If therefore thy whole bodie ſhall be light, hauing no part darke, then ſhall all bee light, euen as when a candle doeth light thee with the brightneſſe.

37 ¶ [10] And as he ſpake, a certaine Phariſee beſought him to dine with him: and hee went in, and ſate downe at table.

38 And when the Phariſe ſawe it, he marueiled that hee had not firſt waſhed before dinner.

39 * And the Lord ſaid to him, In deed ye Phariſes make cleane the outſide of the cup, and of the platter: but the inward part is full of rauening and wickednes.

40 Ye fooles, did not hee that made that which is without, make that which is within alſo?

41 Therefore giue almes [f] of thoſe things which you haue, and behold, all things ſhall be cleane to you.

42 [11] But woe be to you, Phariſes: for ye [g] tithe the mint and the rewe, and [h] all maner herbes, and paſſe ouer [i] iudgement, & the loue of God: theſe ought yee to haue done, and not to haue left the other vndone.

44 [13] Woe be to you, Scribes and Phariſes hypocrites: for yee are as graues which appeare not, and the men that walk ouer them, perceiue not.

45 ¶ [14] Then anſwered one of the Lawyers, and ſaide vnto him, Maiſter, thus ſaying thou puttest vs to rebuke alſo.

46 And he ſaide, Woe be to you alſo, yee Lawyers: * for yee lade men with burdens grieuous to be borne, and ye your ſelues touch not the burdens with one of your fingers.

47 [15] Woe be to you: * for ye builde the ſepulchres of the Prophets, and your fathers killed them.

28 If then God so clothe the grasse which is to day in the field, and to morowe is cast into the ouen, how much more will he clothe you, O ye of litle faith?

29 Therefore aske not what ye shall eate, or what yee shall drinke, neither [i] hang you in suspense.

30 For all such things the people of the world seeke for: and your father knoweth that ye haue neede of these things.

31 [8] But rather seeke yee after the kingdome of God, and all these things shall be cast vpon you.

32 [9] Feare not, litle flocke: for it is your Fathers pleasure, to giue you the kingdome.

33 ¶ * [10] Sell that yee haue, and giue [k] almes: make you bagges, which waxe not olde, a treasure that can neuer faile in heauen, where no theefe commeth, neither mothe corrupteth.

34 For where your treasure is, there will your hearts be also.

35 ¶ * [11] Let your loines bee girt about and your lights burning,

36 And ye your selues like vnto men that waite for their master, when he will returne from the wedding, that when hee commeth and knocketh, they may open vnto him immediately.

37 Blessed are those seruants, whom the Lord when hee commeth shall finde waking: verily I say vnto you, he will gird himselfe about, and make them to sit downe at table, and will come forth, and serue them.

38 And if hee come in the second watch, or come in the third watch, and shall find them so, blessed are those seruants.

39 * Now vnderstand this, that if the good man of the house had knowen at what houre the theefe would haue come, hee would haue watched, and would not haue suffred his house to be digged through.

40 [12] Bee ye also prepared therefore: for the Sonne of man wil come at an houre when ye thinke not.

41 Then Peter said vnto him, Master, tellest thou this parable vnto vs, or euen to all?

42 And the Lord saide, Who is a faithful steward and wise, whom the master shall make ruler ouer his houshold, to giue them their [l] portion of meate in season?

43 Blessed is that seruant, whome his master when he commeth, shall finde so doing.

44 Of a trueth I say vnto you, that he will make him ruler ouer all that he hath.

45 But if that seruant say in his heart, My master doeth deferre his comming, and shall begin to smite the seruants, and maydens, and to eate, and drinke, and to be drunken.

46 The master of that seruant will come in a day when he thinketh not, and at an houre when hee is not ware of, and will cut him off, and giue him his portion with the vnbeleeuers.

47 ¶ And that seruant that knew his masters will, and prepared not himselfe, neither did according to his will, shall bee beaten with many stripes.

48 But hee that knewe it not, and yet did commit things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with fewe stripes: for vnto whomsoeuer much is giuen, of him shalbe much required, and to whome men much commit, [m] the more of him will they aske.

52 For from henceforth there shalbe fiue in one house diuided, three against two, & two against three.

53 The father shalbe diuided against the sonne, and the sonne against the father: the mother against the daughter, and the daughter against the mother: the mother in lawe against her daughter in law, and the daughter in lawe against her mother in law.

54 ¶ * [14] Then saide hee to the people, When ye see a cloude [n] rise out of the West, straightway ye say, A shower commeth: and so it is.

56 Hypocrites, ye can discerne the face of the earth, and of the skie: but why discerne ye not this time?

57 [15] Yea, and why iudge yee not of your selues what is right?

58 ¶ * While thou goest with thine aduersarie to the ruler, as thou art in the way, giue diligence in the way, that thou mayest bee deliuered from him, least hee drawe thee to the iudge, and the iudge deliuer thee to the [o] iayler, and the iayler cast thee into prison.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the Galileans, 4 and those that were slaine vnder Siloam. 6 The fig tree that bare no fruite. 11 The woman vexed with the spirit of infirmity, that is, with a disease brought on her by Satan, is healed. 19 The parable of the graine of the mustard seede. 21 Of leauen. 23 How few shalbe saued. 32 Herod that foxe.

THere [1] were certaine men present at the same season, that shewed him of the Galileans, whose blood [a] Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices.

2 And Iesus answered, and sayde vnto them, Suppose ye, that these Galileans were greater sinners then all the other Galileans, because they haue suffered such things?

3 I tel you, nay: but except ye amend your liues, ye shall all likewise perish.

4 Or thinke you that those eighteene, vpon whom the tower in [b] Siloam fell, and slue them, were sinners aboue all men that dwel in Hierusalem?

5 I tell you, nay: but except yee amend your liues, ye shall all likewise perish.

6 ¶ [2] Hee spake also this parable, A certaine man had a figge tree planted in his vineyard: and hee came and sought fruite thereon, and found none.

7 Then saide hee to the dresser of his vineyard, Beholde, this three yeeres haue I come and sought fruite of this figge tree, and finde none: cut it downe: why keepeth it also the ground [c] barren?

8 And hee answered, and saide vnto him, Lord let it alone this yeere also, till I digge round about it, and doung it.

9 And if it beare fruite, well: if not, then after thou shalt cut it downe.

10 ¶ [3] And hee taught in one of the Synagogues on the Sabbath day.

11 And behold, there was a woman which had a [d] spirite of infirmitie eighteene yeeres, and was bowed together, and could not lift vp her selfe in any wise.

12 When Iesus sawe her, he called her to him, and said to her, Woman, thou art [e] loosed from thy disease.

13 And he laide his hands on her, and immediately she was made straight againe, and glorified God.

14 [4] And the [f] ruler of the Synagogue answered with indignation, because that Iesus healed on the Sabbath day, and said vnto the people, There are sixe dayes in which men ought to worke: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the Sabbath day.

15 Then answered him the Lord, and said, Hypocrite, doth not eche one of you on ẏ Sabbath day loose his ore or his asse from the stall, and lead him away to the water?

16 And ought not this daughter of Abraham, whom Satan had bound, loe, eighteene yeeres, bee loosed from this bond on the Sabbath day?

17 And when he said these things, all his aduersaries were ashamed: but all the people reioyced at all the excellent things, that were done by him.

18 ¶ * Then saide he, What is the kingdome of God like? or whereto shall I compare it?

19 [5] It is like a graine of mustard seede, which a man tooke and sowed in his garden, and it grewe, and waxed a great tree, and the foules of the heauen made nests in the branches thereof.

20 ¶ * And againe he saide, Whereunto shall I liken the kingdome of God?

21 It is like leauen, which a woman took, and hidde in three pecks of floure, till all was leavened.

22 ¶ [6] * And hee went through all cities and townes, teaching, and iourneying towards Hierusalem.

23 Then saide one vnto him, Lorde, are there few that shalbe saued? And he said vnto them, 24 * Striue to enter in at the straite gate: for many, I say vnto you will seeke to enter in, and shall not be able.

25 When the good man of the house is risen vp, and hath shut to the doore, and ye begin to stand without, and to knocke at the doore, saying, Lord, Lorde, open vnto vs, and he shal answere and say vnto you, I knowe you not whence ye are,

26 [7] Then shall ye begin to say, We haue eaten and dronke in thy presence, and thou hast taught in our streetes.

27 * But he shall say, I tell you, I know you not whence ye are: depart from me, all ye workers of iniquitie.

28 [8] There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when ye shall see Abraham and Isaac, and Iacob, & all the Prophets in the kingdome of God, and your selues thrust out at doores.

29 Then shal come many from the [g] East, and from the West, and from the North, and from the South, and shall sit at Table in the kingdome of God.

30 * And beholde, there are last, which shal be first, and there are first, which shalbe last.

31 [9] The same day there came certaine Pharises, and said vnto him, Depart, and goe hence: for Herod will kill thee.

32 Then said he vnto them, Go ye and tell that [h] Fore, Behold, I cast out deuils, and will heale still [i] to day, and to morow, and the third day I shalbe [k] perfected.

2 The dropſie healed on the Sabbath. 8 The chiefe places at bankets. 12 The poore muſt be called to our feaſts. 16 Of thoſe that were bid to the great Supper. 23 Some compelled to come in. 28 One about to builde a tower.

AND [1] it came to paſſe that when hee was entred into the houſe of [a] one of the chiefe Phariſes on the Sabbath day, to eate bread, they watched him.

2 And beholde, there was a certaine man before him, which had the dropſie.

3 Then Jeſus anſwering, ſpake vnto the Lawyers and Phariſes, ſaying, Is it lawfull to heale on the Sabbath day?

4 And they held their peace. Then he tooke him, and healed him, and let him goe,

5 And anſwered them, ſaying, Which of you ſhall haue an aſſe, or an oxe fallen into a pit, and will not ſtraightway pull him out on the Sabbath day?

6 And they could not anſwere him againe to thoſe things.

7 [2] Hee ſpake alſo a parable to the gheſts, when he marked how they choſe out the chiefe roomes, and ſaid vnto them,

8 When thou ſhalt be bidden of any man to a wedding, ſet not thy ſelf downe in the chiefeſt place, leaſt a more honourable man then thou, be bidden of him,

9 And hee that bade both him and thee, come, and ſay to thee, Giue this man roome, and thou then begin with ſhame to take the loweſt roome.

10 *But when thou art bidden, goe and ſit downe in the loweſt roome, that when hee that bade thee, commeth, he may ſay vnto thee, Friend, ſitte vp higher: then ſhalt thou haue worſhip in the preſence of them that ſit at table with thee.

11 *For whoſoeuer exalteth himſelf, ſhal be brought low, and he that humbleth himſelf, ſhalbe exalted.

12 [3] Then ſaide hee alſo to him that had bidden him, *When thou makeſt a dinner or a ſupper, call not thy friends, nor thy brethren, neither thy kinſmen, nor the rich neighbours, leaſt they alſo bidde thee againe, and a recompence be made thee.

13 But when thou makeſt a feaſt, call the poore, the maimed, the lame, and the blinde, 14 And thou ſhalt be bleſſed, becauſe they cannot recompenſe thee: for thou ſhalt be recompenſed at the reſurrection of the iuſt.

15 [4] Nowe when one of them that ſate at table heard theſe things, he ſaide vnto him, Bleſſed is he that eateth bread in the kingdom of God.

16 Then ſaide he to him, *A certaine man made a great ſupper, and bade many,

17 And ſent his ſeruant at ſupper time to ſay to them that were bidden, Come: for all things are now ready.

18 [4] But they all with [b] one minde began to make excuſe: The firſt ſaide vnto him, I haue bought a Farme, and I muſt needes goe out and ſee it: I pray thee, haue mee excuſed.

19 And another ſaide, I haue bought fiue yoke of oxen, and I go to proue them: I pray thee haue me excuſed.

20 And another ſaide, I haue married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.

21 So that ſeruant returned, and ſhewed his maſter theſe things. Then was the good man of the houſe angrie, and ſaide to his ſeruant, Goe out quickely into the [c] ſtreetes and lanes of the citie, and bring in hither the poore, and the maimed, and the halt, and the blinde.

22 And the ſeruant ſaid, Lord, it is done as thou haſt commanded, and yet there is roome.

23 Then the maſter ſaide to the ſeruant, Goe out into the hie wayes, and hedges, and compell them to come in, that mine houſe may be filled.

24 For I ſay vnto you, that none of thoſe men which were bidden, ſhall taſte of my ſupper.

25 [5] Nowe there went great multitudes with him, and he turned and ſaid vnto them, 26 *If any man come to mee, and [d] hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and ſiſters: yea, and his owne life alſo, he cannot be my diſciple.

27 *[6] And whoſoeuer beareth not his croſſe, and commeth after me, cannot bee my diſciple.

4 The parable of the lost sheepe, 8 of the groate, 11 and of the prodigall sonne.

THen ‖ resorted vnto [1] him [a] all the Publicanes and sinners to heare him.

‖ Or, drew neere.

1 We must not despaire of them, which haue gone out of the way, but according to the example of Christ, we must take great paine about them.

a Some Publicanes and sinners came to Christ from all quarters.

2 Therefore the Pharises and Scribes murmured, saying, He receiueth sinners, and eateth with them.

3 Then spake hee this parable to them, saying,

4 *What man of you hauing an hundreth sheepe, if he lose one of them, doeth not leaue ninetie and nine in the wildernesse, and go after that which is lost, vntill he finde it?

* Matth. 18. 12.

5 And when he hath found it, he layeth it on his shoulders with ioy.

6 And when he commeth home, he calleth together his friends and neighbours, saying vnto them, Reioice with me: for I haue found my sheepe which was lost.

7 I say vnto you, that likewise ioy shalbe in heauen for one sinner that conuerteth, more then for ninetie and nine iust men, which need none amendment of life.

8 Either what woman hauing tenne groats, if she lose one groat, doeth not light a candle, and sweepe the house, and seeke diligently till she finde it?

9 And when she hath found it, she calleth her friends, and neighbours, saying, Reioyce with me: for I haue found the groat which I had lost.

10 Likewise I say vnto you, there is ioy in the presence of the Angels of God, for one sinner that conuerteth.

11 ¶ [2] He said moreouer, A certeine man had two sonnes, a Men by their voluntarie falling from God, hauing shaken themselues of the benefites which they receiued of him, cast themselues headlong into infinite calamities: but God of his singular goodnesse, offering himselfe freely to them, whom he calleth to repentance, though the greatnesse of their miserie wherewith they were tainted, doth not onely gently receiue them, but also enricheth them with farre greater gifts, & blesseth them with the chiefest blisse.

11 And the yoonger of them said to his father, Father, giue me the portion of the goods that falleth to me. So hee diuided vnto them his substance.

13 So not many dayes after, when the yoonger sonne had gathered all together, hee tooke his iourney into a far country, and there he wasted his goods with riotous liuing.

14 Now when he had spent all, there arose a great dearth throughout that land, and he began to be in necessitie.

15 Then he went and claue to a citizen of that country, and he sent him to his farme, to feed swine.

16 And he would faine haue filled his bellie with the huskes, that the swine ate: but no man gaue them him.

17 [3] Then hee came to himselfe, and said, How many hired seruants at my fathers haue bread enough, and I die for hunger?

3 The beginning of repentance is the acknowledging of the mercie of God, which stirreth vs to hope well.

18 I will rise and goe to my father, and say vnto him, Father, I haue sinned against [b] heauen, and before thee, b Against God, because he is hyd to dwell in heauen.

19 And am no more woorthie to bee called thy sonne: make mee as one of thy hired seruants.

20 So he arose and came to his father, and when he was yet a great way off, his father saw him, and had compassion, and ranne and fell on his necke, and kissed him.

21 [4] And the sonne said vnto him, Father, I haue sinned against heauen, and before thee, and am no more woorthie to be called thy sonne.

4 In true repentance there is a feeling of our sinnes, ioyned with feare and shame, from whence springeth a confession, after which followeth forgiuenesse.

22 Then the father said to his seruants, Bring foorth the best robe, and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand, and shooes on his feet,

23 And bring the fat calfe, and kill him, and let vs eate, and be merie:

24 For this my sonne was dead, and is aliue againe: and he was lost, but he is found. And they began to be merie.

25 [5] Now the elder brother was in the field, and when he came and drew neere to the house, he heard melodie, and dancing,

5 Such as trip by feare God, desire to haue all men to be their fellowes.

26 And called one of his seruants, and asked what those things meant.

27 And he said vnto him, Thy brother is come, and thy father hath killed the fatte Calfe because hee hath receiued him safe and sound.

28 Then he was angrie, and would not goe in: therefore came his father out and entreated him.

29 But hee answered and said to his father, Loe, these many yeeres haue I done thee seruice, neither brake I at any time thy commandement, and yet thou neuer gauest mee a Kidde that I might make merry with my friends.

30 But when this thy sonne was come, which hath deuoured thy goods with harlots, thou hast for his sake killed the fat calfe.

31 And he said vnto him, Sonne, thou art euer with me, and all that I haue, is thine. It was was meete that we ſhould make merie, and be glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is aliue againe: and he was loſt, but he is found.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The parable of the ſteward accuſed to his maſter. 13 To ſerue two maſters. 16 The Law and the Prophets 19 Of Diues and Lazarus.

AND hee ſaide alſo vnto his diſciples, [1] There was a certaine rich man, which had a ſteward, and he was accuſed vnto him, that he waſted his goods.

2 And he called him, and ſaide vnto him, Howe is it that I heare this of thee? Giue an accounts of thy ſtewardſhip: for thou mayeſt be no longer ſteward.

3 Then the ſteward ſaid within himſelfe, What ſhall I doe? for my maſter taketh away from me the ſtewardſhip. I cannot digge, and to beg I am aſhamed.

4 I know what I will doe, that when I am put out of the ſtewardſhip, they may receiue me into their houſes.

5 Then called he vnto euery one of his maſters debters, and ſaid vnto the firſt, Howe much oweſt thou vnto my maſter?

6 And he ſaide, An hundred meaſures of oyle. And he ſaide to him, Take thy writing, and ſit downe quickely, and write fiftie.

7 Then ſaid he to another, Howe much oweſt thou? And he ſaide, An hundred meaſures of wheate. Then he ſaid to him, Take thy writing, and write foureſcore.

8 And the Lord commended [a] the vniuſt ſteward, becauſe he had done wiſely. Wherefore the [b] children of this world are in their generation wiſer then the children of light.

9 And I ſay vnto you, Make you friends with the riches [c] of iniquitie, that when ye ſhall want, they may receiue you into euerlaſting [d] habitations.

10 [2] He that is faithfull in the leaſt, he is alſo faithfull in much: and he that is vniuſt in the leaſt, is vniuſt alſo in much.

11 If then ye haue not bene faithfull in the wicked riches, who will truſt you in the [e] true treaſure?

12 And if ye haue not beene faithfull in [f] another mans goods, who ſhall giue you that which is yours?

13 [*3] No ſeruant can ſerue two maſters: for either he ſhall hate the one, and loue the other: or els he ſhall leane to the one, and deſpiſe the other. Yee cannot ſerue God and riches.

14 All theſe things heard the Phariſes alſo which were couetous, and they ſcoffed at him.

15 [4] Then he ſaid vnto them, Ye are they, which iuſtifie your ſelues before men: but God knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly eſteemed among men, is abomination in the ſight of God.

16 [*5] The Lawe and the Prophets endured vntill Iohn: and ſince that time the kingdome of God is preached, and euery man preſſeth into it.

17 [*] Now it is more eaſie that heauen and earth ſhould paſſe away, then that one title of the Lawe ſhould fall.

18 ¶ [*] Whoſoeuer putteth away his wife, and marrieth another, committeth adulterie: and whoſoeuer marrieth her [g] that is put away from her huſband, committeth adulterie.

19 ¶ [6] There was a certaine rich man, which was clothed in [h] purple and fine linnen, and fared well and delicately euery day.

20 Alſo there was a certaine begger named Lazarus, which was laide at his gate full of ſores, 21 And deſired to be refreſhed with the crummes that fell from the rich mans table: yea, and the dogges came and licked his ſores.

22 And it was ſo that the begger died, and was caried by the Angels into Abrahams boſome. The rich man alſo died, and was buried.

23 And being in hell in torments, [i] he lift vp his eies, and ſawe Abraham afarre off, and Lazarus in his boſome.

24 Then he cried, and ſaide, Father Abraham haue mercie on me, and ſend Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and coole my tongue: for I am tormented in this flame.

25 But Abraham ſaide, Sonne, remember that thou in thy life time receiueſt thy pleaſures, and likewiſe Lazarus paines: now therefore is hee comforted, and thou art tormented.

26 Beſides all this, betweene you and vs there is a great gulfe ſet, ſo that they which would goe from hence to you, cannot: neither can they come from thence to vs.

27 [7] Then he ſaide, I pray thee therefore Father, that thou wouldeſt ſend him to my fathers houſe, 28 (For I haue fiue brethren) that he may teſtifie vnto them, leſt they alſo come into this place of torment.

29 Abraham ſaide vnto him, They haue Moſes and the Prophets: let them heare them.

30 And he ſaide, Nay, Father Abraham: but if one came vnto them from the dead, they will amend their liues.

31 Then

1 Seeing that men oftentimes purchaſe friendſhip to themſelues, by other mens gifts, it is ſhame for vs, if with a free and liberall beſtowing of the goods which the Lord hath giuen vs in that purpoſe, we doe not pleaſe him, nor procure the good will of our neighbors, ſeeing that by this onely meanes, riches, which are often times occaſions of ſinne, are turned to another vſe and purpoſe.

a This parable doth not approue the ſtewards naughtie dealing, for it was very theeriſh: but parables are ſet forth, to ſhew a thing ouerly, and as it were, vnder a figure to repreſent the trueth, though it agree not thorowly with the matter it ſelfe: ſo that Chriſt meaneth by this parable, to teach vs, that worldly men are more heedie in the affaires of this world, then the children of God are carefull for euerlaſting life.

b Men that are giuen to this preſent life, contrary to whō the children of light are (ſaith S. Paul) called thoſe ſpirituall, and the other carnall.

c This is not ſpoken of goods that are euill gotten, for God will haue our bountifulnes in the poore, proceede and come from a good fountaine: but he calleth thoſe riches of iniquity, which men vſe naughtily.

d To wit, the poore Chriſtians: for they are the inheritours of theſe Tabernacles. Theophyl. 2 We ought to take heede, that for abuſing our earthly function and office, we be not depriued of heauenly gifts: for howe can they vſe ſpirituall gifts aright, who abuſe worldly things? e That is, heauenly and true riches: which are contrary to worldly and fitting ſubſtance. f In worldly goods, which are called other mens, becauſe they are committed to our credite. * Matth. 6.24. 3 No man can loue God and riches together.

4 Our ſinnes are not hidden to God, although they be hidden to men, yea although they be hidden to them whoſe ſinnes they are.

* Matth. 11.12.

5 The Phariſes deſpiſed the excellencie of the new Teſtament, in reſpect of the olde, being ignorant of the perfect righteouſneſſe of the Law, and howe falſe expounders they were of the Lawe, Chriſt declareth by the ſeuenth commandement.

* Matth. 5.18.

* Mar. 5.32. and 19.9. 1. cor. 7.11.

g They that gather by this place, that a man cannot be married againe after that he hath put away his wife for adulterie, whilſt ſhe liueth, reaſon fondly: for Chriſt ſpeaketh of thoſe diuorces, which the Iewes vſed, of which ſort we cannot take the diuorcement for adulterie, for adulterers were put to death by the Lawe.

6 The ende of the prouerbe and miſerie of the godly, ſhall be euerlaſting ioye as the ende of the riotouſneſſe and cruell pride of the rich ſhall be euerlaſting miſerie, without hope of mercie.

h Very gorgeouſly and ſumptuouſly, for purple garments were coſtly, and this fine linnen which was a kinde of linnen that came out of Achaia, was as deare as golde.

i Heauenly and ſpirituall things are expreſſed and ſet foorth vnder colours and reſemblances fit for our ſenſes.

7 Seeing that we haue a moſt ſure rule to liue by, layed foorth vnto vs in the worde of God, raſhly and raſhly doe men ſeeke for other reuelations.

31 Then he saide vnto him, If they heare not Moses and the Prophets, neither will they be perswaded, though one rise from the dead againe.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Offences. 3 Wee must forgiue him that trespasseth against vs. 10 We are vnprofitable seruants. 11 Of the ten lepers. 20 Of the comming of the kingdome of heauen. 33 False Christes. 36 After what maner Christs comming shall be.

THen saide he to his disciples, *[1] It cannot be auoided, but that offences will come, but woe be to him by whom they come.

2 It is better for him that a great millstone were hanged about his necke, and that he were cast into the sea, then that he should offend one of these litle ones.

3 ¶ [2] Take heede to your selues: if thy brother trespasse against thee, rebuke him: and if he repent, forgiue him.

4 * And though he sinne against thee seuen times in a day, and seuen times in a day turne againe to thee, saying, It repenteth me, thou shalt forgiue him.

5 ¶ [3] And the Apostles saide vnto the Lord, Increase our faith.

6 And the Lord said, * If ye had faith, as much as is [a] a graine of mustard seede: and should say vnto this mulberie tree, Plucke thy selfe vp by the rootes, and plant thy selfe in the sea, it should euen obey you.

7 ¶ [4] Who is it also of you, that hauing a seruant plowing or feeding cattell, would say vnto him by and by, when hee were come from the fielde, Goe, and sit downe at table?

8 And woulde not rather say to him, Dresse wherewith I may suppe, and gird thy selfe, and serue me, till I haue eaten and dronken, and afterward eate thou, and drinke thou?

9 Doeth he thanke that seruant, because he did that which was commanded vnto him? I trowe not.

10 [5] So likewise ye, when ye haue done all those things, which are commaunded you, say, We are vnprofitable seruants: we haue done that which was our duetie to doe.

11 ¶ [6] And so it was when hee went to Hierusalem, that he passed through the mids of Samaria, and Galile.

12 And as he entred into a certaine towne, there met him ten men that were lepers, which stood afarre off.

13 And they lift vp their voyces and saide, Jesus, Master, haue mercie on vs.

14 And when he sawe them, he said vnto them, *Go, shew your selues vnto the Priests. And it came to passe, that as they went, they were cleansed.

15 Then one of them, when he sawe that he was healed, turned backe, and with a loude voyce praysed God, 16 And fell downe on his face at his feete, and gaue him thankes: and he was a Samaritane.

17 And Jesus answered, & saide, Are there not ten cleansed? but where are the nine?

18 There is none found that returned to giue God praise, saue this stranger.

19 And he saide vnto him, Arise, goe thy way, thy faith hath saued thee.

20 ¶ [7] And when hee was demaunded of the Pharises, when the kingdome of God should come, he answered them, and said, The kingdome of God commeth not with [b] obseruation.

21 Neither shall men say, Loe here, or loe there: for beholde, the kingdome of God is [c] within you.

22 [8] And he saide vnto the disciples, The dayes will come, when ye shall desire to see [d] one of the dayes of the Sonne of man, and ye shall not see it.

23 *[9] Then they shall say to you, Beholde here, or beholde there: but goe not thither, neither followe them.

24 For as the lightening that lighteneth out of the one part vnder heauen, shineth vnto the other part vnder heauen, so shal the Sonne of man be in his day.

25 But first must he suffer many things, and be reproued of this generation.

26 * [10] And as it was in the dayes of Noe, so shall it be in the dayes of the Sonne of man.

30 After these ensamples shall it be in the day when the Sonne of man is reuelled.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The parable of the vnrighteous iudge and the widowe. 10 Of the Phariſe and the Publicane. 15 Children are of the kingdome of heauen. 22 To ſell all and giue to the poore. 28 The Apoſtles forſake all. 31 Chriſt foretelleth his death. 35 The blind man receiueth ſight.

AND [1] he ſpake alſo a parable vnto them, to this ende, that they * ought alwayes to pray, and not to [a] waxe faint,

2 [b] Saying, There was a iudge in a certaine citie, which feared not God, neither reuerenced man.

3 And there was a widowe in that citie, which came vnto him, ſaying, Doe me iuſtice againſt mine aduerſarie.

4 And he would not of long time: but afterward hee ſaide with himſelfe, Though I feare not God, nor reuerence man,

5 Yet becauſe this widow troubleth me, I will do her right, leſt at the laſt ſhe come and [c] make me wearie.

6 And the Lord ſaid, Heare what the vnrighteous iudge ſaith.

7 Nowe ſhall not God auenge his elect, which cry day and night vnto him, yea, though [d] he ſuffer long for them?

8 I tell you he wil auenge them quickly: but when the Sonne of man commeth, ſhall he finde faith on the earth?

9 ¶ [2] Hee ſpake alſo this parable vnto certaine which truſted in themſelues that they were iuſt, and deſpiſed other.

10 Two men went vp into the Temple to pray: the one a Phariſe, and the other a Publicane.

11 [3] The Phariſe ſtoode and prayed thus with himſelfe, O God, I thanke thee, that I am not as other men, extortioners, vniuſt, adulterers, or euen as this Publican.

12 I faſt twiſe in the weeke: I giue tithe of all that euer I poſſeſſe.

13 But the Publican ſtanding [e] afarre off, would not lift vp ſo much as his eyes to heauen, but ſmote his breſt, ſaying, O God, be mercifull to me a ſinner.

14 I tell you, this man departed to his houſe iuſtified rather then the other: *for euery man that exalteth himſelfe, ſhall be brought lowe, and he that humbleth himſelfe, ſhall be exalted.

*Chap.14.11. matth.23.12.

15 ¶ * [f] They brought vnto him alſo babes th at he ſtould touche them. [4] And when his diſciples ſawe it, they rebuked them.

*Matth.19.13. marke 10.13.

16 [5] But Jeſus called them vnto him, and ſaide, Suffer the babes to come vnto me, and forbid them not: for of ſuch is the kingdome of God.

17 [6] Verely I ſay vnto you, Whoſoeuer receiueth not the kingdome of God as a babe, he ſhall not enter therein.

18 *Then a certaine ruler aſked him, ſaying, Good Maſter, what ought I to doe, to inherite eternall life?

19 And Jeſus ſaid vnto him, Why calleſt thou me good? none is good, ſaue one, euen God.

20 Thou knoweſt the commaundements, * Thou ſhalt not commit adulterie, Thou ſhalt not kill: Thou ſhalt not ſteale: Thou ſhalt not beare falſe witneſſe: Honour thy father and thy mother.

21 [7] And he ſaide, All theſe haue I kept from my youth.

22 Nowe when Jeſus heard that, he ſaide vnto him, Yet thou lackeſt one thing. Sell all that euer thou haſt, and diſtribute vnto the poore, and thou ſhalt haue treaſure in heauen, and come followe me.

23 But whē he heard thoſe things, he was very heauie: for he was marueilous riche.

24 [8] And when Jeſus ſawe him very ſorowfull, he ſaide, With what difficultie ſhall they that haue riches, enter into the kingdome of God!

25 Surely it is eaſier for a Camell to goe through a needles eie, then for a riche man to enter into the kingdome of God.

26 Then ſaide they that heard it, And who then can be ſaued?

27 And he ſaide, The things which are vnpoſſible with men, are poſſible with God.

28 ¶ *Then Peter ſaid, Lo, we haue left all, and haue followed thee.

*Matth.19.27. marke 10.28.

d Though he ſeeme ſlowe in auenging the iniurie done to his.

1 Two things ſpecially make our prayers bold of good effect: confidence of our own righteouſneſſe, and the contempt of other: for a humble heart is contrary to both theſe.

12 The more stops and lets that Satan layeth in our way euen by them which profesle Christes Name, so much the more ought we to goe forward.

40 And Iesus stood still, and commaunded him to be brought vnto him. And when he was come neere, he asked him, 41 Saying, What wilt thou that I doe vnto thee? And he saide, Lord, that I may receiue my sight.

42 And Iesus said vnto him, Receiue thy sight: thy faith hath saued thee.

43 Then immediatly he receiued his sight, and followed him, praysing God: and all the people, when they sawe this, gaue prayse to God.

CHAP. XIX.

Zaccheus the Publicane. 13 Ten pieces of money deliuered to seruants to occupie withall. 29 Iesus entreth into Hierusalem. 41 Hee foretelleth the destruction of the Citie with teares. 45 Hee casteth the sellers out of the Temple.

1 Christ preuenteth them with his grace especially, which seemed to be furthest from it.

NOwe [1] when Iesus entred and passed through Iericho,

2 Beholde, there was a man named Zacheus, which was the [a] chiefe receiuer of the tribute, and he was riche.

a The ouerseer and head of the Publicanes, which were there together: for the Publicanes were diuided into companies, as we may gather by many places of Cicero his orations.

3 And he sought to see Iesus, who he should be, and could not for the preasse, because he was of a lowe stature.

4 Wherefore he ranne before, and climed vp into a wilde figge tree, that he might see him: for he should come that way.

5 And when Iesus came to the place, he looked vp, and sawe him, and saide vnto him, Zaccheus, come downe at once: for to day I must abide at thine house.

2 The world forsaketh the grace of God, and yet is vnwilling that it should be bestowed vpon other.

6 Then he came downe hastily, and receiued him ioyfully.

7 [2] And when all they sawe it, they murmured, saying, that he was gone in to lodge with a sinnefull man.

8 [3] And Zaccheus stoode forth, and saide vnto the Lord, Beholde, Lord, the halfe of my goods I giue to the poore: and if I haue taken from any man by [b] forged cauillation, I restore him foure folde.

3 The effect of true repentance, is knowen by the effect.

b By falsly accusing any man: and this agreeth most fitly to the master of the customers person: for commonly they haue this trade among them, when they robbe and spoile the Common-weale, they haue nothing in their mouthes, but the profite of the Cõmon-weale, and vnder that colour they play the theeues, in so much that if men reprooue and go about to redresse their robberie, and spoiling, they crie out, the Common-weale is hindered.

9 Then Iesus saide to him, This day is saluation come vnto this house, forasmuch as he is also become the [c] sonne of Abraham.

c Beloued of God, one that walketh in the steps of Abrahams faith: and we gather that saluation came to the house, because they receiued the blessing as Abraham had, for all of his household were circumcised.

10 * For the Sonne of man is come to seeke, and to saue that which was lost.

*Matth. 18.11.

11 [4] And whiles they heard these things, he continued and spake a parable, because he was neere to Hierusalem, and because also they thought that the kingdome of God should shortly appeare.

4 We must patiently waite for the iudgement of God, which shalbe reuealed in his time.

12 He said therefore, * A certaine Noble man went into a farre countrey, to receiue for himselfe a kingdome, and so to come againe.

*Matth. 25.14.

13 [5] And he called his tenne seruants, and deliuered them ten pieces of money, and saide vnto them, Occupie till I come.

5 There are three sorts of men in the Church: the one sort fall from Christ whom they see not: the other, which according to their vocation, besides the gifts, which they haue receiued of God, to his glory with great paines & diligence: the third liue idely, and do no good. As for the first, the Lord when he commeth will iustly punish them in his time: the other he will bleesse, according to the paines which they haue taken: and as for the slouthfull and idle persons he will punish them as the first.

14 Nowe his citizens hated him, and sent an ambassage after him, saying, We will not haue this man to reigne ouer vs.

15 And it came to passe, when hee was come againe, and had receiued his kingdome, that he commaunded the seruants to be called to him, to whom hee gaue his money, that he might knowe what euery man had gained.

16 Then came the first, saying, Lord [d] thy piece hath increased ten pieces.

d This was a piece of money which the Grecians vsed, and was in value about an hundred pence, which is about ten crownes.

17 And he saide vnto him, Well, good seruant: because thou hast beene faithfull in a very litle thing, take thou authoritie ouer tenne cities.

18 And the second came, saying, Lord, thy piece hath increased fiue pieces.

19 And to the same he saide, Be thou also ruler ouer fiue cities.

20 [6] So the other came, and saide, Lorde, beholde thy piece, which I haue layed vp in a napkin:

6 Against them which spend their life idely in deliberating and otherwise in contemplation.

21 For I feared thee, because thou art a strait man: thou takest vp, that thou layedst not downe, & reapest that thou didst not sowe.

22 Then he saide vnto him, Of thine owne mouth will I iudge thee, O euill seruant. Thou knewest that I am a strait man, taking vp that I layed not downe, and reaping that I did not sowe.

23 Wherefore then gauest not thou my money into the [e] banke, that at my comming I might haue required it with vantage?

e To the bankers and changers.

24 And he said to them that stood by, Take from him that piece, and giue it him that hath ten pieces.

25 (And they said vnto him, Lord, he hath ten pieces.)

26 * For

26 *For I say vnto you, that vnto al them that haue, it shall be giuen: and from him that hath not, euen that he hath, shall be taken from him.

27 Moreouer, those mine enemies, which would not that I should reigne ouer them, bring hither, and slay them before me.

28 ¶ And when he had thus spoken, f he went forth before, ascending vp to Hierusalem.

29 *7 And it came to passe, when he was come neere to Bethphage, and Bethania, besides the mount which is called the mount of Oliues, he sent two of his disciples, 30 Saying, Goe ye to the towne which is before you, wherein, assoone as ye are come, ye shall finde a Colte tied, whereon neuer man sate: loose him, and bring him hither.

31 And if any man aske you, why ye loose him, thus shall ye say vnto him, Because the Lord hath neede of him.

32 So they that were sent, went their way, and found it as he had said vnto them.

33 And as they were loosing the Colt, the owners thereof saide vnto them, Why loose ye the Colte?

34 And they saide, The Lord hath neede of him.

35 ¶ *So they brought him to Iesus, and they cast their garments on the Colte, and set Iesus thereon.

36 And as hee went, they spread their clothes in the way.

37 And when he was nowe come neere to the going downe of the mount of Oliues, the whole multitude of the disciples began to reioyce, and to praise God with a loude voyce, for all the great workes that they had seene, 38 Saying, Blessed be the King that commeth in the Name of the Lord: peace be in heauen, and glorie in the highest places.

39 8 Then some of the Pharises of the companie saide vnto him, Master, rebuke thy disciples.

40 But he answered, and said vnto them, I tell you, that if these should hold their peace, the stones would cry.

41 ¶ *9 And when hee was come neere, he beheld the Citie, and wept for it.

42 Saying, O h if thou haddest euen knowen i at the least in this k thy day those things, which belong vnto thy l peace! but nowe are they hid from thine eyes.

43 For the dayes shall come vpon thee, that thine enemies shall cast a trench about thee, and compasse thee round, and keepe thee in on euery side, 44 And shall make thee euen with the ground, and thy children which are in thee, and they shal not leaue in thee a stone vpon a stone, because thou knewest not m that season of thy visitation.

45 ¶ *10 He went also into the Temple, and began to cast out them that solde therein, and them that bought, 46 Saying vnto them, It is written, * Mine house is the house of prayer, * but ye haue made it a denne of theeues.

47 And hee taught dayly in the Temple. But the high Priestes and the Scribes, and the chiefe of the people sought to destroy him.

48 But they could not finde what they might doe to him: for all the people hanged vpon him when they heard him.

CHAP. XX.

4 From whence Iohns baptisme was. 9 The wickednesse of the Priestes is noted by the parable of the vineyard and the husbandmen. 21 To giue tribute to Cesar. 27 He conuinceth the Sadduces denying the resurrection. 41 Howe Christ is the sonne of Dauid.

AND *1 it came to passe, that on one of those dayes, as he taught the people in the Temple, and preached the Gospel, the hie Priests and the Scribes came vpon him with the Elders,

2 And spake vnto him, saying, Tell vs by what authoritie thou doest these things, or who is he that hath giuen thee this authoritie?

3 And he answered, & said vnto them, I also will aske you one thing: tell me therefore:

4 The baptisme of Iohn, was it from heauen, or of men?

5 And they reasoned within themselues, saying, If we shall say, From heauen, he will say, Why then beleeue ye him not?

6 But if wee shall say, Of men, all the people will stone vs: for they be persuaded that Iohn was a Prophet.

7 Therefore they answered, that they could not tell whence it was.

8 Then Iesus saide vnto them, Neither tel I you, by what authority I do these things.

9 ¶ *2 Then began he to speake to the people this parable, A certaine man planted a vineyard, and let it forth to husbandmen: and went into a strange countrey, for a great time.

10 And at the time conuenient he sent a seruant to the husbandmen, that they should giue him of the fruite of the vineyard: but the husbandmen did beat him, and sent him away emptie.

11 Againe hee sent yet another seruant: and they did beat him, and foule intreated him, and sent him away emptie.

*Matth. 21. 23. marke 11. 27.

1 The Pharisies being ouercome with the truth of Christes doctrine, moue a question about his outward calling, and are ouercome by the witnesse of their owne conscience.

*Matth. 21. 33. marke 12. 1. iſai. 5. 1. iere. 2. 21.

2 It is no newe thing to haue them the chiefest enemies of Christ and his seruants, which are conuersant in the very Sanctuarie of Gods holy place: but at length they shall not scape vnpunished.

12 Moreouer

12 Moreouer he sent the third, and him they wounded, and cast out.

13 Then saide the Lord of the vineyard, What shall I doe? I will send my beloued sonne: it may be that they will doe reuerence, when they see him.

14 But when the husbandmen sawe him, they reasoned with themselues, saying, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, that the inheritance may be ours.

15 So they cast him out of the vineyard, and killed him. What shall the Lord of the vineyard therefore doe vnto them?

16 He will come and destroy these husbandmen, and will giue out his vineyard to others. But when they heard it, they said, God forbid.

17 ¶ And he beheld them, and said, What meaneth this then that is written, *The stone that the builders refused, that is made the head of the corner?

18 Whosoeuer shall fall vpon that stone, shall be broken: and on whomsoeuer it shall fall: it will grinde him to pouder.

19 Then the hie Priests, and the Scribes the same houre went about to lay handes on him: (but they feared the people) for they perceiued that hee had spoken this parable against them.

20 *3 And they [a] watched him, and sent foorth [b] spies, which should faine themselues iust men, [c] to take him in his talke, and to deliuer him vnto the power and [d] authoritie of the gouernour.

21 And they asked him, saying, Master, we know that thou sayest, and teachest aright, neither doest thou accept [e] mans person, but teachest the way of God truely.

22 Is it lawfull for vs to giue Cesar tribute or no?

23 But he perceiued their [f] craftinesse, and said vnto them, Why tempt ye me?

24 Shewe me a penie, Whose image and superscription hath it? They answered, and said, Cesars.

25 Then he said vnto them, *Giue then vnto Cesar the things which are Cesars, and to God those which are Gods.

26 And they could not reproue his saying before the people: but they marueiled at his answere, and held their peace.

27 *4 Then came to him certaine of the Sadduces (which denie that there is any resurrection) and they asked him, 28 Saying, Master, *Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mans brother die hauing a wife, and he die without children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise vp seede vnto his brother.

29 Now there were seuen brethren, and the first tooke a wife, and he died without children.

30 And the second tooke the wife, and he died childelesse.

31 Then the third tooke her: and so likewise the seuen died, and left no children.

32 And last of all the woman died also.

33 Therefore at the resurrection, whose wife of them shall she be? for seuen had her to wife.

34 Then Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, The [g] children of this world marrie wiues, and are married.

35 But they which shalbe counted worthy to enioy that world, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marrie wiues, neither are married.

36 For they can die no more, forasmuch as they are equall vnto the Angels, and are the sonnes of God, since they are the [h] children of the resurrection.

37 And that the dead shall rise againe, euen * Moses shewed it beside the bush, when he saide, The Lorde is the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.

38 For hee is not the God of the dead, but of them which liue: for all [i] liue vnto him.

39 Then certaine of the Scribes answered, and said, Master, thou hast well said.

40 And after that, durst they not aske him any thing at all.

41 *5 Then said he vnto them, Howe say they that Christ is Dauids sonne?

42 And Dauid himselfe saith in the booke of the Psalmes, * The Lord saide vnto my Lord, Sit at my right hand, 43 Till I shall make thine enemies thy footestoole.

44 Seeing Dauid called him Lord, howe is he then his sonne?

45 ¶ Then in the audience of all the people he said vnto his disciples,

46 *6 Beware of the Scribes, which willingly goe in long robes, & loue salutations in the markets, and the hiest seates in the assemblies, and the chiefe roomes at feastes:

CHAP. XXI.

1 The widowes liberalitie about her riches. 5 Of the time of the destruction of the Temple, 19 and Hierusalem. 25 The signes going before the last iudgement.

AND *1 as he beheld, he sawe the riche men, which cast their giftes into the treasurie.

*Mark. 12. 42.

1 The poore may exceede in bounty and liberalitie euen the richest, according to Gods iudgement.

2 And

2 And he saw also a certaine poore widow which cast in thither two mites:

3 And he said, Of a trueth I say vnto you, that this poore widowe hath cast in more then they all.

4 For they all haue of their superfluitie cast into the offerings of God: but shee of her penurie hath cast in all the liuing that shee had.

5 *[1] Nowe as some spake of the Temple, howe it was garnished with goodly stones, and with [a] consecrate things, he said,

6 Are these the things that yee looke vpon: the dayes will come wherein a stone shall not be left vpon a stone, that shall not be throwen downe.

7 Then they asked him, saying, Master, but when shall these things be: and what signe shall there be when these things shall come to passe?

8 * And he saide, Take heede, that ye bee not deceiued: for many will come [b] in my Name, saying, I am Christ, and the time draweth neere: followe yee not them therefore.

9 [3] And when yee heare of warres and seditions, bee not afraide: for these thinges must first come, but the ende followeth not by and by.

10 Then said hee vnto them, Nation shall rise against nation, and kingdome against kingdome, 11 * And great earthquakes shall be in diuers places, and hunger, and pestilence, and fearefull things, and great signes shall there be from heauen.

12 But before all these, they shall lay their handes on you, and persecute you, deliuering you vp to the assemblies, and into prisons, and bring you before Kings and rulers for my Names sake.

13 And this shall turne to you, for [c] a testimoniall.

14 * Lay it vp therefore in your heartes, that yee cast not before hand, what yee shall answere.

15 For I will giue you a mouth and wisdome, where against all your aduersaries shall not be able to speake, nor resist.

16 Yea, ye shall bee betrayed also of your parents, and of your brethren, and kinsemen, and friends, and some of you shall they put to death.

17 And ye shall be hated of all men for my Names sake.

18 * Yet there shall not one haire of your heads perish.

19 By your patience [d] possesse your soules.

20 ¶ * [4] And when yee see Hierusalem besieged with souldiers, then vnderstand that the desolation thereof is neere.

21 Then let them which are in Iudea, flee to the mountaines: and let them which are in the mids thereof, depart out, and let not them that are in the countrey, enter therein.

22 For these be the dayes of vengeance, to fulfill all things that are written.

23 But woe be to them that be with childe, and to them that giue sucke in those dayes: for there shall bee great distresse in this lande, and [e] wrath ouer this people.

24 And they shall fall on the [f] edge of the sword, and shall be led captiue into all nations, and Hierusalem shall be troden vnder foote of the Gentiles, vntil the time of the Gentiles be fulfilled.

25 * [5] Then there shall bee signes in the Sunne, and in the Moone, and in the starres, and vpon the earth trouble among the nations with perplexitie: the sea and the waters shall roare.

26 [5] And mens hearts shall faile them for feare, and for looking after those things which shall come on the world: for the powers of heauen shalbe shaken.

27 And then shall they see the Sonne of man come in a cloude, with power and great glorie.

28 And when these things begin to come to passe, then looke vp, and lift vp your heads: * for your redemption draweth neere.

29 [6] And hee spake to them a parable, Behold, the figge tree, and all trees.

30 When they now shoote forth, ye seeing them, know of your owne selues, that sommer is then neere.

31 So likewise yee, when yee see these things come to passe, know yee that the kingdome of God is neere.

32 Verily I say vnto you, This age shall not passe, till all these things be done:

33 Heauen and earth shall passe away, but my wordes shall not passe away.

34 * Take heede to your selues, least at any time your heartes bee oppressed with surfetting and drunkennesse, and cares of this life, and least that day come on you at vnwares.

35 For as a snare shal it come [h] on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth.

36 Watch therefore, and pray continually, that yee may bee counted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to passe, and that yee may [i] stande before the Sonne of man.

20 Likewise also after supper he tooke the cup, saying, This cup is [h] that new Testament in my blood, which is shed for you.

g Here is a double Metonymie: for first the vessel is taken for that which is conteined in the vessell, as the cup, for the wine, which is within the cup. Then the wine is called the Couenant or testament, whereas indeede it is but the signe of the Testament, or rather of the blood of Christ, whereby the Testament was made: neither is it a vaine signe, although it be not all one with the thing that it representeth.

h This word that, sheweth the excellencie of the Testament, and answereth to the place of Ieremie, Chap.31.31. where the new Testament is promised.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 He is accused before Pilate. 7 Hee is sent to Herod, 11 Hee is mocked. 24 Pilate yeeldeth him vp to the Iewes request. 27 The women bewaile him. 33 He is crucified. 39 One of the theeues reuileth him: 43 The other is saued by faith. 45 He dieth. 53 He is buried.

THen [1] the whole multitude of them arose, and led him vnto Pilate. 1 Christ, who is now ready to suffer for the sedition which he raised in this world, is first of all pronounced guiltlesse, that it might appeare that he suffered not for his owne sinnes (which were none) but for ours.

2 And they began to accuse him, saying, Wee haue found this man [a] peruerting the nation, * and forbidding to pay tribute to Cesar, saying, That he is Christ a King. a Corrupting the people, and leading them into errours. * Matth.22.21. marke 12.17.

3 *And Pilate asked him, saying, Art thou the King of the Iewes? And hee answered him, and said, Thou sayest it.

4 Then said Pilate to the hie Priests, and to the people, I finde no fault in this man.

5 But they were the more fierce, saying, Hee moueth the people, teaching throughout all Iudea, beginning at Galile, euen to this place.

6 [2] Nowe when Pilate heard of Galile, he asked whether the man were a Galilean.

7 And when he knew that he was of [b] Herods iurisdiction, he sent him to Herod, which was also at Hierusalem in those dayes.

8 And when Herod saw Iesus, he was exceedingly glad: for he was desirous to see him of a long season, because hee had heard many things of him, and trusted to haue seene some signe done by him.

9 Then questioned hee with him of many things: but he answered him nothing.

10 The hie Priests also and Scribes stood forth, and accused him vehemently.

11 And Herod with his [c] men of warre, despised him, and mocked him, and arayed him in white, and sent him againe to Pilate.

12 [3] And the same day Pilate and Herod were made friendes together: for before they were enemies one to another.

13 ¶ [4] Then Pilate called together the hie Priestes and the [d] rulers, and the people,

14 *And said vnto them, Ye haue brought this man vnto mee, as one that peruerted the people: and beholde, I haue examined him before you, and haue found no fault in this man, of those things whereof ye accuse him:

15 No, nor yet Herode: for I sent you to him: and loe, nothing worthy of death is done of him.

16 [5] I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose.

17 (For of necessitie hee must haue let one loose vnto them at the feast.)

18 Then all the multitude cried at once, saying, Away with him, and deliuer vnto vs Barabbas:

19 Which for a certaine insurrection made in the citie, and murther, was cast in prison.

20 Then Pilate spake againe to them, willing to let Iesus loose.

21 But they cried, saying, Crucifie, crucifie him.

22 [6] And he said vnto them the thirde time, But what euill hath he done? I finde no cause of death in him: I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose.

23 But they were instant with loude voyces, and required that hee might be crucified: and the voyces of them and of the hie Priestes preuailed.

24 So Pilate gaue sentence, that it should be as they required.

25 And he let loose vnto them him that for insurrection and murther was cast into prison, whom they desired, and deliuered Iesus to doe with him what they would.

26 ¶ *[7] And as they led him away, they caught one Simon of Cyrene, comming out of the fielde, and on him they layd the crosse, to beare it after Iesus.

27 [8] And there followed him a great multitude of people, and of women, which women bewailed and lamented him.

28 But Iesus turned backe vnto them, and said, Daughters of Hierusalem, weepe not for me, but weepe for your selues, and for your children.

29 For beholde, the dayes will come, when men shall say, Blessed are the barren, and the wombes that neuer bare, and the paps which neuer gaue sucke.

30 Then shall they beginne to say to the mountaines, * Fall on vs, and to the hils, Couer vs.

31 *For if they do these things to a [e] greene tree, what shalbe done to the drie?

32 *And there were two others, which were euil doers, led with him to be slaine.

34 [10] Then saide Iesus, Father, forgiue them: for they know not what they doe. And they parted his raiment, and cast lots.

35 And the people stood, and beholde: and the rulers mocked him with them, saying, He saued others: let him saue himselfe, if he be that Christ, the [f] Chosen of God.

NOw the *[1] first day of the weeke [a] earely in the morning, they came to the sepulchre, and brought the odours, which they had prepared, and certaine women with them.

1 Poore silly women, euen like their expectation are chosen to be the first witnesses of the resurrection, that there might bee no suspition either of deceite or violence.

a Very early, as Marke saith, or as Iohn saith, while it was yet darke, that is, when it was yet scarce the dawning of the day.

2 And they founde the stone rolled away from the sepulchre,

3 And went in, but founde not the body of the Lord Jesus.

4 And it came to passe, that as they were amased thereat, behold, two men suddenly stood by them in shining vestures.

5 And as they were afrayde, and bowed downe their faces to the earth, they sayde to them, Why seeke yee him that liueth, among the dead?

6 Hee is not here, but is risen: remember * how he spake vnto you, when hee was yet in Galile, 7 Saying, that the Sonne of man must bee deliuered into the handes of sinfull men, and bee crucified, and the thirde day rise againe.

8 And they remembred his words,

9 [2] And returned from the Sepulchre, and and told all these things vnto the eleuen, and to all the remnant.

10 Nowe it was Mary Magdalene, and Joanna, and Mary the mother of James, and other women with them, which tolde these things vnto the Apostles.

11 But their words seemed vnto them, as a fained thing, neither beleeued they them.

12 *[3] Then arose Peter, and ranne vnto the sepulchre, and [b] looked in, and sawe the linen clothes layde by themselues, and departed wondering in himself at that which was come to passe.

13 ¶ *[4] And beholde, two of them went that same day to a town which was from Hierusalem about threescore furlongs, called Emmaus.

14 And they talked together of all these things that were done.

15 And it came to passe, as they communed together, and reasoned, that Jesus himselfe drew neere, and went with them.

16 [c] But their eyes were holden, that they could not know him.

17 And he said vnto them, What maner of communications are these that yee haue one to another as ye walke and are sad?

18 And [d] the one (named Cleopas) answered, and saide vnto him, Art thou onely a stranger in Hierusalem, and hast not knowen the things which are come to passe therein in these dayes?

19 And he said vnto them, What things? And they saide vnto him, Of Jesus of Nazareth, which was a Prophet, mightie in deede and in word before God, and all people.

20 [3] And how the hie Priestes, and our rulers deliuered him to be condemned to death, and haue crucified him.

21 But we trusted that it had bene he that should haue deliuered Israel, and as touching all these things, to day is the third day, that they were done.

22 Yea, and certaine women among vs made vs astonied, which came early vnto the sepulchre.

23 And when they found not his body, they came, saying, that they had also seene a vision of Angels, which said, that he was aliue.

24 Therefore certaine of them which were with vs, went to the sepulchre, and founde it euen so as the woman had saide, but him they saw not.

25 Then he saide vnto them, O fooles and slow of heart to beleeue all that the Prophetes haue spoken!

26 Ought not Christ to haue suffered these things, and to enter into his glory?

27 And hee began at Moses, and at all the Prophets, and interpreted vnto them in all the Scriptures the things which were written of him.

28 And they drewe neere vnto the towne which they went to, but he made as though he would haue gone further.

29 But they constrained him, saying, Abide with vs: for it is towards night, & the day is far spent. So he went in to tarie with them.

30 And it came to passe, as he sate at table with them: he tooke the bread, and blessed, and brake it, and gaue it to them.

31 Then their eyes were opened, and they knew him: and he was [e] no more seene of them.

32 And they saide betweene themselues, Did not our hearts burne within vs, while hee talked with vs by the way, and when hee opened to vs the Scriptures?

33 And they rose vp the same houre, and returned to Hierusalem, and found the Eleuen gathered together, and them that were with them, 34 Which said, The Lord is risen in deed, and hath appeared to Simon.

35 Then they told what things were done in the way, and how hee was knowen of them in [f] breaking of bread.

36 ¶ [*6] And as they spake these things, Iesus himselfe stoode in the mids of them, and said vnto them, Peace be to you.

37 But they were abashed and afraid, supposing that they had seene a spirit.

38 Then hee said vnto them, Why are yee troubled? and wherefore doe doubtes arise in your hearts?

39 Beholde mine handes and my feete: for it is I my selfe: handle mee, and see: for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye see mee haue.

40 And when he had thus spoken, he shewed them his hands and feete.

41 And while they yet beleeued not for ioy, and wondered, he said vnto them, Haue yee here any meate?

42 And they gaue him a piece of a broiled fish, and of an honie combe, 43 And hee tooke it, and did eate before them.

44 [7] And he saide vnto them, These are the wordes, which I spake vnto you while I was yet with you, that al must be fulfilled which are written of me in the Law of Moses, and in the Prophets, and in the Psalmes.

45 Then opened hee their vnderstanding, that they might vnderstand the Scriptures, 46 And said vnto them, Thus is it written, and thus it behoued Christ to suffer, and to rise againe from the dead the third day, 47 And that repentance, and remission of sinnes should be preached in his Name among all nations, [h] beginning at Hierusalem.

50 [8] Afterwarde hee ledde them out into Bethania, and lift vp his handes, and blessed them.

51 And it came to passe, that as hee blessed them, *he departed from them, and was caried vp into heauen.

CHAP. I.

1 The worde begotten of God before all worlds, 2 and which was euer with the Father, 14 is made man. 6.7 For what ende Iohn was sent from God: 16 His preaching of Christes office: 19.20 The record that he bare, giuen out vnto the Priests. 40 The calling of Andrew, 42 of Peter, 43 Philip, 45 and Nathanael.

1 The Sonne of God is of one, & the selfe same eternitie or euerlastingnesse, and of one and the self same essence & nature, with the Father.

a From the beginning, as the Euangelist saieth, 1.epistle 1.1. as though he sayd, that the word began not then to haue his being, when God began to make all that was made: for the word was euen then when all things that were made, began to be made, and therefore he was before the beginning of all things.

IN a the beginning b was c that Worde, and that Worde was d with God, and that e Worde was God.

2 This same was in the beginning with God.

3 *2 All f things were made by it, and g without it h was made nothing that was made.

b Had his being.

c This word, That, pointeth out vnto vs a peculiar and choise thing aboue all other, and putteth a difference betweene this Word, which is the Sonne of God, and the Lawes of God, which otherwise are also called the word of God.

4 i In it k was life, and that life was l the light of men.

5 m And that light shineth in the darkenesse, and the darkenesse n comprehended it not.

6 ¶ *4 There was a man sent from God, whose name was Iohn.

7 This same came for a witnesse, to beare witnes of that light, that all men o through him might beleeue.

8 He was not p that light, but was sent to beare witnes of that light.

9 q This was r that true light, which lighteth euery man that commeth into the world.

10 s He was in the world, and the world was * made by him: and the world knew him not.

11 He came t vnto his owne, and his owne receiued him not.

d This word (With) pointeth out the distinction of persons to vs.

e This word (Word) is the first in order in the sentence, & is that which the learned call (Subiectum) and this word (God) is the latter in order, and the same which the learned call (prædicatum) *Col.1.16. 2 The same of God declareth that same his euerlasting Godhead, both by the creating of all things, and also by the preseruing of them, and especially by the excellent gifts of reason and vnderstanding, wherewith hee hath beautified man aboue all other creatures. f Paul expounderh this place, Colossians 1.15. and 16. verses. g That is, as the Father did worke, so did the Sonne worke with him: for he was fellow worker with him. h Of all those things which were made, nothing was made without him. i That is, by him: and it is spoken after the maner of the Hebrewes, meaning thereby that by his force and working power, all life commeth to the world. k To wit, euen then, when all things are made by him, for els he would haue sayd, Life is in him, and not life was. l That force of reason and vnderstanding, which is kindled in our minds to acknowledge him, the author of so great a benefit. 3 The light of men is turned into darknesse, but yet so, that there is clearenesse inough to make them without excuse. m They could not perceiue nor reach vnto it, to receiue any light of it, no, they did not so much as acknowledge him. *Matth.3. 1. marke 1.4. luke 3.2. 4 There is another more full manifestation of the Sonne of God, to the consideration whereof men are in good time stirred vp, euen by Iohns voyce, who is as it were the herault of Christ. n Through Iohn. o The light which we spake of, to wit, Christ, who can lighten our darknesse. p When as the Sonne of God sawe, that men did not acknowledge him by his works, although they were endued with vnderstanding (which hee had giuen to them all) he exhibited himselfe vnto his people to be seene of them with their corporall eyes: yet neither so did they acknowledge him, nor receiue him. q Who onely and properly deserueth to be called the light, for he shineth of himselfe, and bestoweth light of none. r The person of the Word, was made manifest euen at that time when the world was made. *Heb.11.3. s The Word shewed himselfe agine, when he came in the flesh.

12 6 But as many as receiued him, to them he gaue t prerogatiue to be the sonnes of God, euen to them that beleeue in his Name.

6 The Sonne being shut out of the most of his people, and acknowledged but of a fewe, doeth regenerate them by his diuine heroicall and powerfull, and receiueth them into that honour which is common to all the children of God, that is to be the sonnes of God.

13 Which are borne not of bloud, nor of the u will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God.

t He vouchsafed to giue them this prerogatiue to take them to be his children.

u Of that grosse & corrupt nature of man, which is throughout the Scriptures set as enemie to the spirit.

14 *7 And that Worde was made x flesh, and y dwelt among vs, (and we * saw the z glory thereof, a as the glory of the onely begotten Sonne of the Father) b full of grace and trueth.

7 That Sonne who is God from euerlasting, tooke vpon him mans nature, that one and the selfe same might be both God and man, which manifestly appeared to many witnesses, that saw him, among st whom he was conuersant, & vnto whom by sure and vnderstanded arguments he shewed both his natures.

15 ¶ 8 Iohn bare witnesse of him, and cried, saying, This was he of whom I sayd, Hee that commeth c after me, was d before me: for he was better then I.

16 *9 And of his fulnesse haue all we receiued, and e grace for grace.

17 For the Law was giuen by Moses, but grace, and trueth, came by Iesus Christ.

18 10 * No man hath seene God at any time: that onely begotten Sonne, which is in the f bosome of the Father, hee hath g declared him.

19 ¶ 11 Then this is the record of Iohn, when the Iewes sent Priests & Leuites from Hierusalem to aske him, Who art thou?

20 And he h confessed and i denied not, and said plainly, I * am not that Christ.

21 And they asked him, What then? Art thou x That is, man: so that the part is taken for the whole, by the figure Synecdoche: for he tooke vpon him all our whole nature, that is to say, a true body, and a true soule. y For a season, and when that was ended, he went vp into heauen: for the word which he vseth, is taken from tents: & yet notwithstanding, his absence from vs in body is not such, but that he is alwayes present with vs, though not in flesh, yet by the vertue of his spirit. *Matth. 17. 2. 2.per.1.17. z The glory which he speaketh of here, is that manifestation of Christ his maiestie, which was as it were laid open before our eies when the Sonne of God appeared in flesh. a This word (as) doeth not in this place betoken a likelinesse, but the trueth of the matter, for his meaning is this, that we saw such a glory, as beseemed and was meet for the true and onely begotten Sonne of God, who is Lord and King ouer all the world. b He was not onely a partaker of grace, and trueth, but was full of the very substance of grace and trueth. 8 Iohn is a faithful witnesse of the excellencie of Christ. c That is, He before whom I am sent to prepare him the way: so that these words are referred to the time of his calling, and not of his age, for Iohn was sixe moneths older then he. d This sentence hath in it a turning of the reason as we call it, as who would say, a setting of that first which should be last, and that last which should be first: for in plaine speach, this it is, He that commeth after me, it better then I am, for he was before me. The like kind of turning the reason we find in Luke.7.47. many sinnes are forgiuen her, because she loued much, which is thus much to say, she loued much, because many sinnes are forgiuen her. * Colossians 1.19. and 2.9. 9 Christ is the most plentifull fountaine of all goodnesse, but then he powred out his gifts most bountifully, when as he exhibited and shewed himselfe to the worlde. e That is, grace vpon grace, as a man would say, graces heaped one vpon another. 10 The true knowledge of God proceedeth onely from Iesus Christ. * 1. Timothie 6. 16. 1.Iohn 4. 12. f Who is nearest to his father, not onely in respect of his loue towards him, but by the bond of nature, and for that vnion or oneneese that is betweene them, where by the Father and the Sonne are one. g Reuealed him and shewed him vnto vs, whereas before he was hid vnder the shadowes of the Lawe, so that the quicknesse of the sight of our minds was not able to perceiue him: for whosoeuer seeth him, seeth the Father also. 11 Iohn is neither the Messias, nor like to any of the other Prophets, but is the herault of Christ, who is now present. g He did acknowledge him, and spake of him plainly and openly. h This rehearsing of one and the selfe same thing, though in diuers words is vsed much of the Hebrewes, and it hath great force, for they vse to speake one thing twise, to set it out more certainly & plainly. *Actes 13.25.

thou Elias? And he said, i I am not. Art thou k that Prophet? And he answered, No.

22 Then sayde they vnto him, Who art thou, that we may giue answere to them that sent vs? What sayest thou of thy selfe?

23 He sayd, I * am the voyce of him that crieth in the wildernesse, Make streight the way of the Lord, as sayd the Prophet Esaias.

24 [12] Now they which were sent, were of the Pharises.

25 And they asked him, and said vnto him, l Why baptizest thou then, if thou bee not that Christ, neither Elias, nor that Prophet?

26 Iohn answered them, saying, I baptize with water: but there is one m among you, whom ye know not.

27 * He it is that commeth after me, which was before me, whose shoe latchet I am not worthie to vnloose.

28 These things were done in Bethabara beyond Iordan, where Iohn did baptize.

29 ¶ [13] The next day Iohn seeth Iesus comming vnto him, and saieth, Beholde n that Lambe of God, which o taketh away the p sinne of the world.

30 This is he of whom I sayd, After mee commeth a man, which was before me: for he was better then I.

31 And q I knew him not: but because he should be declared to Israel, therefore am I come, baptizing with water.

32 [14] So Iohn bare record, saying, I beheld * that Spirit come downe from heauen, like a doue, and it abode vpon him, 33 And I knew him not: but he that sent me to baptize with water, he said vnto me, Vpon whō thou shalt see that Spirit come down, and tarie still on him, that is he which baptizeth with the holy Ghost.

34 And I saw, and bare record that this is r that Sonne of God.

35 ¶ [15] The next day, Iohn stood againe, and two of his disciples.

36 [16] And he beheld Iesus walking by, and sayd, Behold that Lambe of God.

37 [17] And the two disciples heard him speak, and followed Iesus.

38 Then Iesus turned about, and saw thē follow, and sayd vnto them, What seeke yee? And they sayd vnto him, Rabbi (which is to say by interpretation, Master) s where dwellest thou?

39 He sayd vnto them, Come, and see. They came and sawe where he dwelt, and abode with him that day: for it was about the t tenth houre.

40 Andrew, Simon Peters brother, was one of the two which had heard it of Iohn, and that followed him.

41 The same found his brother Simon first, and sayde vnto him, Wee haue found that Messias, which is by interpretation, that u Christ.

42 And he brought him to Iesus. And Iesus beheld him, and said, Thou art Simon the sonne of Iona: thou shalt bee called Cephas, which is by interpretation, a stone.

43 ¶ The day following, Iesus would go into Galile, and found Philip, and sayd vnto him, Follow me.

44 Now Philip was of Bethsaida, the citie of Andrew and Peter.

45 [18] Philip found Nathanael, and said vnto him, Wee haue found him of whom * Moses did write in the Lawe, and the * Prophets, Iesus that sonne of Ioseph, that was of Nazareth.

46 Then Nathanael sayd vnto him, Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth? Philip said to him, Come, and see.

47 [20] Iesus sawe Nathanael comming to him, and sayd of him, Behold in deed an Israelite, in whom is no guile.

48 [21] Nathanael sayd vnto him, Whence knewest thou mee? Iesus answered, and sayd vnto him, Before that Philip called thee, when thou wast vnder the figge tree, I sawe thee.

49 Nathanael answered, and said vnto him, Rabbi, thou art that Sonne of God: thou art that King of Israel.

50 Iesus answered, and said vnto him, Because I said vnto thee, I sawe thee vnder the figtree, beleeuest thou? thou shalt see greater things then these.

51 And he said vnto him, Verely, verely I say vnto you, hereafter shal ye see heauen open, and the Angels of God * x ascending, and descending vpon that Sonne of man.

i The Iewes thought that Elias should come againe before the dayes of Messias, and they tooke theground of that their opinion out of Mal. 4.5. which place is to be vnderstood of Iohn, Matth. 11.14. And yet Iohn denieth that he is Elias, answering them in deed according as they ment.

k They inquire of some great Prophet, and not of Christ, for * Iohn denied before that he is Christ, for they thought that some great Prophet should be sent like vnto Moses, wresting to that purpose that place of Deut. 18.15. which is to be vnderstood of all the company of the Prophets & ministers, which haue bene and shall be to the end, and especially of Christ who is the head of all Prophets. * Isa. 40.3. matth. 3.3. luke 3.4.

l Christ is the author of baptisme, and not Iohn: and therefore the force therof consisteth not in Iohn, who is the minister, but wholy in Christ the Lord.

m Hereby we may proue that the Iewes knew there should be some change in religion vnder Messias.

n Whom all the world seeth, and euen amongst you.

* Matth. 3.11. marke 1.7. luke 3.16. acts 1.5. and 11.16. and 19.4.

o The word of the present time, signifieth a continuall act, for the Lambe hath this vertue proper vnto him, and for euer, to take away the sinnes of the world.

p That is, that roote of sinnes, to wit, our corruption, & so consequently the fruites of sinne, which are commonly called in the plurall number, sinnes.

q I neuer knew him by face before.

r Christ is proued to bee the Sonne of God, by the comming down of the holy Ghost, by the fathers voice, and by Iohns testimonie. * Matth. 3.16. marke 1.10. luke 3.22.

s This word (That) pointeth out vnto vs some excellent thing, & maketh a difference between Christ and other, whom Moses & the Prophets commonly call the sonnes of God, or the sonnes of the most High.

t The night grew on.

u That is, anointed, and King after the maner of the Iewish people.

15 Iohn gathered disciples not to himselfe, but to Christ.

16 Christ is set before vs to follow, not as a vaine shadow, but as our Mediatour.

17 In this first gathering of the disciples, wee haue heard vnto vs, that the beginning of saluation is from God, who calleth vs vnto his Sonne by the ministerie of his seruants: whom (so presenting vs) we must also heare, and follow him home, that being instructed by him, wee may also instruct others.

18 The good inclinations euen of the vnlearned, God worketh & allow, that he maketh them ministers to the learned. * Gen. 49.10. deut. 18.18. * Isai. 42.1. & 49. 10. and 45.1. iere. 23.5. & 33. 14. ezech. 34.23. & 37.24. dan. 9. 24.

19 We must especially take heed of false presumption, which shut vp against vs the entrance to Christ.

20 Simple vprightnesse discerneth the true Israelites from the false.

21 The end of miracles is to set before vs Christ the Almightie, and also the only auenue of our saluation, that we may apprehend him by faith. * Gen. 28.12.

x By these words, & power of God is signified which should appeare in his ministery by the angels seruing him, as the head of the Church.

CHAP. II.

1 Christ turneth water into wine, 11 which was the beginning of his miracles. 12 Hee goeth downe to Capernaum, 13 from thence hee goeth vp to Hierusalem. 15 and casteth the marchandise out of the Temple. 19 He foretelleth that the Temple, that is, his body shall bee destroyed of the Iewes. 23 Many beleeue in him, seeing the miracles which he did.

And

AND [1] the [a] thirde day, was there a mariage in Cana a towne of Galile, and the mother of Jesus was there.

2 And Jesus was called also, and his disciples vnto the mariage.

3 [2] Nowe when the wine failed, the mother of Jesus sayde vnto him, They haue no wine.

4 Jesus sayde vnto her, Woman, what haue I to doe with thee? mine [b] houre is not yet come.

5 His mother sayde vnto the seruaunts, Whatsoeuer he sayth vnto you, doe it.

6 And there were set there, sixe [c] waterpots of stone, after the maner of the purifying of the Jewes, conteining two or three [d] firkins a piece.

7 And Jesus sayde vnto them, Fill the waterpots with water. Then they filled them vp to the brimme.

8 Then he sayd vnto them, Drawe out now and beare vnto ỹ gouernour of the feast. So they bare it.

9 Now when the gouernour of the feast had tasted the water that was made wine, (for he knew not whence it was: but the seruants, which drewe the water knewe) the gouernour of the feast called the bridegrome,

10 And sayd vnto him, All men at the beginning set foorth good wine, and when men haue [e] well drunke, then that which is worse: but thou hast kept backe the good wine vntill now.

11 This beginning of miracles did Jesus in Cana a towne of Galile, and shewed forth his glorie: and his disciples beleeued on him.

12 After that he went downe into Capernaum, hee and his mother, and his [f] brethren, and his disciples: but they continued not many dayes there.

13 [3] For the Jewes Passeouer was at hand. Therefore Jesus went vp to Hierusalē.

14 [4] And hee founde in the Temple those that sold oxen and sheepe, and doues, and changers of money sitting there.

15 Then hee made a scourge of small cordes and draue them all out of the Temple with the sheepe and oxen, and powred out the changers money, and ouerthrewe the tables, 16 And sayde vnto them that solde doues, Take these things hence: make not my fathers house, an house of Marchandise.

17 And his disciples remembred, that it was written, * The [g] zeale of thine house hath eaten me vp.

18 [5] Then answered the Jewes, and saide vnto him, What [h] signe shewest thou vnto vs, that thou doest these things?

19 Jesus answered, and sayde vnto them, *Destroy this Temple, and in three dayes I will raise it vp againe.

20 Then sayd the Jewes, Fourtie and sixe yeeres was this Temple a building, and wilt thou reare it vp in three dayes?

21 But hee spake of the [i] temple of his body.

22 Assoone therefore as he was risen from the dead, his disciples remembred that hee thus sayde vnto them: and they beleeued the Scripture, & the word which Jesus had said.

23 Nowe when hee was at Hierusalem at the Passeouer in the feast, many beleeued in his Name, when they sawe his miracles which he did.

24 [6] But Jesus did not commit himselfe vnto them, because he knew them all,

25 [7] And had no neede that any shoulde testifie of man: for he knewe what was in man.

1 Christ declaring openly in an assembly by a notable miracle, that he hath power ouer the nature of things, to frede mans harp, leadeth the mindes of all men, to his spirituall and sauing vertue & power.

a After the talke which hee had with Nathanael, or after that he departed from Iohn, or after that he came into Galile.

2 Christ is carefull enough of our saluation, and therefore hath no neede of others to put him in minde of it.

b Mine appointed time.

c There were vessels appointed for water, wherein they washed themselues.

d Euery firkin conteined an hundred pound, a twelue ounces the pound: Whereby we gather that Christ holpe them with a thousand and eight hundred pounds of wine.

e Worde for worde, are drunken: Now this speach, to bee drunken, is not alwayes taken in euill part in the Hebrew tongue, but signifieth sometime such store, and plentifull vse of wine, as doth not passe measure, as Gen. 43.34.

f That is, his Cousins.

3 Christ being made subiect to the Law for vs, fulfilleth the Lawe of the Passeouer.

4 Christ being appointed to purge the Church, doth with great zeale begin his office both of Priest and Prophet.

* Psal. 69.9.

g Zeale in this place is taken for a wrathful indignation and displeasure of the minde, conceiued of some naughtie and euil dealing towardes them whome we loue well.

5 Against them which so binde God to an ordinarie calling which they themselues most thankefully abuse, that they will not admit an extraordinarie, which God confirmeth from heauen (and they although in vaine would haue it extinguished) vnlesse it be sealed with outward and bodily miracles.

h With what miracle doest thou confirme that we may see that heauenly power and vertue, which giueth thee authoritie to speake and doe thus?

* Mat. 26.61. & 27.40. mar. 14.58. and 15.29.

i That is, of his body.

6 It is not geuen crediting them which stand only vpon miracles.

7 Christ is the searcher of hearts, and therefore true God.

CHAP. III.

1 Christ teacheth Nicodemus the very principles of Christian regeneration. 14 The serpent in the wildernesse. 23 Iohn baptizeth. 27 And teacheth him, that he is not Christ.

THERE [1] was nowe a man of the Pharises, named Nicodemus, a [a] ruler of ỹ Jewes.

2 This man came to Jesus by night, and said vnto him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a [b] teacher come from God: for no man could do these miracles that thou doest, [c] except God were with him.

3 [2] Jesus answered, and sayd vnto him, Verily, verily I say vnto thee, Except a man be borne againe, he cannot [d] see the [e] kingdom of God.

4 Nicodemus sayde vnto him, Howe [f] can a man be borne which is old? can he enter into his mothers wombe againe, and be borne?

5 Jesus answered, Verily, verily I say vnto thee, except that a man be borne of water and of the Spirite, hee cannot enter into the kingdome of God.

6 That which is borne of the flesh, is [g] flesh: and that that is borne of the Spirite, is spirit.

7 Marueile not that I sayd vnto thee, Yee must be borne againe.

8 The winde bloweth where it [h] listeth,

1 There are some superfluous matters here, then the learned but as well the learned as the vnlearned may learne of Christ and his Apostles.

a A man of great estimation and a ruler amongst ỹ Iewes.

b We know that thou art sent of God to teach vs.

c But he shewed some part of his excellencie of God appeared.

And if Nicodemus had known Christ aright, would not otherwise haue sayd that God was with him, but as Iohn as Paul doeth. 2. Corinth. 5. 19.

2 The beginning of Christs institution in this, that we know our selues not onely to be corrupt in part but to be wholy dead in sinne: so that our nature hath need to be created a new as touching the qualities thereof: which can be done by no other meanes, but the diuine and he auenly, whereby we were first created. d That is, get to enter, as he expounded himselfe afterward, verse 5. e The Church: for Christ sheweth in this place how we come to be citizens, and to haue ought to doe in the citie of God. f How can I that am olde, be borne againe? for hee answereth not Christ his wordes belonged to none but to him. g That is, fleshly, to wit, which vncleane and vnder the wrath of God: and therefore this worde (Flesh) signifieth the corrupt nature of man: contrary to which is the (Spirite) that is, the man grafted into Christ through the grace of the holy Ghost, whose nature is euerlasting and immortall, though the liuse of the flesh remaineth. h With feare & wondring blastes as it listeth.

and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it commeth, and whither it goeth: so is euery man that is borne of the Spirit.

9 [3] Nicodemus answered, and sayd vnto him, How can these things be?

10 Iesus answered, and sayde vnto him, Art thou a teacher of Israel, and knowest not these things?

11 Verely, verely I say vnto thee, Wee speake that we know, and testifie that we haue seen: but ye receiue not our [i] witnesse.

12 If when I tell you earthly things, yee beleeue not, how should ye beleeue, if I shal tel you of heauenly things?

13 For no [k] man [l] ascendeth vp to heauen, but he that hath descended from heauen, [m] that Sonne of man which [n] is in heauen.

14 * And as Moses lift vp the serpent in the wilderneſſe, so must that Sonne of man be lift vp, 15 That whosoeuer beleeueth in him, should not perish, but haue eternall life.

16 *[5] For God so loued the world, that he hath giuen his only begotten Sonne, that whosoeuer beleeueth [o] in him, should not perish, but haue euerlasting life.

17 *[6] For God sent not his Sonne into the world, that he should [p] condemne the world, but that the [q] world through him might be saued.

18 Hee that beleeueth in him, is not condemned: but he that beleeueth not, is condemned already, because hee hath not beleeued in the Name of that onely begotten Sonne of God.

19 *[7] And this is the [r] condemnation, that that light came into the world, and men loued darkeneſſe rather then that light, because their deeds were euill.

20 For euery man that euill doeth, hateth the light, neither commeth to the light, least his deeds should be reproued.

21 But he that [s] doeth trueth, commeth to the light, that his deedes might bee made manifest, that they are wrought [t] according to God.

22 ¶ After these things, came Iesus and his disciples into the land of Iudea, and there taried with them, and * baptized.

* Chap.4.1.

23 And Iohn also baptized in Enon besides Salim, because there was much water there: and they came, and were baptized.

24 For Iohn was not yet cast into prison.

25 [8] Then there arose a question betweene Iohns disciples and the Iewes, about purifying.

26 And they came vnto Iohn, and said vnto him, Rabbi, hee that was with thee beyond Iorden, to whom * thou barest witnes, behold, he baptizeth, and all men come to him.

27 Iohn answered, and saide, A man [u] can receiue nothing, except it bee giuen him from heauen.

28 Yee your selues are my witnesses, that * I saide, I am not that Christ, but that I am sent before him.

29 Hee that hath the bride, is the bridegrome: but the friend of the bridegrome which standeth and heareth him, reioyceth greatly, because of the bridegromes voyce. This my ioy, therefore is fulfilled.

30 He must increase, but I must decrease,

31 Hee that is come from an hie, is aboue all: he that is of the earth, is of the [x] earth, and [y] speaketh of the earth: hee that is come from heauen, is aboue all.

32 And what hee hath [z] seene and heard, that hee testifieth: but [a] no man receiueth his testimonie.

33 Hee that hath receiued his testimonie, hath sealed that * God is true.

34 For he whom God hath sent, speaketh the words of God: for God giueth him not the spirit by measure.

35 The Father loueth the sonne, and hath * [b] giuen all things into his hand.

36 * He that beleeueth in the Sonne, hath euerlasting life, and hee that obeyeth not the Sonne, shal not [c] see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him.

CHAP. IIII.

6 Iesus being wearie, asketh drinke of the woman of Samaria. 21 Hee teacheth the true worship. 26 Hee confesseth that he is the Messias. 32 His meate. 39 The Samaritanes beleeue in him. 46 He healeth the Rulers sonne.

NOwe [1] when the Lorde knewe, how the Pharises had heard, that Iesus made * and baptized moe disciples then Iohn,

2 (Though Iesus himself baptized not: but his disciples)

3 He left Iudea, and departed againe vnto Galile.

4 And he must needs go through Samaria.

5 [2] Then came hee to a citie of Samaria

3 The secret mysterie of our regeneration which cannot be comprehended by mans capacitie, is perceiued by faith, and that in Christ onely, because that he is both God on earth, and man in heauen, that is to say, in such sort man, that he is God also, and therefore almightie: and in such sort God, that he is man also, and therefore his power is manifest vnto vs.

i You handle doubtful things and such as you haue no certaine author for, and yet men beleeue you: but I teach those things that are of a trueth, and wel knowen, and you beleeue me not.

k Onely Christ can teach vs heauenly things, for no man ascendeth, &c.

l That is, hath any spirituall light and vnderstanding, or euer had, but onely that Sonne of God, which came downe to vs.

m Whereas he is sayd to haue come downe from heauen, that must be vnderstood of his Godhead, and of the maner of his conception: for Christ his birth vpon the earth was heauenly, and not earthly, for he was conceiued by the holy Ghost.

n That which is proper to the diuinitie of Christ, is here spoken of the whole Christ, to giue vs to vnderstand that he is but one person, wherein two natures are vnited, and this kind of speach men call, the communicating of properties. *Num 21.9. chap.12.32. *1. Iohn 4.2. 5 Nothing els but the free loue of the Father, is the beginning of our saluation, and Christ is he in whom our righteousnesse and saluation is resident: and faith is the instrument or meane whereby we apprehend it, and life euerlasting is that which is set before vs to apprehend. 6 It is not all one to beleeue in a thing, & to beleeue of a thing, for we may not beleeue (in any thing) saue onely in God, but we may beleeue (of any thing) whatsoeuer, saieth Nazianzene in his oration of the Spirit. *Chap 9.39. & 12.47. 6 Not Christ, but the despising of Christ doeth condemne. p That is, to be the cause of the condemning of the world, for in deed sinnes are the cause of death, but Christ shal iudge the quicke and the dead. q Not onely the people of the Iewes, but whosoeuer shal beleeue in him. *Chap.1.9. 7 Onely wickednes is the cause, why men refuse the light that is offred them. r That is, the cause of condemnation, which sticketh fast in men, vnlesse through God his great benefite they be deliuered from it. s That is, he that leadeth an honest life, and voyd of all craft and deceit. t That is, with God, God as it were going before.

1 This measure is to be kept in doing of our vtie, that neither by feare we be terrified from going forward, neither by rashnesse procure or pluck dangers vpon our heads. * Chap.3.22.

2 Christ leaueth the proude Pharises, communicateth the treasures of euerlasting life with a poore sinful woman and stranger, reuealing the grosse errors of the Samaritanes, and defending the true seruice of God, which was deliuered to the Iewes, but yet so, that he calleth both of them backe to himselfe, as one whom onely all the fathers, and also all the ceremonies of the Law, did regard, and had a respect vnto.

called Sychar, neere vnto the poſſeſſion that *Iacob gaue to his ſonne Ioſeph.

6 And there was Iacobs well. Ieſus then wearied in the iourney, ſate [a] thus on the well: it was about the [b] firſt houre.

7 There came a woman of Samaria to drawe water: Ieſus ſayd vnto her, Giue mee drinke.

8 For his diſciples were gone away into the citie, to buy meate.

9 Then ſayd the woman of Samaria vnto him, How is it, that thou being a Iew, aſkeſt drinke of me, which am a woman of Samaria? For the Iewes [c] meddle not with the Samaritans.

10 Ieſus anſwered and ſayd vnto her, If thou kneweſt that [d] gift of God, and who it is that ſaith to thee, Giue me drinke, thou wouldeſt haue aſked of him, and he would haue giuen thee [e] water of life.

11 The woman ſaid vnto him, Sir, thou haſt nothing to drawe with, and the well is deepe: from whence then haſt thou that water of life?

12 Art thou greater then our father Iacob, which gaue vs the well, and hee himſelfe dranke thereof, and his ſonnes, and his cattell?

13 Ieſus anſwered, and ſayd vnto her, Whoſoeuer drinketh of this water, ſhall thirſt againe:

14 But whoſoeuer drinketh of the water that I ſhall giue him, ſhall neuer bee more athirſt: but the water that I ſhall giue him, ſhall be in him a well of water, ſpringing vp into euerlaſting life.

15 The woman ſayd vnto him, Sir, giue me of that water, that I may not thirſt, neither come hither to drawe.

16 Ieſus ſaid vnto her, Goe, call thine huſband, and come hither.

17 The woman anſwered, and ſaid, I haue no huſband. Ieſus ſayd vnto her, Thou haſt well ſayd, I haue no huſband.

18 For thou haſt had fiue huſbands, and he whom thou nowe haſt, is not thine huſband: that ſaideſt thou truely.

19 The woman ſaid vnto him, Sir, I ſee that thou art a Prophet.

20 [3] Our fathers worſhipped in this [f] mountaine, & ye ſay, that in *Ieruſalem is the place where men ought to worſhip.

21 Ieſus ſayd vnto her, Woman, beleeue me, the houre commeth, when yee ſhall neither in this mountaine, nor at Hieruſalem worſhip the Father.

22 Ye worſhip that which ye * know not: we worſhip that which we know: for ſaluation is of the Iewes.

23 But the houre commeth, and nowe is, when the true worſhippers ſhall worſhip the Father in ſpirit, and trueth: for the father requireth euen ſuch to worſhip him.

24 *God is a [b] ſpirit, and they that worſhip him, muſt worſhip him in ſpirit and trueth.

25 The woman ſayd vnto him, I know well that Meſſias ſhall come which is called Chriſt: when he is come, hee will tell vs all things.

26 Ieſus ſaid vnto her, I am he, that ſpeake vnto thee.

27 ¶ And vpon that came his diſciples, and marueiled that he talked with a woman: yet no man ſaid vnto him, What aſkeſt thou? or why talkeſt thou with her?

28 The woman then left her waterpot, and went her way into the citie, and ſaid to the men, 29 Come, ſee a man which hath told me all things that euer I did: is not he that Chriſt?

30 Then they went out of the citie, and came vnto him.

31 ¶ In the meane while, the Diſciples prayed him, ſaying, Maſter, eate.

32 [4] But he ſaid vnto them, I haue meate to eate that ye know not of.

33 Then ſaid the diſciples betweene them ſelues, Hath any man brought him meate?

34 Ieſus ſaid vnto them, My meate is, that I may doe the will of him that ſent me, and finiſh his worke.

35 [5] Say not ye, There are yet foure moneths, and then commeth harueſt? Beholde, I ſay vnto you, Lift vp your eyes, and looke on the regions: * for they are white already vnto harueſt.

36 [6] And he that reapeth, receiueth reward, and gathereth fruit vnto life eternall, that both he that ſoweth, and he that reapeth, might reioyce together.

37 For herein is the [i] ſaying true, that one ſoweth, and another reapeth.

38 I ſent you to reape that whereon yee beſtowed no labour: other men laboured, and ye are entred into their labours.

39 [7] Nowe many of the Samaritanes of that citie beleeued in him, for the ſaying of the woman which teſtified, Hee hath told mee all things that euer I did.

40 Then when the Samaritanes were come vnto him, they beſought him that hee would tary with them: and he abode there two dayes.

41 And many moe beleeued becauſe of his owne word.

42 And they ſayd vnto the woman, Now we beleeue, not becauſe of thy ſaying: for we haue heard him our ſelues, and knowe that this is in deede that Chriſt the Sauiour of the world.

47 When hee heard that Ieſus was come out of Iudea into Galile, hee went vnto him, and beſought him that hee would goe downe, and heale his ſonne: for he was euen readie to die.

48 Then ſaid Ieſus vnto him, Except yee ſee ſignes and wonders, ye will not beleeue.

49 The ruler ſaid vnto him, Sir, go downe before my ſonne die.

50 Ieſus ſaid vnto him, Goe thy way, thy ſonne liueth: and the man beleeued the worde that Ieſus had ſpoken vnto him, and went his way.

51 And as hee was now going downe, his ſeruants met him, ſaying, Thy ſonne liueth.

52 Then enquired hee of them the houre when he began to amend. And they ſayd vnto him, Yeſterday the ſeuenth houre the feuer left him.

53 Then the father knew, that it was the ſame houre in the which Ieſus had ſayde vnto him, Thy ſonne liueth. And hee beleeued, and all his houſhold.

2 1 And there is at Hieruſalem by the place of the ſheepe, a [a] poole called in Ebrew [b] Bethelda, hauing fiue porches:

3 In the which lay a great multitude of ſicke folke, of blind, halt, and withered, waiting for the mouing of the water.

4 For an Angel went downe at a certaine ſeaſon into the poole, and troubled the water: whoſoeuer then firſt, after the ſtirring of the water, ſtepped in, was made whole of whatſoeuer diſeaſe he had.

5 And a certaine man was there, which had bene diſeaſed eight and thirtie yeeres.

6 When Ieſus ſawe him lie, and knew that he now long time had bene diſeaſed, hee ſaid vnto him, Wilt thou be made whole?

7 The ſicke man anſwered him, Sir, I haue no man, when the water is troubled, to put me into the poole: but while I am comming, another ſteppeth downe before me.

8 Ieſus ſaid vnto him, Riſe: take vp thy bed and walke.

9 And immediately the man was made whole, and tooke vp his bed, and walked: and the ſame day was the Sabbath.

10 2 The Iewes therfore ſaid to him that was made whole, It is the Sabbath day: *it is not lawfull for thee to carry thy bed.

11 He anſwered them, He that made mee whole, he ſayd vnto mee, Take vp thy bed and walke?

12 Then aſked they him, What man is that which ſaid vnto thee, Take vp thy bed, and walke?

13 And he that was healed, knew not who it was: for Ieſus had conueied himſelfe away from the multitude that was in that place.

14 And after that, Ieſus found him in the Temple, and ſaid vnto him, Beholde, thou art made whole: ſinne no more, leaſt a worſe thing come vnto thee.

15 ¶ The man departed and told the Iewes that it was Ieſus, which had made him whole.

16 And therfore the Iewes did perſecute Ieſus, and ſought to ſlay him, becauſe hee had done theſe things on the Sabbath day.

17 3 But Ieſus anſwered them, My Father worketh hitherto, and I worke.

18 * Therefore the Iewes ſought the more to kill him: not onely becauſe hee had broken the Sabbath: but ſayd alſo that God was [c] his Father, and made himſelfe equall with God.

19 Then anſwered Ieſus, and ſayd vnto them, Verely verely I ſay vnto you, The Sonne can doe nothing [d] of himſelfe, ſaue that he [e] ſeeth the Father do: for whatſoeuer things he doeth, the ſame things doeth the Sonne [f] in like maner.

20 For the Father loueth the Sonne, and ſheweth him all things, whatſoeuer he himſelf doeth, & he will ſhew him greater workes then theſe, that ye ſhould marueile.

21 4 For like wiſe as the Father raiſeth vp the dead, and quickeneth them, ſo the Sonne quickeneth whom he will.

22 For the Father [g] iudgeth [h] no man, but hath committed all iudgement vnto the Sonne,

CHAP. VI.

5 Fiue thousand are fedde with fiue loaues and two fishes. 15 Christ goeth apart from the people. 17 At his disciples were rowing, 19 he cōmeth to them walking on the water. 26 He reasoneth of the true, 27 and euerlasting 35 bread of life. 41. 52 The Iewes murmure, 60 and many of the disciples 66 depart from him. 69 The Apostles confesse him to be the Sonne of God.

AFter these things, Iesus went his way [a] ouer the sea of Galile, which is Tiberias.

2 And a great multitude followed him, because they sawe his miracles, which he did on them that were diseased.

3 Then Iesus went into a mountaine, and there he sate with his disciples.

4 Nowe the Passeouer, a * feast of the Iewes, was neere.

5 *[t] Then Iesus lift vp his eyes, and seeing that a great multitude came vnto him, hee said vnto Philip, Whence shall we buy bread, that these might eate?

6 (And this he saide to prooue him: for he himselfe knew what he would doe.)

7 Philip answered him, Two hundreth penniworth of bread is not sufficient for them, that euery one of them may take a little.

8 Then saide vnto him one of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peters brother, 9 There is a litle boy here, which hath fiue barley loaues, and two fishes: but what are they among so many?

10 And Iesus saide, Make the people sitte downe. (Nowe there was much grasse in that place.) Then the men sate downe in number, about fiue thousand.

11 And Iesus tooke the bread, and gaue thankes, and gaue to the disciples, and the disciples, to them that were set downe: and likewise of the fishes as much as they would.

12 And when they were satisfied, he saide vnto his disciples, Gather vp the broken meat which remaineth, that nothing be lost.

13 Then they gathered it together, and filled twelue baskets with the broken meat of the fiue barley loaues, which remained vnto them that had eaten.

[5] The Father is not knowne but by his workes: for by his workes hee is perceiued by faith, which is the onely way that leadeth to eternall life.

[6] Here all men in sinne, & cannot be quickened by any other meanes, then by the voyce of Christ apprehended by faith.

[7] That is, he shall not onely iudge the world as he is God, but also as he is man, he reuealed this of his father to be iudge of the world.

[8] All shall appeare before the iudgement seate of Christ at length to be iudged.

[9] Faith and infidelitie, shalbe iudged by their fruits.

[10] Of their graues.

[a] Not that hee cut ouer the lake of Tiberias, but by reason of the large creekes, his sailing made his iourney the shorter: therefore he is saide to haue gone ouer from one side of a creeke to the other.

[r] Loue toward God.

[s] This denyall doth not put away that which is here said, but correcteth it, as if Christ said, that Iewes, shall haue no forer accuser, then Moses.

Ubbb 14 Then

14 Then the men, when they had ſeene the miracle that Ieſus did, ſaide, This is of a trueth that Prophet that ſhould come into the world.

15 [2] When Ieſus therefore perceiued that they would come, and take him to make him a King, hee departed againe into a mountaine himſelfe alone.

16 ¶ [3] When euen was now come, his diſciples went downe vnto the ſea, 17 * And entred into a ſhip, and went ouer the ſea, [b] towards Capernaum: and nowe it was darke, and Ieſus was not come to them.

18 And the Sea aroſe with a great winde that blew.

19 And when they had rowed about fiue and twentie, or thirtie furlongs, they ſaw Ieſus walking on the ſea, and drawing neere vnto the ſhip: ſo they were afraide.

20 But he ſaid vnto them, It is I: be not afraid.

21 Then [c] willingly they receiued him into the ſhip, and the ſhip was by and by at the land, whither they went.

22 ¶ The day following, the people which ſtood on the other ſide of the ſea, ſaw that there was none other ſhip there, ſaue that one, wherinto his diſciples were entred, and that Ieſus went not with his diſciples into the ſhip, but that his diſciples were gone alone,

23 And that there came other ſhips from Tiberias neere vnto the place where they ate the bread, after the Lord had giuen thanks.

24 Now when the people ſawe that Ieſus was not there, neither his diſciples, they alſo tooke ſhipping, and came to Capernaum, ſeeking for Ieſus.

25 And when they had found him on the other ſide of the ſea, they ſayd vnto him, Rabbi, when cameſt thou hither?

26 [4] Ieſus anſwered them, and ſaid, Verily, verily I ſay vnto you, yee ſeeke me not, becauſe ye ſaw the miracles, but becauſe ye ate of the loaues, and were filled.

27 [d] Labour not for the meate which periſheth, but for the meate that endureth vnto euerlaſting life, which the Sonne of man ſhal giue vnto you: for him hath * God the Father [e] ſealed.

28 Then ſaid they vnto him, What ſhall we doe, that wee might worke the [f] workes of God?

29 [5] Ieſus anſwered, and ſaide vnto them, * [g] This is the worke of God, that ye beleeue in him, whom he hath ſent.

30 [6] They ſaid therefore vnto him, What ſigne ſheweſt thou then, that we may ſee it, and beleeue thee? what doeſt thou worke?

31 Our fathers did eate Manna in the deſart, as it is * written, Hee gaue them bread from heauen to eate.

32 [7] Then Ieſus ſaide vnto them, Verily verily I ſay vnto you, Moſes gaue you not [h] that bread from heauen, but my father giueth you that true bread from heauen.

33 For the bread of God is he which commeth downe from heauen, and giueth life vnto the world.

34 Then they ſaide vnto him, Lord, euermore giue vs this bread.

35 And Ieſus ſaide vnto them, I am that bread [i] of life: he that commeth to mee, ſhall not hunger, and he that beleeueth in me, ſhall neuer thirſt.

36 But I ſaid vnto you, that ye alſo haue ſeene me, and beleeue not.

37 [8] All that the Father giueth mee, ſhall come to mee: and him that commeth to me, I caſt not away.

38 For I came downe from heauen, not to doe mine owne [k] wil, but his wil which hath ſent me.

39 And this is the Fathers will which hath ſent mee, that of all which hee hath giuen me, I ſhould loſe nothing, but ſhould raiſe it vp againe at the laſt day.

40 And this is the wil of him that ſent me, that euery man which [l] ſeeth the Sonne, and beleeueth in him, ſhould haue euerlaſting life: and I will raiſe him vp at the laſt day.

41 [9] The Iewes then murmured at him becauſe he ſaid, I am that bread, which is come downe from heauen.

42 And they ſaide, * Is not this Ieſus that ſonne of Ioſeph, whoſe father and mother we know? how then ſaith hee, I came downe from heauen?

43 Ieſus then anſwered, and ſaide vnto them, Murmure not among your ſelues.

44 No man can come to mee, except the Father, which hath ſent me, draw him: and I will raiſe him vp at the laſt day.

45 It is written in the * [m] Prophets, And they ſhall be all [n] taught of God. Euery man therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, commeth vnto me:

46 * Not that any man hath ſeene the Father, [o] ſaue he which is of God, hee hath ſeene the Father.

47 Verily, verily I ſay vnto you, hee that

Cor. 10. calleth Manna ſpirituall food, it maketh nothing againſt this place, for he ioyneth the thing ſignified with the ſigne: but in this whole diſputation, Chriſt dealeth with the Iewes after their owne opinion and conceit of the matter, and they had no further conſideration of the Manna, but in that it fed the belly.

49 * Your fathers did eate Manna in the wilderneſſe, and are dead.

50 P This is that bread, which commeth downe from heauen, that he which eateth of it, ſhould not die, 51 [11] I am that [q] liuing bread, which came downe from heauen: if any man [r] eate of this bread, he ſhall liue for euer: and the bread that I will giue, is my fleſh, which I will giue for the life of the world.

52 [12] Then the Iewes ſtroue among themſelues, ſaying, How can this man giue vs his fleſh to eate?

53 Then Ieſus ſaide vnto them, Verily, verily, I ſay vnto you, Except ye eate the fleſh of the Sonne of man, and drinke his blood, ye haue [s] no life in you.

54 Whoſoeuer * eateth my fleſh, and drinketh my blood, hath eternall life, and I will raiſe him vp at the laſt day.

60 [13] Many therefore of his diſciples (when they heard this) ſaid, This is an hard ſaying: who can heare it?

62 What then if ye ſhould ſee that Sonne of man aſcend vp * where he was before?

63 [14] It is the [x] ſpirit that quickeneth: the fleſh profiteth nothing: the wordes that I ſpake vnto you, are ſpirit and life.

64 But there are ſome of you that beleeue not: for Ieſus knewe from the beginning, which they were that beleeued not, and who ſhould betray him.

65 And he ſaid, Therefore ſaid I vnto you, that no man can come vnto me, except it be giuen vnto him of my Father.

66 [15] From that time, many of his diſciples went backe, & walked no more with him.

67 Then ſaide Ieſus to the twelue, Will ye alſo goe away?

68 Then Simon Peter anſwered him, Maſter, to whome ſhall we goe? thou haſt the wordes of eternall life:

69 And we beleeue and know that thou art that Chriſt that Sonne of the liuing God.

70 [16] Ieſus anſwered them, Haue not I * choſen you twelue, and one of you is a deuil?

71 Now he ſpake it of Iudas Iſcariot the ſonne of Simon: for he it was that ſhould betray him, though he was one of the twelue.

CHAP. VII.

2 Chriſt, after his couſins were gone vp to the feaſt of Tabernacles, 10 goeth thither priuily. 12 The peoples ſundry opinions of him. 14 He teacheth in the Temple. 32 The Prieſts command to take him. 41 Strife among the multitude about him, 47 and betweene the Phariſes and the officers that were ſent to take him, 50 and Nicodemus.

AFter theſe things, Ieſus walked in Galile, and would not walke in Iudea: for the Iewes ſought to kill him.

2 Now the Iewes * [a] feaſt of the Tabernacles was at hand.

3 [1] His brethren therefore ſaide vnto him, Depart hence, and goe into Iudea, that thy diſciples may ſee thy woorkes that thou doeſt.

4 For there is no man that doeth any thing ſecretly, and he himſelfe ſeeketh to be famous. If thou doeſt theſe things, ſhew thy ſelfe to the world.

5 For as yet his [b] brethren beleeued not in him.

6 [2] Then Ieſus ſaide vnto them, My time is not yet come: but your time is alway readie.

7 The world cannot hate you: but mee it hateth, becauſe I teſtifie of it, that the woorkes thereof are euil.

8 Goe ye vp vnto this feaſt: I will not go vp yet vnto this feaſt: * for my time is not yet fulfilled.

9 ¶ Theſe things he ſaid vnto them, and abode ſtill in Galile.

10 [3] But aſſoon as his brethren were gone vp, then went he alſo vp vnto the feaſt, not openly, but as it were priuily.

11 Then the Iewes ſought him at the feaſt, and ſaid, Where is he?

12 And much murmuring was there of him among the people. Some ſaide, He is a good man: other ſaide, Nay: but he deceiueth the people.

13 Howbeit no man ſpake [c] openly of him for feare of the Iewes.

10 The true vſe of Sacraments is to aſcend from them to the thing ſignified, that is, to Chriſt, by ſpiritually eating of whom onely, we get euerlaſting life.
* Exod. 16, 15.
P He poincted out himſelfe, when he ſpake theſe words.
11 Chriſt being ſent from the father, is the ſelfe ſame vnto vs for the getting and keeping of euerlaſting life, that bread and fleſh, yea, meate and drinke, are to the vſe of this tranſitorie life.
q Which giueth life to the world.
r That is to ſay, whoſoeuer is partaker of Chriſt in deed, who is our food.
12 Fleſh cannot put a difference betweene fleſhly eating, which is done by the helpe of the teeth, and ſpirituall eating which conſiſteth in faith: & therefore it condemneth that which it vnderſtandeth not: yet notwithſtanding ſpirituall eating muſt be preached and taught.
ſ If Chriſt be preſent, life is preſent, but when Chriſt is abſent, then is death preſent.
* 1. Cor. 11. 27.
t In that that Chriſt is man, he receiueth that power, which quickeneth & giueth life to them that are his, of his Father: and he addeth this word (That) to make a difference betweene him and all other fathers.
u Chriſt his meaning is, that though he be man, yet his fleſh can giue light, not of the owne nature, but becauſe that fleſh of his liueth by the Father, that is to ſay, doeth ſucke and draw out of the father, that power which it had to giue life.
13 The reaſon of man cannot comprehend the vniting of Chriſt & his members: therefore let it worſhip & reuerence that which is better then it ſelf. * Cha. 3. 13.
14 The fleſh of Chriſt doeth therefore quicken vs, becauſe that he that is man, is God: which myſterie is onely comprehended by faith, which is the gift of God, proper onely to the elect.
x Spirit, that is, that power which floweth from the Godhead, cauſeth the fleſh of Chriſt, which otherwiſe were nothing but fleſh, both to liue in it ſelfe, and to giue life vnto vs.
15 Such is the malice of men that they take occaſion of their owne deſtruction, euen of the very doctrine of ſaluation (vnleſſe it be a few, which beleeue through the ſingular gift of God.)

c Or, boldly and freely: For the chiefe of the Iewes ſought nothing ſo much, as to bury his fame and name.

14 [4] Nowe when [d] halfe the feast was done, Iesus went vp into the Temple and taught.

15 And the Iewes marueiled, saying, Howe knoweth this man the Scriptures, seeing that he neuer learned?

16 [5] Iesus answered them, and said, [e] My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me.

17 If any man will doe his will, hee shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speake of my selfe.

18 [6] He that speaketh of himselfe, seeketh his owne glory: but he that seeketh his glory that sent him, the same is true, and no vnrighteousnesse is in him.

19 *[7] Did not Moses giue you a Lawe, and yet none of you keepeth the Law? Why goe ye about to kill me?

20 The people answered, and said, Thou hast a deuill: who goeth about to kill thee?

21 [8] Iesus answered, and said to them, I haue done one worke, and ye all marueile.

22 *Moses therefore gaue vnto you circumcision, (not because it is of Moses, but of the *fathers) and ye on the Sabbath day circumcise a man.

23 If a man on the Sabbath receiue circumcision, that the [f] Law of Moses should not be broken, be yee angrie with mee, because I haue made a man euery whit whole on the Sabbath day?

24 *[9] Iudge not according to the appearance, but iudge righteous iudgement.

25 ¶ [10] Then saide some of them of Hierusalem, Is not this he, whom they goe about to kill?

26 And beholde, hee speaketh openly, and they say nothing to him: doe the rulers know indeed that this is in deed that Christ?

27 [11] Howbeit we know this man whence he is: but when that Christ commeth, no man shall know whence he is.

28 ¶ [12] Then cried Iesus in the Temple as he taught, saying, Yee both know me, and know whence I am, yet am I not come of my self, but he that sent me, is true, whom ye know not.

29 But I know him: for I am of him, and he hath sent me.

30 [13] Then they sought to take him, but no man laid hands on him, because his houre was not yet come.

31 Now many of the people beleeued in him, and saide, When that Christ commeth, will hee doe moe miracles then this man hath done?

32 [14] The Parises hearde that the people murmured these things of him, and the Pharises, and high Priestes sent officers to take him.

33 Then said Iesus vnto them, Yet am I a little while with you, and then goe I vnto him that sent me.

34 *Ye shall seeke me, and shall not finde me, and where I am, can ye not come.

35 Then saide the Iewes among themselues, Whither wil he goe, that we shall not finde him? Will hee goe vnto them that are [h] dispersed among the Grecians, and teach the Grecians?

36 What saying is this that he saide, Yee shall seeke mee, and shall not finde me? and where I am, cannot ye come?

37 [15] Now in the [i] last and * great day of the feast, Iesus stood and cried, saying, If any man thirst, let him come vnto mee, and drinke.

38 He that beleeueth in me, * as saith the [k] Scripture, out of his belly shall flowe riuers of water of life,

39 (* This spake he of the Spirit which they that beleeued in him, shoulde receiue: for the [l] holy Ghost was not yet giuen, because that Iesus was not [m] glorified.)

40 [16] So many of the people, when they heard this saying, saide, *Of a trueth this is that Prophet.

41 Other saide, This is that Christ: and some saide, But shall that Christ come out of Galile?

42 * Saieth not the Scripture that that Christ shall come of the seede of Dauid, and out of the towne of Beth-leem, where Dauid was?

43 So was there dissention among the people for him.

44 And some of them woulde haue taken him, but no man laid hands on him.

45 [17] Then came the officers to the hie Priests and Pharises, and they said vnto them, Why haue ye not brought him?

46 The officers answered, Neuer man spake like this man.

47 Then answered them the Pharises, Are ye also deceiued?

48 [18] Doth any of the rulers, or of the Pharises beleeue in him?

49 But this people, which knowe not the Law, are cursed.

3 The woman taken in adulterie, 11 hath her sinnes forgiuen her. 12 Christ is the light of the world. 19 The Pharises aske where his Father is. 39 The sonnes of Abraham. 42 The sonnes of God. 44 The deuill the father of lying. 56 Abraham saw Christes day.

AND Iesus went vnto the mount of Oliues.

2 And early in the morning came againe into the Temple, and all the people came vnto him, and he sate downe, and taught them.

3 [1] Then the Scribes, and the Pharises brought vnto him a woman, taken in adulterie, and set her in the midde,

4 And saide vnto him, Master, we found this woman committing adulterie, euen in the very act.

5 * Now Moses in our Lawe commanded, that such should be stoned. what saiest thou therefore?

6 And this they saide to tempt him, that they might haue, whereof to accuse him. But Iesus stouped downe, & with his finger wrote on the ground.

7 [2] And while they continued asking him, he lift himselfe vp, and saide vnto them, * Let him that is among you without sinne, cast the first stone at her.

8 And againe he stouped downe, and wrote on the ground.

9 And when they heard it, being accused by their owne conscience, they went out one by one, beginning at the eldest euen to the last: so Iesus was left alone, and the woman standing in the midst.

10 [3] When Iesus had lift vp himselfe againe, and saw no man, but the woman, he said vnto her, Woman, where are those thine accusers? hath no man condemned thee?

11 She saide, No man, Lord. And Iesus said, Neither doe I condemne thee: goe and sinne no more.

12 [4] Then spake Iesus againe vnto them, saying, I * am the light of the world: he that followeth me, shall not walke in darknes, but shal haue that light of life.

13 [5] The Pharises therefore said vnto him, [a] Thou beareſt record of thy selfe: thy record is not true.

14 * Iesus answered, and said vnto them, [b] Though I beare record of my selfe, yet my record is true: for I knowe whence I came, and whither I goe: but ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I goe.

15 Ye iudge after the flesh: I [c] iudge no man.

16 And if I also iudge, my iudgement is true: for I am not alone, but I, and the Father, that sent me.

17 And it is also written in your Lawe, * that the testimonie of two men is true.

18 [d] I am one that beare witnesse of my selfe, and the Father that sent me beareth witnesse of me.

19 [6] Then saide they vnto him, Where is that Father of thine? Iesus answered, Yee neither know mee, nor that Father of mine. If ye had knowen me, ye should haue knowen that Father of mine also.

20 These words spake Iesus in the [e] treasurie, as he taught in the Temple, & no man laid hands on him: [7] for his houre was not yet come.

21 [8] Then saide Iesus againe vnto them, I goe my way, & ye shall seeke me, and shal die in your sins. Whither I goe, can ye not come.

22 Then said the Iewes, Will he kil himselfe, because he saith, Whither I goe, can yee not come?

23 And he said vnto them, Ye are from beneath, I am from aboue: ye are of this world, I am not of this world.

24 I said therefore vnto you, That ye shall die in your sinnes: for except yee beleeue, that I am he, ye shall die in your sinnes.

25 [9] Then saide they vnto him, Who art thou? And Iesus said vnto thē, Euen [f] the same thing that I said vnto you from the beginning.

26 [10] I haue many things to say, and to iudge of you: but he that sent mee, is true, and the things that I haue heard of him, those speake I to the world.

27 [11] They vnderstood not that hee spake to them of the Father.

28 Then said Iesus vnto them, When ye haue lift vp the Sonne of man, then shall yee know that I am he, and that I doe nothing of my selfe, but as my father hath taught me, so I speake these things.

29 For he that sent me, is with me: the Father hath not left mee alone, because I doe alwayes those things that please him.

30 ¶ As he spake these things, many beleeued in him.

31 [12] Then said Iesus to the Iewes which beleeued in him, If ye continue in my worde, [19] There is no counsell against the Lord.

[1] Whiles the wicked go about to make a snare for good men, they make a snare for themselues.

[2] Against hypocrites which are very seuere iudges against other men, & flatter themselues in their owne sinnes.

[3] Christ would not take vpō him the ciuill Magistrates office: he exhorted him selfe to bring sinners to faith and repentance.

[4] The world which is blinde in it selfe, cannot come to heare any light but in Christ onely.

[5] Chap. 1. 5. & 9. 5 Christ is without all exception the best witnesse of the truth, for he was sent by his Father for that purpose, and was by him approued to the world by infinite miracles.

[b] That which he denied afore, Chap. 5. 31. must be taken by a maner of graunting, for in that place he framed himselfe somewhat to the humour of his hearers which acknowledged nothing in Christ but his humanitie, and therefore he was content they should set light by his own witnes, vnlesse it were otherwise confirmed. But in this place, he standeth for the maintenance of his Godhead, & praiseth his father, who is his witnesse, & agreeth with him.

[c] I do now only teach you, I condemne no man: but yet if I list to doe it, I might lawfully doe it, for I am not alone, but my Father is with me.

[6] No man can know God, but in Christ onely.

[e] This was some place appointed for the gathering of the offring.

[7] We liue and die at the pleasure of God, and not of vs: Therefore this one thing remaineth that we goe forward constantly in our vocation.

[8] Because that men doe naturally adhaere heauenly things, no man can be a fit disciple of Christ, vnlesse the Spirite of God frame him: in the meane season notwithstanding the world must of necessitie perish, because he refuseth the life that is offered vnto it.

[9] He shall at length know who Christ is, which will diligently heare, what he saith.

[f] That is, I am Christ, and the saiuour, for so I told you from the beginning that I was.

[10] God is the reuenger of Christs doctrine despised.

[11] Euen the contempt of Christ maketh for his glory: which thing his enemies shall feele at length to their great smart.

[12] The true disciples of Christ continue in his doctrine, that profiteth more and more in the knowledge of the truth, they may be deliuered from the most grieuous burden of sinne, into the true liberte of righteousnes and life.

ye are verily my disciples,

32 And shal know the trueth, and the truth shall g make you free.

33 h They answered him, Wee bee i Abrahams seede, and were neuer bond to any man: why sayest thou then, Ye shall be made free?

34 Iesus answered them, Verily, verily I say vnto you, that whosoeuer committeth sinne, is the * seruant of sinne.

35 And the seruaunt abideth not in the house for euer: but the Sonne abideth for euer.

36 If that sonne therefore shal make you free, ye shalbe free indeed.

37 [13] I know that ye are Abrahams seede, but ye seeke to kill me, because my word hath no place in you.

38 I speake that which I haue seene with my Father: and ye do that which ye haue seene with your father.

39 They answered, and said vnto him, Abraham is our father. Iesus said vnto them, If ye were Abrahams children, ye would doe the workes of Abraham.

40 But now ye go about to kill me, a man that haue tolde you the trueth, which I haue heard of God: this did not Abraham.

41 Ye do the workes of your father. Then said they to him, We are not borne of fornication: we haue one Father, which is God.

42 Therefore Iesus saide vnto them, If God were your Father, then would yee loue mee: for I proceeded foorth, and came from God, neither came I of my selfe, but he sent me.

43 Why do ye not vnderstand my k talke? because ye cannot heare my word.

44 * Yee are of your father the deuill, and the lusts of your father ye will do: he hath bene a murtherer from the l beginning, and m abode not in the n trueth, because there is no trueth in him. When he speaketh a lie, then speaketh he of his o owne: for he is a liar, and the p father thereof.

45 And because I tell you the trueth, ye beleeue me not.

46 [14] Which of you can rebuke mee of sinne? and if I say the trueth, why doe yee not beleeue me?

47 * Hee that is of God, heareth Gods words: ye therefore heare them not, because ye are not of God.

48 [15] Then answered the Iewes, and saide vnto him, Say wee not well, that thou art a Samaritane, and hast a deuill?

49 Iesus answered, I haue not a deuill, but I honour my Father, and yee haue dishonoured me.

50 And I seeke not mine owne praise: but there is one q that seeketh it, and iudgeth.

51 [16] Verily, verily I say vnto you, If a man keepe my worde, hee shall neuer r see death.

52 [17] Then saide the Iewes to him, Now know wee that thou hast a deuill. Abraham is dead, and the Prophets: and thou sayest, If a man keepe my worde, he shall neuer taste of death.

53 Art thou greater then our father Abraham, which is dead? and the Prophets are dead: whom makest thou thy selfe?

54 [18] Iesus answered, If I honour my selfe, mine honour is s nothing worth: it is my Father that honoureth me, whome ye say, that he is your God.

55 [19] Yet ye haue not knowen him: but I know him, and if I should say I knowe him not, I should bee a liar like vnto you: but I know him, and keepe his word.

56 [20] Your father Abraham t reioyced to see my u day, and he x saw it, and was glad.

57 Then saide the Iewes vnto him, Thou art not yet fiftie yeere olde, and hast thou seene Abraham?

58 Iesus saide vnto them, Verily verily I say vnto you, before Abraham was, I y am.

1 Christ giueth sight on the Sabbath day, to him that was borne blinde: 13 Whom, after he had long reasoned against the Pharises, 22. 35 and was cast out of the Synagogue, 36 Christ endueth with the knowledge of the euerlasting light.

AND z as Iesus passed by, hee sawe a man which was blind from his birth.

2 And his disciples asked him, saying, Master, who did sinne, this man, or his parents, that he was borne blinde?

3 Iesus answered, a Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents, but that the workes of God should be shewed on him,

4 b I must worke the workes of him that sent me, while it is c day: the night commeth when no man can worke.

5 As long as I am in the world, * I am the light of the world.

b The works of Christ are as it were a light, which lighten the darknesse of the world.
b By (day) is meant, the light, that is, the lightsome doctrine of the heauenly truth: and by night is meant the darknesse which commeth by the obscuritie of the same doctrine.
* Chap. 1. 9. and 8. 12. and 12. 35.

6 [3] Aſſoone as he had thus ſpoken, he ſpat on the ground, and made clay of the ſpettle, and anointed the eies of the blinde with the clay,

7 And ſaide vnto him, Goe waſh in the poole of Siloam (which is by interpretation, Sent.) He went his way therefore, and waſhed, and came againe ſeeing.

8 [4] Nowe the neighbours and they that had ſeene him before, when he was blind, ſaid, Is not this he that ſate and begged?

9 Some ſaid, This is he: and other ſaid, He is like him: but he himſelfe ſaide, I am he.

10 Therefore they ſaide vnto him, Howe were thine eies [c] opened?

11 He anſwered, and ſaide, The man that is called Jeſus, made clay, and anointed mine eies, and ſaid vnto me, Goe to the poole of Siloam and waſh. So I went and waſhed, and receiued ſight.

12 Then they ſaid vnto him, Where is he? He ſaid, I cannot tell.

13 ¶ They brought to the Phariſes him that was once blinde.

14 And it was the Sabbath day, when Jeſus made the clay, and opened his eyes.

15 Then againe the Phariſes alſo aſked him, howe he had receiued ſight. And he ſaide vnto them, He laied clay vpon mine eies, and I waſhed, and doe ſee.

16 [5] Then ſaid ſome of the Phariſes, This man is not of God, becauſe he keepeth not the Sabbath day. Others ſaide, Howe can a man that is a ſinner, doe ſuch miracles? and there was a diſſention among them.

17 Then ſpake they vnto the blinde againe, What ſayeſt thou of him, becauſe hee hath opened thine eies? And he ſaide, He is a Prophet.

18 Then the Jewes did not beleeue him (that he had beene blind, and receiued his ſight) vntill they had called the parents of him that had receiued ſight.

19 And they aſked them, ſaying, Is this your ſonne, whom ye ſay was borne blinde? Howe doeth he nowe ſee then?

20 His parents anſwered them, and ſaide, We knowe that this is our ſonne, and that he was borne blinde:

21 But by what meanes he nowe ſeeth, we knowe not: or who hath opened his eies, can we not tell: he is olde ynough: aſke him: he ſhall anſwere for himſelfe.

22 Theſe wordes ſpake his parents, becauſe they feared the Jewes: for the Jewes had ordeined already, that if any man did confeſſe that he was Chriſt, he ſhould be excommunicate out of the Synagogue.

23 Therefore ſaid his parents, He is olde ynough: aſke him.

24 Then againe called they the man that had beene blind, and ſaid vnto him, [d] Giue glorie vnto God: we knowe that this man is a [e] ſinner.

25 Then he anſwered, and ſaid, Whether he be a ſinner or no, I cannot tell: one thing I knowe, that I was blind, and nowe I ſee.

26 Then ſaide they to him againe, What did he to thee? howe opened he thine eies?

27 He anſwered them, I haue tolde you already, and ye haue not heard it: wherefore would ye heare it againe? will ye alſo be his diſciples?

28 [6] Then reuiled they him, and ſaide, Be thou his diſciple: we be Moſes diſciples.

29 We knowe that God ſpake with Moſes: but this man we knowe not from whence he is.

30 The man anſwered, and ſaid vnto them, Doubtleſſe, this is a marueilous thing, that ye knowe not whence he is, and yet he hath opened mine eyes.

31 Now we knowe that God heareth not ſinners: but if any man be a worſhipper of God, and doeth his will, him heareth he.

32 Since the world beganne, was it not heard, that any man opened the eyes of one that was borne blind.

33 If this man were not of God, he could haue done nothing.

34 They anſwered, and ſaide vnto him, [f] Thou art altogether borne in ſinnes, and doeſt thou teach vs? ſo they caſt him out.

35 [7] Jeſus heard that they had caſt him out: and when hee had found him, he ſaide vnto him, Doeſt thou beleeue in the Sonne of God?

36 He anſwered, and ſaide, Who is hee, Lord, that I might beleeue in him?

37 And Jeſus ſaide vnto him, Both thou haſt ſeene him, and hee it is that talketh with thee.

38 Then he ſaid, Lord, I beleeue and worſhipped him.

39 [8] And Jeſus ſaide, I am come vnto iudgement into this world, that they [h] which ſee not, might ſee: and that they * which ſee, might be made blind.

40 And ſome of the Phariſes which were with him, heard theſe things, and ſaide vnto him, Are we blind alſo?

41 Jeſus ſaid vnto them, If ye were blind, ye ſhould not haue ſinne: but nowe ye ſay, We ſee: therefore your ſinne remaineth.

3 Chriſt healing the man borne blind, by taking the ſigne of clay, and afterward the ſigne of the fountaine of Siloam (which ſignifieth Sent) ſheweth that as he at the beginning made man, ſo doeth hee againe reſtore both his body and ſoule: and yet ſo, that he himſelfe commeth firſt of his owne accord to vſe vs.

4 A true image of all men, who as they are of nature blind, doe neither themſelues receiue the light that is offred vnto them, nor ſuffer it in other, and yet make a great ado among themſelues.

c This is an Hebrewe kinde of ſpeech, for they call a mans eies hurt, when they cannot receiue any light: And therefore they are ſaid to haue their eies opened, which of blinde men are made to ſee.

5 Religion is not aſſauled by any meanes more, then by pretence of religion: but the more it is preſſed worne, the more it flieth vp.

d A ſolemne order, whereby men were conſtrained in olde time to acknowledge their fault before God, as if they ſhould ſay, Conſider thou art before God, who knoweth the whole matter, and therefore ſee thou reuerence his Maieſtie, and doe him this honour rather to confeſſe the whole matter openly, then to lie before him, Joſh. 7. 19. 1. Sam. 6. 5.

e He is called a ſinner in the Hebrewe tongue, which is a wicked man, and maketh as it were an arte of ſinning.

6 Yoyd wickednes muſt needes at length breake foorth, which in vaine lieth hid vnder a zeale of godlineſſe.

f Thou art naught euen from thy cradle, and as we vſe to ſay, there is nothing in thee but ſinne.

7 Moſt happy is their ſtate, which are caſt furtheſt out of the Church of y wicked (which proudly boaſt themſelues of the name of the Church) that Chriſt may come neerer to them.

8 Chriſt doeth lighten all them by the preaching of the Goſpel, which acknowledge their owne darkeneſſe, but ſuch as ſeeme to themſelues to ſee cleerely enough, thoſe he alloweth not blinde: but ſuch are they oftentimes, which haue higheſt place in the Church.

g With great power & authoritie, to do what is righteous and iuſt: as if he ſaid, theſe men take vpon them to gouerne the people of God after their owne luſt, as though they ſaw all things, & no man but they: but I will rule farre otherwiſe then theſe men do: for whom they account for blind men, them will I lighten, and ſuch as take themſelues to be wiſeſt, them will I drowne in moſt groſſe darkeneſſe of ignorance. h In theſe wordes (of ſeeing and not ſeeing) there is a ſecret taunting and checke to the Phariſes: for they thought all men blinde but themſelues. * Chap. 3. 17. and 12. 47.

CHAP. X.

1 Chriſt prouith that the Phariſes are the euill ſhepheards, 8 and by many reaſons, that himſelfe 11. 14 is the good ſhepheard:

sheepeheard: 19 And thereof dissension ariseth. 31 They take vp stones, 39 and goe about to take him, but he escapeth.

VErely, [1] verely I say vnto you, He that entreth not in by the dooze into the sheepfold, but climeth vp another way, he is a theefe and a robber.

2 But he that goeth in by the dooze, is the sheepheard of the sheepe.

3 To him the [a] Porter openeth, and the sheepe heare his voyce, and he calleth his owne sheepe by name, and leadeth them out.

4 And when he hath sent foozth his owne sheepe, he goeth before them, and the sheepe follow him: foz they know his voice.

5 And they will not followe a stranger, but they flee from him: foz they knowe not the voice of strangers.

6 This [b] parable spake Iesus vnto them: but they vnderstood not what things they were which he spake vnto them.

7 Then saide Iesus vnto them againe, Uerely, verely I say vnto you, I am that dooze of the sheepe.

8 [2] All, that [c] euer came before me, are theeues and robbers: but the sheepe did not heare them.

9 [3] I am that dooze: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saued, and shall [d] goe in, and goe out, and finde pasture.

10 The theefe commeth not, but foz to steale, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might haue life, and haue it in abundance.

11 * I am that good sheepeheard: that good sheepeheard giueth his life foz his sheepe, 12 But an hireling, and he which is not the sheepeheard, neither the sheepe are his owne, seeth the Wolfe comming, and he leaueth the sheepe, and fleeth, and the Wolfe catcheth them, and scattereth the sheepe.

13 So the hireling fleeth, because he is an hireling, and careth not foz the sheepe.

14 I am that good sheepeheard, and know mine, and am knowen of mine.

15 As the Father [e] knoweth me, so knowe I the Father: and I lay downe my life foz my sheepe.

16 [4] Other sheepe I haue also, which are not of this folde: them also must I bring, and they shall heare my voyce: and * there shall be [f] one sheepefolde, and one sheepeheard.

17 [5] Therefoze doeth my Father loue me, because *[g] I lay downe my life, that I might take it againe.

18 No man taketh it from me, but I lay it downe of my selfe: I haue power to lay it downe, and haue power to take it againe: this *cõmandement haue I receiued of my father.

19 ¶ [6] Then there was a dissension againe among the Iewes foz these sayings, 20 And many of them saide, He hath a deuill, and is madde: why heare ye him?

21 Other said, These are not the wozds of him that hath a deuill: can the deuill open the eies of the blind?

22 And it was at Hierusalem the feast of the [h] Dedication, and it was winter.

23 [7] And Iesus walked in the Temple, in Solomons pozch.

24 Then came the Iewes rounde about him, and said vnto him, Howe long doest thou make vs doubt? If thou be that Christ, tell vs plainely.

25 [8] Iesus answered them, I told you, and ye beleeue not: the wozks that I do in my Fathers Name, they beare witnesse of me.

26 [9] But ye beleeue not: [i] foz ye are not of my sheepe, as I said vnto you.

27 My sheepe heare my voyce, & I knowe them, and they follow me, 28 And I giue vnto them eternall life, and they shall neuer perish, neither shal any plucke them out of mine hand.

29 My Father which gaue them me: is greater then all, and none is able to take them out of my Fathers hand.

30 I and my Father are one.

31 * [10] Then the Iewes againe tooke vp stones, to stone him.

32 Iesus answered them, Many good wozks haue I shewed you from my [k] Father: foz which of these wozks doe ye stone me?

33 The Iewes answered him, saying, Foz the good wozke we stone thee not, but foz blasphemie, and that thou being a man, makest thy selfe God.

34 Iesus answered them, Is it not written in your Lawe, *I said, Ye are gods?

35 If he called them gods, vnto whom the wozd of God was giuen, and the Scripture cannot be [l] bzoken, 36 Say ye of him, whom the Father hath sanctified, and sent into the wozld, Thou blasphemest, because I saide, I am the Sonne of God?

37 If I doe not the wozks of my Father, beleeue me not.

38 But if I doe, then though ye beleeue not me, yet beleeue the wozks, that ye may know and beleeue, that the Father is in me, and I in him.

39 [11] Againe they went about to take him: but he escaped out of their hands.

40 And

1 Seeing that by Christ onely we haue accesse to the Father, there are neither other true sheepheards, then those which come to Christ themselues and bring other thither also, neither is any to be thought the true sheepefold, but that which is gathered to Christ.

a In those dayes they vsed to haue a seruant alwayes sitting at the doore, and therefore he speaketh after the maner of those dayes.

b This word (parable) which the Euangelist vseth here, signifieth a darke kinde of speach, when words are taken from their naturall meaning, to signifie another thing to vs.

2 It maketh no matter, how many, neither how old the false teachers haue bene.

c These large termes must be applied to the matter he speaketh of. And therefore when he calleth himselfe the doore, he calleth all them theeues and robbers which take vpon them this name of Doore, which none of the Prophets can, for they shewed the sheepe that Christ was the doore.

3 Onely Christ is the true Pastor, and that only is the true Church, which acknowledgeth him to be properly their onely Pastor: To him are oppolite theeues which feede not the sheepe, but kill them: and hirelings also, which forsake the flocke in time of danger, because they feede it onely foz their owne profite and gaines.

d That is, shall liue safely: So vse the Iewes to speake, as Deut. 26.6. and yet there is a peculiar alluding to the sheepeheards office. * Isai. 40.11. ezek. 34.23. e Loueth me, alloweth me. 4 The calling of the Gentiles. * Ezech. 37.22. f The certaine marke of the Catholike Church throughout all the world, which hath one head, that is, Christ, the onely keeper, and onely sheepeheard of it. 5 Christ is by the decree of the Father, the onely true sheepeheard of the true Church, foz he willingly gaue his life foz his sheepe, and by his owne power rose againe to life. * Isai. 53.7. g Hee speaketh in the time that nowe is, because Christes whole life, was as it were a perpetuall death.

6 The Gospel discouereth hypocrisie, and therefore the worlde must needes rage when it commeth foorth.

7 The rebellious and proud men accuse the Gospel of darknesse, which darknesse in deede, is within themselues.

8 The doctrine of the Gospel is prooued from heauen by two witnesses: both by the puritie of the doctrine, and by miracles.

9 It is no maruell that there doe but a fewe beleeue, seeing that all men are by nature brutish beastes: yet notwithstanding God hath his, which he turneth into sheepe, and committeth them vnto his Sonne, and preserueth them against the crueltie of all wilde beastes.

i He giueth a reason why they beleeue not, to wit, because they are none of his sheepe.

41 And many resorted vnto him, and said, Iohn did no miracle: but all things that Iohn spake of this man, were true.

CHAP. XI.

1 Christ, to shewe that he is 25 the life and the resurrection, 14 commeth to Lazarus being dead, 17. 34 and buried, 43 and raised him vp. 47 As the Priestes were consulting together, 49 Caiaphas 50 prophecieth that one must die for the people. 56. 57 They command to seke Christ out, and to take him.

AND [1] a certaine man was sicke, named Lazarus of Bethania, the [a] Towne of Marie, and her sister Martha.

2 (And it was that * Marie which anointed the Lorde with ointment, and wiped his feete with her haire, whose brother Lazarus was sicke.)

3 Therefore his sister sent vnto him, saying, Lorde, beholde, he whom thou louest, is sicke.)

4 When Iesus heard it, he saide, This sickenes is not vnto [b] death, but for the glorie of God, that the Sonne of God might be glorified thereby.

5 ¶ Nowe Iesus loued Martha and her sister, and Lazarus.

6 [2] And after hee had heard that hee was sicke, yet abode he two dayes still in the same place where he was.

7 Then after that, said he to his disciples, Let vs goe into Iudea againe.

8 [3] The disciples said vnto him, Master, the Iewes lately sought to * stone thee, and doest thou goe thither againe?

9 Iesus answered, Are there not twelue houres in the day? If a man walke in the day, he stumbleth not, because he seeth the light of this world.

10 But if a man walke in the night, he stumbleth, because there is no light in him.

11 These things spake hee, and after, hee saide vnto them, Our friend Lazarus [d] sleepeth: but I goe to wake him vp.

12 Then saide his disciples, Lorde, if he sleepe, he shall be safe.

13 Howbeit, Iesus spake of his death: but they thought that he had spoken of the naturall sleepe.

14 Then saide Iesus vnto them plainely, Lazarus is dead.

15 And I am glad for your sakes, that I was not there, that ye may beleeue: but let vs goe vnto him.

16 Then saide Thomas (which is called Didymus) vnto his fellowe disciples, Let vs also goe, that we may die with him.

17 ¶ Then came Iesus, and found that he had lien in the graue foure dayes already.

18 (Now Bethania was neere vnto Hierusalem, about fifteene furlongs off.)

19 [4] And many of the Iewes were come to Martha and Marie to comfort them for their brother.

20 Then Martha, when she heard that Iesus was comming, went to meete him: but Marie sate still in the house.

21 Then said Martha vnto Iesus, Lord, if thou hadst beene here, my brother had not beene dead.

22 But nowe I knowe also, that whatsoeuer thou askest of God, God will giue it thee.

23 Iesus said vnto her, Thy brother shall [e] rise againe.

24 Martha saide vnto him, I knowe that he shall rise againe * in the resurrection at the last day.

25 Iesus said vnto her, I am the resurrection and the life: * he that beleeueth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he liue.

26 And whosoeuer liueth, and beleeueth in me, shall neuer die: Beleeuest thou this?

27 She saide vnto him, Yea, Lord, I beleeue that thou art that Christ that Sonne of God, which should come into the world.

28 ¶ And when she had so saide, she went her way, and called Mary her sister secretly, saying, The Maister is come, and calleth for thee.

29 And when she heard it, she arose quickly, and came vnto him.

30 For Iesus was not yet come into the towne, but was in the place where Martha met him.

31 The Iewes then which were with her in the house, and comforted her, when they saw Marie, that she rose vp hastily, and went out, folowed her, saying, She goeth vnto ỹ graue, to weepe there.

32 Then when Mary was come where Iesus was, and sawe him, she fell downe at his feete, saying vnto him, Lord, if thou hadst beene here, my brother had not beene dead.

33 [5] When Iesus therefore saw her weepe, and the Iewes also weepe which came with her, he [f] groned in the spirit, and was troubled in himselfe, 34 And saide, Where haue ye layed him? They said vnto him, Lord, come and see.

35 And Iesus wept.

36 Then said the Iewes, Behold, how he loued him.

37 And some of them saide, * Could not he, which opened the eyes of the blind, haue made also, that this man should not haue died?

38 Iesus therefore againe groned in himselfe, and came to the graue. And it was a caue, and and a stone was laide vpon it.

39 Iesus saide, Take ye away the stone. Martha the sister of him that was dead, saide vnto him, Lord, he stinketh already: for he hath beene dead foure dayes.

40 Iesus saide vnto her, Saide I not vnto thee, that if thou diddest beleeue, thou shouldest see the glory of God?

41 Then they tooke away the stone from the place where the dead was laide. And Iesus lift vp his eyes, and said, Father, I thanke thee, because thou hast heard me.

42 I know that thou hearest me alwayes, but because of the people that stand by, I saide it, that they may beleeue, that thou hast sent me.

43 As he had spoken these things, he cried with a loud voyce, Lazarus, come forth.

44 Then hee that was dead, came forth bound hand and foote with bands, and his face was bound with a napkin. Iesus saide vnto them, Loose him, and let him goe.

45 ¶ Then many of the Iewes, which came to Mary, and had seene the things which Iesus did, beleeued in him.

46 [6] But some of them went their way to the Pharises, and tolde them what things Iesus had done.

47 Then gathered the hie Priests, and the Pharises a councill, and said, What shall we doe? For this man doeth many miracles.

48 If we let him thus alone, all men will beleeue in him, and the Romanes will come and [h] take away both our place, and the nation.

49 [7] Then one of them named Caiaphas, which was the hie Priest that same yeere, said vnto them, Ye perceiue nothing at all,

50 *Nor yet doe you consider that it is expedient for vs, that one man die for the people, and that the whole nation perish not.

51 [8] This spake he not of himselfe: but being hie Priest that same yeere, he prophecied that Iesus should die for that nation:

52 And not for that nation onely, but that he should gather together in one the children of God, which [i] were scattered.

53 Then from that day forth they consulted together, to put him to death.

54 [9] Iesus therefore walked no more openly among the Iewes, but went thence vnto a countrey neere to the wildernesse, into a citie called Ephraim, and there continued with his disciples.

55 ¶ And the Iewes Passeouer was at hand, and many went out of the countrey vp to Hierusalem before the Passeouer, to purifie themselues.

56 Then sought they for Iesus, and spake among themselues, as they stood in the Temple, What thinke ye, that he commeth not to the feast?

57 Now both the hie Priests and the Pharises had giuen a commaundement, that if any man knewe where he were, he should shewe it, that they might take him.

CHAP. XII.

2 As Christ is at supper with Lazarus, 3 Mary anointeth his feete. 5 Iudas findeth fault with her. 7 Christ defendeth her. 13 The Priestes would put Lazarus to death. 12 As Christ commeth to Hierusalem, 18 the people meete him. 20 The Grecians desire to see him. 42 The chiefe Rulers that beleeue in him, but for feare doe not confesse him, 44 he exhorteth to faith.

THen *Iesus, sixe dayes before the Passeouer, came to Bethania, where Lazarus was, who died, whom he had raised from the dead. *Chap.26.7. marke 14.3.

2 There they made him a supper, and Martha serued: but Lazarus was one of them that sate at the table with him.

3 Then tooke Marie a pound of ointment of Spikenard very costly, and anointed Iesus feete, & wiped his feete with her haire, and the house was filled with the sauour of the ointment.

4 Then saide one of his disciples, euen Iudas Iscariot Simons sonne, which should betray him:

5 [1] Why was not this ointment solde for three hundreth pence, and giuen to the poore?

6 Nowe hee saide this, not that he cared for the poore, but because he was a theefe, and *had the bagge, and bare that which was giuen. *Chap.13.29.

7 [2] Then saide Iesus, Let her alone: against the day of my burying she kept it.

8 For the poore alwayes ye haue with you, but me ye shall not haue alwayes.

9 [3] Then much people of the Iewes knewe that he was there: and they came, not for Iesus sake onely, but that they might see Lazarus also, whom he had raised from the dead.

10 The hie Priestes therefore consulted, that they might put Lazarus to death also, 11 Because that for his sake many of the Iewes went away, and beleeued in Iesus.

16 But his disciples vnderstood not these things at the first: but when Iesus was glorified, 6 The last point of hard and ironlike stubburnnesse is this, to proclaime open warre against God, and yet ceaseth not to make a pretence both of godlines, and of the profite of the common wealth.

g The Iewes called the councill Sanhedrin: and the word that Iohn vseth, is Synedri.

h That is, take away from vs by force: For at that time, though the high Priests authoritie was greatly lessened and decayed, yet there was some kind of gouernment left among the Iewes.

7 The raging and mad companie of the false church perswade themselues that they cannot be in safetie, vnlesse he be taken away, who onely vpholdeth the Church. And so likewise iudgeth the wisedome of the flesh in worldly affaires, which is gouerned by the spirit of giddinesse and madnesse.

*Chap.18.14.

8 Christ doeth sometimes so turne the tongues, euen of the wicked, that euen in cursing, they bisse.

i For they were not gathered together in one countrey, as the Iewes were, but to be gathered from al quarters, from the East to the West.

9 We may giue place to the rage of the wicked, when it is expedient so to doe, but yet in such sort, that we swarue not from Gods vocation.

1 An horrible example in Iudas of a mind blinded with couetousnesse, and yet pretending godlinesse.

2 This extraordinarie anointing which was for a signe, is so allowed of God, that he witnesseth howe he will not be worshipped with outward pompe, or costly seruice, but with mindes.

3 When the light of the Gospel sheweth it selfe, some are found to be curious, and others (which least ought) to be open enemies: others in a rage honour him, whom they will straight way fall from: and they selue do so reuerently receiue him as they ought: Notwithstanding Christ beginneth his spirituall kingdome in the mids of his enemies.

fied, then remembred they, that these things were written of him, and that they had done these things vnto him.

17 The people therefore that was with him, bare witnesse that he called Lazarus out of the graue, and raised him from the dead.

18 Therefore met him the people also, because they heard that hee had done this miracle.

19 [4] And the Pharises saide among themselues, Perceiue ye howe ye preuaile nothing? Behold, the world goeth after him.

20 ¶ Nowe there were certaine Greekes among them that [a] came vp to worship at the feast.

21 And they came to Philip, which was of Bethsaida in Galile, and desired him, saying, Sir, we would see that Iesus.

22 Philip came and tolde Andrewe: and againe Andrewe and Philip tolde Iesus.

23 And Iesus answered them, saying, The houre is come, that the Sonne of man must be glorified.

24 [5] Verely, verely I say vnto you, Except the wheate corne fall into the ground and [b] die, it bideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth foorth much fruite.

25 * He that loueth his life, shall lose it, and he that hateth his life in this world, shall keepe it vnto life eternall.

26 * If any man serue me, let him followe me: for where I am, there shall also my seruant be: and if any man serue me, him will my Father honour.

27 [6] Nowe is my soule troubled: and what shall I say? Father, saue me from this [c] houre: but therefore came I vnto this houre.

28 Father, [d] glorifie thy Name. Then came there a voyce frō heauen, saying, I haue both glorified it, and will glorifie it againe.

29 Then said the people that stood by, and heard, that it was a thunder: other saide, An Angel spake to him.

30 [7] Iesus answered, and said, This voyce came not because of me, but for your sakes.

31 Nowe is the iudgement of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out.

32 * And I, if I were [e] lift vp from the earth, will draw [f] all men vnto me.

33 Nowe this saide he, signifying what death he should die.

34 The people answered him, We haue heard out of the * Lawe, that that Christ bideth for euer: and howe sayest thou, that that Sonne of man must be lift vp? Who is that Sonne of man?

35 [8] Then Iesus said vnto them, Yet a litle while is * the light with you: walke while ye haue that light, lest the darkenes come vpon you: for he that walketh in the darke, knoweth not whither he goeth.

36 While ye haue the light, beleeue in that light, that ye may be the [g] children of the light. These things spake Iesus, and departed, and hid himselfe from them.

37 ¶ [9] And though hee had done so many miracles before them, yet beleeued they not on him, 38 That the saying of Esaias the Prophet might be fulfilled, that he saide, * Lord, who beleeued our report? and to whom is the [h] arme of the Lord reuealed?

39 Therefore could they not beleeue, because that Esaias saith againe, 40 * He hath blinded their eyes, and hardned their heart that they should not see with their eyes, nor vnderstand with their heart, and should be conuerted, and I should heale them.

41 These things said Esaias when he saw his glory, and spake of him.

42 [10] Neuertheless, euen among the chiefe rulers, many beleeued in him: but because of the Pharises they did not confesse him, least they should be cast out of the Synagogue.

43 * For they loued the praise of men, more then the praise of God.

44 [11] And Iesus cried, and saide, He that beleeueth in me, beleeueth [i] not in me, but in him that sent me.

45 And hee that seeth me, seeth him that sent me.

46 I * am come a light into the world, that whosoeuer beleeueth in me, should not abide in darkenes.

46 * And if any man heare my words, and beleeue not, I iudge him not: for I came not to iudge the world, but to saue the world.

48 He that refuseth me, and receiueth not my wordes, hath one that iudgeth him: * the word that I haue spoken, it shall iudge him in the last day.

49 For I haue not spoken of my selfe: but the Father which hath sent me, he gaue me a commandement what I should say, and what I should speake.

50 And I know that his commandement is life euerlasting: the things therefore that I speake, I speake them so as the Father saide vnto me.

4 Euen they which goe about to oppresse Christ, are made instruments of his glory.

a After the solemne custome: the Grecians were first to called by the name of the countrey of Greece, where they dwelt: but afterward, al that were not of the Iewes religion, but worshipped false gods, and were also called Heathens, were called by this name.

5 The death of Christ is as it were a sowing, which seemeth to be a dying to the eyne, but in deede is the cause of a farre greater haruest: and such as is the condition of the head, so shall it be of the members.

6 Whilest Christ was about to suffer all the punishment which is due to our sinnes, and whilest his diuinitie did not yet shewe his might and power in full force, in this satisfaction might be thought, now as when he is striken with the great feare of the curse of God, he crieth and prayeth, and desireth to be released: yet notwithstanding he preferreth the will and glorie of his Father before all things, whose obedience the Father alloweth and approueth.

11 The summe of the Gospel, and therefore of saluation, which Christ witnessed in the midst of Hierusalem by his crying out, is this: to rest vpon Christ, through faith as the onely Sauiour appointed and giuen vs of the Father.

i This word, Not, doeth not take any whit of this from Christ which is here spoken of, but in way of correction rather, as if he said, He that beleeueth in me, doeth not so much beleeue in me, as in him that sent me. So is it in Marke 9. 37.

Now

NOw * [1] before the feast of the Passeouer, when Iesus knewe that his houre was come, that he should depart out of this worlde vnto the Father, forasmuch as hee loued his [a] owne which were in the worlde, vnto the end he loued them.

2 And when supper was done (and that the deuill had nowe put in the heart of Iudas Iscariot, Simons sonne, to betray him)

3 Iesus knowing that the Father had giuen all things into his [b] hands, and that he was come foorth from God, and went to God,

4 He [c] riseth from supper, and layeth aside his vpper garments, and tooke a towell, and girded himselfe.

5 After that, he powred water into a basen, and began to wash the disciples feete, and to wipe them with the towell, wherewith he was girded.

6 Then came he to Simon Peter, who said to him, Lord, doest thou wash my feete?

7 Iesus answered & said vnto him, What I doe, thou knowest not nowe: but thou shalt know it hereafter.

8 Peter said vnto him, Thou shalt neuer wash my feete. Iesus answered him, If I wash thee not, thou shalt haue [d] no part with me.

9 Simon Peter said vnto him, Lord, not my feete onely, but also the handes and the head.

10 Iesus saide to him, He that is washed, needeth not, saue to wash his feete, but is clean euery whit: and ye are * cleane, but not all.

11 For he knewe who should betray him: therefore said he, Ye are not all cleane.

12 ¶ So after he had washed their feete, and had taken his garments, & was set downe againe, he saide vnto them, Knowe ye what I haue done to you?

13 Ye call me Master, and Lord, and ye say well: for so am I.

14 If I then your Lord, and Master, haue washed your feete, ye also ought to wash one anothers feete.

15 For I haue giuen you an example, that ye should doe, euen as I haue done to you.

16 Verely, verely I say vnto you, * The seruant is not greater then his master, neither the ‖ ambassadour greater then hee that sent him.

17 If ye know these things, blessed are ye, if ye doe them.

18 ¶ [2] I speake not of you all: I knowe whom I haue chosen: but it is that the Scripture might be fulfilled, * He that eateth bread with me, hath lift vp his heele against me.

19 From henceforth tell I you before it come, that when it is come to passe, ye might beleeue that I am he.

20 * Verely, verely I say vnto you, If I send any, he that receiueth him, receiueth me, and he that receiueth me, receiueth him that sent me.

21 When Iesus had said these things, he was troubled in the Spirit, and [e] testified, and said, Verely, verely I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray me.

22 * Then the disciples looked one on another, doubting of whom he spake.

23 Nowe there was one of his disciples, which [f] leaned on Iesus bosome, whom Iesus loued.

24 To him beckened therefore Simon Peter, that he should aske who it was of whom he spake.

25 He then, as he leaned on Iesus breast, said vnto him, Lord, who is it?

26 Iesus answered, He it is, to whom I shall giue a sop, when I haue dipt it: & he wet a sop, and gaue it to Iudas Iscariot, Simons sonne, 27 And after the soppe, Satan entred into him. Then saide Iesus vnto him, That thou doest, doe quickly.

28 But none of them that were at table, knewe, for what cause he spake it vnto him.

29 For some of them thought because Iudas had the bagge, that Iesus had saide vnto him, Buy those things that we haue neede of against the feast: or that he should giue some thing to the poore.

30 Assoone then as hee had receiued the sop, hee went immediatly out, and it was night.

31 ¶ [3] When hee was gone out, Iesus said, [g] Nowe is the Sonne of man glorified, and God is glorified in him.

32 If God be glorified in him, God shall also glorifie him in himselfe, and shall straightway glorifie him.

33 [4] Litle children, yet a litle while am I with you: ye shall seeke me, but as I said vnto the * Iewes, Whither I goe, can ye not come: also to you say I now, 34 * A newe commandement giue I vnto you, that ye loue one another: as I haue loued you, that ye also loue one another.

35 By this shall all men knowe that ye are my disciples, if ye haue loue one to another.

36 [5] Simon Peter saide vnto him, Lorde, whither goest thou? Iesus answered him, Whither I goe, thou canst not followe me now: but thou shalt followe me afterward.

37 Peter saide vnto him, Lord, why can I not followe thee nowe? * I will lay downe my life for thy sake.

38 Iesus answered him, Wilt thou lay downe thy life for my sake? Verely, verely I say vnto thee, The Cocke shall not crowe, till thou haue denied me thrise.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 He comforteth his disciples, 2. 7 declaring his diuinitie and the fruite of his death, 16 promising the comforter, 17 euen the holy Spirit, 26 whose office hee setteth out. 27 He promiseth his peace.

1 LEt [a] not your heart be troubled: ye beleeue in God, beleeue also in me.

2 In my Fathers house are many dwelling places: if it were not so, [2] I would haue tolde you: I goe to [b] prepare a place for you.

3 [2] And if I goe to prepare a place for you, I wil [c] come againe, and receiue you vnto my selfe, that where I am, there may ye be also.

4 [3] And whither I goe, yee knowe, and the way ye know,

5 Thomas said vnto him, Lord, we knowe not whither thou goest: how can we then know the way?

6 Iesus said vnto him, I am [d] that way, and that trueth, and that Life. No man commeth vnto the Father, but by me.

7 [e] If yee had knowen me, ye should haue knowen my Father also: and from hencefoorth ye know him, and haue seene him.

8 Philip said vnto him, Lord, shew vs thy Father, and it sufficeth vs.

9 Iesus saide vnto him, I haue bene so long time with you, and hast thou not knowen me? Philip hee that hath seene mee, hath seene my Father: howe then sayest thou, Shewe vs thy Father?

10 [4] Beleeuest thou not, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in me? The wordes that I speake vnto you, I speake not of my selfe: but the Father that dwelleth in me, hee doeth the workes.

11 Beleeue mee, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in mee: at the least, beleeue me for the very workes sake.

12 [5] Verily, verily I say vnto you, hee that beleeueth in me, the workes that I doe, he shall doe also, and [f] greater then these shall hee doe: for I goe vnto my Father.

13 * And whatsoeuer ye aske in my Name, that wil I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Sonne.

14 If ye shal aske any thing in my Name, I wil doe it.

15 [6] If ye loue me, keepe my commaundements.

16 And I wil pray the Father, and he shal giue you another Comforter, that hee may abide with you for euer, 17 Euen the [g] Spirit of trueth, whom the [h] world cannot receiue, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye knowe him: for he dwelleth with you, and shalbe in you.

18 I will not leaue you fatherlesse: but I will come to you.

19 Yet a litle while, and the world shal see me no more, but ye shal see me: because I liue, ye shall liue also.

20 At that day shall yee knowe that I am [i] in my Father, and you in me, and I in you.

21 He that hath my commandements, and keepeth them, is he that loueth me: and he that loueth me, shalbe loued of my Father: and I will loue him, and will [k] shewe mine owne selfe to him.

22 [7] Iudas saide vnto him (not Iscariot) Lorde, what is the cause that thou wilt shewe thy selfe vnto vs, and not vnto the world?

23 Iesus answered, and saide vnto him, If any man loue me, hee will keepe my word, and my Father will loue him, and wee will come vnto him, and wil dwel with him.

24 He that loueth me not, keepeth not my wordes, and the worde which yee heare, is not mine, but the Fathers which sent me.

25 [8] These things haue I spoken vnto you, being present with you.

26 * But the Comforter, which is the holy Ghost, whome the Father will sende in my Name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, which I haue tolde you.

27 [9] Peace I leaue with you: my peace I giue vnto you not as the world giueth, giue I vnto you. Let not your heart bee troubled, nor feare.

28 [10] Yee haue heard how I said vnto you, I goe away, and wil come vnto you. If ye loued me, ye would verily reioyce, because I said, I goe vnto the Father: for the Father is [l] greater then I.

29 And nowe haue I spoken vnto you, before it come, that when it is come to passe, yee might beleeue.

30 [11] Hereafter will I not speake many things vnto you: for the prince of this worlde commeth, and hath [m] nought in me.

31 But it is that the worlde may knowe that I loue my Father: and as the Father hath commaunded mee, so I doe, Arise, let vs goe hence.

1 Ye beleeueth in God that beleeueth in Christ, and there is no other way to confirme our minds in greatest distresses.

a That is, if it were not so as I tel you, to wit, vnlesse there were place ynough not onely for me, but for you also, in my Fathers house, I would not thus deceiue you with a vaine hope, but I would haue told you so plainely.

b All this speach is by way of an allegorie, whereby the Lord comforteth his owne, declaring to them his departure into heauen, which is, not to reigne there alone, but to goe before and prepare a place for them.

c Christ went not away from vs, to the ende to forsake vs, but rather that he might at length take vs vp with him into heauen.

d These words are to be referred to the whole Church, and therefore the Angels said to the disciples when they were astonished, what stand you gasing vp into heauen? This Iesus shal so come as you saw him goe vp, Acts 1.11. and in all places of the Scripture, the full comfort of the Church is referred to that day when God shall bee all in all, and is therefore called the day of redemption.

3 Christ onely is the way to true and everlasting life, for he it is in whome the Father hath reuealed himselfe.

4 This saying sheweth vnto vs both the nature, the will, and office of Christ.

e It is plaine by this place, that to know God, and to see God, is all one: Nowe where it hath said before, that no man sawe God at any time, that is to be vnderstood thus, without Christ: or were it not through Christ, no man could euer see, nor saw God at any time: For as Chrysostome saith, the Sonne is a very short and easie setting forth of the Fathers nature to vs.

4 The Maiestie of God sheweth it selfe most euidently, both in Christes doctrine and deedes.

5 The approuing of the doctrine of Christ is not included within his owne person, but it is spread thorow the body of his whole Church.

f That is, not I onely doe them, but I can also giue other men power to doe greater. * Chap. 16.23. matt. 7.7. marke 11.24. iames 1.5.

6 Hee loueth Christ aright which obeyeth his commaundements: and because the same is accompanied with an infinite sort of miseries, although hee be absent in body, yet doeth he comfort his with the present vertue of the holy Ghost, whome the world despiseth, because it knoweth him not.

g The holy Ghost is called the Spirit of trueth, of the effect which he worketh, because he inspireth the trueth into vs, whereas otherwise hee hath trueth himselfe.

h Worldly men.

i The Sonne is in the Father after such sort, that he is one of one selfsame substance with the Father, but he is in his disciples in a certaine respect as an aider and helper of them.

k I wil shew my selfe to him, and be knowen of him, as if he saw me with his eyes: but this shewing of himselfe is not bodily, but spiritually, yet so plaine as none can be more.

7 We must not aske why the Gospel is reuealed to some rather then to other, but we must rather take heede, that wee imbrace Christ who is offered vnto vs, and that wee truely loue him, that is to say, that we giue our selues wholy to his obedience.

8 It is the office of the holy Ghost to imprint in the minds of the elect in their times and seasons, that which Christ once spake.

* Chap. 15.26.

9 All true felicitie commeth to vs by Christ alone.

10 So farre is it, that we should be sory for the departing of Christ from vs according to the flesh, that we should rather reioyce for it, seeing that all the dieting of the members depended vpon the glorifying of the head.

l This is spoken in that, that he is Mediator, for so the Father is greater then he, in as much as the person to whome request is made, is greater then hee that maketh the request.

11 Christ goeth to death not vnwillingly, but willingly, not as yeelding to the deuil, but obeying his Fathers decree.

m As who would say, Satan will by and by set vpon me with all the might he can, but he hath no power ouer me, neither shall he hade any such thing in me as he thinketh he shall.

CHAP. XV.

1 By the parable of the vine, 2 and the branches, 5. 6 he declareth how the disciples may beare fruite. 12. 17 He commendeth mutuall loue. 18 He exhorteth them to beare afflictions patiently. 20 by his owne example.

I [1] Am that true vine, and my Father is that husbandman.

2 *Euery branch that beareth not fruite in me, hee taketh away: and euery one that beareth fruit, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruite.

3 Nowe are ye cleane through the worde, which I haue spoken vnto you.

4 Abide in me, and I in you: as the branch cannot beare fruite of it selfe, except it abide in the vine, no more can yee, except yee abide in mee.

5 I am that vine: ye are the branches: he that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruite: for without me can ye doe nothing.

6 *If a man abide not in mee, hee is cast foorth as a branch, and withereth: and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they burne.

7 *[2] If ye abide in mee, and my wordes abide in you, aske what ye wil, and it shalbe done to you.

8 [a] Herein is my Father glorified, that yee beare much fruite, and bee made my disciples.

9 [3] As the Father hath loued me, so haue I loued you: [b] continue in that my loue.

10 If yee shall keepe my commaundements, ye shal abide in my loue, as I haue kept my Fathers commaundements, and abide in his loue.

11 These things haue I spoken vnto you, that my ioy might remaine in you, and that your ioy might be full.

12 *This is my commaundement, that ye loue one another, as I haue loued you.

13 Greater loue then this hath no man, when any man bestoweth his life for his friends.

14 Ye are my friendes, if ye doe whatsoeuer I command you.

15 [4] Henceforth call I you not seruants: for the seruant knoweth not what his master doeth: but I haue called you friendes: for all things that I haue heard of my Father, haue I made knowen to you.

16 [5] Ye [c] haue not chosen mee, but I haue chosen you, and ordeined you, * that ye goe and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit, remaine, that whatsoeuer ye shall aske of the Father in my Name he may giue it you.

17 These things commaunde I you, that ye loue one another.

18 [6] If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before you.

19 If yee were of the worlde, the worlde would loue his owne: but because ye are not of the worlde, but I haue chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you.

20 Remember the word that I saide vnto you, *The seruant is not greater then his master. *If they haue persecuted me, they will persecute you also: if they haue kept my word, they wil also keepe yours, 21 [7] But *all these things will they do vnto you for my Names sake, because they haue not knowen him that sent me.

22 [d] If I had not come and spoken vnto them, they should not haue had sinne: but now haue they no cloke for their sinne.

23 Hee that hateth mee, hateth my Father also.

24 If I had not done workes among them which none other man did, they had not had sinne: but now haue they both seene, and haue hated both me and my Father.

25 But it is that the word might be fulfilled, that is written in their [e] Lawe, *They hated me without a cause.

26 [8] But when that Comforter shal come, *whom I wil send vnto you from the Father, euen the Spirit of trueth, which proceedeth of the Father, he shall testifie of me.

27 And yee shall witnesse also, because yee haue bene with me from the beginning.

a We are of nature vile and fit for nothing, but the fire: Therefore that we may liue and be fruitful, we must first be graffed into Christ, as it were into a vine, by the Fathers hand: and then be daily feed with continual meditation of the word, and the crosse: otherwise it shal not auaile any man at all to haue bene graffed, vnlesse he cleaue fast vnto the vine, and so draw iuyce out of it.

*1. Iohn 3.22.

b He abideth in Christ, which resteth in his doctrine, and therefore bringeth forth good fruite: And the Father will denie such an one nothing.

a As who would say, Herein shall my Father be glorified, and herein also shall you be my disciples, if you bring forth much fruite.

3. The loue of the Father towardes the Sonne, and of the same towards vs, and ours toward God and our neighbour, are linked together with an vnseparable knot: and there is nothing more sweete and pleasant then it is. Iohn shewed it selfe by the effects: a most perfect example whereof, Christ himselfe exhibiteth vnto vs.

b That is, in that loue, wherewith I loue you: which loue is on both parts.
* Chap. 13.34. 1. thes. 4.9. 1. iohn 3.11. and 4.21.

4 The doctrine of the Gospel (as it is vttered by Christes owne mouth) is a most perfect and absolute declaration of the counsell of God, which pertaineth to our saluation, and is committed vnto the Apostles.

5 Christ is the author and preseruer of the ministerie of the Gospel, euen to the worlds ende, but the ministers haue aboue all things need of prayer and brotherly loue.

c This place teacheth vs plainely, that our saluation commeth from the onely fauour and gracious goodnesse of the euerlasting God toward vs, and of nothing that we doe or can deserue. *Matth. 18.19.

6 It ought not only not to feare, but rather confirme the faithfull Ministers of Christ, when they shalbe hated of the world as their Maister was.
*Chap. 13.16. matth. 10.24.
*Matth. 24.9.

7 The hatred that the world beareth against Christ, procureth of the blindnesse of the mind, which notwithstanding is voluntary blind, so that the world can pretend no excuse to cauer their fault.
* Chap. 16.4.

d As who would say, If I had not come, their men would not haue stucke to haue said still before Gods iudgement seat, that they are religious, & void of sinne: but seing I came to them, and they cleane refuse me, they can haue no cloke for their wickednes.

e Some time by this word, Law, are ment the fiue bookes of Moses, but in this place, the whole Scripture: for the place alleaged is in the Psalmes.
*Psal. 35.19.

8 Against the rage of the wicked, we shall stand surely by the inward testimonie of the holy Ghost: But the holy Ghost speaketh no otherwise, then he spake by the mouth of the Apostles. *Chap. 14.26. luke 24.49.

CHAP. XVI.

1 He foretelleth the disciples of persecution. 7 Hee promiseth the Comforter, and declareth his office. 21 He compareth the affliction of his, to a woman that trauaileth with childe.

THese [1] things haue I said vnto you, that ye should not be offended.

2 They shall excommunicate you: yea, the time shall come, that whosoeuer killeth you, will thinke that he doeth God seruice.

3 And these things will they doe vnto you, because they haue not knowen the Father, nor me.

4 *But these things haue I told you, that when the houre shal come, ye might remember that I told you them. And these things said I not vnto you from the beginning, because I was with you.

5 But now I goe my way to him that sent me, and none of you asketh me, Whither goest thou?

1 The ministers of the Gospel must looke for all manner of reproches, not onely of them which are open enemies, but euen of them also which seeme to be of the same houshoulde, and the very pillars of the Church.
*Chap. 15.21.

6 But because I haue saide these things vnto you, your hearts are full of sorowe.

7 [2] Yet I tell you the trueth, It is expedient for you that I goe away: for if I goe not away, that Comforter will not come vnto you: but if I depart, I wil send him vnto you.

8 [3] And when he is come, he wil [a] reproue the [b] world of sinne, and of righteousnesse, and of iudgement.

9 Of sinne, because they beleeued not in me.

10 Of [c] righteousnesse, because I goe to my Father, and ye shall see me no more.

11 Of [d] iudgement, [e] because the prince of this world is iudged.

12 [4] I haue yet many things to say vnto you, but ye cannot beare them now.

13 Howbeit, when he is come which is the Spirite of trueth, hee will leade you into all trueth: for hee shall not speake of himselfe, but whatsoeuer he shall heare, shall hee speake, and he will shew you the things to come.

14 [5] He shal glorifie me: for he shal receiue of mine, and shall shew it vnto you.

15 All things that the Father hath, are mine: therefore saide I, that hee shall take of mine, and shew it vnto you.

16 [6] A [f] little while, and ye shall not see me: and againe a little while, and ye shall see mee: [g] for I goe to the Father.

17 Then said some of his disciples among themselues, What is this that hee saith vnto vs, A litle while, and ye shall not see me, and againe, a litle while, and ye shal see me, and, For I goe to the Father.

18 They said therefore, What is this that he saith, A litle while? we know not what hee saith.

19 Nowe Iesus knewe that they would aske him, and saide vnto them, Doe ye enquire among your selues, of that I said, A litle while, and ye shal not see me: and againe, a litle while and ye shall see me?

20 Uerely, verely I say vnto you, that yee shall weepe and lament, and the world shall reioyce: and ye shall sorow, but your sorow shall be turned to ioy.

21 A woman when shee traueileth hath sorowe, because her houre is come: but assoone as shee is deliuered of the childe, shee remembreth no more the anguish, for ioy that a man is borne into the world.

22 And yee nowe therefore are in sorowe: but I will see you againe, and your heartes shall reioyce, and your ioy shall no man take from you.

23 And in that day shall yee aske mee nothing. *Uerily, verily, I say vnto you, whatsoeuer ye shall aske the Father in my Name, hee will giue it you.

24 Hitherto haue yee asked nothing in my Name: aske, and ye shall receiue, that your ioy may be full.

25 [7] These things haue I spoken vnto you in parables: but the time will come, when I shall no more speake to you in parables: but I shall shew you plainely of the Father.

26 [8] At that day shall ye aske in my Name, and I say not vnto you, that I will pray vnto the Father for you:

27 For the Father himselfe loueth you, because ye haue loued mee, * and haue beleeued that I came out from God.

28 I am come out from the Father, and came into the world: againe I leaue the world, and goe to the Father.

29 [9] His disciples said vnto him, Loe, now speakest thou plainely, and thou speakest no parable:

30 Now know wee that thou knowest all things, and needest not that any man should aske thee. By this wee beleeue, that thou art come out from God.

31 Iesus answered them, Doe you beleeue now?

32 * [10] Beholde, the houre commeth, and is already come, that ye shalbe scattered euery man into his owne, and shall leaue mee alone: but I am not alone: for the Father is with me.

33 [11] These things haue I spoken vnto you, that [h] in mee yee might haue peace: in the world ye shall haue affliction, but bee of good comfort: I haue ouercome the world.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Christ prayeth that his glory together with his Fathers, may be made manifest. 9 Hee prayeth for his Apostles, 20 And for all beleeuers.

THese [1] things spake Iesus, and lift vp his eyes to heauen, and saide, [2] Father, that houre is come: glorifie thy Sonne, that thy Sonne may also glorifie thee,

2 *As thou hast giuen him power ouer [a] all flesh, that he should giue eternall life to al them that thou hast giuen him.

2 The absence of Christ, according to the flesh, is profitable to the Church that we may wholy depend vpon his spiritual power.
3 The Spirit of God worketh so mightily by the preaching of the word, that he conuinceth the world, wil it, nill it, to confesse it owne vnrighteousnesse and Christs righteousnesse and almightinesse.
a He wil so reproue the world, that the worldlings shal be able to pretend no excuse.
b He respecteth the time that followed his ascension, when as all gainesayers were manifestly reproued, through the powring out of the holy Ghost vpon the Church: So that the very enemies of Christ were reproued of sinne, in that they were constrained to confesse that they were deceiued, in that they beleeued not, and therefore they said to Peter, Acts. 2. Men and brethren, what shall wee doe?
c Of Christ himselfe: For when the world shall see, that I haue powred out the holy Ghost, they shalbe constrained to confesse that I was iust, and was not condemned of my Father, when I went out of this world.
d Of that authoritie and power, which I haue both in heauen and earth.
e That is, because they shall then vnderstand and knowe in deede, that I haue ouercome the deuill, and doe gouerne the worlde when all men shall see, that they set themselues against you in vaine, for I will arme you with that heauenly power, whereby you may destroy euery high thing which is lifted vp against the knowledge of God. 2. Corinth. 10. 12. 4 The doctrine of the Apostles, proceeded from the holy Ghost, and is most perfite. 5 The holy Ghost bringeth no new doctrine, but teacheth that which was vttered by Christes owne mouth, and imprinteth it in our mindes. 6 The grace of the holy Ghost is a most liuely glasse, wherein Christ is truely beholden with the most sharpe sighted eyes of faith, and not with the bleared eyes of the flesh: Whereby we feele a continual ioy euen in the midst of sorowes. f When a litle time is once past. g For I passe to eternal glory, so that I shalbe much more present with you then I was before: for then you shall feele in deede what I am, and what I am able to doe.

1 Iesus Christ the euerlasting hie Priest, being ready straightwayes to offer vp himselfe, doeth by solemne prayers consecrate himselfe to God the Father, as a Sacrifice, and ys together with himselfe. Therefore this prayer was from the beginning, is, and shall bee to the ende of the worlde, the foundation and ground of the Church of God. 2 Hee first declareth, that as he came into the worlde, to the end that the Father might shewe in him, being apprehended by faith, his glory in saluing his elect, so hee applied himselfe to that onely: and thereforo desireth of the Father, that hee would bestow the worke which hee had finished.

a Ouer all men.

3 And this is life eternall, that they know thee to be the [b] onely very God, and whome thou hast sent, Iesus Christ.

4 I haue glorified thee on the earth: I haue finished the worke which thou gauest me to doe.

5 And nowe glorifie me, thou Father, with thine owne selfe, with the glorie which I had with thee before the world was.

6 [3] I haue declared thy Name vnto the men which thou gauest mee out of the worlde: [c] thine they were, and thou [d] gauest them mee, and they haue kept thy word.

7 *Nowe they know that all things whatsoeuer thou hast giuen me, are of thee.

8 For I haue giuen vnto them the wordes which thou gauest me, and they haue receiued them, and haue knowen surely that I came out from thee, and haue beleeued that thou hast sent me.

9 I pray for them: I pray not for the world, but for them which thou hast giuen me: for they are thine.

10 And all mine are thine, and thine are mine, and I am glorified in them.

11 And nowe am I no more in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to thee. Holy Father, keepe them in thy Name, euen them whome thou hast giuen mee, that they may be [e] one, as we are.

12 While I was with them in the world, I kept them in thy Name: those that thou gauest mee, haue I kept, and none of them is lost, but the childe of perdition, that the *Scripture might be fulfilled.

13 And now come I to thee, & these things speake I in the worlde, that they might haue my ioy fulfilled in themselues.

14 I haue giuen them thy worde, and the world hath hated them, because they are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

15 [4] I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the worlde, but that thou keepe them from euil.

16 They are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

17 [f] Sanctifie them with thy trueth: thy word is trueth.

18 [5] As thou diddest send me into the world, so haue I sent them into the world.

19 And for their sakes sanctifie I my selfe, that they also may be sanctified through the [g] trueth.

20 [6] I pray not for these alone, but for them also which shall beleeue in mee, through their worde, 21 That they all may bee one, as thou, O Father art in me, and I in thee: euen that they may be also in vs, that the world may beleeue that thou hast sent me.

22 And the glorie that thou gauest mee, I haue giuen them, that they may be one, as wee are one.

23 I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one, and that the world may knowe that thou hast sent mee, and hast loued them, as thou hast loued me.

24 *Father, I will that they which thou hast giuen me, be with mee euen where I am, that they may beholde that my glory, which thou hast giuen mee: for thou louedst me before the foundation of the world.

25 O righteous Father, the worlde also hath not knowen thee, but I haue knowen thee, and these haue knowen, that thou hast sent me.

26 [7] And I haue declared vnto them thy Name, and wil declare it, that the loue wherewith thou hast loued me, may be in them, and I in them.

b He calleth the Father the onely very God, to set him against all false gods, and not to shut out himselfe and the holy Ghost, for straightwayes he ioyneth the knowledge of the Father, and the knowledge of himselfe together, and accordding to his accustomed maner setteth foorth the whole Godhead in the person of the Father: So is the Father alone said to be King, immortal, wise, and dwelling in light which no man can attaine vnto, inuisible, Rom. 16.27. 1.tim.1. 17.

3 First of all he prayeth for those his disciples, by whom he would haue the rest to be gathered together, and commendeth them vnto the Father, (hauing once rejected the whole company of the reprobate) because he receiued them of him, into his custodie, and for that they embracing his doctrine, shal haue so many and so mighty enemies, that there is no way for them to be in safetie, but by his helpe onely.

c He sheweth hereby that euerlasting election and choise, which was hidden in the good will and pleasure of God, which is the ground worke of our saluation.

d He sheweth how that euerlasting and hidden purpose of God is declared in Christ, by whom we are iustified and sanctified, if we lay hold on him by faith, that at length we may come to the glorie of the election. *Chap. 16.27.

e He prayeth that his people may peaceably agree and be ioyned together in one, that as the Godhead is one, so they may be of one minde and one consent together. * Psal.109.7.

4 He sheweth what maner of deliuerance he meaneth, not that they should be in no danger, but that they being preserued from all, might proue by experience that the doctrine of saluation is true, which they receiued at his mouth to deliuer to other.

f That is, make them holy: and that is said to be holy, which is dedicated and made proper to God only.

5 He addeth moreouer, that the Apostles haue vocation comon with him, and therefore y they must be holden vp by the selfe same vertue to giue vp themselues wholy to God, whereby he being first did consecrate himselfe to the Father.

g The true & substantial sanctificatiō of Christ, is set against the outward purifyings.

6 Secondarily he offereth to God the Father all his, that is, how many soeuer shall beleeue in him by the doctrine of the Apostles: that as he cleaueth vnto the Father, receiuing from him al fulnesse, so they being ioyned with him, may receiue life from him, and at length being together beloued in him, may also with him enioy euerlasting glory. *Chap.12.26.

7 He communicateth with his by title giuing the knowledge of the Father, which is most ful in Christ the Mediatour, that they may in him be beloued of the Father, with the selfsame loue wherewith he loueth the Sonne.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 By Christes power, whom Iudas betrayeth, 6 the souldiers are cast downe to the ground. 13 Christ is led to Annas, and from him to Caiaphas. 22. 23 His answere to the officer that smote him with a rod. 28 Being deliuered to Pilate, 36 he declareth his kingdome.

WHen [1] Iesus had spoken these things, hee went foorth with his disciples ouer the brooke *Cedron, where was a garden, into the which he entred, and his disciples.

2 And Iudas which betrayed him, knewe also the place: for Iesus oft times resorted thither with his disciples.

3 [*2] Iudas then, after hee had receiued a band of men and officers of the hie Priests, and of the Pharises, came thither with lanternes and torches, and weapons.

4 [3] Then Iesus, knowing all things that should come vnto him, went foorth and said vnto them, Whom seeke ye?

5 They answered him, Iesus of Nazareth. Iesus said vnto them, I am he. Now Iudas also which betraied him, stood with them.

6 Assoone then as he had said vnto them, I am he, they went away backwards, and fell to the ground.

7 Then hee asked them againe, Whome seeke ye? And they said, Iesus of Nazareth.

8 [4] Iesus answered, I said vnto you, that I am he: therefore if ye seeke me, let these goe their way.

9 This was that the worde might bee fulfilled

1 Christ goeth of his owne accord into a garden, which his betrayer knew, to be taken: that by his obedience he might take away the sinne that entred into the world by mans rebellion, and that in a garden. *Matth.26.36. marke 14.32. luke 22.39.

fulfilled which he spake, * Of them which thou gauest me haue I lost none.

10 5 Then Simon Peter hauing a sword, drew it, and smote the hie Priestes seruant, and cut off his right eare. Now the seruants name was Malchus.

11 Then saide Iesus vnto Peter, Put vp thy sword into the sheath: shall I not drinke of the cup which my Father hath giuen me?

12 Then the bande and the captaine, and the officers of the Iewes tooke Iesus, and bound him,

13 6 And led him away to * Annas first (for he was father in law to Caiaphas, which was the hie Priest that same yeere)

14 * And Caiaphas was he, that gaue counsel to the Iewes, that it was expedient that one man should die for the people.

15 ¶ 7 * Now Simon Peter followed Iesus, and another disciple, and that disciple was knowen of the hie Priest: therefore he went in with Iesus into the hall of the hie Priest:

16 But Peter stood at the doore without. Then went out the other disciple which was knowen vnto the hie Priest, and spake to her that kept the doore, and brought in Peter.

17 Then sayde the mayde that kept the doore, vnto Peter, Art not thou also one of this mans disciples? He said, I am not.

18 And the seruaunts and officers stoode there, which had made a fire of coles: for it was colde, and they warmed themselues. And Peter also stoode among them, and warmed himselfe.

19 ¶ (8 The hie Priest then asked Iesus of his disciples, and of his doctrine.

20 Iesus answered him, I spake openly to the worlde: I euer taught in the Synagogue and in the Temple, whither the Iewes resort continually, and in secret haue I said nothing.

21 Why askest thou me? aske them which heard me what I said vnto them: beholde, they know what I said.

22 When hee had spoken these things, one of the officers which stoode by, smote Iesus with his rodde, saying, Answerest thou the hie Priest so?

23 Iesus answered him, If I haue euill spoken, beare witnes of the euil: but if I haue well spoken, why smitest thou me?

24 ¶ * Nowe Annas had sent him bound vnto Caiaphas the hie Priest)

25 *9 And Simon Peter stoode and warmed himselfe, and they said vnto him, Art not thou also of his disciples? He denied it, and said, I am not.

26 One of the seruants of the hie Priest, his cousin whose eare Peter smote off, said, did not I see thee in the garden with him?

27 Peter then denied againe, and immediatly the cocke crewe.

28 ¶ * 10 Then led they Iesus from a Caiaphas into the common hal, Now it was morning, and they themselues went not into the common hall, least they should be * defiled, but that they might eate the Passeouer.

29 Pilate then went out vnto them, and said, What accusation bring yee against this man?

30 They answered, and saide vnto him, If he were not an euill doer, wee would not haue deliuered him vnto thee.

31 Then said Pilate vnto them, Take ye him, & iudge him after your own Lawe. Then the Iewes said vnto him, b It is not lawful for vs to put any man to death.

32 It was that the worde of Iesus * might be fulfilled which hee spake, c signifying what death he should die.

33 * So Pilate entred into the common hal againe, and called Iesus, and said vnto him, Art thou the King of Iewes?

34 Iesus answered him, Saiest thou that of thy selfe, or did other tell it thee of me?

35 Pilate answered, Am I a Iew? Thine owne nation, and the hie Priestes haue deliuered thee vnto me. What hast thou done?

36 11 Iesus answered, My kingdome is not of this world: if my kingdome were of this world, my seruants would surely fight, that I should not be deliuered to the Iewes: but now is my kingdome not from hence.

37 Pilate then saide vnto him, Art thou a King then? Iesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a King: for this cause am I borne, & for this cause came I into the world, that I should beare witnes vnto the trueth: euery one that is of the trueth heareth my voyce.

38 12 Pilat said vnto him, d What is trueth? And when he had said that, he went out againe vnto the Iewes, and said vnto them, I finde in him no cause at all.

39 * But you haue a custome, that I should deliuer you one loose at the Passeouer: will ye then that I loose vnto you the King of the Iewes?

40 * Then e cried they all againe, saying, Not him, but Barabbas: now this Barabbas was a murtherer.

of the flesh, chuseth of two euils the least, but God curseth that same wise done.

2 And the ſouldiers platted a crowne of thornes, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple garment,

3 And ſaid, Haile, King of the Iewes. And they ſmote him with their rods.

2 Chriſt is againe quitted by that ſame mouth wherewith he is afterward condemned.

4 [2] Then Pilate went foorth againe, and ſaid vnto them, Beholde, I bring him foorth to you, that ye may know, that I finde no fault in him at all.

5 Then came Ieſus foorth wearing a crowne of thornes, and a purple garment. And Pilate ſaid vnto them, Beholde the man.

6 Then when the hie Prieſtes and officers ſawe him, they cried, ſaying, [a] Crucifie, crucifie him. Pilate ſaid vnto them, Take ye him and crucifie him: for I finde no fault in him.

a They will haue him crucified, whom by an olde cuſtome of theirs, they ſhold haue ſtoned and hanged vp as conuict of blaſphemie: but they deſire to haue him crucified after the maner of the Romanes.

7 The Iewes anſwered him, Wee haue a lawe, and by our lawe hee ought to die, becauſe he made himſelfe the Sonne of God.

8 ¶ [3] When Pilate then heard that word, he was the more afraide, b Pilates conſcience fighteth for Chriſt, but beeing ouerwayed it periſheth, becauſe it is not vpholden with the ſtrengthe vertue of God.

9 And went againe into the common hall, and ſaid vnto Ieſus, Whence art thou? But Ieſus gaue him none anſwere.

10 Then ſaid Pilate vnto him, Speakeſt thou not vnto mee? Knoweſt thou not that I haue power to crucifie thee, and haue power to looſe thee?

11 Ieſus anſwered, Thou couldeſt haue no power at all againſt mee, except it were giuen thee from aboue: therefore he that deliuered me vnto thee, hath the greater ſinne.

12 From thence foorth Pilate ſought to looſe him, but the Iewes cried, ſaying, If thou deliuer him, thou art not Ceſars friend: for whoſoeuer maketh himſelfe a King, ſpeaketh againſt Ceſar.

4 Pilate condemneth himſelfe firſt, with the ſame mouth wherewith he afterward condemneth Chriſt.

13 ¶ [4] When Pilate heard this word, hee brought Ieſus foorth, and ſate downe in the iudgement ſeate in a place called the Pauement, and in Hebrew, [b] Gabbatha.

b Gabbatha ſignifieth an high place, as iudgement ſeates are.

14 And it was the preparation of the Paſſeouer, and about the ſixt houre: and he ſaid vnto the Iewes, Behold your King.

15 But they cried, Away with him, away with him, crucifie him. Pilate ſaid vnto them, Shal I crucifie your King? The high Prieſts anſwered, We haue no King but Ceſar.

5 Chriſt taſteth Satan, ſinne and death to the croſſe.

16 [5] Then deliuered he him vnto them, to be crucified. *And they tooke Ieſus, and ledde him away.

*Matt. 27.31. mar. 15.25. luke 23.26.

17 And he bare his owne croſſe, and came into a place named of dead mens Skulles, which is called in Hebrew, Golgotha:

6 Chriſt ſitting vpon the throne of the croſſe, is openly written euerlaſting king of all people, both his owne hand, whoſe meaning condemneth him for diuerſing a kingdome.

18 Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either ſide one, and Ieſus in the middes.

19 ¶ [6] And Pilate wrote alſo a title, and put it on the croſſe, & it was written, IESVS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE IEWES.

20 This title then read many of the Iewes: for the place where Ieſus was crucified, was neere to the citie: and it was written in Hebrew, Greeke and Latine.

21 Then ſaid the hie Prieſts of the Iewes to Pilate, Write not, The king of the Iewes, but that he ſaid, I am king of the Iewes.

22 Pilate anſwered, What I haue written, I haue written.

7 Chriſt ſignifieth by the diuiſion of his garments amongſt the bloodie bowchers, (his coate excepte, that had no ſeame) that it ſhall come to paſſe, that he ſhal ſhortly diuide his benefits, and enrich his derely members throughout the world, but ſhall not withſtanding that the treaſure of his Church ſhall remaine whole.

23 ¶ [7] Then the * ſouldiers, when they had crucified Ieſus, tooke his garments (and made foure parts, to euery ſouldier a part) and his coate: and the coate was without ſeame wouen from the top throughout.

*Matt. 27.35. mar. 15.24.

24 Therefore they ſayde one to another, Let vs not deuide it, but caſt lots for it, whoſe it ſhall be. This was that the Scripture might bee fulfilled, which ſayeth, * They parted my garments among them, and on my coate did caſt lots. So the ſouldiers did theſe things indeede.

26 And when Ieſus ſawe his mother, and the Diſciple ſtanding by, whome he loued, hee ſaide vnto his mother, Woman, beholde thy Sonne.

27 Then ſaid he to the diſciple, Behold, thy mother: and from that houre, the diſciple tooke her home.

9 Chriſt when he hath taſted the vineger, perdeth by the ghoſt drinking vp in deede that moſt bitter and ſharpe cuppe of his Fathers wrath in our name.

*Pſal. 69.22.

28 ¶ [9] After, when Ieſus knewe that all things were perfourmed, that the * Scripture might be fulfilled, he ſaid, I thirſt.

c Galatinus witneſſeth out of the booke called Sanhedrim, that the Iewes were wont to giue them that were executed, vineger mixed with franckincenſe to drinke, to make their braines ſomewhat troubled: ſo charitably the Iewes prouided for the poore mens conſciences, which were executed.

29 And there was ſet a [c] veſſel full of vineger: and they filled a ſponge with vineger: and put it about an Hyſope ſtalke, and put it to his mouth.

10 The body of Chriſt which was dead for a ſeaſon (becauſe it ſo pleaſed him) is wounded, but the leaſt bone of it is not broken: and ſuch is the ſtate of his myſticall body.

30 Nowe when Ieſus had receiued of the vineger, he ſaide, It is finiſhed, and bowed his head, and gaue vp the ghoſt.

31 [10] The Iewes then (becauſe it was the Preparation, that the bodies ſhould not remaine vpon the croſſe on the Sabbath day: for that Sabbath was an hie day) beſought Pilate that their legges might bee broken, and that they might be taken downe.

11 Chriſt being dead vpon the croſſe, witneſſeth by a double ſigne, that he onely is the true ſatiſfaction, and the true waſhing for the beleeuers.

32 Then came the ſouldiers and brake the legges of the firſt, and of the other which was crucified with Ieſus.

33 But when they came to Ieſus, and ſaw that hee was dead already, they brake not his legges.

34 [11] But one of the ſouldiers with a ſpeare [d] pearced his ſide, and foorthwith came there out blood and water.

d This wound was a moſt manifeſt witnes of the death of Chriſt: for the water that iſſued out by his wound, gaue vs plainely to vnderſtand, that the weapon pearced the very skinne that compaſſeth the heart, which is the veſſel that conteineth that water, and that being once wounded, that creature which is ſo pearced, and ſtriken, cannot chuſe but die.

35 And he that saw it, bare record, and his record is true: & he knoweth that he saith true, that ye might beleeue it.

36 For these things were done, that the Scripture should be fulfilled, *Not a bone of him shalbe broken.

37 And againe another Scripture saieth, *They shall see him whom they haue thrust through.

38 *[12] And after these things, Ioseph of Arimathea (who was a disciple of Iesus, but secretly for feare of the Iewes) besought Pilate that hee might take downe the body of Iesus. And Pilate gaue him licence. He came therefore and tooke Iesus body.

39 And there came * also Nicodemus (which first came to Iesus by night) & brought of myrrhe and aloes mingled together about an hundreth pound.

40 Then tooke they the body of Iesus, and wrapped it in linnen clothes with the odours, as the maner of the Iewes is to burie.

41 And in that place where Iesus was crucified, was a garden, and in the garden a new sepulchre, wherein was [e] neuer man yet laied.

42 There then laid they Iesus, because of the Iewes Preparation day, for the sepulchre was neere.

NOwe *[1] the first day of the weeke came Mary Magdalene, earely when it was yet darke, vnto the sepulchre, and saw the stone taken away from the tombe.

2 Then she ran, and came to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple whom Iesus loued, & sayd vnto them, They haue taken away the Lord out of the sepulchre, and we know not where they haue laied him.

3 Peter therefore went forth, & the other disciple, and they came vnto the sepulchre.

4 So they ran both together, but the other disciple did outrun Peter, and came first to the sepulchre.

5 And he stouped downe, and saw the linnen clothes lying: yet went he not in.

6 Then came Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulchre, and sawe the linnen clothes lie,

8 Then went in also the other disciple, which came first to the sepulchre, and he saw it, and beleeued.

14 [3] When she had thus said, she turned her selfe backe, and saw Iesus standing, and knew not that it was Iesus.

15 Iesus saieth vnto her, Woman, why weepest thou? whom seekest thou? She supposing that he had bene the gardiner, sayd vnto him, Sir, if thou hast borne him hence tell me where thou hast laied him, and I will take him away.

16 Iesus saieth vnto her, Mary. She turned her selfe, & said vnto him, Rabboni, which is to say, Master.

17 [4] Iesus saith vnto her, Touch me not: for I am not yet ascended to my Father: but goe to my brethren, & say vnto them, I ascend vnto [e] my Father, and to your Father, & to my God, and your God.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Iesus appeareth to his disciples as they were a fishing. 6. 7 whom they knowe by a miraculous draught of fishes. 15 He committeth the charge of the sheepe to Peter, 18 and foretelleth him of the maner of his death.

1 In that, that Christ here is not onely present, but also eateth with his disciples, he giueth a most full assurance of his resurrection.

AFter these things, [1] Iesus shewed himselfe againe to his disciples at the sea of Tiberias: and thus shewed he himselfe.

2 There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas, which is called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galile, and the sonnes of Zebedeus, and two other of his disciples.

3 Simon Peter sayd vnto them, I goe a fishing. They sayd vnto him, We also will go with thee. They went their way and entered into a ship straightway, and that night caught they nothing.

4 But when the morning was now come, Iesus stood on the shore: neuertheles the disciples knew not that it was Iesus.

5 Iesus then said vnto them, Syrs, haue ye any meate? They answered him, No.

6 Then he sayd vnto them, Cast out the net on the right side of the ship, and ye shal find. So they cast out, and they were not able at all to draw it, for the multitude of fishes.

7 Therefore said the disciple whom Iesus loued, vnto Peter, It is the Lord. When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he girded his [a] coate to him (for he was naked) & cast himselfe into the sea.

a It was a linnen garment, which could not let his swimming.

8 But the other disciples came by shippe (for they were not farre from land, but about two hundreth cubites) and they drewe the net with fishes.

9 Assoone then as they were come to land, they saw hote coales, and fish laid thereon, and bread.

10 Iesus sayd vnto them, Bring of the fishes which ye haue now caught.

11 Simon Peter stepped foorth and drew the net to land, ful of great fishes, an hundreth, fiftie and three: and albeit there were so many, yet was not the net broken.

12 Iesus sayd vnto them, Come, & dine. And none of the disciples durst aske him, Who art thou? seeing they knew that hee was the Lord.

13 Iesus then came and tooke bread and gaue them, and fish likewise.

14 This is now the third time that Iesus shewed himselfe to his disciples, after that hee was risen againe from the dead.

15 ¶ [2] So when they had dined, Iesus sayd to Simon Peter, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou me more then these? He sayd vnto him, Yea Lord, thou knowest that I loue thee. He said vnto him, Feed my lambes.

2 Peter by his triple confession is restored into his former degree frō whence he fell by his triple denialle and there withall is admonished, that he is in deed a pastour, which sheweth his loue to Christ, in feeding his sheepe.

16 Hee said to him againe the second time, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou mee? Hee sayd vnto him, Yea Lorde, thou knowest that I loue thee, He sayd vnto him, Feede my sheepe.

17 He sayd vnto him the [b] third time, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou me? Peter was sorry because he sayd to him the third time, Louest thou me? and sayd vnto him, Lord, thou knowest all things: thou knowest that I loue thee, Iesus sayd vnto him, feed my sheepe.

b It was meet that he that had denied him thrise, should confesse him thrise, that Peter might neither doubt of the forgiuenesse of his so grieuous a sinne, nor of his restoring to the office of the Apostleship.

3 The violent death of Peter is foretold.

18 [3] Verely, verely I say vnto thee, When thou wast yong, thou [c] girdedst thy selfe, & walkedst whither thou wouldest: but when thou shalt be old, thou shalt stretch forth thine hands and another shal [d] gird thee, and lead thee whither thou wouldest [e] not.

c They that tooke farre iourneis, especially in the East countrey and in those places where the people vsed long garments, had need to be girded and tucked vp.

d He meant that kind of girding which is vsed toward captiues, when they are bound fast with cords & chaines, as who would say, Now thou girdest thy selfe as thou thinkest best, to goe whither thou listest, but the time will be, when thou shalt not gird thee with a girdle, but another shall binde thee with chaines, and cary thee whither thou wouldest not. e Not that Peter suffred ought for the trueth of God against his will. for we read that he came with ioy and gladnesse when he returned from the Councill where he was whipped, but because this will commeth not from the flesh, but from that gift of the Spirite which is giuen us from aboue, therefore he sheweth there should be a certaine striuing and conflict or repugnancie, which also is in vs, in all our sufferances as touching the flesh. f That is, that Peter should die by a violent death. 4 We must take heed, that whiles we cast our eies vpon other, we neglect not that which is enioined vs. *Chap. 13. 35. 5 The history of Christ is true and warily written not for the curiositie of men, but for the saluation of the godly. *Chap. 23. 30.

19 And this spake he signifying by [f] what death he should glorifie God, And when he had sayd this, he sayd to him, Folow me.

20 [4] Then Peter turned about, and sawe the disciple whome Iesus loued, following, which had also * leaned on his brest at supper, and had said, Lorde, which is hee that betraieth thee?

21 When Peter therfore saw him, he said to Iesus, Lord, what shall this man doe?

22 Jesus said vnto him, If I will that hee tarie till I come, what is it to thee? folow thou me.

23 Then went this worde abroad among the brethren, that this disciple should not die. Yet Jesus said not to him, He shal not die: but if I will that he tarie till I come, what is it to thee?

24 [5] This is that disciple, which testifieth of these things, and wrote these things, and we know that his testimonie is true.

25 * Nowe there are also many other things which Jesus did, ꝑ which if they should be writte euery one, I suppose the world could not conteine the bookes that should be written, Amen.

THE [1] former treatise, O Theophilus, haue made of all that Jesus began to [a] doe and teach,

2 Untill the day that hee was taken vp, after that he through the holy Ghost, had giuen commaundements vnto the Apostles, whom he had chosen:

3 [2] To whom also he presented himselfe aliue after that hee had suffered, by many [b] infallible tokens, being seene of them by the space of fourtie dayes, and speaking of those things which appertaine to the kingdom of God.

4 * And when he had [c] gathered them together, he commaunded them that they should not depart from Hierusalem, but to waite for the promise of the Father, *which said he, yee haue heard of me.

5 * For John in deed baptized with water, but ye shalbe baptized [d] with the holy Ghost within these few dayes.

6 [3] When they therfore were come together, they asked of him, saying, Lord, wilt thou at his time [e] restore the kingdom to Israel?

7 And he said vnto them, It is not for you to know the times, or the [f] seasons, which the father hath put in his owne power,

8 * But ye shal receiue power of the holy Ghost, when he shal come on you: and yee shall be witnesses vnto me both in Hierusalem and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and vnto the vtmost part of the earth.

9 *[4] And when he had spoken these things, while they beheld, he was taken vp: for a cloud tooke him vp out of their sight.

10 And while they looked stedfastly toward heauē, as he went, behold, two men stood by them in white apparell, 11 Which also sayde, Yee men of Galile, why stand ye gazing into heauen? This Jesus which is taken vp [g] from you into heauen, shall so come, as yee haue seene him goe into heauen.

12 ¶ Then returned they vnto Hierusalem from the mount that is called the mount of Olives, which is nere to Hierusalem, being from it a Sabbath [h] dayes iourney.

13 [5] And when they were [i] come in, they went vp into an vpper chamber, where abode both Peter and James, and John, & Andrew, Philip, and Thomas, Bartlemew, and Matthew, James the sonne of Alpheus, and Simon Zelotes, and Judas James brother.

14 These all [k] continued with [l] one accord in [m] prayer and supplication with the [n] women, and Marie the mother of Jesus, and with his [o] brethren.

15 ¶ [6] And in those dayes Peter stoode vp in the middes of the disciples, and sayde (nowe the number of [p] names that were in one place were about an hundreth and twentie.)

16 [7] Ye men and brethren, this Scripture must needs haue bene fulfilled, which the *holy Ghost by the mouth of Dauid spake before of Judas, which was *guide to them that took Jesus.

17 For he was numbred with vs, and had obtained fellowship in this ministration.

1 A peculiar matter from the history of the Gospel, that is, from the history of the doings and doctrine of Christ, and the acts of the Apostles.

a The acts of Jesus are the miracles & doings which shewed his Godhead, and his most perfite holinesse and examples of his doctrine.

2 Christ did not straightwayes ascend into heauen after his resurrection, because he would thoroughly proue his resurrection, & with his presence confirme his Apostles in the doctrine, which they had learn.

b He calleth those infallible tokens, which are otherwise termed necessary now in that, that Christ spake, and walked, and eate, and was left of many, these are sure signes & tokens that he truly rose againe.

*Luke 24. 49.

c They were dispersed here and there, but he gathereth them together that they might altogether be witnesses of his resurrection. *John 14. 25. Matth. 3. 11. mar. 1. 8. luke 3. 16. chap. 2. 2, & 11. 16. and 19. 4.

5 Ecclesiastical assemblies to heare the word, and to make common prayers were first instituted and kept in priuate houses by the Apostles.

i They went into the house, which the Church had chosen at that time to be a receit for the whole assemblie.

k The Greeke word signifieth an inuincible constancie, and steadinesse.

l It is to good purpose, that this concord is mentioned: for those prayers are most accepsable to God, which are made with agreeing mindes and wils. m The disciples prayed for the sending of the holy Ghost, and also to be delivered from present dangers wherewith they were beset. n For it was behoouable to haue the wiues confirmed, who were afterward to be partakers of the dangers with their husbands. o With his kinsfolkes. 6 Peter is made the mouth and interpreter of the whole company of the Apostles, either by secret reuelation of the holy Ghost, or by expresse iudgement of the congregation. p Because men are commonly billed and enrolled by their names. 7 Peter preuenteth the offence that might be taken at the falling away of Judas the betrayer, shewing that all things which came to him, were foretold by God. *Psalme 41. 9. *John 13. 27.

CHAP. II.

1 The Apoſtles 4 Filled with the holy Ghoſt 8 ſpeake with diuers tongues: 12 They are thought to be drunke, 15 but Peter diſprooueth that: 34 He teacheth that Chriſt is the Meſſias: 37 And ſeeing the hearers aſtonied, 38 he exhorteth them to repentance.

AND a when the day of Pentecoſt was b come, they were c all with one accord in in one place.

a The Apoſtles being gathered together on a moſt ſolemne feaſt day in one place, that it might euidently appeare to all worlds, that they had all one office, one Spirite, one faith, are by a double ſigne from heauen authoriſed, and anointed with all the moſt excellent gifts of the holy Ghoſt, and eſpecially with an extraordinarie and neceſſarie gift of tongues.

a Word for word, was fulfilled: that is, was begun, as Luke 2.21. For the Hebrewes ſay, that a day, or a yere is fulfilled or ended, when the former dayes or yeeres are ended, and the other begun, Gene. 25.12. And it ſhall come to paſſe, that when ſeuentie yeres are fulfilled, I will viſite, &c. For the Lord did not bring home his people, after the ſeuentieth yere was fulfilled but in the ſeuentieth yere: Now the day of Pentecoſt, was the fiftieth day after the feaſt of the Paſſeouer.

b The twelue Apoſtles, which were to be the Patriarkes of the Church.

2 And ſuddenly there came a ſound from heauen, as of a ruſhing and mightie winde, and it filled all the houſe where they ſate.

3 And there appeared vnto them clouen tongues, like fire, and it ſate vpon eche of them.

4 And they were all filled with the holy Ghoſt, & began to ſpeake with d other tongues, as the e Spirit gaue them vtterance.

5 And there were dwelling at Hieruſalem Iewes, men that feared God, of euery nation vnder heauen.

6 Now when this was noiſed, the multitude came together & were aſtonied, becauſe that euery man heard them ſpeake his owne language.

7 And they wondered all, and marueiled, ſaying, among themſelues, Behold, are not all theſe which ſpeake, of Galile?

8 f How then heare wee euery man our owne language, wherein we were borne?

9 Parthians and Medes, and Elamites, and the inhabitants of Meſopotamia, and of Iudea, & of Cappadocia, of Pontus, and Aſia.

10 And of Phrygia, and Pamphilia, of Egypt, and of the parts of Lybia, which is beſide Cyrene, and ſtrangers of Rome, and g Iewes, and Proſelites, 11 Creetes, and Arabians: we heard them ſpeake in our owne tongues the woonderfull workes of God.

12 h They were all then amazed, & doubted, ſaying, one to another, What may this be?

13 And others ſmocked, and ſayd, They are full of new wine.

14 ¶ But Peter ſtanding with the Eleuen, i lift vp his voyce, and ſaid vnto them, Ye men of Iudea, & ye all that inhabite Hieruſalem, be this knowen vnto you, and hearken vnto my woords.

15 For theſe are not drunken, as yee ſuppoſe, ſince it is but the k third houre of the day.

16 But this is that, which was ſpoken by the l prophet *Ioel, 17 m And it ſhall be in the laſt dayes, ſaieth God, I will powre out of my ſpirite vpon n all o flesh, and your ſonnes, & your daughters ſhall prophesie, and our yong men ſhall ſee viſions, and your old men ſhal dreame dreames.

18 And on my ſeruants, and on mine handmaids I will powre out of my ſpirite in thoſe dayes, and they ſhall prophesie.

19 And I wil ſhew wonders in heauen aboue, and tokens in the earth beneath, blood, and fire, and the vapours of ſmoke.

c He calleth them other tongues, which were not the ſame which the Apoſtles vſed commonly, and Marke calleth them new tongues.

d Hereby we vnderſtand, that the Apoſtles vſed not now one tongue, and then another by haphazard at all aduenture, or as fantaſticall men vſe to do, but with good conſideration of their hearers: and to be ſhort, that they ſpake nothing, but as the holy Ghoſt gouerned their tongues.

e Not that they ſpake without voyce, and many languages were heard, but that Apoſtles ſpake with ſtrange tongues: for ells the miracle had rather bin in the hearers, whereas now it is in the ſpeakers, Nazian. in his oration of Whitſunday.

f By Iewes, he meaneth them that were both Iewes by birth, and Iewes by profeſſion of religion though they were borne in other places: and they were Proſelites, which were Gentiles borne, & imbraced the Iewiſh religion.

g Gods worde pierceth ſome ſo, that it driueth them to ſeeke out the trueth, and it doeth ſo chooſe other, that it ſuppreſſeth them to be witneſſes of their owne impudencie.

h The word which he vſeth here, ſignifieth ſuch a kind of mocking which is reprochfull & contumelious: And by this reprochfull mocking we ſee, that there is no miracle ſo great and excellent, which the wickednes of man dareth not ſpeake euil off.

i Peter his holines is to be marked, wherein the grace of the holy Ghoſt is to be ſeene, euen ſtraight after the beginning.

k After the ſunne riſing, which may be about ſeuen or eight of the clocke with vs.

l There is nothing that can diſſolue queſtions and doubts, but teſtimonie taken out of the Prophets: for euen reaſons may be ouerturned, but Gods voyce cannot be ouerturned. *Ioel 2.28. etc. 24.3.

m Peter ſetting the trueth of God againſt the falſe accuſations of men, ſheweth in himſelfe and in his fellowes, that is fulfilled which Ioel ſpake before concerning the full giuing of the holy Ghoſt in the latter dayes: which grace alſo is offered to the whole Church, to their certaine and vndoubted deſtruction, which doe contemne it.

n All without exception, both vpon the Iewes and Gentiles.

o That is, men.

20 The Sunne shall be turned into darkenes, & the Moone into blood, before that great and terrible day of the Lord come.

21 [4] And it shall bee, that whosoeuer shall [n] call on the Name of the Lorde, shall bee saued.

22 [5] Ye men of Israel, heare these words, Iesus of Nazareth, a man [o] approued of God among you with great woorkes and wonders, and signes, which God did by him in the middes of you, as yee your selues also know:

23 Him, I say, being deliuered by the determinate counsell, and [p] foreknowledge of God, after you had taken with wicked [q] handes, you haue crucified and [r] slaine.

24 [6] Whom God hath raised vp, and loosed the [s] sorowes of death, because it was vnpossible that he should be holden of it.

25 For Dauid saieth concerning him, *I beheld the Lorde alwayes before me: for hee is at my right hand, that I should not bee shaken.

26 Therefore did mine heart reioyce, and my tongue was glad, and moreouer also my flesh shall rest in hope, 27 Because thou wilt not [t] leaue my soule in graue, neither wilt suffer thine Holy one to see corruption.

28 Thou hast [u] shewed mee the wayes of life, & shalt make me full of ioy with thy countenance.

29 Men & brethren, I may boldly speake vnto you of the Patriarke Dauid, *that hee is both dead and buried, and his sepulchre remaineth with vs vnto this day.

30 Therefore, seeing hee was a Prophet, and knew that God had *[x] sworne with an othe to him, that of the fruite of his loines he would raise vp Christ concerning the flesh, to set him vpon his throne, 31 Hee knowing this before, spake of the resurrection of Christ, that * his soule should not be left in graue, neither his flesh should see corruption.

32 [7] This Iesus hath God raised vp, whereof we all are witnesses.

33 Since then that hee by the [y] right hand of God hath bene exalted, and hath receiued of his Father the promise of the holy Ghost, hee hath shed forth this which yee now see and heare.

34 For Dauid is not ascended into heauen, but he saith, *The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, 35 Until I make thine enemies thy footstoole.

36 Therefore, let all the house of Israel know for a surety, that God hath [z] made him both Lord and Christ, this Iesus, I say, whom ye haue crucified.

37 Nowe when they heard it, they were pricked in their hearts, & sayd vnto Peter and the other Apostles, Men and brethren, what shall we doe?

38 [8] Then Peter sayd vnto them, Amend your liues, and be baptized euery one of you in the Name of Iesus Christ for the remission of sinnes: and ye shall receiue the gift of the holy Ghost.

39 For the [a] promise is made vnto you, and to your children, and to all that are a farre off, euen as many as the Lord our God shal call.

40 [9] And with many other wordes hee besought and exhorted them, saying, Saue your selues from this froward generation.

41 [10] Then they that gladly receiued his worde, were baptized: and the same day there were added to the Church about three thousand soules.

42 [11] And they continued in the Apostles doctrine, & [b] felowship, and [c] breaking of bread, and prayers.

43 ¶ [12] And feare came vpon euery soule, and many wonders and signs were done by the Apostles.

44 [13] And all that beleeued, were in one place, and had all things common.

45 And they sold their possessions & goods, and parted them to all men, as euery one had need.

46 [14] And they continued daily with one accord in the Temple, and breaking bread at home, did eate their meate together with gladnesse and singlenesse of heart, 47 Praysing God, and had fauour with all the people: and the Lord added to the Church from day to day, such as should be saued.

4 The chiefest gift of all the gifts of the holy Ghost is to bring men to saluation by faith.

n This word, Call on, signifieth in holy Scriptures, an earnest praying and crauing for helpe at Gods hand.

5 Christ being innocent, was by Gods prouidence crucified of wicked men.

o Who is by those works which God wrought by him, so manifestly approued and allowed of, that no man can gainsay him.

p Gods euerlasting knowledge going before, which can neither be seperated from his determinate counsell, as the Epicures say, neither yet be the cause of euil: for God in his euerlasting and vnchangeable counsell, appointed the wicked act of Iudas to an excellent end: and God doeth that well, which the instruments do ill.

q Gods counsel doth not excuse the Iewes, whose hands were wicked.

r The fact is sayd to be theirs, by whose counsel and egging forward it is done.

6 Christ (as Dauid foretold) did not onely rise againe, but also was in the graue days of all corruption.

s The death that was full of sorow both of body and mind: therefore when death appeared conqueror and victour ouer those sorowes, Christ rightly sayd to haue ouercome those sorowes of death, when as being dead, he ouercame death, to liue for euer with his Father. *Psal. 16.9. t Thou wilt not suffer me to remaine in graue. u Thou hast opened me the way to the true life. *1. King. 2.10. chap. 13.36. *Psal. 132.11. x Had sworne solemnly. *Psal. 16.10. chap. 13.35. 7 Peter witnesseth that Iesus Christ is the appointed euerlasting king, which he proueth manifestly by the gifts of the holy Ghost and the testimonie of Dauid. y Might and power of God. *Psal. 110.1.

z Christ is sayd to be made, because he was aduanced to that dignitie: & therefore it is not spoken of his nature, but of his state and high dignitie.

8 Repentance and remission of sinnes in Christ, are two principles of the Gospel, and therefore of our saluation: and they are obtained by the promises apprehended by faith, and are ratified in vs by Baptisme, wherewith is ioined the vertue of the holy Ghost.

a The word that is vsed here, giueth vs to vnderstand that it was a free gift.

9 He is truely ioyned to the Church, which seperateth himselfe from the wicked.

10 A notable example of the vertue of the holy Ghost: but such as are of age, are not baptized, before they make confession of their faith.

11 The marks of a true Church are the doctrine of the Apostles, the duties of charitie, the pure and simple administration of the Sacraments, and true inuocation with all the faithful.

b Communicating of goods, & all other duties of charitie, as is shewed afterward.

c The Iewes vsed thin loaues, and therfore they did rather breake them then cut them: So by breaking of bread, they vnderstood that liuing together, and the banquets which they vsed to keepe. And when they kept their loue feasts, they vsed to celebrate the Lords Supper, which euen in these dayes began to bee corrupted, and Paul amendeth it, 1. Cor. 11. 12 So oft as the Lord thinketh it expedient, he diuideth the rage of strangers, that the Church may be planted, and haue some refreshing. 13 Charitie maketh all things common concerning the vse, according as necessitie requireth. 14 The faithfull came together at the beginning with great fruit, not onely to the hearing of the word, but also to prayer.

CHAP. III.

1 Peter going into the Temple with Iohn, 2 healeth the creeple. 9 To the people gathered together to see the miracle, 12 he expoundeth the mysterie of our saluation through Christ, 14 accusing their ingratitude, 19 & requiring their repentance.

NOwe [1] Peter and Iohn went vp together into the Temple, at the ninth houre of prayer.

1 Christ in healing a man that was borne lame, and well knowen to all men, both in place and time very famous, by the handes of his Apostles, doth yet more confirme them which beleeued, and partly allureth others to beleeue.

2 And

2 And a certaine man which was a creeple from his mothers wombe, was carried, whom they laied dayly at the gate of the Temple called Beautifull, to aske almes of them that entred into the Temple.

3 Who seeing Peter and Iohn, that they would enter into the Temple, desired to receiue an almes.

4 And Peter earnestly beholding him with Iohn, said, Looke on vs.

5 And he [a] gaue heed vnto them, trusting to receiue some thing of them.

6 Then said Peter, Siluer & gold haue I none, but such as I haue, ý giue I thee: In the Name of Iesus Christ of Nazareth, rise vp and walke.

7 And he tooke him by the right hand, and lift him vp, and immediatly his feete and ankle bones receiued strength.

8 And he leaped vp, stood, and walked, and entered with them into the Temple, walking and leaping, and praysing God.

9 And all the people saw him walke, and praysing God.

10 And they knew him, ý it was he which sate for the almes at the Beautifull gate of the Temple: and they were amased, and sore astonied at that, which was come vnto him.

11 ¶ And as the creeple which was healed, [b] held Peter and Iohn, all the people ran amased vnto them in the porch which is called Salomons.

12 [1] So when Peter sawe it, he answered vnto the people, Yee men of Israel, why marueile ye at this? or why looke ye so stedfastly on vs, as though by our owne power or godlinesse, we had made this man goe?

13 The God of Abraham, and Isaac, & Iacob, the * God of our fathers hath glorified his Sonne Iesus, whom yee betraied, and denied in the presence of Pilate, when he had iudged him to be deliuered.

14 But ye denied the Holy one & the Iust, and desired a murtherer to be giuen you, 15 And killed the Lord [c] of life, whom God hath raised from the dead, whereof we are witnesses.

16 And his Name hath made this man sound, whom yee see and know, through faith in his Name: [d] and the faith which is by him, hath giuē to him this perfite health of his whole body in the presence of you all.

17 [3] And now brethren, I know ý through ignorance yee did it, as did also your gouernours.

18 But those things which God before had shewed [e] by the mouth of all his Prophets, that Christ should suffer, hee hath thus fulfilled.

19 Amend your liues therefore, and turne, that your sinnes may bee put away, when the time of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord.

20 And he shall send Iesus Christ, which before was preached vnto you, 21 [f] Whom the heauen must containe vntill the time that all things be restored, which God had spoken by the mouth of all his holy Prophets since the world began.

22 * For Moses said vnto the fathers, The Lord your God shal raise vp vnto you [g] a Prophet, euen of your brethren, like vnto mee: yee shall heare him in all things, whatsoeuer hee shall say vnto you.

23 For it shall be that euery person which shall not heare that Prophet, shall be destroyed out of the people.

24 Also all the Prophets [h] from Samuel, and thence forth as many as haue spoken, haue likewise foretold of these dayes.

25 [4] Ye are the [i] children of the Prophets, and of the couenant, which God hath made vnto our fathers, saying to Abraham, * Euen in thy seede shall all the kinreds of the earth bee blessed.

26 First vnto you hath God [k] raised vp his Sonne Iesus, and him hee hath sent to blesse you, in turning euery one of you from your iniquities.

4 Howbeit, many of them which heard the word, beleeued, & the [b] number of the men was about fiue thousand.

5 ¶ And it came to passe on the morrow, that their [c] rulers and Elders, and Scribes, were gathered together at Hierusalem,

6 And Annas the chiefe Priest, and Caiaphas, and Iohn, and Alexander, and as many as were of the [d] kinred of the hie Priests.

1 Some are commonly more diligent or bolder enemies of the church, then such as professe themselues to be brainbursters: but the more they rage, the more constantly the faithfull seruants of God doe continue.
a The Iewes had certaine garisons for the gard and safetie of the Temple and holy things, Matth. 26.65. These garisons had a Captaine, such as Eleazarus Ananias the hie Priests sonne was in the time of the warre that was in Iudea, being a very impudent and proud yong man, Iosephus lib. 2. of the taking of Iudea. b While they thought to diminish the number, they increased them. c These were they that made the Sanhedrim, which were all of the tribe of Iuda, vntill Herod vsed that cruelty against Dauids stocke. d Of whome the high Priestes were woont to bee chosen and made, the execution of the yeerely office being nowe changed. 2 Against such as brag of a succession of persons, without a succession of doctrine, and by that meanes deface the true ministers of the worde, so farre forth as they are able.

g There is no other man, or no other power and authoritie whatsoeuer: which kind of speech being vsuall among the Iewes, rose vpon this, that when we are in danger, we call vpon them at whose hands we looke for helpe, h Any where: and this serueth forth vnto vs the largenesse of Christes kingdome, i The good likerie and boldnesse of the seruants of God hath yet thus much good, that such as lay bin vnder a bizarde of feare, doe at length beer ay themselues to be vnderte wicked men.

i The word vsed here, is, Idiot, which being spoken in comparison had to a Magistrate betoketh a priuate man: but when we speake of science and studie, it signifieth one that is vnlearned: and in account of honour and estimation, it importeth one of base degree, and no estimation.

k Laide their heads together.

l He that flattereth himself in ignorance, commeth at length to doe open wickednesse, and that against his own conscience. 7 Wee must so obey men to whome we are subiect that especially we beware all things we obey God. 8 So farre off are the wicked from doing hurt, they liff, that contrariwise God vseth euen that to the setting forth of his glory, which he giueth them leaue to doe.

e Name haue ye done this?

8 Then Peter full of the holy Ghost, said vnto them, Ye Rulers of the people, and Elders of Israel,

9 [3] For as much as wee this day are examined of the good deede done to the impotent man, to wit, by what meanes hee is made whole,

10 [4] Be it knowen vnto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the Name of IESVS CHRIST of Nazareth, whome yee haue crucified, whom God raised againe from the dead, euen by him doeth this man stande here before you, whole.

11 * This is the stone cast aside of you builders, which is become the head of the corner.

12 Neither is there saluation in any other: for among men there is [f] giuen none other [g] Name [h] vnder heauen, wherby we must be saued.

13 [5] Nowe when they sawe the boldnes of Peter and John, and vnderstoode that they were vnlearned men [i] without knowledge, they marueiled, and knew them, that they had bene with Iesus:

14 And beholding also the man which was healed standing with them, they had nothing to say against it.

15 Then they commanded them to goe aside out of the Councill, and [k] conferred among themselues, 16 [6] Saying, what shall wee doe to these men? for surely a manifest signe is done by them, and it is openly knowen to all them that dwell in Hierusalem: and we cannot deny it.

17 But that it be noised no farther among the people, let vs threaten and charge them, that they speake hencefoorth to no man in this Name.

18 So they called them, and commanded them, that in no wise they should speake or teach in the name of Iesus.

19 [7] But Peter and John answered vnto them, and said, Whether it be right in the sight of God, to obey you rather then God, iudge ye.

20 For we cannot but speake the things which we haue seene and heard.

21 [8] So they threatned them, and let them goe, and found nothing howe to punish them, because of the people: for all men praised God for that which was done.

22 For the man was about fourtie yeeres olde, on whome this miracle of healing was shewed.

23 [9] Then assoone as they were let goe, they came to their fellowes, and shewed all that the hie Priests and Elders had saide vnto them.

24 [10] And when they heard it, they lift vp their voyces to God with one accord, and said, O Lord, thou art the God which hast made the heauen, and the earth, the sea, and all things that are in them, 25 Which by the mouth of thy seruaunt Dauid hast saide, * Why did the Gentiles rage, and the people imagine vaine things?

26 The Kings of the earth assembled, and the Rulers came together against the Lorde, and against his Christ.

27 For doubtlesse, against thine holy sonne Iesus, whom thou hast anointed, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles and the [l] people of Israel gathered themselues together, 28 To [m] doe whatsoeuer [n] thine hand, and thy counsell had determined before to bee done.

29 And now O Lord, behold their threatnings, and graunt vnto thy seruants with all boldnesse to speake thy word, 30 So that thou stretche foorth thine hand, that healing, and signes, and wonders may be done by the Name of thy holy Sonne Iesus.

31 [11] And when they had prayed, the place was shaken where they were assembled together, and they were all filled with the holie Ghost, and they spake the worde of God boldly.

32 [12] And the multitude of them that beleeued, were of [o] one heart, and of one soule: neither any of them said, that any thing of that which he possessed, was his owne, but they had all things * common,

33 And with great power gaue the Apostles witnesse of the resurrection of the Lord Iesus: and great grace was vpon them all.

34 [13] Neither was there any among them, that lacked: for as many as were possessours of lands or houses, solde them, and brought the price of the things that were solde,

35 And laid it downe at the Apostles feet, and it was distributed vnto euery man, according as he had need.

36 Also Ioses which was called of the Apostles, Barnabas (that is by interpretation the sonne of consolation) being a Leuite, and of the countrey of Cyprus, 37 Where as he had land, solde it, [p] & brought the money, and laide it downe at the Apostles feete.

9 The Apostles communicate their troubles with the Congregation.

10 We ought neither to be afraide of the threatnings of our enemies, neither yet foolishly contemne their rage and madnesse against vs, but we haue to set against their force and malice, an earnest thinking vpon the power and good will of God (both which we doe manifestly beholde in Christ) and so flee to the ayde and succour of our Father.

* Psal. 2. 1.

l Although the people of Israel was but one people, yet the plurall number is here vsed, not so much for the twelue tribes, seuerie one of which made a people, as for the great multitude of them, as though many nations had assembled themselues together, as Iudg. 5. 14.

m The wicked execute Gods counsell, though they thinke nothing of it, but they are not therefore without fault.

n Thou hadst determined of thine absolute authoritie and power.

price, 5 falleth downe dead, 10 and likewise Sapphira his wife. 12 Through diuers the Apostles miracles, 14 the faith is increased. 17 The Apostles that were imprisoned. 16 are deliuered by an Angel, 26 and being before the Synode of the Priests, 36 Through Gamaliels counsell they are kept aliue, 40 and beaten: 41 They glorifie God.

1 Luke sheweth by contrary examples, howe great a sinne hypocrisie is, especially in them which vnder a false pretence and cloake of zeale would seeme to shine and be chiefe in the Church.

BUt [1] a certaine man named Ananias, with Sapphira his wife, solde a possession,

2 And [a] kept away part of the price, his wife also being of counsell, and brought a certaine part, and laide it downe at the Apostles feete.

3 Then saide Peter, Ananias, why hath Satan [b] filled thine heart, that thou shouldest [c] lie vnto the holy Ghost, and keepe away part of the price of this possession?

a Craftily tooke away.
b Fully possessed.
c For when they had appointed that farme or possession for the Church, they stuck not at it to keepe away a part of the price, as though they had had to doe with men, and not with God, and therefore he saith afterward that they tempted God.

4 Whiles it remained, appertained it not vnto thee? and after it was solde, was it not in thine owne power? howe is it that thou hast [d] conceiued this thing in thine heart? thou hast not lied vnto men, but vnto God.

d Hereby is declared an aduised and purposed deceite, and the fault of the man in admitting the deuils suggestions.

5 Now when Ananias heard these wordes, he fell downe, and gaue vp the ghost. Then great feare came on all them that hearde these things.

6 And the yong men rose vp, and took him vp, and caried him out, and buried him.

7 And it came to passe about the space of three houres after, that his wife came in, ignorant of that which was done.

8 And Peter said vnto her, Tell me, solde ye the land for so much? And she said, Yea, for so much.

9 Then Peter saide vnto her, Why haue ye agreed together, to [e] tempt the spirite of the Lord? behold, the feet of them which haue buried thine husband, are at the [f] doore, and shall carie thee out.

e Looke how oft men doe things with an euil conscience, so oft they pronounce sentence against themselues, and as much as in them lieth, prouoke God to anger, as of set purpose minding to trie whether he be iust and almightie or no.
f Are at hand.

10 Then she fel downe straightway at his feete, and yeelded vp the ghost: and the young men came in, and found her dead, and caried her out, and buried her by her husband.

2 The Lord by his maruelous vertue bindeth some, that they may not hurt the Church: other some he keepeth in his awe and feare: and other some he allureth vnto him.

11 [2] And great feare came on all the Church, & on as many as heard these thing.

12 Thus by the hands of the Apostles were many signes & wonders shewed among the people (and they were al with one accord in Solomons porch.

13 And of the other durst no man ioyne him selfe to them: neuertheless the people g magnified them.

g Highly praised them.

14 Also the number of them that beleeued in the Lorde, both of men and women, grewe more and more)

15 In so much that they brought the sicke into the streetes, and laide them on beds and couches, that at the least way the shadowe of Peter, when he came by, might shadowe some of them.

16 There came also a multitude out of the cities round about vnto Hierusalem, bringing sicke folkes, and them which were vexed with vncleane spirites, who were all healed.

3 The more the Church increaseth, the more increaseth the rage of Sathan, and therefore they cannot from their raisings to persoming.

17 [3] Then the chiefe Priest rose vp, and all they that were with him (which was the [h] sect of the Sadduces) and were full of indignation, h The worde which is vsed here, is Heresie, which signifieth a choice, and is taken for a right forme of learning, or faction, or studie, and course of life, which the Latines call a sect: at the first this worde was indifferently vsed, but at length it came to be taken onely in euill part, whereupon came the name of Heretike, which is taken for one that goeth astray from sound and wholesome doctrine, after such sort, that he swerueth light by the iudgement of God, and his Church, & continueth in his opinion, and breaketh the peace of the Church.

18 And laide hands on the Apostles, and put them in the common prison.

4 Angels are made seruants of the seruants of God.
5 God doeth therefore deliuer his, that they may more fruitfully prouoke his enemies.
i Words where by the way vnto life is shewed.

19 [4] But the Angel of the Lord by night opened the prison doores, and brought them forth, and said, 20 [5] Goe your way, and stand in the Temple, and speake to the people, all the [i] wordes of this life.

21 [6] So when they heard it, they entred into the Temple early in the morning, & taught. And the chiefe Priest came, and they that were with him, and called the Councill together, and all the Elders of the children of Israel, and sent to the prison, to cause them to bee brought.

6 God mocketh his enemies attempts from time.

22 But when the officers came and found them not in the prison, they returned and told it, 23 Saying, Certainly wee found the prison shut as sure as was possible, and the keepers standing without, before the doores: but when we had opened, wee found no man within.

24 Then when the chiefe Priest, and the captaine of the Temple, and the hie Priests heard these things, they doubted of them, whereunto this would grow.

7 The more openly Christs vertue sheweth it selfe, the more increaseth the madnesse of his enemies which conspire against him.

25 [7] Then came one and shewed them, saying, Beholde, the men that yee put in prison, are standing in the Temple, and teach the people.

26 [8] Then went the captaine with the officers, and brought them without violence (for they feared the people, least they shoulde haue bene stoned)

8 Tyrants which feare not God, are constrained to feare his seruants.

27 And when they had brought them, they set them before the Councill, and the chiefe Priest asked them, 28 [9] Saying, Did not we straightly command you, that yee shoulde not teach in this Name? and beholde, yee haue filled Hierusalem with your doctrine, and ye would k bring this mans blood vpon vs.

9 It is the propertie of tyrants to set out their owne commandements as right and reason, be they neuer so wicked.
k Maketh guiltie of murdering that man whom yet they will not vouchsafe to name.

29 [10] Then Peter and the Apostles answered, and saide, Wee ought rather to obey God then men.

30 [11] The * God of our fathers hath raised vp Jesus, whome ye slew, and hanged on a tree.

31 Him hath God lift vp with his right hand, to bee a Prince and a Sauiour, to giue repentance

repentance to Israel, and forgiuenes of sins.

32 [12] And we are his witnesses concerning these things which we say: yea, and the holy Ghost, whom God hath giuen to them that obey him.

33 Nowe when they heard it, they [l] brast for anger, and consulted to slay them.

34 [13] Then stood there vp in the Councell a certaine Pharisee named Gamaliel, a Doctor of the Law, honoured of all the people, and commanded to put the Apostles foorth a little space, 35 And saide vnto them, Men of Israel, take heede to your selues, what ye intend to do touching these men.

36 [14] For before these times, rose vp Theudas [m] boasting himselfe, to whome resorted a number of men, about a foure hundreth, who was slaine: and they al which obeied him, were scattered and brought to nought.

37 After this man, arose vp Iudas of Galile, in the daies of the tribute, and drew away much people after him: he also perished, and all that obeyed him, were scattered abroad.

38 And nowe I say vnto you, [n] Refraine your selues from these men, and let them alone: for if this counsell, or this worke be of [o] men, it will come to nought:

39 But if it be of God, yee cannot destroy it, least yee bee founde euen fighters against God.

40 And to him they agreed, and called the Apostles: and when they had beaten them, they commanded that they should not speake in the Name of Iesus, and let them goe.

41 [15] So they departed from the Councel, reioycing, that they were counted woorthy to suffer rebuke for his Name.

42 And daily in the [p] Temple, and from house to house they ceased not to teach, and preach Iesus Christ.

13 It is not sufficient for vs that there is a right rule, but wee must also accord thing to our vocation goe on forth till wee come vnto it.

l This betokeneth that they were in a most vehement rage, and maruilously disquieted in minde, for it is a borowed kinde of speech taken from them which are hartilly cut in sunder with a saw.

13 Thus findeth defenders of his cause, euen in the very route of his enemies, such as he thinketh it needful.

14 In matters of religion we must take good heede, that we attempt nothing vnder a colour of zeale, beside our vocation.

m To be of some fame.

n Her dissuadeth his fellowes from maulcing the Apostles, neither doeth he thinke it good to referre the matter to the Romane Magistrate, for the Iewes could attempt nothing vnder, then to haue the tyranny of the Romanes confirmed.

o If it be counterfeit and deuised.

15 The Apostles accustomed to suffer and beare wrongs, are at length inured to beare stripes, and yet so, that by that meanes they become stronger.

p Both publikely and priuately.

CHAP. VI.

2 The Apostles 3 appoint the office of Deaconshyp 5 to seuen chosen men: 8 Of whom Steuen, full of faith, is one: 12 He is taken, 13 and accused as a transgressour of Moses Lawe.

AND [1] in those dayes, as the number of the disciples grewe, there arose a murmuring of the [a] Grecians towards the Hebrewes, because their widowes were neglected in the [b] daily ministring.

2 [2] Then the twelue called the multitude of the Disciples together, and saide, It is not [c] meete that we should leaue the worde of God to serue the [d] tables.

3 [3] Wherefore brethren, looke yee out among you seuen men of honest report, and full of the holy Ghost, and of wisedome, which we may appoint to this businesse.

4 And wee will giue our selues continually to prayer, and to the ministration of the worde.

5 And the saying pleased the whole multitude: and they chose Steuen a man full of faith and of the holy Ghost, and * Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, & Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolas a Proselyte of Antiochia, 6 [4] Which they set before the Apostles: and they prayed, and [e] layed their hands on them.

7 [5] And the worde of God increased, and the number of the disciples was multiplied in Hierusalem greatly, and a great company of the Priests were obedient to the [f] faith.

8 ¶ [6] Now Steuen full of faith & [g] power, did great wonders and miracles among the people.

9 [7] Then there arose certaine of the [h] Synagogue, which are called Libertines, and Cyrenians, and of Alexandria, and of them of Cilicia, and of Asia, and disputed with Steuen.

10 [8] But they were not able to resist the wisedome, and the Spirite by the which hee spake.

11 Then they suborned men, which saide, Wee haue heard him speake blasphemous words against Moses, and God.

12 [9] Thus they mooued the people and the Elders, and the Scribes and running vpon him, caught him, and brought him to the Councell, 13 [10] And set foorth false witnesses, which saide, This man ceaseth not to speake blasphemous words against this holy place, and the Law.

14 For we haue heard him say, that this Iesus of Nazareth shall destroy this place, and shall change the ordinances, which Moses gaue vs.

15 And as all that sate in the Councel, looked stedfastly on him, they [i] sawe his face as it had bene the face of an Angel.

1 When Satan hath assailed the Church without, and that to small purpose & in vaine, he assaileth it within, with ciuill dissension and strife betweene themselues.

a But the Apostles take occasion thereby to set order in the Church. a Of their parties which of Grecians became religious Iewes. b In the bestowing of almes according to their necessitie. 2 The office of preaching the worde, and dispensing the goods of the church, are different one from another, and not rashly to be ioyned together, as the Apostles doe heere institute: And the Apostles doe not chuse so much as the Deacons without the consent of the Church.

c It is such a matter, as we may in no wise accept of it.

d Bankets: though by the name of tables, other offices are also meant, which are annexed to it, such as pertaine to the care of the poore.

3 In chusing of Deacons (and much more of Ministers) there must be examination both of their learning and maners of life.

* Chap. 21. 8.

4 The ancient Church did with laying on of hands, as it were consecrate to the Lord such as were lawfully elected.

e This ceremony of laying on of hands, came from the Iewes, who vsed this order both in publike affaires, and offering of sacrifices, & also in priuate prayers and blessings, as appeareth, Genes. 48. and the Church obserued this ceremonie 1. Tim. 5. 22. Act. 8. 17. but here is no mention made either of creame, or shaueing, or rasing, or crossing, &c.

5 An happy end of temptation.

f This is the figure Metonymia, meaning by faith the doctrine of the Gospel which ingendreth faith.

6 God exerciseth his Church first with euil words and slanders, then with tyrannicall sommons, afterward with scourgings, and by those meanes prepareth it in such sort, that at length he casteth it to encounter with Satan and the world, euen to bloudshed & death.

g that with good successe.

g Excellent and singular gifts. 7 Schooles and Vniuersities were of olde time addicted to false pastors, and were the instruments of Satan to blow abroad and defend false doctrines. h Of the company and College as it were. 8 False teachers, because they will not be ouercome, flee from disputations to manifest and open slandering and false accusation. 9 The first bloody persecution of the Church of Christ begunne and sprang from a Councel of Priests by the suggestion of the Vniuersitie doctours. 10 An example of cauillers or false accusers, which gather false accusations of things that are well vttered and spoken. i Hereby it appeared that Steuen had an excellent & goodly countenance, hauing a quiet and setled mind, good conscience, and sure perswasion that his cause was iust: For seeing he was to speake before the people, God beautified his countenance, to the end that with the very beholding of him, the Iewes mindes might be pearced and amased.

CHAP. VII.

1 Steuen pleading his cause, sheweth that God chose the Fathers, 20 before Moses was borne, 27 and before the Temple was built: 44 And that all outward ceremonies were ordeined according to the heauenly paterne. 54 The Iewes gnashing their teeth, 59 stone him.

THen [1] said the chiefe Priest, Are these things so?

2 [2] And hee said, Yee men, brethren and Fathers, hearken. * That God of [a] glory appeared vnto our father Abraham, while hee was in [b] Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran,

3 And said vnto him, Come out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and come into the land, which I shall shew thee.

4 Then came hee out of the land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Charran. And after that his father was dead, God brought him from thence into this land, wherein yee nowe dwell,

5 And hee gaue him none inheritance in it, no, not the [c] breadth of a foote: yet he [d] promised that he would giue it to him for a possession, and to his seede after him, when as yet he had no childe.

6 But God spake thus, that his * seede should be a sojourner in a strange land: and that they should keepe it in bondage, and entreat it euill [e] foure hundred yeeres.

7 But the nation to whome they shall be in bondage, will I iudge, saith God: and after that, they shall come foorth and serue mee in this place.

8 * Hee gaue him also the couenant of circumcision: and so Abraham begate * Isaac, and circumcised him the eight day: and Isaac begate * Iacob, and Iacob the twelue * Patriarkes.

9 [3] And the Patriarkes mooued with enuie, sold * Ioseph into Egypt: but God was [f] with him,

10 And deliuered him out of all his afflictions, and * gaue him [g] fauour and wisedome in ỹ sight of Pharao king of Egipt, who made him gouernour ouer Egypt, and ouer his whole house.

11 ¶ Then came there a famine ouer all the land of Egypt and Chanaan, and great affliction, that our fathers found no sustenance:

12 But when * Iacob heard that there was corne in Egypt, he sent our fathers first:

13 * And at the second time, Ioseph was knowen of his brethren, and Iosephs kindred was made knowen vnto Pharao.

14 Then sent Ioseph and caused his father to bee brought, and all his kinred, euen threescore and fiftеene soules.

15 So * Iacob went downe into Egypt, and he * died, and our fathers, 16 And were [h] remooued into Sichem, and were put in the sepulchre, that Abraham had bought * for money of the sonnes of Emor, sonne of Sychem.

17 But when the time of the promise drewe neere, which God had sworne to Abraham, the people * grewe and multiplied in Egypt, 18 Till another King arose, which knew not Ioseph.

19 The same [i] dealt subtilly with our kinred, and euill intreated our fathers, and made them to cast out their yong children, that they should not remaine aliue.

20 * The same time was Moses borne, and was [k] acceptable vnto God, which was nourished vp in his fathers house three moneths.

21 And when hee was cast out Pharaohs daughter tooke him vp, and nourished him for her owne sonne.

22 And Moses was learned in all the wisdome of the Egyptians, and was mighty in words and in deeds.

23 Nowe when hee was full fourtie yeer olde, it came into his heart to visite his brethren, the children of Israel.

24 * And when he sawe one of them suffer wrong, he defended him, and auenged his quarell that had the harme done to him, and smote the Egyptian.

25 For hee supposed his brethren woulde haue vnderstood, that God by his hand shoulde giue them deliuerance: but they vnderstoode it not.

26 * And the next day, he shewed himselfe vnto them as they stroue, and would haue set them at one againe, saying, Sirs, yee are brethren: why doe ye wrong one to another?

27 But he that did his neighbour wrong, thrust him away, saying, Who made thee a Prince, and a Iudge ouer vs?

28 Wilt thou kill me, as thou didst the Egyptian yesterday?

29 Then fled Moses at that saying, and was a stranger in the land of Madian, where he begate sonnes.

30 And when fourtie yeeres were expired, there appeared to him in the * wildernesse of mount Sina, an [l] Angel of the Lord in a flame of fire, in a bush.

31 And when Moses saw it, he wondred at the sight: and as hee drew neere to consider it, the voyce of the Lord came vnto him, saying,

1 Steuen is admitted to pleade his cause, but to no end & purpose, that vnder a cloke and colour of Law, he might be condemned.

2 Steuen witnesseth vnto the Iewes, that he acknowledgeth the true fathers, and the only true God: & sheweth moreouer that they are more ancient then the Temple, with all that seruice appointed by the Law, and therefore they ought to lay another foundation of true religion, that is to say, the free couenant that God made with the fathers.

32 I am the God of thy Fathers, the God of Abraham, and the God of Iſaac, & the God of Iacob. Then Moſes trembled, and durſt not behold it.

33 Then the Lord ſaid to him, Put off thy ſhoes from thy feete: for the place where thou ſtandeſt, is holy ground.

34 I haue ſeene, I haue ſeene the affliction of my people, which is in Egypt, and I haue heard their groning, and am come downe to deliuer them: and now come, and I will ſend thee into Egypt.

35 This Moſes whome they forſooke, ſaying, Who made thee a Prince and a iudge? the ſame God ſent for a Prince, and a deliuerer by the [m] hande of the Angel, which appeared to him in the buſh.

36 Hee * brought them out, doing wonders and miracles in the lande of Egypt, and in the red Sea, and in the wildernes * fourty yeeres.

37 [4] This is that Moſes, which ſaide vnto the children of Iſrael, * A Prophet ſhall the Lorde your God raiſe vp vnto you, euen of your brethren, like vnto mee: him ſhall yee heare.

38 * This is hee that was in the Congregation, in the wildernes with the Angell, which ſpake to him in mount Sina, and with our Father, who receiued the liuely Oracles to giue vnto vs.

39 To whome our Fathers would not obey, but refuſed, and in their hearts turned backe againe into Egypt:

40 Saying vnto Aaron, * Make vs gods that may go before vs: for we know not what is become of this Moſes that brought vs out of the land of Egypt.

41 And they made a [n] calfe in thoſe daies, and offered ſacrifice vnto the idole, and reioyced in the workes of their owne hands.

42 Then God turned himſelfe away, and [o] gaue them vp to ſerue the [p] hoſte of heauen, as it is written in the booke of the Prophets, * O houſe of Iſrael, haue yee offered to mee ſlaine beaſts & ſacrifices by the ſpace of forty yeeres in the wildernes?

55 [9] But hee being full of the holy Ghoſt, looked ſtedfaſtly into heauen: and ſaw the glorie of God, and Ieſus [z] ſtanding on the right hand of God, 56 And ſaide, Beholde, I ſee the heauens open, and the Sonne of man ſtanding at the right hand of God.

57 [10] Then they gaue a ſhout with a loude voyce, and ſtopped their eares, and [a] ran vpon him violently all at once.

58 And caſt him out of the citie, and ſtoned him: and the [b] witneſſes laide downe their clothes at a yong mans feet, named Saul.

59 And they ſtoned Steuen, who called on God, & ſaid, Lord Ieſus, receiue my ſpirit.

AND 1 Saul consented to his death, and at that time, there was a great persecution against the Church which was at Hierusalem, and they were all scattered abroad thorow the regions of Iudea and of Samaria, except the Apostles.

2 2 Then certeine men fearing God, a caried Steuen amongs them, to be buried, and made great lamentation for him.

3 3 But Saul made hauocke of the Church, and entred into euery house, and drew out both men and women, and put them into prison.

4 Therefore they that were scattered abroad, went to and fro preaching the word.

5 ¶ 4 Then came Philip into the city of Samaria, and preached Christ vnto them.

6 And the people gaue heede vnto those things which Philip spake, with one accord, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did.

7 For vnclean spirits crying with a loud voice, came out of many that were possessed of them: and many taken with palsies, and that halted, were healed.

8 And there was great ioy in that city.

9 5 And there was before in the city a certaine man called Simon, which vsed b witchcraft, and c bewitched the people of Samaria, saying that he himselfe was some great man.

10 To whom they gaue heed from ỳ least to the greatest, saying, This man is that great power of God.

11 And they gaue heed vnto him, because that of long time he had bewitched them with sorceries.

12 But assoone as they beleeued Philip, which preached the things that concerned the kingdome of God, and the Name of Iesus Christ, they were baptized both men and women.

13 6 Then Simon himself beleeued also & was baptized, and continued with Philip, and wondred when he saw the signes and great miracles which were done.

14 ¶ 7 Now when the Apostles, which were at Hierusalem, heard say, that Samaria had receiued the word of God, they sent vnto them Peter and Iohn.

15 Which when they were come downe, prayed for them, that they might receiue the d holy Ghost.

16 (For as yet he was fallen downe on none of them, but they were baptized only in the Name of the Lord Iesus.)

17 Then layd they their hands on them, and they receiued the holy Ghost.

18 8 And when Simon saw, that through laying on of the Apostles hands the holy Ghost was giuen, he offred them money, 19 Saying, Giue me also this power, that on whosoeuer I lay the hands, he may receiue the holy Ghost.

20 9 Then said Peter vnto him, Thy money perish with thee, because thou thinkest that the gift of God may be obtained with money.

21 Thou hast neither part nor fellowship in this e businesse: for thine heart is not f right in the sight of God.

22 10 Repent therefore of this thy wickednesse, and pray God, that if it be possible, the thought of thine heart may be forgiuen thee.

23 For I see that thou art in the g gall of bitternes, and in the h bond of iniquitie.

24 Then answered Simon, and saide, Pray ye to the Lord for me, that none of these things which ye haue spoken, come vpon me.

25 ¶ So they, when they had testified and preached the word of ỳ Lord, returned to Hierusalem, and preached the Gospell in many townes of the Samaritanes.

26 11 Then the Angel of the Lord spake vnto Philip, saying, Arise, & go toward ỳ South vnto the way that goeth downe from Hierusalem vnto Gaza which is waste.

27 And he arose and went on: and behold, a certain Eunuche of Ethiopia, Candaces the Queen of the Ethiopians i chiefe Gouernour, who had the rule of all her treasure, and came to Hierusalem to worship:

28 And as he returned sitting in his charet, he read Esaias the Prophet.

29 Then the Spirite said vnto Philip, Go neere and ioyne thy selfe to yonder charet.

30 And Philip ran thither, and heard him reade the Prophet Esaias, and saide, But vnderstandest thou what thou readest?

31 And he saide, How can I, except I had k a guide? And he desired Philip, that he would come vp and sit with him.

32 12 Now the place of the scripture which he read, was this, * Hee was led as a sheepe to the slaughter, and like a Lambe dumbe before his shearer, so opened he not his mouth.

33 In his l humilitie his iudgement hath bene exalted: but who shal declare his m generation? for his life is taken from the earth.

34 Then the Eunuche answered Philip, and saide, I pray thee of whome speaketh the Prophet this? of himselfe, or of some other man?

35 Then Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same Scripture, and preached vnto him Iesus.

36 And as they went on their way, they came vnto a certaine water, and the Eunuch said, See, here is water: what doeth let me to be baptized?

37 [13] And Philip said vnto him, If thou beleeuest with all thine heart, thou maiest. Then he answered, and said, [n] I beleeue that that Jesus Christ is that Sonne of God.

38 Then hee commaunded the charet to stand still: and they went downe both into the water, both Philip and the Eunuch, and hee baptized him.

39 And assoone as they were come vp out of the water, the Spirite of the Lord caught away Philip, that the Eunuch sawe him no more: so he went on his way reioycing.

40 But Philip was found at Azotus, and he walked to and fro preaching in all the cities, till he came to Cesarea.

13 Profession of faith is requisite in baptizing of them which were of yeres, and therefore it is euident that we are not then first ingrafted into Christ, when we are baptized, but being alreadie ingrafted, are then confirmed.

n The summe of the confession which is necessarie for baptisme.

CHAP. IX.

1 Saul going toward Damascus, 4 is striken downe to the ground of the Lord: 10 Ananias is sent 18 to baptize him. 23 The laying awaite of the Iewes 25 he escapeth, being let downe through the wall. 33 Peter cureth Aeneas of the palsie, 36 and by him Tabitha being dead 40 is restored to life.

AND [1] Saul yet [a] breathing out threatnings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went vnto the hie Priest,

2 And desired of him letters to Damascus to the Synagogues, that if he found any that were of that [b] way (either men or women) he might bring them bound vnto Hierusalem.

3 Now as he iourneied, it came to passe that as he was come neere to Damascus, [*] suddenly there shined round about him a light from heauen.

4 And hee fell to the earth and heard a voyce, saying to him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

5 And he said, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest: it is [c] hard for thee to kicke against pricks.

6 He then both trembling and astonied, said, Lord, what wilt thou that I doe? And the Lord said vnto him, Arise and goe into the citie, and it shall be told thee what thou shalt doe.

7 The men also which iourneyed with him, [d] stoode amased, hearing his [e] voyce, but seeing no man.

8 And Saul arose from the ground, and opened his eies, but sawe no man. Then led they him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus, 9 Where hee was three dayes without sight, and neither ate nor dranke.

10 And there was a certaine disciple at Damascus named Ananias, and to him saide the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And he saide, Behold, I am here Lord.

11 Then the Lord said vnto him, Arise, and goe into the streete which is called Streight, and seeke in the house of Judas after one called Saul of [f] Tarsus: for beholde, he prayeth.

12 (And he sawe in a vision a man named Ananias comming in to him, and putting his hands on him, that he might receiue his sight.)

13 Then Ananias answered, Lord, I haue heard by many of this man, how much euill he hath done to thy saints at Hierusalem.

14 Moreouer here hee hath authoritie of the hie Priestes, to binde all that call on thy Name.

15 Then the Lord said vnto him, Goe thy way: for he is a [g] chosen vessell vnto me, to beare my Name before the Gentiles, & Kings, and the children of Israel.

16 For I will [h] shewe him, howe many things he must suffer for my Names sake.

17 Then Ananias went his way, and entred into [i] that house, and put his handes on him, & said, Brother Saul, the Lord hath sent me (euen Jesus that appeared vnto thee in the way as thou camest) that thou mightest receiue thy sight, and be filled with the holy Ghost.

18 And immediatly there fell from his eyes as it had bene scales, and suddenly he receiued sight, and arose, and was baptized, 19 And receiued meate, and was strengthned. So was Saul certaine dayes with the disciples which were at Damascus.

20 [2] And straightway he preached Christ in the Synagogues, that he was that Sonne of God, 21 So that all that heard him, were amased, and said, Is not this he, that made hauocke of them which called on his Name in Hierusalem, and came hither for that intent, that hee should bring them bound vnto the hie Priests?

22 [3] But Saul encreased the more in strength, and confounded the Iewes which dwelt at Damascus, [k] confirming, that this was that Christ.

23 [4] And after that many dayes were fulfilled, the Iewes tooke counsell together, to kill him, 24 But their laying awayte was knowen of Saul: nowe they [*] watched the gates day and night, that they might kill him.

25 [5] Then the disciples tooke him by night, and put him through the wall, and let him downe by a rope in a basket.

1 Saul (who is also Paul) persecuting Christ most cruelly, who did as it were lie before him, falleth into his hands and is ouercomen with a singular example of the goodnesse of God, in stead of punishment which he iustly deserued for his crueltie, is not onely restored to fauour, but is also euen by the mouth of God appointed an Apostle, and is confirmed by the ministerie and witnesse of Ananias.

c This is a prouerbe, which is spoken of them that through their owne stubbornes hurt themselues.

d Stood still and could not goe one step forward, but abode amased as if they had bin very stones.

e They heard Pauls voyce: for afterward it is saide in flat termes, that they heard not his voyce that spake: as beneath chap. 22. 9. But other goe about to set these places at one which seeme to be at a iarre, after this sort, to wit, that they heard a sound of a voyce, but no perfite voyce.

2 Paul beginneth straightwayes to execute the office which was enioyned him, neuer consulting with flesh and blood.

3 Paul striueth not with his owne authoritie alone, but with the testimonies of the Prophets.

b By conferring places of the Scripture together, as cunning craftesmen doe, when they make vp any thing, they vse to gather all parts together, to make them agree fully one with another.

4 Paul, who was before a persecutour, hath nowe persecution said before him selfe, but yet afarre off. * 2. Cor. 11. 32. 5 We are not forbidden to auoid and eschew the dangers and conspiracies that the enemies of God lay for vs, so that we swarue not from our vocation.

26 [c] And

6 In ancient time, no man was rashly or lightly received into the number of and amongst the sheepe of Christ, much lesse to be a pastour

26 [6] And when Saul was come to Hierusalem, he assayed to ioyne himselfe with the disciples: but they were all afraide of him, and beleeued not that he was a disciple, 27 But Barnabas tooke him, & brought him to the Apostles, and declared to them, how he had seene the Lord in the way, and that hee had spoken vnto him, and howe he had spoken boldly at Damascus in the Name of Iesus.

7 The constant seruants of God must looke for danger after danger: yet God watcheth for them.

28 [7] And he was conuersant [l] with them at Hierusalem, 29 And spake boldly in the Name of the Lord Iesus, and spake and disputed against the [m] Grecians: but they went about to slay him.

l With Peter and Iames, for hee saith that he saw none of the Apostles but them, Gal. 1, 18, 19.

m Looke chap. 6, 1.

30 [8] But when the brethren knew it, they brought him to Cesarea, and sent him forth to Tarsus.

8 The Ministers of the word may change their place, by the aduise and counsell of the congregation and Church.

31 [9] Then had the Churches rest through all Iudea, and Galile, and Samaria, and were [n] edified and walked in the feare of the Lorde, and were multiplied by the comfort of the holy Ghost.

9 The end of persecutions is the building of the Church, so that we will patiently waite for the Lord.

32 [10] And it came to passe, as Peter walked throughout all quarters, he came also to the saints which dwelt at Lydda.

n This is a borowed kind of speach, which signifieth establishment and increase.

33 And there he found a certaine man named Aeneas, which had kept his couch eight yeeres, and was sicke of the palsie.

34 Then saide Peter vnto him, Aeneas, Iesus Christ maketh thee whole: arise and trusse thy couch together. And he arose immediatly.

10 Peters Apostleship is confirmed, by healing of the man that was sicke of the palsie.

35 And all that dwelt at [o] Lydda and Saron, saw him, and turned to the Lord.

o Lydda was a citie of Palestine, and Saron a champion country, and a place of good pasturage, betweene Cesarea and Palestine and the mountaine Tabor, and the lake of Genezareth which extendeth it selfe in great length beyond Ioppa.

36 [11] There was also at Ioppa a certaine woman, a disciple named Tabitha (which by interpretation is called Dorcas) she was full of good woorkes and almes which she did.

11 Peter declareth euidently by raising vp a dead body through the Name of Christ, that he preacheth the glad tidings of life.

37 And it came to passe in those dayes, that she was sicke and died: and when they had washed her, they laid her in an vpper chamber.

38 Now forasmuch as Lydda was neere to Ioppa, and the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent vnto him two men, desiring that he would not delay to come vnto them.

39 Then Peter arose & came with them: and when hee was come, they brought him into the vpper chamber, where all the widowes stood by him weeping, and shewing the coates and garments, which Dorcas made, while she was with them.

40 But Peter put them all forth, and kneeled downe, and prayed, and turned him to the body, and said, Tabitha, arise. And she opened her eies, and when she saw Peter, sate vp.

41 Then he gaue her the hand and lift her vp, and called the Saints and widowes, and restored her aliue.

42 And it was knowen throughout all Ioppa, and many beleeued in the Lord.

43 And it came to passe that hee taried many dayes in Ioppa with one Simon a Tanner.

CHAP. X.

1 Cornelius, 4 at the Angels commaundement, 5 sendeth for Peter: Who also by a vision. 15. 20 is taught not to despise the Gentiles: 34 He preacheth the Gospell to Cornelius and his houshold: 45 Who hauing receiued the holy Ghost, 47 are baptized.

FUrthermore [1] there was a certaine man in Cesarea called Cornelius, a captaine of the band called the Italian band,

1 Peter continueth the first fruites of the Gentiles to God by the meanes of two miracles.

2 A [a] deuoute man, and one that feared God with [b] all his houshould, which gaue much almes to the people, and prayed God continually.

a So that her worshipped one God, and was no Idolater, neither could be voide of faith in Christ, because he was a deuout man: but as yet he knew not that he was come.

3 He saw in a vision euidently (about the ninth houre of the day) an Angell of God comming in to him, and saying vnto him, Cornelius.

b This is a great commendation to the man, that he laboured to haue al his household and familiar friends and acquaintance to be religious and godly.

4 But when he looked on him, he was afraid, and said, [c] What is it, Lord? and he said vnto him, Thy prayers and thine almes are [d] come vp into [e] remembrance before God.

c What wilt thou with me Lord? for her setteth himselfe to heare.

d This is a borowed kind of speach which the Hebreues vse very much, taken fro sacrifices and applied to prayers: for it is said of whole burnt sacrifices, that the smoke and sauour of them goeth vp into Gods nostrils, so doe our praiers, as a sweet smelling sacrifice which the Lord taketh great pleasure in.

5 Now therefore send men to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.

6 He lodgeth with one Simon a Tanner, whose house is by the sea side: he shall tell thee what thou oughtest to doe.

e That is, in so much that they will not suffer God as it were to forget thee: for so doeth the Scripture vse oftentimes to speake with vs as nurses do with little children, when they frame their tounge to speake.

7 And when the Angel which spake vnto Cornelius, was departed, he called two of his seruants, and a souldier that feared God, one of them that waited on him,

8 And tolde them all things, & sent them to Ioppa.

9 On the morrowe as they went on their iourney, and drewe neere vnto the citie, Peter went vp vpon the house to pray, about the sixt houre.

10 Then wared he an hungred, and would haue eaten: but while they made some ching ready, he fell into a [f] trance.

f For though Peter stand not amased as one that is tongue tied, but talketh with God, & is instructed in his mysteries, yet his minde was farre otherwise then it was woont to be, but shortly returned to the old bent.

11 And hee sawe heauen opened, and a certaine vessell come downe vnto him, as it had beene a great sheet, knit at the [g] foure corners, and was let downe to the earth.

g So that it seemed to be a foure square sheete.

12 Wherein were [h] all maner of [i] foure footed beastes of the earth, & wilde beastes, and [k] creeping things, and foules of the heauen.

h Here is this word (All) which is generall, plainely put for an indefinite and vncertaine, that is to say, for some of all sorts, not for all of euery sort.

i That is, such as were meete for mens vse.

k What is meant by these creeping things, Looke Leuit. 11.

13 And there came a voyce to him, Arise, Peter: kill, and eate.

14 [2] But Peter saide, Not so, Lord: for I haue neuer eaten any thing that is polluted, or vncleane.

2 Peter profiteth nayly in the knowledge of the benefite of Christ, yea, after that he had receiued the holy Ghost.

15 And the voyce [3] spake vnto him againe the second time, The things that God hath purified,[l] pollute thou not.

3 purified

16 This was so done thrise: and the vessel was drawen vp againe into heauen.

17 ¶ Nowe while Peter doubted in himselfe what this vision which hee had seene, ment, beholde, the men which were sent from Cornelius, had inquired for Simons house, and stood at the gate, 18 And called, and asked, whether Simon, which was surnamed Peter, were lodged there.

19 And while Peter thought on the vision, the Spirit saide vnto him, Beholde, three men seeke thee.

20 Arise therefore, and get thee downe, and goe with them, and doubt nothing: for I haue sent them.

21 ¶ Then Peter went downe to the men, which were sent vnto him from Cornelius, and said, Beholde, I am he whom ye seeke: what is the cause wherefore ye are come?

22 And they said, Cornelius the captaine, a iust man, and one that feareth God, and of good report among al the nation of the Iewes, was warned from heauen by an holy Angel, to send for thee into his house, and to heare thy wordes.

23 Then called hee them in, and lodged them, and the next day, Peter went forth with them, and certaine brethren from Ioppa accompanied him.

24 ¶ And the day after, they entered into Cesarea. Nowe Cornelius waited for them, and had called together his kinsemen, and speciall friends, 25 [j] And it came to passe as Peter came in, that Cornelius met him, and fell downe at his feete, and worshipped him.

26 But Peter tooke him vp, saying, Stand vp: for euen I my selfe am a man.

27 And as he talked with him, he came in, and found many that were come together.

28 And he said vnto them, Ye know that it is an vnlawfull thing for a man that is a Iew, to company, or come vnto one of another nation: but God hath shewed me, that I should not call any man polluted, or vncleane.

29 Therefore came I vnto you without saying nay, when I was sent for. I aske therefore, for what intent haue ye sent for me?

30 Then Cornelius saide, Foure dayes agoe, about [m] this houre, I fasted, & at the ninth houre I prayed in mine house, and beholde, a man stood before me in bright clothing, 31 [k] And saide, Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, & thine almes are had in remembrance in the sight of God.

32 [l] Send therefore to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter (he is lodged in the house of Simon a Tanner by the sea side) who when he commeth, shall speake vnto thee.

33 Then sent I for thee immediatly, and thou hast well done to come. Nowe therefore are we all here present before God, to heare all things that are commanded thee of God.

34 [6] Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a trueth I perceiue, that [n] * God is no accepter of persons.

35 But in euery nacion he [o] feareth him, & worketh righteousnes, is accepted with him.

36 Ye [p] knowe the word which God hath sent to the children of Israel, preaching peace by Iesus Christ, which is Lord of all:

37 [7] Euen the worde which came through all Iudea, * beginning in Galile, after the baptisme which Iohn preached.

38 To wit, howe God [q] anointed Iesus of Nazareth with the holy Ghost, and with power: who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the deuill: for God was with him.

39 And wee are witnesses of all things which hee did both in the lande of the Iewes, and in Hierusalem, whom they slewe, hanging him on a tree.

40 Him God raised vp the third day, and caused that he was shewed openly:

41 Not to all the people, but vnto the witnesses [r] chosen before of God, euen to vs which did eate and drinke with him, after hee arose from the dead.

42 And he commanded vs to preach vnto the people, and to testifie, that it is he that is ordained of God a Iudge of quicke and dead.

43 To him also giue all the * Prophets witnesse, that through his Name all that beleeue in him, shall receiue remission of sinnes.

44 [8] While Peter yet spake these wordes, the holy Ghost fell on all them which heard the word.

45 So they of the circumcision which beleeued, were astonied, as many as came with Peter, because that on the Gentiles also was powred out the gift of the holy Ghost.

46 For they heard them speake [s] tongues, and magnifie God. Then answered Peter, 47 [9] Can any man forbid water, that these should not be baptized, which haue receiued the holy Ghost, as well as we?

48 So he commanded them to be baptized in the Name of the Lorde. Then prayed they him to tarie certaine dayes.

[l] Doe not thou holde them as vncleane.

[j] Religious adoration or worship agreeth onely to God: but ciuil worship is giuen to the Ministers of the word, although not without danger.

[m] He meaneth not the selfe same houre, but the like, that is, about nine of the clocke the other day, as it was then time when he spake to Peter.

[k] Cornelius faith hereby that he setteth by prayer and charitie.

[l] As faith commeth by hearing, so is it nourished and groweth vp by the same.

[6] Distinction of nations is taken away by the coming of Christ: And it is euidently seene by faith and righteousnesse, who is agreeable to him or whom he accepteth.

[n] That God iudgeth not after the outward appearance. *Deut. 10. 17. 2. Chro. 19. 7. Iob 34. 19. rom. 3. 11. galat. 2. 6. ephes. 6. 9. colos. 3. 25. 1. per. 1. 17.

[o] By the feare of God the Hebrues vnderstand the whole seruice of God, whereby we perceiue that Cornelius was not voide of faith, no more then they were which liued before Christes time: and therefore they deale foolishly, which builde preparatiue workes and free will, vpon this place.

[p] God gaue the Israelites to vnderstand, that whosoeuer liueth godly, is acceptable to God, of what nation soeuer he be, for he preached peace to men through Iesus Christ, who is Lord, not of one nation onely, that is, of the Iewes, but of all.

[7] The summe of the Gospell (which shall be made manifest at the latter day, when Christ himselfe shall sit as Iudge both of the quicke and dead) is this, that Christ promised to the Fathers, and exhibited in his time with the mighty power of God, (which was by al meanes shewed) and at length crucified to reconcile vs to God, did rise againe the third day, that whosoeuer beleeueth in him, should be saued through the remission of sinnes. *Luke 4. 14.

[q] The stile is taken from an olde custome of the Iewes, who vsed to anoint their Kings and Priestes, whereupon it grewe, to call them anointed vpon whom God bestoweth giftes and vertues.

[r] This chusing of the Apostles is properly giuen to God: for though God be President in the lawfull election of Ministers, yet there is in this place a secret opposition and setting of Gods chusing, and mens voyces the one against the other, for the Apostles are immediatly appointed of God, and the Church ministers by meanes. * Ieremi. 31. 34. micah. 7. 18. chap. 15. 9.

[8] The Spirit of God sealeth that in the heart of the hearers, which the Minister of the word speaketh by the commandement of God, as it appeareth by the effects.

[9] Baptisme doeth not sanctifie or make them holy which receiue it, but sealeth vp and confirmeth their sanctification.

CHAP. XI.

2 Peter being accused for going to the Gentiles, 5 defendeth himselfe. 22 Barnabas is sent to Antiochia, 26 where the disciples are called Christians: 28 And there Agabus foretelleth a famine to come.

1 Peter being without cause reprehended of the vnskilfull and ignorant, doeth not object that he ought not to be iudged of any, but openly giueth an account of his doing.

NOw [1] the Apostles and the brethren that were in Iudea, heard, that the Gentiles had also receiued the word of God.

2 And when Peter was come vp to Hierusalem, they of the circumcision contended against him,

3 Saying, Thou wentest in to men vncircumcised, and hast eaten with them.

4 Then Peter began, and expounded the thing in order to them, saying,

5 I was in the citie of Ioppa, praying, and in a trance I sawe this vision, A certaine vessell comming downe as it had bene a great sheete, let downe from heauen by the foure corners, and it came to me.

6 Toward the which when I had fastened mine eies, I considered, and sawe foure footed beastes of the earth, and wilde beastes, and creeping things, and foules of the heauen.

7 Also I heard a voyce, saying vnto me, Arise, Peter: slay and eate.

8 And I saide, God forbid, Lord: for nothing polluted or vncleane hath at any time entered into my mouth.

9 But the voyce answered me the second time from heauen, The things that God hath purified, pollute thou not.

10 And this was done three times, and all were taken vp againe into heauen.

11 Then beholde, immediatly there were three men already come vnto the house where I was, sent from Cesarea vnto me.

12 And the Spirit saide vnto me, that I should go with them, without doubting: moreouer these sixe brethren came with me, and we entred into the mans house.

13 And he shewed vs, how he had seene an Angel in his house, which stood & said to him, Send men to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.

14 Hee shall speake wordes vnto thee, whereby both thou and all thine house shall be saued.

15 And as I began to speake, the holy Ghost fell on them, * euen as vpon vs at the beginning.

16 Then I remembred the worde of the Lord, howe he said, * Iohn baptized with water, but ye shall be baptized with the holy Ghost.

17 Forasmuch then as God gaue them a like gift, as he did vnto vs, when we beleeued in the Lord Iesus Christ, who was I, that I could let God?

18 [2] When they heard these things, they held their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then hath God also to the Gentiles graunted repentance vnto life.

19 ¶ [3] And they which were * scattered abroad because of the affliction that arose about Steuen, went throughout till they came vnto Phenice and Cyprus, and [a] Antiochia, preaching the word to no man, but vnto the Iewes onely.

20 [4] Nowe some of them were men of Cyprus and of Cyrene, which when they were come into Antiochia, spake vnto the Grecians, and preached the Lord Iesus.

21 And the hand of the Lord was with them, so that a great number beleeued and turned vnto the Lord.

22 [5] Then tidings of those things came vnto the eares of the Church, which was in Hierusalem, and they sent forth Barnabas, that he should goe vnto Antiochia.

23 Who when he was come and had seene the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted all, that with purpose of heart they would continue in the Lord.

24 For he was a good man, and full of the holy Ghost, and faith, and much people ioyned themselues vnto the Lord.

25 ¶ [6] Then departed Barnabas to Tarsus to seeke Saul:

26 And when he had found him, he brought him vnto Antiochia: and it came to passe that a whole yeere they were conuersant with the Church, and taught much people, insomuch that the disciples were first called Christians in Antiochia.

27 [7] In those dayes also came Prophets from Hierusalem vnto Antiochia.

28 And there stood vp one of them named Agabus, and signified by the Spirite, that there should be great famine throughout all the world, which also came to passe vnder Claudius Cesar.

29 [8] Then the disciples, euery man according to his abilitie, purposed to send [b] succour vnto the brethren which dwelt in Iudea.

30 Which thing they also did, and sent it to the Elders by the hand of Barnabas and Saul.

3 The gathering abroad of the Church of Hierusalem, is the cause of the gathering together of many other Churches.

*Chap. 8. 1.

a He speaketh of Antiochia which was in Syria and bordered vpon Cilicia.

4 The Church of Antioch, the new Hierusalem of the Gentiles was extraordinarily called.

5 The Apostles doe not rashly condemne an extraordinary vocation, but yet they iudge it by the effects.

6 There was no contention among the Apostles either of vaunting, or of holding places and degrees.

7 God doth sometime vnwarre by his Church with the wicked, in his scourges and plagues which he sendeth vpon the earth, that notwithstanding he punisheth for it conueniently.

8 All congregations or Churches make one body.

h That is, that thereof the Deacons might succour the poore: for it behoued to haue all these things done orderly and decently, and therefore it is said, that they sent these things to the Elders, that is, to the gouernours of the Church.

2 Herod killeth Iames with the sword: 4 And imprisoneth Peter, 8 whom the Angel deliuereth. 20 Herod being offended with them of Tyrus, 21 is pacified: 22 And taking the honour due to God, to himselfe, 23 he is eaten with wormes, and so dieth.

NOw [1] about that time, [a] Herod the King stretched forth his hands to vexe certeine of the Church,

2 Such as aske a question of the truth which they know not ought to be quietly heard, and must also quietly yeeld to the declaration thereof.

3 [2]And when he sawe that it pleased the Iewes, he proceeded further, to take Peter also (then were the dayes of vnleauened bread.)

4 [3]And when he had caught him, he put him in prison, and deliuered him to foure quaternions of souldiers to be kept, intending after the Passeouer to bring him forth to the people.

5 [4]So Peter was kept in prison, but earnest prayer was made of the Church vnto God for him.

6 And when Herod would haue brought him out vnto the people, the same night slept Peter betweene two souldiers, bound with two chaines, and the keepers before the doore, kept the prison.

7 *And beholde the Angel of the Lord came vpon them, & a light shined in the [c]house, and he smote Peter on the side, and raised him vp, saying, Arise quickly. And his chaines fell off from his hands.

8 And the Angel said vnto him, Gird thy selfe, and binde on thy sandales. And so he did. Then he saide vnto him, Cast thy garment about thee, and folowe me.

9 So Peter came out and followed him, and knewe not that it was true, which was done by the Angel, but thought he had seene a vision.

10 Now when they were past the first and the second watch, they came vnto the iron gate that leadeth vnto the citie, which opened to them by it owne accord, and they went out, and passed through one streete, and by and by the Angel departed from him.

11 ¶ And when Peter was come to himselfe, he said, Nowe I knowe for a trueth, that the Lord hath sent his Angel, and hath deliuered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the waiting for of the people of the Iewes.

12 [5]And as he considered the thing, he came to ỹ house of Mary, the mother of John, whose surname was Marke, where many were gathered together, and prayed.

13 [6]And when Peter knocked at the entrie doore, a maide [d]came forth to hearken, named Rhode, 14 But when she knew Peters voyce, she opened not the entrie doore for gladnesse, but ranne in, and told howe Peter stood before the entrie.

15 But they said vnto her, Thou art mad. Yet she affirmed it constantly, that it was so. Then said they, It is his Angel.

16 But Peter continued knocking, and when they had opened it, and sawe him, they were astonied.

17 [7]And he beckened vnto them with the hand, to holde their peace, and tolde them howe the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And hee saide, Goe shewe these things vnto James and to the brethren: and he departed and went into another place.

18 ¶ [8]Nowe assoone as it was day, there was no small trouble among the souldiers, what was become of Peter.

19 And when Herod had sought for him, and found him not, he examined the keepers, and commanded them to be led to be punished. And he went downe from Iudea to Cesarea, and there abode.

20 [9]Then Herod was angrie with them of Tyrus and Sidon, but they came all with one accord vnto him, and perswaded Blastus the Kings Chamberlaine, and they desired peace, because their countrey was nourished by the Kings land.

21 And vpon a day appointed, Herod arayed himselfe in royall apparell, and sate on the iudgement seate, and made an oration vnto them.

22 [10]And the people gaue a shout, saying, The voyce of God, and not of man.

23 [11]But immediatly the Angel of the Lord smote him, because he [e] gaue not glorie vnto God, so that hee was eaten of wormes, and gaue vp the ghost.

24 [12]And the [f] worde of God grewe and multiplied.

25 So Barnabas and Saul returned from Hierusalem, when they had fulfilled their office, and tooke with them John, whose surname was Marke.

2 The holy Ghost commaundeth that Paul and Barnabas be separated vnto him. 6 At Paphus 8 Elymas the sorcerer 11 is strooken blind: 14 From whence being come to Antiochia, 17 They preach the Gospel, 45 the Iewes vehemently withstanding them.

THere [1]were also in the Church that was at Antiochia, certaine Prophets and teachers, as Barnabas, and Simeon called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manahen (which had beene brought vp with [a]Herod the Tetrarch) and Saul.

2 Now as they [b] ministred to the Lorde, and fasted, the holy Ghost saide, Separate me Barnabas and Saul, for the worke whereunto I haue [c]called them.

3 [2]Then fasted they and prayed, and laid their hands on them, and let them goe.

4 [3]And they, after they were sent forth of the holy Ghost, came downe vnto [d] Seleucia, and from thence they sailed to Cyprus.

c The Lord is said to call (whereof this word (Calling) commeth, which is vsuall in the Church) when he causeth that to be, which was not, whether you referre it to the matter it selfe, or to any qualitie or thing about the matter: and it groweth of this, because when things beginne to be, then they haue some name: as God his mightie power is also declared thereby, who spake the word, and things were made. 2 Fast, and solemne prayers were vsed before the laying on of handes. 3 Paul and his companions do at the first bring Cyprus to the subiection and obedience of Christ. d Seleucie was a citie of Cilicia, so called of Seleucus one of Alexanders successours.

5 And

5 And when they were at Salamis, they preached the word of God in the Synagogues of the Iewes: and they had also John to their minister.

6 So when they had gone throughout the Ile vnto Paphus, they found a certaine sorcerer, a false prophet, being a Iewe, named Barieſus.

7 Which was with the Deputie Sergius Paulus, a prudent man. He called vnto him Barnabas and Saul, and desired to heare the word of God.

8 [4] And Elymas, the sorcerer (for so is his name by interpretation) withstood them, and sought to turne away the Deputie from the faith.

9 Then Saul (which also is called Paul) being full of the holy Ghost, set his eyes on him,

10 [5] And said, O full of all subtiltie and all [e] mischiefe, the childe of the deuill, and enemie of all righteousnesse, wilt thou not cease to peruert the straight wayes of the Lord?

11 Nowe therefore beholde, the [f] hand of the Lord is vpon thee, and thou shalt be blinde, and not see the sunne for a season. And immediatly there fell on him a mist and a darkenesse, and he went about, seeking some to leade him by the hand.

12 Then the Deputie when he saw what was done, beleeued, and was astonied at the doctrine of the Lord.

13 [6] Nowe when Paul and they that were with him were departed by ship from Paphus, they came to Perga a citie of Pamphylia: then John departed from them, and returned to Hierusalem.

14 But when they departed from Perga, they came to Antiochia a citie of [g] Pisidia, and went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and sate downe.

15 [7] And after the lecture of the Lawe and Prophets, the rulers of the Synagogue sent vnto them, saying, Ye men and brethren, if ye [h] haue any word of exhortation for the people, say on, 16 [8] Then Paul stoode vp and beckened with the hand, and saide, Men of Israel, and ye that feare God, hearken.

27 [11] For the inhabitants of Hierusalem, and their rulers, because they knewe him not, nor yet the words of the Prophets, which are read euery Sabbath day, they haue fulfilled them in condemning him. 11 All things came to passe to Christ, which the Prophets foretold of Messias. so that hereby also it appeareth that hee is the true and onely Sauiour: and yet notwithstanding they are not to be excused which him not onely not receiue him, but also persecute him most cruelly although he was innocent.

42 ¶ [17] And when they were come out of the Synagogue of the Iewes, the Gentiles besought, that they would preach these wordes to them the next Sabbath day.

43 Now when the congregation was dissolued, many of the Iewes and r Proselytes that feared God, followed Paul and Barnabas, which spake vnto them, and exhorted them to continue in the grace of God.

44 And the next Sabbath day came almost the whole city together, to heare the word of God.

45 [18] But when the Iewes sawe the people, they were full of enuie, and spake against those things, which were spoken of Paul, contrarying them, and railing on them.

46 [19] Then Paul and Barnabas spake boldly, and saide, It was necessarie that the worde of God should first haue bene spoken vnto you: but seeing yee put it from you, and s iudge your selues vnworthy of euerlasting life, loe we turne to the Gentiles.

47 For so hath the Lord commaunded vs, saying, *I haue made thee a light of the Gentiles, that thou shouldest be the saluation vnto the ende of the world.

48 And when the Gentiles heard it, they were glad, and glorified the word of the Lord: and as many as were t ordeined vnto eternall life, beleeued.

49 Thus the worde of the Lord was published throughout the whole countrey.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Paul and Barnabas 5 are persecuted from Iconium. 6 At Lystra Paul 10 healeth a creeple. 13 They are about to doe sacrifice vnto them. 15 but they forbid it. 19 Paul by the perswasion of certaine Iewes, is stoned. 23 From thence passing through diuers Churches, 26 They returne to Antiochia.

AND [1] it came to passe in [a] Iconium, that they went both together into the Synagogue of the Iewes, and so spake, that a great multitude both of the Iewes and of the Grecians beleeued.

2 And the [b] vnbeleeuing Iewes stirred vp, and corrupted the mindes of the Gentiles against the brethren.

3 [2] So therefore they abode there a long time, and spake boldly in the Lord, which gaue testimonie vnto the worde of his grace, and caused signes and wonders to be done by their handes.

4 But the multitude of the citie was deuided: and some were with the Iewes, and some with the Apostles.

5 And when there was an assault made both of the Gentiles, and of the Iewes with their rulers, to doe them violence, and to stone them,

6 They were ware of it, and [c] fled vnto Lystra, and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and vnto the region round about,

7 And there preached the Gospel.

8 ¶ [3] Nowe there sate a certaine man at Lystra, impotent in his feete, which was a creeple from his mothers wombe, who had neuer walked.

9 Hee heard Paul speake: who beholding him, and perceiuing that hee had faith to bee healed, 10 Saide with a lowde voyce, Stande vpright on thy feete. And hee leaped vp, and walked.

11 Then when the people sawe what Paul had done, they lift vp their voyces, saying, in the speach of Lycaonia, Gods are come downe to vs in the likenesse of men.

t Therefore either all were not appointed to euerlasting life, or else all should haue beleeued, but because that is not so, it followeth that some certaine were ordeined: and therefore God did not onely foreknowe, but also foreordeine, that neither faith nor the effects of faith should be the cause of his ordeining, or appointment, but his ordeining the cause of faith.

20 Such is the craft and subtilitie of the enemies of the Gospel, that they abuse the simplicitie of some which are not altogether euill men, to execute their crueltie.

14 But when the Apostles, Barnabas and Paul heard it, they rent their clothes, and ran in among the people, cryng, 18 And speaking these things, scarce appeased they the multitude, that they had not sacrificed vnto them.

19 [6] Then there came certaine Iewes from Antiochia and Iconium, which when they had perswaded the people, * stoned Paul, and drew him out of the citie, supposing he had bene dead.

20 Howbeit, as the disciples stoode round about him, hee arose vp, and came into the citie, and the next day hee departed with Barnabas to Derbe.

21 [7] And after they had preached the glad tidings of the Gospell to that citie, and had taught many, they returned to Lystra, and to Iconium, and to Antiochia,

1 Certaine go about to bring in circumcision at Antiochia. 6 About which matter the Apostles consult. 19 and what must be done, 23 they declare by letters. 36 Paul and Barnabas 39 are at great variance.

THen came downe [a] certaine from Iudea, and taught the brethren, saying, Except yee be circumcised after the maner of Moses, ye cannot be saued.

2 [2] And when there was great dissension, and disputation by Paul & Barnabas against them, they ordeined that Paul and Barnabas, and certaine other of them, should goe vp to Hierusalem vnto the Apostles and Elders about this question.

3 Thus [b] being brought foorth by the Church, they passed through Phenice and Samaria, declaring the conuersion of the Gentiles, and they brought great ioy vnto all the brethren.

4 And when they were come to Hierusalem, they were receiued of the Church, and of the Apostles and Elders, and they declared what things God had done by them.

5 But saide they, certaine of the sect of the Pharises, which did beleeue, rose vp, saying, that it was needfull to circumcise them, and to commaunde them to keepe the Lawe of Moses.

6 [3] Then the Apostles and Elders came together to looke to this matter.

7 And when there had bene great disputation, Peter rose vp, and sayd vnto them, * [4] Ye men and brethren, ye know that a [c] good while agoe, among vs God chose out me, that the Gentiles by my mouth should heare the word of the Gospel, and beleeue,

8 And God which knoweth the heartes, bare them witnesse, in giuing vnto them the holy Ghost, euen as he did vnto vs,

9 And hee put no [d] difference betweene vs and them, after that * [e] by faith he had purified their hearts.

10 [5] Now therefore, why [f] tempt ye God, to * lay a yoke on the disciples neckes, which neither our fathers, nor we are able to beare?

11 But wee beleeue, through the grace of the Lorde Iesus Christ to bee saued, euen as they doe.

12 [6] Then all the multitude kept silence, and heard Barnabas and Paul, which tolde what signes and wonders God had done among the Gentiles by them.

[1] The Church is at length troubled with dissension within it self and the trouble tisery of the prouoke and stubburne wits of certaine euill men: The first strife was concerning the office of Christ, whether we be saued by his onely righteousnesse apprehended by faith, or we haue neede also to obserue the Lawe.
a Epiphanius is of opinion that this was Cerinthus.
[2] Meetings & Congregations were ordained to suppresse heresies, wherevnto certaine were sent by common consent in the name of all.
b Courteously and louingly brought on their way by the Church, that is, by certaine appointed by the Church.
[3] The matter is first handled, both parts being heard, in the assembly of the Apostles and auncients, and after is communicated with the people. *Chap. 10.20. and 11.13.
[4] God himself in calling of the Gentiles which are vncircumcised, did teach that our saluation doeth consist in faith without the worship appointed by the Lawe.
c Word for word of olde time, that is, euen from the first time ‡ we were commaunded to preach the Gospel, and straightwayes after that the holy Ghost came downe vpon vs.
d He put no difference betweene vs and them, as touching the benefit of his free fauour. * Chap. 10.43. 1. Cor. 12. e Christ pronounceth them blessed which are pure of heart: and here wee are plainely taught, that men are made such by faith.
[5] Peter passing from the Ceremonies, to the Lawe it selfe in generall, sheweth that none could bee saued, if saluation were to be sought for by the Lawe, and not by grace onely in Iesus Christ: because that no man could euer fulfill the Lawe, neither Patriarch, nor Apostle. f Why tempt ye God, as though he could not saue by faith. *Matt. 23.4.
[6] A true patterne of a lawfull Councill, where Gods truth onely reigneth.

13 And

13 And when they held their peace, g James answered, saying, Men and brethren, hearken vnto me.

14 7 Simeon hath declared, how God first did visite the Gentiles, to take of them a people vnto his Name.

15 And to this agree the wordes of the Prophets, as it is written,

16 ¶ * After this I will returne, and will builde againe the tabernacle of Dauid, which is fallen downe, and the ruines thereof will I build againe, and I will set it vp,

17 That the residue of men might seeke after the Lord, and all the Gentiles vpon whom my Name is called, saith the Lord which doth all these things.

18 From the beginning of the world, God h knoweth all his workes.

19 8 Wherefore my sentence is, that wee trouble not them of the Gentiles that are turned to God, 20 But that we send vnto them, that they abstaine themselues from i filthinesse of idoles and fornication, and that is strangled, and from blood.

21 For Moses of olde time hath in euery citie them that preach him, seeing he is read in the Synagogue euery Sabbath day.

22 9 Then it seemed good to the Apostles and Elders with the whole Church, to sende chosen men of their owne company to Antiochia with Paul and Barnabas: to wit, Iudas whose surname was Barsabas and Silas, which were chiefe men among the brethren, 23 And wrote letters by them after this maner, THE APOSTLES, and the Elders, and the brethren, vnto the brethren which are of the Gentiles in Antiochia, and in Syria, and in Cilicia sende greeting.

24 10 Forasmuch as wee haue heard, that certaine which k went out from vs, haue troubled you with wordes, and l cumbred your mindes, saying, Yee must be circumcised and keepe the Law, to whom we gaue no such commaundement,

25 It seemed therefore good to vs, when wee were come together with one accorde, to sende chosen men vnto you, with our beloued Barnabas and Paul,

26 Men that haue m giuen vp their liues for the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ.

27 Wee haue therefore sent Iudas and Silas, which shal also tell you the same things by mouth.

28 11 For it seemed good to the n holy Ghost, and ° to vs, to lay no more burthen vpon you, then these, p necessary things, 20 12 That is, that ye abstaine from things offered to idoles, and blood, and that that is strangled, and from fornication: from which if ye keepe your selues, ye shall doe well. Fare ye well.

30 13 Now when they were departed, they came to Antiochia, and after that they had assembled the multitude, they deliuered the Epistle.

31 And when they had read it, they reioyced for the consolation.

32 And Iudas and Silas being Prophets, exhorted the brethren with many wordes, and strengthened them.

33 And after they had taried there a space, they were let goe in q peace of the brethren vnto the Apostles.

34 Notwithstanding Silas thought good to abide there still.

35 Paul also and Barnabas continued in Antiochia, teaching and preaching with many other, the word of the Lord.

36 ¶ 14 But after certaine dayes, Paul saide vnto Barnabas, Let vs returne, and visite our brethren in euery citie, where we haue preached the word of the Lorde, and see howe they doe.

37 15 And Barnabas counselled to take with them Iohn, called Marke.

38 But Paul thought it not meete to take him vnto their company, which departed from them from Pamphylia, and went not with them to the worke,

39 16 Then were they so r stirred, that they departed asunder one from the other, so that Barnabas tooke Marke, and sayled vnto Cyprus, 40 And Paul chose Silas and departed, being commended of the brethren vnto the grace of God.

41 And hee went through Syria and Cilicia, stablishing the Churches.

g The sonne of Alpheus, who is also called the Lords brother.

7 Iames confirmeth the calling of the Gentiles, out of the word of God, therein agreeing to Peter.

* Amos 9. 11.

h And therefore nothing commeth to passe by fortune, but by Gods appointment.

i In matters indifferent, we may so farre beare with the weakenesse of our brethren, as they may haue time to be instructed.

i From sacrifices, or from flesh which were kept in Idoles temples.

8 In a lawfull Synode, neither they which are appointed and chosen Iudges, appoint and determine any thing tyrannously or vpon a Lordlines, neither doeth the common multitude set themselues tumultuously against them which sit as iudges by the word of God: as the like order also is holden in publishing and ratifying those things which haue bene so determined and agreed vpon.

9 The Councell of Hierusalem concludeth, that they trouble mens consciences which teach vs to seeke saluation in any other meanes then in Christ onely apprehended by faith, from whence soeuer they come, and whomsoeuer they pretend to be authour of their vocation.

k From our congregation.

l A borowed kinde of speach taken of them which pul downe that that was built vp: and it is a very vsuall meraphore in the Scriptures to say the Church is built, for the Church is planted and stablished.

m Haue greatly hazarded their liues.

11 That is a lawfull Councell, which the holy Ghost ruleth.

n First they make mention of the holy Ghost, that it may not seeme to be any mans worke.

o Not that men haue any authoritie of themselues, but to shew the faithfulnes that they vsed in their ministery & labour.

p This was no precise necessitie, but in respect of the state of that time, that the Gentiles and the Iewes might more peaceably liue together with lesse occasion of quarel.

12 Charitie is requisite euen in things indifferent.

13 It is requisite for all people to know certainly what to holde in matters of faith and religion, and not that the Church by ignorance and knowing nothing, should depend vpon the pleasure of a fewe.

q This is an Hebrew kinde of speach, which is as much to say, as the brethren wished them all prosperous successe, and the Church dismissed them with good leaue.

14 Congregations or Churches doe easily degenerate, vnlesse they be diligently seene vnto, and therefore went these Apostles to ouersee such as they had planted, and for this cause also, Synodes were instituted and appointed.

15 A lamentable example of discord betweene excellent men and very great friendes, yet not for prophane or their priuate affaires, neither yet for doctrine.

16 God vseth the faults of his seruants to the profit and building of his Church: yet we haue to take heede, euen in the best matters, that wee passe not measure in our heart.

r They were in great heate: But herein wee haue to consider the force of Gods counsell: for by this meanes it came to passe, that the doctrine of the Gospel was exercised in many places.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Paul hauing circumcised Timotheus. 12 being at Philippi. 14 instructeth Lidia in the faith. 16 The spirit of Diuination. 18 is by him cast out. 20 and for that cause. 22 they are whipped. 24 and imprisoned. 26 Through an earthquake. 27 the prison doores are opened. 31 32 The layler receiueth the faith.

THen 1 came hee to Derbe and to Lystra: and beholde, a certaine disciple was there named * Timotheus, a womans sonne, which was a [a] Jewesse and beleeued, but his father was a Grecian.

1 Paul himselfe doeth not receiue Timothie into the ministerie without sufficient testimonie, and allowance of the brethren. * Rom. 15. 21. philip. 2. 19. 1. thessal. 3. 2.

2 Of whome the brethren which were at Lystra and Iconium, [b] reported wel.

3 [2] Therefore Paul would that hee should goe forth with him, and tooke and circumcised him, because of the Jewes, which were in those quarters: for they knewe all, that his father was a Grecian.

4 [3] And as they went through the cities, they deliuered them the [c] decrees to keepe, ordeined of the Apostles and Elders, which were at Hierusalem.

5 And so were the Churches stablished in the faith, and encreased in number daily.

6 ¶ [4] Now when they had gone throughout Phrygia, and the region of Galatia, they were [d] forbidden of the holy Ghost to preach the word in Asia.

7 Then came they to Mysia and sought to goe into Bithynia: but the Spirit suffered them not.

8 Therefore they passed through Mysia, and came downe to Troas.

9 [5] Where a vision appeared to Paul in the night. There stoode a man of Macedonia, and prayed him, saying, Come into Macedonia, and helpe vs.

10 [6] And after hee had seene the vision, immediatly we prepared to goe into Macedonia, being assured that the Lorde had called vs to preach the Gospel vnto them.

11 Then went we forth from Troas, and with a straight course came to Samothracia, and the next day to Neapolis, 12 ¶ And from thence to Philippi, which is the chiefe citie in the partes of Macedonia, and whose inhabitants came from Rome to dwell there, and we were in that citie abiding certaine dayes.

13 [7] And on the Sabbath day, wee went out of the citie, beside a Riuer, where they were wont to [e] pray: and we sate downe, and spake vnto the women, which were come together.

14 [8] And a certaine woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the citie of the Thyatirians, which worshipped God, heard vs: whose heart the Lorde opened, that shee attended vnto the things, which Paul spake.

15 [9] And when shee was baptized, and her houshold, she besought vs, saying, If ye haue iudged me to be faithful to the Lord, come into mine house, and abide there: and she constrained vs.

16 [10] And it came to passe that as we went to prayer a certaine maide hauing a spirite of [f] diuination, mette vs, which gate her masters much vantage with diuining.

17 She followed Paul and vs, and cried, saying, These men are the seruants of the most high God, which shewe vnto you the way of saluation.

18 And this did she many dayes: but Paul being grieued, turned about, and saide to the spirit, I commaund thee in the Name of Iesus Christ, that thou come out of her. And he came out the same houre.

19 [11] Now when her masters saw that the hope of their gaine was gone, they caught Paul and Silas, and drewe them into the market place vnto the Magistrates,

20 [12] And brought them to the gouernours, saying, These men which are Jewes, trouble our citie, 21 [13] And preach ordinances, which are not lawful for vs to receiue, neither to obserue, seeing we are Romanes.

22 [14] The people also rose vp together against them, and the gouernours rent their clothes, and commaunded them to bee beaten with roddes.

23 And when they had beaten them sore, they cast them into prison, commaunding the Jayler to keepe them surely.

24 Who hauing receiued such commaundement, cast them into the inner prison, and made their feete [h] fast in the stockes.

25 [15] Nowe at midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and sung Psalmes vnto God: and the prisoners heard them.

26 And suddenly there was a great earthquake: so that the foundation of the prison was shaken: and by and by all the doores opened, and euery mans bands were loosed.

27 [16] Then the keeper of the prison waked out of his sleepe, and when hee sawe the prison doores open, he drewe out his sword, and would haue killed himselfe, supposing the prisoners had bene fled.

28 [17] But Paul cried with a lowde voyce, saying, Doe thy selfe no harme: for wee are all here.

29 Then he called for a light, and leaped in, and came trembling, and fell downe before Paul and Silas, 30 And brought them out, and said, Syrs, what must I doe to be saued?

31 And they said, Beleeue in the Lord Iesus Christ, and thou shalt bee saued, and thine housholde.

32 And they preached vnto him the word of the Lord, and to all that were in the house.

33 [18] Afterwarde hee tooke them the same houre of the night, and washed their stripes, and was baptized with all that belonged vnto him, straightway.

34 And

a Paul in his latter Epistle to Timothie, commendeth the godlines of Timothies mother and grandmother.

b Both for his godlines and honestie.

2 Timothie is circumcised, not simply for any necessitie, but in respect of the time onely to winne the Jewes.

3 Charitie is to be obserued in things indifferent, that so, regard be had both of the weake and the quietnesse of the Church.

c Those decrees which he spake of in the former chapter.

4 God appointeth certaine and determinate times to open and set forth his trueth, that both the election, and the calling may proceede of grace.

d He sheweth not why they were forbidden, but onely that they were forbidden, teaching vs to obey, and not to inquire.

5 They are the Ministers of the Gospel, by whom hee helpeth such as were like to perish.

6 The Saints did not easely beleeue euery vision.

7 God beginneth his kingdome in Macedonia by the conuersion of a woman, and so sheweth that there is no acception of person in the Gospel.

e Where they were wont to assemble themselues.

8 The Lord only openeth the heart to beare the worde which is preached.

9 An example of a godly huswife.

10 Satan transformeth himselfe into an Angel of light, and coueteth to enter by vndermining, but Paul openly letteth him, and calleth him out.

f This is a proper note of Apollo, which was wont to giue answeres to them that asked him.

g Paul made no haste to this miracle, for he did all things as he was lead by the Spirit.

11 Couetousnes of lucre & gaines is an occasion of persecuting the trueth. In the meane season, God sparing, Timothie, calleth Paul and Silas as the stronger, to battaile.

12 Couetousnes pretendeth a desire of common peace and gaintnesse.

13 It is an argument of the deuil, to dote the authoritie of ancesters without any distinction.

14 An example of euil Magistrates, to obey the furie and rage of the people.

h Because he would be more sure of them, he set them fast in the stockes.

15 The prayers of the godly doe shake both heauen and earth.

16 The mercifull Lord, so oft as he listeth, draweth men to life euen through the middest of death, whereas iustly they deserued great punishment, he sheweth them great mercie.

17 In meanes, which are especially extraordinarie, we ought not to moue our foote fastward, vnlesse that God goe before vs.

18 God with one selfe same hand woundeth and healeth, when it pleaseth him.

34 And when hee had brought them into his house, he set meate before them, and reioyced that hee with all his household beleeued in God.

35 [19] And when it was day, the gouernors sent the sergeants, saying, Let those men goe.

36 Then the keeper of the prison tolde these wordes vnto Paul, saying, The gouernours haue sent to loose you: nowe therefore get you hence, and goe in peace.

37 [20] Then saide Paul vnto them, After that they haue beaten vs openly vncondemned, which are Romanes, they haue cast vs into prison, and nowe would they put vs out priuily? nay verely: but let them come and bring vs out.

38 [21] And the sergeants tolde these wordes vnto the gouernours, who feared when they heard that they were Romanes.

39 Then came they and prayed them, and brought them out, and desired them to depart out of the citie.

40 [22] And they went out of the prison, and entred into the house of Lydia: and when they had seene the brethren, they comforted them, and departed.

19 Shame and confusion is in processe of time, the reward of wicked & vniust Magistrates.

20 We must not render iniurie, for iniurie, and yet notwithstanding it is lawful for vs to vse such helpes as God giueth vs, to auoide the outrageousnesse of the wicked, that they hurt not other in like sort.

21 The wicked are not mooued with the feare of God, but with the feare of men: and by that meanes also God prouideth for his, when it is needful.

22 We may eschew dangers, so that we neuer neglect our dutie.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Paul at Thessalonica 3 preaching Christ, 6. 7 is intertained of Iason: 10 Hee is sent to Berea: 15 from thence comming to Athens, 19 in Mars streete 23 hee preacheth the liuing God to them vnknowen, 34 and so many are conuerted vnto Christ.

NOwe [1] as they passed through Amphipolis, and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where was a Synagogue of ꝑ Iewes.

1 The calling out of Silas and Paul was the saiing of many after.

2 And Paul, as his maner was, went in vnto them, and three Sabbath dayes disputed with them by the Scriptures,

3 [2] Opening, and alleadging that Christ must haue suffered, and risen againe from the dead: and this is Iesus Christ, whom, said he, I preach to you.

2 Christ is therefore the Mediatour, because he was crucified and rose againe: much lesse is hee to be reiected because the crosse is ignominious.

4 And some of them beleeued, and ioyned in companie with Paul and Silas: also of the Grecians that feared God a great multitude, and of the chiefe women not a few.

3 Although the zeale of the vnfaithfull seeme neuer so goodly, yet at length it is found to haue neither trueth nor equitie: But yet the wicked cannot do what they list, for euen among themselues God stirreth vp some, whose helpe he vseth to the deliuerance of his.

5 [3] But the Iewes which beleeued not, moued with enuie, tooke vnto them certaine [a] vagabonds and wicked fellowes, and when they had assembled the multitude, they made a tumult in the citie, and made assault against the house of Iason, and sought to bring them out to the people.

a Certaine companions which do nothing but walke the streets, wicked men, to be hired for euery mans money to doe any mischiefe, such as we commonly call the rascals and very sinkes and dunghil knaues of all townes and cities.

6 But when they founde them not, they drewe Iason and certaine brethren vnto the heades of the citie, crying, these are they which haue subuerted the state of the [b] worlde, and here they are.

b Into what countrey and place soeuer they come, they cause sedition and tumult.

7 Whome Iason hath receiued, and these all do against the decrees of Cesar, saying that there is another King one Iesus.

8 Then they troubled the people, and the heads of the citey, when they heard these things.

9 Notwithstanding when they had receiued sufficient [c] assurance of Iason and of the other, they let them goe.

c When Iason had put them in good assurance that they should appeare.

10 [4] And the brethren immediatly sent away Paul and Silas by night vnto Berea, which when they were come thither, entred into the Synagogue of the Iewes.

4 That is frō the time the word of the first preaching, which also was sette by the glory of God before it selfe as a marke whereunto it directed all, selfe, and neuer swarueth from it.

11 [5] These were also more [d] noble men then they which were at Thessalonica, which receiued the worde with all readines, and searched the Scriptures daily, whether those things were so.

5 The Lord seeketh out in one moment, and in one people diuers examples of his vnsearchable wisedome to cause them to feare him.

d He compareth the Iewes with the Iewes.

12 Therefore many of them beleeued, and of honest women, which were Grecians, and men not a fewe.

6 Satan hath his, who are zealous for him, and that euen such as least of all ought.

13 ¶ [6] But when the Iewes of Thessalonica knewe, that the worde of God was also preached of Paul at Berea, they came thither also, and mooued the people.

7 There is neither counsell, nor fury, nor madnesse against the Lord.

14 [7] But by and by the brethren sent away Paul to goe as it were to the sea: but Silas and Timotheus abode there still.

8 The sheepe of Christ doe also watch for their pastors health and safetie, but yet in the Lord.

15 [8] And they that did conduct Paul, [e] brought him vnto Athens: and when they had receiued a commaundement vnto Silas and Timotheus, that they should come to him at once, they departed.

e It is not to be thought that the Iewes of Berea were so commended, for they brought Paul first from Macedon to Athens, and there is in distance betwixt those two, all Thessalia, and Beœotia, and Attica.

16 ¶ [9] Now while Paul waited for them at Athens, his spirit was [f] stirred in him, when he saw the citie subiect to [g] idolatrie.

9 In comparing the wisdome of God with mans wisdome, men scoffe & mocke at that which they vnderstand not. And God vseth the curiositie of fooles to gather together his elect.

f He could not forbeare.

g Slauishly giuen to idolatrie: Pausanias writeth, there were more idoles in Athens then in al Grecia: yea they had altars dedicated to 17 Therefore hee disputed in the Synagogue with the Iewes, and with them that were religious, and in the market daily with [h] whomsoeuer he met.

h Whomsoeuer Paul met with, that would suffer him to talke with him, he reasoned with him, so throughly did he burne with the zeale of Gods glory.

18 [10] Then certaine Philosophers of the Epicures, and of the Stoikes, disputed with him, and some said, What wil this [i] babler say? Others said, He seemeth to be a setter foorth of strange gods (because he preached vnto them Iesus, and the resurrection.)

10 Two sects especially of the Philosophers, doe set themselues against Christ: the Epicures, which make a scoffe at all religion: and the Stoikes, which determine vpon matters of Religion according to their owne braines.

i Word for word, seede gatherer: a borowed kinde of speach taken of birdes which spoile corne, and is applied in them which without all art bluster out such knowledge as they haue gotten by hearing this man and that man.

19 And they tooke him, and brought him into [k] Mars streete, saying, May wee not know, what this new doctrine, whereof thou speakest, is?

k This was a place called as you would say, Mars hill, where the Iudges sate, which were called Areopagitæ, vpon waightie affaires, which in olde time attained Socrates, and afterward condemned him of impietie.

20 For thou bringest certaine strange things vnto our eares: we would know therefore, what these things meane.

Shame, and Fame, and Lust, whom they made goddesses.

21 [11] For all the Athenians, and strangers which dwelt there, gaue themselues to nothing els, but either to tell, or to heare some newes.

22 [12] Then Paul stoode in the middes of Mars streete, and said, Yee men of Athens, I perceiue that in all things ye are too [l] superstitious.

23 For as I passed by, and beheelde your [m] deuotions, I founde an altar wherein was written, VNTO [n] THE VNKNOWEN GOD. Whom ye then ignorantly worship, him shew I vnto you.

24 [13] God that made the worlde, and all things that are therein, seeing that he is Lord of heauen and earth, *dwelleth not in temples made with handes,

25 * Neither is worshipped with mens handes, as though he needed any thing, seeing he giueth to all life and breath, and all things,

26 [14] And hath made of [o] one blood all mankinde, to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath assigned the seasons which were ordeined before, and the boundes of their habitation,

27 That they should seeke the Lorde, if so bee they might haue [p] groped after him, and found him, though doubtlesse hee be not farre from euery one of vs.

28 For in him wee liue, and moue, and haue our being, as also certaine of your owne Poets haue said, For we are also his generatiō.

29 * Forasmuch then, as we are the generation of God, we ought not to thinke that the Godhead is like vnto golde, or siluer, or stone [q] grauen by arte and the inuention of man.

30 [15] And the time of this ignorance God regarded not: but now he admonisheth al men euery where to repent, 31 Because he hath appointed a day in the which he wil iudge the world in righteousnes, by that man whom he hath appointed, whereof he hath giuen an [r] assurance of all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead.

32 [16] Nowe when they had heard of the resurrection from the dead, some mocked, and other said, Wee will heare thee againe of this thing.

33 And so Paul departed from among them.

34 Howbeit certaine men claue vnto Paul, and beleeued: among whome was also Denys Areopagita, and a woman named Damaris, and other with them.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 As Paul at Corinth 6 taught the Gentiles, 9 The Lord comforteth him. 12 He is accused before Gallio, 16 but in vaine: 18 From thence hee saileth to Syria, 19 and so to Ephesus. 23 At Galatia and Phrygia hee strengtheneth the disciples: 24 Apollos being more perfectly instructed by Aquila, 28 preacheth Christ with great efficacie.

AFter [1] these things, Paul departed from Athens, and came to Cozinthus.

2 And founde a certaine Iewe named *Aquila, borne in Pontus, lately come from Italie, and his wife Priscilla, (because that [a] Claudius had commanded al Iewes to depart from Rome) and he came vnto them.

3 And because he was of the same craft, he abode with them and wrought (for their craft was to make tents)

4 [2] And he disputed in the Synagogue euery Sabbath day, and [b] exhorted the Iewes, and the Grecians:

5 Nowe when Silas and Timotheus were come from Macedonia, Paul, [c] forced in spirite, testified to the Iewes that Iesus was the Christ.

6 [3] And when they resisted and blasphemed, hee *shooke his rayment, and saide vnto them, Your [d] blood be vpon your owne head: I am cleane: from henceforth will I goe vnto the Gentiles.

7 So hee departed thence, and entred into a certaine mans house, named Iustus, a worshipper of God, whose house ioyned hard to the Synagogue.

8 And *Crispus the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, beleeued in the Lorde with all his houshold: and many of the Cozinthians hearing it, beleeued and were baptized.

9 *Then said the Lord to Paul in the night by a vision, Feare not, but speake and hold not thy peace.

10 For I am with thee, and no man shall lay hand on thee to hurt thee: for I haue much people in this citie.

11 So he [e] continued there a yeere and sixe moneths, and taught the worde of God among them.

12 ¶ [5] Now when Gallio was deputie of [f] Achaia, the Iewes arose with one accorde against Paul, and brought him to the iudgement seate, 13 Saying, This fellowe perswadeth men to worship God otherwise then the Law appointeth,

14 And as Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio said vnto the Iewes, If it were a matter of wrong, or an euill deede, O yee Iewes, I would according to s reason maintaine you.

15 But if it be a question of h wordes and i names, and of your Lawe, looke yee to it your selues: for I will bee no iudge of those things.

16 And hee draue them from the iudgement seate.

17 Then tooke all the Grecians Sosthenes the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, & beate him before the iudgement seat: but Gallio cared nothing for those things.

18 [6] But when Paul had taried there yet a good while, hee tooke leaue of the brethren, and sailed into Syria (and with him Priscilla and Aquila) after that [k] he had shorne his head in [l] Cenchrea: for he had a *vowe.

19 Then hee came to Ephesus, and left them there: but he entred into the Synagogue and disputed with the Iewes.

21 But bade them farewel, saying, I must needes keepe this feast that commeth, in Hierusalem: but I will returne againe vnto you, *[m] if God will. So he sailed from Ephesus.

22 ¶ And when he came downe to Cesarea, he went vp to Hierusalem: and when hee had saluted the Church, hee went downe vnto Antiochia.

23 Now when he had taried there a while, hee departed, and went thorow the countrey of Galatia and Phrygia by order, strengthening all the disciples.

24 [8] And a certaine Iewe named *Apollos, borne at Alexandria, came to Ephesus, an eloquent man, and [n] mighty in the Scriptures.

25 The same was instructed in the way of the Lorde, and hee spake feruently in the Spirite, and taught diligently the things of the Lord, and knew but the baptisme of Iohn onely.

26 And hee began to speake boldly in the Synagogue. Whom when *Aquila and Priscilla had heard, they tooke him vnto them, and expounded vnto him the [o] way of God more perfectly.

27 And when hee was minded to goe into Achaia, the brethren exhorting him, wrote to the disciples to receiue him: and after he was come thither, hee holpe them much which had beleeued through [p] grace.

28 For mightily hee confuted publikely the Iewes, with great vehemencie, shewing by the Scriptures, that Iesus was that Christ.

1 Certaine disciples at Ephesus, 2 hauing onely receiued Iohns baptisme, 3 And knew not the visible gifts of the holy Ghost wherewith God had beautified his Sonnes kingdome, 5 are baptized in the name of Iesus. 13 The Iewish exorcists 16 are beaten of the deuill. 19 Coniuring bookes are burnt. 24 Demetrius 29 raiseth sedition against Paul.

AND [1] it came to passe, while Apollos was at Corinthus, that Paul when hee passed thorow the vpper coasts, came to Ephesus, and found certaine disciples,

2 And said vnto them, Haue yee receiued the [a] holy Ghost since yee beleeued? And they sayd vnto him, We haue not so much as heard whether there be an holy Ghost.

3 [2] And he sayd vnto them, Vnto [b] what were ye then baptized? And they sayde, Vnto [c] Iohns baptisme.

4 Then sayd Paul, *Iohn verely baptized with the baptisme of repentance, saying vnto the people, that they should beleeue in him, which should come after him, that is, in Christ Iesus.

5 And when they heard it, they were baptized in the name of the Lord Iesus.

6 So Paul laid his hands vpon them, and the holy Ghost came on them, and they spake the tongues and prophesied.

7 And all the men were about twelue.

8 ¶ Moreouer, he went into the Synagogue, and spake boldly for the space of three moneths, disputing & exhorting to the things that appertaine to the kingdom of God.

9 [3] But when certaine were hardened, and disobeyed, speaking euill of the [d] way of God before the multitude, hee departed from them, and separated the disciples, and disputed daily in the schoole of one [e] Tyrannus.

10 And this was done by the space of two yeeres, so that all they which dwelt in Asia, heard the word of the Lord Iesus, both Iewes and Grecians.

11 And God wrought no final miracles by the hands of Paul,

12 So that from his body were brought vnto the sicke, kerchiefs, or handkerchiefs, and the diseases departed from them, and the euill spirits went out of them.

13 [4] Then certaine of ỹ vagabond Iewes, [f] exorcistes, tooke in hand to name ouer them which had euill spirits, the Name of the Lorde Iesus, saying, We adiure you by Iesus, whom Paul preacheth.

14 (And there were certaine sonnes of Sceua a Iewe, the Priest, about seuen which did this)

15 And the euil spirit answered, and sayd, Iesus I acknowledge, and Paul I know: but who are ye?

16 And the man in whom the euill spirite was,

1 Paul being nothing offended at the rudenesse of the Ephesians, planteth a Church amongst them.

3 For a man to separate himself and others from infidels which are vtterly desperate, it is not to deuide the Church, but rather to vnite it, and make it sure.

d By this word Way, the Hebrewes vnderstand any kind of life, and here it is taken for Christianitie.

e This was a mans proper name.

4 Satan is constrained to giue witnesse against himselfe.

f So were they called which cast out deuils by coniuring them in the Name of God: and in the beginning of the Church, they which had the gift of working miracles, and laid their hands on them that were possessed with deuils, were also so called.

was, ranne on them, and ouercame them, and preuailed against them, so that they fled out of that house, naked, and wounded.

17 And this was knowen to all the Iewes and Grecians also, which dwelt at Ephesus, and feare came on them all, and the Name of the Lord Iesus was magnified, 18 [5] And many that beleeued, came and [h] confessed, and shewed their workes.

19 Many also of them which vsed curious artes, brought their bookes, and burned them before all men: and they counted the price of them, and found it [i] fiftie thousand pieces of siluer.

20 So the worde of God grew mightily, and preuailed.

21 ¶ [6] Nowe when these things were accomplished, Paul purposed by the [k] Spirite to passe through Macedonia and Achaia, and to goe to Hierusalem, saying, After I haue bene there, I must also see Rome.

22 So sent hee into Macedonia two of them that ministred vnto him, Timotheus, and Erastus, but hee remained in Asia for a season.

23 [7] And the same time there arose no smal trouble about that way.

24 For a certaine man named Demetrius a siluersmith, which made siluer [l] temples of Diana, brought great gaines vnto the craftesmen,

25 Whome hee called together, with the workemen of like things, and saide, Syrs, yee know that by this craft we haue our goods:

26 Moreouer yee see and heare, that not alone at Ephesus, but almost throughout all Asia this Paul hath perswaded, & turned away much people, saying, That they be not gods which are made with hands.

27 So that not onely this thing is dangerous vnto vs, that this our [m] portion shall bee reproued, but also that the temple of the great goddesse Diana should bee nothing esteemed, and that it would come to passe that her magnificence, which all Asia and the worlde worshippeth, should be destroyed.

28 Now when they heard it, they were full of wrath, and cried out, saying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.

29 And the whole citie was full of confusion, and they rushed into the common place with one assent, and caught * Gaius, and * Aristarchus, men of Macedonia, and Pauls companions of his iourney.

30 And when Paul woulde haue entred in vnto the people, the disciples suffered him not.

31 [8] Certaine also of the chiefe of Asia which were his friendes, sent vnto him, desiring him that he would not present himselfe in the Common place.

32 Some therefore cried one thing, and some another: for the assembly was out of order, and the more part knewe not wherefore they were come together.

33 And some of the company drew foorth Alexander, the Iewes thrusting him forwards. Alexander then beckened with the hande, and woulde haue excused the matter to the people.

34 [9] But when they knewe that hee was a Iewe, there arose a shoute almost for the space of two houres, of all men crying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.

35 [10] Then the towne clearke when hee had stayed the people, sayd, Yee men of Ephesus, what man is it that knoweth not how that the citie of the Ephesians is a worshipper of the great goddesse Diana, and of the image, which [n] came downe from Iupiter?

36 Seeing then that no man can speake against these things, yee ought to be appeased, and to doe nothing rashly, 37 For ye haue brought hither these men, which haue neither committed sacrilege, neither doe blaspheme your goddesse.

38 Wherefore, if Demetrius and the crafts men which are with him, haue [o] matter against any man, the [p] lawe is open, and there are [q] Deputies: let them accuse one another.

39 But if ye inquire any thing concerning other matters, it may be determined in a [r] lawfull assembly.

40 For we are euen in ieopardy to be accused of this dayes sedition, for as much as there is no cause, whereby wee may giue a reason of this concourse of people.

41 And when he had thus spoken, he let the assembly depart.

CHAP. XX.

1 Paul appointeth to go to Macedonia: 7 In Troas preaching vntill midnight, 9 Eutichus fell downe dead out of a window, 10 hee raiseth him to life: 15 At Miletum, 17 hauing called the Elders of Ephesus together, 23 hee declareth what things shall come vpon himselfe, 28 and others.

NOwe [1] after the tumult was appeased, Paul called the disciples vnto him, and embraced them, and departed to goe into Macedonia.

2 And when hee had gone through those partes, and had exhorted them with [2] manie wordes, he came into Grecia.

3 [3] And hauing tarried there three moneths, because the Iewes laide waite for him, as hee was about to saile into Syria, hee purposed to returne through Macedonia.

4 And there accompanied him into Asia, Sopater of Berea, & of them of Thessalonica, Aristarchus, g He preuailed against them, though they were neuer so many.

3 Coniuring and sorcerie is condemned by open testimonie, and by the authoritie of the Apostle.

8 There ought to be in all Christians, and especially in the ministers, an inuincible constancie, which may not by any feares or assaults be ouercome, which notwithstanding must suffer it selfe modestly to be gouerned by wisedom.

9 In steed of reason, the idolaters are sufficiently conuicted with their owne madnesse and outcries, & those are the greatest beleeuers that they haue.

r He speaketh of a lawful assembly not onely to except against the disordred hurly burly of the people, but also against al meeting & comming together, which was not by order: for there were certaine dates appointed to call the people together in.

1 Paul departeth from Ephesus by the consent of ỹ Church not to be idle or at rest, but to take paines in another place.

2 For after so great trouble, there was need of a long exhortation.

3 A frowarde zeale is ỹ guider and instructer to murders: and we are not deliuered by the wisdom of God to preuent the endeuours of wicked men.

Ariſtarchus, & Secundus, and Gaius of Derbe, and Timotheus, and of them of Aſia, Tychicus, and Trophimus.

5 Theſe went before, and taried vs at Troas.

6 And we ſailed foorth from Philippi, after the dayes of vnleauened bread, and came vnto them to Troas in fiue dayes, where we abode ſeuen dayes.

3 Aſſemblies in the night time cannot be iuſtly condemned, neither ought, when the cauſe is good.

7 [3] And the [b] firſt day of the weeke, the diſciples being come together to breake bread, Paul preached vnto them, ready to depart on the morrow, and continued the preaching vnto midnight.

b Word for word, the firſt day of the Sabbath, that is, vpon the Lords day: ſo that by this place, and by 1. Cor. 16. 2. it is not amiſſe gathered, that in thoſe dayes the Chriſtians were woot to aſſemble themſelues ſolemnly together vpon that day.

8 [4] And there were many lights in an vpper chamber, where they were gathered together.

4 The deuil minding to trouble the Church with a great offence, giueth Paul a ſingular occaſion to confirme the goſpel.

9 And there ſate in a windowe a certaine yong man, named Eutychus, fallen into a dead ſleepe: and as Paul was long preaching, he ouercome with ſleepe, fell downe from the third loft, and was taken vp dead.

10 But Paul went downe, & laid himſelfe vpon him, and embraced him, ſaying, Trouble not your ſelues: for his life is in him.

11 Then when Paul was come vp againe, and had broken bread, and eaten, hauing ſpoken a long while till the dawning of the day, he ſo departed.

12 And they brought the boy aliue, and they were not a little comforted.

5 Paul an earneſt and diligent ſeeker of Chriſt making haſt to his bonds without any ceaſing & ſhopping in his race, doeth fulfill of all as it were, make his teſtament, wherin he giueth an account of his former life, defendeth the doctrine which he taught, and expoſeth the Paſtors of ſ church to perſeuere and goe forward with continuance in their office.

13 ¶ Then wee went before to ſhip, and ſailed vnto the citie Aſſos, that we might receiue Paul there: for ſo had he appointed, and would himſelfe goe afoote.

14 Nowe when he was come vnto vs to Aſſos, and we had receiued him, we came to Mitylenes.

15 And we ſailed thence, & came the nexte day ouer againſt Chios, and the nexte day we arriued at Samos, and taried at Trogyllium: the next day we came to Miletum.

c According as the ſituation of theſe places is ſet foorth, ſ diſtance betweene Epheſus and Miletum, was about 400. furlongs, which maketh almoſt fifty dutch miles.

16 [5] For Paul had determined to ſaile by Epheſus, becauſe he would not ſpend the time in Aſia: for he haſted to be, if he could poſſible, at Hieruſalem, at the day of Pentecoſt.

17 ¶ Wherefore from [c] Miletum, he ſent to Epheſus, and called the Elders of the Church.

18 [6] Who when they were come to him, he ſaid vnto them, Ye know from the firſt day that I came into Aſia, after what maner I haue bene with you at all ſeaſons.

8 The doctrine of the Apoſtles is moſt perfite and abſolute.

25 And nowe behold, I know that henceforth ye all, through whom I haue gone preaching the kingdome of God, ſhall ſee my face no more.

26 Wherefore I take you to record this day, that I am [f] pure from the blood of all men.

27 [8] For I haue kept nothing backe, but haue ſhewed you all the counſell of God.

h A notable ſentence for Chriſts Godhead: which ſheweth plainly in his perſon, how that by reaſon of the ioyning together of the two natures in his owne perſon, that which is proper to one, is ſpoken of the other, being taken in the deriuatiue, and not in the primatiue: which in old time the godly fathers termed, a communicating or fellowſhip of proprieties, that is to ſay, a making common of that to two, which belongeth but to one.

28 Take heed therefore vnto your ſelues, & to all the flocke, whereof the holy Ghoſt hath made you Ouerſeers, to [g] feed the Church of God, which [h] he hath purchaſed with [i] that his owne blood.

i This word, That, ſheweth the excellencie of this blood.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Paul goeth toward Hierusalem: 8 at Cæsarea he talketh with Philip the Euangelist: 10 Agabus foretelleth him of his bonds. 17 After he came to Hierusalem, 26 and into the Temple, 27 The Iewes laid hands on him: 32 Lysias the captaine taketh him from them.

AND [1] as we lanched forth, and were departed from thē, we came with a straight course vnto Coos, and the day following vnto the Rhodes, and from thence vnto Patara.

2 And we found a ship that went ouer vnto Phenice, and went aboord, and set forth.

3 And when we had discouered Cyprus, we left it on the left hand, & sailed toward Syria, and arriued at Tyrus: for there the ship vnladed the burden.

4 And when we had found disciples, wee taried there seuen dayes. And they told Paul through the [a] Spirit, that he should not goe vp to Hierusalem.

5 But when the dayes were ended, wee departed and went our way, & they all accompanied vs with their wiues and children, euen out of the citie: and we kneeling downe on the shore, prayed.

6 Then when we had embraced one another, we tooke ship, and they returned home.

7 And when we had ended the course from Tyrus, we arriued at Ptolemais, and saluted the brethren, and abode with them one day.

8 And the next day, Paul and we that were with him, departed, and came vnto Cesarea: and wee entered into the house of * Philip the Euangelist, which was one of the [b] seuen Deacons, and abode with him.

9 Now he had foure daughters virgins, which did [c] prophesie.

10 And as wee taried there many dayes, there came a certaine Prophet from Iudea, named Agabus.

11 And when he was come vnto vs, hee tooke Pauls girdle, and bound his own hands and feete, and said, Thus saieth the holy Ghost, So shall the Iewes at Hierusalem binde the man that oweth this girdle, & shall deliuer him into the hands of the Gentiles.

12 And when wee had heard these things, both wee and other of the same place besought him that he would not goe vp to Hierusalem.

13 Then Paul answered, and said, What doe ye weping and breaking mine heart? For I am ready not to bee bound onely, but also to die at Hierusalem for the Name of the Lorde Iesus.

14 [2] So when he would not be perswaded, wee ceased, saying, The will of the Lord be done.

15 And after those dayes wee trussed vp our fardels, and went vp to Hierusalem.

16 There went with vs also certain of the disciples of Cesarea, and brought with them Mnason of Cyprus, an olde disciple, with whom we should lodge.

17 And when we were come to Hierusalem, the brethren receiued vs gladly.

18 And the next day Paul went in with vs vnto James: and all the Elders were there assembled.

19 [3] And when he had embraced them, hee told by order al things, that God had wrought among the Gentiles by his ministration.

20 [4] So when they heard it, they glorified God, and sayd vnto him, Thou seest, brother, how many thousand Iewes there are which beleeue, and they are all zealous of the Law:

21 Nowe they are informed of thee, that thou teachest all the Iewes, which are among the Gentiles, to forsake Moses, and saiest that they ought not to circumcise their sonnes, neither to liue after the customes.

22 What is then to be done? the multitude must needs come together: for they shall heare that thou art come.

23 Doe therefore this that we say to thee. Wee haue foure men, which haue made a vowe, 24 Them take, and [d] purifie thy selfe with them, and [e] contribute with them, that they may * shaue their heades: and all shall know, that those things whereof they haue bene informed concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thy self also walkest and keepest the Lawe.

25 For as touching the Gentiles, which beleeue, we haue written and determined that they obserue no such thing, but that they keepe themselues from things offred to idoles, and from blood, and from that that is strangled, and from fornication.

26 Then Paul tooke the men, and the next day was purified with them, and entred into the Temple, [f] declaring the accomplishment of the dayes of the purification, vntil that an offring should be offred for euery one of them.

27 [5] And when the seuen dayes were almost ended, the Iewes which were of Asia (when they saw him in the Temple) mooued all the people, and laid hands on him, 28 Crying, Men of Israel, helpe: this is the man that teacheth all men euery where against the people, and the Law, and this place: moreouer, hee hath brought Grecians into the Temple, and hath polluted this holy place.

e That it may be knowen, that thou wast not onely prelent at the vowe, but also a chiefeman in it: and therefore it is sayd afterwards, that Paul declared the dayes of purification: for although the charges for the Nazarites offrings were appointed, yet they might adde somwhat vnto them, Num. 6. 21.

they ſuppoſed that Paul had brought into the Temple.

30 Then all the citie was mooued, and the people ran together: and they tooke Paul and drew him out of the Temple, and foorthwith the doores were ſhut.

31 [6] But as they went about to kil him, tidings came vnto the chiefe captain of the band, that all Hieruſalem was on an vprore.

32 Who immediately tooke ſouldiers and Centurions, and ran down vnto them: & when they ſaw the chiefe captaine and the ſouldiers, they left beating of Paul.

33 Then the chiefe captaine came neere and tooke him, & commanded him to be bound with two chaines, and demanded who he was, and what he had done.

34 And one cried this, another that, among the people. So when he could not know the certaintie for the tumult, he commaunded him to be led into the caſtle.

35 And when he came vnto the grieces, it was ſo that he was borne of the ſouldiers, for the violence of the people.

36 For the multitude of the people followed after, crying, Away with him.

37 And as Paul ſhould haue bene led into the caſtle, he ſaid vnto the chiefe captaine, May I ſpeake vnto thee? Who ſayde, Canſt thou ſpeake Greeke?

38 Art not thou the [s] Egyptian who before theſe daies raiſed a ſedition, and led out into the wildernes foure thouſand men that were murtherers?

39 Then Paul ſayd, Doubtleſſe, I am a man which am a Iewe, and citizen of Tarſus, a famous citie of Cilicia, and I beſeech thee, ſuffer me to ſpeake vnto the people.

40 And when hee had giuen him licence, Paul ſtood on the grieces, and beckened with the hand vnto the people: and when there was made great ſilence, he ſpake vnto them in the Hebrew tongue, ſaying,

CHAP. XXII.

1 Paul yeeldeth a reaſon of his faith, 22 and the Iewes heare him a while: 23 But ſo ſoone as they cried out, 24 he is commaunded to be ſcourged and examined, 27 and ſo declareth that he is a citizen of Rome.

[1] Paul making a briefe declaratiõ of his former life, proueth both his vocation & doctrine to be of god. a That is, his daily hearer: the reaſon of this ſpeach is this, for that they which teach ſit commonly in the higher place, ſpeaking to their diſciples which ſit vpon formes beneath & therfore beſides, at the feet of Gamaliel.

YE men, brethren and Fathers, heare my defence now towards you.

2 (And when they heard that he ſpake in the Hebrew tongue to thē, they kept the more ſilence, and he ſaid)

3 [1] I am verely a man, which am a Iew, borne in Tarſus in Cilicia, but brought vp in this citie at the [a] feete of Gamaliel, and inſtructed according to the perfect maner of the Law of the Fathers, and was zealous toward God, as ye all are this day.

4 And I perſecuted this way vnto the death, binding and deliuering into priſon both men and women.

5 As alſo the chiefe Prieſt doth beare me witneſſe, and all the company of the Elders of whom alſo I receiued letters vnto the brethrē, and went to Damaſcus to bring them which were there, bound vnto Hieruſalem, that they might be puniſhed.

6 ¶ And ſo it was, as I iourneyed and was come nere vnto Damaſcus about noone, that ſuddenly there ſhone from heauen a great light round about me.

7 So I fell vnto the earth, and heard a voyce, ſaying vnto me, Saul, Saul, why perſecuteſt thou me?

8 Then I anſwered, Who art thou, Lord? And he ſaid to mee, I am Ieſus of Nazareth, whom thou perſecuteſt.

9 Moreouer they that were with mee, ſawe in deed a light, and were afraid: but they heard not the voyce of him that ſpake vnto me.

10 Then I ſaid, What ſhall I doe, Lord? And the Lord ſaid vnto me, Ariſe, and goe into Damaſcus: and there it ſhall be told thee of all things, which are appointed for thee to doe.

11 So when I could not ſee for the glory of that light, I was led by the hand of thē that were with me, and came into Damaſcus.

12 And one Ananias a godly man, as pertaining to the Lawe, hauing good report of all the Iewes which dwelt there, 13 Came vnto me, and ſtood, and ſaid vnto me, Brother Saul, receiue thy ſight: and that ſame houre I looked vpon him.

14 And hee ſayd, The God of our fathers hath appointed thee, that thou ſhouldeſt know his will, and ſhouldeſt ſee that Iuſt one, and ſhouldeſt heare the voyce of his mouth.

15 For thou ſhalt be his witneſſe vnto all men, of the things which thou haſt ſeene and heard.

16 Now therfore why tarieſt thou? Ariſe, and be baptized, and waſh away thy ſinnes, in calling on the Name of the Lord.

17 ¶ And it came to paſſe, that when I was come againe to Hieruſalem, and prayed in the Temple, I was in a trance, 18 And ſawe him ſaying vnto mee, Make haſte, and get thee quickly out of Hieruſalem: for they will not receiue thy witneſſe concerning me.

19 Then I ſaid, Lorde, they know that I priſoned, and beate in euery Synagogue them that beleeued in thee.

20 And when the blood of thy martyr Steuen was ſhed, I alſo ſtoode by, and conſented vnto his death, and kept the clothes of them that [b] ſlew him.

21 Then

[6] God findeth fault euen amongſt the wicked, to ſhame themſelues, to hinder the endeuors of the reſt.

[s] Touching this Egyptian which aſſembled thirtie thouſand men, read Ioſeph. booke 2. cha. 12.

b This is properly ſpoken: for Steuen was murdered of a ſort of cutthrotes, not by order of iuſtice, but by open force: for at that time the Iewes could not put any man to death by Lawe.

21 Then he said vnto me, Depart: for I will send thee farre hence vnto the Gentiles.

22 [2] And they heard him vnto this word, but then they lift vp their voyces, and sayd, Away with such a fellow from the earth: for it is not meet that he should liue.

23 And as they [c] cried and cast off their clothes, and threw dust into the aire, 24 [3] The chiefe captaine commanded him to be led into the castle, and bade that he should be scourged & examined, that hee might know wherefore they cried so on him.

25 [4] And as they bound him with thongs, Paul sayde vnto the Centurion that stood by, Is it lawfull for you to scourge one that is a Romane, and not condemned?

26 Nowe when the Centurion heard it, he went, and tolde the chiefe captaine, saying, Take heede what thou doest: for this man is a Romane.

27 Then the chiefe captaine came, and said to him, Tell me, art thou a Romane? And hee said, Yea.

28 And the chiefe captaine answered, With a great summe obtained I this freedome. Then Paul said, But I was so borne.

29 Then straightway they departed from him, which shoulde haue examined him: and the chiefe captaine also was afraide, after hee knew that he was a [d] Romane, and that he had bound him.

30 On the next day, because he would haue knowen the certaintie wherefore he was accused of the Iewes, he loosed him frō his bonds, and commaunded the hie Priestes and all their Councill to come together: and hee brought Paul, and set him before them.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 As Paul pleadeth his cause, 2 Ananias commaundeth them to smite him: 7 Dissension among his accusers. 11 God encourageth him. 14 The Iewes laying waite for Paul 20 is declared vnto the chiefe captaine: 27 He sendeth him to Felix the Gouernour.

AND [1] Paul beheld earnestly the Councill, and said, Men and brethren, I haue in all good conscience serued God vntil this day.

2 [2] Then the hie Priest Ananias commaunded them that stoode by, to smite him on the mouth.

3 [3] Then saide Paul to him, God [a] will smite thee, thou [b] whited wal: for thou sittest to iudge mee according to the Lawe, and [c] transgressing the Lawe, commaundest thou mee to be smitten?

4 And they that stoode by, saide, Reuilest thou Gods hie Priest?

5 [4] Then said Paul, I knew not, brethren, that hee was the hie Priest: for it is written, * Thou shalt not speake euil of the ruler of thy people.

6 [5] But when Paul perceiued that the one part were of the Sadduces, and the other of Pharises, he [c] cryed in the Councill, Men and brethren, * I am a Pharise, the sonne of a Pharise: I am accused of the hope and resurrection of the dead.

7 [6] And when he had said this, there was a dissension betweene the Pharises & the Sadduces, so that the multitude was deuided.

8 [7]* For the Sadduces say that there is no resurrection, neither [d] Angel, nor spirit: but the Pharises confesse both.

9 [8] Then there was a great cry: and the [e] Scribes of the Pharises part rose vp, and stroue, saying, Wee finde none euill in this man: but if a spirit or an Angel hath spoken to him, let vs not fight against God.

10 [9] And when there was a great dissension, the chiefe captaine, fearing least Paul should haue bene pulled in pieces of them, commaunded the souldiers to goe downe, and take him from among them, and to bring him into the castell.

11 Nowe the night following, the Lorde stoode by him, and sayde, Bee of good courage Paul: for as thou hast testified of mee in Hierusalem, so must thou beare witnesse also at Rome.

12 [10] And when the day was come, certaine of the Iewes made an assembly, and bound themselues [f] with a curse, saying, that they would neither eate nor drinke, till they had killed Paul.

13 And they were more then fourtie, which had made this conspiracie.

14 And they came to the chiefe Priestes and Elders, and saide, Wee haue bounde our selues with a solemne curse, that we will eate nothing, vntil we haue slaine Paul.

15 Now therefore, yee and the Councill signifie to the chiefe captaine, that he bring him foorth vnto you to morrowe: as though you would knowe some thing more perfectly of him, and wee, or euer hee come neere, will bee ready to kill him.

16 But when Pauls sisters sonne heard of their laying awaite, hee went, and entred into the castel, and tolde Paul.

17 [11] And Paul called one of the Centurions vnto him, and saide, Take this yong man hence vnto the chiefe captaine: for hee hath a certaine thing to shew him.

18 So hee tooke him, and brought him to the chiefe captaine, and sayde, Paul the prisoner called mee vnto him, and prayed mee to bring 23 And hee called vnto him two certaine Centurions, saying, Make ready two hundred souldiers, that they may goe to Cesarea, and horsemen threescore and tenne, and two hundred with dartes, at the third houre of the night.

24 And let them make readie an horse, that Paul being set on, may bee brought safe vnto Felix the Gouernour.

25 And hee wrote an Epistle in this maner:

13 Lysias is iustly made by the Lorde, Pauls patrone.

26 [13] Claudius Lysias vnto the most noble Gouernour Felix sendeth greeting.

27 As this man was taken of the Iewes, and should haue bene killed of them, I came vpon them with the garison, and rescued him, perceiuing that he was a Romane.

28 And when I would haue knowen the cause, wherefore they accused him, I brought him foorth into their Council.

29 There I perceiued that hee was accused of questions of their Law, but had no crime worthie of death, or of bonds.

30 And when it was shewed me, how that the Iewes laid waite for the man, I sent him straight way to thee, and commanded his accusers to speake before thee the things that they had against him. Farewell.

31 Then the souldiers as it was commanded them, tooke Paul, and brought him by night to Antipatris.

32 And the next day, they left the horsemen to goe with him, and returned vnto the Castle.

33 Now when they came to Cesarea, they deliuered the Epistle to the Gouernour, and presented Paul also vnto him.

34 So when the Gouernour had read it, he asked of what prouince hee was: and when he vnderstood that he was of Cilicia, 35 I will heare thee, saide hee, when thine accusers also are come, and commanded him to be kept in Herods iudgement hall.

CHAP. XXIIII.

2 Tertullus accuseth Paul: 10 He answereth for himself. 21 Hee preacheth Christ to the gouernour and his wife. 27 Felix hopeth but in vaine, to receiue a bribe, 28 who going from his office, leaueth Paul in prison.

NOw [1] after fiue dayes, Ananias the hie Priest came down with the Elders, and with Tertullus a certain Orator, which appeared before the Gouernour against Paul.

1 Hypocrites, when they can not doe what they would doe, by force and deceite, at length they goe about to compasse it by a shew of Law.

2 And when he was called forth, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying, Seeing that wee haue obtained great quietnesse [a] through thee, and that many [b] worthy things are done vnto this nation through thy prouidence,

3 We acknowledge it wholly, and in all places most noble Felix, with all thanks.

4 But that I be not tedious vnto thee, I pray thee, that thou wouldest heare vs of thy curtesie a few wordes.

5 Certainely wee haue found this man a [c] pestilent fellowe, and a mouer of sedition among all the Iewes throughout the worlde, and a [d] chiefe mainteiner of the sect of the [e] Nazarites:

a Felix ruled that prouince with great crueltie and couetousnesse, and yet Iosephus recordeth that he did many worthy things, as that he tooke Eleazar the captaine of certaine cut-throats, and put that deceiuing wretch the Egyptian to flight, which caused great troubles in Iudea.

e So they called the Christians, scoffingly, of the townes name where they thought that Christ was borne, whereupon it came, that Iulian the Apostate called him Galilean.

6 And hath gone about to pollute the temple: therefore we tooke him, and would haue iudged him according to our Law:

7 But the chiefe captaine Lysias came vpon vs, and with great violence tooke him out of our hands.

8 Commaunding his accusers to come to thee: of whome thou mayest (if thou wilt enquire) knowe all these things whereof we accuse him.

9 And the Iewes likewise [f] affirmed, saying that it was so.

f Confirmed Tertullus his saying.

10 [2] Then Paul, after that the Gouernour had beckened vnto him that hee should speake, answered, I doe the more gladly answere for my selfe, for as much as I knowe that thou hast bene of s many yeeres a Iudge vnto this nation,

2 Tertullus by the deuils rhetorike beginning with flatterie, maketh amends with lies: but Paul vsing heauenly eloquence, and but a simple beginning, casteth off from himselfe the crime of sedition, wherewith he was burdened, with a simple denial.

11 Seeing that thou maiest knowe, that there are but twelue daies since I came vp to worship in Hierusalem.

12 And they neither found me in the Temple disputing with any man, neither making vproare among the people, neither in the Synagogues, nor in the citie.

13 Neither can they [h] proue the things, whereof they now accuse me.

14 [3] But this I confesse vnto thee, that after the way which they call heresie, so worship I the God of my fathers, beleeuing all things which are written in the Law and in the Prophets, g Paul pleaded his cause two yeeres before Felix departed out of the prouince, Chap. 27. but he had gouerned Trachonite, and Batanea, and Galaunite, before that Claudius made him Gouernour of Iudea: Iosephus in the historie of the Iewes warre, lib. 2. cap. 11.

h They cannot lay fourth before thee, and prooue by good reason.

3 Paul goeth in the case of religion, from a state coniectures to a state of qualitie, not onely not denying that religion which was obiected against him, but also proouing it to bee true, to be heauenly and from God, and to be the olde st of all religions.

m Whither the Tribune brought me.

1 The Iudge ſuſpendeth his ſentence, becauſe the matter is doubtfull.

n Felix could not iudge whether he had done wickedly in the matters of his religion or no, vntill he had better vnderſtanding of that way which Paul profeſſed: and as for other matters touching the ſedition, he thinketh good to deferre it till he heare Lyſias, and therefore he gaue Paul ſomewhat more libertie.

6 God is a moſt faithfull keeper of his ſeruants, and the force of the trueth is wonderfull, euen amongſt men which are otherwiſe prophane.

o This Druſilla was Agrippa his ſiſter, of whome Luke ſpeaketh afterward, a very harlot and licentious woman, and being the wife of Azizus king of the Emeſens, who was circumciſed, departed from him, and went to this Felix the brother of one Pallas, who was ſometime Nero his boardman.

7 In a naughtie minde, that is guiltie to it ſelfe, although ſometime there be ſome ſhew of equitie, yet by and by it will be extinguiſhed: but in the meane ſeaſon we haue neede of patience, and that continuall.

p For whereas he had behaued himſelfe very wickedly in the prouince, had it not bene for fauour of his brother Pallas, he ſhould haue died for it: ſo that we may gather hereby, why hee would haue pleaſured the Iewes.

ter the way (which they call [i] hereſie) ſo worſhip I the God of my Fathers, beleeuing all things which are written in the Lawe and the Prophets, 15 And haue hope towards God, that the reſurrection of the dead, which they themſelues looke for alſo, ſhal be both of iuſt and vniuſt.

16 And herein I endeuour my ſelfe to haue alway a cleere conſcience toward God, and toward men.

17 [4] Now after many yeeres, I came and brought almes to my nation and offerings.

18 At [k] what time, certaine Iewes of [l] Aſia found mee purified in the Temple, neither with multitude, nor with tumult.

19 Who ought to haue bene preſent before thee, [m] and accuſe me, if they had ought againſt me.

20 Or let theſe themſelues ſay, if they haue found any vniuſt thing in me, while I ſtood in the [m] Councill, 21 Except it be for this one voyce, that I cried ſtanding among them, Of the reſurrection of the dead am I accuſed of you this day.

22 [5] Now when Felix heard theſe things, he deferred them, and ſaid, When I ſhal more [n] perfectly knowe the things which concerne this way, by the comming of Lyſias the chiefe Captaine, I will decide your matter.

23 [6] Then he commanded a Centurion to keepe Paul, and that he ſhould haue eaſe, and that he ſhould forbid none of his acquaintence to miniſter vnto him, or to come vnto him.

24 ¶ And after certaine dayes, came Felix with his wife [o] Druſilla, which was a Jewe ſſe, and he called forth Paul, and heard him of the faith in Chriſt.

25 And as he diſputed of righteouſnes and temperance, and of the iudgement to come, Felix trembled, and anſwered, Go thy way for this time, and when I haue conuenient time, I will call for thee.

26 He hoped alſo that money ſhould haue bene giuen him of Paul, that hee might looſe him: wherefore he ſent for him the oftner, and communed with him.

27 [7] When two yeeres were expired, Porcius Feſtus came into Felix roome: and Felix willing to [p] get fauour of the Iewes, left Paul bound.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Feſtus ſucceeding Felix, 6 commaundeth Paul to be brought forth. 11 Paul appealeth vnto Cæſar. 14 Feſtus openeth Pauls matter to king Agrippa, 23 & bringeth him before him, 27 that he may vnderſtand his cauſe.

WHen [1] Feſtus was then come into the Prouince, after three dayes he went vp from Ceſarea vnto Hieruſalem.

1 Satans miniſters are ſubtill and diligent in ſeeking all occaſions: but God who watcheth for his, hindreth all their counſels eaſily.

2 Then the hie Prieſt, and the chiefe of the Iewes appeared before him againſt Paul: and they beſought him,

3 And deſired fauour againſt him, that he would ſend for him to Hieruſalem: and they laide waite to kill him by the way.

4 But Feſtus anſwered, that Paul ſhould be kept at Ceſarea, and that he himſelfe would ſhortly depart thither.

5 Let them therefore, ſaid he, which among you are able, come downe with vs: & if there be any wickednes in the man, let thē accuſe him.

6 ¶ [2] Nowe when hee had taried among them no more then ten daies, he went downe to Ceſarea, and the next day ſate in the iudgement ſeate, and commanded Paul to be brought.

2 We may repell an iniurie iuſtly, but not with iniurie.

7 And when hee was come, the Iewes which were come from Hieruſalem, ſtoode about him and laide many and grieuous complaints againſt Paul, whereof [a] they coulde make no plaine proofe, a They could not prooue them certainly and with vndoubted reaſons.

8 Foraſmuch as he anſwered, that hee had neither offended any thing againſt the lawe of the Iewes, neither againſt the temple, nor againſt Ceſar.

9 [3] Yet Feſtus willing to get fauour of the Iewes, anſwered Paul and ſaide, Wilt thou goe vp to Hieruſalem, and there bee iudge of theſe things before me?

3 God weth not onely turne away the counſel of the wicked, but alſo turneth it vpon their owne heads.

10 Then ſaid Paul, I ſtand at Ceſars iudgment ſeate, where I ought to be iudged: to the Iewes I haue done no wrong, as thou very well knoweſt.

11 For if I haue done wrong or committed any thing worthy of death, I refuſe not to die: but if there be none of theſe things whereof they accuſe me, no man, to pleaſure them, can deliuer me to them: I appeale vnto Ceſar.

12 Then when Feſtus had ſpoken with the Counſel, he anſwered, Haſt thou appealed vnto Ceſar? vnto Ceſar ſhalt thou goe.

13 ¶ [4] And after certaine daies, King [b] Agrippa and Bernice came downe to Ceſarea to ſalute Feſtus.

4 Feſtus, ſhewing no ſuch thing, euen before Kings, bringing to light the wickednes of the Iewes, and Pauls innocencie, doeth marueilouſly confirme the Church of God.

b This Agrippa was Agrippa his ſonne, whoſe death Luke ſpake of before, & Bernice was his ſiſter.

14 And whē they had remained there many dayes, Feſtus declared Pauls cauſe vnto the King, ſaying, There is a certaine man left in priſon by Felix, 15 Of whome when I came to Hieruſalem, the high prieſts and Elders of the Iewes informed me, and deſired to haue iudgement againſt him.

16 To whom I anſwered, that it is not the maner of the Romanes for fauour to [c] deliuer any man to the death, before that hee which is accuſed, haue the accuſers before him, and haue place to defend himſelf, concerning the crime.

c The Romanes vſe not to deliuer any man to be puniſhed before, &c.

17 There-

17 Therfore when they were come hither, without delay the day following I sate on the iudgement seate, and commanded the man to be brought forth.

18 Against whom when the accusers stood vp, they brought no crime of such things as I supposed:

19 [5] But had certaine questions against him of their owne [d] superstition, and of one Iesus which was dead, whome Paul affirmed to be aliue.

20 And because I doubted of such maner of question, I asked him whether he would go to Hierusalē, & there be iudged of these things.

21 But because he appealed to be reserued to the examination of Augustus, I commanded him to be kept, til I might send him to Cesar.

22 [6] Then Agrippa saide vnto Festus, I would also heare the man my selfe. To morow, said he, thou shalt heare him.

23 And on the morow when Agrippa was come & Bernice with great [e] pompe, & were entred into the Common hall with the chiefe captaines and chiefe men of the citie, at Festus commandement Paul was brought forth.

24 And Festus said, King Agrippa, & all men which are present with vs, ye see this mā, about whome all the multitude of the Iewes haue called vpō me, both at Hierusalem, & here, crying, that he ought not to liue any longer.

25 Yet haue I found nothing worthie of death, that he hath committed: neuertheles, seeing that hee hath appealed to Augustus, I haue determined to send him.

26 Of whom I haue no certaine thing to write vnto my [f] Lord: wherfore I haue brought him forth vnto you, and specially vnto thee, King Agrippa, that after examination had, I might haue somewhat to write, 27 For mee thinketh it vnreasonable to send a prisoner, and not to shewe the causes which are laid against him.

CHAP. XXVI.

a Paul in the presence of Agrippa, 4 declareth his life from his childhood, 16 and his calling, 22 with such efficacie of words, 28 that almost hee perswadeth him to Christianitie: 30 But he and his company depart doing nothing in Pauls matter.

THen Agrippa saide vnto Paul, Thou art permitted to speak for thy selfe. So Paul stretched forth the hand, and answered for himselfe.

2 [1] I thinke my selfe happy, king Agrippa, because I shal answer this day before thee of al the things wherof I am accused of the Iewes.

3 Chiefly, because thou hast knowledge of all customes, and questions which are among the Iewes: wherfore I beseech thee to heare me patiently,

4 [2] As touching my life from my childhood, and what it was from the beginning among mine owne nation at Hierusalem, know all the Iewes.

5 Which [a] knew me heretofore, euen from my [b] elders (if they would testifie) that after the [c] most straite sect of our religion, I liued a Pharisee.

6 [3] And nowe I stand and am accused for the hope of the promise made of God vnto our fathers.

7 Whereunto our twelue tribes instantly serue God day and night, hope to come: for the which hopes sake, O king Agrippa, I am accused of the Iewes.

8 [4] Why should it bee thought a thing incredible vnto you, that God should raise again the dead?

9 I also verily thought in my selfe, that I ought to doe many contrary things against the Name of Iesus of Nazareth.

10 * Which thing I also did in Hierusalem: for many of the Saints I shut vp in prison, hauing receiued authoritie of the high Priests, and when they were put to death, I gaue my [d] sentence.

11 And I punished them throughout al the Synagogues, and [e] compelled them to blaspheme, and being more madde against them, I persecuted them, euen vnto strange cities.

12 At which time, euen as I went to *Damascus with authoritie and commission from the hie Priests, 13 At midday, O King, I saw in the way a light from heauen, passing the brightnes of the Sunne, shine round about mee, and them which went with me.

14 So when wee were all fallen to the earth, I heard a voyce speaking vnto me, and saying in the Hebrewe tongue, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? It is hard for thee to kicke against pricks.

15 Then I said, Who art thou, Lord? And he said, I am Iesus whom thou persecutest.

16 But rise and stand vp on thy feete: for I haue appeared vnto thee for this purpose, to appoint thee a Minister and a witnesse, both of the things which thou hast seene, and of the things in the which I will appeare vnto thee,

17 Deliuering thee from this people, and from ỳ Gentiles, vnto whom now I send thee, 18 [5] To open their eies, that they may turn from darknes to light, and from the power of Satan vnto God, that they may receiue forgiuenes of sinnes, & inheritance among them, which are sanctified by faith in me.

19 [6] Wherefore, King Agrippa, I was not disobedient vnto the heauenly vision,

20 * But shewed first vnto them of Damascus, and at Hierusalem, and throughout al the coastes of Iudea, and then to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turne to God, and doe

b That my parents were Pharises.
c The sect of the Pharises was the most exquisite amongst all the sectes of the Iewes, for it was better then all the rest.
3 There are three chiefe and principal witnesses of true doctrine, God, the true Fathers, and the consent of the Church.

* Chap.9.22,26 and 13.4.

5 The prophane and wicked take an occasion to condemne the true doctrine, by reason of priuate controuersies and contentions of men betwixt themselues: but the truth neuertheles abideth in the meane season safe and sure.
d This prophane man calleth the Iewish religion, superstition, and that before King Agrippa, but no maruele: for the rulers of prouinces by reason of the maiestie of the empire of Rome, vsed to preferre themselues before Kings.
6 That is fulfilled in Paul, which the Lord before had told to Ananias of him, Chap.9.15.
e Gorgeously like a Prince.

1 To haue a skilfull iudge, is a great and singular gift of God.
2 Paul diuideth the history of his life into two times: for the first he calleth his aduersaries witnesses: for the latter, the Fathers and Prophets.

doe woꝛks woꝛthie amendment of life.

21 Foꝛ this cause the Iewes caught mee in the * Temple, and went about to kill me.

22 [7] Neuertheleſſe, I obteined helpe of God, and continue vnto this day, witneſſing both to [f] ſmall and to great, ſaying none other things, then thoſe which the Pꝛophets & Moſes did ſay ſhould come,

23 To wit, that Chꝛiſt ſhould ſuffer, and that he ſhould be the [h] firſt that ſhould riſe from the dead, and ſhould ſhew [i] light vnto this people, and to the Gentiles.

24 [8] And as he thus anſwered foꝛ himſelf, Feſtus ſaid with a loude voice, Paul, thou art beſides thy ſelfe: much learning doeth make thee madde.

25 But he ſaid, I am not madde, O noble Feſtus, but I ſpeake the woꝛds of trueth and ſobernes.

26 Foꝛ the king knoweth of theſe things, befoꝛe whome alſo I ſpeake boldly: foꝛ I am perſwaded that none of theſe things are hidden from him: foꝛ this thing was not done in a [k] coꝛner.

27 [9] O king Agrippa, beleeueſt thou the Pꝛophets? I know that thou beleeueſt.

28 Then Agrippa ſaid vnto Paul, Almoſt thou perſwadeſt me to become a Chꝛiſtian.

29 Then Paul ſaid, [l] I would to God that not onely thou, but alſo all that heare mee to day, were both almoſt, and altogether ſuch as I am, except theſe bonds.

30 [10] And when hee had thus ſpoken, the King roſe vp, and the Gouernour, and Bernice, and they that ſate with them, 31 And when they were gone apart, they talked betweene themſelues, ſaying, This mā doeth nothing woꝛthie of death, noꝛ of bonds.

32 Then ſaid Agrippa vnto Feſtus, This man might haue bene looſed, if he had not appealed vnto Ceſar.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Paul 7.9 foreſelleth the perill of the voyage, 11 but he is not beleeued. 14 They are toſſed to and fro with the tempeſt, 21 41 and ſuffer ſhipwracke, 34 Yet all ſafe and ſound 44 eſcape to land.

NOwe [1] when it was concluded, that we ſhould ſaile into Italie, they deliuered both Paul & certain other pꝛiſoners vnto a cēturion named Julius, of ꝓ band of Auguſtus.

2 And * we entred into a ſhippe of Adꝛamyttium, purpoſing to ſaile by the coaſts of Aſia, and launched foꝛth, and had Ariſtarchus of Macedonia, a Theſſalonian, with vs.

3 And the nert day we arriued at Sidon: and Julius courteouſly entreated Paul, and gaue him libertie to goe vnto his friends, that they might refreſh him.

4 And from thence wee launched, and ſayled hard by Cyprus, becauſe the windes were contrarie.

5 Then ſailed wee ouer the ſea by Cilicia, and Pamphylia, and came to Mira, a citie in Lycia.

6 And there the Centurion found a ſhip of Alexandꝛia, ſailing into Italy, & put vs therin.

7 And when wee had ſayled ſlowly many dayes, and ſcarce were come againſt Gnidum, becauſe the wind ſuffred vs not, we ſailed hard by Candie, neere to [a] Salmone,

8 And with much ado ſailed beyond it, and came vnto a certaine place called the Faire hauens, neere vnto the which was the city Laſea.

9 [2] So when much time was ſpent, and ſailing was nowe ieopardous, becauſe alſo the [b] Faſt was now paſſed, Paul exhoꝛted them,

10 And ſaide vnto them, Sirs, I ſee that this voyage will bee with hurt and much damage, not of the lading and ſhip onely, but alſo of our liues.

11 [3] Neuertheleſſe the Centurion beleeued rather the Gouernour and the maſter of the ſhip, then thoſe things which were ſpoken of Paul.

12 And becauſe the hauen was not commodious to winter in, many tooke counſell to depart thence, if by any meanes they might attaine to Phenice, there to winter, which is an hauen of Candie, and lieth toward the Southweſt and by Weſt, and Noꝛthweſt and by Weſt.

13 And when the Southerne wind blew ſoftly, they ſuppoſing to attaine their purpoſe, loſed neerer, and ſailed by Candie.

14 But anone after, there aroſe by [c] it a ſtoꝛmie wind called [d] Euroclydon.

15 And when the ſhip was caught, & could not reſiſt the wind, we let her goe, and were caried away.

16 And we ranne vnder a little Ile named Clauda, and had much adoe to get the boate.

17 Which they tooke vp, and vſed all helpe, vndergirding the ſhip, fearing leſt they ſhoulde haue fallen into Syrtes, and they ſtrake ſaile, and ſo were caried.

18 [4] The nert day when wee were toſſed with an exceeding tempeſt, they lightened the ſhip.

19 And the third day we caſt out with our owne hands the tackling of the ſhip.

20 And when neither ſunne noꝛ ſtarres in many dayes appeared, and no ſmall tempeſt lay vpon vs, all hope that we ſhould be ſaued, was then taken away.

21 [5] But after long abſtinence, Paul ſtood foꝛth in the mids of them, and ſaide, Sirs, yee ſhould haue hearkened to me, and not haue looſed from Candie: ſo ſhould ye haue gained this hurt and loſſe.

22 But nowe I exhoꝛt you to bee of good courage:

* Chap. 21. 30.

7 Chꝛiſt is the end of the Law and the Pꝛophets.

f To euery one.

g That Chꝛiſt ſhould not bee ſuch a king as the Iewes dreamed of, but one appointed to beare our miſeries, and the puniſhment of our ſinnes.

h The firſt of them which are raiſed from the dead.

i Life, yea and that a moſt bleſſed life which ſhall be endleſſe: and this is ſet againſt darknes, which almoſt in all tongues ſignifieth ſometime death, and ſometime miſerie and calamitie.

k Secretly, and priuily.

9 Paul as it were forgetting himſelfe that he ſtood a pꝛiſoner to defend his cauſe, forgetteth not the office of his Apoſtleſhip.

l I would to God that not only almoſt, but throughly and altogether, both thou and all that heare me this day, might be made as I am, my bonds onely except.

10 Paul is ſolemnly quit, and yet not diſmiſſed.

1 Paul with many other pꝛiſoners, and through the miſtruſt of many deaths, is brought to Rome, but yet by Gods own hand as it were, and ſet foꝛth and commended vnto the world with many ſingular teſtimonies.

* 2. Cor. 11. 25.

a Which was an high hill of Candie.

2 Gods prouidence taketh not away the cauſes which God vſeth as meanes, but rather oꝛdereth and diſpoſeth their right vſe euen then when he openeth an extraoꝛdinarie iſſue.

b This is meant of the Iewes faſt which they kept in the feaſt of expiation, as we read, Leuit. 23. 27 which fell in the ſeuenth moneth which we call October, and is not good for nauigation or laying.

3 Men caſt themſelues willingly into an infinite ſoꝛt of dangers, when they chooſe to follow their owne wiſedome, rather then God ſpeaking by the mouth of his ſeruants.

c By Candie, from whoſe ſhoꝛe our ſhip was driuen by that meanes.

courage: for there shalbe no losse of any mans life among you, saue of the ship only.

23 For there stoode by me this night the Angel of God, whose I am, and whome I serue, 24 Saying, Feare not, Paul: for thou must be brought before Cesar: and loe, God hath giuen vnto thee freely all that saile with thee.

6 The promise is made effectuall through faith.

25 [6] Wherefore, sirs be of good courage: for I beleeue God, that it shall be so as it hath bene tolde me.

26 Howbeit, we must be cast into a certain Iland.

7 We attaine not come to the promised inheritance though the middest of tempests and death it selfe.

27 [7] And when the fourteenth night was come, as we were caried to and fro in the [c] Adriatical Sea about midnight, the shipmen deemed that some Countrey [f] approched vnto them, c For Ptolome writeth, that the Adriaticall sea beareth vpon the East shore of Sicilia.

28 And sounded, and found it twentie fathoms: and when they had gone a litle further, they sounded againe, and found fifteen fathoms.

f That they drew neere to some country.

29 Then fearing least they should haue fallen into some rough places, they cast foure ankers out of the sterne, and wished that the day were come.

8 There is none to saile an acte, wherunto dissent and an euill conscience do not enforce men.

30 [8] Nowe as the mariners were about to flee out of the shippe, and had let downe the boate into the Sea vnder a colour as though they would haue cast ankers out of the foreshippe, 9 Although the performing of Gods promises doth not simply depend vpon second causes, yet they make themselues vnworthy of Gods bountifulnes, which do not embrace those meanes which God offereth them, either vpon rashnes or distrust.

31 [9] Paul said vnto the Centurion and the souldiers, Except these abide in the shippe, ye cannot be safe.

32 Then the souldiers cut off the ropes of the boate, and let it fall away.

10 When the earth trembleth, the faithfull alone be not onely quiet, but confirme others by their example.

33 [10] And when it began to be day, Paul exhorted them all to take meate, saying, This is the foureteenth day that yee haue taried, and continued fasting, receiuing nothing:

34 Wherefore I exhort you to take meat: for this is for your safegard: for there shall not an haire fall from the head of any of you.

35 And when he had thus spoken, he tooke bread and gaue thankes to God, in presence of them all, and brake it, and began to eate.

5 This is a prouerbe which the Hebrewes vse, whereby is meant, that they shall be safe, and not one of them perish.

36 Then were they all of good courage, and they also tooke meate.

37 Nowe we were in the shippe in all two hundreth threescore and sixteene soules.

38 And when they had eaten ynough, they lightened the ship, and cast out the wheate into the Sea.

11 Then are trumpets most of all to be feared and looked for, when the Port of Heauen is neere.

39 [11] And when it was day, they knew not the Countrey, but they spied a certaine [h] creeke with a banke, into the which they were minded (if it were possible) to thrust in the ship.

h A creeke is a sea within land, as the Adriaticall sea, and the Persian sea.

40 So when they had taken vp the ankers, they committed the shippe vnto the sea, and loosed the rudder bonds, and hoysed vp the mayne saile to the winde, and drewe to the shoare.

41 And when they fell into a place, where [i] two Seas met, they thrust in the shippe: and the forepart stuck fast, and could not be moued, but the hinder part was broken with the violence of the waues.

i So is Isthmus called, because the Sea toucheth it on both sides.

42 [12] Then the souldiers counsell was to kil the prisoners, lest any of them, when he had swomme out, should flee away.

12 There is no where more vnfaithfulnes and vnthankfulnesse then in vnbeleeuers.

43 [13] But the Centurion willing to saue Paul, staied them from this counsell, and commanded that they that could swimme, should cast themselues first into the Sea, and goe out to land, 13 God findeth euen amongst his enemies them whose help he vseth to preserue his.

44 [14] And the other, some on boardes, and some on certaine pieces of the shippe: and so it came to passe that they came all safe to land.

14 The goodnes of God ouercommeth mans malice.

CHAP. XXVIII.

2 The Barbarians curtesie towards Paul and his companie. 3 A viper on Pauls hand: 6 He shaketh it off without harm: 8 Publius father 9 and others are by him healed. 11 They depart from Melita, 19 & come to Rome. 17 Paul openeth to the Iewes 20 the cause of his comming: 22 He preacheth Iesus 30 two yeeres.

AND when they were come safe, then they knew that the Ile was called [a] Melita.

a That is it, which at this day we call Malta.

2 And the Barbarians shewed vs no little kindnesse: for they kindled a fire, and receiued vs euerie one, because of the present shower, and because of the cold.

1 The godly are sure to haue danger vpon danger, but they haue alwayes a glorious issue.

3 [1] And when Paul had gathered a number of stickes, and laid them on the fire, there came a viper out of the heate, and leapt on his hand.

2 Although extremitie be the punishment of sinne, yet seeing that God in punishing of men doth not alwayes respect sinne, they iudge rashly, which either doe not waite for the ende, or not iudge and esteeme of men, according to prosperitie or aduersitie.

4 [2] Nowe when the Barbarians sawe the worme hang on his hand, they saide among themselues, This man surely is a murtherer, whome, though hee hath escaped the sea, yet [b] Vengeance hath not suffered to liue.

b Right and reason.

5 But hee shooke off the worme into the fire, and felt no harme.

6 Howbeit they waited when hee should haue [c] swolne, or fallen downe dead suddenly: [3] but after they had looked a great while, and sawe no inconuenience come to him, they changed their mindes, and saide, That he was a God.

c The Greeke word signifieth to be inflamed or to swell: moreouer Dioscorides in his 6. booke, chap. 38. witnesseth that the biting of a viper, causeth a swelling of the body and so saith Nicander, in his remedies against poysons.

3 There is nothing more vnconstant euery way, then they which are ignorant of true religion. 4 It neuer yet repented any man, that receiued the seruant of God, were he neuer so miserable and poore.

7 [4] In the same quarters, the chiefe man of the Ile (whose name was Publius) had possessions: the same receiued vs, and lodged vs three dayes curteously.

4 It is a signe of Gods fauour, when we are beloued of the godly.

8 And so it was, that the father of Publius lay sicke of a feuer, and of a bloodie flixe: to whom Paul entred in, and when hee prayed, he laid his hands on him, and healed him.

9 [5] When this then was done, other also in the Ile, which had diseases, came to him, and were healed,

10 [6] Which also did vs great honour: and when we departed, they laded vs with things necessarie.

11 ¶ [7] Now after three moneths we departed in a ship of Alexandria, which had wintred in the Ile, whose [d] badge was Castor and Pollux.

12 And when we arriued at Syracuse, we taried there three dayes.

13 And from thence we fet a compasse, and came to Rhegium: and after one day, the South winde blew, and wee came the second day to Putioli:

14 [8] Where we found brethren, and were desired to tary with them seuen dayes, and so we went toward Rome.

15 ¶ [9] And from thence, when the brethren heard of vs, they came to meet vs at the [e] Market of Appius, and at the three tauerns, whom when Paul sawe, he thanked God, and waxed bold.

16 So when we came to Rome, the Centurion deliuered the prisoners to the generall Captaine: but Paul was suffered to dwell by [f] himselfe with a souldier that kept him, 17 [10] And the third day after, Paul called the chiefe of the Iewes together: and when they were come, he said vnto them, Men and brethren, though I haue committed nothing against the people, or Lawes of the fathers, yet was I deliuered prisoner from Hierusalem into the hands of the Romanes.

18 Who when they had examined mee, would haue let me goe, because there was no cause of death in me.

19 [11] But when the Iewes spake contrary, I was constrained to appeale vnto Cesar, not because I had ought to accuse my nation of.

20 For this cause therefore haue I called for you, to see you, and to speake with you: for that hope of Israels sake, I am bound with this chaine.

21 Then they saide vnto him, We neither receiued letters out of Iudea concerning thee, neither came any of the brethren that shewed or spake any euill of thee, 22 But wee will heare of thee what thou thinkest: for as concerning this sect, we know that euery where it is spoken against.

23 [12] And when they had appointed him a day, there came many vnto him into his lodging, to whom hee expounded & testifying the kingdome of God, and perswading them those things that concern Iesus, both out of the Law of Moses, and out of the Prophets, from morning to night.

24 [13] And some were perswaded with the things which were spoken, and some beleeued not.

25 Therefore when they agreed not among themselues, they departed, after that Paul had spoken one word, to wit, Well spake the holy Ghost by Esaias the prophet vnto our fathers, 26 [14] Saying, * Goe vnto this people, and say, By hearing yee shall heare, and shal not vnderstand, and seeing ye shall see, and not perceiue.

27 For the heart of this people is waxed fat, & their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eies haue they [h] winked, least they should see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their hearts, and should returne that I might heale them.

28 [15] Be it knowen therefore vnto you, that this saluation of God is sent to the Gentiles, and they shall heare it.

29 [16] And when hee had said these things, the Iewes departed, and had great reasoning among themselues.

30 [17] And Paul remained two yeeres full in an house hired for himselfe, and receiued all that came in vnto him, 31 Preaching the kingdome of God, and teaching those things which concern the Lord Iesus Christ, with all boldnesse of speech, without let.

5 Although Paul were a captiue, yet the vertue of God was not captiue.

6 God doth well to strangers, for his children sake.

7 Idoles doe not defile y Saints, which doe in no wise consent vnto them.

d So they vsed to decke the forepart of their ships, whereupon the ships were called by such names.

8 God boweth and bendeth the hearts euen of prophane men, as it pleaseth him to fauor his.

9 God neuer suffereth his to be afflicted, aboue their strength.

e Appius way, was a pauement made by Appius the blinde, with the helpe of his souldiers, long and broade, and runneth out toward the sea, and there were three tauernes in it.

f Not in a common prison, but in a house which he hired for himselfe.

10 Paul in euery place remembreth himselfe to be an Apostle.

11 Wee may see the meanes which God giueth vs, but so, that we seeke the glory of God, and not our selues.

12 The Law and the Gospel agree well together.

g by good reasons, and proues that the kingdome of God foretold them by the Prophets, was come.

13 The Gospel is a sauour of life to them that beleeue, and a sauour of death to them that be disobedient.

14 The vnbeleeuers doe willingly resist the truth, and yet not by chance.

* Esa. 6, 9. matth. 13. 14. marke 4. 12. Luke 8. 10. iohn 12. 40. 1 cor. 11. 8.

h They make as though they saw not that which they saw against their willes: yea they did see, but they would not see.

15 The vnbeliefe of the reprobate and call always cannot cause the truth of God to be of none effect.

16 Not the Gospel, but the contempt of the Gospel is the cause of their destruction.

17 The word of God cannot be bound.

The Epistle of the Apostle Paul to the Romanes.

CHAP. I.

1 He first sheweth on what authoritie his Apostleship standeth. 15 Then hee commendeth the Gospell, 16 by which God setteth out his power to those that are saued 17 by faith, 21 but were guiltie of wicked vnthankefulnesse to God: 26 For which his wrath was worthily powred on them, 39 so that they runne headlong to all kinde of sinne.

1 The first part of the Epistle containing a most profitable Preface vnto verse 16.

PAVL [1] a [2] a seruant of IESVS CHRIST, called to be an [b] Apostle, *[c] put apart to preach the Gospel of God,

2 (Which he had promised afore by his Prophets in the holy Scriptures)

3 [3] Concerning his [d] Sonne Iesus Christ our Lorde (which was [e] made of the seede of Dauid [f] according to the flesh,

4 And [g] declared [h] mightily to be [i] Sonne of God, touching the Spirite of sanctification by the resurrection from the dead)

5 [i] By whom we haue receiued [k] grace and Apostleship (that [l] obedience might be giuen vnto the faith) for his Name among all the Gentiles,

6 Among whom ye be also the [n] called of Iesus Christ:

7 To al you that be at Rome beloued of God, called to be Saintes: [o] Grace be with you, and peace from God our father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

8 [4] First I thanke my God through Iesus Christ for you all, because your faith is [p] published throughout the [q] whole world.

9 For God is my witnes (whom I serue in my [r] spirit in the [s] Gospel of his Sonne) that without ceasing I make mention of you:

10 Alwayes in my prayers beseeching, that by some meanes, one time or other I might haue a prosperous iourney by the will of God to come vnto you.

11 For I long to see you, that I might bestow vnto among you some spirituall gift, that you might be strengthened:

12 That is, that [t] I might be comforted together with you, through our mutuall faith, both yours and mine.

13 Nowe my brethren, I would that ye should not be ignorant, howe that I haue oftentimes purposed to come vnto you (but haue beene let hitherto) that I might haue some fruite also among you, as I haue among the other Gentiles, 14 I am debter both to the Grecians, and to the Barbarians, both to the wise men and vnto the vnwise.

15 Therefore, as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the Gospel to you also that are at [u] Rome.

16 For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ: [5] for it is the [x] power of God vnto saluation to euery one that beleeueth, to the Iew first, and also to the [y] Grecian.

17 [6] For by it the righteousnesse of God is reueiled from [z] faith to faith: [7] as it is written, * The iust shall liue by faith.

18 [8] For the wrath of God is reueiled from heauen against [a] all vngodlinesse, and vnrighteousnesse of men, which withhold the [b] trueth in vnrighteousnesse.

19 [9] For that which may be knowen of God, is manifest in [c] them: for God hath shewed it vnto them.

20 For the inuisible things of him, that is, his eternall power and Godhead are seene by the creation of the world, being [d] considered in his workes, to the intent that they should be without excuse:

2 He mooueth the Romanes to giue diligent eare vnto him, in that he theweth that he commeth not in his owne name, but as Gods messenger vnto the Gentiles, entreateth with them of the weightiest matter, that is, promised long since of God, by many fit witnesses, and now at the length performed in deede.

a A Minister, for this word, Seruant, is not taken in this place as set against this word Freeman, but declareth his ministerie and office.

b Whereas he said before in a generall terme, that hee was a Minister, nowe he commeth to a more speciall name, and saith he is an Apostle, and [illegible] tooke vpon him this office of his owne head, but being called of God, and therefore in this his writing to the Romanes, doeth nothing but his duetie. *Actes 13.1. c Appointed of God to preach the Gospel. 3 By declaring the summe of the doctrine of the Gospel, hee stirreth vp the Romanes to good consideration of the matter whereof he entreateth: So then he sheweth that Christ (who is the very substance and summe of the Gospel) is the onely Sonne of God the Father, who as touching his humanitie, is made of the seede of Dauid, but touching his diuine and spirituall nature, whereby he sanctified himselfe, is begotten of the Father from euerlasting, as by his mightie resurrection manifestly appeareth. d This is a plaine testimonie of the person of Christ, that he is but one, and of his two natures, and their properties. e Which tooke flesh of the Virgine, Dauid his daughter. f As he is man. for this word, Flesh, by the figure Synecdoche, is taken for man. g Shewed and made manifest. h The diuine and mightie power is set against the weakenesse of the flesh, for that ouercame death. i Of whom. k This marueilous liberall and gracious gift, which is giuen me, the least of all the Saintes, to preach, &c. 5 The second part of the Epistle vnto the beginning of the 9. chap. Now the whole end and purpose of the disputation is this: that is to say, to shew that there is but one way to attaine vnto saluation (which is set forth vnto vs of God in the Gospel, without any difference of nations) and that is Iesus Christ apprehended by faith.

x God his mightie and effectuall instrument to saue men by.

y When this word, Grecian, is set against this word, Iew, then doeth it signifie a Gentile.

6 The confirmation of the former propositions we are taught in the Gospel, that we are iustified before God by faith, which increaseth dayly: and therefore also saued.

z From faith which increaseth dayly.

7 The proofe as well of the first as the second propositions, out of Abakkuk, who attributeth and giueth vnto faith, both iustification and life before God. *Abak. 2.4. 8 Another confirmation of that principall question: All men being considered in themselues, or without Christ, are guiltie both of vngodlinesse and also vnrighteousnesse, and therefore are subiect to condemnation: Therefore must they needes seeke righteousnesse in some other. a Against all kindes of vngodlinesse. b By trueth Paul meaneth all the light that is left in man since his fall, not as though they being led thereby were able to come into fauour with God, but that their owne reason might condemne them of wickednesse both against God and man. 9 Their vngodlinesse he proueth therefore that although all men haue a most cleere and euident glasse wherein to behold the euerlasting and Almightie nature of God, euen in his creatures, yet haue they fallen away from those principles to most foolish and fond deuises of their owne braines, in constituting and appointing the seruice of God. c In their hearts. d Thou seest not God, and yet thou acknowledgest him as God by his workes, Ciceto. e They did not honour him with that honour and seruice which was meete for his euerlasting power and Godhead.

were thankefull, but became f vaine in their thoughts, and their foolish heart was full of darkenesse.

22 When they g professed themselues to be wise, they became fooles.

23 For they turned the glory of the h incorruptible God to the similitude of the image of a corruptible man, and of birds, and foure footed beastes, and of creeping things.

24 10 Wherefore i also God k gaue them vp to their hearts lustes, vnto vncleannesse, to defile their owne bodies betweene themselues:

25 Which turned the trueth of God vnto a lie, and worshipped and serued the creature, forsaking the Creatour, which is blessed for euer, Amen.

26 For this cause God gaue them vp vnto vile affections: for euen their women did change the naturall vse into that which is against nature.

27 And likewise also the men left the naturall vse of the woman, and burned in their lust one toward another, and man with man wrought filthinesse, and receiued in themselues such l recompence of their errour, as was meete.

28 11 For as they regarded not to acknowledge God, euen so God deliuered them vp vnto a m reprobate minde, to doe those things which are not conuenient,

29 Being full of all vnrighteousnesse, fornication, wickednesse, couetousnesse, maliciousnesse, full of enuie, of murther, of debate, of deceit, taking all things in the euill part, whisperers, f if he said, me so mad emselues.

Or, thought mselues.

For the true d they tooke ther.

The vntighteousnesse of men setteth forth in this, that against nature following their lusts, they defile themselues one with another, by the ill iudgement God.

The contempt religion is the untaine of all chiefe.

CHAP. II.

1 He bringeth all before the iudgement seate of God. 12 The excuse that the Gentiles might pretend 14 of ignorance, hee taketh quite away. 17 Hee vrgeth the Iewes with the written Law, 23 in which they boasted: 27 And so maketh both Iewe and Gentile alike.

THerefore q thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoeuer thou art that condemnest: for in that thou condemnest another, thou condemnest thy selfe: for thou that condemnest, doest the same things.

2 But we r know that the iudgement of God is according to s trueth, against them which commit such things.

3 And thinkest thou this, O thou man, that condemnest them which doe such things, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the iudgement of God?

4 t Or despisest thou u riches of his bountifulnesse, and patience, and long sufferance, not knowing that the bountifulnesse of God leadeth thee to repentance?

5 But thou, after thine hardnesse, and heart that cannot repent, * x heapest vp as a treasure vnto thy selfe wrath against the day of wrath, and of the declaration of the iust iudgement of God,

9 Tribulation and anguish shalbe vpon the soule of euery man that doeth euill: of the Iewe first, and also of the Grecian.

10 But to euery man that doeth good, shal be glory, and honour, and peace: to the Iewe first, and also to the Grecian.

11 For there is c no respect of persons with God.

12 d For as many as haue sinned without the Lawe, shall perish also without the Lawe: and as many as haue sinned in the Lawe, shall be iudged by the Lawe, q He conuinceth them which would seeme to be exempt out of the number of other men, because they reprehend other mens faults, and saith, that they are least of all to be excused, for if they were well and narrowly searched (as God surely doth) they themselues would be found guiltie in those things which they reprehend, and punish in other: so that in condemning other, they pronounce sentence against themselues.

r Paul alleageth no places of Scripture, for he reasoneth generally against all men: but he bringeth such reason as every man is perswaded of in his mind, so that the deuil himselfe is not able to plucke them cleane out.

a Gods indignation against sinners, which shall quickly be kindled.

b God doth not measure men either by their blood or by their countrey, either to receive them or to cast them away.

c He applieth that generall accusation of mankind particularly both to the Gentiles, and to the Iewes.

d He preuenteth an obiection which might be made by the Iewes, whom the Law doth not excuse, but condemne, because that not the hearing of the Lawe, but the keeping of the Law doth iustifie.

e Shalbe pronounced iust before Gods iudgement seate: which is true in deede, if any such could be found that had fulfilled the Law: but seeing Abraham was not iustified by the Law, but by faith, it followeth that no man can be iustified by workes.

f He preuenteth an obiection which might be made by the Gentiles, who although they haue not the lawe of Moses, yet they haue no reason whereby they may excuse their wickednes, in that they haue somewhat written in their hearts in steade of a Lawe, as men, that forbid and punish some things as wicked, and commaund and commend other some as good.

16 [7] At the day, when God shall iudge the secrets of men by Iesus Christ, according to [m] my Gospel.

17 ¶ [8] Beholde, thou art called a Iewe, and restest in the Lawe, and gloriest in God,

18 And knowest his will, and [n] ‖ triest the things that differ from it, in that thou art instructed by the Law:

19 And persuadest thy selfe that thou art a guide of the blinde, a light of them which are in darkenesse, 20 An instructer of them which lacke discretion, a teacher of the vnlearned, which hast the [o] forme of knowledge, and of the trueth in the [p] Lawe.

21 Thou therefore, which teachest another, teachest thou not thy selfe? thou that preachest, A man should not steale, doest thou steale?

22 Thou that sayest, A man should not commit adulterie, doest thou commit adulterie? thou that abhorrest idoles, committest thou sacrilege?

23 Thou that gloriest in the Law, through breaking the Law, dishonourest thou God?

24 For the Name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles through you, * as it is written,

25 [9] For circumcision verely is profitable, if thou doe the Lawe: but if thou be a transgressour of the Lawe, thy circumcision is made vncircumcision.

26 Therefore if the [q] vncircumcision keepe the ordinances of the Lawe, shall not his [r] vncircumcision be counted for circumcision?

27 And shall not [s] vncircumcision which is by nature (if it keepe the Lawe) condemne thee which by the [t] letter and circumcision art a transgressour of the Law?

28 For hee is not a Iewe, which is one [u] outward: neither is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesh:

29 But he is a Iewe which is one within, and the circumcision is of the heart, in the [x] spirit not in the letter, whose praise is not of men, but of God.

7 God deferreth many iudgements, which notwithstanding he will execute at their conuenient time by Iesus Christ, with a most straite examination, not onely of words and deedes, but of thoughts also, be they neuer so hidden or secret.

m As this my doctrine witnesseth, which I am appointed to preach.

n He prooueth by the testimonie of Dauid, and the other Prophets, that God bestowed greatest benefites vpon the Iewes, in giuing them also the Lawe, but that they are the most vnthankfull and vnkindest of all men.

o Canst rie and discerne what things swarue frō God his will.

* Esa. 52.5. ezek. 36.20.

9 He precisely answereth their obiection, which set an holinesse in circumcision, and the outward obseruation of the Lawe: So that he sheweth that the outward circumcision, if it be separated frō the inward, doth not only not iustifie, but also condemne them that are in deede circumcised, of whom it requireth that, which it signifieth, that is to say, cleannesse of the heart and the whole life according to the commandement of the Law, so that if there be a man vncircumcised according to the flesh, who is circumcised in heart, he is farre better and more to be accounted of, then any Iewe that is circumcised according to the flesh only.

CHAP. III.

1 He giueth the Iewes some preferment, for the couenants sake, 4 but yet such, as wholly dependeth on Gods mercy. 9 That both Iewes and Gentiles are sinners, 11 he proueth by Scriptures: 19 and shewing the vse of the Lawe, 28 he concludeth that we are iustified by faith.

WHat [1] is then the preferment of the Iewe? or what is the profit of circumcision?

2 Much euery manet of way: for [a] chiefly, because vnto them were of credite committed the [b] oracles of God.

3 For what, though some did not beleeue? shall their vnbeliefe make the [d] faith of God without effect?

4 God forbid: yea, let God be true and euery man a lyer, as it is written, That thou mightest be [e] iustified in thy wordes, and ouercome, [f] when thou art iudged.

5 [2] Nowe if our [g] vnrighteousnesse commend the righteousnesse of God, what shall we say? is God vnrighteous which punisheth? (I speake as [h] a man.)

6 God forbid: els howe shall God iudge the world?

7 [3] For if the [i] veritie of God hath more abounded through my lie vnto his glory, why am I yet condemned as a sinner?

8 And (as we are blamed, and as some affirme, that we say) why doe we not euill, that good may come thereof? whose damnation is iust.

9 [4] What then? are we more excellent? No, in no wise: for we haue already prooued, that all, both Iewes and Gentiles are [k] vnder sinne, 10 As it is written, * There is none righteous, no not one.

11 There is none that vnderstandeth: there is none that seeketh God.

12 They haue all gone out of the way: they haue beene made altogether vnprofitable: there is none that doeth good, no not one.

16 Destruction and calamitie are in their wayes,

17 And the [l] way of peace they haue not knowen.

18 * The feare of God is not before their eyes.

19 [5] Nowe we know that whatsoeuer the [m] Lawe sayeth, it sayeth it to them which are

1 The first meeting with, or preuenting an obiection of the Iewes: what then haue the Iewes no more preferment then the Gentiles? yes, that haue they, saith the Apostle, on Gods behalfe, for he committed the tables of the couenant to them, so that the vnbeliefe of a fewe, cannot cause the whole nation without exception to be cast away of God, who is true, and who also vseth their vnworthinesse to commend and set foorth his goodnesse.

f Forasmuch as thou shewedst foorth an euident token of thy righteousnes, constancie and faith, by preserueing him who had broken his couenant.

2 An other preuention issuing out of the former answere: that the iustice of God is in such sort commended and set foorth by our vnrighteousnesse, that therefore God forgetteth not that he is the iudge of the world, & therefore a most seuere reuenger of vnrighteousnes.

g Treacherie, and all the fruites thereof.

h Therefore I speake not these words in mine owne person, as though I thought so, but this is the talke of mans wisedome, which is not subiect to the will of God.

3 A third obiection, which addeth somewhat to the former. If sinnes doe turne to the glory of God, they are not only not to be punished, but we ought rather to giue our selues to them: which blasphemie Paul contending himselfe to curse and detest, pronounceth iust punishment against such blasphemers.

i The trueth and constancie.

4 An other answere to the first obiection: that the Iewes, if they be considered in themselues, are no better then other men are: as it hath beene long since pronounced by the mouth of the Prophets.

vnder the Lawe, that [6] euery mouth may be ſtopped, and all the worlde be [n] ſubiect to the iudgement of God.

20 Therefore by the [o] workes of the Law ſhall no [p] fleſh be [q] iuſtified in his [r] ſight: for by the Law commeth the knowledge of ſinne.

21 [7] But now is the righteouſnes of God made manifeſt without the Lawe, hauing witneſſe of the Law and of the Prophets, 22 [8] To wit, the righteouſneſſe of God by the faith of [ſ] Jeſus Chriſt, vnto all, and vpon all that beleeue.

23 For there is no difference: for all haue ſinned, and are depriued of the [t] glory of God, 24 [9] And are iuſtified [u] freely by his grace, through [x] redemption that is in Chriſt Jeſus.

25 [10] Whom God hath ſent forth to be a reconciliation through faith in his [x] blood to declare his righteouſneſſe, by the forgiueneſſe of the ſinnes that [y] are paſſed, 26 Through the [z] patience of God, to ſhew at [a] this time his righteouſneſſe, that he might be [b] iuſt, and a [c] iuſtifier of him which is of the [d] faith of Jeſus.

27 [11] Where is then the reioycing? It is excluded. By what [e] Law? of workes? Nay: but by the Law of faith.

28 Therefore we conclude, that a man is iuſtified by faith, without the workes of the Lawe.

29 [12] God, is he the God of the [f] Iewes onely, and not of the Gentiles alſo? Yes, euen of the Gentiles alſo.

30 For it is one God, who ſhall iuſtifie [g] circumciſion of faith, and vncircumciſion through faith.

ther eſtabliſhed, as it ſhall be declared in his proper place. h Vaine, voide, to no purpoſe, and of no force. i We make it effectuall and ſtrong.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He proueth that which he ſaid before of faith, by the example of Abraham, 3. 6 and the teſtimonie of the Scripture: and tenne times in the chapter he beateth vpon this word imputation.

WHat [1] ſhall we ſay then, that Abraham our father hath found concerning the [a] fleſh?

2 [2] For if Abraham were iuſtified by workes, he hath wherein to reioyce, but not with God.

3 [3] For what ſaith the Scripture? Abraham beleeued God, and it was counted to him for righteouſneſſe.

4 [4] Now to him that [b] worketh, the wages is not [c] counted by fauour, but by det:

5 But to him that worketh not, but beleeueth in him that [d] iuſtifieth the vngodly, his faith is counted for righteouſneſſe.

6 [5] Euen as Dauid declareth the bleſſednes of the man, vnto whom God imputeth righteouſneſſe without workes, ſaying, 7 Bleſſed are they, whoſe iniquities are forgiuen, and whoſe ſinnes are couered.

8 Bleſſed is the man, to whom the Lord imputeth not ſinne.

9 [6] Came this [e] bleſſednes then vpon the circumciſion onely, or vpon the vncircumciſion alſo? For we ſay, that faith was imputed vnto Abraham for righteouſneſſe.

10 [7] Howe was it then imputed? when he was circumciſed, or vncircumciſed? not when he was circumciſed, but when he was vncircumciſed.

11 [8] After, he receiued the [f] ſigne of circumciſion, as the [g] ſeale of the righteouſneſſe

[6] A concluſion of all the former diſputation, from the 18. verſe of the firſt chapter. Therefore ſaith the Apoſtle, No man can hope to be iuſtified by any Lawe, whether it be that generall Law, or the particular Law of Moſes, and therefore to be ſaued: ſeeing it appeareth (as we haue already proued) by comparing the Law and mans life together, that all men are ſinners, & therefore worthie of condemnation in the ſight of God.

n Be found guiltie before God.

o By that, that the Law can by vs be performed.

p Fleſh is heere taken for man, as in many other places, & furthermore hath here a greater force: for it is put to ſhewe the contrarietie betwixe God and man: as if you would ſay, Man who is nothing els but a piece of fleſh defiled with ſinne, and God who is moſt pure and moſt perfit in himſelfe, q Abſolued before the iudgement ſeat of God. r A ſecret ſetting of the righteouſneſſe which is before men, be they neuer ſo iuſt, againſt the iuſtice which can ſtand before God: nowe there is no righteouſneſſe can ſtand before God: but the righteouſneſſe of Chriſt onely. 7 Therefore ſaith the Apoſtle, Leaſt that men ſhould periſh, God doeth now exhibite that which he promiſed of olde, that is to ſay, a way whereby we may be iuſtified and ſaued before him without the Lawe. 8 The matter, as it were, of this righteouſneſſe is Chriſt Jeſus apprehended by faith, and for this ende offered to all people, as without him all people are ſhut out from the kingdome of God. ſ Which wee giue to Ieſus Chriſt, or which reſteth vpon him. t By the glory of God, is meant that marke which we ſhoote at, that is, euerlaſting life, which ſtandeth in that wee are made partakers of the glory of God. 9 Therefore this righteouſneſſe touching vs, is altogether freely giuen, for it ſtandeth vpon thoſe things which wee haue not done our ſelues, but ſuch as Chriſt hath ſuffered for our ſakes, to deliuer vs from ſinne. u Of his free gift, and meere liberalitie. 10 God then is the authour of that free iuſtification, becauſe it pleaſed him: and Chriſt is he, which ſuffered puniſhment for our ſinnes, and in whom we haue remiſſion of them: and the meane whereby we apprehend Chriſt, is faith. To be ſhort, the ende is the ſetting forth of the goodneſſe of God, that by this meanes it may appeare, that he is mercifull in deede, and conſtant in his promiſes, as he that freely, and of meere grace, iuſtifieth the beleeuers. x This name of blood, calleth vs backe to the figure of the olde ſacrifices, the trueth and ſubſtance of which ſacrifices is in Chriſt. y Of thoſe ſinnes which wee committed, when wee were his enemies. z Through his patience, and ſuffering nature. a To wit, when Paul wrote this. b That hee might be found exceeding true and faithfull. c Making him iuſt and without blame, by imputing Chriſtes righteouſneſſe vnto him. d Of the number of them which by faith lay hold vpon Chriſt: contrary to whom are they, which looke to be ſaued by circumciſion, that is by the Lawe. 11 An argument to proue this concluſion, that wee are iuſtified by faith without workes, taken from the ende of iuſtification. The ende of iuſtification is the glory of God alone: therefore we are iuſtified by faith without workes: for if we were iuſtified either by our owne workes onely, or partly by faith, and partly by workes, the glory of this iuſtification ſhould not be wholly giuen to God. e By what doctrine? nowe the doctrine of workes hath this condition ioyned with it, if thou doeſt: and the doctrine of faith, hath this condition, if thou beleeueſt. 12 An other argument of an abſurditie: if iuſtification depended vpon the Law of Moſes, then ſhould God be a Sauiour to the Iewes onely. Againe, if hee ſhould ſaue the Iewes after one ſort, and the Gentiles after another, he ſhould not be one and like himſelfe. Therefore hee will iuſtifie both of them after one ſelfe ſame maner, that is to ſay, by faith. Moreouer, this argument muſt be ioyned to that which followeth next, that his concluſion may be firme and euident. f God is ſaide to be their God, after the maner of the Scripture whom hee loueth and tendereth.

1 A new argument of great weight, taken from ye example of Abraham the father of all beleeuers: And this is the propoſition, If Abraham be conſidered in himſelfe by his workes, he hath deſerued nothing wherein to reioyce with God.

a By workes, as appeareth in the next verſe.

2 A preuenting of an obiection: Abraham may well reioyce, and enroll himſelfe amongſt men, but not with God.

3 A confirmation of the propoſition: Abraham was iuſtified by imputation of faith, therefore freely without any reſpect of his workes.

4 The firſt proofe of the confirmation, taken of contraries: in him that deſerueth any thing by his labour, the wages is not counted by fauour, but by det: but to him that hath done nothing but beleeueth in him which proueth freely, faith is imputed. b To him that hath deſerued any thing by his worke. c Is not reckoned nor giuen him. d That maketh him which is wicked in himſelfe, iuſt in Chriſt. 5 Another proofe of the ſame confirmation: Dauid putteth bleſſednes in free pardon of ſinnes, therefore iuſtification alſo. 6 A newe propoſition: that this maner of iuſtification belongeth both to the vncircumciſed, and alſo to the circumciſed: as is declared in the perſon of Abraham. e This ſaying of Dauid, wherein hee pronounceth them bleſſed. 7 He proueth that it belongeth to the vncircumciſed (ſo there was no doubt of the circumciſed) in this ſort: Abraham was iuſtified in vncircumciſion, therefore this iuſtification belongeth alſo to the vncircumciſed. May it doeth not appertaine to the circumciſed, in reſpect of the circumciſion, much leſſe are the vncircumciſed ſhut out for their vncircumciſion. 8 A preuenting of an obiection: Why then was Abraham circumciſed, if he were already iuſtified? That the gift of righteouſneſſe (faith he) might be confirmed in him. f Circumciſion, which is a ſigne: as wee ſay the Sacrament of Baptiſme, for Baptiſme which is a Sacrament. g Circumciſion, was called before, a ſigne, in reſpect of the outward ceremonie: nowe Paul ſheweth the force and ſubſtance of that ſigne, that is, to what ende it is vſed, to wit, not onely to ſignifie, but alſo to ſeale vp the righteouſneſſe of faith, whereby we come to poſſeſſe Chriſt himſelfe: for the holy Ghoſt worketh that inwardly in deede, which the Sacraments being ioyned with the word, doe repreſent.

of the faith which he had, when he was vncircumcised, 9 that he should be the father of all them that beleeue, not being circumcised, that righteousnesse might be imputed to them also.

12 10 And the father of circumcision not vnto them onely which are of the circumcision, but vnto them also that walke in the steps of the faith of our father Abrahams, which he had when he was vncircumcised.

13 11 For the promise that he should be the h heire of the world, was not giuen to Abraham, or to his seede, through the i Lawe, but through the righteousnesse of faith.

14 12 For if they which are of the k Lawe, be heires, faith is made voide, and the promise is made of none effect.

15 13 For the Lawe causeth wrath: for where no Lawe is, there is no transgression.

16 14 Therefore it is by faith, that it might come by grace, and the promise might be sure to all the l seede, 15 not to that onely which is of the Lawe: but also to that which is of the faith of Abraham, who is the father of vs all,

17 (As it is written, I haue made thee a 16 father of many nations) euen before m God whom he beleeued, who n quickeneth the dead, and o calleth those things which be not, as though they were.

18 17 Which Abraham aboue hope, beleeued vnder hope, that he should be the father of many nations: according to that which was spoken to him, So shall thy seede be.

19 And he p not weake in the faith, considered not his owne body, which was now q dead, being almost an hundred yere olde, neither the deadnesse of Saraes wombe.

20 Neither did he doubt of the promise of God through vnbeliefe, but was strengthened in the faith, and gaue r glory to God, 21 Being s fully assured that he which had promised, was able to doe it.

22 And therefore it was imputed to him for righteousnesse.

23 18 Now it is not written for him onely, that it was imputed to him for righteousnesse, 24 But also for vs, to whom it shall be imputed for righteousnes, which beleeue in him that raised vp Iesus our Lord from the dead.

25 Who was deliuered to death for our t sinnes, & is risen againe for our iustification.

t To pay the ransome for our sinnes.

CHAP. V.

1 He amplifieth 2 Christes righteousnesse, which is layed hold on by faith, 5 who was giuen for the weake, 8 and sinfull. 14 He compareth Christ with Adam, 17 Death with Life, 20 and the Law with Grace.

1 THen being 1 iustified by faith, wee haue peace toward God through our Lord Iesus Christ,

2 * 2 By whom also through faith, we haue a had this accesse into this grace, b wherein we c stand, 3 and d reioyce vnder the hope of the glory of God.

3 4 Neither that onely, but also we * reioyce in tribulations, 5 knowing that tribulation bringeth forth patience,

4 And patience experience, and experience hope,

5 6 And hope maketh not ashamed, because the e loue of God is shed abroade in our hearts by the holy Ghost, which is giuen vnto vs.

6 7 For Christ, when we were yet of no strength, at his f time died for the * vngodly.

7 8 Doubtlesse one will scarce die s for a righteous man: but yet for a good man it may be that one dare die.

8 But God h setteth out his loue towards vs, seeing that while we were yet i sinners, Christ died for vs.

9 Much more then, being now iustified by his blood, we shall be saued from k wrath through him.

10 For if when wee were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Sonne, much more being reconciled, we shall be saued by his life,

11 9 And not onely so, but we also reioyce

1 Another argument taken of the effects: we are iustified by that, which truely appeaseth our conscience before God: but faith in Christ doth appease our conscience: not the Law, as it was before said, therefore by faith we are iustified and not by the Law. *Ephes.2.18.

2 Whereas quietnesse of conscience is attributed to faith, it is to be referred to Christ, who is the giuer of faith it selfe, and in whom faith it selfe is effectual.

a We must here knowe, that we haue yet still the same effect of faith.

b By which grace, that is, by which gracious loue & good will, or that state whereunto we are graciously taken.

c We stand stedfast.

3 A preuenting of an obiection against them, which beholding the daily miseries and calamities of the Church, thinke that the Christians dreame, when they brag of their felicitie: to whom the Apostle answereth, that their felicitie is laid vp vnder hope in another place: which hope is so certaine and sure, that they doe no lesse reioyce for that happines, then if they did presently enioy it. d Our mindes are not onely quiet and setled, but also we are maruelously glad, and conceiue great ioy for that heauenly inheritance which waiteth for vs. 4 Tribulation it selfe giueth vs diuers & sundry wayes occasion to reioyce, much lesse doeth it make vs miserable. *Iam.1.2. 5 Afflictions accustome vs to patience, and patience assureth vs of the goodnes of God, and this experience confirmeth & fostereth our hope, which neuer deceiueth vs. 6 The ground of hope is an assured testimonie of the conscience, by the gift of the holy Ghost, that we are beloued of God, and this is nothing els but that which we cal faith, wherefore it followeth, that through faith our consciences are quieted. e Wherewith he loueth vs. 7 A sure comfort in aduersitie, that our peace and quietnesse of conscience be not troubled: for he that so loued them that were of no strength & while they were yet sinners, that he died for them, how can he neglect them being made sanctified and liuing in him? f In time fit and conuenient which the Father had appointed. *Hebr.9.15.1.pet.3.18. 8 An amplifying of the loue of God toward vs, so that we cannot doubt of it, who deliuered Christ to death for the vniust, and for them of whom he could receiue no commoditie, and (that more is) for his very enemies. Howe can it be then that Christ being nowe aliue, should not saue them from destruction, whom by his death he iustifieth and reconcileth? g In the stead of some iust man. h He setteth out his loue vnto vs, that in the midst of our afflictions, we may knowe assuredly, hee will be present with vs. i While sinne reigned in vs. k From affliction and destruction. 9 He now passeth ouer to the other part of Iustification, which consisteth in the free imputation of the obedience of Christ: to that to the remission of sinnes, there is added moreouer and besides, the gift of Christs righteousnes imputed or put vpon vs by faith, which swalloweth vp the vnrighteousnes which flowed from Adam into vs, and all the fruites thereof: so that in Christ we doe not onely craue to be vniust, but we begin also to be iust.

9 An applying of the example of Abraham to the vncircumcised beleeuers, whose father also hee maketh Abraham. 10 An applying of the same example, to the circumcised beleeuers, whose father Abraham is, but yet by faith. 11 A reason why the seed of Abraham is to be esteemed by faith, because that Abraham himselfe through faith was made partaker of the promise, whereby he was made the father of all nations. b That all the nations of the world should be his children: or by the world may be vnderstood the land of Canaan. i For works that he had done, or vpon this condition, that he should fulfill the Law. 12 A double confirmation of that reason: the one is, that the promise cannot be apprehended by the Lawe, and therefore it should be frustrate: the other, that the condition of faith should be ioyned in vaine to that promise which should be apprehended by works. k If they be heires which haue fulfilled the Law. 13 A reason of the first confirmation: why the promise cannot be apprehended by the Law: because that the Law doth not reconcile God and vs, but rather denounceth his anger against vs, forasmuch as no man can obserue it.

14 The conclusion of this argument: The saluation and iustification of all the posteritie of Abraham (that is, of the Church which is gathered together of all people) proceedeth of faith which layeth holde on the promise made vnto Abraham, and which promise, Abraham himselfe first of all layed holde on. l To all the beleeuers. 15 That is to say, not onely of them which beleeue and are also circumcised according to the Lawe, but of them also which without circumcision, and in respect of faith onely, are counted amongst the children of Abraham. 16 This fatherhood is spirituall, depending onely vpon the vertue of God, who made the promise. m Before God, that is by a spirituall kindred, which hath place before God, and maketh vs acceptable to God. n Who restoreth to life. o With whom those things are already, which as yet are not indeede, as he that can with a word make what he will of nothing. 17 A description of true faith wholly resting in the power of God, and his good will, set forth in the example of Abraham. p Very strong and constant. q Void of strength, and vnmeete to get children. r Acknowledged and prayed of God, as most gracious & true. s A description of true faith. 18 The rule of iustification is alwayes one, both in Abraham and in al the faithfull: that is to say, faith in God, who after that there was made a full satisfaction for our sinnes in Christ our mediatour, raised him from the dead, that we also being iustified, might be saued in him.

in God through our Lorde Jeſus Chriſt, by whom we haue now receiued the atonement.

12 [10] Wherefore, as by [l] one man [m] ſinne entred into the world, and death by ſinne, and ſo death went ouer all men: [n] in whom all men haue ſinned.

13 [11] For vnto the [o] time of the Lawe was ſinne in the world, but ſinne is not [p] imputed, while there is no lawe.

14 [12] But death reigned from Adam to Moſes, euen ouer [q] them alſo that ſinned not after the like [r] maner of the tranſgreſſion of Adam, [13] which was the figure of him that was to come.

15 [14] But yet the gift is not ſo, as is the offence: for if through the offence of [s] that one, many be dead, much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man Jeſus Chriſt, hath abounded vnto many.

16 [15] Neither is the gift ſo, as that which entred in by one that ſinned: for the fault came of one offence vnto condemnation: but the gift is of many offences to [t] iuſtification.

17 [16] For if by the offence of one, death reigned through one, much more ſhall they which receiue that abundance of grace, and of that gift of that righteouſneſſe, [u] reigne in life through one, that is, Jeſus Chriſt.

18 [17] Likewiſe then as by [ẏ] offence of one, the fault came on all men to condemnation, ſo by the iuſtifying of one, the benefite abounded toward all men to the [x] iuſtification of life.

19 [18] For as by one mans [y] diſobedience [z] many were made ſinners, ſo by that obedience of that one ſhall many alſo be made righteous.

20 [19] Moreouer the Lawe [a] entred there-vpon that the offence ſhould abound: neuertheleſſe, where ſinne abounded, there grace [b] abounded much more.

21 That as ſinne had reigned vnto death, ſo might grace alſo reigne by righteouſnes vnto eternal life through Jeſus Chriſt our Lord.

CHAP. VI.

1 He commeth to ſanctification, without which, that no man putteth on Chriſts righteouſneſſe, he proueth 4 by an argument taken of Baptiſme, 12 and thereupon exhorteth to holineſſe of life, 16 briefly making mention of the Law tranſgreſſed.

WHat [1] ſhall we ſay then? Shall we continue ſtill in [a] ſinne, that grace may abound? God forbid.

2 [2] How ſhall we that are [b] dead to ſinne, liue yet therein?

3 [3] Knowe ye not, that * all we which haue beene baptized into [c] Jeſus Chriſt, haue beene baptized into his death?

4 *We are buried then with him by baptiſme into his death, [ẏ] like as Chriſt was raiſed vp from the dead [d] to the glory of [ẏ] father, ſo [e] we alſo ſhould * walke in newnes of life.

5 [4] * For if we be planted with him to the [f] ſimilitude of his death, euen ſo ſhall we [g] be to the ſimilitude of his reſurrection,

6 Knowing this, that our [h] olde man is crucified with [i] him, that the body [k] of ſinne might be deſtroyed, that hence forth we ſhould not [l] ſerue ſinne.

7 [5] For he that is dead, is freed frō ſinne.

8 Wherefore, if we be dead with Chriſt, we beleeue that we ſhall liue alſo with him.

9 Knowing that Chriſt being raiſed from the dead, dieth no more: death hath no more dominion ouer him.

10 For in that he died, he died [m] once to ſinne: but in that he liueth, he liueth to [n] God.

11 Likewiſe thinke ye alſo, that ye are dead to ſinne, but are aliue to God in Jeſus Chriſt our Lord.

10 From Adam in whom all haue ſinned, both guiltineſſe and death (which is the puniſhment of the guiltineſſe) came vpon all.

l By Adam, who is compared with Chriſt, like to him in this, that both of them make thoſe which are theirs, partakers of that they haue: but they are vnlike in this, that Adam deriueth ſinne into them that are his euen of nature, and that to death: but Chriſt maketh them that are his, partakers of his righteouſneſſe by grace, and that vnto life.

m By ſinne, is meant that diſeaſe which is ours by inheritance, and men commonly call it originall ſinne: for ſo he vſeth to cal that ſinne in the ſingular number, whereas if hee ſpeake of the fruites of it, he vſeth the plurall number, calling them ſinnes.

n That is, in Adam.

11 That this is ſo, that both guiltineſſe and death began not after the giuing and tranſgreſſing of Moſes Law, it appeareth manifeſtly by that, that men died before that Lawe was giuen: for in that they died, ſinne, which is the cauſe of death, was then: and in ſuch ſort, that it was alſo imputed: whereupon it followeth that there was then ſome Lawe, the breach whereof was the cauſe of death. o Euen from Adam to Moſes. p Where there is no Law made, no man is punished as faultie and guiltie. 12 But that this Law was not that vniuerſall Law and that death did not proceede from any actual ſinne of euery one particularly, it appeareth hereby, that the very infants, which neither could euer knowe nor tranſgreſſe that naturall Lawe, are notwithſtanding dead as well as Adam.

q Ouer infants. r Not after that ſort as they ſinne that are of moe yeeres, following their luſtes: but yet the whole poſteritie was corrupted in Adam, when ashe wittingly and willingly ſinned. 13 Now that firſt Adam anſwereth the latter, who is Chriſt, as it is afterward declared. 14 Adam and Chriſt are compared together in this reſpect, that both of them bee giue and yeelde to theirs, that which is their owne: but herein firſt they differ, that Adam by nature hath ſpred his fault to the deſtruction of many, but Chriſts obedience hath by grace ouerflowed many.

s That is, Adam. 15 Another inequalitie conſiſteth in this, that by Adams one offence men are made guilty, but the righteouſnes of Chriſt imputed vnto vs freely, doth not onely abſolue vs from that one fault, but from all other. t To the ſentence of abſolution, whereby we are quit and pronounced righteous. 16 The third difference is, that the righteouſneſſe of Chriſt, being imputed vnto vs by grace, is of greater power to bring life, then the offence of Adam is to addict his poſteritie to death. u Be partakers of true and euerlaſting life. 17 Therefore to be ſhort, as by one mans offence, the guiltines came on al men to make them ſubiect to death: ſo on the contrary ſide, the righteouſneſſe of Chriſt, which by Gods mercy is imputed to all beleeuers, iuſtifieth them, that they may become partakers of euerlaſting life. x Not onely becauſe our ſinnes are forgiuen vs, but alſo becauſe the righteouſnes of Chriſt is imputed to vs. 18 The ground of this whole compariſon is this, that theſe two men are ſet as two ſtocks or rootes, ſo that out of the one, ſinne by nature, out of the other, righteouſnes by grace doth ſpring ſooth vpon others. y So then, ſinne entred not into vs only by following the ſteps of our forefather, but we take corruption of him by inheritance. z This word Many, is ſet againſt this word, A few. 19 Preuenting of an obiection: why then did the Law of Moſes enter thereupon? that men might be ſo much ẏ more guilty, & the benefite of God in Chriſt Jeſus be ſo much the more glorious. a Beſide ẏ diſeaſe which all men were infected withal by being defiled with one mans ſinne, the Law entred.

b Grace was powred ſo plentifully from heuen, that it did not onely conteruaile ſinne, but aboue meaſure paſſed it.

1 He paſſeth vnto another benefite of Chriſt, which is called ſanctification & regeneration.

a In that corruption, for though the guiltineſſe of ſinne be not imputed to vs, yet the corruption remaineth ſtil in vs: the which, Sanctification that followeth Iuſtification, killeth by litle and litle.

2 The benefit of Iuſtification and Sanctification, are alwayes ioyned together inſeparably, and both of them proceed from Chriſt by the grace of God: Maine, Sanctification is the abolliſhing of ſinne, that is, of our naturall corruption, into whoſe place ſucceedeth the cleannes and pureneſſe of nature reſtored.

b They are ſaid of Paul to be dead to ſinne, which are in ſuch ſort made partakers of the vertue of Chriſt, that naturall corruption is dead in them, that is, the force of it is put out, and it bringeth not forth his bitter fruites: And on the other ſide, they are ſaid to liue to ſinne, which are in the fleſh, that is, whom the ſpirit of God hath not deliuered from the ſlauerie of the corruption of nature. 3 There are three parts of this Sanctification: to wit, the death of the old man of ſinne, his buriall, and the reſurrection of the new man, deſcending into vs from the vertue of the death, buriall, and reſurrection of Chriſt, of which benefite our baptiſme is the ſigne and pledge. *Gal. 3.27. c To the end that growing vp in one with him, we ſhould receiue his ſtrength, to quench ſinne in vs, and to make vs newe men. * Col. 2.12. d That Chriſt himſelfe being diſcharged of his infirmitie and weakeneſſe, might liue in glory with God for euer. e And we which are his members riſe for this ende, that being made partakers of the ſelfe ſame vertue, wee ſhould begin to leade a newe life, as though wee were already in heauen. *Epheſ. 4.23. coloſ. 3.8. hebr. 12.1. 1.pet. 2.1. 4 The death of ſinne, and the life of righteouſneſſe, or our ingraffing into Chriſt, and growing vp into one with him, cannot be ſeparated by any meanes, neither in death nor life: wherby it followeth, that no man is ſanctified, which liueth ſtil in ſinne, and therefore is no man made partaker of Chriſt by faith, which repenteth not and turneth not from his wickednesſe: for as he ſaide before, the Law is not ſubuerted but eſtabliſhed by faith. *1. Cor. 6.14. 2. tim. 2.11. f In ſo much as by meanes of the ſtrength which commeth from him to vs, we ſo die to ſinne as he is dead. g For we become euery day more perfite then other: for we ſhal neuer be perfectly ſanctified, as long as we liue here. h All our whole nature, as we are conceiued and borne into this world with ſinne, which is called old, partly by comparing that old Adam with Chriſt, & partly alſo in reſpect of the deformation of our corrupt nature, which we change with a new. i Our corrupt nature is attributed to Chriſt, not in deede, but by imputation. k That naughtines which ſticketh faſt in vs. l The end of ſanctification which we ſhoote at, and ſhall at length come to, to wit, when God ſhall be all in all. 5 He proueth it by the effects of death, vſing a compariſon of Chriſt the head with his members. m Once for all. n With God.

6 An exhortation to contend and striue with corruption and all the effects thereof.

12 6 Let not sinne o reigne therefore in your mortall body, that ye should obey it in the lustes thereof:

13 Neither p giue yee your q members as r weapons of vnrighteousnes vnto sinne: but giue your selues vnto God, as they that are aliue from the dead, and giue your members as weapons of righteousnesse vnto God.

14 7 For sinne shall not haue dominion ouer you: for ye are not vnder the Law, but vnder grace.

15 8 What then? shall wee sinne, because we are not vnder the Lawe, but vnder grace? God forbid.

16 *Know ye not, that to whomsoeuer ye giue your selues as seruants to obey his seruants ye are to whom ye obey, whether it bee of sinne vnto death, or of obedience vnto righteousnesse?

17 9 But God be thanked, that yee haue bene the seruants of sinne, but ye haue obeyed from the heart vnto the s forme of the doctrine, whereunto ye were deliuered.

18 Being then made free from sinne, yee are made the seruants of righteousnesse.

19 I speake after the maner of man, because of the infirmitie of your flesh: for as yee haue giuen your members seruants to vncleannesse & to iniquitie, to commit iniquitie, so nowe giue your members seruants vnto righteousnesse in holinesse.

20 For when yee were the seruants of sinne, ye were t freed from righteousnes.

21 10 What fruite had yee then in those things, whereof ye are nowe ashamed? for the u ende of those things is death.

22 But nowe being freed from sinne, and made seruants vnto God, ye haue your fruite in holines, and the ende, euerlasting life.

23 11 For the wages of sinne is death: but the gift of God is eternall life, through Iesus Christ our Lord.

6 To be vnder the Lawe and vnder sinne signifie all one, in respect of them which are not sanctified, as on the contrary side to be vnder grace and righteousnes, agree with them that are regenerate. Now these are contraries, so that one cannot agree with the other: Therefore let righteousnes expel sinne.
*Iohn 8.34.

7 By nature we are slaues to sinne & free from righteousnesse, but by the grace of God wee are made seruants to righteousnes, and therefore free from sinne.

8 This kinde of speach hath a force in it: for he meaneth thereby that the doctrine of the Gospel is like vnto a certaine mould which we are cast into, to be framed and fashioned like vnto it.

9 Righteousnes had no rule ouer you.

10 An exhortation to the studie of righteousnes and hatred of sinne, the contrary ends of both, being set downe before vs.

11 Death is the punishment due to sinne, but we are sanctified freely, vnto life euerlasting.

o By reigning, S. Paul meaneth that chiefetie and high rule, which no man striueth against, and if any doe, yet it is in vaine.

p To sinne, as to a Lord or tyrant.

q Your minde and all the powers of it.

r As instruments to commit wickednes withall.

7 He granteth, that sinne is not yet so dead in us that it is vtterly extinct: but he promiseth victory to them that contend manfully, because we haue the grace of God giuen vs which worketh it, that the Law is not now in his power and instrument of sinne.

s Wherein we were instructed.

t Sinne and righteousnes are alwayes contrary one to another, and therefore cannot dwell together at once in one man. Now as long as we are in the flesh, there is in vs a mixture of both the natures and of the workes of them: but the grace of God in Christ doth so preuaile, that it ouercommeth and subdueth the corruption of nature, and maketh vs to bring forth the fruites of the Spirit. Therefore we are said to be freed from sinne, when sinne is so ouercome in vs, that it cannot raigne in vs.
*Rom 8.34. Gal. 5.19.

CHAP. VII.

1 He declareth what it is, to be no more vnder the Lawe,
2 by an example taken of the Lawe of mariage: 7. 12 And lest the Lawe should seeme faultie, 14 he proueth, that our sinne is the cause 13 that the same is an occasion of death, 17 which was giuen vs, vnto life: 21 He setteth out the battell betweene the flesh and the spirit.

1 By ypotomosing the similitude of mariage, he compareth the state of man both before and after regeneration together. The lawe of matrimonie, saieth hee, is this, that so long as the husband liueth, the marriage abideth in force, but if hee be dead, the woman may marry againe.

KNowe 1 yee not brethren, (for I speake to them that knowe the Lawe) that the Lawe hath dominion ouer a man as long as he liueth?

2 *For the woman which is in subiection to a man, is bound by the Lawe to the man, while hee liueth: but if the man be dead, she is deliuered from the Lawe of the man.

3 So then, if while the man liueth, she taketh another man, she shall be a called an *adulteresse: but if the man be dead, she is free from the Lawe, so that shee is not an adulteresse, though she take another man.

4 2 So ye, my brethren, are dead also to the Lawe by the b body of Christ, that ye should be vnto another, euen vnto him that is raised vp from the dead, that we should bring forth c fruit vnto d God.

5 3 For when we e were in the flesh, the f affections of sinnes, which were by the g Lawe, had h force in our members, to bring forth fruit vnto death.

6 But now wee are deliuered from the Lawe, hee i being dead k in whome we were l holden, that we should serue in m newnesse of Spirit, and not in the oldnesse of the n letter.

7 4 What shall wee say then? Is the Lawe sinne? God forbid. Nay, I knewe not sinne, but by the Lawe: for I had not knowen o lust, except the Law had said, *Thou shalt not lust.

8 But sinne tooke an occasion by the commaundement: and wrought in mee all maner of concupiscence: for without the Lawe sinne is p dead.

9 5 For I once was aliue, without the q Lawe: but when the commandement r came, sinne reuiued.

10 But I s died and the same commandement which was ordeined vnto life, was found to be vnto me vnto death.

*1. Cor. 7. 39.

a That is, she shall be an adulteresse, by the consent and iudgement of all men.
*Matth. 5. 32.

2 An application of the similitude thus. So, saith he, doeth it fare with vs: for nowe we are ioyned to the Spirit, as it were to the second husband, by whom we must bring forth new children, were are dead in respect of the first husband, but in respect of the latter, we are as it were raised from the dead.

b That is, in the body of Christ, to giue vs to vnderstand, how straite and neere that fellowship is betwixt Christ and his members.

c He calleth the children, which the wife hath by her husband, fruite.

p Which are acceptable to God.

3 A declaration of the former saying: for the concupiscences (saith he) which the Lawe stirred vp in vs: were in vs, as it were a husband, of whome were brought forth very deadly and cursed children:

But nowe since that husband is dead, and so consequently being deliuered from the force of that killing Law, we haue passed into the gouernance of the Spirit, so that we bring forth now, not those rotten & dead, but liuely children.

e When we were in the state of the first mariage, which he calleth in the next verse following the oldenesse of the letter.

f The motions that egged vs to sinne, which shewe their force euen in our mindes.

g He saith not of the Law, but by the Law, because they spring of sinne which dwelleth within vs, & take occasion to worke thus in vs, by reason of the restraint that the Law maketh, not that the fault is in the Law but in our selues.

h Wrought their strength. As if he said, The bond which bound vs, is dead, and vanished away, insomuch that sinne which helde vs, hath not now wherewith to hold vs.

k For this husband is within vs.

l Satan is an vniust possessour, for he brought vs in bondage of sinne and himselfe, deceiuefully: and yet notwithstanding so long as we are sinners, we sinne willingly.

m As becometh them which after the death of their olde husband are ioyned to the Spirit: as whom the Spirit of God hath made new men.

n By the letter, he meaneth the Law, in respect of that old condition: for before that our will bee framed by the holy Ghost, the Law speaketh but to deafe men, and therefore it is dumbe and dead to vs, as touching the fulfilling of it.

4 An obiection: What then? are the Law and sinne all one, and doe they agree together? nay saith he: Sinne is reproued and condemned by the Law. But because sinne cannot abide to be reproued, and will not in a manner feele, until it was prouoked and stirred vp by the Law, it taketh occasion thereby to be more outragious, and yet by no fault of the Law.

o By the word, Lust in this place he meaneth not euill lusts themselues, but the fountaine from whence they spring for the very heathen philosophers themselues condemned wicked lusts, though somewhat darkly, But as for this fountaine of them, they could not so much as suspect it, and yet it is the very seate of that naturall and vncleane spot, and filth.
*Exo. 20. 17. deut. 5. 21.

p Though sinne be in vs, yet it is not knowen for sinne, neither doeth it so rage, as it rageth after that the Lawe is knowen.

himselfe before vs for an example, in whom all men may behold, first what they are of nature before they earnestly thinke vpon the Law of God: to wit, blockish, senseless to sinne and wickednesse, without all true sense and feeling of sinne, then what maner of persons they become, when their conscience is reproued by the testimonie of the Law, to wit, stubburne and more enflamed with the desire of sinne, then euer they were before.

q When I knew not the Law, then me thought I liued in deede: for my conscience neuer troubled me, because it knew not my disease.

r When I began to vnderstand the commandement.

s In sinne, or by sinne.

11 For sinne tooke occasion by the cõmandement, & deceiued me, and thereby slew me.

12 [6] Wherefore the Law is * holy, & that [t] commandement is holy and iust and good.

13 [7] Was that then which is good, [u] made death vnto mee? God forbid: but sinne that it might [x] appeare sinne, wrought death in me by that which is good, that sinne might be [y] out of measure sinfull by the commandement.

14 [8] For wee know that the Lawe is spirituall, but I am carnall, sold vnder sinne.

15 [9] For I [10] alow not that which I doe: for what I [11] would, that doe I not: but what I hate, that doe I.

16 If I doe then that which I would not, I consent to the Law that it is good.

17 Now then, it is no more I, that doe it, but [z] sinne that dwelleth in me.

18 [12] For I know, that in me, that is, in my flesh dwelleth no good thing: for to will is present with me: but I finde [a] no meanes to performe that which is good:

19 For I doe not the good thing, which I would, but the euill, which I would not, that doe I.

20 Now if I do that I would not, it is no more I that doe it, but the sinne that dwelleth in me.

21 [13] I finde then [ẏ] when I would do good, I am thus poked, that euil is present with me.

22 For I delite in the Lawe of God concerning the [b] inner man:

23 But I see another Lawe in my members, rebelling against the Law of my [c] minde, leading mee captiue vnto the Lawe of sinne, which is my members.

24 [14] [d] O wretched man that I am, who shall deliuer me from the body of this death!

25 I [e] thanke God through Jesus Christ our Lord. Then I [f] my selfe in my minde serue the Lawe of God, but in my flesh the lawe of sinne.

6 The conclusion: That the Lawe of it selfe is holy, but all the fault is in vs which abuse the Law.

* 1. Tim. 1. 8.

t Touching not coueting.

7 The proposition, That the Law is not the cause of death, but our corrupt nature being therewith not onely discouered, but also stirred vp: and tooke occasion thereby to rebel, as which the more that things are forbidden it, the more it desireth them, and from hence commeth guiltines, and occasion of death.

u Beareth it the blame of my death?

x That sinne might shew it selfe to be sinne, and bewray it selfe to be that, which it is in deede.

y As euil as it could, shewing all the venoume it could.

8 The cause of this matter, is this: because that the Lawe requireth a heauenly pureness, but men such as they be borne, are bondslaues of corruptiõ, which they willingly serue.

9 He setteth himselfe being regenerate, before vs, for an ensample, in whom may easily appeare the strife of the Spirit and the flesh, and therefore of the Lawe of God, and our wickednes. For since that the Lawe in a man not regenerate bringeth forth death onely, therefore in him, it may easily bee accused: but seeing that in a man which is regenerate, it bringeth foorth good fruit, it doth better appeare that euil actions proceed not from the Law, but from sinne, that is, from our corrupt nature: And therefore the Apostle teacheth also what the true vse of the Law is, irreproouing sinne in the regenerate, vnto the end of the chapter: as a little before (to wit, from the seuenth verse vnto this fifteenth) he declared the vse of it in them which are not regenerate.

10 The deedes of my life, saith he, answere not, nay they are contrary to my will: Therefore by the consent of my will with the Lawe, and repugnancie with the deedes of my life, it appeareth euidently, that the Law and a right ruled will do persuade one thing, but corruption which hath her seat also in the regenerate, an other thing.

11 It is to be noted, that one selfe same man is saide to will and not to will, in diuers respects: to wit, he is said to will, in that, that he is regenerate by grace: and not to will, in that, that he is not regenerate, or in that, that he is such an one as hee was borne. But because the part which is regenerate, at length becommeth conqueroure, therefore Paul sustaining the part of the regenerate, speaketh in such sort as if the corruption which sinneth willingly, were something without a man: although afterward hee graunteth that this euil is in his flesh, or in his members.

12 That naturall corruption, which cleaueth fast euen to them that are regenerate, and not cleane conquered.

13 This vice, or sinne, for law of sinne, doeth wholy possesse those men which are not regenerate, and hindreth them or holdeth them backe that are regenerate.

a This doeth in deed agree to that man, whom the grace of God hath made a new man: for where the spirit is not, how can there be any strife there?

14 The conclusion: As ẏ Law of God exhorteth to goodnes, so doth the Law of sinne (that is, the corruption wherin we are borne) force vs to wickednes: but the Spirit, that is, the minde, in that that is regenerate, consenteth with the Law of God: but the flesh, that is, the whole naturall man, is bondslaue to the Law of sinne. Therefore to be short, wickednes and death are not of the Lawe, but of sinne, which reigneth in them that are not regenerate: for they neither will, nor doe good, but will, and do euil: But in them that are regenerate, it striueth against the Spirit or lawe of the minde, so that they cannot either liue so well as they would, or be so voyd of sinne as they would.

b The inner man, and the newe man are all one, and are answerable and set as contrary to the old man, neither doth this word, Inner man, signifie mans minde and reason, and the olde man, the powers that are vnder them, as the Philosophers imagine, but by the outward man is meant whatsoeuer is either without or within a man, from top to toe, so long as that man is not borne a new by the grace of God.

c The Law of the minde in this place, is not to be vnderstood of the minde as it is naturally, and as our minde is from our birth, but of the minde which is renewed by the Spirit of God.

14 It is a miserable thing to be yet in part subiect to sinne, which of it owne nature maketh vs guiltie of death: but we must cry to the Lord, who will by death it selfe at length make vs conquerors, as we are alreadie conquerors in Christ.

d Wearied with miserable and continual conflicts.

e He recouereth himselfe, & sheweth vs that he resteth only in Christ.

f This is the true perfection of them that are borne anew, to confesse that they are imperfect.

CHAP. VIII.

1 He concludeth that there is no condemnation to them, who are grafted in Christ through his spirit, 3 howsoeuer they be as yet burdened with sinnes: 9 for they liue through that Spirit, 14 whose testimonie 15 driueth away all feare, 28 and relieueth our present miseries.

NOw [1] then there is no condemnation to them that are in Christ Jesus, which [2] walke not after the [a] flesh, but after the spirit.

3 [3] For the [b] Lawe of the Spirit of [c] life, which is in [d] Christ Jesus, hath [e] freed mee from the Lawe of sinne and of death.

3 [4] For, (that that was [f] impossible to the Lawe, in as much as it was weake, because of the [g] flesh) God sending his owne Sonne, in the similitude of [h] sinfull flesh, and for [i] sinne, [k] condemning sinne in the flesh,

4 That that [l] righteousnesse of the Lawe might be fulfilled [5] in vs, which walke not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.

5 [6] For they that are after the [m] flesh

1 A conclusion of all ẏ former disputation, from verse 16. chap. 1. euē to this place. Seeing that we, being iustified by faith in Christ, doe obtaine remission of sinnes and imputation of righteousnes, & are also sanctified, it followeth hereof, that they that are grafted into Christ by faith, are out of all feare of condemnation.

2 The fruits of the Spirit, or effects of sanctification which is begun in vs, do not ingraft vs into Christ, but do declare that we are grafted into him.

a Folow not the flesh for their guide: for he is not said to liue after the flesh, that hath the holy Ghost for his guide, though sometimes he slep awry.

3 An inuenting of an obiection: seeing that the vertue of the Spirit which is in vs, is so weake, how may we gather thereby, that there is no condemnation to them that haue that vertue? Because saith he, that vertue of the quickening spirit which is so weake in vs, is most perfect and most mighty in Christ, and being imputed vnto vs which beleeue, causeth vs to be so accompted of, as though there were no reliques of corruption and death in vs. Therefore hitherto Paul disputed of remission of sinnes, and imputation of fulfilling the Law, & also of sanctification which is begun in vs: but now he speaketh of the perfit imputation of Christs manhood, which part was necessarily required to the ful appeasing of our consciences: For our sinnes are defaced by the blood of Christ, & the guiltines of our corruption is couered with the imputation of Christs obedience: & the corruption it selfe (which the Apostle calleth sinful sinne) is healed in vs by litle & litle, by the gift of sanctification: but yet lacketh besides that, another remedie, to wit, the perfect sanctification of Christs own flesh, which also is to vs imputed.

b The power & authorite of the Spirit, against which, is set the tyrannie of sinne.

c Which mortifieth the old man, and quickneth the new man.

d To wit, absolutely & perfitly.

e For Christs sanctification being imputed to vs, perfiteth our sanctification which is begun in vs.

4 He vseth no argument here, but expoundeth the misterie of sanctification, which is imputed vnto vs: for because saith he, that the vertue of the Law was not such (and that by reason of the corruption of our nature) that it could make man pure and perfite, & for that it rather kindled the disease of sinne, then did put it out & extinguish it, therefore God clothed his sonne in flesh like vnto our sinful flesh, wherein he vtterly abolished our corruption, that being accompted throughly pure & without fault in him apprehended and laid hold on him by faith, we might be found to haue fully that singular perfection which the Law requireth, & therfore that there might be no condemnation in vs.

f Which is not proper to the Law, but cõmeth by our fault.

g In man not borne anew, whose disease the Law could point out, but it could not heale it.

h Of mans nature which was corrupt through sinne, vntil he be sanctified in.

i To abolish sinne in our flesh.

k Shewed ẏ sinne hath no right in vs.

l The very substance of the Lawe of God might be fulfilled, or that same which the Law requireth, ẏ we may be found iust before God: for if without iustification, there be ioyned the sanctification which is imputed to vs, we are iust, according to ẏ perfit forme which the Lord requireth.

5 He returneth to ẏ which he said, that the sanctification which is begun in vs, is a sure testimony of our ingrafting into Christ: which is a most plentifull fruit of a godly & honest life.

6 A reason why to walke after the flesh, agreeth not to them which are grafted in Christ, but to walke after the Spirit, agreeth & is meete for them: Because saith he, that they which are after the flesh, saueur the things of the flesh, but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit.

m They that liue as the flesh leadeth them.

sauour the things of the flesh: but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit.

6 [7] For the wisedome of the flesh is death: but the wisedome of the Spirit is life and peace.

7 [8] Because the wisdome of the flesh is enimitie against God: [9] for it is not subiect to the Law of God, neither in deede can be.

8 [10] So then they that are in the flesh, can not please God.

9 [11] Nowe ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, because the spirit of God dwelleth in you: but if any man hath not the Spirit of Christ, the same is not his.

10 [12] And if Christ bee in you, the [u] body is dead, because of sinne: but the Spirit is life for righteousnesse sake.

11 [13] But if the Spirit of him that raised vp Jesus from the dead, dwell in you, hee that raised vp Christ from the dead, shall also quicken your mortall bodies, by his Spirite that [o] dwelleth in you.

12 [14] Therefore brethren, wee are debters not to the flesh, to liue after the flesh:

13 [15] For if yee liue after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye mortifie the deeds of the body by the Spirit, ye shall liue.

14 [16] For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sonnes of God.

15 [17] For ye haue not receiued the [p] Spirit of bondage, to [q] feare againe: but yee haue receiued the Spirit of [r] adoption, whereby we cry Abba, Father.

16 The same Spirit beareth witnes with our spirit, that we are the children of God.

17 [18] If we be children, we are also [s] heires euen the heires of God, and heires annexed with Christ: [19] if so be that we suffer with him, that we may also be glorified with him.

18 [20] For I [t] count that the afflictions of this present time are not worthy of the glorie, which shalbe shewed vnto vs.

19 [21] For the feruent desire of the [u] creature waiteth when the sonnes of God shall be reueiled.

20 Because the creature is subiect to [x] vanitie, not of it [y] owne will, but by reason [z] of him, which hath subdued it vnder [a] hope.

21 Because the creature also shall be deliuered from the [b] bondage of corruption into the glorious libertie of the sonnes of God.

22 For we know that euery creature groneth with vs also, and [c] trauaileth in paine together vnto this present.

23 [22] And not onely the creature, but we also, which haue the first fruites of the Spirit, euen wee doe sigh in our [d] selues, waiting for the adoption, euen * [e] the redemption of our bodie.

24 [23] For we are saued by hope: but [f] hope that is seene, is not hope: for howe can a man hope for that he seeth?

25 But if we hope for that we see not, wee doe with patience abide for it.

26 [24] Likewise the spirit also [g] helpeth our infirmities: for wee know not what to pray as we ought: but the Spirit it selfe maketh [h] request for vs with sighes, which can not bee expressed.

27 But he that searcheth the hearts, knoweth what is the [i] meaning of the Spirit: for he maketh request for the Saints, [k] according to the wil of God.

28 [25] Also wee knowe that [l] all things worke together for the best vnto them that loue God, euen to them that are called of his [m] purpose.

29 For those which hee knewe before, hee also predestinate to be made like to the image of his Sonne, that hee might be the first borne among many brethren.

30 Moreouer whom he predestinate, them he also called: and whom he called, them he also iustified: and whom he iustified, them he also glorified.

31 What shall we then say to these things? If God be on our side, who can be against vs?

32 He that spared not his owne Sonne, but gaue him for vs all, how shall he not with him also giue vs all things?

33 Who shall lay any thing to the charge of Gods chosen? It is God that iustifieth.

34 Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died, yea rather that is risen againe, who is euen on the right hand of God, and maketh request for vs.

35 Who shall separate vs from the loue of Christ? shall tribulation, or anguish, or persecution, or famine, or nakednesse, or perill, or sword?

36 As it is written, For thy sake we are killed all the day long: we are counted as sheepe for the slaughter.

37 Nay in all these things we ouercome mightily, through him that loued vs.

38 For I am perswaded, that neither death, nor life, nor Angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come,

39 Nor height, nor deepe, nor any other creature shall be able to separate vs from the loue of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

7 He proueth the consequent: because that whatsoeuer the flesh sauoureth, that engendereth death: and whatsoeuer the Spirit sauoureth, that tendeth to ioy and life euerlasting.
8 A reason and proofe why the wisdome of the flesh is death, because saith he, it is the enemie of God.
9 A reason why the wisdome of the flesh is enemie to God, because it neither wil neither can be subiect to him, and by flesh he meaneth a man not regenerate.
10 The conclusion: Therefore they that walke after the flesh, cannot please God: whereby it followeth, that they are not grafted into Christ.
11 Hee commeth to the others, to wit, to them which walke after the Spirit, of whom he haue to vnderstand contrary things, to the former: and first of all, he declareth what it is to be in the Spirit, or to be sanctified: to wit, to haue the Spirit of God dwelling in vs. Then he declareth, that sanctification is so ioyned and knit to our grafting in Christ, that it can by no meanes be separated. 12 Hee confirmeth the faithfull against the reliques of flesh & sinne, granting that they are pet (as it appeareth by the corruption which is in them) touching one of their parts (which hee calleth the body, that is to say, a lumpe) which is not yet purged from this earthly filthinesse in death: but therewithall willing them to doubt nothing of the happy successe of this combate, because that euen this litle sparke of the Spirit, (that is, of the grace of regeneration) which appeareth to be in them by the fruites of righteousnes, is the seede of life.
n The flesh, or all that, which as yet sticketh fast in the clefts of sinne and death.
13 A confirmation of the former sentence: You haue the selfe same Spirit, which Christ hath: Therefore at length it shal do the same in you, if it did in Christ, to wit, when all infirmities being vtterly layd aside, and death ouercome it shal cloth you with heauenly glory.
o By the vertue & power of it, which shewed the same might first in our head, and daily worketh in his members. 14 An exhortation to oppres the flesh daily more & more by the vertue of the Spirit of regeneration, because (saith he) you are debters vnto God, for so much as you haue receiued so many benefits of him. 15 An other reason of the profit that ensueth: for such as striue and fight valiantly shal haue euerlasting life. 16 A confirmation of this reason: for they be the children of God, which are gouerned by his spirit, therefore shal they haue life euerlasting. 17 He declareth & expoundeth by the way, in these two verses by what right this name, to be called the children of God, is giuen to the beleeuers because saith he, they haue receiued the grace of the Gospel, wherein God sheweth himself, not (as before in the publishing of the Law) terrible & fearful, but a most benigne & louing father in Christ, so that with great boldnes we call him Father, the holy Ghost sealing this adoption in our hearts by faith.
p By the Spirit, is ment the holy Ghost, who we are said to receiue, whē he worketh in our minds.
q Which feare, it stirred vp in our minds, by the preaching of the Law.
r Which sealeth our adoption in our minds, & therfore openeth our mouthes. 18 A proofe of the cōsequent of the cōfirmation: because he which is the sonne of God, doth enioy God with Christ.
s Partakers of our fathers goods, and freely, because we are children by adoption. 19 Now Paul teacheth by what way the sonnes of God do come to that felicitie, to wit by the crosse, as Christ himselfe did: & therewithal openeth vnto them fountaines of comfort: as first that we haue Christ a companion & fellow of our afflictions: secondly, that we shalbe also his felowes in that euerlasting glory.
20 Thirdly the glory which we looke for, both a thousand parts surmounteth the misery of our afflictions.
t All being well considered, I gather.
21 Fourthly, he plainely teacheth vs that it shal certainely be renued from that confusion and horrible transformation of the whole world, which cannot continue, as it was not at the beginning: But as it had a beginning by the sinne of man for whom it was made by the ordinance of God, so shall it at length be restored with the elect.
u All this world.
x Is subiect to a vanishing and flitting state.
y Not by their naturall inclination.
z That they should obey the Creators commandement, whē it pleased to shew by their sickle state how greatly he was displeased with man.
a God would not make the world subiect to euerlasting curse for the sinne of man, but gaue it hope that it should be restored.
b From the corruption which they are now subiect to, they shall be deliuered and changed into the blessed state of incorruption, which shall be reuealed, when the sonnes of God shall be aduanced to glory.
c By this word is meant, not onely exceeding sorow, but also the fruite that followeth of it. 22 Fiftly, if the rest of the world looke for a reioycing, groning as it were for it, and that not in vaine, let it not grieue vs also to sigh, yea, let vs bee more certainely perswaded of our redemption to come, for as much as we haue the first fruites of the spirit.
d Euen from the bottome of our hearts. * Luke 21.28.
e That last restoring, which shall be the accomplishment of our adoption. 23 Sixtly, hope is necessarily ioyned with faith: seeing then that wee beleeue those things, which wee are not yet in possession of, and hope respecteth not the thing that is present, wee must therefore hope and patiently waite for that which wee beleeue shall come to passe.
f This is spoken by the figure Metonomie: Hope, for that which is hoped for.
24 Seuenthly, There is no cause why we should faint vnder the burden of afflictions, seeing that prayers minister vnto vs a most sure helpe: which can not bee frustrate, seeing they proceede from the spirite of God which dwelleth in vs.
g Beareth our burden, as it were, that wee faint not vnderit.
h Prouoketh vs to prayers, and telleth vs as it were within, what wee shall say, and howe we shall grone.
i What sobs and sighs proceed from the instinct of his Spirit.
k Because he teacheth the godly to pray according to Gods will. 25 Eightly, we are not afflicted, either by chance or to our harme, but by Gods prouidence for our great profite: who as he chose vs from the beginning, so hath hee predestinate vs to be made like to the image of his Sonne: and therefore will bring vs in time, being called and iustified, to glory, by the crosse.
l Not onely afflictions, but whatsoeuer else.
m Hee calleth that, Purpose, which God hath from euerlasting appointed with himselfe according to his good will and pleasure.

30 Moreouer whome hee [a] predestinated, them also he called, and whom he called, them also he iustified, and whom he iustified, them he also glorified.

31 [26] What shall wee then say to these things? If God be on our side, who can be against vs?

32 Who spared not his owne Sonne, but gaue him for vs all to death, how shall hee not with him [o] giue vs all things also?

33 [27] Who shall lay any thing to the charge of Gods chosen? it is [p] God that iustifieth, 34 Who shal condemne? it is Christ which is dead, yea or rather which is risen againe, who is also at the right hand of God, and maketh request also for vs.

35 Who shall separate vs from the loue of [q] Christ? shall tribulation or anguish, or persecution, or famine, or nakednesse, or perill, or sword?

36 As it is written, * For thy sake are we killed all day long: wee are counted as sheepe for the slaughter.

37 [r] Neuertheless, in all these things we are more then conquerours through him that loued vs.

38 For I am perswaded that neither death, nor life, nor Angels, nor principalities nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come,

39 Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature shalbe able to separate vs frō the loue of God, which is in Christ Iesus our Lord.

[a] The thirde part of this Epistle euen to the twelfth Chapter, wherein Paul ascendeth to the highest causes of faith and first of all, because he purposed to make much of the calling of the Iewes, he vseth an insinuation, declaring by a double or triple othe, and by witnessing of his great desire towards their saluation, his singular loue towards them, and therewithal granting vnto them all their prerogatiues. a The Apostle loued his brethren so entirely, that if it had bene possible, he would haue bene ready to haue redeemed the casting away of the Israelites, with the losse of his own soule for euer: for this word, separate, betokeneth as much in this place. b Being brethren by flesh, as of one nation and countrey. c The Arke of the couenant, which was a token of Gods presence.

[o] He vseth the time past, for the time present, as the Hebrues vse, who sometime set downe the thing that is to come, by the time that is past, to signifie the certaintie of it: and he hath also regard to Gods continual working. [p] Mainthly, we haue no cause to feare that the Lord will not giue vs what soeuer is profitable for vs, seeing that he hath not spared his owne Sonne to giue vs. Giue vs freely. [q] A most glorious and comfortable conclusion of the whole second part of this Epistle, that is, of the treatise of iustification. There are no accusers that we haue nede to be afraid of before God, seeing that God himselfe absolueth vs as iust: and therefore much lesse need we to feare condemnation seeing that we rest vpon the death and resurrection, the almightie power and loue of Iesus Christ. Therefore what can there be so waightie in this life, or of great force and power, that might feare vs, as though wee might fal from the loue of God, wherewith he loueth vs in Christ? Surely nothing, seeing that it is in it selfe most constant and sure, and also in vs being confirmed by stedfast faith. Who pronounceth vs not onely guiltlesse, but also perfitly iust in his Sonne. Wherewith Christ loueth vs. * Psalme 44.22. r We are not onely not ouercome with so great and many miseries and calamities, but also more then conquerours in all of them.

CHAP. IX.

1 He answereth an obiection, that might be brought on the Iewes behalfe, 7 and telleth of two sorts of Abrahams children, 15 and that God worketh all things in this matter according to his will, 20 euen as the potter doth. 24. 30 Hee prooueth aswell the calling of the Gentiles, 31 as also the reiecting of the Iewes, 25.27 by the testimonies of the Prophets.

I Say [1] the trueth in Christ, I lye not, my conscience bearing mee witnesse in the holy Ghost,

2 That I haue great heauinesse, and continuall sorow in mine heart.

3 For I would wish my selfe to be [a] separated from Christ, for my brethren that are my kinsemen according to the [b] flesh,

4 Which are the Israelites, to whome perteineth the adoption, and the [c] glorie, and the * [d] Couenants, and the giuing of the [e] Lawe, and [f] seruice of God, and the [g] promises.

5 Of whom are the fathers, and of whome concerning the flesh, Christ came, who is [2] God ouer all, blessed for euer, Amen.

6 *[3] Notwithstanding it can not bee that the Word of God should take none effect: for all they are not [h] Israel, which are of Israel:

7 Neither are they all children, because they are the seede of Abraham: *[4] but, In [i] Isaac shall thy seede be called:

8 [5] That is, they which are the children of the [k] flesh, are not the children of God: but the * children of the [l] promes, are counted for the seede.

9 [6] For this is a worde of promes, * In this same time will I come, and Sara shall haue a sonne.

10 [7] Neither hee onely felt this, but also *Rebecca when shee had conceiued by one, euen by our father Isaac.

11 For yet the children were borne, and and when they had neither done good, nor euill (that the [m] purpose of God might [8] remaine according to election, not by workes, but by him that calleth.)

12 [9] It was said vnto her, * The elder shall serue the ponger.

13 As it is written, * Iaue loued Iacob, and haue hated Esau.

14 [10] What shall wee say then? Is there [n] vnrighteousnesse with God? God forbid.

* Chap. 2.17. Ephes. 2.12. d The tables of the couenant, and this is spoken by the figure Metonymia. e Of the iudicial Law. f The ceremonial Law. g Which were made to Abraham and to his posteritie. 2 A most manifest testimonie of the Godhead and diuinitie of Christ. * Chap. 2.28. 3 He entreth into the handling of predestination, by a kind of preuenting an obiection: How may it bee, that Israel is cast off, but that therewithal we must also make the couenant which God made with Abraham and his seede, frustrate and voyde? He answereth therefore, that Gods worde is true, although that Israel be cast off for the election of the people of Israel is so general and common, that notwithstanding the same, God chuseth by his secret counsel, such as it pleaseth him. So then this is the proposition and state of this treatise: The grace of saluation is offered generally in such sort, that notwithstanding it, the efficacie thereof perteineth onely to the elect. h Israel in the first place, is taken for Iacob: and in the second, for the Israelites. * Genes. 21.12. Hebr. 11.18. 4 The first proofe is taken from the example of Abrahams owne house, wherein Isaac onely was accompted the sonne, and that by Gods ordinance: although that Israel also was borne of Abraham, and circumcised before Isaac. i Isaac shall be thy true and naturall sonne, and therefore heire of thy blessing. 5 A generall application of the former proofe or example. k Which are borne of Abraham by the course of nature. * Gala. 4.28. l Which are borne by vertue of the promes. 6 A reason of that application: Because that Isaac was borne by the vertue of the promes, and therefore hee was not chosen, nay hee was not at all, but by the free will of God: whereby it followeth that the promise is the fountaine of predestination, and not the flesh, from which promise the particular election proceedeth: that is, that the elect bee borne elect, and not that they bee first borne, and then after elected, in respect of God who doeth predestinate. * Gene. 18.10. 7 Another forcible proofe, taken from the example of Esau and Iacob, which were both borne of the same Isaac, which was the sonne of promes, of one mother, and at one birth, and not at diuers as Ismael and Isaac were: and yet notwithstanding, Esau being cast off onely Iacob was chosen: and that before their birth, that neither, any goodnesse of Iacobs, might bee thought to bee the cause of his election, neither any wickednesse of Esaus, of his casting away. * Genesis 25.11. m Gods decree, which proceedeth of his meere good will, whereby it pleaseth him to chuse one, and refuse the other. 8 Paul saieth not, might be made, but, being made might remaine. Therefore they are deceiued which make foreseene faith the cause of election, and foreknowen infidelitie, the cause of reprobation. 9 Hee prooueth the casting away of Esau by that, that her was made seruaunt to his brother: and prooueth the chusing of Iacob, by that, that hee was made Lorde of his brother: although his brother was the first begotten. And least that any man might take this saying of God, and referre it to eternall things, the Apostle sheweth out of Malachi, who is a good interpreter of Moses, that the seruitude of Esau was ioyned with the hatred of God, and the Lordship of Iacob with the loue of God. * Genesis 25.23. * Malachi. 1.2. 10 The first obiection, if God doeth loue or hate vpon no consideration of worthinesse or vnworthinesse, then is hee vniust, because hee may loue them which are vnworthy, and hate them that are worthy. The Apostle detesteth this blasphemie, and afterwarde answereth it seuerally, point by point. n Mans wit knoweth no other causes of loue or hatred, but those that are in the persons, and thereupon this obiection riseth.

15 [11] For

11 He answereth first touching them which are chosen to saluation: in chusing of whom he denieth that God may seeme vniust, although he chuse and predestinate to saluation, them that are not yet borne, without any respect of worthines: because he bringeth not the chosen to the appointed ende, but by the meanes of his mercie, which is a cause nexte vnder predestination. Now mercy presupposeth miserie, and againe miserie presupposeth sinne or voluntarie corruption of mankind, & corruption presupposeth a pure and perfect creation. Moreouer mercie is shewed by her degrees: to wit, by calling, by faith, by iustification and sanctification, so that at length wee come to glorification, as the Apostle wil shewe afterward. Nowe al these things orderly folowing the purpole of God, doe cleares by proue that hee can by no meanes seeme vniust in louing and sauing his.

15 [11] For he saith to Moses, *I wil [o] haue mercie on him, to whom I will shewe mercie: and wil haue [p] compassion on him, on whom I wil haue compassion.

16 [12] So then it is not in him that [q] willeth, nor in him that runneth, but in God that sheweth mercie.

17 [13] For the [r] Scripture saith vnto Pharao, * For this same purpose haue I [s] stirred thee vp, that I might [14] shewe my power in thee, and that my Name might bee declared throughout all the earth.

18 [15] Therefore he hath mercy on whome he [t] wil, and whom he will, he hardeneth.

19 [16] Thou wilt say then vnto mee, Why doeth hee yet complaine []: for who hath resisted his will []:

20 [17] But, O man, who art thou which pleadest against God [*]: [18] shall the thing [u] formed say to him that formed it, Why hast thou made me thus []:

21 [19] Hath not the potter power of the clay to make of the same lumpe one [20] vessel to [x] honour, and another vnto [21] dishonour []:

22 [22] What and if God would, to shew his wrath, and to make his power knowen, suffer with long patience the [y] vessels of wrath, prepared to [23] destruction [*]:

23 And that he might declare the [z] riches of his glory vpon the vessels of mercie, which he hath prepared vnto glory [*]:

24 [24] Euen vs whom he hath called, not of the [a] Iewes onely, but of the Gentiles, 25 [25] As hee also sayeth in Osee, * I will call them, My people, which were not my people: and her, Beloued, which was not beloued.

26 And it shall bee in the place where it was saide vnto them, * Ye are not my people, that there they shall be called, The children of the liuing God.

27 [26] Also Esaias crieth concerning Israel, * Though the number of the children of Israel were as the sand of the sea, yet shall but a remnant be saued.

28 For hee will make his account, and gather it into a [b] short summe with righteousnesse: for the Lord will make a short account in the earth.

29 * And as Esaias saide before, Except the Lorde of [c] hostes had left vs a [d] seede, wee had bene made as Sodom, and had bene like to Gomorrha.

30 [27] What shall wee say then [*]: That the Gentiles which followed [e] not righteousnesse, haue attained vnto righteousnesse, euen the righteousnesse which is of faith.

*Iere 8.6.

19 Alluding to the creation of Adam, he compareth mankind not yet made, (but in the Creators minde) to a lumpe of clay whereof afterward God maketh and doeth dispose, according as he purposed from euerlasting, both such as should bee elect, and such as should be reprobate, as is to this word, Making declareth.

20 Whereas the obiection is propounded, mention was onely made of bessels to dishonour, per be speaketh of the other also in this answere, for that he presupposeth the Creator to be iust in either of them, as the rule of contraries requireth.

x To honest vse.

21 Seeing that in the name of dishonour, the ignominie of euerlasting death is signified, they speake with Paul, which say, that some are made of God to most iust destruction, and they that are offended with this kinde of speach betray their owne folly.

22 The seconde answere is this, that God, moreouer and besides that hee doeth iustly decree whatsoeuer hee doeth decree, vseth that moderation in executing of his decrees as declareth his singular lenitie euen in the reprobate, in that, that hee suffereth them a long time, and permitteth them to enioy many and singular benefites vntil at length hee iustly condemne them: and that to good ende and purpose, to wit, to shewe himselfe to bee an enemie and reuenger of wickednesse, that we may appeare what power hee is of by these seuere iudgements, and finally by comparison of contraries to set forth in deede, howe great his mercie is towardes the elect.

y By vessels, the Hebrewes vnderstande all kindes of instruments.

23 Therefore againe, wee may say with Paul that some vessels are made of God the Creator to destruction.

z The vnmeasurable and monstrous greatnesse.

24 Hauing established the doctrine of the eternal predestination of God on both parts: that is, as wel of the reprobate, as of the elect, he commeth now to shewe the vse of it, teaching vs that wee ought not to seeke the testimonie of it in the secret counsell of God, but by the vocation which is manifest, and set forth in the Church, propounding vnto vs the example of Iewes and Gentiles, that the doctrine may be better perceiued.

a He saith not, that all and euery one of the Iewes are called, but some of the Iewes, and so of the Gentiles.

25 Our vocation or calling, is free and of grace, and without predestination is: and therefore there is no cause why either our owne vnworthinesse, or the vnworthinesse of our ancestors should cause vs to thinke that wee are not the elect and chosen of God, if wee bee called of him, and so embraced through faith the saluation that is offered vs. *Hose.2.23.1.peter 2.10. *Rom 9.25. Esa 1.10.

26 Contrarywise, Neither any outwarde generall calling, neither any worthinesse of our ancestors, is a sufficient witnes of election, vnlesse faith and beleefe wee answere Gods calling: which thing came to passe in the Iewes, as the Lord had foretolde. *Esai 10.21. b God purposeth to be iust in the vnkinde and vnthankefull people to an extreme fewnesse. *Esai 1.9. c Armies, by which worde the chiefest power that is, is giuen to God. d. Euen a very few.

27 The declaration and manifestation of our election, is our calling apprehended by faith, as it came to passe in the Gentiles. e So then the Gentiles had no workes to prepare and procure Gods mercie before hand: and for that the Gentiles attained to that which they sought not for, the mercie of God is to bee thanked for it: and in that the Iewes attained not to that which they sought after, they can thanke none for it but themselues, because they sought it not aright.

*Esai 45.9. u This similitude agreeth very fitly in the first creation of mankinde.

31 [28]But Israel which followed the Law of righteousnesse, could not attaine vnto the Law of righteousnesse.

32 Wherefore? Because they sought it not by faith, but as it were by the [f] workes of the Lawe: for they haue stumbled at the stumbling stone, 33 As it is written, *Behold, I lay in Sion a stumbling stone, and a rocke to make men fall: and euery one that beleeueth in him shall not be ashamed.

CHAP. X.

1 He handleth the effects of election, 3 that some refuse, and some embrace 4 Christ, who is the ende of the Law. 15 Hee sheweth that Moses foretolde the calling of the Gentiles, 20 and Esaias the hardening of the Iewes.

BRethren, [1] mine heartes desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might bee saued.

2 For I beare them record, that they haue the zeale of God, but not according to knowledge.

3 [2] For they, [a] being ignorant of the righteousnes of God, and going about to [b] stablish their owne righteousnes, haue not submitted themselues to the righteousnes of God.

4 *[3] For Christ is the [c] ende of the Lawe for righteousnesse vnto [d] euery one that beleeueth.

5 [4] For Moses thus describeth the righteousnes which is of the Law, * That the man which doeth these things, shall liue thereby.

6 But the righteousnes which is of faith, speaketh on this wise, * [e] Say not in thine heart, Who shall ascend into heauen? (that is to bring Christ from aboue)

7 Or, Who shall descend into the deepe? (that is to bring Christ againe from the dead)

8 [5] But what saith it? * The [f] worde is neere thee, euen in thy mouth, & in thine heart. This is the word of faith which we preach.

9 [6] For if thou shalt [g] confesse with thy mouth the Lorde Iesus, and shalt beleeue in thine heart, that [h] God raised him vp from the dead, thou shalt be saued:

10 For with the heart man [i] beleeueth vnto righteousnes, and with the mouth man confesseth to saluation.

11 [7] For the Scripture saith, * Whosoeuer [k] beleeueth in him, shall not be ashamed.

12 For there is no difference betweene the Iew and the Grecian: for he that is Lord ouer all, is rich vnto all, that call on him.

13 *[8] For whosoeuer shall call vpon the Name of the Lord, shalbe saued.

14 But howe shall they call on him, in whom they haue not beleeued? & how shall they beleeue in him, of whom they haue not heard? and howe shall they heare without a preacher?

15 And howe shall they preach, except they be sent? as it is written, * Howe beautifull are the feete of them which bring glad tidings of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things!

16 [10] But they haue not [l] all obeyed the Gospell: for Esaias saith, * Lord, Who hath beleeued our report?

17 [11] Then faith is by hearing, and hearing by the [m] word of God.

18 [12] But I demaunde, Haue they not heard? * No doubt their sounde went out through all the earth, and their wordes into the endes of the world.

19 [13] But I demaund, Did not Israel know God? First Moses saith, * I will prouoke you to enuie by a [n] nation that is not my nation, and by a foolish nation I will anger you.

20 * And Esaias is [o] bolde, and saith, I was found of them that sought me not, and haue beene made manifest to them that asked not after me.

21 And vnto Israel he saith, * All the day long haue I stretched foorth mine hand vnto a disobedient, and gainesaying people.

The pride of men is the cause that they contemne vocation, so that the cause of their damnation need not to be sought for any other where but in themselues.

Seeking to come by righteousnes, they followed the Law of righteousnes, Gal. 2.18, 22. & 3.14 and 28. Rom. 9.31. 1.pet.2.6.

Purposing to set forth in the Iewes an example of marueilous obstinacie he vseth an amplification.

The first entrance into the vocation vnto saluation, is to renounce our owne righteousnesse: the next is, to embrace that righteousnes by faith, which God freely offereth vs in the Gospel.

The ignorance of the Lawe which we ought to know, excuseth none before God, especially it excuseth not them that are of his houshold.

Ignorance hath alway pride ioyned with it. Galat. 3.24.

The proofe: The Lawe it selfe hath rejected vnto Christ, that such as beleeue in him should be saued. Therefore the calling to saluation by the workes of the Law, is vaine and foolish: but Christ is offred for saluation to euery beleeuer.

a The end of the Law is to iustifie them that keepe the Law: but seeing we do not obserue the Law through the fault of our flesh, wee attaine not vnto this ende: but Christ saueth this disease, for he fulfilled the Law for vs. d Not only to the Iewes, but also to the Gentiles. 4 That the Law regardeth and tendeth to Christ, that is a manifest proofe, for that it propoundeth such a condition, as can be and is fulfilled of none but of Christ onely: which being imputed vnto vs by faith, our conscience is quieted, so that now no man can aske, Who can ascend vp into heauen, to bring vs from hell, seeing the Gospel teacheth that both of these is done by Christ, and that for their sakes, which with true faith embrace him which calleth them. *Leuit. 18.5. ezek. 20.11. galat. 3.12. *Deut. 30.12. e Thinke not with thy selfe, as men that are staggering vse to doe. 5 Vocation commeth by the word preached. *Deut. 30.14. f By the word, Moses vnderstood the Law which the Lord published with his owne voyce: and Paul applied it to the preaching of the Gospel, which was the perfection of the Lawe. 6 That is in deede true faith which is setled not onely in the head, but also in the heart of man, whereof also we haue testimonie, by our outward life, and which tendeth to Christ as to our alone and onely Sauiour, euen as hee setteth foorth himselfe in his word. g If thou professe plainely, sincerely, and openly, that thou takest Iesus onely to be thy Lord and Sauiour. h The Father, who is said to haue raysed the Sonne from the dead: and this is not spoken to shut out the diuinitie of the Sonne, but to set forth the fathers counsel touching our redemption in the resurrection of the Sonne.

i Faith is said to iustifie, and furthermore seeing the confession of the mouth is an effect of faith, and confession is the way to come to saluation, it followeth that faith is also said to saue. 7 Howe he prooueth the other part which he propounded afore in the fourth verse, to wit, that Christ calleth whomsoeuer he lusteth without any difference, and this he confirmeth by a double testimonie. *Isai 28.16. k To beleeue in God is to yeeld and consent to God his promise of our saluation by Christ, and that not onely in generall, but when we know that the promises pertaine to vs, whereupon riseth a sure trust. *Ioel 2.38. 8 True calling vpon the name of God is the testimonie of true faith, and true faith, of true vocation or calling, and true calling, of true election. 9 That is, true faith, which seeketh God in his word, and that preacher: according as God hath appointed in the Church. *Isai. 52.7. Nahum. 1.15. 10 Wherefore euer faith is, there is also the word, but not contrariwise, wherefoeuer the word is, there is faith also: for many refuse and reiect the word. l He speaketh this because of the Iewes. *Isai. 53.1. iohn. 12.38. 11 A conclusion of the former gradation: we must ascend from faith, to our vocation, as by our vocation we came to the testimonie of our election. m By Gods commandement. 12 An obiection: If calling be a testimonie of election, were not the Iewes called? why should I not graunt that saith the Apostle, seeing that there is no nation which hath not beene called? much lesse can I say, that the Iewes were not called. *Psalm 19.3. 13 The defendour and maintainer of the Iewes cause, goeth on still to alke, whether the Iewes also knew not God which called them. Esai (saith the Apostle) denieth it: and witnesseth that the Gospel was translated from them to the Gentiles, because the Iewes neglected it. And therewithall the Apostle teacheth, that that outward and vniuersall calling which is set foorth by the creation of the world, sufficeth not to the knowledge of God: yea, and that the particular also which is by the word of God, is of it selfe of smal or no efficacie, vnlesse it be apprehended or laid hold on by faith, by the gift of God: otherwise by vnbeliefe it is made vnprofitable, and that by the onely fault of man, who can pretend no ignorance. * Deut. 32.21. n Hee calleth all prophane people, a nation that is no nation, as they are not said to liue but to die, which are appointed for euerlasting condemnation. *Isai. 65.1. o Speaketh without feare. *Isai. 65.2.

CHAP. XI.

1 Least the casting off of the Iewes should be limitted according to the outward appearance, 4 he sheweth that Elias was in times past deceiued: 16 and that, seeing they haue an holy roote, 23 many of them likewise shall be holy. 18, 24 He exhorteth the Gentiles to be humble, 33 and crieth out, that Gods iudgements are vnsearchable.

I demaund

1 Now the Apostle sheweth how this doctrine is to be applied to others, abiding still in his propounded cause. Therefore he teacheth us that all the Iewes in particular, are not cast away, and therefore we ought not to pronounce rashly of priuate persons, whether they bee of the number of the elect or not. 2 The first proofe: I am a Iew, & yet elected, therefore we may and ought fully resolue vpō our election, as hath bene before said: but of another mans we cannot be so certainly resolued, and yet ours may cause vs to hope well of others. 3 The second proofe: Because God is faithful in his league & couenant, although men be vnfaithful: So then seeing that God hath said, that he will be the God of his vnto a thousand generations, we must take heed, that we thinke not that ỹ whole race & offspring is cast off, by reason of the vnbelife of a fewe, but rather that we hope well of euery member of ỹ Church, because of Gods league & couenant.

1 Demād then, [1] Hath God cast away his people: God forbid: for [2] I also am an Israelite, of ỹ seed of Abraham, of ỹ tribe of Beniamin.

2 [3] God hath not cast away his people which hee [a] knew before. [4] Knowe yee not what the Scripture saith of Elias, howe hee commuueth with God against Israel, saying,

3 * Lorde, they haue killed thy Prophets, and digged downe thine altars: and I am left alone, and they seeke my life:

4 But what saith ỹ answer of God to him: * I haue [b] reserued vnto my self seuen thousād men, which haue not bowed ỹ knee to [c] Baal.

5 Euen so thē at this present time is there a remnant according to the [d] election of grace.

6 [5] And if it be of grace, it is [e] no more of workes: or els were grace no more grace: but if it be of workes, it is no more grace: or els were worke no more worke.

7 What then? Israel hath not obtayned that hee sought: but the election hath obteined it, and the rest haue bene [f] hardened,

8 [6] According as it is written, * God hath giuen them the spirit of [g] slumber: eyes that they [h] should not see, and eares that they should not heare vnto this day.

9 And Dauid saith, * [i] Let their table bee made a snare, and a net, and a stumbling block, euen for a recompence vnto them.

10 Let their eyes bee darkened that they see not, and bow downe their backe alwayes.

11 [7] I demaund then, Haue they stumbled, that they should fall? God forbid: but through their fall, saluation commeth vnto the Gentiles, to prouoke them to follow them.

12 Wherfore if the fall of them be the [k] riches of the world, and the diminishing of them the riches of the Gentiles, how much more shal their [l] abundance be?

13 [8] For in that I speak to you Gentiles, in as much as I am the Apostle of the Gentiles, [m] I magnifie mine office, 14 To the if by any meanes I might prouoke them of my flesh to follow them, & might saue some of them.

15 For if the casting away of them be the reconciling of the world, what shall the receiuing be, [n] but life from the dead?

16 [9] For if the [o] first fruites be holy, so is the whole lumpe: and if the roote [p] be holy, so are the branches.

17 * [10] And though some of the branches bee broken off, and thou being a wilde Oliue tree, wast graft in [q] for them, and made [r] partaker of the roote, and fatnesse of the Oliue tree:

18 [s] Boast not thy selfe against the branches: and if thou boast thy selfe, thou bearest not the roote, but the roote thee.

19 Thou wilt say then, The branches are broken off, that I might be graft in.

20 Well, through vnbeliefe they are broken off, and thou standest by faith: bee not hie minded, but [t] feare.

21 For if God spared not the [u] natural branches, take heed, lest he also spare not thee.

22 [11] Beholde therefore the [x] bountifulnes and seuerities of God: towarde them which haue fallen, seueritie: but toward thee, bountifulnes, if thou continue in his [y] bountifulnes: or els thou shalt also be cut off.

23 [12] And they also, if they abide not still in vnbeliefe, shall be grafted in: for God is able to graffe them in againe.

24 For if thou wast cut out of the Oliue tree, which was wilde by [z] nature, and wast

1 Which he loued and chose from euerlasting. 4 The third proofe taken from the answere that was made to Elias: euen then also, when there appeared openly to the face of the world no elect, yet God knew his elect and chosen, and of them also good store and number. Whereupon this also is concluded, that we ought not rashly to pronounce of any man as of a reprobate, seeing that the Church is oftetimes brought to that state, that euen the most watchfull and sharpe sighted pastours thinke it to be cleane extinct and put out. * 1. King. 19.10. * 1. King. 19. 18. b He speaketh of remnants and reserued people which were chosen from euerlasting. & not of rēnants that should be chosen afterward: for they are not chosen, because they were not idolaters, but therefore they were not idolaters, because they were chosen and elect. c Baal signifieth as much as Master or patrone, or one in whose power another is, which name the idolaters at this day giue their idoles, naming them patrones and patronesses or Ladies. d The election of grace is, not whereby men chose grace, but whereby God chose vs of his grace and goodnesse. 5 Although that all be not elect and chosen, yet let them that are elected, remember that they are freely chosen: and let them that stubburnly refuse the grace and free mercy of God, impute it vnto themselues. e This saying beateth downe flat to the ground all the doctrine of all kindes and maner of workes, whereby our iustifiers of themselues doe teach, that workes are either wholy or partly the cause of our iustification. f Looke Mar. 3. 5. 6 And yet this hardnesse of heart commeth not but by Gods iust decree and iudgement, and yet without fault. when as he so punisheth the vnthankful by taking from them all sence and perseuerance, & by doubling their darknes, that the benefits of God which are offered vnto them, doe redound to their iust destruction * Isa. 6.9. & 29.10. mat. 13.14. Ioh 12.40. act. 28 26. g A very dead sleepe which taketh away all sense. h That is, eyes vnfit to see. * Psa. 63.23. i As vnhappy birds are intised to death by that which is their sustenance, so did that only thing turne to the Iewes destruction, out of which they sought life, to wit, the Lawe of God, for the preposterous zeale whereof, they refused the Gospel. 7 God appointeth this calling off of the Iewes, that it might be an occasion to cal the Gentiles: and againe might turne this calling of the Gentiles, to be an occasion to restore the Iewes, to wit, that they being inflamed & prouoked by emulation of the Gentiles, might themselues at length imbrace the Gospel. And hereby we may learne, that the seueritie of God ferueth as well to the setting forth of his glory, as his mercy doth, & also that God prepareth himself a way to mercy, by his seueritie: so that we ought not rashly to despaire of any man, nor proudly triumph ouer other men, but rather prouoke thē to an holy emulation that God may be glorified in them also. k By riches he meaneth the knowledge of the Gospel to euerlasting life: & by the world, all nations dispersed throughout the whole world.

1 Of the Iewes, when the whole nation without exception shal come to Christ. 8 He witnesseth by his owne example, that he goeth before al other in this behalfe. m I make noble and famous. n It shal come to passe that when the Iewes come to the Gospel, the world shal as it were quicken againe, and rise vp from death to life. 9 The nation of the Iewes being considered in their stocke and roote, that is, in Abraham, is holy although that many of the branches be cut off. Therefore in iudging of our brethrē, we must not stick in their vnworthines, to thinke that they are at once all cast off, but we ought to consider the roote of the couenant, & rather go backe to their Ancestors which were faithful, ỹ we may know that the blessing of the couenant resteth in some of their posteritie, as we also find proued here of in our selues. o He alludeth to the first fruites of those loaues, by the offring whereof all the whole croppe of corne was sanctified, & they might vse the rest of the yeere following with good conscience. p Abraham. * Iere. 11. 16. 10 There is no cause why the Gentiles which haue obteined mercy, should triumph ouer the Iewes which contemne the grace of God, seeing they are graffed into the Iewes ancestors. But let them rather take heede, that that also bee not found in them which is worthily condemned in the Iewes. And hereof also this general doctrine may be gathered & taken, that we ought to be studious of Gods glory, euen in respect of our neighbours: so farre ought we to bee from bragging and glorying, for that, that were are preferred before other by a singular grace. q In place of those boughes which are broken off. r It is against the common course of husbandry, that the barren iuice of the impe is changed with the iuice of the good tree. s Wee may reioyce in the Lorde, but to that we despise not the Iewes, whom we ought rather to prouoke to that good striuing with vs. t See thee thou stand in awe of God modestly and carefully. u He calleth them natural, not because they had any holines of nature, but because they are borne of them whom the Lord set apart for himselfe, from other nations, by his league & couenant which he freely made with them. 11 Seeing the matter it selfe declareth, that election commeth not by inheritance (although the fault be in men, and not in God, why the blessing of God is not perpetual) we must take good heed that that be not found in our selues, which we thinke blame worthy in others, for the election is sure, but they that are truly elect are ingraffed, are not proud in themselues with contempt of other, but with due reuerence to God, and loue towards their neighbour, runne to the marke which is set before them. x The tender and louing heart. y In that state which God his bountifulnesse hath aduanced thee vnto: and we must marke here, that hee speaketh not of the election of euery priuate man, which remaineth stedfast for euer, but of the election of the whole nation. 12 Many are nowe for a season cut off, that is, are without the roote, which in their time shall be graffed in: and againe there are a great sort, which after a sort, and touching the outward shew seeme to be ingraffed, which notwithstanding through their owne fault afterward are cut off, and cleane cast away: Which thing is especially to be considered in nations and peoples, as in the Gentiles and Iewes. z Vnderstand nature, not as it were first made, but as it was corrupted in Adam, and so deriued from him to his posteritie.

grafted contrary to nature in a [a] right Oliue tree, how much more shall they that are by nature, be grafted in their owne Oliue tree?

25 [13] For I would not, brethren, that yee should be ignorant of this secret (lest ye should be arrogant in your [b] selues) that partly obstinacie is come to Israel, until the fulnesse of the Gentiles be [c] come in.

26 And so all Israel shall be saued, as it is written, *The deliuerer shall come out of Sion, and shal turne away the vngodlinesse from Jacob.

27 And this is my couenant to thē, *When I shall take away their sinnes.

28 [14] As concerning the [d] Gospell, they are enemies for your sakes: but as touching the [e] election, they are beloued for the fathers sake.

29 [15] For the gifts and calling of God are without repentance.

30 [16] For euen as yee in times past haue not beleeued God, yet haue now obteined mercy through their vnbeliefe:

31 Euen so nowe haue they not beleeued by the mercy shewed vnto you, that they also may obtaine mercy.

32 For God hath shut vp [f] all in vnbeliefe, that he might haue mercy on all.

33 [17] O the depenesse of the riches, both of the wisedome, and knowledge of God! how vnsearcheable are his [g] iudgements, and his wayes past finding out!

34 *[18] For who hath knowen the minde of the Lorde? or who was his counsellour?

35 Or who hath giuen vnto him [i] first, and he shall be recompensed?

36 For of him, and through him, and for [k] him are all things: to him be glory for euer. Amen.

a Into the people of the Iewes, which God had sanctified of his meere grace: and he speaketh of the whole nation, not of any one part.

13 The blindnesse of ỹ Iewes is neither so vniuersall that the Lord hath no elect in that nation, neither shall it be continuall: for there shall be a time wherein they also (as the Prophets haue foretolde) shall effectually embrace that, which they doe now so stubburnly for the most part reiect and refuse.

b That ye be not proud within your selues.

c Into the Church.

*Esai. 59.20.

*Esai. 27.9.

14 Againe, that he may ioyne the Iewes & Gentiles together as it were in one body, and especially may teach what dutie the Gentiles owe to the Iewes, he beateth this into their heads, that the nation of the Iewes is not vtterly cast off without hope of recouery.

d For asmuch as they receiue it not.

e In that, that God respecteth not what they deserue, but what he promised to Abraham.

15 The reason or proofe: because the couenant made with the nation of life euerlasting cannot be frustrate and vaine. 16 Another reason: Because that although that they which are hardened, are worthily punished, yet hath not this stubburnesse of the Iewes so come to passe properly for an hatred to that nation, but that an entrie might as it were be opened to bring in the Gentiles, & afterward the Iewes being enflamed with emulation of that mercy which is shewed to the Gentiles, might themselues also be partakers of the same benefite, & so it might appeare that both Iewes and Gentiles are saued onely by the free mercy and grace of God, which could not haue bene so manifest, if at the beginning God had brought all together into the Church, or if hee had saued the nation of the Iewes without this interruption. f Both Iewes and Gentiles. 17 The Apostle crieth out as astonished with this wonderfull wisedom of God, which he teacheth vs ought to bee religiously reuerenced, and not curiously and prophanely to bee searched beyond the compasse of that that God hath reuealed vnto vs. g The course that hee holdeth in gouerning all things both generally and particularly.

h The order of his counsels and doings. *Iob 41.2. esai. 40.13. 1. corinth. 2.16.

18 He diuideth three maner of wayes, the wicked boldnesse of man: First, because that God is aboue all, most wise, and therefore it is very absurd, & plainely godlesse to measure him by our folly. Moreouer, because he is debter to no man, and therefore no man can complaine of iniurie done vnto him. Thirdly, because all things are made for his glory, and therefore wee must referre all things to his glory, much lesse may we contend and debate the matter with him. i This saying ouerthroweth the doctrine of foreseene works and merites. k To wit, for God, to whose glory all things are referred, not onely things that were made, but especially his new works which he worketh in his elect.

CHAP. XII.

1 He exhorteth 2 to that worshipp which is acceptable to God: 9 to loue vnfained, 14. 20 euen towards our enemies.

I Beseech [1] you therefore brethren, [a] by the mercies of God, that ye [b] giue vp your [c] bodies a [d] liuing sacrifice, holy, acceptable vnto God, which is your [e] reasonable seruing of God.

2 [2] And fashion not your selues like vnto this world, but bee yee changed by the renewing of your [f] minde, that ye may * prooue what that good, and acceptable and perfect will of God is.

3 [3] For I say through the grace that is giuen vnto mee, to euery one that is among you, that no man [h] presume to vnderstand aboue that which is meete to vnderstand, but that hee vnderstand according to [i] sobrietie, as God hath dealt to euery man the * measure of [k] faith.

4 [4] For as wee haue many members in one body, and all members haue not one office,

5 So wee being many are one body in Christ, and euery one, one anothers members.

6 *[5] Seeing then that we haue gifts that are diuers, according to the grace that is giuen vnto vs, whether wee haue prophesie, let vs prophesie according to the [l] portion of faith:

7 Or an office, let vs waite on the office: or he that [m] teacheth, on teaching:

8 Or he that [n] exhorteth, on exhortation: he that [o] distributeth, let him doe it *with simplicitie: he that [p] ruleth, with diligence: he that [q] sheweth mercy, with cheerefulnesse.

9 * Let loue bee without dissimulation. * Abhorre that which is euill, and cleaue vnto that which is good.

1 The fourth part of this Epistle, which after the finishing of the chiefe points of Christian doctrine, consisteth in declaring of precepts of Christian life. And first of all he giueth generall precepts and grounds: the chiefest whereof is this, That euery man consecrate himselfe wholy to the spirituall seruice of God, and do as it were sacrifice himselfe, crossing to the grace of God.

a By this preface he sheweth the Gods glory is the vtmost end of all our doings.

b In times past the sacrifices were presented before the altar, but now the altar is euery where.

c Your selues in times past, other bodies then our owne, now our owne must be offered.

d In time past, dead sacrifices were offered, but now we must offer such as haue the spirit of life in them.

e Spirituall.

2 The second precept is this, That we take not other mens opinions or maners for a rule of life, but that we wholy renouncing this world, set before vs as out marke, the wil of God, as is manifested and opened vnto vs in his word. f Why then there is no place left for reason, which the heathen Philosophers place as a Queene in a Castel, nor for mans free will, which the Popish schoolemen dreame on, if the mind must be renued. Looke Ephes. 1.18. and 2.3. and 4.17. and Colos. 1.21. *Ephes 5.17. 1. thes. 4.3. 3 Thirdly, he admonisheth vs very earnestly, that euery man keepe himselfe within the bounds of his vocation, and that euery man be wise according to the measure of grace that God hath giuen him. g I charge. h That he please not himselfe too much, as they do, which perswade themselues they know more then in deed they doe. i We shalbe sober, if we take not that vpon vs, which we haue not, and if we brag not of that we haue. *1. Cor. 12.11. ephes 4.7. k By faith he meaneth the knowledge of God in Christ, & the gifts which the holy Ghost powreth vpon the faithfull. 4 There is a double reason of the precept going afore: the one is, because God hath not committed euery thing to be done of euery man: and therefore, he doeth backwardly, and not onely vnprofitably, but also to the great preiudice of other, wearieth himselfe and others, which passeth the bounds of his vocation: the other is, for that this diuersitie and inequalitie of vocations and gifts, redoundeth to our commoditie: seeing that the same is therefore instituted and appointed, that we should be bound one to another. Whereupon it followeth, that no man ought to be grieued thereat, seeing that the vse of euery priuate gift is common. *1. Peter 4.10. 5 That which he spake before in generall, he applieth particularly to ỹ holy functions, where in men offend with greater danger. And hee deuideth them into two sortes, to wit, into Prophets & Deacons: and againe hee deuideth the Prophets into Doctours and Pastours. And of Deacons he maketh three sorts: to wit, the one to be such as are (as it were) treasurers of the Church coffers, whom he calleth properly Deacons: the other to be the gouernours of the discipline who are called Seniours or Elders: the third, to be such as properly serued in the helpe of the poore, of which sort the company of widowes were. l That euery man obserue the measure of that which is reuealed vnto him. m Whose office is onely to expound ỹ Scriptures. n Who in other places is called the Pastour. o To wit, the almes, that he distribute them faithfully, and without respect of person. *Mat. 6.3. 2. Cor. 9.7. p The Elders of the Church. q They that are busied about tending on the poore, must do it with cheerefulnesse, least they adde sorow to sorow. 6 Now he commeth to the dueties of the second Table, which he deriueth from charitie, which is as it were the fountaine of them all. And he defineth Christian charitie by sinceritie, hatred of euil, earnest studie of good things, good affection to helpe our neighbour, and whole finall end is ỹ glory of God. *Amos 5.15.

*Ephe.4.2. 1.pet.2,17.

10 * Bee affectioned to loue one another with brotherly loue. In giuing honour, go one before another.

11 Not slouthfull to do seruice: feruent in spirit, [r] seruing the Lord, 12 [7] Reioycing in hope, patient in tribulation, *continuing in prayer, 13 * [s] Distributing vnto the [t] necessities of the Saints: * giuing your selues to hospitalitie.

14 * Bleſſe them which persecute you: bleſſe, I say, and curse not.

15 Reioyce with them that reioyce, and weepe with them that weepe.

16 Be of like affection one towards another: * bee not hie minded: but make your selues equall to them of the [u] lower sort: bee not [x] wise in your selues.

17 * Recompence to no man euill for euill: procure things honest in the sight of all men.

18 *If it be possible, as much as in you is, haue peace with all men.

19 Dearely beloued, * auenge not your selues, but giue place vnto wrath: for it is written, *Vengeance is mine: I will repay, saieth the Lord.

20 * Therefore, if thine enemie hunger, feed him: if he thirst, giue him drinke: for in so doing, thou shalt heape [y] coales of fire on his head.

21 Be not ouercome of euil, but ouercome euil with goodnesse.

r This peece is well put in, for it maketh difference betweene Christian duties, and Philosophical duties.

7 He reckoneth vp diuers other vertues together with their effects, to wit, hope, patience in tribulatiō, equanimitie, continuance in prayer, liberalitie towards the saints hospitalitie, moderation of mind, euen in helping our enemies, a self same feeling with others as well in aduersitie as prosperitie, modestie, endeuour to maintaine honest conuerse so nigh as we may with all men, which cannot be extinguished by any mans iniuries.

CHAP. XIII.

1 He willeth that we submit our selues to Magistrates: 8 To loue our neighbours: 13 To liue vprightly, 14 and to put on Christ.

LEt * [1] euery [2] soule bee subiect vnto the [3] higher powers: [3] for there is no power but of God: and the powers that bee, are [b] ordeined of God.

2 Whosoeuer therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinaunce of God: and they that resist, shall receiue to themselues condemnation.

3 [4] For Magistrates are not to be feared for good workes, but for euil. [5] Wilt thou then be without feare of the power? doe well: so shalt thou haue prayse of the same.

4 For hee is the minister of God for thy wealth, [6] but if thou do euil, feare: for hee beareth not the sword for nought: for he is the minister of God to [c] take vengeance on him that doeth euil.

5 [7] Wherefore ye must be subiect, not because of wrath onely, but [d] also for conscience sake.

6 [8] For, for this cause ye pay also tribute: for they are Gods ministers, applying themselues for the same thing.

7 * Giue to all men therefore their duetie: tribute, to whom ye owe tribute: custome, to whom custome: feare, to whom [e] feare: honor, to whom ye owe [f] honour.

8 [9] Owe nothing to any man, but to loue one another: [10] for he that loueth another, hath fulfilled the [g] Law.

9 For this, *Thou shalt not commit adulterie, Thou shalt not kil, Thou shalt not steale, Thou shall not beare false witnesse, Thou shalt not couet: and if there be any other commaundement, it is [h] briefly comprehended in this saying, euen in this, * Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

10 Loue doeth not euill to his neighbour: therefore is loue the *fulfilling of the Lawe.

11 [11] And that, considering the season, that it is now time that we should arise from sleep: for nowe is our saluation neerer, then when we beleeued it.

12 The night is past, and the day is [i] at hand, let vs therefore cast away the workes [k] of darknesse, and let vs put on the armour of light, 13 So that wee walke honestly, as in the day: not in *gluttonie, and drunkennesse, neither in chambering & wantonnesse, nor in strife and enuying.

14 * But [l] put ye on the Lord IESVS CHRIST, and take no thought for the flesh, to fulfill the lustes of it.

*Titus 3.1. 1.pet.2.13.

1 Now he sheweth generally, what subiects owe to their magistrates, to wit, obedience: Frō which he sheweth that no man is free: and in such sort, that it is not onely due to the highest Magistrate himselfe, but also euen to the basest, which hath any office vnder him.

2 Yea, though an Apostle, though an Euangelist, though a Prophet: Chrysostome. Therefore the tyrannie of the Pope ouer all kingdoms must downe to the ground.

2 A reason taken of the nature of the thing it selfe: For to what purpose are they placed in higher degree, but that the inferiours should be subiect vnto them?

3 Another argument of great force: Because God is author of this order: so that such as are rebels, ought to know, that they make warre with God himselfe: wherefore they cannot but purchase to themselues great miserie and calamitie.

b Be distributed: for some are greater, some smaller. 4 The third argument taken from the ende wherefore they were made, which is most profitable: for that God by this meanes preserueth the good and diuideth the wicked: by which words, the Magistrates themselues are put in mind of that duetie which they owe to their subiects.

5 An excellent way to beare this yoke, not onely without grieſe, but also with great profit.

6 God hath armed the Magistrate euen with a reuenging sword.

c By whom God reuengeth the wicked.

7 The conclusion: We must obey the Magistrate, not onely for feare of punishment, but much more because that (although the Magistrate hath no power ouer the conscience of man, yet seeing he is Gods minister) he cannot be resisted by any good conscience.

d So farre as lawfully we may: for if vnlawfull things be commanded vs, we must answere as Peter teacheth vs, It is better to obey God, then men.

8 He reckoneth vp the chiefest things wherein consisteth the obedience of subiects.

*Matt.22.21.

e Obedience, & that from the heart.

f Reuerence, which (as reason is) we must giue to the Magistrate.

9 He sheweth how deep few iudgements need to be executed, to wit, if we so order our life as no man may iustly require any thing of vs, beſides that onely, that we owe one to another, by the perpetuall lawe of charitie. 10 He commendeth Charitie, as an abridgement of the whole Lawe.

g Hath not onely done one commandement, but performed generally that which the Lawe commaundeth. *Exod. 20.14. deut. 5.18. h For the whole Lawe commaundeth nothing els, but that we loue God, and our neighbour. But seeing Paul speaketh here of the duties we owe one to an other, we must restraine this worde, Lawe, to the second Table. * Leuiticus 19.18. matth. 22.39. marke 12.31. galat.5.14. iames 2.8. *1.Tim.1.1. 11 An application taken of the circumstance of the time: which also it selfe putteth vs in minde of our duetie, seeing that this remaineth, after that the darknesse of ignorance and wicked affections by the knowledge of Gods trueth bee driuen out of vs, that we order our life according to that certaine and sure rule of all righteousnes & honestie, being fully grounded vpon the vertue of the Spirit of Christ.

i In other places we are sayd to be in the light, but yet so, that it appeareth not as yet what we are, for as yet we see but as it were in the twylight.

l To put on Christ, is to possesse Christ, to haue him in vs, and vs in him.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 He willeth that we so deale with the weake in faith, 15 that through our fault they be not offended. 10 And an

the other side he commaundeth them not rashly to iudge of the stranger: 19 That within the bounds of edification 20 & charitie, 22 Christian libertie may consist.

HIm [1] that is weake in the faith, [a] receiue vnto you, but not for [b] controuersies of disputations.

2 [2] One [c] beleeueth that he may eate of all things: and another, which is weake, eateth herbes.

3 [3] Let not him that eateth, despise him that eateth not: and let not him which eateth not, condemne him that eateth: for [4] God hath receiued him.

4 *[5] Who art thou that condemnest another mans seruant? he standeth or falleth to his owne master: yea, he shall be established: for God is able to make him stand.

5 [6] This man esteemeth one day aboue another day, and another man counteth euery day alike: [7] let [d] euery man be fully perswaded in his mind.

6 [8] He that [e] obserueth the day, obserueth it to the Lorde: and he that obserueth not the day, obserueth it not to the [f] Lord. He that eateth, eateth to the Lorde: [9] for he giueth God thankes: and he that eateth [h] not, eateth not to the Lord, and giueth God thankes.

7 [10] For none of vs liueth to [i] himselfe, neither doeth any die to himselfe,

8 For whether we liue, we liue vnto the Lord: or whether we die, we die vnto the Lord: whether we liue therefore, or die, wee are the Lords.

9 For Christ therefore died & rose againe, and reuiued, that he might be Lord both of the dead and the quicke.

10 [11] But why doest thou condemne thy brother? or why doest thou despise thy brother? * for we all shall appeare before the iudgement seate of Christ.

11 For it is written, * [k] I liue, saieth the Lord, and euery knee shall bowe to me, and all tongues shall [l] confesse vnto God.

12 So then euery one of vs shall giue accounts of himselfe to God.

13 [12] Let vs not therefore iudge one another any more: but vse your iudgement rather in [m] this, that no man put an occasion to fall, or a stumbling blocke before his brother:

14 [13] I know, and am perswaded through the [n] Lord Iesus, that there is nothing vnclean of it [o] selfe: but vnto him that iudgeth any thing to be vncleane, to him it is vncleane.

15 But if thy brother bee grieued for the meat, now walkest thou not charitably: * [14] destroy not him [p] thy meate, for whom [15] Christ died.

16 [16] Cause not your commoditie to bee euil spoken of.

17 [17] For the kingdom of God, is not meat nor drinke, but righteousnesse, and peace, and ioy in the holy Ghost.

18 For whosoeuer in [p] these things serueth Christ, is acceptable vnto God, and is approued of men.

19 [18] Let vs then followe those things

1 Now he sheweth how we ought to behaue our selues toward our brethren in matters and things indifferent, offending in the vse of them, not of malice, or damnable superstition, but for lacke of knowledge of the benefit of Christ. And thus he teacheth that they are to be instructed gently and patiently, and so that we apply our selues to their ignorance in such matters, according to the rule of charitie.

a Doe not for a matter or thing which is indifferent, and such as you may doe or not doe, shun his company, but take him to you.

b To make him by your doubtful and vncertaine disputations goe away more in doubt then hee came, or start backe with a troubled conscience. 2 He propoundeth for an example, the difference of meates, which some thought was necessarily to bee obserued as a thing prescribed by the Lawe (not knowing that it was taken away) whereas on the contrary side such as had profited in the knowledge of the Gospel, knew well that this scholemastership of the Lawe was abolished. c Knoweth by faith. 3 In such a matter, saieth the Apostle, let neither them which know their libertie, proudly despise their weake brother, neither let the vnlearned crabbedly or frowardly condemne that, that they vnderstand not. 4 The first reason: Because that seeing both he that eateth, and he that eateth not, is notwithstanding the member of Christ, neither he which eateth not, can iustly be contemned, neither he which eateth, be iustly condemned: Now the first proposition is declared in the first verse following. *Iam. 4. 12. 5 An other reason which hangeth vpon the former: why the ruder and more vnlearned ought not to be condemned of the more skilfull, as men without hope of saluation: Because, saieth the Apostle, he that is ignorant to day, may be indued to morow, with further knowledge, so that he also may stand sure: Therefore it belongeth to God, and not vnto man, to pronounce the sentence of condemnation. 6 Another example of the difference of dayes according to the Law. 7 Hee setteth against this contempt, and hastie or rash iudgements, a continuall desire to profite, that the strong may be certainly perswaded of their liberty, of what maner and sort it is, and how they ought to vse it: and against the weake may daily profite, lest either they abuse the gift of God, or these please themselues in their ignorance. d That he may say in his conscience, that he knoweth and is perswaded by Iesus Christ, that nothing is vncleane of it selfe, and this perswasion must bee grounded vpon the word of God. 8 A reason taken from the nature of indifferent things, which a man may with good conscience doe, and omit: for seeing that the difference of dayes and meates was appointed by God, how could they which as yet vnderstood not the abrogating of the Lawe, and yet otherwise acknowledged Christ as their Sauiour, with good conscience neglect that which they knew was commanded of God? And on the contrary side, they that knew the benefite of Christ in this behalfe, did with good conscience neither obserue dayes nor meats. Therefore saieth the Apostle verse 10. Let not the strong condemne the weake for these things, seeing that the weake brethren are brethren notwithstanding. Now if any man would draw this doctrine to these our times and ages, let him know that the Apostle speaketh of such things indifferent, as they which thought them not to be indifferent, had a ground in the Lawe, and were deceiued by simple ignorance, and not of malice, (for to such the Apostle yelded not, no not for a moment) nor superstition, but of a religious feare of God. e Obserueth precisely. f God shal iudge whether he do wel or no: And therefore you should rather striue about this, how euery one of you may be allowed of God, then to thinke vpon other mens doings. g He that maketh no difference of meats. 9 So the Apostle sheweth that he speaketh of the faithfull, both strong and weake: But what if we haue to doe with infidels? Then must we here take heed of two things as also is declared in the Epistle to the Corinthians. The one is, that we count not their superstition among things indifferent, as they did which sate downe to meat in Idols Temples: the other is, that then also when the matter is indifferent (as to buy a thing offred to Idoles, in the butchers shambles, and to eate it at home or in a priuate banquet) we wound not the conscience of our weake brother. h He that toucheth not meates which he taketh to be vncleane by the Lawe, 10 We must not sticke, saieth he, in the weake it selfe, but in the vse of the weake, so that he is inwardly to be perswaded that he liueth so, that he casteth not his cares vpon God. For both our life and our death is dedicated to him, and for this cause Christ hath properly died, and not simplie that we might eate this meate or that.

i Hath respect to himselfe onely, which the Hebrues were after this sort, Doeth well to his owne soule.

11 The conclusion: we must leaue to God his right, and therefore in matters, which according as the conscience is affected, are either good or euil, the strong must not despise their weake brethren, much lesse condemne them. But this consequent can not be taken of equal force in the contrary, to wit, that the weake should not iudge the strong, because the weake doe not know, that they which doe not obserue a day and eate, obserue it not to the Lorde, as the strong men know that the weake which obserue a day and eate not, obserue the day to the Lord, and eate not to the Lord. * 2. Cor. 1. 10. * Isai. 45. 23. philip. 2. 10. k This is a forme of an othe, proper to God onely, for he and none but he liueth, and hath his being of himselfe. l Shal acknowledge me for God. 12 After that hee hath concluded what is not to bee done, he sheweth what is to bee done: to wit, wee must take heede that wee bee not vtterly cast downe with abusing our libertie, our brother which is not yet strong. m Hee rebuketh by the way these malicious iudgers of others which occupie their heads about nothing, but to finde fault with their brethrens life, whereas they should rather bestowe their wits vpon this, that they doe not with their disdainefulnesse either cast their brethren cleane downe, or giue them some offence. 13 The preuenting of an obiection: It is true that the schoolemastership of the Lawe is taken away by the benefite of Christ, to such as knowe it, but yet notwithstanding we haue to consider in the vse of this liberty, what is expedient, that wee may haue regard to our weake brother, seeing that our libertie is not lost thereby. n By the Spirite of the Lorde Iesus, or by the Lorde Iesus, who I am sure brake downe the wall at his comming. o By nature. *1. Corinthians 8. 11. 14 It is the part of a cruell minde to make more account of meate, then of our brothers saluation. Which thing they doe, that presume to eate with the offence of any brother, and so giue him occasion to goe backe from the Gospell. 15 An other argument: Wee must followe Christes example: who was so farre from destroying the weake with meate, that hee gaue his life for them. 16 Another argument: for that by this meanes the libertie of the Gospell is euill spoken of, as though it openeth the way to attempt any thing whatsoeuer, and bewraieth vs to all things. 17 A generall reason, and the ground of all the other arguments: The kingdome of heauen consisteth not in these outward things, but in the studie of righteousnesse and peace, and comfort of the holy Ghost. p Hee that liueth peaceably, and doeth righteously through the holy Ghost. 18 A generall conclusion: The vse of this libertie, yea, and our whole life, ought to be referred to the edifying of one another, in so much that we esteeme that thing vnlawfull by reason of the offence of our brother, which is of it selfe pure and lawfull.

which concerne peace, and wherwith one may edifie another.

20 Destroy not ỹ worke of God for meats sake: * all things in deed are pure: but it is euil for the man which eateth with offence.

21 * It is good neither to eate flesh, nor to drinke wine, nor any thing wherby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or made weake.

22 [19] Hast thou [q] faith? haue it wt thy selfe before God: blessed is he that condemneth not himselfe in that thing which he [r] alloweth.

23 For he that [r] doubteth, is condemned if he eate, because hee eateth not of faith: and whatsoeuer is not of faith, is sinne.

*Titus 1.5.
*2. Cor. 8.13.
19 He giueth a profitable warning in these matters, one, which pertaineth to the strong, that he which hath obteined a sure knowledge of this libertie, keepe that treasure to the end he may vse it wisely and profitably, as hath bene sayd: the other which remaineth the weake, that they doe nothing rashly by other mens example with a wauering conscience. for that cannot be done without sinne, whereof we are not perswaded by the word of God, that he liketh and approueth it. q He shewed before, vers. 14. what hee meaneth by faith, to wit, for a man to be certaine and out of doubt in matters and things indifferent. r Embraceth. s Reasoneth with himselfe.

CHAP. XV.

1 The stronger must imploy their strength to strengthen the weake. 3 by Christes example, 7 who receiued 8 not onely the Iewes, 10 but also the Gentiles. 11 The cause why he wrote this Epistle.

1 Now the Apostle reasoneth generally of tollerating or bearing with the weake by all means, so farre forth as may be for their profite.
a And despise others.
b For his profite and edification.
2 A confirmation taken of the example of Christ, who suffered all things, in dying not onely for the weake, but also his most cruell enemies, ouercomming them with patience, to his Father.
*Psal. 69.10.
3 The preuenting of an obiection: Such things as are taken out of the examples of the ancients, are propounded vnto vs to this end and purpose, that according to the example of our Fathers, wee should in patience and hope beare one with another. c By Moses and the Prophets. d The Scriptures are sayd, to teache and comfort, because God vseth them to teach and comfort his people withall. 4 We must take an example of patience, of God: that both the weake and the strong seruing God with a mutuall consent, may tying one another to God, as Christ also receiued vs vnto himselfe, although we were neuer so vnworthie. 1. Cor. 1.10. e He did not disdaine vs, but receiued vs of his owne accord, to make vs partakers of Gods glory. 5 An applying of the example of Christ to the Iewes, whom he vouchsafed this honour for the promises which hee made vnto their fathers, although they were neuer so vnwoorthy. that he executed the office of a Minister amongst them in marueilous patience: therefore much lesse ought the Gentiles despise them for certaine faults, whom the Sonne of God so much esteemed. f Of the circumcised Iewes, for as long as hee liued, hee neuer went out of their quarters. g That God might be seene to be true. 6 An amplifying of the same to the Gentiles, whom also the Lord of his incomprehensible goodnesse had regard of, so that they are not to be contemned of the Iewes, as strangers.

WE [1] which are strong, ought to beare the infirmities of the weake, and not to [a] please our selues.

2 Therfore let euery man please his neighbour in that that is [b] good to edification.

3 [2] For Christ also would not please himselfe, but as it is written, * The rebukes of them which rebuke thee, fell on me.

4 [3] For whatsoeuer things are written [c] afore time, are written for our learning, that we through patience, & comfort of the [d] Scriptures might haue hope.

5 [4] Now the God of patience and consolation giue you that ye be * like minded one towards another, according to Christ Iesus, 6 That ye with one mind, and with one mouth may praise God, euen the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ.

7 Wherefore receiue ye one another, as Christ also [e] receiued vs to the glory of God.

8 [5] Now I say, that Iesus Christ was a minister of the [f] circumcision, for the [g] trueth of God, to confirme the promises made vnto the fathers.

9 [6] And let the Gentiles praise God, for his mercy, as it is written, * For this cause I will [h] confesse thee among the Gentiles, and sing vnto thy Name.

10 And againe he saith, * Reioyce, ye Gentiles with his people.

11 And againe, * Praise the Lord, all ye Gentiles, and laude ye him, all people together.

12 And againe Esaias saith, * There shall be a roote of Iesse, & he that shall rise to reigne ouer the Gentiles, in him shall the Gentiles trust.

13 [7] Now the God of [i] hope fill you with [k] all ioy, and peace in beleeuing, that ye may abound in hope, through the power of the holy Ghost.

14 [8] And I my selfe am also perswaded of you, my brethren, that [l] ye also are full of goodnesse, & filled with all knowledge, and are able to admonish one another.

15 Neuertheless, brethren, I haue somewhat boldly after a sort written vnto you, as one that putteth you in remembrance, through the grace that is giuen me of God,

16 That I should be the minister of Iesus Christ toward the Gentiles, ministring the Gospel of God, that the [m] offering vp of the Gentiles might be acceptable, being sanctified by the holy Ghost.

17 [9] I haue therefore whereof I may reioyce in Christ Iesus in those things which pertaine to God.

18 For I dare not speake of any thing, which [n] Christ hath not wrought by mee, to make the Gentiles obedient in word & deed, 19 With the [o] power of signes and wonders, by the power of the Spirite of God: so that from Hierusalem, and round about vnto Illyricum, I haue caused to abound the Gospel of Christ.

20 Yea, so I enforced my selfe to preach the Gospell, not where Christ was named, lest I should haue built on another mans foundation, 21 But as it is written, * To whom hee was not spoken of, they shall see him, and they that heard not, shall vnderstand him.

22 * [10] Therefore also I haue bene oft let to come vnto you:

23 But now seeing I haue no more place in these quarters, and also haue * bene desirous many yeeres agoe to come vnto you,

24 When I shall take my iourney into Spaine, I will come to you: for I trust to see

*Psal. 18.50.
h I will openly professe, and set forth thy Name.
*Deut. 32.43.
*Psal. 117.1.
*Esai. 11.10.
7 He sealeth vp as it were all the former treatise with prayers, wishing all that to be giuen them of the Lord, that he had commanded them.
i In whom we hope.
k Abundantly & plentifully.
8 The conclusion of the Epistle, wherein he first excuseth himself, that he hath written somewhat at large vnto them, rather to warne them, then to teach them, and that of necessity, by reason of his vocation, which bindeth him peculiarly to the Gentiles.
l Of your owne accord, and of your selues.
m By the offering vp of the Gentiles, he meaneth the Gentiles themselues, whom he offered to God as a sacrifice.
9 He commendeth his Apostleship highly by the effects, but yet so, that moreouer and besides that he speaketh all things truly, he giueth all the glory to God as the onely author: and doeth not properly respect himselfe, but this rather, that men might lesse doubt of the trueth of the doctrine which he propounded vnto them.
n Christ was so with me in all things, and by all meanes, that if I would neuer so faine, yet I can not say, what he hath done by me, to bring the Gentiles to obey the Gospel.
o In the first place this word, Power, signifieth the force and working of the wonders in pearcing mens mindes: and in the latter, it signifieth Gods mighty power which was the worker of those wonders. *Isa. 52.15. *Chap. 2.17. 10 He writeth at large to the Romanes, and that familiarly, his singular good will towards them, and the state of his affaires, but so, that he swarueth not a iote from the rule of Apostolicall doctrine: for he declareth nothing but that which appertaineth to his office, and is godly: and commending by a litle digression as it were, the liberalitie of the Churches of Macedonia, he prouoketh them modestly to follow their godly deed. *1. you you in my iourney, & to be brought on my way thitherward by you, after that I haue bene somewhat filled with your company.

25 But now goe I to Hierusalem, to [p] minister vnto the Saints.

26 For it hath pleased them of Macedonia and Achaia, to make a certaine distribution vnto the poore Saints which are at Hierusalem.

27 [11] For it hath pleased them, & their detters are they: * for if the Gentiles bee made partakers of their spiritual things, their duetie is also to [q] minister vnto thē in carnall things.

28 Whē I haue therefore performed this, and haue [r] sealed them this [s] fruite, I will passe by you into Spaine.

29 [12] And I know when I come, that I shall come to you with abundance of the blessing of the Gospell of Christ.

30 Also brethren, I beseech you for our Lord Iesus Christes sake, and for the [t] loue of the spirite, that yee would striue with mee by prayers to God for me,

31 That I may bee deliuered from them which are disobedient in Iudea, and that my seruice which I haue to doe at Hierusalem, may be accepted of the Saints, 32 That I may come vnto you with ioy by the will of God, and may with you be refreshed.

33 Thus the God of peace be with you all. Amen.

CHAP. XVI.

1 He commendeth Phebe. 3 He sendeth greeting to many, 17 and warneth to beware of them which are the cause of diuision.

I [1] Commend vnto you Phebe our Sister, which is a seruaunt of the Church of Cenchrea:

2 That ye receiue her in the [a] Lord, as it becommeth Saintes, and that ye assist her in whatsoeuer businesse she needeth of your aide: for she hath giuen hospitalitie vnto many, and to me also.

3 Greete * Priscilla, and Aquila my fellow helpers in Christ Iesus,

4 (Which haue for my life laid downe their owne necke. Unto whom not I only giue thanks, but also all the Churches of the Gentiles.)

5 Likewise greete the [b] Church that is in their house. Salute my beloued Epenetus, which is the [c] first fruits of Achaia in Christ.

6 Greet Mary which bestowed much labour vpon vs.

7 Salute Andronicus and Iunia my cosines and fellow prisoners, which are notable among the Apostles, and were in [d] Christ before me.

8 Greet Amplias my beloued in the Lord.

9 Salute Urbanus our fellow helper in Christ, and Stachys my beloued.

10 Salute Apelles approued in Christ. Salute thē which are of Aristobulus friends.

11 Salute Herodion my kinsman. Greete thē which are of the friends of Narcissus which are in the Lord.

12 Salute Tryphena & Tryphosa, which women labour in the Lord. Salute the beloued Persis, which woman hath laboured much in the Lord.

13 Salute Rufus chosen in the Lord, and his mother and mine.

14 Greete Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermas, Patrobas, Mercurius, and the brethren which are with them.

15 Salute Philologus and Julias, Nereas, and his sister, and Olympas, and all the Saints which are with them.

16 Salute one another with an * holy [e] kisse. The Churches of Christ salute you.

17 [2] Now I beseech you brethren, [f] marke them diligently which cause diuision and offences, contrary to the doctrine which ye haue learned, and * auoid them.

18 For they that are such, serue not the Lord Iesus Christ, but their owne bellies, and with [g] faire speach and flattering deceiue the hearts of the simple.

19 [3] For your obedience is come abroade among all: I am glad therefore of you: but yet I would haue you [h] wise vnto that which is good, and [i] simple concerning euil.

20 [4] The God of peace shall tread Satan vnder your feet shortly. The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be [k] with you.

21 * [5] Timotheus my helper, and Lucius and Jason, and Sosipater my kinsmen, salute you.

22 I Tertius, which [k] wrote out this Epistle, salute you in the Lord.

23 Gaius mine host, & of the whole Church saluteth you. Erastus the steward of the citie saluteth you, and Quartus a brother.

24 [6] The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you all. Amen.

25 * [7] To him now that is of power to establish you according to my Gospel, and preaching of Iesus Christ, * by the reuelation

[b] Hauing made an end of the whole disputation, he commeth now to familiar commendations and salutations, and that to good consideration with purpose, to note, that the Romanes might know, who are worthy to be honoured and made accompt of among them: and also whom they ought to set before them to follow and thereunto be attributeth vnto euery of them peculiar and singular testimonies.

CHAP. I.

1 After the ſalutation, 10 which in effect is an exhortation, 12 he reprehendeth the Corinthians ſects and diuiſions, 17 and calleth them from pride to humilitie: 20 For, ouerthrowing all worldly wiſedome, 23,25 hee aduanceth onely the preaching of the croſſe.

1 The inſcription of the Epiſtle, wherein he chiefly goeth about to procure the good will of the Corinthians towards him, yet notwithſtanding ſo, that alwayes he letteth them to wit, that he is the ſeruant of God and not of men.

PAul [1] called to be an [2] Apoſtle of Jeſus Chriſt, through the will of God, and our brother [3] Soſthenes,

2 [4] Vnto the Church of God, which is at Corinthus, to them ỹ are [5] ſanctified in [a] Chriſt Jeſus, [] Saints by [b] calling, [*] with all that [c] call on the Name of our Lorde Jeſus Chriſt in euery place, both their Lord, and ours:

3 [6] Grace be with you, & peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jeſus Chriſt.

4 [7] I thanke my God alwayes on your behalfe for the grace of God, which is giuen you in Jeſus Chriſt.

5 That in all things yee are made rich in him, [8] in [d] all kinde of ſpeech, and in all knowledge:

6 [9] As the teſtimonie of Jeſus Chriſt hath bene [e] confirmed in you:

7 So that yee are not deſtitute of any gift: [*10] waiting for the [f] appearing of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt,

8 [*11] Who ſhall alſo confirm you vnto the end, that ye may bee [g] blameleſſe, in the day of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt.

9 [*] God is [h] faithfull, by whom ye are called vnto the fellowſhip of his Sonne Jeſus Chriſt our Lord.

10 [12] Now I beſeech you, brethren, by the Name of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, that [13] yee all ſpeake one thing, and that there be no diſſentions among you: but bee ye [i] knit together in one mind, and in one iudgement.

11 [14] For it hath bene declared vnto mee, my brethren, of you by them that are of the houſe of Cloe, that there are contentions among you.

12 Now [k] this I ſay, that euery one of you ſaith, I am Pauls, and I am [*] Apollos, and I am Cephas, and I am Chriſts.

13 [15] Is Chriſt diuided? was [16] Paul crucified for you? either were ye [17] baptized into the name of Paul?

14 [18] I thanke God, that I baptized none of you, but [*] Criſpus and Gaius, 15 Leaſt any ſhould ſay, that I had baptized into mine owne name.

2 If he be an Apoſtle, then hee muſt be heard, although hee ſometime reprehend the harſhly, ſeeing hee hath not his office in hand, but is a meſſenger that bringeth ỹ commandements of Chriſt.

3 He ioyneth Soſthenes with himſelf, that this doctrine might be confirmed by two witneſſes.

4 It is a Church of God, although it hath great faults in it, ſo that it obey them which admoniſh them. * Act.15.9. 1.theſſ.4.7. 5 A true definition of the Catholike Church which is one. a The father ſanctifieth vs, that is to ſay, ſeparateth vs from the wicked, in giuing vs to his Sonne, that he may be in vs, and we in him. * Rom.1.7. ephe.1.1. coloſſ.1.22. 1.tim.1.9. tit.2.3. b Whome God of his gracious goodnes & meere loue hath ſeparated for himſelfe, or whom God hath called to holineſſe: the firſt of theſe two expoſitions, ſheweth frō whence our ſanctification commeth, and the ſecond ſheweth to what end it tendeth. * 2.Tim.1.22. c He is ſaide properly to call on God, who crieth vnto the Lorde when hee is in danger, and craueth helpe at his hands: and by the figure Synecdoche it is taken for all the ſeruice of God: and therefore to call vpon Chriſtes Name, is to acknowledge and take him for very God. 6 The foundation & the life of the Church, is Chriſt Jeſus giuen of the Father. 7 Going about to condemne many vices, hee beginneth with a true commendation of their vertues, leſt he might ſeeme after to deſcend to chiding, being moued with malice or enuie: yet ſo, that he referreth all to God as the author of them, and that in Chriſt, that the Corinthians might be maze aſhamed to prophane & abuſe the holy gifts of God. 8 Hee toucheth that by name, which they moſt abuſed. d Seeing that while we liue here, we know but in part, and prophelie in part, this word (All) muſt bee reſtrained to the preſent ſtate of the faithfull: but by Speech he meaneth not a vaine kinde of babling, but the gift of holy eloquence, which the Corinthians abuſed. 9 He ſheweth that the true vſe of theſe gifts conſiſteth herein, that the mighty power of Chriſt might thereby be ſet forth in them, that hereafter it might euidently appeare how wickedly they abuſed them to glory & ambition. e By thoſe excellent gifts of the holy Ghoſt. * Tit.2.11. philip.3.20. 10 He ſaith by the way, that there is no cauſe why they ſhould pleaſe themſelues ſo much in thoſe gifts which they had receiued, ſeeing that thoſe were nothing in compariſon of them which are to be looked for. f He ſpeaketh of the laſt comming of Chriſt. * 1.Theſſ.3.13. and 5.23.

11 He teſtifieth that he hopeth well of the hereafter, that they may more patiently abide his reprehenſion afterward. And yet together therewithall ſheweth that as well this beginning as the accompliſhing of our ſaluation is onely the worke of God.

g He calleth them blameleſſe, not whom man never found fault with, but with whom no man can iuſtly finde fault, that is to ſay, them which are in Chriſt Jeſus, in whome there is no condemnation. See Luke 1.6.

* 1.Theſ.5.24.

h True and conſtant, who doeth not onely call vs, but giueth vs the gift of perſeuerance alſo.

12 Hauing made an end of the preface, he commeth to the matter it ſelfe, beginning with a moſt graue obteſtation, as though they ſhould heare Chriſt himſelf ſpeaking and not Paul. 13 The firſt part of this Epiſtle, wherein his purpoſe is, to call backe the Corinthians to brotherly concord, and to take away all occaſion of diſcord. So then this firſt part concerneth the taking away of ſchiſmes. Now a ſchiſme is whē men which otherwiſe agree & conſent together in doctrine, do yet ſeparate themſelues one from another. i Knit together, as a body that conſiſteth of all his parts fitly knit together. 14 He beginneth his reprehenſion and chiding by taking away of an obiection: for that he vnderſtood by good witneſſes, that there were many factions among them. And therewithal he openeth the cauſe of diſſentions, because that ſome hanged on one doctour, ſome on another, and ſome were ſo addicted to themſelues, that they neglected all doctours and teachers, calling themſelues the diſciples of Chriſt only, ſhutting forth their teachers. k The matter I would ſay to you, is then

* Act.18.24. 15 The firſt reaſon why ſchiſmes ought to be eſchewed: becauſe Chriſt ſeemeth by that meanes, to be diuided and torne in pieces, who cannot be the head of two diuers and diſagreeing bodies, being himſelfe one. 16 Another reaſon: Becauſe they cannot without great iniurie to God, ſo hang of men as Chriſt: which thing no doubt they do, which allow whatſoeuer ſome man ſpeaketh, euen for his perſons ſake: as theſe men allowed one ſelfeſame Goſpel, being preached of one man, and did lothe it being preached of another man. So that theſe factions were called by the names of their teachers. Now Paul ſetteth down his owne name, not only to grieue no man, but alſo to ſhewe that hee pleadeth not his owne cauſe. 17 The third reaſon taken of the forme and end of baptiſme, wherein we make a promiſe to Chriſt, calling on alſo the Name of the Father and the holy Ghoſt. Therefore although a man do not fall from the doctrine of Chriſt, yet if he hang vpon ſome certaine teachers, and deſpiſe others, he forſaketh Chriſt: for if he hold Chriſt his only maſter, he would heare him, teaching by whomſoeuer. 18 He proteſteth that he ſpeaketh ſo much the more boldly of theſe things, becauſe that through Gods prouidence, he is voide of all ſuſpicion of chalenging diſciples vnto himſelfe, and taking them from others. Wherby we may vnderſtand, that not the ſcholers only, but the teachers alſo are here reprehended, which gathered themſelues flocks apart. * Act.18.8.

16 I baptized alſo the houſhold of Stephanas: furthermore know I not, whether I baptized any other.

17 [19] For CHRIST ſent mee not to baptize, but to preach the Goſpel, [20] not with *[1] wiſedom of words, leſt the [21] croſſe of Chriſt ſhould be made of none effect.

18 For that [m] preaching of the croſſe is to them that perish, fooliſhneſſe: but vnto vs, which are ſaued, it is the *[n] power of God.

19 [21] For it is written, * I will deſtroy the wiſedome of the wiſe, and will caſt away the vnderſtanding of the prudent.

20 Where is the wiſe? where is [o] the Scribe? where is the [p] diſputer of this worlde? hath not God made the wiſedome of this world fooliſhneſſe?

21 [23] For ſeeing the [q] worlde by wiſedome knew not God in the [r] wiſedome of GOD, [24] it pleaſed God by the [s] fooliſhneſſe of preaching to ſaue them that beleeue:

22 *[25] Seeing alſo that the Iewes require a ſigne, and the Grecians ſeeke after wiſedom, 23 But we preach Chriſt crucified: vnto the Iewes, euen a ſtumbling blocke, and vnto the Grecians, fooliſhneſſe:

24 But vnto thē which are called, both of the Iewes & Grecians, we preach Chriſt, the power of God, and the wiſedome of God.

25 For the fooliſhneſſe of God is wiſer then men, and the weakeneſſe of God is ſtronger then men.

26 [26] For brethren, you ſee your [t] calling, howe that not many wiſe men [u] after the fleſh, not many mighty, not many noble are called.

27 But God hath choſen the fooliſh things of the world to confound the wiſe, & God hath choſen the weake things of the world, to confound the mightie things.

28 And vile things of the world and things which are deſpiſed, hath God choſen, & things which [x] are not, to bring to [y] nought things that are,

29 That no [z] fleſh ſhould reioyce in his preſence.

30 But yee are [a] of him in Chriſt Ieſus, [27] who of God is made vnto vs wiſedome and righteouſneſſe, and ſanctification, and redemption, 31 That, according as it is written, *[b] He that reioyceth, let him reioyce in the Lord.

19 The taking away of an obiection: that he gaue not himſelf to baptize many amongſt them: not for the contempt of Baptiſme: but becauſe he was chiefly occupied in deliuering the doctrine, and committed them that receiued his doctrine to others to be baptized, whereof he had ſtore. And ſo he declared ſufficiently how farre he was from al ambition: wherein on the other ſide, they, whome he reprehendeth, as though they gathered diſciples vnto themſelues and not vnto Chriſt, bragged moſt ambitiouſly of numbers, which they had baptized.

20 Now he turneth himſelf to the doctors themſelues, which pleaſed themſelues in braue and ambitious eloquence, to the end that they might drawe more diſciples after them. He confeſſeth plainly that he was vnlike vnto them, appoling gravely as it became an Apoſtle, his example againſt their peruerſe iudgements: So that this is another place of this Epiſtle, touching the obſeruing of a godly ſimplicity both in words and ſentences in teaching of the Goſpel. * Chap. 2. 13. 1. pet. 1. 16. 1 With eloquence: which Paul caſteth oft trō him not onely as not neceſſarie, but alſo as ſtat contrary to the office of his Apoſtleſhip: and yet had Paul his kind of eloquence, but it was heauenly not of man, & voyd of painted words. 21 The reaſon why he vſed not the pompe of words, and painted ſpeech: becauſe it was Gods wil to bring the world to his obedience by that way, whereby the moſt idiots amongſt men might vnderſtand, that this worke was done of God himſelfe without the arte of man. Therefore as ſaluation is ſet forth vnto vs in the Goſpel by the croſſe of Chriſt, then which nothing is more contemptible, and more farre from life, ſo God would haue the manner of the preaching of the croſſe, moſt different from thoſe means, with which men do vſe to draw and entiſe other, either to heare or beleeue: therfore it pleaſed him by a certaine kind of moſt wiſe follie, to triumph ouer the moſt fooliſh wiſedome of the world, as he had ſaide before by Eſay, that he would. And hereby we may gather, that both thoſe doctors which were puffed vp with ambitious eloquence, and alſo their hearers, ſtraye farre away from the end and marke of their vocation. m The preaching of Chriſt crucified, or the kind of ſpeech which we vſe. * Rom. 1. 16. n It is that wherin he declareth his marueilous power in ſauing his elect, which woulde not ſo euidently appeare, if it hanged vpon any helpe of man, for ſo, man might attribute that to him ſelfe, which is proper onely to the croſſe of Chriſt. 22 The Apoſtle proueth, that this ought not only to ſeeme ſtrange, ſeeing that it was foretolde ſo long before, but declareth further, that God is wont to puniſh the pride of the world in ſuch ſort which ſo pleaſeth it ſelfe in it owne wiſedom: and therefore that that is vaine, yea a thing of nothing, and ſuch as God reiecteth as vnprofitable, which they ſo carefully laboured for, & made ſo great accompt of. * Eſai. 29. 14. o Where are thou, O thou learned fellowe, and thou that ſpendeſt thy dayes in turning thy bookes? p Thou that ſpendeſt all thy time in ſeeking out the ſecret things of this world, and in expounding all hard queſtions: and thus triumpheth hee againſt all the men of this worlde, for there was not one of them that could ſo much as dreame vpon this ſecret and hidden myſterie. 23 He ſheweth that the pride of men was worthily puniſhed of God, becauſe they would not behold God, as meete was they ſhould, in the moſt cleare glaſſe of the wiſedom of the world, which is the workmanſhip of the world. q By the world he meaneth all men which are not borne anew, but remaine as they were, when they were firſt borne. r In the workemanſhip of this world, which hath the marueilous wiſdom of God ingraued in it, ſo that euery man may behold it. 24 The goodnes of God is wonderful, for while he goeth about to puniſh the pride of the world, he is very prompteuit and careful for the ſaluation of it, and teacheth men to become fooles, that they may be wiſe to God. ſ So hee calleth the preaching of the Goſpel as the enemies ſuppoſed it: but in the meane ſeaſon he taunteth them very ſharply, who had rather charge God with follie, then acknowledge their owne, and craue pardon for it. * Matt. 12. 38. 25 A declaration of that which he ſaide: that the preaching of the Goſpel, is fooliſh. It is fooliſh, ſaith he, to them whom God hath not indued with new light, that is to ſay, to all men being conſidered in themſelues: for the Iewes requite miracles, and the Grecians arguments, which they may comprehend by their wit and wiſedom: and therefore they doe not onely not beleeue the Goſpel, but alſo they mocke at it. Notwithſtanding in this fooliſh preaching, there is the great vertue and wiſdom of God, but ſuch as thoſe onely which are called doe perceiue: God ſhewing moſt plainly, that euen then when madde men thinke him moſt fooliſh, he is farre wiſer then they are: and that he ſurmounteth all their might and power, when he vſeth moſt vile and abiect things, as it hath appeared in the fruit of the preaching of the Goſpel.

26 A confirmation take of thē things which came to paſſe at Corinth, where the Church eſpecially conſiſted of the baſeſt and common people, in ſo much that the Philoſophers of Greece were bylden to ſhame when they ſaw that they could doe nothing with their wiſedome and eloquence, in compariſon of the Apoſtles, whom notwithſtanding they called idiots and vnlearned. And here withall doth he beate downe their pride: for God did not preferre them before thoſe noble and wiſe men becauſe they ſhould be proud, but y they might be conſtreined euen whether they would or not, to reioyce in the Lord, by whoſe mercy although they were the moſt abiects of all, they had obtained in Chriſt, both this wiſedome, & all things neceſſary to ſaluation. t What way the Lord hath taken in calling you. u After that kinde of wiſedome which men make account of, as though there were none elſe: who becauſe they are carnal, know not ſpirituall wiſdome. x Which in mans iudgement are almoſt nothing. y To ſhew that they are all vaine and vnprofitable, and nothing worth. See Rom. 3. 31. z Fleſh, is oft as we ſee, taken for the whole man: and he vſeth this word Fleſh, very fitly, to ſet the weake and miſerable condition of man, and the malice of God, one againſt the other. a Whom he caſt downe before, now he lifteth vp, yea, higher then all men: yet ſo, that he ſheweth them that all their worthineſſe is without themſelues, that is, ſtandeth in Chriſt, and that of God. 27 He teacheth that eſpecially and aboue all things, the Goſpel ought not to be contemned, ſeeing it conteineth the chiefeſt things that are to be deſired, to wit, true wiſedome, the true way to obteine righteouſneſſe, the true way to liue honeſtly and godly, the true deliuerance from all miſeries and calamities. * Iere. 9. 24. 2. cor. 10. 17. b Let him yeeld all to God and giue him thanks: and ſo by this place is mans free will beaten downe, which the Papiſts ſo dreame of.

CHAP. II.

1 He ſetteth downe a platforme of his preaching, 4 which was baſe in reſpect of mans wiſedome, 7.13 but noble in reſpect of the ſpiritual power & efficacie. 14 and ſo concludeth that fleſh and blood cannot rightly iudge therof.

AND [1] I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with * excellencie of words, or of wiſedome, ſhewing vnto you the [a] teſtimony of God.

1 He returneth to the 17. verſe of that former chapter, that is to ſay, to his owne example: confeſſing that he vſed not among them either excellencie of words or entiſing ſpeech of mans wiſedome, but with great ſimplicitie of ſpeech bothinward & preached Ieſus Chriſt crucified humble & abiect, as touching the fleſh. * Chap. 1. 17. 2 The Goſpel. b I purpoſed not to profeſſe any knowledge but the knowledge of Chriſt & him crucified. * Act. 18. 1.

2 For I [b] eſteemed not to knowe any thing among you, ſaue Ieſus Chriſt, and him crucified.

3 * And I was among you in [c] weakeneſſe, and in feare, and in much trembling.

4 Neither ſtoode my worde, and my preaching in the * entiſing ſpeech of mans c He ſetteth weakneſſe, againſt excellencie of words, and therefore ioyneth with it feare and trembling which are the companions of true modeſtie, not ſuch feare and trembling as terrifie the conſcience, but ſuch as are contrarie to vanitie and pride. * Chap. 1, 17. 2. pet. 1, 16.

wiſedome, wiſedome, [2] but in plaine [d] euidence of the ſpirite and of power.

5 [3] That your faith ſhould not bee in the wiſedome of men, but in the power of God.

6 [4] And we ſpeake wiſedome among them that are [e] perfect: not the wiſedome of this worlde, neither of the [f] princes of this worlde, which come to nought.

7 [5] But wee ſpeake the wiſedome of God in a myſterie, euen the hid wiſedome, which God had determined before the worlde, vnto our glory.

8 [7] Which none of the princes of this worlde hath knowen: for had they knowen it, they would not haue crucified the [h] Lord of glory.

9 [8] But as it is written, * The things which eie hath not ſeene, neither eare hath heard, neither came into [i] mans heart, are, which God hath prepared for them that loue him.

10 [9] But God hath reuealed them vnto vs by his Spirite: for the ſpirite [k] ſearcheth all things, yea, the deepe things of God.

11 [10] For what man knoweth the things of a man, ſaue the [l] ſpirite of a man, which is in him? euen ſo the things of God knoweth no man, but the ſpirit of God.

12 Now we haue receiued not the [m] ſpirit of the worlde, but the Spirit, which is of God, [11] that wee might [n] know the things that are giuen to vs of God.

13 [12] Which things alſo we ſpeake, not in

1 He turneth that now to the commendation of his miniſterie, which he had granted to his aduerſaries: for his vertue and power which they knew wel enough, was ſo much the more excellent, becauſe it had no worldly helpe ioyned with it.

d By plaine euidence he meaneth ſuch a proofe, as is made by certaine and neceſſary reaſons.

3 And he telleth the Corinthians, that he did it for their great profite, becauſe they might thereby know manifeſtly that the Goſpel was from heauen. Therefore he plainly rebuketh them, becauſe that in ſeeking paine offenſion, they wilfully depriued themſelues of the greateſt helpe of their faith.

4 Another argument taken of the nature of the thing, that is, of the Goſpel, which is true wiſedome, but knowen to them onely which are deſirous of perfection: and is vnſauerie to them which otherwiſe excel in the worlde, but yet dainly and frailely. e Thoſe are called perfect here, not which had gotten perfection alreadie, but ſuch as tend to it, as Philippians 3.15. ſo that perfect, is ſet againſt weake. f They that are wiſer, richer, or mightier then other men are. 5 He ſheweth the cauſe why this wiſedom cannot be perceiued of thoſe excellent worldly wits: to wit, becauſe indeed it is ſo deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. g Which men could not ſo much as dreame of.

6 He taketh away an obiection: If it be ſo hard, when and how is it knowen? God ſaith he, determined with himſelfe from the beginning, that which his purpoſe was to bring foorth at this time out of his ſecrets, for the ſaluation of men.

7 He taketh away another obiection: why then, how commeth it to paſſe, that this wiſedome was ſo reiected of men of higheſt authoritie, that they crucified Chriſt himſelfe? Paul anſwereth: becauſe they knew not Chriſt ſuch as he was. h That mightie God, ful of true maieſtie and glorie: Now this place hath in it a moſt euident proofe of the Diuinitie of Chriſt & of his ioyning of the two natures in one, which hath this in it, that that which is proper to the manhood alone, is vouched of the Godhead ioyned with the manhood: which kind of ſpeech, is called of the olde fathers, a making common of things belonging to ſome one, with other to whome they doe not belong. i Another obiection: But how could it be that thoſe witty men could not perceiue this wiſedom? Paul anſwereth: Becauſe we preach thoſe things which paſſe all mans vnderſtanding. * Eſa. 64.4. i Man cannot ſo much as thinke of them, much leſſe conceiue them with his ſenſes. 9 A queſtion: If it ſurmount the capacitie of men, how can it be vnderſtood of any man, or how can you declare and preach it? by a peculiar lightning by Gods Spirite, wherewith whoſoeuer is inſpired, he can enter euen to the very ſecrets of God. k There is nothing ſo ſecret and hidden in God, but the ſpirit of God pierceth into it. 10 He ſetteth that forth by a ſimilitude, which he ſpake of the inſpiration of the Spirite. As the force of mans wit ſearcheth out things pertaining to man, ſo doth our mind by that power of the holy Ghoſt, vnderſtand heauenly things. l The minde of men which is indued with the ableneſſe to vnderſtand and iudge. m The Spirit which we haue receiued, doeth not teach vs things of this world, but lifteth vs vp to God, & this place teacheth vs againſt the Papiſts, what faith is, from whence it commeth and what force it is of. 11 That which he ſpake generally, he reſtraineth now to thoſe things which God hath opened vnto vs of our ſaluation in Chriſt: leaſt that any man ſhould ſeparate the Spirit from the preaching of the word of Chriſt: or ſhould thinke that thoſe fantaſticall men are gouerned by the Spirite of God, which wandring beſides the word, thruſt vpon vs their vain imaginations for the ſecrets of God. n This word (know) is take here in his proper ſenſe, for true knowledge, which the Spirit of God worketh in vs. 13 Now he returneth to his purpoſe, and concludeth the argument which hee began verſe 6. and it is thus: the words muſt be applied to the matter, and the matter muſt be ſet forth with words which are meet and conuenient for it: now this wiſedome is ſpirituall and not of man, and therefore it muſt be deliuered by a ſpirituall kind of teaching, and not by entiſling words of mans eloquence, that the ſimple, and yet wonderful maieſtie of the holy Ghoſt may therein appeare.

the * words which mans wiſedome teacheth, but which the holy Ghoſt teacheth, [o] comparing ſpirituall things with ſpirituall things.

14 [13] But the [p] naturall man perceiueth not the things of the Spirite of God: for they are foolihneſſe vnto him: neither can hee know them, becauſe they are [q] ſpiritually diſcerned.

15 [14] But he that is ſpirituall, [r] diſcerneth all things: yet [15] hee himſelfe is iudged of [ſ] no man.

16 [16] For who hath knowen the minde of the Lord, that hee might [t] inſtruct him? But we haue the [u] mind of Chriſt.

* Chap. 1.17. 2.Pet. 1,16.

o Applying the words vnto the matter, to wit, that as we teach ſpiritual things, ſo muſt our kind of teaching be ſpiritual.

13 Againe he preuenteth an offence or ſtumbling blocke: How commeth it to paſſe that ſo few allow theſe things? This is not to be marueiled at, ſaith the Apoſtle, ſeeing that men in their naturall powers (as they terme them) are not indued with that faculitie whereby ſpirituall things are diſcerned (which faculitie commeth another way) and therfore they accompt ſpirituall wiſdome as folly: & it is as if he ſhould ſay, It is no marueile that blind men cannot iudge of colours, ſeeing that they lacke the light of their eyes, & therefore light is to them as darkneſs. p The man that hath no further light of vnderſtanding, then that which he brought with him, euen from his mothers womb, as Iude defineth it, Iude 19. q By the vertue of the holy Ghoſt. 14 He amplifieth [p] matter by contraries. r Vnderſtandeth & diſcerneth. 15 The wiſedom of the fleſh, ſaieth Paul, determineth nothing certainly, no not in it ſelfe affaires, much leſſe can it diſcerne ſtrange, that is, ſpirituall things. But the Spirit of God, wherwith ſpirituall men are indued, can be deceiued by no means, and therefore be reproued of no man. ſ Of no man: for when the Prophets are iudged of the Prophets, it is the Spirit that iudgeth, and not the man. * Eſai. 40.13. rom. 11.34, 16 A reaſon of the former ſaying: for he is called ſpirituall, which hath learned that by the vertue of the Spirit, which Chriſt hath taught vs. Now if that which we haue learned of that maiſter, coulde be reproued of any man, he muſt needs be wiſer then God: whereupon it followeth, that they are not only foolish, but alſo wicked, which thinke that they can deuiſe ſome thing that is eyther more perfect, or that they can teach the wiſedome of God a better way then they knew or taught which vndoubtedly were indued with Gods ſpirit. t Lay his head to his, and teach him what he ſhould do. u We are indued with the Spirit of Chriſt, who openeth vnto vs thoſe ſecrets, which by all other meanes are vnſearchable, and alſo all trueth whatſoeuer.

CHAP. III.

1 He yeeldeth a reaſon why he preached ſmall matters vnto them: 4 He ſheweth howe they ought to eſteeme of miniſterie. 6 The miniſters office. 10 A true forme of edifying. 16 He warneth the Corinthians, that they be not drawen away to prophane things, 18 through the proud wiſedome of the fleſh.

AND [1] I coulde not ſpeake vnto you brethren, as vnto ſpirituall men, but as vnto [a] carnall, euen as vnto babes in Chriſt.

2 I gaue you milke to drinke, and not [b] meate: for ye were not yet [c] able to beare it, neither yet nowe are able.

3 For yee are yet carnall: for whereas there is among you enuying, and ſtrife, & diuiſions, are ye not carnall, and walke as [d] men?

4 For when one ſaieth, I am Pauls, and another, I am Apollos, are ye not carnall?

5 [2] Who is Paul then? and who is A-

1 Hauing declared the worthineſſe of heauenly wiſdome, & of the Goſpel, & hauing generally condemned the blindneſſe of mans minde, now at length he applyeth it particularly to the Corinthians, calling them carnal, that is, ſuch in whome as yet the fleſh preuaileth againſt the Spirit. And he diſagreeth a double teſtimonie of it: firſt, for that he had propred them to be ſuch, inſomuch that he dealt with them no otherwiſe then with ignorant men, and ſuch as are almoſt babes in the doctrine of godlineſſe, and ſecondly, becauſe they ſhewed indeed by theſe diſſentions, which ſprang vp by reaſon of the ignorance of the vertue of the Spirit, and heauenly wiſedom, that they had profited very little or nothing. a He calleth them carnal, which are as yet ignorant, and therfore to expreſſe it the better, he termeth them babes. b Subſtantiall meat, or ſtrong meat. c To be fed by me with ſubſtantial meat: therfore as the Corinthians grew vp in age, ſo the Apoſtle nouriſhed them by teaching, firſt with milke, then with ſtrong men, which difference was onely but in the maner of teaching. d By the square and compaſſe of mans wit and iudgement. 2 After that he hath ſufficiently reprehended ambitious teachers, and their fooliſh eſteemers, now he ſheweth how the true miniſters are to be eſteemed, that we attribute not vnto them, more or leſſe then wee ought to doe. Therefore he teacheth vs, that they are they by whom wee are brought to faiths ſaluation: but yet as the miniſters of God, and ſuch as do nothing of themſelues, but God ſo working by them as it pleaſeth him to furniſh them with his gifts. Therefore we haue not to marke or conſider what miniſter it is that ſpeaketh, but what is ſpoken: and we muſt depend onely vpon him which ſpeaketh by his ſeruants.

pollos, but the ministers by whome yee beleeued, and as the Lord gaue to euery man?

6 [3] I haue planted, Apollos watered, but God gaue the increase.

7 So then, neither is he that planteth any thing, neither hee that watereth, but God that giueth the increase.

8 And he that planteth, and hee that watereth, are one: *and euery man shall receiue his wages according to his labour.

9 For wee together are Gods [c] labourers: ye are Gods husbandrie, and Gods building.

10 According to the grace of God giuen to me, as a skilfull master builder, I haue laide the foundation, and another buildeth thereon: [4] but let euery man take heed how he buildeth vpon it.

11 [5] For other foundation can no man lay, then that which is layed, which is Iesus Christ.

12 [6] And if any man builde on this foundation, golde, siluer, precious stones, timber, hay or stubble, 13 [7] Euery mans worke shall bee made manifest: for the day shall declare it, because it shalbe reuealed by the fire: and the fire shal trie euery mans worke of what sort it is.

14 If any mans worke, that he hath built vpon, abide, he shall receiue wages.

15 If any mans worke burne, hee shall lose, but [8] he shalbe saued himselfe: neuertheless yet as it were by the fire.

3 He beautifieth the former sentence, with two similitudes: first comparing the companie of the faithfull, to a field which God maketh fruitfull, when it is sowen and watered through the labour of his seruants: next, by comparing it to an house, which indeed the Lord buildeth, but by the hands of his workmen, some of whom, he vseth in laying the foundation, others in building of it vp. Now, both these similitudes, tend to this purpose, to shew that all things are whol[y] accomplished by Gods onely authoritie and might, so that we must onely haue an eye to him. Moreouer, although that God vseth some in the better part of the worke, we must not therefore contemne other, in respect of them, and much lesse may we diuide or set them apart, (as these factious men did) seeing that all of them labour in Gods businesse, and in such sort, that they serue to finish one selfe same worke, although by a diuers manner of working, in so much that they neede one anothers helpe. * Psalm. 62. 12. galath. 6. 5. c Seruing vnder him: Now they which serue vnder another, doe nothing of their owne strength, but as it is giuen them by grace, which grace maketh them fit to that seruice. Looke chapte. 15. 10. and 2. Cor. 3. 6. and all the increase that commeth by their labour, doth so proceed from God, that no part of the praise of it may be giuen to the vnder seruant. 4 Now he speaketh to the teachers themselues, which succeeded him in the Church of Corinth, and in their person to all that were after or shall be Pastours of Congregations, seeing that they succeed into the labour of the Apostles, which were planters and chiefe builders. Therefore he warneth them first, that they perswade not themselues that they may build after their owne fantasie, that is, that they may propound and set foorth any thing in the Church, either in matter, or in kinde of teaching, different from the Apostles which were the chief builders. 5 Moreouer, he sheweth what this foundation is, to wit, Christ Iesus, from which they may not turne away one iote in the building vp of this building. 6 Thirdly he sheweth, that they must take heede that the vpper part of the building be answerable to the foundation, that is, that admonitions, exhortations, and whatsoeuer perteineth to the edifying of the flocke, be answerable to the doctrine of Christ, as well in matter as in forme: which doctrine is compared to golde, siluer, and precious stones: of which matter, Esaias also and Iohn in the Reuelation builde the heauenly citie. And to these are opposite, wood, hay, stubble, that is to say, curious and vaine questions or decrees: and besides to be short, all that kinde of teaching which serueth to ostentation. For, false doctrines, whereof he speaketh not heere, are not saide properly to be built vpon this foundation, vnlesse peraduenture in shew only. 7 He testifieth, as indeede the truth is, that all are not good builders, no not some of them which stand vpon this one and onely foundation: but howsoeuer this worke of euill builders, saith he, stand for a season, yet shall it not alwayes deceiue, because that the light of the trueth appearing at length as day shall dissolue this darkenesse, and shew what it is. And as that stuffe is tried by the fire, whether it be good or not, so will God in his time by the touch of his spirit and word trie all buildings, and so shall it come to passe, that such as be found pure and sound, shal still continue so, to the praise of the workeman: but they that are otherwise, shal be consumed and vanish away, and so shall the workeman be frustrate of the hope of his labour, which pleased himselfe in a thing of naught. 8 Hee taketh not away hope of saluation from the vnfaithfull and foolish builders, which holde fast the foundation, of which sort were those Rhetoricians rather then Pastors of Corinth: but he addeth an exception, that they must notwithstanding suffer this triall of their worke, and also abide the losse of their vaine labours.

16 *[9] Knowe ye not that ye are the Temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?

17 If any man [f] destroy the Temple of God, him shall God destroy: for the Temple of God is holy, which ye are.

18 [10] Let no man deceiue himselfe. If any man amongst you seeme to bee wise in this world, let him be a foole, that he may be wise.

19 For the wisdome of this worlde is foolishnesse with God: for it is written, *He catcheth the wise in their owne craftinesse.

20 * And againe, The Lord knoweth that the thoughts of the wise be vaine.

21 [11] Therefore let no man [h] reioyce in men: for all things are [i] yours.

22 Whether it be Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the [12] world, or life, or death: whether they be things present, or things to come, euen all are yours, 23 And ye Christs, and Christ Gods.

* Chap. 6. 19. 2. cor. 6. 16.

9 Continuing still in the metaphor of building, he teacheth how this ambition is not onely vaine, but also sacrilegious: For he saith that the Church is as it were the temple of God, which God hath as it were consecrated vnto himselfe by his Spirit. Then turning himselfe to these ambitious men, he sheweth that they prophane the temple of God, because those parts wherin they please themselues so much, are to be reiected, as many pollutions of the holy doctrine of God, and the puritie of the Church. Which wickednes shal not be suffered vnpunished. f Defileth it and maketh it vncleane, being holy: and surely they do defile it, by Paul his iudgment, which by fleshly eloquence defile the puritie of the Gospel. 10 He concludeth by the contrary, that they professe pure wisdome in the Church of God, which refuse and cast away all those vanities of men: g if they be mocked of the world, it is sufficient for them that they be wise according to the wisedom of God, and so he wil haue them to be wise. * Iob 5. 13. g Bee they neuer so craftie, yet the Lord wil take them when he shall discouer the ir trecherie. * Psal. 44. 11. 11 He returneth to the proposition of the 2. verse, first warning the hearers, that henceforward they esteeme not as Lords, those whome God hath appointed to be Ministers and not Lords of their saluation: which thing they doe, that depend vpon men, and not vpon God that speaketh by them. h Please himselfe. i Helpes, appointed for your benefite. 12 Hee passeth from the persons to the things themselues, that his argument may be more forcible: yea he ascendeth from Christ to the Father, to shew that we rest our selues no not in Christ himself, in that that he is man, but because he carieth vs vp euen to the father, as Christ witnesseth of himselfe euery where, that he was sent of his Father, that by this band wee may be all knit with God himselfe.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Bringing in the definition of a true Apostle, 7 he sheweth that humilitie ought rather to bee an honour then a shame vnto him, 9 he bringeth in proofe, whereby it may euidently appeare, 10 that he neither had care of glory, nor of his bellie. 17 He commendeth Timothie.

LEt [1] a [a] man so thinke of vs, as of the Ministers of Christ, and disposers of the secrets of God:

2 [2] And as for the rest, it is required of the disposers, that euery man be found faithfull,

3 [3] As touching mee, I passe very little to be iudged of you, [4] or of mans [b] iudgement: no, [5] I iudge not mine owne selfe.

1 He concludeth the duetie of the hearers towards their Ministers that they esteem them not as Lords: and yet notwithstanding that they giue eare vnto them, as to them that are sent from Christ, sent I say to this ende and purpose, that they may receiue as it were at their hands, the treasure of saluation which is drawen out of the secrets of God. 2 Euery man. 2 Last of all, he warneth the Ministers, that they also behaue themselues not as Lords, but as faithfull seruants, because they must render an accompt of their stewardship vnto God. 3 Because in reprehending others, he set himself for an example, he vseth a preoccupation or preuenting of an obiection, and by using the grauitie of an Apostle, he sheweth that hee careth not for the censures iudgements that they haue of him, in that they esteemed him as a vile person, because he did not set forth himselfe as they did. And he bringeth good reasons why he was nothing moued with the iudgements which they had of him. 4 First, because that, that which men iudge in these cases of their owne braines, is no more to be accompted of, then when the vnlearned do iudge of wisdome. b Word for word, Day, after the maner of speech of the Cilicians. 5 Secondly, saieth he, how can you iudge howe much or how litle I am to be accompted of, seeing that I my selfe which knowe my selfe better then you doe, and which dare pronounce that I haue walked in my vocation with a good conscience, dare not yet notwithstanding challenge any thing to my selfe: for I knowe that I am not vnblameable, all this notwithstanding: much lesse therefore shoulde I please my selfe as you doe.

4 For I knowe nothing by my selfe, yet am I not thereby iustified: but he that iudgeth me, is the c Lord.

5 6 Therefore * iudge nothing before the time, vntill the Lord come, who will lighten things that are hid in darkenesse, and make the counsels of the hearts manifest: and then shal euery man haue d praise of God.

6 7 Now these things, brethren, I haue figuratiuely applied vnto mine owne selfe and Apollos, for your sakes, that yee might learne e by vs, that no man presume aboue that which is written, that one swell not against another for any mans cause.

7 8 For who separateth thee? and what hast thou, that thou hast not receiued? if thou hast receiued it, why reioycest thou, as though f thou hadst not receiued it?

8 9 Now yee are full: nowe yee are made rich: ye reigne as kings without vs, & I would to God ye did reigne, that we also might reigne with you.

9 For I thinke that God hath set forth vs the last Apostles, as men appointed to death: for wee are made a g gasing stocke vnto the world, and to the Angels, and to men.

10 We are fooles for Christs sake, and ye are wise in Christ: we are weake, and ye are strong: ye are honourable, and we are despised.

11 Vnto this houre we both hunger, and thirst, and are naked, and are buffeted, and haue no certaine dwelling place, 12 * And labour, working with our owne hands: we are reuiled, and yet we blesse: we are persecuted, and suffer it.

13 * We are euil spoken of, and we pray: we are made as the h filth of the world, the offscowring of all things, vnto this time.

14 10 I write not these things to shame you, but as my beloued children I admonish you.

15 For though ye haue ten thousand instructers in Christ, yet haue ye not many fathers: for in Christ Iesus I haue begotten you through the Gospel.

16 Wherefore, I pray you be ye followers of me.

17 For this cause haue I sent vnto you, Timotheus, which is my beloued sonne, and faithfull in the Lord, which shall put you in remembrance of my i wayes in Christ as I teach euery where in euery Church.

18 11 Some are puffed vp as though I would not come vnto you.

19 But I will come to you shortly, * if the Lord will, and will know, not the k words of them which are puffed vp, but the power.

20 For the kingdom of God is not in word, but in power.

21 12 What will ye? shal I come vnto you with a rod, or in loue, and in the l spirit of meekenesse?

c I permit my selfe to the Lords iudgement.

6 A third reason proceeding of a conclusion as it were out of the former reasons. It is Gods office to esteeme euery man according to his value, because he knoweth the secrets of the heart, which men for the most part are ignorant of. Therefore this iudgement pertaineth not to you.

* Matth.7.1.

d One could not be praised aboue the rest, but the other should be blamed: and he mentioneth praise rather then dispraise, for that the beginning of this lore was this, that they gaue more to some men, then meet was.

7 Hauing reiected their iudgement, he setteth forth himselfe againe as a singular example of modestie, as one which concealing in this Epistle those factious teachers names, doubted not to put downe his owne name and Apollos in their place, and tooke vpon him, as it were their shame: so farre was he from preferring himselfe to any.

e By our example, which chose rather to take other mens faults vpon vs, then to carpe any by name.

8 He threweth a good meanes to driue pride: first if thou consider how things came: secondly thou exemptest thy selfe out of the number of others, seeing thou art a man thy selfe: againe, if thou consider that although thou haue some thing more then other men haue, yet thou hast it not but by Gods bountifulnes. And what wise man is he that will brag of anothers goodnesse, and that against God?

f There is nothing then in vs of nature, that is worthie of commendation: but all that we haue, we haue it of grace, which the Pelagians and halfe Pelagians will not confesse.

9 He discendeth to a most graue mock, to cause those ambitious men to blush euen against their wils.

CHAP. V.

1 That they haue winked at him who cõmitted incest with his mother in Law, 2. 6. hee sheweth should cause them rather to be ashamed, then to reioyce: 10 Such kinde of wickednesse is left to be punished with excommunication, 12 least other be infected with it.

IT 1 is heard certeinly that there is fornication among you: and such fornication as is not once named among the Gentiles, that one should haue his fathers wife.

2 2 And ye are puffed vp and haue not rather sorowed, that hee which hath done this deed, might be put from among you.

3 3 For I verily as absent in bodie, but present in a spirite, haue determined alreadie as though I were present, that he that hath thus done this thing,

4 When ye are gathered together, and my spirite, in the b Name of our Lorde Iesus Christ, that such one, I say, 4 by the power of our Lord Iesus Christ,

5 5 Be c deliuered vnto Satan, for the d destruction of the flesh, that the spirite may be saued in the day of the Lord Iesus.

6 7 Your reioycing d is not good: knowe ye not that a litle leauen, leaueneth the whole lumpe?

7 8 Purge out therefore the olde leauen, that yee may bee a newe e lumpe, as ye are vn-

1 They are greatly to be reprehended which by suffering of wickednesse, let forth the Church of God to be mocked and scorned of the infidels.

2 There are none more proud then they 9 least know themselues.

3 Excommunication ought not to be committed to one mans power, but must be done by the authoritie of the whole Congregation, after the matter is diligently examined.

a In minde, thought and will.

b Calling vpon Christ his name.

4 There is no doubt but that iudgement is remitted in heauen, wherein Christ himselfe sitteth as Iudge.

5 The excommunicate is deliuered to the power of Satan, in that that he is cast out of the house of God.

c What it is to be deliuered to Satan, 1 Lord himself declareth when he saith, Let him be vnto thee as an Heathen & Publicane, Matt. 18. 17. that is to say, to be disfranchised and put out of the right & libertie of the citie of Christ, which is the Church, without which Satan is lord & master.

6 The end of excommunication is not to cast away the excommunicate, that he should vtterly perish, but that he may be saued, to wit, that by this meanes his flesh may be tamed, that he may learne to liue to the Spirit.

7 Another end of excommunication is, that other be not infected, and therefore it must of necessitie be retained in the Church that the one be not infected by the other.

d Is naught, and not grounded vpon good reason, as though you were excellent, and yet there is such wickednesse found amongst you.

8 By alluding to the ceremonie of the Passeouer, he exhorteth them to cast out that vncleane person from amongst them. In times past, saith he, it was not lawfull for them which did celebrate the Passeouer, to eate leauened bread: Insomuch that he was holden as vncleane and vnworthie to eate the Passeouer, whosoeuer had but tasted of leauen. Now we all our whole life must be as it were 9 feast of vnleauened bread, wherein all they that are partakers of that immaculate Lambe which is slaine, must cast out both of themselues, and also out of their houses and Congregations all impuritie.

e By lump he meaneth the whole body of the Church, euery member whereof must be vnleauened bread, that is, be renewed in Spirit, by plucking away the old corruption.

leauened: for Christ our f Passeouer is sacrificed for vs.

8 Therfore let vs keep the feast, not with old leauen, neither in the leauen of maliciousnesse, and wickednesse: but with the vnleauened bread of sincerity and trueth.

9 g I wrote vnto you in an Epistle, that ye should not company together with fornicators,

10 And not h altogether with the fornicators of this worlde, or with the couetous, or with extortioners, or with idolaters: for then ye must go out of the worlde.

11 But now I haue written vnto you, that ye companie not together: if any that is called a brother, be a fornicator, or couetous, or an Idolater, or a railer, or a drunkard, or an extortioner, with such one eate not.

12 10 For what haue I to do, to iudge them also which are without? doe ye not iudge them which are within?

13 But God iudgeth them that are without: Put away therefore from among your selues that wicked man.

1 The lambe of the Passeouer. 2 Let vs leade our whole life, as it were a continual feast, honestly, and vprightly. 3 Now he speaketh more generally: and that which he spake before of the incestuous person, he sheweth that it pertaineth to others, which are knowen to bee wicked, and such as through their naughtie life are a slander to the Church, which ought also by lawfull order be cast out of the communitie of the Church. And making mention of eating of meat, either he meaneth those feasts of loue wherein the Supper of the Lord was receiued, or els their common diete and maner of life: which is rightly to be taken, lest any man should thinke, that either matrimonie were broken by excommunication, or such dueties hindered and cut off thereby, as we owe one to another: children to their parents, subiects to their rulers, seruants to their masters, and neigbour to neighbour to winne one another vnto God. h If you should vtterly abstaine from such mens companie, you should go out of the world: therefore I speake of them, which are in the very bosome of the Church, which must be called home by discipline, and not of them which are without, with whome you must labour by all meanes possible, to bring them to Christ. 10 Such as are false brethren, ought to be cast out of the Congregation: as for them which are without, they must bee left to the iudgement of God.

CHAP. VI.

1 He inueyeth against their contentions in lawe matters, 6 wherwith they vexed one another vnder iudges that were infidels to the reproch of the Gospel, 9 and then sharply threatneth fornication.

DAre 1 a any of you, hauing businesse against another, bee iudged b vnder the vniust, 2 and not vnder the Saints?

2 3 Do ye not know, that the Saints shall iudge the worlde? If the worlde then shalbe iudged by you, are ye vnworthy to iudge the smallest matters?

3 Know ye not that we shal iudge the Angels? how much more, things that perteine to this life?

4 4 If then ye haue c iudgements of things perteining to this life, set vp them which are d least esteemed in the Churche.

5 5 I speake it to your shame. Is it so that there is not a wise man among you? no not one, that can iudge betweene his brethren?

6 But a brother goeth to law with a brother, and that vnder the infidels.

7 6 Now therfore there is altogether e infirmity in you, in that ye go to law one with another: 7 * why rather suffer ye not wrong? why rather susteine ye not harme?

8 * Nay, ye your selues doe wrong, and do harme, and that to your brethren.

9 Know ye not that the vnrighteous shall not inherite the kingdome of God? 8 Be not deceiued: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor wantons, nor buggerers, 10 Nor theeues, nor couetous, nor drunkards, nor railers, nor extortioners shal inherite the kingdom of God.

11 And such were * some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are iustified in the f Name of the Lord Iesus, and by the spirit of our God.

12 ¶ * 9 All things are lawful vnto me, but all things are not profitable. I may doe all things, but I will not be brought vnder the h power of any thing.

13 10 Meates are ordeined for the bellie, and the bellie for the meats: but God shall destroy both it and them. Now the body is not for fornication, but for the Lord, and the Lord for the body.

14 And God hath also raised vp the Lorde, and * shal raise vs vp by his power.

2 The third question is of ciuil iudgements. Whether it be lawful for one faithfull to draw another faithful before the iudgement seate of an infidel? He answereth that it is not lawfull for offence sake, for it is not euil of it selfe. a As if he said, Are you become so impudent, that you are not ashamed to make the Gospel a laughing stocke to prophane men? b Before the vniust. 2 He addeth that he doth not forbid that one neighbour may goe to law with another if neede so require, but yet vnder holy iudges. 3 He gathereth by a comparison that the faithfull cannot seeke to infidels to be iudged, without great iniurie done to the Saints, seeing that God himselfe wil make the Saints iudges of the world and of the deuils, with his sonne Christ: much more ought they to iudge these light and small causes which may bee by equitie, and good conscience determined. 4 The conclusion, wherein he prescribeth a remedie for this mischiefe: to wit, if they end their priuate affaires betweene themselues by chosen abiters out of the Church: for which matter and purpose, the least of you, saith he, is sufficient. Therefore he condemneth not iudgement seates, but sheweth what is expedient for the circumstance of the time, and that without any diminishing of the right of the Magistrate: for he speaketh not of iudgements, which are practised betwixt the faithfull and the infidels, neither of publike iudgements, but of controuersies which may bee ended by priuate arbiters. c Courts and places of iudgement. d Euen the most abiect among you.

5 He applieth the generall proposition to a particular, allwaies calling the backe to this to take away from them that false opinion of their owne excellencie from whence all this mischiefes sprang. 6 Now he goeth further also, and although by geuing them priuate arbiters out of the congregation of the faithfull, he doe not simply condemne, but rather establish priuate iudgements, so that they be exercised without offence, yet he sheweth that if they were such as they ought to be, and as it were to be wished, they should not need to vse that remedie neither. e A weakenes of minde which is saide to be in them, that suffer themselues to be ouercome of their lusts, and it is a fault that spareth greatly from temperancie and moderation: so that he nippeth them which could not put vp an iniurie done vnto them. 7 This pertaineth chiefly to the other part of the reprehension, to wit, that they went to Lawe euen vnder Infidels, whereas they should rather haue susteined any losse, then to haue giuen that offence. But yet this is generally true, that we ought rather depart frō our right, then trie the vttermost of the Lawe hastily, and vpon an affection to reuenge an iniurie. But the Corinthians cared for neither, and therfore he be saith that they must repent, vnlesse they will be shut out of the inheritance of God. * Matth. 5.39 luke 6.29. rom. 12.19. * 1. Thes. 4.6. 8 Now he prepareth himselfe to passe ouer to the fourth Treatise of this Epistle, which concerneth matters indifferent, debating this matter first, how men may well vse women or not: which question hath three branches, fornication, matrimonie, and a single life. As for fornication, he vtterly condemneth it. And marriage he commandeth to some, as a good and necessarie remedie for them, to other hee leaueth it free: And other some he disswadeth from it, not as vnlawfull, but as discommodious, and that not without exception. As for singlenesse of life (vnder which also I comprehend virginitie) he inioyneth it to no man: yet he perswadeth men vnto it, but not for it selfe, but for another respect, neither all men, nor without exception. And being about to speake against fornication, he beginneth with a generall reprehension of those vices, wherewith that riche and riotous Citie was all abounder: warning and teaching them earnestly, that repentaunce is vnseparably ioyned with forgiuenesse of sinnes, and sanctification with iustification. * Tit. 3.5. f In Iesus. * Chap. 10.23. 9 Secondly, he sheweth that the Corinthians doe simply offend in matters indifferent: First, because they abused them: next, because they vsed indifferent things, without any discretion, seeing the vse of them ought to be brought to the rule of charitie: and that hee doeth not vse them aright, which immoderately abuseth them, and so becommeth a slaue vnto them. g Whatsoeuer: but this generall worde must be restrained to things that are indifferent. h He is in subiection to things that are indifferent, whatsoeuer he be that thinketh he may not be without them, which is a flattering kinde of seruice, vnder a colour of libertie, which sealeth vpon such men. 10 Secondarily, because they counted many things for indifferent, which were of themselues vnlawfull, as fornication, which they numbred amongst meere naturall and lawfull desires, as well as meate and drinke: Therefore the Apostle sheweth that they are vtterly vnlike: for meates saith he, were made for the necessarie vse of mans life which is not perpetuall: For both meates, and all this maner of nourishing, are quickly abolished. But we must not so thinke of the vnclennesse of fornication, for which the body is not made, but on the contrarie side is ordeined to purenes, as appeareth by this, that it is consecrated to Christ, euen as Christ also is giuen vs of his Father, to quicken our bodies with that vertue, wherewith he also rose againe. * Rom. 6.5.

11 A declaration of the former argument by contraries, and the applying of it.
12 A proofe of the same argument: A harlot and Christ are cleane contrary, so are the flesh and the Spirite: therefore he that is one with an harlot, (which is done by carnall copulation of their bodies) cannot be one with Christ, which unitie is pure and spirituall.
*Gene.2.24. matth.19.5. marke 10.8. ephes.5.31.
i Moses doeth not speake these words of fornication, but of mariage: but seeing that fornication is the corruption of mariage, and both of them is a carnall and fleshly copulation, we cannot say that the Apostle abuseth his testimonie. Againe, Moses hath not this word (Two) but it is very well expressed both here and in Matthew 19.5. because he speaketh onely but of man and wife: whereupon the opinion of them that vouch it to be lawful to haue many wiues, is beaten downe: for he that companieth with many, is sundred as it were into many partes.
13 Another argument why fornication is to be eschewed, because it defileth the body with a peculiar kind of filthinesse. 14 The third argument: Because a fornicatour is sacrilegious, for that our bodies are consecrate to God. *Chap.3.17. 2.corinth.6.16. 15 The fourth argument: Because we are not our owne men, to giue our selues to any other, much lesse to Satan and the flesh, seeing that God himselfe hath bought vs, and that with a great price, to the end that both in body and soule, we should serue to his glory. *Chap.7.23. 1.pet.1.18.

15 [11] Knowe ye not, that your bodies are the members of Christ? shall I then take the members of Christ, and make them the members of an harlot? God forbid.

16 [12] Doe ye not know, that he which coupleth himselfe with an harlot, is one body? *for [i] two, saith he, shall be one flesh.

17 But he that is ioyned vnto the Lord is one spirit.

18 [13] Flee fornication: euery sinne that a man doeth, is without the body: but he that committeth fornication, sinneth against his owne body.

19 [14] Know ye not, that *your body is the temple of the holy Ghost, which is in you, whom ye haue of God? and [15] ye are not your owne.

20 *For ye are bought for a price: therefore glorifie God in your body, and in your spirit: for they are Gods.

CHAP. VII.

1 Entreating here of mariage, 4 which is a remedie against fornication, 10 and may not be broken. 18. 20 he willeth euery man to liue contented with his lot. 25 He sheweth what the end of virginitie should be, 35 and who ought to marrie.

1 He teacheth concerning mariage, that although a single life hath his commodities, which he will declare afterwards yet that mariage is necessarie for the auoiding of fornication: but that neither one man may haue many wiues, nor any wife many husbands.
a Touching those matters, whereof you wrote vnto me.
b Commodious and (as we say) expedient. For mariage bringeth many griefs with it, and that by reason of the corruption of our first estate. *1.Pe.3.7. 2 Secondly, he sheweth that the parties maried, must with singular affection, entirely loue one the other. c This word (due) containeth all kind of beneuolence, though he speake more of one sort then of the other, in that that followeth. 3 Thirdly, he warneth them, that they are each in others power, as touching the body, so that you may not defraud one another. 4 He adderh an exception, vnlesse the one abstaine from the other by mutuall consent, that they may the better giue themselues to prayer, wherein notwithstanding, he warneth them to consider what is expedient, least by this long breaking off as it were from mariage, they be stirred vp to incontinencie. d Doe nothing els, NOwe [1] concerning the things [a] whereof ye wrote vnto me, It were [b] good for a man not to touch a woman.

2 Neuertheless, to auoide fornication, let euery man haue his wife, and let euery woman haue her owne husband.

3 *[2] Let the husband giue vnto the wife [c] due beneuolence, and likewise also the wife vnto the husband.

4 [3] The wife hath not the power of her owne body, but the husband: and likewise also the husband hath not the power of his owne body, but the wife.

5 Defraud not one another, [4] except it be with consent for a time, that ye may [d] giue your selues to fasting and prayer, and againe come together that Satan tempt you not for your incontinencie.

6 [5] But I speake this by permission, not by commandement.

7 For I [e] would that all men were euen as I my selfe am: but euery man hath his proper gift of God, one after this maner, and another after that.

8 [6] Therefore I say vnto the [f] vnmaried, and vnto the widowes, It is good for them if they abide euen as I doe.

9 But if they cannot abstaine, let them marrie: for it is better to marrie then to [g] burne.

10 *[7] And vnto the married, I command, not I, but the Lord, Let not the wife depart from her husband.

11 But and if she depart, let her remaine vnmaried, or be reconciled vnto her husband, and let not the husband put away his wife.

12 [8] But to the remnant I speake, and not the Lord, If any brother haue a wife, that beleeueth not, if she be content to dwell with him, let him not forsake her.

13 And the woman which hath an husband that beleeueth not, if he be content to dwell with her, let her not forsake him.

14 [9] For the vnbeleeuing husbande is [h] sanctified to the [i] wife, and the vnbeleeuing wife is sanctified to the [k] husband, else were your children vncleane: but nowe are they [l] holy.

15 [10] But if the vnbeleeuing depart, let him depart: a brother or a sister is not in subiection in [m] such things: [11] but God hath called vs in peace.

16 For what knowest thou, O wife, whether thou shalt saue thine husband? Or what knowest thou, O man, whether thou shalt saue thy wife?

17 [12] But as God hath distributed to euery man, as the Lord hath called euery one, so let him walke: and so ordeine I in all the churches.

5 Fiftly, he teacheth that mariage is not simply necessarie for all men, but for them which haue not the gift of continencie, and this gift is by a peculiar grace of God.
e I wish.
6 Sixtly, he giueth the selfe same admonition touching the second mariage, to wit, that a single life is to be allowed, but for such as haue the gift of continencie: otherwise they ought to marrie againe, that their conscience may be at peace.
f This whole place is flat against them which condemne second mariages.
g So to burne with lust, that either the will yeeldeth to the temptation, or els we cannot call vpon God with a quiet conscience.
*Matth.5.32. and 19.9. mark.10.11,12, luke 16.18.
7 Seuenthly, he forbiddeth contentions and publishing of diuorces (for he speaketh not here of the fault of whoredome, which was then death euen by the Law of the Romanes also) whereby he affirmeth that the band of mariage is not dissolued, and that from Christ his mouth. 8 Eightly, he affirmeth, that those mariages which are already contracted betweene a faithfull, and an vnfaithfull or Infidel, are firme: so that the faithfull may not forsake the vnfaithfull. 9 He answereth an obiection: But the faithfull is defiled by the societie of the vnfaithfull. The Apostle denieth that, and prooueth that the faithfull man with good conscience may vse the vessell of his vnfaithfull wife, by this, that their children which are borne of them, are accompted holy (that is, contained within the promise) for to is said to all the faithfull, I will be thy God, and the God of thy seede. h The godlinesse of the wife is of more force, to cause their coupling together to be accompted holy, then the infidelitie of the husband is, to prophane the mariage.
i The Infidel is not sanctified or made holy in his owne person, but in respect of his wife, he is sanctified to her. k To the faithfull husband. l This place destroyeth the opinion of them, that would not haue children to be baptized, and their opinion also, that make Baptisme the very cause of saluation. For the children of the faithfull are holy, by vertue of the couenant, euen before Baptisme, and Baptisme is added as the seale of that holinesse. 10 He answereth to a question: what if the vnfaithfull forsake the faithfull? then is the faithfull free, saith he, because he is forsaken of the vnfaithfull. m When any such thing falleth out. 11 Least any man vpon pretence of this libertie should giue occasion to the vnfaithfull to depart, hee giueth to vnderstand, that mariage contracted with an Infidell, ought peaceably to bee kept, that if it be possible the Infidell may be wonne to the faith. 12 Taking occasion by that which he saide of the bandage and libertie of matrimonie, he digresseth to a generall doctrine concerning the outwarde state and condition of mans life, as circumcision and uncircumcision, seruitude and libertie: warning euery man generally to liue with a contented minde in the Lorde, what state or condition so euer hee be in, because, that those outward things, as to be circumcised or uncircumcised, to be bond or free, are not of the substance (as they terme it) of the kingdome of Heauen.

ry man, as the Lorde hath [n] called euery one, so let him walke: and so ordaine I in all Churches.

18 [13] Is any man called being circumcised? let him not [o] gather his vncircumcision: is any called vncircumcised? let him not be circumcised.

19 Circumcision is nothing, and vncircumcision is nothing, but the keeping of the commandements of God.

20 * Let euery man abide in the same vocation wherein he was called.

21 Art thou called being a seruant? [p] care not for it: but if yet thou mayest be free, vse it rather.

22 For he that is called in the [q] Lord, being a seruant, is the Lords freeman: likewise also hee that is called being free, is Christes seruant.

23 * [14] Ye are bought with a price: be not the seruants of men.

24 [15] Brethren, let euery man, wherein he was called, therein abide with [r] God.

25 [16] Nowe concerning virgines, I haue no commaundement of the Lorde: but I giue mine [s] aduise, as [t] one that hath obteined mercie of the Lord to be faithfull.

26 I suppose then [u] this to be good for the [x] present necessitie: I meane that it is good for a man so to be.

27 Art thou bound vnto a wife? seeke not to be loosed: art thou loosed from a wife? seeke not a wife.

28 But if thou takest a wife, thou sinnest not: and if a virgine marrie, she sinneth not: neuertheless, such shall haue trouble in the [y] flesh: but I [z] spare you.

29 And this I say, brethren, because the time is [a] short, hereafter that both they which haue wiues, be as though they had none:

30 And they that [b] weepe, as though they weept not: and they that reioyce, as though they reioyced not: and they that buy, as though they possessed not:

31 And they that vse this [c] worlde, as though they vsed it not: for the [d] fashion of this worlde goeth away.

32 And I would haue you without care. The vnmaried careth for the things of the Lord, howe he may please the Lord.

33 But he that is maried, [e] careth for the things of ỹ worlde, how he may please his wife, 34 There is difference also betweene a virgine and a wife: the vnmaried woman careth for the things of the Lord, that she may be holy, both in body and in [f] spirite: but she that is maried, careth for the things of the worlde, how she may please her husband.

35 And this I speake for your owne [g] commoditie, not to tangle you in a snare, but that ye followe that, which is honest, and that ye may cleaue fast vnto the Lord without separation.

36 [17] But if any man thinke that it is vncomely for his virgine, if she passe the flowre of her age, and neede so require, let him doe what he will, he [h] sinneth not: let them be maried.

37 Neuertheless, he that standeth firme in his [i] heart, that he hath no [k] neede, but hath power ouer his owne will, and hath so decreed in his heart, that he will keepe his virgine, he doeth well.

38 So then he that giueth her to mariage, doeth well, but he that giueth her not to marage, doth [l] better.

39 [18] The wife is bound by the [m] Lawe, as long as her husband * liueth: but if her husband be dead, she is at libertie to marie with whom she will, onely in the [n] Lord.

40 But she is more blessed, if she so abide in my iudgement: * and I thinke that I haue also the Spirit of God.

n Hath bound him to a certaine kinde of life.

13 Notwithstanding he giueth vs to vnderstand, that in these examples all are not of like sort: because that circumcision is not simply of it selfe to be desired, but such as are bound may desire to be free. Therefore here in onely they are equall, that the kingdom of God consisteth not in them, and therefore these are no hinderance to obey God.

o He is said to gather his vncircumcision, who by the helpe of a Chirurgian, recouereth an vpper skinne: which is done by drawing the skinne with an instrument, to make it to couer the nut. Celsus in his 7. booke and 25. Chap.

* Chap. 6. 20. 1. pet. 18. 19.

14 He sheweth the reason of the vnlikenesse, because that he that desireth to be circumcised, maketh himselfe subiect to mans tradition, and not to God. And this may be much more vnderstood of superstitions, which some doe foolishly accompt for things indifferent.

15 A repetition of the generall doctrine.

r So purely and from the heart, that your doings may be approoued before God.

16 He enioyneth virginitie to no man, yet he perswadeth and praiseth it for an other respect, to wit, both for the necessitie of the present time, because the faithfull could scarce abide in any place, and vse the commodities of this present life, and therefore such as were not troubled with families, might be the readier: and also for the cares of this life, which mariage draweth with it of necessitie, so that they cannot but haue their mindes distracted: and this hath place in women especially.

s The circumstances considered, this I counsell you.

t It is I that speake this which I am minded to speake: and the trueth is, I am a man, but yet worthy credit, for I haue obteined of the Lord to be such an one.

u To remaine a virgine.

x For the necessitie which ỹ Saints are dayly subiect vnto, who are cõtinually tossed vp & downe, so that their estate may seeme most vnfit for mariage, were it not that the weakenes of ỹ flesh inforced them to it.

y By the (flesh) he vnderstandeth what things soeuer belong to this present life, for mariage bringeth with it many discommodities: so that he bĕdeth more to a sole life, not because it is a seruice more agreable to God then mariage is, but for those discõmodities, which (if it were possible) he would wish al men to be void of, that they might giue themselues to God onely.

z I would your weakenes were prouided for.

e They that are maried, haue their wits drawn hither and thither and therefore if any man haue the gift of continencie, it is more commodious for him to liue alone: but they that are maried may care for the things of the Lord, also Clem. Strom. 3.

g He meaneth that he will enforce no man, either to marie, or not to marie, but to shewhim barely what kind of life is most commodious.

17 Note he turneth himself to the parents, in whose power and authoritie their children are, warning them that accepting to the former doctrine they consider what is meete and conuenient for their children, that they neither denie them of the necessarie remedie against incontinencie, nor constraine them to marage, whereas neither their will both leade them, nor any necessitie vrgeth them. And against hee praiseth virginitie, but of it selfe, and not in all.

h He doeth well: for so hee expoundeth that verse 38.

i Resolued himselfe.

k That the weakenesse of his daughter inforceth him not, or any other matter, but that he may safely keepe her a virgine still.

l Prouideth more commodiously for his children. & that not simply, but by reason of such conditions as are before mentioned.

18 That which he spake of a widower, he speaketh nowe of a widow, to wit, that she may marie againe, so that she doe it in the feare of God: and yet he dissembleth not, but saith, that if she remaine still a widowe, she shall be vexed with many cares.

CHAP. VIII.

1 From this place vnto the end of the tenth Chapter, he willeth them not to be at the Gentiles prophane bankets, 18 He restraineth the abuse of Christian libertie, 11 and sheweth that knowledge must be tempered with charitie.

AND [1] as touching things sacrificed vnto idoles, wee knowe that wee [a] all haue

1 He entreth to entreate of another kinde of things indifferent, to wit, of things offered to idoles, or the vse of flesh so offered and sacrificed. And first of all he remoueth all those things which the Corinthians pretended in vsing things offered to idoles without any respect. First of all they affirmed that this difference of meates was for vnskilfull men, but as for them, they knew well enough the benefite of Christ, which causeth all these things to be cleane to them that are cleane. Be it so saith Paul: be it that we are all sufficiently instructed in the knowledge of Christ. I say notwithstanding that we must not simply rest in this knowledge. The reason is, that vnlesse our knowledge be tempered with charity, it doeth not onely not auaile, but also doth much hurt, because it is the mistres of pride: nay it doeth not so much as deserue the name of godly knowledge, if it be separate from the loue of God, and therefore from the loue of our neighbour.

a This generall word is to be abbridged as appeareth, verse 7. for there is a kinde of taunt in it, as we way perceiue by the next verse.

knowledge:

knowledge: knowledge [b] puffeth vp, but loue [c] edifieth.

2 Nowe, if any man thinke that he knoweth any thing, he knoweth nothing yet as he ought to know.

3 But if any man loue God, the same is knowen of him.

4 [2] Concerning therefore the eating of things sacrificed vnto [d] idoles, we knowe that an idole is [e] nothing in the woꝛld, and that there is none other God but one.

5 Foꝛ though there be that are called gods, whether in heauen, oꝛ in earth (as there be many gods, and many loꝛds)

6 Yet vnto vs there is but one God, which is that Father, [f] of whom are all things, and we [g] in him: and [*h] one Loꝛd Iesus Chꝛist, [i] by whom are all things, and we by him.

7 [3] But euery man hath not that knowledge: foꝛ [4] many hauing [k] conscience of the idole, vntill this houre, eate as a thing sacrificed vnto the idole, and so their conscience being weake, is defiled.

8 [5] But meate maketh vs not acceptable to God, foꝛ neither if wee eate, haue wee the moꝛe: neither if wee eate not, haue we the lesse.

9 But take heede least by any meanes this power of yours be an occasion of falling, to them that are weake.

10 [6] Foꝛ if any man see thee which hast knowledge, sit at table in the idoles temple, shall not the conscience of him which is weake, be boldened to eate those things, which are sacrificed to idoles?

11 [7] And through thy knowledge shall the [*] weake bꝛother perish, foꝛ whom Chꝛist died.

12 [8] Nowe when ye sinne so against the bꝛethren, and wound their weake conscience, ye sinne against Chꝛist.

13 [*9] Wherefore if meate offend my bꝛother, I will eate no flesh while the woꝛld standeth, that I may not offend my bꝛother.

b Ministreth occasion of vanitie and pride: because it is voide of charitie.

c Instructeth our neighbour.

2 The application of that answere to things offered to idoles: I graunt, saith he, that an idole is in deede a vaine imagination, and that there is but one God and Loꝛd, and therefore that meate can not be made either holy oꝛ prophane by the idole: but it followeth not therefore that a man may without respect eate meates as any other.

d This word (Idole) in this place is taken for an image which is made to represent some godhead, that worship might be giuen vnto it: whereupon came the word (Idolatrie) that is to say, Image seruice.

e Is a vaine dreame.

f When the Father is distinguished from the Sonne, he is named the beginning of al things.

g We haue our being in him.

*Iohn 13.13. chapter 12.3.

h But as the father is called Lord, so is the Sonne God: therefore this word (One) doeth not respect the persons, but the natures.

i This word (By) doeth not signifie the instrumentall cause, but the efficient: For the Father and the Sonne worke together, which is not so to be taken, that we make two causes, seeing they haue both but one nature, though they be distinct persons.

3 The reason why that followeth not, is this: because there are many men which doe not know that which you know. Nowe the iudgements of outward things depend not onely vpon your conscience, but vpon the conscience of them that behold you, and therefore your actions must be applied not onely to your knowledge, but also to the ignorance of your bꝛethren.

4 An applying of the reason: There are many which cannot eate of things offered to idoles, but with a wauering conscience, because they thinke them to be vncleane: therefore if by thy example they enterprise to doe that which inwardly they thinke displeaseth God, their conscience is defiled with this eating, and thou hast beene the occasion of this mischiefe.

k By conscience of the idole, he meaneth the secret iudgement that they had within them selues, whereby they thought all things vncleane, that were offered ro idoles, and therefore they could not vse them with good conscience. For this force hath conscience, that if it be good, it maketh things indifferent good, & if it be euil, it maketh them euill.

5 A preuenting of an obiection: Why then, shal we therefore be depriued of our libertie? Nay (saith the Apostle, you shall lose no part of Christianitie although you abstaine foꝛ your bꝛethrens sake, as also if you receiue the meate, it maketh you no whit the moꝛe holy, foꝛ our commendation before God consisteth not in meates: but to vse our libertie with offence of our bꝛethren, is an abuse of libertie, the true vse whereof is cleane contrary, to wit, so to vse it, as in vsing of it we haue consideration of our weake bꝛethren.

6 Another plainer application of the same reason, propounding the example of the sitting downe at the table in the idoles temple, which thing the Corinthians did euil accompt of among things indifferent, because it is simply forbidden foꝛ the circumstance of the place, although offence doe cease, as it shall be declared in this place.

7 An amplification of the argument taken both of comparison and contraries: Thou wretched man, saith he, pleasing thy selfe with thy knowledge which in deede is none (foꝛ if thou hadst true knowledge, thou wouldest not sit downe to meate in an idoles temple) shalt thou destroy thy bꝛother hardening his weake conscience by this example to doe euill, foꝛ whose saluation Chꝛist himselfe hath died? * Rom. 14.15.

8 An other amplification. Such offending of our weake bꝛethren, redoundeth vnto Chꝛist, and therefore let not these men thinke that they haue to doe onely with their bꝛethren. * Rom. 14.21.

9 The conclusion, which Paul conceiueth in his owne person, that he might not seeme to exact that of other, which he will not be first subiect vnto himselfe. I had rather (saith he) abstaine foꝛ euer from all kind of flesh, then giue occasion of sinne to any of my bꝛethren, much lesse would I refuse in any certaine place oꝛ time foꝛ my bꝛothers sake not to eate flesh offered to idoles.

CHAP. IX.

1 He declareth, that from the libertie which the Lord gaue him, 15 he willingly abstained, 18. 22 least in things indifferent hee should offend any. 24 Hee sheweth that our life is like vnto a race.

AM [1] I not an Apostle? am I not free? [2] haue I not seene Iesus Chꝛist our Loꝛd? are ye not my woꝛke [a] in the Loꝛd?

2 If I be not an Apostle vnto other, yet doubtles I am vnto you: foꝛ ye are the [b] seale of mine Apostleship in the Loꝛd.

3 [3] My defence to them that [c] examine me, is this,

4 [4] Haue we not power to [d] eate and to dꝛinke?

5 Oꝛ haue we not power to leade about a wife being a [e] sister, as well as the rest of the Apostles, and as the bꝛethren of the Loꝛd, and Cephas?

6 Oꝛ I onely and Barnabas, haue not we power [f] not to woꝛke?

7 [5] Who [g] goeth a warfare any time at his owne cost? who planteth a vineyard, and eateth not of the fruite thereof? oꝛ who feedeth a flocke, and eateth not of the milke of the flocke?

8 [6] Say I these things [h] according to man? saith not the Lawe the same also?

9 Foꝛ it is written in the Law of Moses, *Thou shalt not muzzell the mouth of the oꝛe that treadeth out the coꝛne: doeth God take care [i] foꝛ oxen?

10 Either saieth hee it not altogether foꝛ our sakes? Foꝛ our sakes no doubt it is written,

1 Before hee proceedeth any further in his propoled matter of things offered to idoles, he would shewe the cause of all this mischiefe, and also take it away: to wit, that the Corinthians thought themselues not bound to depart from a iote of their libertie foꝛ any mans pleasure. Therefore he propoundeth himselfe foꝛ an example, and that in a matter almost necessarie. And yet he speaketh seuerally of both, but first of his owne person. If (saith he) you alleage foꝛ your selues that you are free, and therefore will vse your libertie, am I not also free, seeing I am an Apostle?

a By proouing his Apostleship by the effects, in that that he was appointed of Chꝛist himselfe, and the authoꝛitie of his function was sufficiently confirmed to him amongest them by their conuersion. And all these things he setteth before their eyes, to make them ashamed foꝛ that they would not in the least wise that might be, debase themselues foꝛ the weakes sake, whereas the Apostle himselfe did all that he could to winne them to God, when they were vtterly reprobate and without God.

a By the Lorde.

b As a seale whereby it appeareth sufficiently that God is the authour of my Apostleship.

3 Hee addeth this by the way, as if he would say, So farre it is off, that you may doubt of my Apostleship, thus I vse to refute them which call it into controuersie, by opposing those things which ꝑ Loꝛd hath done by me amongst you.

c Which like Iudges examine me and my doings.

4 Nowe touching the matter it selfe, he saith, Seeing that I am free, and truely an Apostle, why may not I (I say not, eate of all things offered to idoles,) but be maintained by my labours, yea and keepe my wife also, as the residue of the Apostles lawfully doe, as by name, Iohn and Iames, the Loꝛds cousins & Peter himselfe.

d Vpon the expense of the Church?

e One that is a Christian and a true beleeuer?

f Not to liue by the worke of our handes?

5 That hee may not seeme to burden the Apostles, he sheweth that it is iust that they doe, by an argument of comparison, seeing that souldiers liue by their wages, and husbandmen by the fruits of their labours, and shepheards by that that commeth of their flockes.

g Vieth to goe a warfare?

6 Secondly, he bringeth foorth the authoꝛitie of Gods institution by an argument of comparison.

h Haue I no better ground then the common custome of men? * Deut. 25.4. 1.tim.5.18.

i Was it Gods proper drift to prouide for Oxen, when he made this Lawe? for otherwise there is not the smallest thing in the world, but God hath a care of it.

ten,

ten, that he which eareth, should eare in hope, and that hee that thresheth in hope, should be partaker of his hope.

11 *7 If we haue sowen vnto you spiritual things, is it a great thing if we reape your carnall things?

12 8 If others with you be partakers of this k power, are not we rather? neuertheles, we haue not vsed this power: but suffer all things, that we should not hinder the Gospel of Christ.

13 9 Doe ye not knowe, that they which minister about the l holy things, eate of the things of the Temple? and they which waite at the Altar, are m partakers with the Altar?

14 So also hath the Lord ordeined, that they which preach the Gospel, should liue n of the Gospel.

15 But I haue vsed none of these things: 10 neither wrote I these things, that it should be so done vnto me: for it were better for me to die, then that any man should make my reioycing vaine.

16 For though I preach the Gospel, I haue nothing to reioyce of: for necessitie is laid vpon me, and woe is vnto me, if I preach not the Gospel.

17 For if I doe it willingly, I haue a reward, but if I doe it against my will, notwithstanding the dispensation is committed vnto me.

18 What is my reward then? verely that when I preach the Gospel, I make the Gospel of Christ o free, that I abuse not mine authoritie in the Gospel.

19 For though I be free from all men, yet haue I made my selfe seruant vnto all men, that I may winne the moe.

20 *And vnto the Iewes, I become as a Iewe, that I may winne the Iewes: to them that are vnder the p Lawe, as though I were vnder the Lawe, that I may winne them that are vnder the Lawe:

21 To them that are without Lawe, as though I were without Lawe, (when I am not without Lawe as pertaining to God, but am in the Lawe through Christ) that I may winne them that are without Lawe:

22 To the weake I become as weake, that I may winne the weake: I am made all things to q all men, that I might by al meanes saue some.

23 And this I doe for the Gospels sake, that I might be partaker thereof with r you.

24 11 Knowe ye not, that they which runne in a race, runne all, yet one receiueth the price? so runne that ye may obtaine.

25 And euery man that proueth masteries, s abstaineth from all things: and they doe it to obtaine a corruptible crowne: but we for an vncorruptible.

26 I therefore so runne, not as vncertainely: so fight I, not as one that beateth the aire.

27 But I beate downe my t body, and bring it into subiection, lest by any meanes after that I haue preached to other, I my selfe should be u reprooued.

*Rom.15.27. 7 An assumption of the arguments with an amplification, for neither in so doing doe we require a reward meete for our deserts. 8 An other argument of great force: other are nourished amongest you, therefore it was lawfull for me, yea rather for me then any other: and yet I refused it, and had rather still suffer any discommoditie, then the Gospel of Christ should be hindered.

k The word signifieth right and interest, whereby he giueth vs to vnderstand that 9 Ministers of the word must of right and duetie be found of the Church. 9 Last of all, he bringeth forth expresse Lawe concerning the nourishing of the Leuites: which priuilege notwithstanding he will not vse.

*Deut.18.1. l This is spoken by the figure Metonymie, for, of those things that are offered in the Temple. m Are partakers with the altar in diuiding the sacrifice.

n Because they preach the Gospel, It followeth by this place, that Paul gate no liuing, neither would haue any other man get, by any commoditie of Masses, or any other such superstitious trumperies. 10 He taketh away occasion of suspicion by the way, that it might not be thought that he wrote this as though he challenged his wages that was not payed him. Nay, saith he, I had rather die, then not continue in this purpose to preach the Gospel freely. For I am bound to preach 9 Gospel, seeing that the Lord hath enioyned me this office: but vnlesse I doe it willingly and for the loue of God, nothing is to be allowed that I doe. If I had rather that the Gospel should be euill spoken of, then that I should not require my wages, then would it appeare that I tooke these paines not so much for the Gospels sake, as for my gaines and aduantages. But I say, this were not to vse, but abuse my right and libertie: Therefore not onely in this thing, but also in all other (as much as I could) I am made all things to all men, that I might winne them to Christ, and might together with them be wonne to Christ. o By taking nothing of them to whom I preach it. *Acts 16.3. galat.2.3. p The word (Lawe) in this place, must be restrained to the ceremoniall Lawe.

q In matters that are indifferent, which may be done or not done with a good conscience: as if he said, I changed my selfe into all fashions, that by all meanes I might saue some. r That both I and they to whom I preach the Gospel, may receiue fruite by the Gospel. 11 He bringeth in an other cause of this mischiefe, to wit, that they were giuen to gluttonie, for there were solemne bankets of sacrifices, and the rise of the Pasches was always too much celebrated and kept. Therefore it was hard for them which were accustomed to riotousnesse, especially when they pretended the libertie of the Gospel, to be restrained from these bankets: but contrariwise, the Apostle calleth them by a pleasant similitude, and also by his owne example, to sobrietie and mortification of the flesh, shewing that they cannot be fit to runne or wrestle (as then the games of Isthmies were) which pamper vp their bodies: and therefore affirming that they can haue no reward, vnlesse they take another course and trade of life. s Vseth a most exquisite diet. t The olde man which striueth against the Spirit. u This worde (reprooued) is not set as contrary to the word (Elect) but as contrary to the word (Approued) when we see one by experience not to be such an one as he ought to be.

CHAP. X.

1 If God spared not the Iewes, neither will he spare those who are of like condition, 3, 4 touching the outward signes of his grace. 14 That it is absurd, that such should be partakers of the table of the deuils, who are partakers of the Lords Supper. 24 To haue consideration of our neighbour in things indifferent.

MOreouer, 1 brethren, I would not that ye should be ignorant, that all our a fathers were vnder * that cloude, and all passed thorow that * sea,

2 2 And were all b baptized vnto c Moses, in that cloude, and in that sea,

3 * And did all eate the d same spirituall e meate,

4 * And did all drinke the same spirituall drinke (for they dranke of the spirituall Rocke that f followed them: and the Rocke was g Christ.

5 But with many of them God was not pleased: for they were * ouerthrowen in the wildernesse.

1 He setteth out that which he said, laying before them an example of the horrible iudgement of God against them which had in effect the selfe same pledges of the same adoption and saluation that wee haue: and yet notwithstanding when they gaue themselues to idoles feastes, perished in the wildernesse, being horribly and manifoldly punished. Moreouer, and besides that these things are fitly spoken against them which frequented idoles feastes, the same also seeme to be alleged to this ende and purpose, because many men are thus minded, that those things are not of such great weight, that God will be angrie with them if they vse them, so that they frequent Christian assemblies and be baptized, and receiue the Communion, and confesse Christ. a Paul speaketh thus in respect of the couenant, and not in respect of the persons, saying in generall. * Exod.13.21. num.9.18. * Exod.14.22. 2 In effect the Sacraments of the olde fathers were all one with ours, for they respected Christ only who offered himselfe vnto them in diuers shadowes. b All of them were baptized with the outward signe, but not in deede, wherewith God cannot be charged, but they themselues. c Moses being their guide. *Exod.16.15. d The same that we doe. e Manna, which was a spirituall meate to the beleeuers, which in faith lay bolde vpon Christ who is the true meate. * Exod.17.6. numb.20.10. and 21.16. f Of the riuer and running Rocke, which followed the people. g Did sacramentally signifie Christ, so that together with the signe, there was the thing signified, and the trueth it selfe: for God doeth not offer a bare signe, but the thing signified by the signe, together with it, which is to be receiued with faith. * Numb.26.65.

6 [3] Nowe theſe things are our [h] enſamples, to the intent that we ſhould not luſt after euill things, * as they alſo luſted.

7 Neither be ye idolaters as were ſome of them, as it is written, * The people ſate downe to eate and drinke, and roſe vp to play.

8 Neither let vs commit fornication, as ſome of them committed fornication, and fell in one * day three and twentie thouſand.

9 Neither let vs tempt [i] Chriſt, as ſome of them alſo tempted him, and * were deſtroied of Serpents.

10 Neither murmure ye, as ſome of them * alſo murmured, and were deſtroyed of the deſtroyer.

11 Now all theſe things came vnto them for enſamples, and were written to admoniſh vs, vpon whom the [k] endes of the world are come.

12 [4] Wherefore, let him that thinketh he ſtandeth, take heede leſt he fall.

13 There hath no tentation taken you, but ſuch as appertaine to [l] man: and God is faithfull, which will not ſuffer you to be tempted aboue that you be able, but will euen [m] giue the iſſue with the tentation, that ye may be able to beare it.

14 Wherefore my beloued, flee from idolatrie.

15 [5] I ſpeake as vnto them which haue vnderſtanding: iudge ye what I ſay.

16 The cup of [n] bleſſing which we bleſſe, is it not [o] communion of the blood of Chriſt? The bread which we breake, is it not the communion of the body of Chriſt?

17 For we that are many, are one bread and one body, becauſe we all are partakers of one bread.

18 Beholde Iſrael, which is after the [p] fleſh: are not they which eate of the ſacrifices [q] partakers of the Altar?

19 What ſay I then? that the idole is any thing? or that that which is ſacrificed to idoles, is any thing?

20 Nay, but that theſe things which the Gentiles ſacrifice, they ſacrifice to deuils, and not vnto God: and I would not that ye ſhould haue [r] felowſhip with the deuils.

21 Ye cannot drinke the cup of the Lord, and the [s] cup of the deuils. Ye cannot be partakers of the Lordes table, and of the table of the deuils.

22 Doe we prouoke the Lord to anger? are we ſtronger then he?

23 *[6] [t] All things are lawfull for me, but all things are not expedient: all things are lawfull for me, but all things edifie not.

24 Let no man ſeeke his owne, but euery man anothers wealth.

25 [7] Whatſoeuer is ſold in the [u] ſhambles, eate ye, and aſke no queſtion for conſcience ſake.

26 * For the earth is the Lordes, and [x] all that therein is.

27 If any of them which beleeue not, call you to a feaſt, and if ye will goe, whatſoeuer is ſet before you, eate, aſking no queſtion for conſcience ſake.

28 But if any man ſay vnto you, This is ſacrificed vnto idoles, eate it not, becauſe of him that ſhewed it, and for the conſcience (for the earth is the Lords, and all that therein is)

29 And the conſcience, I ſay, not thine, but of that other: [8] for why ſhould my libertie be condemned of another mans conſcience?

30 For if I through Gods [y] benefite be partaker, why am I euill ſpoken of, for that wherefore I giue thankes?

31 * [9] Whether therefore yee eate, or drinke, or whatſoeuer ye doe, doe all to the glory of God.

32 Giue none offence, neither to the Iewes, nor to the Grecians, nor to the Church of God:

33 Euen as I pleaſe all men in all things, not ſeeking mine owne profite, but the profite of many, that they might be ſaued.

For this is [h] beginning of all euill, as of idolatrie (which hath glutonie a companion vnto it) fornication rebelling againſt Chriſt, murmuring, and ſuch like, which God puniſhed moſt ſharpely in that olde people, to the ende that we which ſucceede them, and haue a more full declaration of the will of God, might by that meanes take better heede.

k This our age is called the end, for it is the ſhutting vp of all ages,

4 In concluſion, he deſcendeth to the Corinthians themſelues, warning them that they preſume not themſelues, but rather that they preuent the ſubtilties of Satan. Yet he vſeth an inſinuation, and comforteth them, that he may not ſeeme to make them altogether like to thoſe wicked idolaters & contemners of Chriſt, which periſhed in the wilderneſſe. l Which commeth of weakeneſſe. m He that would haue you tempted for your profites ſake, will giue you an iſſue to eſcape out of the tentation. 5 Now returning to thoſe Idoles feaſtes, that he may not ſeeme to rally at all: firſt he promiſeth that he will vſe no other reaſons, then ſuch as they knew very wel themſelues. And he vſeth an inuuction borowed of the agreement that is in the things themſelues. The holy bankets of the Chriſtians are pledges, firſt of all, of the communitie that they haue with Chriſt, and next, one with another. The Iſraelites alſo doe ratifie in their ſacrifices, their mutuall coniunction in one ſelfe ſame religion: therefore ſo doe the idolaters alſo ioyne themſelues with their Idoles or deuils rather, (for idoles are nothing) in thoſe ſolemne bankets, whereupon it followeth, that that table is a table of deuils, and therefore you muſt eſchewe it: For you cannot be partakers of the Lord and of idoles together. much leſſe may ſuch bankets be accompted for things indifferent. Will ye then ſtriue with God? and if you doe, thinke you that you ſhall get the vpper hand? n Of thankeſgiuing: whereupon, that holy banket was called Euchariſt, that is, a thankeſgiuing. o A moſt effectuall pledge and note of our knitting together with Chriſt, and ingraffing to him. p That is, as yet obſerue their ceremonies. q Are conſenting and guiltie both of that worſhip and ſacrifice.

r Haue any thing to doe with the deuils, or enter into that ſocietie which is begun on the deuils name.

s The heathen and prophane people were woont to ſhut vp and make an end of their feaſtes which they kept to the honour of their gods, in offering meate offerings and drinke offerings to them, with bankets and feaſtings.

*Chap.6.13.

6 Comming to another kinde of things offered to idoles, he repeateth that generall rule, that in the vſe of things indifferent, we ought to haue conſideration not of our ſelues only, but of our neighbours, and therefore there are many things which of themſelues are lawfull, which may be euill done of vs, becauſe of offence to our neighbour.

* Looke afore chap.6.13.

7 An applying of the rule to the preſent matters. Whatſoeuer is ſold in the ſhambles, you may vſe diſcretely buy it as it were at the Lords hand, and eate it either at home with the faithfull, or being called home to the vnfaithfull, to wit, in a priuate banket: but yet with this exception, vnleſſe any man be preſent which is weake, whoſe conſcience may be offended by eating meates offered to idoles before him: for then you ought to haue conſideration of their weakeneſſe. u The fleſh that was ſacrificed, was vſed to be ſold in the ſhambles, and the price returned to the Prieſts. *Pſal.24.1. x All thoſe things whereof it is full. 8 A reaſon: for we muſt take heede that our libertie be not euill ſpoken of, and that the benefite of God which we ought to vſe with thankeſgiuing, be not changed into impietie, and that through our fault, if we chuſe rather to [illegible] the conſcience of the weake, then to yeelde a litle of our libertie in a matter of no importance, and ſo giue occaſion to the weake to iudge in ſuch ſort of vs, and of Chriſtian libertie. And the Apoſtle taketh theſe things vpon his owne perſon, that the Corinthians may haue ſo much the leſſe occaſion to oppoſe any thing againſt him. y If I may through Gods benefite eate this meate, or that meate, why ſhould I through my fault, cauſe that benefite of God to turne to my blame?

*Colloſſ.3.17. 9 The concluſion: We muſt order our liues in ſuch ſort, that we ſeeke not our ſelues, but Gods glory, and ſo the ſaluation of as many as we may: wherein the Apoſtle ſticketh not to propound himſelfe to the Corinthians (euen his owne flocke) as an example, but ſo that he calleth them backe to Chriſt, vnto whom he himſelfe hath regard.

CHAP. XI.

1 He blameth the Corinthians for that in their holy aſſemblies, 4 men doe pray hauing their heads couered, 6 and women bare headed, and becauſe their meetings tended to euill, 21 who mingled prophane bankets with the holy Supper of the Lord, 23 which he requireth to be celebrated according to Chriſtes inſtitution.

Be

*2. Thess. 3. 9.

BE * ye followers of me, euen as I am of Christ:

2 [1] Now brethren, I commend you, that ye remember all my things, and keepe the ordinances, as I deliuered them to you.

3 [2] But I will that ye know, that Christ is the * head of euery man: and the man is the womans head: and God is [a] Christes head.

4 [3] Euery [b] man praying or prophecying hauing any thing on his head, dishonoureth his head.

5 [4] But euery woman that prayeth or prophecieth bare headed, dishonoureth her head, [5] for it is euen one very thing, as though she were shauen.

6 Therefore if the woman be not couered, let her also be shorne: and if it be shame for a woman to be shorne or shauen, let her be couered.

7 [6] For a man ought not to couer his head: for as much as hee is the * image and glorie of God: but the woman is the glorie of the man.

8 [7] For the man is not of the woman, but the woman of the man.

9 *[8] For the man was not created for the womans sake: but the woman for the mans sake.

10 [9] Therefore ought the woman to haue [c] power on her head, because of the [10] Angels, 11 [11] Neuertheles, neither is the man without the woman, neither the woman without the man [d] in the Lord.

12 For as the woman is of the man, so is the man also by the woman: but all things are of God.

13 [12] Iudge in your selues, Is it comely that a woman pray vnto God vncouered?

14 Doeth not nature it selfe teache you, that if a man haue long haire, it is a shame vnto him?

15 But if a woman haue long haire, it is a praise vnto her: for her haire is giuen her for a [e] couering.

16 [13] But if any man lust to be contentious, wee haue no such custome, neither the Churches of God.

17 [14] Now in this that I declare, I praise you not, that ye come together, not with profite, but with hurt.

18 [15] For first of all, when ye come together in the Church, I heare that there are dissentions among you: and I beleeue it to be true in some part.

19 [16] For there must be heresies euen among you, that they which are [f] approoued among you, might be knowen.

20 When ye come together therefore into one place, this is not to eate ℈ Lords Supper.

21 For euery man when they should eate, taketh his owne supper [h] afore, and one is hungrie, and another is drunken.

22 [17] Haue ye not houses to eate & to drinke in? despise ye the Church of God, and shame them that haue not? what shall I say to you? shall I praise you in this? I praise you not.

23 [18] For I haue receiued of the Lord that which I also haue deliuered vnto you, to wit, That the Lord Iesus in the night whē he was betrayed, tooke bread:

24 *And when he had giuen thankes, he brake it, and said, Take, eate: this is my body, which is [i] broken for you: this do ye in remembrance of me.

25 After the same maner also he tooke the cup, when he had supped, saying, This cup is the New Testament in my blood: this doe as oft as ye drinke it, in remembrance of me.

26 For as often as ye shall eate this bread, and drinke this cup, ye shewe the Lords death till he come.

27 [19] Wherefore, whosoeuer shal eate this bread, and drinke the cup of the Lord [k] vnworthily, shall be guiltie of the body and blood of the Lord.

1 The fifth treatise of this Epistle concerning the right ordering of publike assemblies, conteining three points, to wit, of the comely apparell of men and women, of the order of the Lords Supper, and of the right vse of spiritual gifts. But going about to reprehend certaine things, he beginneth notwithstanding with a generall praise of them, calling those particular lawes of comelinesse and honestie, which belong to the Ecclesiasticall politie, traditions: which afterward they called Canons.

2 He referreth downe God, in Christ our Mediatour, for the end and marke not onely of doctrine, but also of Ecclesiasticall comelines. Then applying it to the question proposed, touching the comely apparell both of men and women in publike assemblies, he declareth that the woman is one degree beneath the man by the ordinance of God, and that the man is so subiect to Christ, that the glory of God ought to appeare in him for the preeminence of the sexe. *Ephes. 5. 23. a In that, that Christ is our Mediatour. 3 Hereof he gathereth, that if men doe either pray or preach in publike assemblies, hauing their heads couered (which was then a signe of subiection) they did as it were spoile themselues of their dignitie, against Gods ordinance. b It appeareth, that this was a politike Lawe seruing onely for the circumstances of the time that Paul liued in, by this reason, because in these our dayes for a man to speake bare headed in an assemblie, is a signe of subiection. 4 And in like sort he concludeth, that women which shewe themselues in publike and Ecclesiasticall assemblies, without the signe and token of their subiection, that is to say, uncouered, shame themselues. 5 The first argument taken from the common sense of man, for so much as nature teacheth women, that it is vnseemely for them to come abroad bare-headed, seeing that she hath giuen them thicke and long haire, which they doe so diligently trimme and decke, that they can in no wise abide to haue it shauen. 6 The taking away of an obiection: Haue not men also haire giuen them? I graunt, saith the Apostle, but there is another matter in it: For man was made to this end and purpose, that the glory of God should appeare in his rule and authoritie: but the woman was made, that by profession of her obedience, she might more honour her husband. *Gen. 1. 26. and 5. 1. and 9. 6. colos. 3. 10. 7 He proueth the inequalitie of the woman, by that, that the man is the matter whereof woman was first made. *Gene. 2. 22. 8 Secondly, by that, that the woman was made for man, and not the man for the womans sake. 9 The conclusion: Women must be couered, to shewe by this eternall signe, their subiection. c A couering which is a token of subiection. 10 What this meaneth, I doe not yet understand. 11 A digression which the Apostle vseth, least that which he spake of the superlotitie of men, and lower degree of women, in consideration of the policie of the Church, should be so taken as though there were no measure of this inequalitie. Therefore he teacheth that men haue in such sort the preeminence, that God made them not alone, but women also: and woman was so made of man, that men also are borne by the meanes of women, and this aught to put them in minde to obserue the degree of euery sexe in such sort, that mutuall coniunction may be cherished. d By the Lord. 12 He vrgeth the argument taken from the common sense of nature.

e To be a couering for her, and such a couering, as should procure another. 13 Against such as are sticklingly contentious, we haue to oppose this, that the Churches of God are not contentious. 14 He putteth notice to the next Treatise concerning the right administration of the Lords supper. And the Apostle vseth this sharpe speach, that the Corinthians might vnderstand, that whereas they obserued generally the Apostles commandments, yet they foulty neglected them in a matter of greatest importance. 15 To celebrate the Lords Supper aright, it is requisite that there be not only consent of doctrine, but also of affections, that it be not prophane. 16 Although that sedition and heresies proceed from the deuil, and are euil, yet they come not by chance, nor without cause, and they turne to ℈ profit of the elect. f Whom experience hath taught to be of sound religion and godlinesse. g This is an vsual kinde of speach, whereby the Apostle denieth that slatly, which many did not well. h Eate this meate, and tarieth not till other come. 17 The Apostle thinketh it good to take away the lone feasts, for their abuse, although they had bene a long time, & with commendation vsed in Churches, and were appointed & instituted by the Apostles. 18 We must take a true forme of keeping the Lords Supper, out of the institution of it, the parts whereof are these, touching the Author, to shew foorth the Lords death by preaching his word: to blesse the bread & the wine by calling vpon the Name of God, and together with prayers to declare the institution thereof, and finally to deliuer the bread broken to be eaten, & the cup receiued to be drunke in thankesgiuing And touching the flocke, that euery man examine himselfe, that is to say, to proue both his knowledge, and also faith, and repentance: to shewe foorth the Lords death, that is, in true faith to yeeld vnto his word and institution: and last of al, to take the bread at the Ministers hand, and to eate it, & to drinke the wine, and giue God thankes: This was Pauls and the Apostles maner of ministring. *Mat. 26. 16. marke 14. 22. luke 22. 19. i This word (Broken) noteth out vnto vs Christ his maner of death, for although his legs were not broken, as ℈ theeues legs were, yet was his body very sore tormented, and torne, and bruised. 19 Whosoeuer contemne the holy Sacraments, that is, vse them not aright, are guiltie not of the bread and wine, but of the thing it self, that is, of Christ, & shalbe grieuously punished for it. k Otherwise then meete is such mysteries should be handled.

28 *[20] Let [l] euery man therefore examine himselfe, and so let him eate of this bread, and drinke of this cup.

29 For he that eateth and drinketh vnworthily, eateth and drinketh his owne damnation, because he [m] discerneth not the Lords body.

30 [21] For this cause many are weake, and sicke among you, and many sleepe.

31 For if we would [n] iudge our selues, we should not be iudged.

32 But when wee are iudged, we are chastened of the Lorde, because we should not bee condemned with the world.

33 [22] Wherefore, my brethren, when yee come together to eate, tary one for another.

34 [23] And if any man be hungry, let him eate at home, that yee come not together vnto condemnation. [24] Other things will I set in order when I come.

20 *1. Cor. 13. 5.

20 The examination of a mans selfe, is of necessitie required in the Supper, and therefore they ought not to be admitted vnto it, which cannot examine themselues: as children, furious and mad men, also such as either haue no knowledge of Christ, or not sufficient, although they professe Christian religion and others such like.

21 This place beateth downe the fained of credite, or inwrapped faith, which the Papists maintaine.

m He is said to discerne the Lords body, that hath consideration of the worthines of it, and therefore commeth to eate of this meate with great reuerence. 21 The prophaning of the body & blood of the Lorde in his mysteries, is sharply punished of him, and therefore such a mischiefe ought diligently to be preuented by iudging and correcting of a mans selfe. n Try and examine our selues, by faith and repentance, separating our selues from the wicked. 22 The supper of the Lord is a common action of the whole Church, and therefore there is no place for priuate suppers. 23 The Supper of the Lord was instituted not to feede the belly, but to feed the soule with the communion of Christ, and therefore it ought to be separate from common bankets. 24 Such things as pertaine to order, as place, time, forme of prayers, and other such like, the Apostle tooke order for in Congregations, according to the consideration of times, places, and persons.

CHAP. XII.

1 To draw away the Corinthians from contention and pride, he sheweth that spirituall giftes are therefore diuersly bestowed, 7 that the same being ioyntly to edie other imployed, 12 wee may growe vp together into one body of Christ in such equall proportion and measure, 20 as the the members of mans body doe.

NOwe [1] concerning spirituall giftes, brethren, I would not haue you [a] ignorant.

2 [2] Ye know that ye were [b] Gentiles, and were caried away vnto the dumme Idoles, as ye were led.

3 [3] Wherefore, I declare vnto you, that no man *speaking by the Spirit of God calleth Iesus *[c] erecrable: also no man can say that Iesus is the Lord, but by the holy Ghost.

4 [4] Now there are diuersities of gifts, but the [d] same Spirit.

5 And there are diuersities of administrations, but the same Lord.

1 Now hee entreth into the thirde part of this treatise, touching the right vse of spirituall gifts, wherein he taxeth the Corinthians plainly to vnderstand that they abused them: for they that excelled shagged ambitiously of them, and so robbed God of the praise of his gifts: and hauing no continuance of their brethren, abused them to vaine ostentation, and so robbed the Church of the vse of those gifts. On the other side the inferiour sort enuied the better, and went about to make a departure, so that al that body was as it were scattered and rent in pieces. So then he going about to remedie these abuses willeth them first to consider diligently, that they haue not these gifts of themselues, but frō the free grace and liberalitie of God, to whose glorie they ought to bestowe them all. a Ignorant to what purpose these gifts are giuen you. 2 He proueth the same by comparing their former state with that wherein they were at this time indued, with these excellent gifts. b As touching Gods seruice and the couenant, meere strangers. 3 The conclusion: Know you therefore that you cannot so much as moue your lippes to honour Christ withall, but by the grace of the holy Ghost. *Mark. 9.39. *Iohn 13.13. chap.8.6. phil.2.11. c Doeth curse him, or by any meanes whatsoeuer diminish his glory. 4 In the seconde place, hee layeth another foundation, to wit, that these gifts are diuers, as the functions also are diuers and their offices diuers, but that one selfe same Spirit, Lord and God is the giuer of all these gifts, and that to one ende, to wit, for the profite of all. d The Spirit it is plainely distinguished from the gifts.

6 And there are diuersities of [e] operations, but God is the same which worketh all in all.

7 But the manifestation of the Spirit is [f] giuen to euery man, to profite withall.

8 [5] For to one is giuen by the Spirit the word of [h] wisedome: and to another the word of knowledge, by the same Spirit:

9 And to another is giuen faith by ỹ same Spirit: and to another the gifts of healing, by the same Spirit:

10 And to another the [i] operations of great workes: and to another, [k] prophecie: and to another, the [l] discerning of spirites: and to another, diuersities of tongues: and to another, the interpretation of tongues.

11 *And all these things worketh one and the selfe same Spirite, distributing to euery man seuerally [6] as he will.

12 [7] For as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of the body, which is one, though they be many, yet are but one body: [8] euen so is [m] Christ.

13 For by one Spirit wee are all baptized into [n] one body, whether we be Iewes or Grecians, whether wee be bond or free, and haue bene all made to [o] drinke into one Spirit.

14 [9] For the body also is not one member, but many.

15 [10] If the foote would say, Because I am not the hande, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?

16 And if the eare would say, Because I am not the eye, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?

17 [11] If the whole body were an eye, where were the hearing? If the whole were hearing, where were the smelling?

e So Paul calleth this inward force which commeth from the holy Ghost, and maketh men fit to woderfull things.

f The holy Ghost openeth & sheweth himselfe freely in giuing of these gifts.

g To the vse and benefite of the Church.

5 He declareth this manifolde diuersitie, and reckoneth vp the chiefest gifts, beating that into their heades, which he said before, to wit, that all these things proceeded from one selfe same Spirit.

h Wisdome is a most excellent gift, very requisite, not onely for the which teach, but also for them that exhort and comfort, which thing is proper to the Pastours office: as the word of knowledge agreeth to the Doctours.

i By operation he meaneth those great workings of Gods mightie power, which passe and excel amongst his miracles, as the deliuerie of his people Israel by the hand of Moses that which he did by Elias against the Priests of Baal, in sending downe fire from heauen to consume his sacrifice: and that which hee did by Peter, in the matter of Ananias and Saphira. k Foretelling of things to come. l Whereby false prophets are knowen from true, wherein Peter passed Philip in discouering Simon Magus, Actes 8.20. *Rom.12.3. ephel. 4.7. 6 Hee addeth moreouer something else, to wit, that although that these gifts are inequall, yet they are most wisely deuided, because the wil of the Spirite of God is the rule of this distribution. 7 Hee setteth forth his former saying by a similitude taken from the body: This saith he, is manifestly seene in the body, whose members are diuers, but yet so knit together, that they make but one body. 8 The applying of the similitude. So must wee also thinke, sayeth hee, of the mystical body of Christ: for all wee that beleeue, whether wee be Iewes or Gentiles, are by one selfe same Baptisme, ioyned together with our head, that by that meanes, there may bee framed one body compact of many members: and wee haue receiued one selfe same Spirite, that is to say, a spirituall feeling, perteinerance and societie common to vs all, out of one cuppe. m Christ ioyned together with his Church. n To become one body with Christ. o By one quickening drinke of the Lords blood, we are made partakers of his onely Spirit. 9 Hee amplifieth that which followed of the similitude: as if the thoulde say, The vnitie of the body is not onely not let by this diuersitie of members, but also it could not bee a body, if it did not consist of many, and those diuers members. 10 Nowe hee buildeth his doctrine vpon the foundations which hee hath layde: and first of all hee continueth in his purposed similitude, and afterwarde hee goeth to the matter barely and simply. And first of all hee speaketh vnto them which would haue separated themselues from those where they enuied, because they had not such excellent giftes as they: now this is, sayeth hee, as if the foote should say, it were not of the body, because it is not the hand: or the eare, because it is not the eye. Therefore all parties ought rather to defende the vnitie of the body, being coupled together to serue one the other. 11 Against speaking to them, hee sheweth them that if that should come to passe which they desire, to wit, that all should bee equall one to another, there would followe a destruction of the whole body, yea and of themselues: for it could not be a body, vnlesse it were made of many members knit together, and diuers one from the other. And that no man might finde fault with this diuision as inequall, hee addeth that God himselfe hath coupled all these together. Therefore all must remaine coupled together, that the body may remaine in safetie.

18 But nowe hath God disposed the members euery one of them in the body at his owne pleasure.

19 For if they were al one member, where were the body?

20 But now are there many members, yet but one body.

21 [12]And the eye cannot say vnto the hand, I haue no neede of thee: nor the head againe to the feete, I haue no neede of you.

22 Yea, much rather those members of the body, which seeme to be [p] more feeble, are necessary.

23 And vpon those members of the body, which we thinke most vnhonest, put wee more [q] honestie on: and our vncomely parts haue more comelinesse on.

24 For our comely parts neede it not, but God hath tempered the body together, & hath giuen ỹ more honor to that part which lacked,

25 Lest there should be any diuision in the body: but that the members should haue the same [r] care one for another.

26 [13]Therefore if one member suffer, all suffer with it: if one member be had in honour, all the members reioyce with it.

27 Nowe yee are the body of Christ, and members for your [r] part.

28 *And God hath ordained some in the Church: as first Apostles, secondly Prophets, thirdly teachers, then them that doe miracles: after that, the giftes of healing, [t] helpers, [u] gouernours, diuersitie of tongues.

29 Are all Apostles? are all Prophets? are all teachers?

30 Are all doers of miracles? haue all the gifts of healing? doe all speake with tongues? doe all interprete?

31 [14]But desire you the best giftes, and I wil yet shew you a more excellent way.

a Now on the other side, he speaketh vnto them which were indued with more excellent gifts willing them not to despise the inferiours as vnprofitable, and as though they serued to no vse: for God sayeth he, hath in such sort tempered this inequalitie, that the more excellent and beautifull members can in no wise lacke the more abiect and such as we are ashamed of, and that they should haue more care to see vnto them and to couer them: that by this meanes the necessitie which is on both parts, might keepe the whole body in peace and concord: that although euery part be considered apart, they are of diuers degrees and conditions, yet because they are ioyned together, they haue a communitie both in commodities and discommodities.

p Of the smallest and vilest offices, and therfore finally accounted of, of the rest.

q Wee more carefully couer them.

r Should bestow their operations and offices to the profite and preseruation of the whole body. 13 Now he applieth this same doctrine to the Corinthians without any allegorie, warning them that seeing there are diuers functions and diuers gifts, it is their duetie, not to offend one against an other, either by enuie or ambition, but rather that they being ioyned together in loue and charitie one with another, euery one of them bestow to the profit of all, that which he hath receiued according as his ministerie doeth require.

s For all Churches wheresoeuer they are dispersed through the whole world, are diuers members of one body. *Ephes.4.11.

t The offices of Deacons.

u He setteth forth the order of Elders, which were the maintainers of the Churches discipline.

14 He teacheth them that are ambitious & enuious, a certaine holy ambition, and enuie, to wit, if they giue themselues to the best gifts, & such as are most profitable to the Church, and so if they contend to excel one another in loue, which far passeth al other gifts.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Hee sheweth that there are no gifts so excellent, which in Gods sight are not corrupt, if Charitie be away: 4 and therefore he digresseth vnto the commendation of it.

2 He reasoneth first of Charitie, the excellencie whereof he first sheweth by this, that without it, all other gifts are as nothing before God: which thing he proueth partly by an induction, and partly also by an argument taken of the ende, whereof those gifts are giuen. For, to what purpose are those gifts, but to Gods glory, and the profite of the Church as is before proued? so that those gifts without Charitie, haue no right vse.

a A very earnest kinde of amplifying a matter, as if hee saide, If there were any tongues of Angels, and I had them, and did not vse them to the benefite of my neighbour, it were nothing else but a vaine and prating kinde of babbling.

THough [1] I speake with the tongues of men and [a] Angels, and haue not loue, I am as sounding brasse, or a [b] tinckling cymball.

b That giueth a rude and no certaine sound.

2 And though I had the gift of prophecie, and knewe all secrets and all knowledge, yea if I had all [c] faith, so that I could remoue *mountaines, and had not loue, I were nothing.

c By faith, he meaneth the gift of doing miracles, and not the faith which iustifieth, which cannot be voyde of Charitie as the other may.

*Matth.17.20.

3 And though I feede the poore with all my goods, and though I giue my body, that I be burned, and haue not loue, it profiteth mee nothing.

3 He describeth the force and nature of charitie, partly by a comparison of contraries, and partly by the effects of it selfe: whereby the Corinthians may vnderstand, both how profitable it is in the Church, and how necessarie and also how farre they are from it, & therefore how vaine and without cause they are proude.

4 [2]Loue [d] suffereth long: it is bountifull: loue enuieth not: loue doeth not boast it selfe: it is not puffed vp:

d Word for word, deferreth wrath.

5 It doeth no vncomely thing: it seeketh not her owne things: it is not prouoked to anger: it thinketh no euil:

e It is not tumultious.

6 It reioyceth not in iniquitie, but [f] reioyceth in the trueth:

f Reioyceth at righteousnesse in the righteous. For the Hebrew meane by truth, righteousnesse.

7 It suffereth all things: it beleeueth all things: it hopeth all things: it endureth all things.

8 [3]Loue doeth neuer fal away, though that prophecyings bee abolished, or the tongues cease, or [g] knowledge vanish away.

3 Againe he commendeth the excellencie of charitie in that, that it shal neuer be abolished in the Saints, where as other gifts which are necessarie for the building vp of ỹ Church, so long as wee liue here, shall haue no place in the world to come.

g The way to get knowledge by prophecying.

9 [4]For we knowe in [h] part, and we prophecie in part.

4 The reason: Because wee are nowe in that state that we haue neede to learne daily, and therefore wee haue neede of those helpes, to wit, of the gifts of tongues, and knowledge, and also of them that teach them. But to what purpose serue they then, when wee haue obtained and gotten the full knowledge of God, which serue nowe but for them, which are imperfite and go by degrees to perfection? h We learne vnperfectly. 5 He setteth foorth that, that he sayd, by an excellent similitude, comparing this life to our infancie or childehoode, wherein we stagger and stammer rather then speake, and thinke and vnderstand childish things, and therefore haue neede of such things as may forme and frame our tongue and minde: but when we become men, to what purpose should we desire that stammering, those childish toyes, and such like things, whereby our childehoode is framed by little and little? 6 The applying of the similitude of our childehoode to this present life, wherein we darkely behlode heauenly things, according to the small measure of light which is giuen vs, through the vnderstanding of tongues, and hearing the teachers and ministers of the Church of our mans mans age and strength, to that heauenly and eternall life, wherein when we behold God himselfe present, and are lightened with his full and perfect light, to what purpose should wee desire the voyce of man, and those worldly things which are most imperfect? But yet then, shall all the Saints be knit both with God, and betweene themselues with most feruent loue, and therefore charitie shal not be abolished but perfected, although it shall not be shewen soorth and exercised by such maner of duties as peculiarly and onely belong to the infirmitie of this life. i All this must be vnderstood by comparison. 7 The conclusion As if the Apostle should say, Such therefore shall be our condition then: but now we haue three things, and they remaine sure if we be Christes, as without which, true Religion cannot consist, to wit, faith, hope, and charitie. And among these, charitie is the chiefest, because it ceaseth not in the life to come as the rest doe, but is perfected and accomplished. For seeing that faith and hope tende to things which are promised & are to come, when we haue presently gotten them, to what purpose should wee haue faith and hope? but yet there at length shall wee truely and perfectly loue both God, and one another.

CHAP.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 He commendeth the gift of prophecying: 7 and by a ſimilitude taken of muſicall inſtruments, 12 he teacheth the true vſe of interpreting the Scriptures: 17 hee taketh away the abuſe: 34 and forbiddeth women to ſpeake in the Congregation.

FOllowe [1] after loue, and couet ſpirituall gifts, and rather that ye may [a] prophecie.

2 [2] For he that ſpeaketh a ſtrange [b] tongue, ſpeaketh not vnto men, but vnto God: for no man heareth him: howbeit in the [c] ſpirite hee ſpeaketh ſecret things.

3 But hee that prophecieth, ſpeaketh vnto men to [d] edifying, and to exhortation, and to comfort.

4 Hee that ſpeaketh ſtrange language, edifieth himſelfe: but he that prophecieth, edifieth the [e] Church.

5 I would that yee all ſpake ſtrange languages, but rather that ye prophecied: for greater is he that prophecieth, then he that ſpeaketh diuers tongues, except hee expound it, that the Church may receiue edification.

6 And nowe, brethren, if I come vnto you ſpeaking diuers tongues, what ſhall I profite you, except I ſpeake to you, either by reuelation, or by knowledge, or by prophecying, or by doctrine?

7 [3] Moreouer things without life which giue a ſound, whether it be a pipe or an harpe, except they make a diſtinction in the ſoundes, howe ſhall it bee knowen what is piped or harped?

8 And alſo if the trumpet giue an vncertaine ſounde, who ſhall prepare himſelfe to battell?

9 So likewiſe you, by the tongue except ye vtter wordes that haue [f] ſignification, howe ſhall it be vnderſtood what is ſpoken? for yee ſhall ſpeake in the aire.

10 [4] There are ſo many kindes of voyces (as it commeth to paſſe) in the world, and none of them is dumme.

11 Except I know then the power of the voyce, I ſhall be vnto him that ſpeaketh a barbarian, and hee that ſpeaketh ſhall be a barbarian vnto me.

12 [5] Euen ſo, foraſmuch as ye couet ſpirituall gifts, ſeeke that ye may excel vnto the edifying of the Church.

13 Wherefore let him that ſpeaketh a ſtrange tongue, [h] pray that he may interprete.

14 [6] For [i] if I pray in a ſtrange tongue, my [k] ſpirite prayeth: but mine vnderſtanding is [l] without fruite.

15 What is it then? I will pray with the ſpirit, but I wil pray with the [m] vnderſtanding alſo: I wil ſing with the ſpirit, but I will ſing with the vnderſtanding alſo.

16 [7] Elſe, when thou bleſſeſt with the [n] ſpirit, how ſhall he that [o] occupieth the roome of the vnlearned, ſay [p] Amen, at thy giuing of thankes, ſeeing hee knoweth not what thou ſayeſt?

17 For thou verily giueſt thankes wel, but the other is not edified.

18 [8] I thanke my God, I ſpeake languages more then ye all.

19 Yet had I rather in the Church to ſpeake [q] fiue wordes with mine vnderſtanding, that I might alſo inſtruct others, then tenne thouſand wordes in a ſtrange tongue.

20 [9] Brethren, bee not *children in vnderſtanding, but as concerning malicioufneſſe bee children, but in vnderſtanding bee of a ripe age.

21 In the [r] Lawe it is written, * By men of other tongues, and by other languages will I ſpeake vnto this people: yet ſo ſhall they not heare me, ſaith the Lord.

22 [10] Wherefore ſtrange tongues are for a ſigne, not to them that beleeue, but to them that beleeue not: but prophecying ſerueth not for them that beleeue not, but for them which beleeue.

23 [11] If therefore when the whole Church is come together in one, and all ſpeake ſtrange tongues, there come in they that are [ſ] vnlearned, or they which beleeue not, will they not ſay, that ye are out of your wits?

24 But if all prophecie, and there come in one that beleeueth not, or one vnlearned, he is rebuked of all men, and is iudged of all.

25 And ſo are the ſecrets of his heart made manifeſt, and ſo hee will fall downe on his

1 He inferreth now of that that he ſpake before: Therefore ſeeing charitie is the chiefeſt of al, before all things let it before you as chiefe and principal: and eſteeme thoſe things as moſt excellent, which profit the greater part of men: (as prophecie, that is to ſay, the gift of teaching and applying the doctrine: which was contemned in reſpect of other gifts, although it be the chiefeſt and moſt neceſſary for the Church, and not thoſe which for a ſhew ſeeme to be marueilous, as the gifts of tongues, when a man was ſuddenly indued with the knowledge of many tongues, which made men greatly amazed and yet of it ſelfe was not greatly to any vſe, vnleſs there were an interpreter.

a What prophecieis, he ſheweth in the thirde verse.

2 He reprehendeth their peruerſe iudgement touching the gift of tongues. For why was it giuen? to wit, to the intent that the myſteries of God might be ſet better knowen to a greater ſort. Thereby it is euident that prophecie, whereunto the gift of tongues ought to ſerue, is better then this: and therefore the Corinthians did iudge amiſſe, in that they made more accompt of the gift of tongues, then of prophecying: becauſe forſooth the gift of tongues was a thing more to be bragged of. And hereupon followed another abuſe of the gift of tongues, in that the Corinthians vſed tongues in the Congregation without an interpreter. Which thing although it might be done to ſome profit of him that ſpake them, yet hee corrupted the right vſe of that gift, becauſe there came thereby no profit to the hearers: and common aſſemblies were inſtituted and appointed, not for any priuate mans commoditie, but for the profit of the whole company. b A ſtrange language which no man can vnderſtand without an interpreter. c By that inſpiration which he hath receiued of the Spirit, which notwithſtanding he abuſeth, when he ſpeaketh myſteries which none of the company can vnderſtand. d Which may further men in the ſtudie of godlines. e The company. 3 He ſetteth forth that which he ſaid by a ſimilitude, which hee borroweth & taketh from inſtruments of muſicke: which although they ſpeak not perfitly, yet they are diſtinguiſhed by their ſounds, that they may be the better vſed. f That do itly vtter the matter it ſelfe. 4 He proueth that interpretation is neceſſarily to be ioyned with the gift of tongues, by the manifold varietie of languages, inſomuch that if one ſpeake to another without an interpreter, it is as if he ſpake not. g As the Papiſts in all their ſermons, and they that ambitiouſly powre out ſome Hebrew or Greeke words in the Pulpit before the vnlearned people, thereby to get them a name of vaine learning.

5 The concluſion: if they will excel in thoſe ſpirituall gifts, as it is meete, they muſt ſeeke the profite of the Church, and therefore they muſt not vſe the gift of tongues, vnleſſe there be an interpreter, to expound the ſtrange and vnknowen tongue: whether it be himſelfe that ſpeaketh, or another interprete.

h Pray for the gift of interpretation.

6 A reaſon: Becauſe it is not ſufficient for vs to ſpeake ſo in the congregation, that we our ſelues doe worſhip God in ſpirit, that is according to the gift which we haue receiued, but we muſt alſo be vnderſtood of the company, leaſt that be vnprofitable to other, which we haue ſpoken.

i If I pray, when the Church is aſſembled together, in a ſtrange tongue.

k The gift and inſpiration which the ſpirit giueth me, doeth his part, but onely to my ſelfe.

l No fruit commeth to the Church by my prayers.

m So that I may be vnderſtood of other, and may inſtruct other.

7 An other reaſon: Seeing that the whole congregation muſt agree to him that ſpeaketh, and alſo witneſſe this agreement. How ſhall they giue their aſſent or agreement which know not what is ſpoken?

n Onely, without all conſideration of the hearers. o He that ſitteth as a priuate man. p So then one vttereth the prayer, and all the company anſwered, Amen. 8 Hee propoundeth himſelfe for an example, both that they may be aſhamed of their fooliſh ambition, and alſo that he may eſchew al ſuſpition of enuie. q A very few words. 9 Now he reproueth them freely for their childiſh folly, which ſee not how this gift of tongues which was giuen to the profite of the Church, is turned by their ambition into an inſtrument of curſing, ſeeing that this ſame alſo is contained amongſt the puniſhments wherewith God puniſhed the ſtubburneſſe of his people, that he diſperſed them amongſt ſtrangers whoſe language they vnderſtoode not. * Matth. 28. 3.

r By the Law he vnderſtandeth all the whole Scripture. * Iſai. 28. 11. 10 The concluſion: Therefore the gift of tongues ſerueth to puniſh the vnfaithful and vnbeleeuers, vnleſſe it be referred to prophecie (that is to ſay, to the interpretation of Scripture) and that that which is ſpoken be by that meanes vnderſtood of the hearers. 11 An other Argument: The gift of tongues without prophecie is not onely vnprofitable to the faithful, but alſo doeth very much hurt: as wel to them as to the vnfaithfull which ſhould be wonne in the publike aſſemblies. For by this meanes it commeth to paſſe, that the faithful ſeeme to other to bee madde, much leſſe can the vnfaithful be inſtructed thereby. ſ Looke Acts. 4. 13.

face and worship God, and say plainely that God is in you in deede.

26 [12] What is to be done then, brethren? when yee come together, according as euery one of you hath a Psalme, or hath doctrine, or hath a tongue, or hath reuelation, or hath interpretation, let all things be done vnto edifying.

27 [13] If any man speake a strange tongue, let it be by two, or at the most, by three, and that by course, and let one interprete.

28 But if there be no interpreter, let him keepe silence in the Church, which speaketh languages, and let him speake to himselfe, and to God.

29 [14] Let the Prophetes speake two, or three, and let the other iudge.

30 And if any thing be reuealed to another that sitteth by, let the first holde his peace.

31 For yee may all prophecie one by one, that all may learne, and all may haue comfort.

32 And the [t] spirites of the Prophets are subiect to the Prophets.

33 For God is not the authour of confusion, but of peace, as we see in al the Churches of the Saints.

34 [15] *Let your women keepe silence in the Churches: for it is not permitted vnto them to speake: but they ought to be subiect, as also *the Law saith.

35 And if they will learne any thing, let them aske their husbands at home: for it is a shame for women to speake in the Church.

36 [16] Came the word of God out from you? either came it vnto you onely?

37 If any man thinke himselfe to be a Prophet, or [u] spirituall, let him acknowledge, that the things that I write vnto you, are the commandements of the Lord.

38 [17] And if any man be ignorant, let him be ignorant.

39 [18] Wherefore, brethren, couet to prophecie, and forbid not to speake languages.

40 Let all things bee done honestly, and by order.

a The conclusion: The edifying of the congregation is a rule and square of the right vse of all spirituall gifts.

13 The maner how to vse the gift of tongues. It may be lawful for one or two, or at the most for three. How vse the gift of tongues, one after another in an assembly, so that there be some to expound the same: but if there be none to expound, let him that hath that gift, speake to himselfe alone.

14 The maner of prophecying: Let two or three propound, and let the other iudge of that that is propounded, whether it be agreeable to the Word of God or no: If in this examination the Lord giue any man ought to speake, let them giue him leaue to speake. Let euery man be admitted to prophecie, seuerally and in his order, so farre forth as it is requisite for the edifying of the Church: Let them be content to be subiect eche to others iudgement.

15 The doctrine which the Prophets bring, which are inspired with Gods Spirit.

15 Women are commaunded to be silent in publique assemblies, and they are commaunded to aske of their husbands at home.

t 1. Timoth. 2. 12. * Gen. 3. 16. 16 A generall conclusion of the treatise of the right vse of spirituall gifts in assemblies: with a sharpe reprehension, least the Corinthians might alone seeme to themselues to be wise. u Skilfull in knowledge and iudging spiritual things. 17 The Church ought not to care for such as be stubburnely ignorant, and will not abide to be taught, but to goe forward notwithstanding, in those things which are right. 18 Prophecie ought simply to be retained and kept in Congregations, the gift of tongues is not to bee forbidden, but all things must be done orderly.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Gospell that Paul preached? 3 The death and resurrection of Christ. 8 Paul sawe Christ. He had persecuted that Church, whereof afterward hee was made a minister. 12 Christ first rose againe, and we all shall rise by him. 26 The last enemie, death. 29 To be baptized for dead. 32 At Ephesus Paul fought with beastes. 35 How the dead are raysed. 45 The first Adam, The last Adam. 47 The first and second man. 51 We shall all bee changed, wee shall not all sleepe. 55 Deaths sting. 57 victorie. 58 Constancie and stedfastnesse.

MOreouer *[1] brethren, I declare vnto you the Gospel, which I preached vnto you, which yee haue also receiued, and wherein ye [a] continue,

2 And whereby yee are saued, if yee keepe in memorie, after what maner I preached it vnto you, [b] except yee haue beleeued in vaine.

3 For first of all, I deliuered vnto you that which I receiued, how that Christ died for our sinnes, according to the * Scriptures,

4 And that hee was buried, and that hee arose the thirde day, according to the * Scriptures.

5 *And that he was seen of Cephas, then of the [c] twelue.

6 After that, he was seene of moe then fiue hundreth brethren at [d] once: whereof many remaine vnto this present, and some also are asleepe.

7 After that, he was seene of Iames: then of all the Apostles.

8 [*2] And last of all he was seene also of me, as of one borne out of due time.

9 *For I am the least of the Apostles, which am not meete to be called an Apostle, because I persecuted the Church of God.

10 * But by the grace of God, I am that I am: and his grace which is in me, was not in vaine: but I laboured more aboundantly then they all: yet not I, but the grace of God which is with me.

11 Wherefore, whether it were I, or they, so we preach, and so haue ye beleeued.

12 ¶ [3] Now if it be preached, that Christ is risen from the dead, howe say some among you, that there is no resurrection of the dead?

13 [4] For if there bee no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen:

14 [5] And if Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vaine, and your faith is also vaine.

15 And wee are found also false witnesses of God: for wee haue testified of God, that hee hath raised vp Christ: whom he hath not raised vp, if so be the dead be not raised.

16 [6] For if the dead be not raised, then is Christ not raised.

17 And if Christ bee not raised, your faith is vaine: [7] ye are [e] yet in your sinnes.

1 The first treatise of this Epistle, concerning the resurrection: and he vseth a transition, or passing ouer from one matter to another, shewing first that he ingreth no newe thing, to the ende that the Corinthians might vnderstand that they had begun to swarue from the right course: and next that he goeth not about to increate of a trifling matter, but of another chiefe point of the Gospell, which if it be taken away, their faith must needs come to nought. And so at the length he beginneth this treatise at Christs resurrection, which is the ground and foundation of ours, and confirmeth it first by the testimonie of the Scriptures and by the witnes of the Apostles, and of more then fiue hundreth brethren, and last of all by his owne.

*Acts 9. 5.

2 He maintaineth by the way, the authoritie of his Apostleship, which was requisite to bee in good credite among the Corinthians, that this Epistle might bee of force and waight amongst them. In the meane season hee compareth himselfe in such sort after a certaine diuine art with certaine other, that he maketh himselfe inferiour to them all. *Ephes. 3. 8. *Ephes. 3. 7. 3 The first Argument to proue that there is a resurrection from the dead: Christ is risen againe, therefore the dead shall rise againe. 4 The second by an absurditie, if there be no resurrection of the dead, then is not Christ risen againe. 5 The proofe of that absurditie, by other absurdities: If Christ be not risen againe, the preaching of the Gospel is in vaine, and the credite that you gaue vnto it, is vaine, and we are lyars. 6 Hee repeateth the same argument taken of an absurditie, purposing to shew how faith is in vaine, if the resurrection of Christ bee taken away. 7 First, seeing death is the punishment of sinne, in vaine should wee beleeue that our sinnes were forgiuen vs, if they remaine: but they doe remaine, if Christ rose not from death.

e They are yet in their sinnes, which are not sanctified, nor haue obtained remission of their sinnes.

18 [8] And

18 [8]And so they which are asleepe in Christ are perished.

19 [9]If in this life onely wee haue hope in Christ, we are of all men the most miserable.

20 [10]But nowe is Christ risen from the dead, [11]and was made the *[f] first fruits of them that slept.

21 [12]For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead.

22 For as in Adam al die, euen so in Christ shall all be [g] made aliue, 23 [13]But euery man in his *owne order: the first fruites is Christ, afterward, they that are of Christ, at his comming shal rise againe.

24 [14]Then shall be the [h] ende, when hee hath deliuered vp the kingdome to God, euen the Father, when he hath put downe [i] all rule, and all authoritie and power.

25 For he must reigne, *till he hath put all his enemies [k] vnder his feete.

26 The [l] last enemie that shall be destroyed, is death.

27 * For hee hath put downe all things vnder his feete. (And when hee saith that all things are subdued to him, it is manifest that he is excepted, which did put downe all things vnder him)

28 And when all things shall bee subdued vnto him, [m] then shall the Sonne also himselfe be subiect vnto him, that did subdue all things vnder him, that [n] God may bee all in all.

29 [15]Else what shall they doe which are baptized [o] for dead: if the dead rise not at all, why are they then baptized for dead?

30 [16]Why are we also in ieopardie euery houre?

31 By your [p] reioycing which I haue in Christ Iesus our Lord, I die dayly.

32 [17]If I haue fought with beastes at Ephesus [q] after the maner of men, what aduantageth it mee, if the dead be not raised vp? * [18]let vs [r] eate and drinke: for to morowe we shall die.

33 [19]Be not deceiued: euill speakings corrupt good maners.

34 Awake to liue righteously, and sinne not: for some haue not the knowledge of God, I speake this to your shame.

35 [20]But some man wil say, How are the dead raised vp? and with what body come they forth?

36 [21]O foole, that which thou sowest, is not quickened, except it die.

37 And that which thou sowest, thou sowest not that body that shall be, but bare corne as it falleth, of wheate, or of some other.

38 [22]But God giueth it a body at his pleasure, euen to euery seede his owne body.

39 All flesh is not the same flesh, but there is one flesh of men, and another flesh of beastes, and another of fishes, and another of birdes.

40 There are also heauenly bodies, and earthly bodies: but the glorie of the heauenly is one, and the glory of the earthly is another.

41 There is another glory of the Sunne, another glory of the Moone, and another glorie of the starres: for one starre differeth from another starre in glorie.

8 Secondly, vnlesse that this be certaine that Christ rose againe, all they which died in Christ are perished. So then what positie commeth of faith?

9 The third argument which is also taken from an absurditie: for vnlesse there be another life, wherein such as trust and beleeue in Christ shalbe blessed, they were the most miserable of all creatures, because in this life they are the most miserable.

10 A conclusion of the former argument: Therefore Christ is risen againe.

11 He vttereth the last conclusion for the first proposition of the Argument that followeth. Christ is risen againe: Therefore that he the faithful (for of them he speaketh) rise againe. Then followeth the first reason of this consequent: for Christ is set forth vnto vs, to be considered of, not as a priuate man apart and by himself, but as the first fruits: And he taketh that which was knowen to al men, to wit, that the whole heape is sanctified in the first fruits. * Colos. 1.18. reuel. 1.5.

f He alludeth to the first fruites of corne, the offering whereof sanctified the rest of the fruites.

12 An other confirmation of the same consiquent: for Christ is to be considered as opposite to Adam, that as from one man Adam, sinne came ouer all, so from one man Christ, like commeth vnto all: that is to say, that all the faithful, as they die, because by nature they were borne of Adam, so because in Christ they are made the children of God by grace, they are quickened and restored to life by him.

g Shal rise by the vertue of Christ. 13 He doeth two things together: for hee sheweth that the resurrection is in such sort common to Christ with all his members, that notwithstanding he farre passeth them, both in time (for he was the first that rose againe from the dead) and also in honour, because that from him and in him is all our life and glory. Then by this occasion hee passeth to the next argument. *1. Thessal. 4.13. 14 The fourth Argument, wherewith also he confirmeth the other, hath a most sure ground, to wit, because that God must reigne. And this is the maner of his reigne, that the Father wil bee shewed to bee King in his Sonne who was made man, to whome all things are made subiect (the promise onely except) to the ende that the Father may afterwardes triumph in his Sonne the conquerour. And he maketh two parts of this reigne and dominion of the Sonne wherein the Fathers glory consisteth: to wit, the ouercomming of his enemies, (whereof some must be depriued of all power, as Satan and all the wicked, be they neuer so proud and mighty, and other must be vtterly abolished, as death) and a plaine and full deliuery of the godly from al enemies, that by this meanes God may fully set forth the body of the Church cleauing fast vnto their head Christ, his kingdome and glory, as a King in his subiects. Moreouer he putteth the first degree of this kingdome in the resurrection of the Sonne, who is the head: and the perfection, in the full coniunction of the members with the head, which shalbe in the latter day. Now al these tend to this purpose, to shew that vnlesse the dead doe rise againe, neither the Father can bee King aboue all, neither Christ be Lord of all: for neither should the power of Satan & death be ouercome, nor the glory of God be ful in his Sonne, nor his sonnes in his members.

h The shutting vp and finishing of all things.

i All his enemies which shall be spoyled of all the power they haue. * Psalme 110.1. acts 2.34. hebr. 1.13. and 10.13.

k Christ is considered here, as hee appeared in the forme of a seruant, in which respect hee ruleth the Church as head, and that because this power was giuen him of his Father.

l The shutting vp of the argument, which is taken from the whole to the part: for if all his enemies shall be put vnder his feete, then must it needs be that death also shall be subdued vnder him. * Psal. 8.6. heb. 2.8.

m Not because the Sonne was not subiect to his Father before, but because his body, that is to say, the Church which is here in distresse, and not yet wholy partaker of his glory, is not yet fully perfect, and also because the bodies of the Saints which be in the graues, shall not be glorified vntill the resurrection: but Christ as hee is God, hath vs subiect to him as his Father hath, but as hee is Priest, hee is subiect to his Father together with vs. Augustine booke 1, chap. 8. of the Trinitie.

n By this like kinde of speach, is set forth an incomprehensible glory which floweth from God, and shall fill all of vs, as we are ioyned together with our head, but yet so, that our head shall alwayes reserue his preeminence.

15 The first argument taken of the end of Baptisme, to wit, because that they which are baptized, are baptized for dead: that is to say, that they may haue a remedie against death, because that baptisme is a token of regeneration.

o They that are baptized to this end and purpose, that death may be put out in them, or to rise againe from the dead, whereof baptisme is a seale.

16 The first argument: Vnlesse there be a resurrection of the dead, why should the Apostles so dayly cast themselues into danger of so many deathes?

p As though hee said, I die dayly, as all the miseries I suffer can wel witnesse, which I may truely boast of that I haue suffered amongst you.

17 The taking away of an obiection: But thou Paul diddst ambitiously as commonly men are wont to doe, when thou diddst fight with beastes at Ephesus: that is very like saith Paul, for what could be that aduantage me, were it not for the glory of eternall life which I hope for?

q Not vpon any godly motion, nor casting mine eyes vpon God, but caryed away with vaine glory, or a certaine headinesse. * Isai. 22.13. 18 The seuenth Argument which dependeth vpon the last: If there be no resurrection of the dead, why doe wee giue our selues to any thing else, saue to eating and drinking.

r These are speaches that Epicures vse. 19 The conclusion with a sharpe exhortation, that they take heede of the naughtie company of certaine: from whence hee sheweth that this mischiefe sprang: warning them to be wise with sobrietie vnto righteousnesse. 20 Nowe that hee hath prooued the resurrection, hee discouereth their doltishnesse, in that they skoffingly demaunded, howe it could bee that the dead could rise againe, and if they did rise againe, they asked mockingly, what maner of bodies they should haue. Therefore hee sendeth these fellowes, which seemed to themselues to bee marueilous wise and wittie, to be instructed of poore rude husbandmen. 21 Thou mightest haue learned either of these, saith Paul, by dayly experience: for seedes are sowen, and rot, and yet notwithstanding so farre it is off that they perish, that contrarywise they grow vp farre more beautifull: and whereas they are sowen naked and bare: they springe vp greene from death by the vertue of God: and doeth it seeme incredible to thee that our bodies should rise from corruption, and that indued with a farre more excellent qualitie?

22 Wee see a diuersitie both in one and the selfe same thing which hath nowe one forme and then another, and yet keepeth it owne kinde: as it is euident in a graine which is sowen bare, but springeth vp farre after another sort: and also in diuers kindes of one selfe same sort, as amongst beastes: and also among things of diuers sorts, as the heauenly bodies and the earthly bodies: which also differ very much one from another. Therefore there is no cause why we should reiect either the resurrection of the bodies, or the changing of them into a better state, as a thing impossible, or strange.

23 He maketh three maner of qualities of the bodies being raised, Incorruption, to wit, because they shal be sound and altogether of a nature that cannot be corrupt: Glorie, because they shalbe adorned with beautie and honour: Power, because they shall continue euerlasting without meate, drinke, and all other helpes, without which this fraile life cannot keepe it selfe from corruption.

f Is buried, and man is hid as seede in the ground.

t Voyde of honor, voyd of glory and beautie.

u Freed from the former weakenesse, whereas it is subiect to such alteration and change, that it cannot maintein it self without meate and drinke, and such other like helpes.

24 He sheweth perfitely in one word this change of the qualitie of the body by the resurrection, when he saith that of a natural body, it shal become a spiritual body: which two qualities being cleane different the one from the other he straightway expounded, & setteth forth diligently. 25 That is called a naturall body which is quickened and maintained by a liuing soule onely such as Adam was, of whome all wee are borne naturally: and that is saide to be a spirituall, which together with the soule is quickened with a farre more excellent vertue, to wit, with the Spirit of God, which descendeth from Christ the second Adam into vs. x Adam is called the first man: because hee is the roote as it were from whence wee spring, and Christ is the latter man, because hee is the beginning of all them that are spirituall, and in him we are all comprehended. * Genesis 2.7. y Christ is called a Spirit, by reason of that most excellent nature, that is to say, God who dwelleth in him bodily, as Adam is called a liuing soule, by reason of the soule which is the best part in him. 26 Secondly, hee setteth the order of this double state or qualitie to bee obserued, that the naturall was first, Adam being created of the clay of the earth: and the spirituall followed and came vpon it, to wit, when as the Lorde being sent from heauen, indued our flesh which was prepared and made fit for him, with the fulnesse of the Godhead. z Walking in durt, and wholly giuen to an earthly nature. a The Lorde is saide to come downe from heauen by that kinde of speach, whereby that which is proper to one is vouched of an other. 27 Hee applieth both the earthly naturalnesse of Adam (if I may so say) to our bodies, so long as they are naturally conuersant vpon earth, to wit, in this life, and in the graue: and also the Spiritualtie of Christ to the same our bodies, after they are risen againe: and he sayeth that that goeth before, and this shall follow. b Not a vaine and false image, but such an one as had the trueth with it in deede. 28 The conclusion. Wee cannot be partakers of the glory of God, vnlesse wee put off all that grosse and filthie nature of our bodies subiect to corruption, that the same body may bee adorned with incorruptible glory. c Flesh and blood are taken here for a liuing body, which cannot attaine to incorruption, vnlesse it put off corruption. 29 He goeth further, declaring that it shall come to passe that they which shall bee found aliue in the latter day, shall not descend into that corruption of the graue, but shall be renewed with a sudden change, which change is very requisite: and that the certaine enioying of the benefite and victorie of Christ, is deferred vnto that latter time. d A thing that hath bene hidde, and neuer knowen hitherto, and therefore worthy that you giue good eare vnto it. e Hee sheweth vs that the time shalbe very short. * Matth. 24.31. 1. thessal. 4.16.

42 23 So also is the resurrection of the dead. The body is [f]sowen in corruption, and is raised in incorruption.

43 It is sowen in [t]dishonour, and is raised in glorie: it is sowen in weakenesse, and is raised in [u]power.

44 24 It is sowen a naturall body, and is raised a spirituall bodie: there is a naturall bodie, and there is a spirituall bodie.

45 25 As it is also written, The [x]first man * Adam was made a liuing soule: and the last Adam was made a [y]quickening Spirite.

46 26 Howbeit that was not first which is spirituall: but that which is naturall, and afterward that which is spirituall.

47 The first man is of the earth, [z]earthly: the second man is the Lord from [a]heauen, 48 27 As is the earthly, such are they that are earthly: and as is the heauenly, such are they also that are heauenly.

49 And as wee haue borne the [b]image of the earthly, so shall wee beare the image of the heauenly.

50 28 This say I, brethren, that [c]flesh and blood cannot inherite the kingdome of God, neither doeth corruption inherite incorruption.

51 29 Beholde, I shew you a [d]secret thing, Wee shall not all sleepe, but wee shall all bee changed.

52 In [e]a moment, in the twinckling of an eye at the last * trumpet: for the trumpet shall blow, and the dead shall be raised vp incorruptible, and we shalbe changed.

53 For this corruptible must put on incorruption: and this mortall must put on immortalitie.

54 So when this corruptible hath put on incorruption, and this mortall hath put on immortalitie, then shall bee brought to passe the saying that is written, * Death is swallowed vp into victorie.

35 O death where is thy sting? O graue where is thy victorie?

56 The sting of death is sinne: and the strength of sinne is the Lawe.

57 But thanks be vnto God, which hath giue[n] vs victorie through our Lorde Iesus Christ.

58 30 Therefore my beloued brethren, be ye stedfast, vnmoueable, abundant alwayes in the worke of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vaine in the [f]Lord.

* 1. Iohn 5.5.

30 An exhortation taken of the profit that ensueth, that seeing they vnderstand that the glory of the other life is laid vp for faithfull workemen, they continue and stand fast in the trueth of the doctrine of the resurrection of the dead.

f Through the Lordes helpe and goodnesse working in vs.

CHAP. XVI.

1 He exhorteth them to helpe the poore brethren of Hierusalem: 10 Then he commendeth Timothie: 13 and so with a friendly exhortation, 19 and commendations, endeth the Epistle.

CConcerning [1]the gathering for ỹ Saints, as I haue ordeined in the Churches of Galatia, so doe ye also.

2 Euery [a]first day of the weeke, let euery one of you put aside by himselfe, and lay vp as God hath [b]prospered him, that then there bee no gatherings when I come.

3 And when I am come, whomsoeuer yee shall allowe by [1]letters, them will I sende to bring your liberalitie vnto Hierusalem.

4 [2]And if it be meete that I goe also, they shall goe with me.

3 Now I wil come vnto you, after I haue gone through Macedonia (for I will passe through Macedonia.)

6 And it may be that I will abide, yea, or winter with you, that ye may bring mee on my way, whithersoeuer I goe,

7 For I will not see you nowe in my passage, but I trust to abide a while with you, if the Lord permit,

8 And I will tarie at Ephesus vntill Pentecost.

9 For a great doore and [d]effectuall is opened vnto me: and there are many aduersaries.

10 CNowe if Timotheus come: see that he be [c]without feare with you: for he worketh the worke of the Lord, euen as I doe.

11 Let no man therefore despise him: but conuey him foorth [f]in peace, that hee may come vnto mee: for I looke for him with the brethren.

12 As touching our brother Apollos, I greatly desired him, to come vnto you with the brethren: but his minde was not at all to come at this time: howbeit he wil come when he shal haue conuenient time.

13 CWatch ye: stand fast in ỹ faith: quite you a Which in time past was called Sunday, but now is called the Lords day.

1 Collections in olde time were made by the Apostles appointment, the first day of the weeke on which day the maner was then to assemble themselues.

b That euery man bestow according to the abilitie that God hath blessed him with.

c Which you shall giue them to carry.

2 The reason of the Epistle is spent in writing of familiar matters, yet so that all things be referred to this purposed matter, that is to say, to the glory of God, and the edifying of the Capitoynes.

d Very fit and conuenient to do things by.

you like men, and be strong.

14 Let all your things be done in loue.

15 Now brethren, I beseech you (ye know the house of g Stephanas, that it is the first fruites of Achaia, and that they haue h giuen themselues to minister vnto the Saints)

16 That ye bee i obedient euen vnto such, and to all that helpe with vs and labour.

17 I am glad of the comming of Stephanas, and Fortunatus, and Achaicus: for they haue supplied the want of you.

18 For they haue comforted my k spirite and yours: l acknowledge therefore such men.

19 The Churches of Asia salute you: Aquila and Priscilla with the Church that is in their house, salute you greatly in the Lord.

20 All the brethren greete you. Greete yee one another, with an *holy kisse.

21 The salutation of me Paul with mine owne hand.

22 If any man loue not the Lorde Iesus Christ, let him bee had in execration m maranatha.

23 The grace of our Lorde Iesus Christ be with you.

24 My loue be with you all in Christ Iesus, Amen.

g Stephanas is the name of a man and not of a woman.

h Giuen themselues wholy to the ministerie.

i That you honour and reuerence them, be obedient to them, and be content to be ruled by them, as meet is you should, seeing they haue bestowed themselues and their goods to helpe you withall.

k Mine heart.

l Take them for such men as they are in deed.

*Rom.16.16. 2.cor.13.12. 1.pet.5.14.

m By these words, is betokened the seuerest kind of curse and excommunication that was among the Iewes: and the wordes are as much to say, as our Lord cometh: So that his meaning may be this, Let him be accursed euen to the comming of the Lord, that is to say, to his deaths day, euen for euer.

The first Epistle to the Corinthians, written from Philippi, and sent by Stephanas, and Fortunatus, and Achaicus, and Timotheus.

The second Epistle of Paul, to the Corinthians.

CHAP. I.

1 He beginneth with the praise of afflictions, 8 declaring what he hath suffred in Asia, 10 & how happily God assisted him. 17 He saith it was not vpon any lightnes, that he came not, according to his promise.

a See the declaration of such salutations, in the former Epistles.

PAVL a an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the will of God, and our brother Timotheus, to the Church of God, which is at Corinthus with all the Saints, which are in all Achaia:

2 Grace be with you, & peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

*Ephes.1.3. 1.pet.1.3.

3 *2 a Blessed be God, euen the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, the Father of b mercies and the God of all comfort, b He beginneth after this maner with thanksgiuing, which notwithstanding (otherwise then he was wont) he applieth to himselfe: beginning his Epistle with the setting forth of the dignitie of his Apostleship, confirmed (as it should seeme) by their impostumitie, which tooke an occasion d to despise him by reason of his miseries. But he answereth, that hee is not so afflicted but that his comforters do exceed his afflictions, shewing the ground of them, euen the mercy of God the Father in Iesus Christ. a To him be praise and glory giuen. b Most mercifull. 3 The Lord doeth comfort vs to this end and purpose, that wee may so much the more surely comfort others. c The miseries which we suffer for Christ, or which Christ suffreth in vs. 4 He denieth that either his afflictions wherwith he was often afflicted, or the consolations which he receiued of God, may iustly be despised, seeing that the Corinthians both might and ought take great occasion to be confirmed by either of them. d Although saluation be giuen freely, yet because there is a way appointed vs whereby we must come to it, which is the race of an innocent and vpright life, which we must run, therefore we are said to worke our saluation, Phil.2.12. And because it is God only that of his free good will worketh all things in vs, therefore is he sayd to worke the saluation in vs by those selfe same things by which we must passe to euerlasting life, after that wee haue once ouercome all incombrances.

4 Which comforteth vs in all our tribulation, 3 that we may bee able to comfort them which are in any affliction by ꝑ comfort wherwith we our selues are comforted of God.

5 For as the c sufferings of Christ abound in vs, so our consolation abounded through Christ.

6 4 And whether we bee afflicted, it is for your consolation and saluation, which is d wrought in the induring of the same sufferings which we also suffer: or whether we be comforted, it is for your consolation and saluation.

7 And our hope is stedfast concerning you, in as much as wee know that as yee are partakers of the sufferings, so shall ye bee also of the consolation.

8 5 For brethren, we would not haue you ignorant of our affliction, which came vnto vs in Asia, how wee were prested out of measure passing strength, so that we altogether e doubted euen of life.

9 Yea, we receiued the sentence of death in f our selues, because we should not trust in our selues, but in God, which raiseth the dead.

10 Who deliuered vs frō so g great a death, and doeth deliuer vs: in whom wee trust, that yet hereafter he will deliuer vs, 11 ¶ *6 So that yee labour together in prayer for vs, 7 that for the gift bestowed vpon vs for many, thankes may bee giuen by many persons for vs.

12 8 For our reioycing is this, the testimonie of our conscience, that in simplicitie and godly h purenesse, and not in fleshly wisedome, but by the i grace of God we haue had our conuersation in the world, and most of all to you wards.

13 For we write k none other things vn-

5 He witnesseth that he is not only not ashamed of his afflictions, but that he declareth also to them all men know the greatnesse of them, and also his deliuerie from them, although it be not perfect.

e I know not at all what to doe, neither did I see by mans helpe which way to saue my life.

f I was resolued within my selfe to die.

g From these great dangers.

*Rom.15.30.

6 That he may not seeme to boast himselfe, he attributeth all to God, and therewith also confesseth that he attributeth much to the prayers of the faithfull.

7 The end of the afflictions of the Saints, is the glory of God, and therefore they ought to be precious vnto vs.

8 Secondly he putteth away another slaunder, to wit, that he was a light man, and such a one as was not lightly to be credited, seeing that he promised to come vnto them, and came not. And first he speaketh of the simplicitie of his mind, and sinceritie, which they knew both by his voyce when he was present, & they ought to acknowledge it also in his letters, being absent: and moreouer hee protesteth that he will neuer be otherwise. h With clearenesse and holy and true plainesse of minde, as God himselfe can witnesse. i Trusting to that very wisedome, which God of his free goodnesse hath giuen me from heauen. k He saieth, hee writeth barely and simplie: for he that writeth in coloured sort, is rightly sayd to write otherwise then we read: and this he saieth the Corinthians shall know and like of very well.

vnto you, then that yee read or els that yee acknowledge, and I trust yee shall acknowledge vnto the [l] end.

14 Euen as yee haue acknowledged vs partly, that we are your [m] reioycing, euen as ye are ours, in the [n] day of our Lord Iesus.

15 And in this confidence was I minded first to come vnto you, that ye might haue had a [o] double grace, 16 And to passe by you into Macedonia, [p] to come againe out of Macedonia, vnto you, and to be led forth toward Iudea of you.

17 [q] When I therefore was thus minded, did I vse lightnesse: or minde I those things which I minde, according to the [r] flesh, that with me should be, [q] Yea, yea, and Nay, nay?

18 [10] Yea, God is [s] faithful, that our word toward you was not Yea, and Nay.

19 [11] For the Sonne of God Iesus Christ, who was preached among you by vs, that is, by me, and Siluanus, and Timotheus, [t] was not Yea, and Nay: but in [t] him it was Yea.

20 [12] For all the promises of God in him are Yea, and are in [u] him Amen, vnto the glory of God through [x] vs.

21 [13] And it is God which stablisheth vs with you in Christ, and hath anointed vs.

22 Who hath also sealed vs, and hath giuen the [y] earnest of the spirit in our hearts.

23 [14] Now, I call God for a record vnto my [z] soule, that to spare you, I came not as yet vnto Corinthus.

24 [16] Not that wee haue dominion ouer your faith, but we are helpers of your [a] ioy: for by faith ye stand.

m Pauls reioycing in the Lord was, that he had wonne the Corinthians: and they themselues reioyced that such an Apostle was their instructer, and taught them so purely and sincerely.
n When he shall sit as iudge.
o Another benefite.
p He putteth away their slander and false report by denying it, and first of all in that that diuers went about to perswade the Corinthians, that in the preaching of the Gospel, Paul agreed not to himself: for this was the matter and the case.
q That I should say and vnsay a thing?
r As men doe, which wil rashly promise any thing, & change their purpose at euery turning of an hand.
s He calleth God to witnesse and for iudge, of his constancie in preaching and teaching one selfe same Gospel.
t True, and of whose faithfulnesse it were horrible wickednesse to doubt.
u Hee ioyneth also with himselfe, his fellowes as witnesses with whom he fully consented in teaching one selfe same thing, to wit, one selfe same Christ.
x Was not diuers & wauering.
y That is, in God.
z Christ is set foorth to exhibite and fulfill them all most assuredly, and without all doubt.
a Through our ministerie.
b Christ is the earnest of the spirit in our hearts.
c He declareth the summe of his doctrine, to wit, that all the promises of saluation are sure and ratified in Christ.
d Christ is set foorth to exhibite and fulfill them all most assuredly, and without all doubt.
e Through our ministerie.
f He ascribeth the praise of this constancie, onely to the grace of God through the holy Ghost, and therewithall concludeth, that they cannot doubt of his faith and his sincerity, without doing iniurie to the Spirit of God, seeing that they themselues do know all this to be true.
g An earnest, is whatsoeuer is giuen to confirme a promise.
h Now comming to the matter, hee sweareth, that hee did not onely, not lightly alter his purpose of comming to them, but rather that he came not vnto them for this cause, that hee might not be constrained to deale more sharply with them being present, then he would.
i Against my selfe, and to the danger of mine owne life.
k He remoueth all suspicion of arrogancie, declaring that he speaketh not as a Lorde vnto them, but as a seruant, appointed of God to comfort them.
l He setteth the ioy and peace of conscience, which God is authour of, against tyrannous feare, and therewithall sheweth the end of the Gospel.

CHAP. II.

1 He excuseth his not comming vnto them, 2 and priuily reprehendeth them: 4 He sheweth that such is his affection toward them, 5 that hee neuer reioyceth but when they are merie, 6 Perceiuing the adulterer (whom he commanded to be deliuered vp to Satan) to repent, hee requesteth that they forgiue him. 31 He mentioneth his going into Macedonia.

BVt I determined thus in my selfe, that I would not come againe to you in [a] heauinesse.

2 For if I make you sorie, who is he then that should make me glad, but the same which is made sorie by me?

a Causing griefe amongst you, which he should haue done, if he had come to the before they had repented them.

3 And I wrote this same thing vnto you, least when I came, I should take heauinesse of them, of whom I ought to reioyce: this [b] confidence haue I in you all, that my ioy is the ioy of you all.

4 For in great affliction, and anguish of heart I wrote vnto you with many teares: not that ye should be made sorie, but that ye might perceiue the loue which I haue, specially vnto you.

5 [1] And if any hath caused sorow, the same hath not made [c] mee sorie, but [d] partly (least I should more [e] charge him) you all.

6 It is sufficient vnto the same man, that he was rebuked of many.

7 So that now contrarywise yee ought rather to [f] forgiue him, and comfort him, least the same should bee swalowed vp with ouermuch heauines.

8 Wherefore, I pray you, that you would [g] confirme your loue towards him.

9 For this cause also did I write, that I might know [h] proofe of you, whether ye would be obedient in all things.

10 To whom ye forgiue any thing, I forgiue also: for verely if I forgaue any thing, to whom I forgaue it, for your sakes forgaue I it in the [h] sight of Christ, 11 Lest Satan should circumuent vs: for we are not ignorant of his [i] enterprises.

12 ¶ [2] Furthermore, whē I came to Troas to preach Christs Gospell, and a doore was opened vnto me of the Lord, 13 I had no rest in my spirite, because I found not Titus my brother, but tooke my leaue of them, and went away into Macedonia.

14 Now thanks bee vnto God, which alwayes maketh vs to triumph in Christ, & [k] maketh manifest the [k] sauour of his knowledge by vs in euery place.

15 [3] For wee are vnto God the sweete sauour of Christ, in them that are saued, and in them which perish, 16 To the one we are the sauour of death, vnto death, and to the other the sauour of life, vnto life: [4] and who is sufficient for these things?

17 * For wee are not as many, which make [l] marchandise of the worde of God:

b For I trusted that you would take that out of the way forthwith, which you knew I was discontented with considering how you are perswaded that my ioy is your ioy.
1 He passeth to another part of this Epistle: which notwithstanding is put amongst the first, wherevnto he returneth afterward: and he handleth the releasing and vnloosing of the incestuous person, because he seemed to haue giuen sufficient testimonie of his repentance: shewing the true vse of excommunication, to wit, that it proceed not of hatred, but of loue, and to end, least if we keepe no measure, we serue Satan the deuil.
c As if he said, All that sorow is so cleane wiped away, as though he had neuer felt it.
d As for me (saieth Paul) I haue no more to do with him.
e Least I should ouercharge him, who is hardened inough of himselfe, which I would be glad were taken from him.
f That whereas before you punished him sharply, you would now forgiue him.
g That at my entreatie, you would declare by the consent of the whole Church, that you take him againe for a brother.
h Truely & from the heart.
i Of his mischieuous counsel and deuilish wil.
2 He returneth to the confirmation of his Apostleship, and bringeth forth the testimonies, both of his labours, and also of Gods blessing.
3 He alludeth to the oinking of the Priests, and the incense of the sacrifices.
4 He denieth that ought should be taken away from the dignitie of his Apostleship, because they saw euidently that it was not receiued with like successe in euery place. nay rather very many reiected and detested him, seeing that he preacheth Christ, not onely as a Sauiour of them that beleeue, but also as a iudge of them that contemne him.
4 Againe, hee putteth away all suspicion of arrogancie, attributing all things that he did, to the vertue of God, whom he serueth sincerely, and without all dishonest affection: whereof hee maketh them witnesses, euen to the 6. perle of the next Chapter.
* Chapter 4.2.
l Wee doe not handle it craftily and couetously, or lesse syncerely then we ought: and he vseth a metaphore which is taken from buckesters, which vse to play the false harlots with whatsoeuer commeth into their hands.

but but as of sinceritie, but as of God in the sight of God speake we in Christ.

CHAP. III.

1 He desireth no other commendation, 3 then their continuing in the faith. 6 He is a minister not of the letter, but of the Spirite. 8 Hee sheweth the difference of the Lawe and the Gospell, 13 That the brightnesse of the Lawe doeth rather dimme the sight then lighten it: 18 But the Gospell doeth make manifest Gods countenaunce vnto vs.

1 The Apostle frameth his speach wisely, that by litle and litle, he may come from the commendation of the person, to the matter it self.

DO we begin to praise our selues againe? or need we as some other, epistles of recommendation vnto you, or letters of recommendation from you?

2 Ye are our epistle, written in our hearts, which is vnderstood, and read of all men, b Which I tooke paines to write as it were.

3 In that ye are [a] manifest, to bee the Epistle of Christ, [b] ministred by vs, and written, not with inke, but with the Spirite of the [c] liuing God, [1] not in tables of stone, but in fleshly tables of the heart.

c By the way, he setteth the vertue of God, against the inke wherewith epistles are commonly written, to shew that it was wrought by God.

4 And such [d] trust haue we through Christ to God:

1 He alludeth by the way, to the comparison of the outward ministerie of the priesthood of Leui, with the ministerie of the Gospel, and the Apostolicall ministerie, which he handleth afterward more fully.

5 Not that we are sufficient of our selues, to thinke any thing, as of our selues: but our [e] sufficiencie is of God, d This boldnesse we shew, and thus gloriously may we boast of the worthinesse and fruit of our ministerie.

6 [2] Who also hath made vs able ministers of the New testament, not of the [f] letter, but of the Spirit: for the letter killeth, but the Spirit giueth life.

e In that we are fit and meete to make other men partakers of so great a grace.

7 If then the ministration of death written with letters & ingrauen in stones, was [h] glorious, so that the children of Israel could not behold the face of Moses, for the glory of his countenance (which glory is done away,)

2 He amplifieth his ministerie & his fellowes: that is to say, the ministerie of the Gospel, comparing it with the ministerie of the Law, which he considereth in the person of Moses, by whom the Law was giuen: against whom hee setteth Christ the author of the Gospell. Now this comparison is taken from the very substance of ỹ ministerie. The Law is as it were a writing of it selfe dead, & without efficacie: but the Gospel, or new Couenant, is as it were the very vertue of God it selfe, in renewing, iustifying and sauing of men. The Lawe propounded death, accusing men of vnrighteousnesse: The Gospel offereth and giueth righteousnes and life. The gouernance of the Law serued for a time to the promise: The Gospel remaineth to the end of the world. Therfore what is the glory of that in comparison of the maiestie of this?

8 How shall not the [i] ministration of the Spirit be more glorious?

9 For if the ministerie of condemnation was glorious, much more doeth the ministration of [k] righteousnesse exceed in glory.

10 For euen that which was glorified, was not glorified in this point, that is, as touching the exceeding glory.

11 For if that which should bee [l] abolished, was glorious, much more shall that which remaineth, be glorious.

12 [3] Seeing then that we haue such trust, we vse great boldnesse of speach.

f Not of the Law, but of the Gospel. g Imprinted and ingrauen: so that by this place we may plainely perceiue, that the Apostle speaketh not of the ceremonies of the Lawe, but euen of the ten commandements. h This word, Glory, betokeneth a brightnesse, and a maiestie which was bodily in Moses, but spiritually in Christ. i Whereby God offereth, yea and giueth the Spirit, not as a dead thing, but a quickning Spirite, working life. k To wit, of Christ, which being imputed to vs as our owne, wee are not onely not condemned, but also wee are crowned as righteous. l The Lawe, yea, and the ten commandements themselues, together with Moses, is abolished, if we consider the ministerie of Moses apart by it selfe. 3 He sheweth wherein standeth this glory of the preaching of the Gospel, to wit, in that that it setteth foorth plainely and euidently, that which the Lawe shewed darkely, for it sent them that heard it to be healed of Christ, which was to come, after it had wounded them.

13 [*4] And we are not as Moses, which put a vaile vpon his face, that the children of Israel should not looke vnto the [m] ende of that which should be abolished.

*Exod.34.34.

4 He expounded by the way, the allegorie of Moses his couering, which was a token of the darknesse and weaknesse that is in men, which were rather dulled by the bright shining of the law, then lightened: which couering was taken away by the comming of Christ, who lighteneth the hearts, and turneth them to the Lord, that we may be brought from the slaunder of this blindnes, & set in the libertie of the light, by the vertue of Christs spirit.

14 Therefore their mindes are hardened: for vntill this day remaineth the same couering vntaken away in the reading of the olde Testament, which vaile in Christ is put away.

15 But euen vnto this day, when Moses is read, the vaile is laid ouer their hearts.

16 Neuertheless when their heart shall be turned to the Lord, the vaile shall bee taken away.

17 Now the [n] Lord is the * Spirit, and where the Spirite of the Lorde is, there is libertie.

m Into the very bottome of Moses his ministerie.

n Christ is that Spirit, which taketh away that couering, by working in our hearts, whereunto also the Law it selfe called vs, though in vaine, because it speaketh to dead mē, vntil the Spirit quickneth vs. *John 4.14.

18 [5] But we all behold as in a mirrour, the glory of the Lord with open face, and are changed into the same image, from glory to glory, as by the Spirit of the Lord.

5 Going forwards in the allegorie of the couering, he compareth the Gospel to a glasse, which although it be most bright and sparkling, yet doeth it not onely not dasel their eies, which looke in it, as the Law doth, but also transformeth them with it beames, so that they also be partakers of the glory & shining of it, to lighten others: as Christ sayd to his, You are the light of the world, whereas he himselfe was the onely light. We are also commanded in another place, to shine as candles before the world, because we are partakers of Gods spirit. But Paul speaketh here properly of the ministers of the Gospel, as it appeareth both by that that goeth before, and that that commeth after, and that, letting them his owne example and his fellowes.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Hee sheweth that hee hath so laboured in preching the Gospell, 4 that such are euen blinded of Satan, who dee not perceiue the brightnesse thereof, 7 that the same is caried in earthen vessels, 10 who are subiect to many miseries, 16 and therefore hee exhorteth them by his owne example to bee courageous, 17 and contemne this present life.

THerefore, [1] seeing that we haue this ministerie, as wee haue receiued mercy, wee [a] faint not:

1 Now be plainly witnesseth that both he and his fellowes (through the mercy of God) do their vocation and duety rightly and sincerely, neglecting all dangers.

2 But haue cast from vs the [b] cloakes of shame, and walke not in craftinesse, neither handle we the word of God [c] deceitfully: but in declaration of the trueth wee approoue our selues to euery mans conscience in the sight of God.

a Though we are broken in pieces with miseries and calamities, yet we yeeld not.

b Subtiltie, and all kind of deceit, which men hunt after, as it were deuises and lurking holes, to, couer their shameleese dealings withall.

3 [2] If our Gospel be then hid, it is hid to them that are lost, c This is that in the former Chapter he called, making marchandise of the word of God. 2 An obiection: Many heare the Gospel, and yet are no more lightened thereby, then by the preaching of the Lawe. Hee answereth. The fault is in the men themselues, whose eyes Satan plucketh out, who rulerh in this world. And yet notwithstanding both he and his fellowes set forth the most cleare light of the Gospell to be seene and beholden, seeing that Christ whom only they preach, is he in whom onely God will bee knowen, and as it were seene.

4 In whom the God of this world hath blinded the mindes, that is, of the infidels, that the [d] light of the glorious Gospell of Christ, which is the [e] image of God, should not shine vnto them.

d The light of plaine & lightsome preaching, which telleth forth ỹ glory of Christ.

e In whom the Father setteth foorth himselfe to be seene and beholden.

3 He removeth according to his accustomed maner, all suspicion of ambition, and touching that he teacheth faithfully, but as a seruant, and witnessing that all this light which he and his fellowes giue to other, proceedeth from the Lord.

f So preach this selfe same Iesus to you.

*Gen. 1. 3.

g Which made onely with his word.

h That being lightened of God, we should in like sort giue that light to others.

4 He taketh away a stumbling blocke, by which was darkned amongst some the bright shining of the ministerie of the Gospel to wit, because the Apostles were the most miserable of all men. Paul answereth that he and his fellowes, are as it were, earthen vessels, but yet there is in them a most precious treasure.

5 He bringeth marueilous reasons, why the Lord doeth so afflict his chiefest seruants, to the end saieth he, that all men may perceiue that they stand not by any mans vertue, but by the singular vertue of God, in that they die a thousand times, but neuer perish.

5 [3] For wee preach not our selues, but Christ Iesus the Lord, & our selues your seruants for [f] Iesus sake.

6 For God *[s] that commanded the light to shine out of darkenesse, is he which hath shined in our heartes, to giue the [h] light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Iesus Christ.

7 [4] But we haue this treasure in earthen vessels, [5] that the excellencie of ỳ power might be of God, and not of vs.

8 We are afflicted on euery side, yet are we not in distresse: we are in doubt, but yet we despaire not.

9 We are persecuted, but not forsaken: cast downe, but we perish not.

10 [6] Euery where wee beare about in our body the [i] dying of the Lord Iesus, that the life of Iesus might also bee made manifest in our bodies.

11 For we which [k] liue, are alwayes deliuered vnto death for Iesus sake, that the life also of Iesus might bee made manifest in our [l] mortall flesh.

12 [7] So then death worketh in vs, and life in you.

13 [8] And because we haue the same [m] spirit of faith, according as it is written, * I beleeued, and therefore haue I spoken, we also beleeue, and therefore speake, 14 Knowing that he which hath raised vp the Lord Iesus, shal raise vs vp also by Iesus, and shall set vs with you.

15 [9] For all things are for your sakes, [n] that that most plenteous grace by the thanksgiuing of many, may redound to the prayse of God.

16 Therefore we faint not, [10] but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is [o] renewed daily.

17 For our [p] light affliction which is but for a moment, causeth vnto vs a farre more excellent & an eternal waight of [q] glory:

q Which remaineth for euer firme and stable, and can neuer be shaken.

18 While we looke not on the things which are seene, but on the things which are not seene: for the things which are seene, are temporall: but the things which are not seen, are eternal.

CHAP. V.

1 Hee continueth in the same argument, 6 touching the certaine hope of saluation 8 Through faith, 12 not to prayse himselfe, 14 seeing hee hath God and his Church before his eyes, 17 and esteemeth nothing, but newnesse of life in Christ.

FOr [1] we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle bee destroyed, wee haue a building giuen of God, that is, an house not made with hands, but eternall in the heauens.

1 Taking occasion by the former comparison, he compareth this miserable body as it is in this life, to a fraile & brickle tabernacle, against which he setteth the heauenly tabernacle, so terming that sure and euerlasting condition of this same body glorified in heauen, in so much saith he, that we are not only not addicted to this tabernacle, but also we with sobs and sighes desire rather that tabernacle. And so this place also concerning the glory to come, is put within the treatise of the dignitie of the ministerie, as ỳ other was, whereof we spake in the beginning of the second chapter.

2 For therefore we sigh, desiring to bee [a] clothed with our house, which is from [b] heauen.

a He calleth the glory of immortalitie, which we shalbe as it were clothed with a garment.

b Heauenly, not that the substance of it is heauenly,

3 [2] Because that if we be clothed, we shall not be found *naked.

4 For in deed we that are in this tabernacle, sigh and are burdened, because wee would not be vnclothed, but would be clothed vpon, that mortalitie might be swalowed vp of life.

5 And hee that hath [c] created vs for this thing, is God, who also hath giuen vnto vs the earnest of the Spirit.

6 [3] Therefore we are alway [d] bold, though we know that whiles we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord,

7 (For wee walke by [e] faith, and not by sight.)

8 Neuertheless, we are [f] bold, and loue rather to remoove out of the body, and to dwell with the Lord.

9 Wherefore also we scouet, that both dwelling at home, and remooving from home, wee may be acceptable to him.

10 *[4] For wee must all [h] appeare before the iudgement seate of Christ, that euery man may receiue the thinges which are done in but for the glory of it. 2 An exposition of the former saying: We doe not without cause, desire to be clad with the heauenly house, that is, with that euerlasting and immortall glory, as with a garment: for when we depart hence, we shall not remaine naked, hauing once cast off the couering of this body, but we shall take our bodies againe, which shall put on, as it were, another garment besides: and therefore we sigh not for the wearines of this life, but for the desire of a better life: neither is this desire in vaine, for we are made to that life, the pledge whereof we haue, euen the Spirit of adoption. *Reuel. 16. 15. c Hee meaneth that first creation, to giue vs to vnderstand, that our bodies were made to this end, that they should be clothed with heauenly immortalitie. 3 He inferreth vpon this sentence which went next before, thus, Therefore seeing that we know by the Spirit, that we are strangers so long as we are here, we patiently suffer this variance (for we are now so with God, that we behold him but by faith, and are therefore now absent from him) but so, that we aspire and haue a longing alwayes to him: therefore also we behaue our selues so, that we may be acceptable to him, both while we liue here, and when we goe from hence to him. d He calleth them (bolde) which are alwayes resolued with a quiet and setled minde to suffer what danger soeuer, nothing doubting but their end shalbe happie. e Faith, of those things which we hope for, and not hauing God presently in our view. f And yet we are in such sort bolde, and doe so passe on our pilgrimage with a valiant and quiet minde, that yet notwithstanding we had rather depart hence to the Lord. g And seeing it is so, we striue to liue so, that both in this our pilgrimage here we may please him, and that at length we may be receiued home to him. *Rom. 14. 10. 4 That no man might thinke it to perteine to all, which he spake of that heauenly glory, he addeth, that euery one shall first render an account of his pilgrimage, after that he is departed from hence. h We must all appeare personally, and enquirie shall be made of vs, that all may see, how we haue liued.

6 An amplification of the former sentence, wherein he compareth his afflictions to a dayly death, and the vertue of the Spirit of God in Christ, to life, which oppresseth that death. i So Paul calleth that miserable estate and condition, that the faithfull, but especially the ministers are in. k Which liue that life, to wit, by the Spirit of Christ, amongst so many & so great miseries. l Subiect to that miserable condition. 7 A very cunning conclusion: as if he would say, Therefore to be short, we die, that you may liue by our death, for that they ventured into all those dangers for the building of the Churches sake, and they ceased not to confirme all the faithfull with the examples of their patience. 8 He declareth the former sentence, shewing that he and his fellowes die in a sort, to purchase life to others, but yet notwithstanding they are partakers of the same life with them: because they themselues doe first beleeue that, which they propound to other to beleeue, to wit, that they also shall be saued together with them, in Christ. m The same faith, by the inspiration of the same Spirit. *Psal. 116. 10. 9 He sheweth how this constancie is preserued in them, to wit, because they respect Gods glory and the saluation of the Churches committed vnto them. n When it shall please God to deliuer me, & restore me to you, that exceeding benefit which shalbe powred vpon me, shall in like sort redound to the glory of God, by the thanksgiuing of many. 10 He adeeth, as it were, a triumphant song, how that he is outwardly afflicted, but inwardly he profiteth dayly: and passeth not at al for all the miseries that may be sustained in this life, in comparison of that most constant and eternal glory. o Gathereth new strength, that the outward man be not ouercome with the miseries which come freshly one vpon the necke of another, being maintained and vpholden with the strength of the inward man. p Afflictions are not called light, as though they were light of themselues, but because they passed away quickly, when as in deed our whole life is of no great long continuance.

his body according to that he hath done, whether it be good or euill.

11 [e] Knowing therefore that [i] terrour of the Lord, we perswade men and we are made manifest vnto God, and I trust also that wee are made manifest in your consciences.

12 [6] For wee praise not our selues againe vnto you, but giue you an occasion to reioyce of vs, that yee may haue to answere against them, which reioyce in the [k] face, and not in the heart.

13 [7] For whether wee bee out of our wit, we are it to God: or whether wee bee in our right minde, we are it vnto you.

14 [8] For that loue of Christ [l] constraineth vs,

15 Because wee thus iudge, that if [m] one bee dead for all, then were all dead, and hee died for al, that they which liue, should not hencefoorth [n] liue vnto themselues, but vnto him which died for them, and rose againe.

16 [9] Wherefore, hencefoorth know wee no man after the flesh, [10] yea though wee had knowen Christ after the flesh, yet now hencefoorth know we him no more.

17 [11] Therefore if any man be in Christ, let him be a [o] newe creature. * Old things are passed away: beholde, all things are become new.

18 [12] And all things are of God, which hath reconciled vs vnto himselfe by Iesus Christ, and hath giuen vnto vs the ministrie of reconciliation.

19 For God was in Christ, and reconciled the world to himselfe, not imputing their sinnes vnto them, and hath [p] committed to vs the worde of reconciliation.

20 Nowe then are wee ambassadours for Christ: as though God did beseech you through vs, wee pray you in Christes steade, that ye be reconciled to God.

21 For he hath made him to be [q] sinne for vs, which [r] knew no sinne, that wee shoulde be made the [s] righteousnesse of God in him.

him. r Who was cleane voyd of sinne. s Righteous before God, and that with righteousnesse which is not essentiall to vs, but being essentiall in Christ, God imputeth it to vs through faith.

CHAP. VI.

1 He exhorteth them to leade their liues as it becommeth Christians, 5 neither to be dismayed in tribulations, 9 not puffed vp with glory. 14 to auoyde all vncleanesse, 16 concerning that they are the temples of the liuing God.

SO [1] we therefore as workers together beseech you, that yee receiue not the grace of God in vaine.

2 [2] For he sayth, * I haue heard thee in a time [a] accepted, and in the day of saluation haue I succoured thee: beholde nowe the accepted time, beholde nowe the day of saluation.

3 [3] Wee giue no occasion of offence in any thing, that our ministerie should not be reprehended.

4 But in al things we [b] approue our selues as * the ministers of God, [4] in much patience, in afflictions, in necessitie, in destresses,

5 In stripes, in prisons, in [c] tumults, in labours.

6 [5] By watchings, by fastings, by puritie, by knowledge, by long suffering, by kindnesse, by the holy Ghost, by loue vnfained,

7 By the [d] worde of trueth, by the [e] power of God, by the [f] armour of righteousnesse on the right hand, and on the left,

8 By honour, and dishonour, by euill report, and good report, as deceiuers, and yet true:

9 As vnknowen and yet knowen: as dying, and beholde, wee liue: as chastened, and yet not killed:

10 As sorowing, and yet alway reioycing: as poore, and yet make many rich: as hauing nothing, and yet possessing all things.

11 [6] O Corinthians, our mouth is [g] open vnto you: our heart is made large.

6 He remoueth all suspicion of pride, by a new reason, because it is behoueable, not for his part, but for their's, that his Apostleship be counted sincere against the vaine ostentation of a few others.

k In outward disguisings, and that coloured shew of mans wisdom and eloquence, and not in true godlines, which is sealed in the heart.

7 The meaning is: Euen when I am mad (as some men thinke of me) whilest I seeme as a foole to boast my selfe, I doe it for your profite, no lesse then when I preach the Gospel simply vnto you.

8 He goeth forward in putting away all suspicion of desire of estimation and boasting: for the loue of Christ, saieth he, constrayneth vs hereunto, that seeing he died for vs all, which were dead when as we liued to our selues (that is, while wee were yet giuen to these earthly affections) wee in like sort should consecrate our whole life which we haue receiued of him, to him (to wit) being indued with the holy Ghost, to this end and purpose, that wee should meditate vpon nothing but that which is heauenly. l Possesseth vs wholy. m He speaketh here of sanctification, whereby it commeth to passe that Christ liueth in vs. n Looke Rom. chap. 6. and 7. 9 He sheweth what it is, not to liue to our selues but to Christ, to wit, to know no man according to the flesh, that is to say, to bee so conuersant amongst men, as not to care for those worldly and carnall things, as they do which respect a mans flocke, his country, kinne, glory, riches, and such like, wherein men commonly dote and weatie themselues. 10 An amplification: This is, saieth he, so true, that we doe not now thinke carnally of Christ himselfe, who hath now left the world, and therefore must be considered of vs, spiritually. 11 An exhortation for euery man which is renewed with the spirit of Christ, to meditate heauenly things, and not earthly. o As a thing made anewe of God, for though a man be not newely created when God giueth him the spirit of regeneration, but onely his qualities are changed, yet notwithstanding it pleased the holy Ghost to speake so, to teach vs, that we must attribute all things to the glory of God: not that wee are stockes and blockes, but because God createth in vs, both the will to will well, and the power to doe well. * Esay 43.19. reuelation 21.5. 12 He commendeth the excellencie of the ministerie of the Gospell, both by the authoritie of God himselfe, who is the author of that ministerie, and also by the excellencie of the doctrine of it: for it announceth atonement with God, by free forgiuenesse of our sinnes, and iustification offered vnto vs in Christ, and that so louingly and liberally, that God himselfe doeth after a sort pray men by the mouth of his ministers to haue consideration of themselues, and not to despise so great a benefite. And when he so saieth, hee plainly reprehendeth them which falsely challenged to themselues the name of pastours. p Vsed our labour and trauaile.

CHAP. VII.

1 Least by ouermuch vrging them hee should dismay their tender minds, 2 he proueth that all that he said, 4 proceeded of the great good will he bore vnto them: 8 and therefore they should not be offended, that he made them sory, 10 and brought them to repentance not to bee repented of.

SEeing then we haue these promises, dearely beloued, let vs cleanse our selues from all filthinesse of the [a]flesh and spirit, and finish our sanctification in the feare of God.

2 [1b]Receiue vs: we haue done wrong to no man: we haue corrupted no man: wee haue defrauded no man.

3 I speake it not to your [c]condemnation: for I haue said before, that ye are in our hearts, to die and liue together.

4 I vse great boldnesse of speach toward you: I reioyce greatly in you: I am filled with comfort, and am exceeding ioyous in all our tribulation.

5 For when wee were come into Macedonia, our flesh had no rest, but we were troubled on euery side, fightings without, and terrours within.

6 But God, that comforteth the [d]abiect, comforted vs at the [e]comming of Titus:

7 And not by his comming onely, but also by the consolation wherewith hee was comforted of you, when hee told vs your great desire, your mourning, your feruent mind to mee ward, so that I reioyced much more.

8 [2]For though I made you sorie with a letter, I repent not, though I did repent: for I perceiue that the same Epistle made you sorie, though it were but for a season.

9 I nowe reioyce, not that ye were sorie, but that ye sorowed to [f]repentance: for ye sorowed godly, so that in nothing yee were hurt by vs.

10 For [g]godly sorow causeth repentance vnto saluation, not to bee repented of: but the worldly sorow causeth death.

11 For behold this thing that ye haue bene godly sory, what care it hath wrought in you: yea, what clearing of your selues: yea, what indignation: yea, what feare: yea, how great desire: yea, what a zeale: yea, what reuenge: in all things ye haue shewed your selues, that ye are pure in this matter.

12 Wherefore, though I wrote vnto you, I did it not for his cause that had done the wrong, neither for his cause that had the iniurie, but that our care toward you in the [h]sight of God might appeare vnto you.

13 Therfore we were comforted, because yee were comforted: but rather wee reioyced much more for the ioy of Titus, because his spirit was refreshed by you all.

14 For if that I haue boasted any thing to him of you, I haue not bene ashamed: but as I haue spoken vnto you all things in trueth, euen so our boasting vnto Titus was true.

15 And his inward affection is more abundant toward you, when he remembreth the obedience of you al, & how with feare and trembling ye receiued him.

16 I reioyce therfore that I may put my confidence in you in all things.

a Both of body and soule, that by this meanes the sanctification may be perfit consisting in both the parts thereof.

1 Or returneth againe from that admonition, to his own person, opposing the testimonies both of his faithfulnesse and also of his continuall good will towards them.

b Let me haue some place amongst you, that I may teach you.

c To condemne you of vnkindnesse or treachery.

d Whose hearts are cast downe, and are very sore vexed.

e With those things which Titus told me of you at his comming, to wit, how faithfully you read ouer my letters, moreouer & besides that I am exceedingly refreshed with his presence.

2 An obiection: But thou hast handled vs roughly: The Apostle answereth that he was not this roughnesse without griefe. And he addeth moreouer, that he is also glad now, that he braue them to that sorow, although it was against his will, since it was so profitable vnto them: for there is a sorow not onely prayse worthie, but also necessarie, to wit, whereby repentance groweth by certaine degrees, for the which repentance he prayseth them highly. And this is the fifth part of this Epistle.

f In so much that that sorow did you much good towards the amendding of your lewd nesse and sinnes.

g Godly sorow is when we are not terrified with the feare of punishment, but because we feele we haue offended God our most mercifull Father. Contrary to this there is another sorow, that onely feareth punishment, or when a man is vexed for the losse of some worldly goods: the fruite of the first, is repentie, the fruite of the second is deperation, vnlesse the Lord helpe speedily.

h It was not en-joured nor counterfet, but such as I dare stand to before God.

CHAP. VIII.

1 He exhorteth them by the example of the Macedonians 9 and also euen of Christ himselfe, 14 to be liberall towards the Saints: 16 For which purpose, hee sheweth that Titus, 18 and another brother came vnto them.

WE [1]doe you also to wit, brethren, of the [a]grace of God bestowed vpon the Churches of Macedonia,

2 Because in [b]great triall of affliction their ioy abounded, and their most extreeme pouertie abounded vnto their rich liberalitie.

3 For to their power (I beare record) yea, and beyond their power, they were [c]willing.

4 And prayed vs with great instance that we would receiue the [d]grace, and fellowship of the ministring which is toward the Saints.

5 [2]And thus they did, not as wee looked for: but gaue their owne selues, first to the Lord, and after vnto vs by the will of God,

1 The first part of this Epistle concerning diuers obiections against the Corinthians to stirre vp the Corinthians to liberalitie, wherewith the pouertie of the Church of Hierusalem might be holpen in time conuenient. And first of all he setteth out before them the example of the Churches of Macedonia which otherwise were brought by great misserie to extreme pouertie, to the end that they should follow them. a The benefite that God bestowed vpon the Churches. b For those manifold afflictions wherwith the Lord tried them, did not onely quaile their ioyfull readines, but also made it much more excellent and famous. c Of their owne accord they were liberall. d Hee calleth that, Grace, that other men would haue called a burden. And this verse is no be expounded by the first verse. 2 He amplifieth the forwardnesse of the Macedonians, in this, that they also desired Paul to stirre vp the Corinthians to accomplish the gining of almes, by sending againe of Titus vnto them.

6 That we should exhort Titus, that as he had begunne, so he would also accomplish the same grace among you also.

7 Therefore, as ye abound in euery thing, in faith and word, and knowledge, and in all diligence, and in your loue towards vs, euen so see that ye abound in this grace also.

8 [3] This say I not by commandement, but because of the [c] diligence of others: therefore proue I the [f] naturalnesse of your loue.

9 [4] For yee know the grace of our Lorde Iesus Christ, that he being rich, for your sakes became poore, that yee through his pouertie might be made rich.

10 [5] And I shew my mind herein: for this is expedient for you, which haue begun not to doe onely, but also to [g] will, a yeere agoe.

11 Now therefore perfourme to doe it also, that as there was a readinesse to will, euen so ye may perfourme it of that which ye haue.

12 [6] For if there be first a willing minde, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not.

13 [7] Neither is it that other men should be eased, and you grieued: But vpon [h] like condition, at this time your abundance supplieth their lacke:

14 That also their abundance may be for your lacke, that there may be equalitie:

15 As it is written, * Hee that gathered much, had nothing ouer, and he that gathered litle, had not the lesse.

16 [8] And thankes bee vnto God, which hath put in the heart of Titus the same care for you, 17 Because hee accepted the exhortation, yea, he was so carefull that of his owne accord he went vnto you.

18 And wee haue sent also with him the brother, whose praise is [i] in the Gospel throughout all the Churches.

19 (And not so onely, but is also chosen of the Churches to bee a fellow in our iourney, concerning this [k] grace that is ministred by vs vnto the glory of the same Lord, and declaration of your prompt minde)

20 Auoyding this, that no man shoulde blame vs in this [l] abundance that is ministred by vs, 21 * Prouiding for honest things, not only before the Lord, but also before men.

22 And wee haue sent with them our brother, whom we haue oft times proued to be diligent in many things, but nowe much more diligent, for the great confidence, which I haue in you.

23 Whether any doe enquire of Titus, he is my fellow and helper to youward: or of our [m] brethren, they are messengers of the Churches, and the [n] glory of Christ.

24 Wherefore shew toward them, and before the [o] Churches the proofe of your loue, and of the reioycing that we haue of you.

you are, for so much as you see the messengers whom they haue consens, and sent them vnto you. chosen by all their

CHAP. IX.

1 Why, albeit he thinke well of their readie willes, 3 yet earnestly exhorteth them, 4 he yeldeth a reason: 6 He compareth almes to seede sowing, 13 which God doeth repay with great gaines.

FOr [1] as touching the ministring to the Saints, it is superfluous for me to write vnto you.

2 For I knowe your readinesse of minde, whereof I boast my selfe of you vnto them of Macedonia, and say, that Achaia was prepared a yeere agoe, and your zeale hath prouoked many.

3 Nowe haue I sent the brethren, lest our reioycing ouer you should bee in vaine in this behalfe, that ye (as I haue said) be readie:

4 Lest if they of Macedonia come with me, and finde you vnprepared, we (that we may not say, you) should bee ashamed in this my [a] constant boasting.

5 Wherefore, I thought it necessarie to exhort the brethren to come before vnto you, and to finish your beneuolence appointed afore, that it might bee readie, and come as of [b] beneuolence, and not as of [b] niggardlinesse.

6 [2] This yet remember, that hee which soweth sparingly, shall reape also sparingly, and hee that soweth liberally, shall reape also liberally.

7 As euerie man [c] wisheth in his heart, so let him giue, not * [d] grudgingly, or of [e] necessitie: * for God loueth a cheerefull giuer.

8 And God is able to make [f] all grace to abound toward you, that ye alwaies hauing all sufficiencie in all things, may abound in euery good worke, 9 (* As it is written, Hee hath sparsed abroade and hath giuen to the poore: his beneuolence remaineth for [h] euer.

10 Also he that findeth seede to the sower, will minister like wise bread for foode, & multiply your seede, and increase the [i] fruites of your beneuolence,)

11 That on all partes yee may bee made rich vnto all liberality, which causeth through vs thankes giuing vnto God.

3 Thirdly, he inuenteth them that they become not their expectation which they haue conceiued of them.
e At the request of the Macedonians.
f Then appeareth the naturalnesse of our loue, when as indeede, and that frankly and freely, we helpe our brethren, euen for Christes sake.
4 The fourth argument taken from the example of Christ.
5 Hee taketh good heede y he seem not to inforce it out of them by constraint, for vnlesse it be voluntarie, God doeth not accept it.
g Not onely to do, but also to do willingly: for he noteth our a readie willingnesse, without any inforcement by any other men, much lesse came it of ambition & vaine glorie.
6 Against such as vse to excuse themselues, because they are not rich, as though it were only proper to rich men to helpe the poore.
7 Christian liberalitie is mutuall, that proportion may be obserued.
h That like as now in your abundance you helpe others, which are poore, with some part of your goods, so should others in like sort bestow some of theirs vpon you.
* Exod. 16. 18.

o All Churches shalbe witnesses of this your godly dealing, in whose presence

1 He willyly meeteth with the suspition which the Corinthians might conceiue, as though the Apostle in vrging them so carefully should doubt of their good will. Therefore he witnesseth that he doth it not to teach them, that they ought to helpe the Saints, seeing that he had become suretie for them to the Macedonians, but only to stirre them vp which were running of themselues, to the end that all things might both be in a better readines, and also be more plentifull.
a The worde which he vseth, signifieth such a stayednes and setlednes of mind as cannot be moued with any terrour or feare.
b As from couetous men.
2 Almes must be giuen neither niggardly, nor with a loathfull minde, or hardly. But a franke and free almes is compared to a sowing which hath a most plentifull harueste almost abundant blessing following it.

12 [3] For the miniſtration of this ſeruice not onely ſupplieth the neceſſities of the Saints, but alſo abundantly cauſeth many to giue thanks to God,

13 (Which by the [k] experiment of this miniſtration praiſe God for your [l] voluntarie ſubmiſſion to the Goſpel of Chriſt, and for your liberall diſtribution to them, and to all men)

14 And in their praier for you, to long after you greatly, for the abundant grace of God in you.

15 [m] Thankes therefore be vnto God for his vnſpeakeable gift.

3 An other excellent and double fruite of liberalitie towards the Saints, is this: that it gineth occaſion to praiſe God, and that our faith alſo is thereby made manifeſt.
k By this proofe of your liberalitie in this helping and ſuccouring of them.
l In ſhewing with one conſent, that you acknowledge that onely Goſpel, which you haue willingly ſubmitted your ſelues vnto, declaring thereby, that you agree with the Church of Hieruſalem. m Leſt by this great commendation and praiſe, the Corinthians ſhould be puffed vp, he ſhutteth vp this exhortation, & this exclamation.

CHAP. X.

2 Hee ſheweth with what confidence, 4 with what weapons, 6 and with what reuenge he is armed againſt the cauillations of the wicked, 7 and that, when hee is preſent, his deedes haue no leſſe power, 11 then his wordes haue force, when he is abſent.

NOwe [1] I Paul my ſelfe beſeech you by the meekenes, and [a] gentlenes of Chriſt, which whē I am preſent among you am baſe, but am bold toward you being abſent.

2 And this I require you, that I neede not to be bold when I am preſent, with that ſame confidence, where with I thinke to be bolde againſt ſome, which eſteeme vs as though we walked [b] according to the fleſh.

3 [2] Neuertheleſſe, though we walke in the fleſh, yet we doe not warre after the fleſh.

4 (For the weapons of our warrefare are not [c] carnall, but mighty through [d] God, to caſt downe holds)

5 Caſting downe the imaginations, and euery high thing that is exalted againſt the knowledge of God, [3] & bringing into captiuitie euery thought to the obedience of Chriſt,

6 And hauing ready the vengeance againſt all diſobedience, when your obedience is fulfilled.

7 [4] Looke yee on things after the [e] appearance? If any man truſt in himſelfe that he is Chriſtes, let him conſider this againe of [f] himſelfe, that as hee is Chriſtes, euen ſo are wee Chriſtes.

1 He returneth to the defence of his Apoſtleſhip, but ſo that he vſeth his authoritie therein: for he warneth them earneſtly and grauely, vſing alſo terrible threatnings, to ſhewe themſelues ſuch as are apt to be inſtructed. And he refelleth certaine proud men which made no better accompt of him, then of a bragging Thraſo, in that he vſed to be ſharpe againſt them when he was abſent, becauſe they ſawe no great maieſtie in him after the maner of men, and beſides, had paſſed his lenitie, notwithſtanding that in his abſence, he had written to them ſharply. Therefore firſt of all he profeſſeth that he was gentle and moderate, but after the example of Chriſt: but if they continue ſtill to deſpiſe his gentlenes, he proteſteth vnto them that he will ſhew indeede howe farre they are deceiued, which make that accompt of the office of an Apoſtle, that they doe of worldly offices, that is, according to the outward appearance. a That nature which is inclined to mercie, rather then to rigour of iuſtice. b As though I had no other aide and helpe then that which outwardly I ſeeme to haue: and therefore Paul ſetteth his fleſh, that is, his weake condition and ſtate, againſt his ſpirituall and Apoſtolike dignitie. 2 Secondly, he witneſſeth, that although he be like vnto other men, yet he commeth furniſhed with that ſtrength, which no bodes of man can match, whether they reſiſt by craft and deceite, or by force and might, becauſe he warreth with diuine weapons. c Are not ſuch as men get them authoritie withall one of another, and doe great actes. d Stand vpon that infinite power of God. 3 An amplification of this ſpirituall vertue, which in ſuch ſort conquereth the enemies, be they neuer ſo craftie, and mightie, that it bringeth ſome of them by repentance vnto Chriſt, and iuſtly reuengeth others, that are ſtubbornly obſtinate, ſeparating them from the other which ſuffer themſelues to be ruled. 4 He bendeth into their heades that ſame matter with great weight of words and ſentences. e Doe ye iudge of things according to the outward ſhewes? f Not being tolde of it by me.

8 For though I ſhoulde boaſt ſomewhat more of our authoritie, which the Lord hath giuen vs for edification, and not for your deſtruction, I ſhould haue no ſhame.

9 This I ſay, that I may not ſeeme as it were to feare you with letters.

10 For the letters, ſaith he, are ſore and ſtrong, but his bodily preſence is weake, and his ſpeech is of no value.

11 Let ſuch one thinke this, that ſuch as we are in worde by letters, when we are abſent, ſuch will we be alſo in deede, when we are preſent.

12 [5] For we [h] dare not make our ſelues of the number, or to compare our ſelues to them, which praiſe themſelues: but they vnderſtande not that they meaſure themſelues with [i] themſelues, and [k] compare themſelues with themſelues.

13 But wee will not reioyce of things, which are not within our [l] meaſure, * but according to the meaſure of the line, whereof God hath diſtributed vnto vs a meaſure to attaine euen vnto you.

14 For we ſtretch not our ſelues beyonde our meaſure, as though wee had not attained vnto you: for euen to you alſo haue we come in preaching the Goſpel of Chriſt,

15 Not boaſting of things which are [m] without our meaſure: that is, of other mens labors: and we hope, when your faith ſhall increaſe, to be magnified by you according to our line abundantly,

16 And to preach the Goſpel in thoſe regions which are beyond you: not to reioyce in [n] another mans line, that is, in the things that are prepared alreadie.

17 *[6] But let him that reioyceth, reioyce in the Lord.

18 For he that praiſeth himſelfe, is not alowed, but he whom the Lord praiſeth.

g He noteth ſome one that was ſeeded more of this ſpeech.
5 Being conſtrained to reſiſt the fooliſh brags of certaine ambitious men, he witneſſeth, that they are able to bring nothing, but that they fondly perſwade themſelues: and as for himſelfe, although he bring of excellent things, yet he will not paſſe the bounds which God hath meaſured him out, according where vnto he came: euen vnto them in preaching the Goſpel of Chriſt, and aſſureth that hee ſhall goe further, when they haue ſo profited that he ſhall not need to tarry any longer amongſt them to inſtruct them. And hereunto is added an amplification, in that he neuer ſucceeded other men in their labours.
h This is ſpoken after a taunting ſort.
i Vpon a vaine perſwaſion that they haue of themſelues, they take vpon them they care not what. k They contemne all other, and meaſure all their doings onely by themſelues. l Of thoſe things which God hath not meaſured to me. * Ephe.4.7. m As though God had diuided the whole world among the Apoſtles, to bee husbanded. n In countreys which other men haue prepared and husbanded with the preaching of the Goſpel. * Ier.9.24.1.cor.13.1. 7 He ſomewhat mitigateth that which he ſpake of himſelfe, and therewith alſo prepareth the Corinthians to heare other things, witneſſing that he ſeeketh nothing els but to approoue himſelfe to God, whoſe glory he onely ſeeketh.

CHAP. XI.

2 He teſtifieth, that for the great loues ſake he beareth to the Corinthians, he is compelled 5 to vtter his owne praiſes: 9 And that he beſtowed his labour on them without any reward, 13 that the falſe apoſtles ſhoulde not ſurpaſſe him in any thing, 22 whome he farre excelled in thoſe things which are praiſe worthy indeed.

1 He graunteth that after a ſort he plaieth the foole in this vaunting of things, but he addeth that he doeth it againſt his will for their profite, becauſe he ſeeth them deceiued by certaine vaine and craftie men, through the craft and ſubtilty of Satan. a He ſpeaketh as a woer, but yet as one that ſeeketh them not for himſelfe, but for God.

ly iclouſie: for I haue prepared you for one husband, to [b] present you as a pure virgine to Christ:

3 But I feare least as the * serpent beguiled Eue through his subtiltie, so your minds should be [c] corrupt from the simplicitie that is in [d] Christ.

4 [2] For if hee that commeth preacheth [e] another Iesus whome we haue not preached: or if ye receiue another spirit whome yee haue not receiued: either another Gospel, which ye haue not receiued, ye might well haue suffered him.

5 Uerily I suppose that I was not inferiour to the very chiefe Apostles.

6 [3] And though I be [f] rude in speaking, yet I am not so in knowledge, but among you wee haue bene made manifest to the vttermost in al things.

7 [4] Haue I committed an offence, because I abased my selfe, that yee might be exalted, and because I preached to you the Gospel of God freely?

8 I robbed other Churches, and took wages of them to doe your seruice.

9 And when I was present with you, and had neede, * I was not slouthfull to the hinderance of any man: for that which was lacking vnto me, the brethren which came from Macedonia, supplied, and in all things I kept, [5] and will keepe my selfe, that I should not be grieuous to you.

10 The [g] trueth of Christ is in mee, that this reioycing shall not be [h] shut vp against me in the regions of Achaia.

11 Wherefore? because I loue you not? God knoweth.

12 But what I do, that will I doe: that I may cut away occasion from them which desire occasion, that they may be found like vnto vs in that wherein they [i] reioyce.

13 [6] For such false Apostles are deceitfull workers, and transforme themselues into the Apostles of Christ.

14 And no marueile: for Satan himselfe is transformed into an Angel of [k] light.

15 Therefore it is no great thing, though his ministers transforme themselues, as though they were the ministers of righteousnesse, whose end shalbe according to their workes.

16 [7] I say againe, Let no man thinke that I am foolish, or els take mee euen as a foole, that I also may boast my selfe a litle.

17 That I speake, I speake it not after the Lord: but as it were foolishly in this my great boasting.

18 Seeing that many reioyce after the flesh, I will reioyce also.

19 For yee suffer fooles gladly, because that ye are wise.

20 [8] For ye suffer, euen if a man bring you into bondage, if a man deuoure you, if a man take your goods, if a man exalt himselfe, if a man smite you on the face.

21 I speake as concerning the [l] reproch, as though that wee had beene [m] weake: but wherein any man is bolde (I speake foolishly) I am bold also.

22 They are Hebrewes, * so am I: they are Israelites, so am I: they are the seed of Abraham, so am I:

23 They are the Ministers of Christ (I speake as a foole) I am [n] more: in labours more abundant: in stripes aboue measure: in prison more plenteously: in [o] death oft.

24 Of the Iewes [p] fiue times receiued I fourtie stripes saue one.

25 I was [q] thrise * beaten with roddes: I was * once stoned: I suffered thrise * shipwracke: night and day haue I bene in the deep Sea.

26 In iourneying I was often, in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in perils of mine owne nation, in perils among the Gentiles, in perils in the Citie, in perils in wildernes, in perils in the Sea, in perils among false brethren, 27 In wearines and [r] painfulnes, in watching often, in hunger and thirst, in fasting often, in colde and in nakednes.

28 [9] Beside the things which are outward, I am combred daily, and haue the care of all the Churches.

29 Who is weake, and I am not weake? who is offended, and I burne not?

30 [10] If I must needes reioyce, I will reioyce of mine infirmities.

31 The God, euen the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, which is blessed for euermore, weteth that I lie not.

2 He sheweth that they receiue themselues, if they looke to receiue of any other man, either a more excellent Gospel, or more excellent gifts of the holy Ghost.
e A more perfect doctrine of Iesus Christ.
3 He refuteth the slanders of those Thrasoes. I grant, saith he, that I am not so eloquent an Orator, but yet they cannot take away the knowledge of the Gospel from me, wherof you haue had good proofe, and that euery manner of way.
f Paul lacked not of that kind of eloquence which is meete for a man, and fit for the Gospel, but he willingly wanted that painted kinde of speech, which too many now adaies hunt after and follow.
4 Another slander, to wit, that he was a rascall, and lined by the labor of his owne hands. But herein saith the Apostle, what can you lay against me, but that I was content to take any paines for your sakes, & when I lacked, to trauaile for my liuing with mine own hands in part, and partly also when pouertie constrained me. I chose rather otherwise to seeke my sustenance, then to be any burden to you, although I preached the Gospel vnto you? * Chap.12.13. 5 An amplification: so farre is he from being ashamed of this Act, that he hath also resolued with himselfe to doe no otherwise hereafter amongst them, to the intent that it may alwayes be truely said that he taught in Achaia for nothing: not that he disdaineth the Corinthians, but that these Thrasoes may neuer finde the occasion which they haue already sought for, and hee in the meane season may set some thing before them to followe, that at length they may truely say, that they are like to Paul. g This is a forme of an othe, as if he said, Let me not be thought to haue any truth in me. h Shalbe alwaies open to me.
i Pauls aduersaries sought all occasions they could, to be equalll to him. And therefore seeing they had rather eat vp the Corinthians, then preach to them for nothing, they sought another occasion, to wit, to make Paul to take some thing: which thing if he had done, then hoped they by that meanes to be equall to him: for they made such a shew of zeale and knowledge, and set it forth with such a glosing kinde of eloquence, that some of them euen despised Paul: but he sheweth that all this is nothing but colours and painting. 6 Now at length he painteth out these fellowes in their colours, for warning, that it will come to passe, that they will at length betray themselues, what countenance soeuer they make to ꝑ zeale that they haue of Gods glory. k By light is meant ꝗ heauenly glory, whereof the Angels are partakers

7 He goeth forward boldly, and vsing a vehemēt ironie or kind of taunting, desireth the Corinthians to pardon him, if for a time he contend as a foole before them being wise, with those iolly felows touching those externall things, to wit, touching his stocke, his ancestors and valiant acts.
8 Before he commeth to the matter, he toucheth the Corinthians, who perswading themselues to be very wise men, did not marke in the meane season, that those false apostles abused their simplicitie for aduantage.
l As if he said, In respect of that reproch which they doe vnto you (I speake it) which surely is as euill, as if they did beate you.

1 He doth euen vnwillingly make rehearsall 3 of the heauenly visions, 4 that were reuealed vnto him: 6 for which though he might indeed glory, yet hee will not, 10 being priuie of his owne infirmities: 11 but they driue him to this kinde of follie, 20 in that they giue eare to certaine vainglorious persons, who draw thē from Christ.

IT [1] is not expedient for me no doubt to reioyce: for I will come to visions and reuelations of the Lord.

2 I know a man [a] in Christ aboue fourteen yeeres agone, (whether he were in the body, I cannot tell, or out of the bodie, I cannot tell: God knoweth) which was taken vp into the [b] third heauen.

3 And I knowe such a man (whether in the body, or out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth)

4 Howe that hee was taken vp into [c] Paradise, and heard woordes which [d] cannot bee spoken, which are not [e] possible for man to vtter.

5 [2] Of such a man will I reioyce: of my selfe wil I not reioyce, except it be of mine infirmities.

6 For though I would reioyce, I should not be a foole, for I will say the trueth: but I refraine, least any man should thinke of me aboue that he seeth in mee, or that he heareth of me.

7 [3] And least I shoulde bee exalted out of measure through the abundance of reuelations, there was giuen vnto me [f] a pricke in the flesh, the messenger of Satan to buffet mee, because I should not bee exalted out of measure.

8 For this thing I besought the Lorde [h] thrise, that it might depart from me.

9 And he saide vnto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my power is made perfect through weakenesse. [4] Very gladly therefore will I reioyce rather in mine infirmities, that the power of Christ may [i] dwell in me.

10 Therefore I take [k] pleasure in infirmities, in reproches, in necessities, in persecutions, in anguish for Christes sake: for when I am weake, then am I strong.

11 I was a foole to boast my selfe: yee haue compelled me: [5] for I ought to haue bene commended of you: for in nothing was I inferiour vnto the very chiefe Apostles, though I be nothing.

12 The [l] signes of an Apostle were wrought among you with all patience, with signes, and wonders, and great works.

13 For what is it, wherein yee were inferiours vnto other Churches, * except that I haue not bene [m] slouthful to your hinderance? forgiue me this wrong.

14 Beholde, the third time I am readie to come vnto you, and yet will I not bee slouthfull to your hinderance: for I seeke not yours, but you: for the children ought not to lay vp for the fathers, but the fathers for the children.

15 And I will most gladly bestowe, and will be bestowed for your soules: though the more I loue you, the lesse I am loued.

16 [6] But be it that I charged you not: yet for as much as I was craftie, I tooke you with guile.

17 Did I pill you by any of them whome I sent vnto you?

18 I haue desired Titus, and with him I haue sent a brother: did Titus pill you of any thing? walked we not in the selfe same spirit? walked we not in the same steps?

19 [7] Againe, thinke ye that we excuse our selues vnto you? wee speake before God in [n] Christ. But we doe all things, dearely beloued, for your edifying.

20 [8] For I feare least when I come, I shal not find you such as I would: and that I shall be found vnto you such as yee would not, and least there be strife, enuying, wrath, contentions, backbitings, whisperings, swellings, and discord.

21 I feare least when I come againe, my God abase me among you, and I shall bewaile many of them which haue sinned alreadie, and haue not repented of the vncleannesse and fornication, and wantonnesse which they haue committed.

a He goeth forward in his purpose, and because those bragging mates boasted of reuelations, he reckoneth vp those things which lift him vp aboue the common capacitie of men: but he vseth a Preface, and excuseth him selfe, aduisedly.

a I speake this in Christ, that is, be it spoken without vainegloriе: for I seeke nothing but Christ Iesus onely.

b Into the highest heauen: for we neede not to dispute subtilly vpon the word (Third) but yet this place is to be marked against them, which would make beauen to be euery where.

c So the Grecians name that which we call a Parke, that is to say, a place where trees are planted, and wilde beasts kept, by which name they that translated the olde Testament out of Hebrewe into Greeke, called the garden Eden, whereinto Adam was put straight after his creation, as a most delicate and pleasant place. And hereupon grew it, that that blessed seate of the glory of God is called by that name. d Which no man is able to vtter. e Which the Saints themselues are not by any meanes able to expresse, because it is God himselfe. Thus doth Clemens Alexandrinus expound this place, Strom. 5. 2 To remoue all suspition of ambition, he witnesseth that he braggeth not of those things as of his owne, but as out of himselfe, and yet notwithstanding faineth nothing, lest by this occasion other men should attribute more vnto him then indeed he is: and therefore her had rather glorie in his miseries. 3 An excellent doctrine: why God will haue euen his best seruants to be vexed of Satan, and by all kind of temptations: to wit, lest they should be too much puffed vp, and also that they may be made perfite by that continual exercise. f He meaneth concupiscence, that sticketh fast in vs, as it were a pricke, insomuch as it constrained Paul himselfe being regenerate, to cry out, I do not that good that I would, &c. And he called it a pricke, by a borowed kinde of speech taken from thornes, or stumps, which are very dangerous and hurtful for the feete, if a man walke through woods that are cut downe. g Which setteth those lusts on fire. h Oft. 4 He concludeth, that he wil onely set his miseries against the vain brags of the false apostles, & therwith also excuseth himself, for y by their importunitie, he was constrained to speake so much of these things as he did: to wit, because that if his Apostleship were subuerted, his doctrine must needs fall.

i That I might feele the vertue of Christ more and more: For the weaker that our Tabernacles are, the more doeth Christs vertue appeare in them.

k I doe not onely take them patiently, and with a good heart, but also I take great pleasure in them.

5 Againe he maketh the Corinthians witnesses of their owne things wherby God hath sealed his Apostleship among them, and againe he declareth by certaine arguments how farre he is from all couetousnes, and also how he is affectioned towards them.

l The arguments whereby it may well appeare, that I am indeed an Apostle of Iesus Christ.

* Chap. 11. 9.

m I was not slouthfull in getting my liuing with mine owne hands, that I might not be burdensome to you.

6 He putteth away another most grieuous slander, to wit, that he did subtilly, and by others make his gaine and pollet of them.

7 He concludeth that he inuenteth not these things vnto til, as though he needed to defend himselfe, for he is guiltie of nothing: but because it is beseeming for them to doubt nothing of his sincerite who instructed them.

n As it becometh him to speake truely and sincerely that professeth himselfe to bee in Christ, that is to say, to be a Christian.

8 Hauing confirmed his authoritie vnto them, hee reproueth them sharpely, and threatneth them also like an Apostle, shewing that he will not spare them hereafter, vnlesse they repent, seeing that this is the third time that he hath warned them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Comming the third time, 2 hee denounceth the sharper vengeance towards them, 5 who haue a perfect trial of the power of Christ in his Apostleship: 10 At length he prayeth for their repentance, 11 And wisheth them prosperitie.

Loe

LOe this is the third time that I come vnto you. * In the mouth of two or three witnesses shall euery word stand.

* Deut.19.15. matth.18.16. john 8.17. heb.10.28.

2 I tolde you before, and tel you before: as though I had bene present the second time, so write I nowe beeing absent to them which heretofore haue sinned and to all others, that if I come againe, I will not spare,

1 A most sharpe reprehension, for that, while they despise the Apostles admonitions, they tempt Christes owne patience: and also while they contemn him as wretched & miserable, they say nothing herein against him, which is not common to him with Christ.

3 [1] Seeing that yee seeke experience of Christ, that speaketh in me, which toward you is not weake, but is [a] mightie in you.

4 For though he was crucified concerning [b] his infirmitie, yet liueth hee through the power of God. And we no doubt are weake in him, but we shall liue with him, through the power of God toward you.

5 [*2] Proue your selues whether ye are in the faith: examine your selues: knowe ye not your owne selues, how that Jesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates?

a And will be most mightie to be reuenged of you, when neede shall be. b As touching that base forme of a seruant which he tooke vpon him when he abased himselfe. * 1.Cor.11.28. 2 Hee confirmeth that which he spake of the vertue of God appearing in his ministerie, and bee gathereth by the mutuall relation betweene the peoples faith, and the Ministers preaching, that they must either reuerence his Apostleship, vpon whose doctrine their faith is grounded, or they must condemne themselues of infidelitie, and must confesse themselues not to be of Christes body. 3 He mitigateth that sharpenes, trusting that they will shewe themselues towards their faithfull Apostle, apt and willing to be taught: adding this moreouer, that he passeth not for his owne fame and estimation, so that hee may serue to their saluation, which is the onely marke that he shooteth at.

6 [3] But I trust that ye shall know that we are not reprobates.

7 Now I pray vnto God that ye doe none euill, not that we should seeme approued, but that ye should doe that which is honest: though we be as [c] reprobates.

c In mens iudgement.

8 For we cannot doe any thing against the the trueth, but for the trueth.

9 For we are glad when we are weak, and that ye are strong: this also we wish for, euen your [d] perfection.

d That all things may be in good order amongst you, and the members of the Church restored into their place, which haue bene shaken and out of place.

10 Therefore write I these things being absent, least when I am present, I should vse sharpnesse, according to the power which the Lorde hath giuen me, to edification, and not to destruction.

4 A briefe exhortation, but yet such an one as comprehendeth all the parts of a Christian mans life.

11 [4] Finally brethren, fare yee well: bee perfect: be of good comfort: be of one minde: liue in peace, and the God of loue and peace shall be with you.

5 He saluteth them familiarly, and in conclusion wisheth well vnto them.

12 [5] Greete one another with an * holy kisse. All the Saints salute you.

* 1.Cor.16.20.

13 The grace of our Lorde Jesus Christ, and the loue of God, and the communion of the holy Ghost be with you all, Amen.

¶ The second Epistle to the Corinthians, written from Philippi, a Citie in Macedonia, and sent by Titus and Lucas.

THE EPISTLE OF THE APOSTLE PAVL TO THE GALATIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 Straight after the salutation, 6 Hee reprehendeth the Galatians for reuolting 9 from his Gospel, 15 which he receiued from God, 17 before he had communicated with any of the Apostles.

1 A salutation comprehending in fewe words the summe of the Apostles doctrine, and also besides, straightway from the beginning, shewing the grauitie meete for the authoritie of an Apostle, which he had to maintaine against the false apostles.

PAul [1] an Apostle (not [a] of men, neither by [b] man, * but by [c] Jesus Christ, and God the Father which hath raysed him from the dead)

2 And all the brethren which are with me, vnto the Churches of Galatia:

3 Grace be with you, & peace from God the Father, and from our Lord Jesus Christ,

4 [2] Which gaue himselfe for our sinnes, that he might deliuer vs * from this present euil [d] world: according to the will of God euen our Father,

2 He sheweth who is the author of the ministerie generally: for herein the whole ministerie agreeth, that whether they be Apostles, or Shepheards, or Doctors, they are appointed of God. b He toucheth the instrumentall cause: for this is a peculiar prerogatiue to the Apostles, to bee called immediately from Christ. * Titus 1.3. c Christ no doubt is man, but he is God also, and head of the Church, and in this respect to be exempted out of the number of men. 2 The summe of the true Gospel is this, that Christ by his onely offering saueth vs being chosen out from the worlde, by the free decree of God the Father. * Luke 1.74. d Out of that most corrupt state which is without Christ.

5 To whome be glory for euer and euer, Amen.

6 [3] I marueile that ye are so soone [e] remoued away vnto another Gospel, from him that had called you in the grace of Christ,

3 The first part of the Epistle, wherein he witnesseth that he is an Apostle, nothing inferior to those chiefe disciples of Christ, and wholy agreeing with them, where names & false apostles did abuse. And he beginneth with chiding, reproouing them of lightnesse, for that they gaue eare so easily vnto them which perswaded them and drew them away to a new Gospel. e He vseth the passiue voice to cast the fault vpon the false apostles, and hee vseth the time that now is to giue them to vnderstand, that it was not already done, but in doing. 4 He warneth them in time to remember that there are not many Gospels, and therfore whatsoeuer these false apostles pretend which had the lawe, Moses, and the Fathers, in their mouthes, yet they are in deed so many corruptions of the true Gospel, in so much that he himselfe, yea, and the very Angels themselues (and therefore much more these false apostles) ought to be holden accursed, if they goe about to change the least iote that may be in the Gospel that he deliuered to them before. f For there is nothing more contrary to faith or free iustification, then iustification by the Law, or by our deseruing. g Looke Rom.9.3.

7 Which is not another Gospel, saue that there be some which trouble you, and intend to [f] peruert the Gospel of Christ.

8 But though that wee, or an Angel from heauen preach vnto you otherwise, then that which we haue preached vnto you, let him bee accursed.

9 As we said before, so say I now againe, If any man preach vnto you otherwise, then that ye haue receiued, let him be accursed.

5 A confirmation taken both from the nature of the doctrine it selfe, & also from that maner which he vsed in teaching: for neither saith he, did I teach those things which pleased men as these men doe which put part of saluation in externall things, and workes of the Lawe, neither went I about to procure any mans fauour. And therefore the matter it selfe sheweth that that doctrine which I deliuered vnto you, is heauenly.

b He toucheth the false apostles, who had nothing but men in their mouthes, and he, though he would derogat nothing from the Apostles, preacheth God, & not men, * 1. Cor. 15. 1.

6 A second argument to proue that his doctrine is heauenly, because he had it from heauen, from Iesus Christ himselfe without any mans helpe, wherein he excelleth them whom Christ taught here on earth, after the maner of men.

i This place is to be vnderstood of an extraordinarie reuelation, for otherwise the Sonne alone reuealed his Gospel by his Spirite, although by the ministerie of men, which Paul shutteth out here.

7 Hee proueth that he was extraordinarily taught of Christ himselfe, by the historie of his former life, which the Galatians themselues knew well enough: for saith hee, it is well knowen in what schoole I was brought vp, euen from a child, to wit, amongst the deadly enemies of the Gospel. And that no man may cauil & say, that I was a scholer of the Pharises in name only, & not indeed, no man is ignorant, how that I excelled in Pharisaisme, & was suddenly made of a Pharise, an Apostle of the Gentiles, so þ I had no space to be instructed of men. * Acts 9. 1. k He calleth them the traditions of his fathers, because he was not only a Pharise himselfe, but also had a Pharise to his father. l He speaketh of Gods euerlasting predestination, whereby he appointed him to be an Apostle, whereof he maketh three degrees, the euerlasting counsel of God, his appointing from his mothers wombe, and his calling: here is no mention at all, we see, of works foreseene. m To me, and this is a kinde of speech which the Hebrewes vse, whereby this is giuen vs to vnderstand, that this gift commeth from God. * Ephe. 3. 8. 8 Because it might be obiected, that in deed he was called of Christ in þ way, but afterwards was instructed of the Apostles & others, whose names (as I said before) þ false apostles abused to destroy his apostleship, as though he deliuered another gospel then þ true Apostles did, & as though he were not of their number, which are to bee credited without exception: therfore Paul answereth, that he began straightway after his calling to preach þ gospel at Damascus & in Arabia, & was not from that time in Hierusalem, but only fifteen dayes, where he saw onely Peter & James, and afterwards, he began to teach in Syria & Cilicia, with the consent and approbation of the Churches of the Iews, which knew him only by name, so far off was it, þ he was there instructed of men. n With any man in the world. o This is a kind of oath. p The doctrine of faith,

10 5 For now preach I h mans doctrine, or Gods? or goe I about to please men? for if I should yet please men, I were not the seruant of Christ.

11 *6 Nowe I certifie you, brethren, that the Gospel which was preached of me, was not after man.

12 For neither receiued I it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the i reuelation of Iesus Christ.

13 7 For ye haue heard of my conuersation in time past, in the Iewish religion, howe that * I persecuted the Church of God extremely, and wasted it, 14 And profited in the Iewish religion aboue many of my companions of mine owne nation, and was much more zealous of the k traditions of my Fathers.

15 But when it pleased God (which had l separated me from my mothers wombe, and called me by his grace)

16 To reueile his Sonne m in me, that I should preach him * among the Gentiles, immediatly 8 I communicated not with n flesh and blood:

17 Neither came I againe to Hierusalem to them which were Apostles before me, but I went into Arabia, and turned again vnto Damascus.

18 Then after three yeres I came againe to Hierusalem to visite Peter, and abode with him fifteene dayes.

19 And none other of the Apostles sawe I, saue James the Lords brother.

20 Now þ things which I write vnto you, behold, I witnesse o before God, that I lie not.

21 After that, I went into the coastes of Syria and Cilicia: for I was vnknowen by face vnto the Churches of Iudea, which were in Christ.

22 But they had heard only some say, He which persecuted vs in time past, nowe preacheth the p faith which before he destroyed.

23 And they glorified God for me.

CHAP. II.

1 That the Apostles did nothing disagree from his Gospell, 3 he declareth by the example of Titus being vncircumcised, 11 and also by his admonishing the same against Peters dissimulation: 17 And so he passeth to the handling of our free iustification by Christ, &c.

THen 1 fourteene yeeres after, I went vp againe to Hierusalem with Barnabas, and tooke with me Titus also.

2 And I went vp by reuelation, and declared vnto them that Gospel which I preach among the Gentiles, but particularly to them that were the chiefe, least by any meanes I should runne, or had runne q in vaine:

3 But neither yet Titus which was with me, though hee were a Grecian, was compelled to be circumcised,

4 To wit, for the b false brethren which were craftily sent in, and crept in priuily to spie out our libertie, which we haue in Christ Iesus, that they might bring vs into bondage.

5 To whome wee gaue not place by r subiection for an houre, that the s trueth of the Gospel might continue with t you.

6 But by them which seemed to be great, I was not taught (whatsoeuer they were in time passed, I am nothing the better, * God accepteth no mans person) for they that are the chiefe, did adde nothing to me aboue that I had.

7 But contrariwise, when they sawe that the Gospel ouer the u vncircumcision was committed vnto mee, as the Gospel ouer the circumcision was vnto Peter:

8 (For hee that was mightie by Peter in the Apostleship ouer the circumcision, was also mightie by me toward the Gentiles)

9 And when James, and Cephas, and John, knew of the grace that was giuen vnto me, which are x counted to be pillars, they gaue to me and to Barnabas the right y hands of fellowship, that we should preach vnto the Gentiles, and they vnto the Circumcision, 10 Warning onely that we should remember the poore: which thing also I was diligent to doe.

11 ¶ And when Peter was come to Antiochia, I withstood him to his z face: for hee was to be condemned.

12 2 For before that certaine came from James, he ate with the Gentiles: but when they were come, hee withdrew and separated himselfe,

1 Now he sweetly ioyneth with the Apostles, with whom he graunteth that he conferred touching his gospel which he taught among the Gentiles, fourteene yeeres after his conuersion, and they allowed it in such sort, that they constrained not his fellow Titus to be circumcised, although some tormented themselues therin, which traiterously laid wait against him, but in vaine: neither did they adde the least iote that might be to the doctrine which he had preached, but contrariwise they gaue to him and Barnabas the right hands of fellowship and acknowledged them as Apostles appointed of the Lord to the Gentiles.

q Vnfruitfully, for as touching his doctrine, Paul doubted not of it, but because there were certaine reports cast abroad of him, that he was of another opinion then the rest of þ Apostles were, which thing might haue hindered the course of the Gospel, therefore he laboured to remedie this sore.

b Which by deceit, and counterfeit holinesse crept in amongst the faithfull.

r By submitting our selues to the, & betraying our owne libertie.

s The true and sincere doctrine of the Gospel, which remained safe from beeing corrupt with any of these mens false doctrines.

t Vnder the Galatians name, he vnderstandeth all nations. * Deut. 10. 17. 2. chr. 19. 7. Iob. 34. 19. act. 10. 34. rom. 2. 11. ephe. 6. 9. col. 3. 25. 1. pet. 1. 17. u Among the Gentiles, as Peter had to preach it among the Iewes. x Whom alone & only, these men count for pillars of the Church, and whose name they abuse to deceiue you. y They gaue vs their hand in token that wee agreed wholly in the doctrine of the Gospel. z Before al men. 2 Another most vehement proofe of his Apostleship, and also of that doctrine which he had deliuered concerning free iustification by faith onely, because that for this thing onely he reprehended Peter at Antioch who offended heerein, in that for a few Iewes sakes which came from Hierusalem, he played the Iew, and offended the Gentiles which had beleeued.

himselfe, fearing them which were of the Circumcision.

13 And the other Iewes played the hypocrites likewise with him, insomuch that Barnabas was [k] led away with them by that their hypocrisie.

14 But when I sawe, that they went not the [l] right way to the [m] trueth of the Gospel, I said vnto Peter before all men, If thou being a Iewe, liuest as the Gentiles, and not like the Iewes, why [n] constrainest thou the Gentiles to doe like the Iewes?

15 [3] We which are Iewes [o] by nature, and not [p] sinners of the Gentiles, 16 Know that a man is not iustified by the workes of the Law, but by the faith [q] of Iesus Christ, euen we, I say, haue beleeued in Iesus Christ, that we might be iustified by the faith of Christ, and not by the workes of the Lawe, because that by the workes of the Law, [r] no flesh shalbe iustified.

17 *[4] If then while [s] we seeke to be made righteous by Christ, we our selues are found sinners, is Christ therefore the minister of sinne? God forbid.

18 For if I build againe the things that I haue destroyed, I make my selfe a trespasser.

19 For I [t] through the Law am dead to the [t] Lawe, that I might liue vnto God.

20 I am crucified with Christ, but I liue, yet not [u] I any more, but Christ liueth in me: and in that that I now liue in the [x] flesh, I liue by the faith in the Sonne of God, who hath loued me, and giuen himselfe for me.

21 [5] I doe not abrogate the grace of God: for if righteousnes be by the Law, then Christ died without a [y] cause.

O [1] Foolish Galatians, who hath bewitched you, that ye should not obey the trueth, to whom Iesus Christ before was described in your [a] sight, and among you crucified?

2 This onely would I learne of you, Receiued ye the [b] Spirit by the workes of the Law, or by the hearing of [c] faith preached?

3 [2] Are ye so foolish, that after ye haue begun in the Spirit, ye would now be made perfect by the [d] flesh?

4 [3] Haue yee suffered so many things in vaine? if so be it be euen in vaine.

5 [4] He therefore that ministreth to you the Spirit, and worketh myracles among you, doeth he it through the workes of the Law, or by the hearing of faith preached?

6 [5] Yea rather as [e] Abraham beleeued God, and it was * imputed to him for righteousnesse.

7 [6] Knowe ye therefore that they which are of faith, the same are the children of Abraham.

8 [7] For the Scripture foreseeing, that God would iustifie the Gentiles through faith, preached before the Gospel vnto Abraham, saying, *[8] In thee shall all the Gentiles be [f] blessed.

9 [9] So then they which be of faith, are blessed with faithfull Abraham.

10 [10] For as many as are of the workes of the Lawe, are vnder the curse: [11] for it is written, * Cursed is euery man that continueth not in all things, which are written in the booke of the Law, to doe them.

11 [12] And that no man is iustified by the Lawe in the sight of God, it is euident: * for the iust shall liue by faith.

---

k By example rather then by iudgement.

l Worde for worde, with aright foote, which he setteth against halting and dissembling, which is backward.

m He calleth the trueth of the Gospel, both the doctrine it selfe, and also the vse of the doctrine, which we call the practise.

n He saith they were cõstrained, which played the Iewes by Peters example.

3 The second part of this Epistle, the state whereof is this: We are iustified by faith in Christ Iesus without the workes of the Lawe. Which thing hee confoundeth in such sort, that first of all he meeteth with an obiection, (for I also saith he, am a Iewe, that no man may say against me, that I am an enemie to the Law) and afterward, he confirmeth it by the expresse witnes of Dauid.

o Although we be Iewes, yet we preach iustification by faith, because we know vndoubtedly, that no man can be iustified by the Lawe.

p So the Iewes called the Gentiles, because they were strangers from Gods couenant. q In Iesus Christ. r No man, and in this word (flesh) there is a great vehemencie, whereby is meant that the nature of man is vtterly corrupt. *Rom.3.19. 4 Before he goeth any further, he meeteth with their obiection, which abhorred this doctrine of free iustification by faith, because say they, men are by this meanes withdrawen from the study of good workes. And in this sort is the obiection: If sinners should be iustified through Christ by faith without the Law, Christ should approue sinners, and should as it were exhort them thereunto by his ministery. Paul answereth that this consequence is false, because that Christ destroyeth sinne in the beleuers: For so, saith he, do men flee vnto Christ through the terrour & feare of the Law, that being quit from the curse of the Law and iustified, they may be saued by him, that together therewithall, he beginneth in them by litle and litle that strength and power of his which destroyeth sinne: in the end that this old man being abolished by the vertue of Christ crucified, Christ may liue in them, and they may consecrate themselues to God. Therefore if any man giue himselfe to sinne after he hath receiued the Gospel, let him not accuse Christ nor the Gospel, but himselfe, for that he destroyeth the worke of God in himself. s He goeth from iustification to sanctification, which is another benefite we receiue by Christ, if we lay hold on him by faith. t The Lawe that terrifieth the conscience, bringeth vs to Christ, and he onely causeth vs to die to the Law in deede, because that by making vs righteous, he taketh away from vs the terrour of conscience, and by sanctifying vs, causeth through the mortifying of lust in vs, that it cannot take such occasion to sinne by y restraint which the Law maketh, as it did before, Rom.7.10,11. u The same that I was before. x In this mortall body. y The second argument taken of an absurditie: If men may be iustified by the Law, then was it not necessary for Christ to die.

1 The third reason or argument taken of those gifts of the holy Ghost, wherewith they were indued frō heauen after they had heard & beleeued y Gospel by Pauls ministerie: which seeing they were so euident to all mens eyes, that they were as it were liuely images, wherein they might behold the trueth of the doctrine of the Gospel, no lesse then if they had beheld with their eyes Christ himselfe crucified, in whose only death they ought to haue their trust, he marueileth how it could be that they could be so bewitched by the false apostles.

a Christ was laid before you so notably & so plainly, that you had his liuely image as it were represented before your eyes, as if he had bene crucified before you.

b Those spirituall graces and gifts, which were a seale as it were to the Galatians that the Gospel which was preached to them was true.

c Of the doctrine of faith.

2 The fourth argument mixed with the former, and it is double. If the Lawe be to be ioyned with faith, this were not to go forward, but backward, seeing that those spirituall gifts which were bestowed vpon you, are more excellent then any that could proceede from your selues. And moreouer, it should follow, that y Law is better then Christ, because it should perfite and bring to end that, which Christ began onely.

d By the (flesh) he meaneth the ceremonies of the Lawe, against which he setteth the Spirit, that is, the spiritual working of the Gospel. 3 An exhortation by manner of vpbraiding, that they do not in vaine suffer so many conflicts. 4 He repeateth the third argument which was taken of the effectes, because he had interlaced certaine other arguments by the way. 5 The fift argument which is of great force, and hath three grounds. The first, That Abraham was iustified by faith, to wit, by free imputation of righteousnes according to the promise apprehended by faith, as Moses doth most plainely witnes. e Looke Rom.4. *Gen.15.6, rom. 4.3, iam.2.23. 6 The second, that the sonnes of Abraham must be esteemed and accounted of by faith. 7 The third, that all people that beleeue, are without exception comprehended in the promise of the blessing. *Gen.12.3. act.3.25. 8 A proofe of the first and second grounds, out of the wordes of Moses. f Blessing in this place, signifieth the free promise by faith. 9 The conclusion of the fift argument: Therefore as Abraham is blessed by faith, so are all his children (that is to say, all the Gentiles that beleeue) blessed, that is to say, freely iustified. g With faithfull Abraham, and not by faithfull Abraham, to giue vs to vnderstand that the blessing commeth not from Abraham, but from him, by whom Abraham and all his posteritie is blessed. 10 The fift argument, the conclusion whereof is also in the former verse taken of contraries, thus, They are accursed which are of the workes of the Law, that is to say, which value their righteousnesse by the performance of the Lawe. Therefore they are blessed which are of faith, that is, they which haue righteousnesse by faith. 11 A proofe of the former sentence or proposition, and the proposition of this argument is this: Cursed is he that fulfilleth not the whole Law. *Deut.27.26. 12 The second proposition with the conclusion: But no man fulfilleth the Law, Therefore no man is iustified by the Law, or els, All are accursed which seeke righteousnesse by the workes of the Lawe. And there is annexed also this maner of proofe of the second propositiõ, to wit, Righteousnesse and life are attributed to faith. Therefore no man fulfilleth the Lawe. *Haba.2.4. rom.1,17. hebr.10.38.

CHAP. III.

1 He rebuketh them, for suffering themselues to be drawen from the grace of free iustification in Christ, most lively set out vnto them. 6 He bringeth in Abrahams example, 10 declaring the effect, 21 and causes of the giuing of the Lawe.

12 [13] And

13 Here is a reaſon ſhewed of the former conſequence: Becauſe the Lawe promiſeth life to all that keepe it, and therefore if it be kept, it iuſtifieth and giueth life. But the Scripture attributing righteouſneſſe and life to faith, taketh it from the Lawe, ſeeing that faith iuſtifieth by imputation, and the Law by the performing of the worke.

*Leuit.18.5.

14 A preuenting of an obiection: How then can they be bleſſed, whom the Law pronounceth to be accurſed? Becauſe Chriſt ſuſteined the curſe which the Lawe layed vpon vs, that we might be quit from it.

15 A proofe of the anſwere by the teſtimonie of Moſes.

*Deut.21.23.

h Chriſt was accurſed for vs, becauſe he bare the curſe that was due to vs, to make vs partakers of his righteouſneſſe. 16 A concluſion of all that was ſaide before in the handling of the firſt and firſt reaſon, to wit, that both the Gentiles are made partakers of the free bleſſing of Abraham in Chriſt, and alſo that the Iewes themſelues, of whoſe number the Apoſtle counteth himſelfe to be, cannot obteine that promiſed grace of the Goſpel, which hee calleth the Spirit, but onely by faith. And the Apoſtle doeth ſeuerally apply the concluſion, both to the one and the other, preparing himſelfe a way to the next argument whereby he declareth, that that one onely ſeede of Abraham, which is made of all peoples can no otherwiſe be ioyned & grow vp together, but by faith in Chriſt. 17 He putteth foorth two generall rules before the next argument, which is the ſeuenth argument, to wit, that both the Iewes & the Gentiles, growe together into one body of ſ ſeede of Abraham, in Chriſt only, ſo that all are one in Chriſt, as it is afterward declared, verſ. 28. l Paul ſpeaketh not of Chriſts perſon, but of two peoples, which grewe together in one, in Chriſt. 19 The eight argument taken of compariſon, thus: If a mans couenant (being autenticall) bee firme and ſtrong, much more Gods couenant. Therefore the Law was not giuen to abrogate the promiſe made to Abraham, which had reſpect to Chriſt, that is to ſay, the end whereof did hang of Chriſt. m Which tended to Chriſt. 20 An enlarging of that argument, thus: Moreouer and beſides that the promiſe is of it ſelfe firme and ſtrong, it was alſo confirmed with the preſcription of long time, to wit, of 430. yeeres, ſo that it could in no wiſe be broken. 21 An obiection: We grant that the promiſe was not abrogated by the couenant of the Law, and therefore we ioyne the Law with the promiſe. May, ſaith the Apoſtle, theſe two cannot ſtand together, to wit, that the inheritance ſhould both be giuen by the Law and alſo by promiſe, for the promiſe is free: whereby it followeth, that the Lawe was not giuen to iuſtifie, for by that meanes the promiſe ſhould be broken. n By this word (inheritance) is meant the right of the ſeede, which is, that God ſhould be our God, that is to ſay, that by vertue of the couenant that was made with faithfull Abraham, we that be faithfull, might by that meanes be bleſſed of God aſwell as he. 22 An obiection which riſeth of the former anſwere: If the inheritance be not by the Law (at the leaſt part) then why was the Lawe giuen after that the promiſe was made? Therefore ſaith the Apoſtle, to reproue men of ſinne, and ſo to teach them to looke vnto Chriſt, in whom at length that promiſe of ſauing all people together, ſhould be fulfilled, and not that the Law was giuen to iuſtifie men. o That men might vnderſtand, by diſcouering of their ſinnes, that they are ſaued by the onely grace of God, which he reueiled to Abraham, and that in Chriſt.

12 [13] And the Lawe is not of faith: but *the man that ſhall doe thoſe things, ſhall liue in them.

13 [14] Chriſt hath redeemed vs from the curſe of the Lawe, made a curſe for vs, ([15] for it is written, *[h] Curſed is euery one that hangeth on tree)

14 [16] That the bleſſing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Chriſt Jeſus, that we might receiue the promiſe of the Spirit through faith.

15 [17] Brethren, I ſpeake as [i] men doe: *though it be but a mans couenant, when it is [k] confirmed, yet no man doeth abrogate it, or addeth any thing thereto.

16 Nowe to Abraham and his ſeede were the promiſes made. He ſaith not, And to the ſeedes, as ſpeaking of many: but, And to thy ſeede, as of one, [18] which is [l] Chriſt.

17 [19] And this I ſay, that the couenant that was confirmed afore of God [m] in reſpect of Chriſt, the [20] Lawe which was foure hundred and thirtie yeeres after, cannot diſanull, that it ſhould make the promiſe of none effect.

18 [21] For if the [n] inheritance be of the Law, it is no more by the promiſe, but God gaue it freely vnto Abraham by promiſe.

19 [22] Wherefore then ſerueth the Lawe? It was added becauſe of the [o] tranſgreſſions, [p] till the ſeede came, vnto the which the promiſe was made: [23] and it was [q] ordeined by [r] Angels in the hand of a Mediatour.

20 Now a Mediatour is not a Mediatour of one: [24] but God is one.

21 [25] Is the Lawe then againſt the promiſes of God? God forbidde: For if there had beene a Lawe giuen which coulde haue giuen life, ſurely righteouſneſſe ſhould haue beene by the Lawe.

22 But the [s] Scripture hath *concluded [t] all vnder ſinne, that the [u] promiſe by the faith of Jeſus Chriſt ſhould be giuen to them that beleeue.

23 [26] But before faith came, we were kept vnder the Lawe, as vnder a garriſon, and ſhut vp vnto [x] that faith, which ſhould afterward be reueiled.

24 Wherefore the Lawe was our ſchoolemaſter to bring vs to Chriſt, that we might be made righteous by faith.

25 But after that faith is come, we are no longer with a ſchoolemaſter.

26 [27] For ye are all the ſonnes of God by faith in Chriſt Jeſus.

27 [28] For all yee that are [y] baptized into Chriſt, haue [z] put on Chriſt.

28 There is neither Jewe nor Grecian: there is neither bond nor free: there is neither male nor female: for ye are all [a] one in Chriſt Jeſus.

29 And if ye be Chriſtes, then are ye Abrahams ſeede: and heires by promiſe.

p Vntil the partition wall was broken downe, and that full ſeede ſprang vp, framed of two peoples, both of Iewes and Gentiles for by this word Seede, we may not vnderſtand, Chriſt alone by himſelfe, but coupled and ioyned together with his body.

23 A confirmation of the former anſwere taken from the maner & forme of giuing the Lawe: for it was giuen by Angels, ſtriking a great terrour into all, and by Moſes a Mediatour comming betweene. Note they that are not neede no mediator, but they that are twaine at leaſt, and that are at variance one with another. Therefore the Lawe is ſeene and the Mediator, where twinneſſes of the hearts of God, and that God would by this meanes reconcile men to himſelfe, and abolith the promiſe, or adde the Lawe vnto the promiſe.

q Commanded and giuen, or proclaimed. r By the ſeruice and miniſterie. 24 A taking a way of an obiection, leaſt any man might ſay, that ſometimes by conſent of the parties which haue made a couenant, ſomething is added to the couenant, or the former couenants are broken. This, ſayeth the Apoſtle, commeth not to paſſe in God, who is alwayes one, and the ſelfe ſame, and like himſelfe. 25 The concluſion vttered by a maner of aſking a queſtion, and it is that ſame that was vttered before, verſe 17. but proceeding of another rule: ſo that the argument is newe, and is this: God is alwayes like vnto himſelfe: Therefore the Law was not giuen to aboliſh the promiſes. But it ſhould aboliſh them if it gaue life, ſo by that meanes it ſhould inſtifie, & therefore it ſhould aboliſh that iuſtification which was promiſed to Abraham and to his ſeede by faith. May it was rather giuen to bring to light the guiltineſſe of all men, to the ende that all beleeuers fleeing to Chriſt promiſed, might be freely iuſtified in him. s By this word, Scripture, he meaneth the Lawe. *Rom.3.9. t All men, and whatſoeuer commeth from man. u In euery one of theſe wordes, there lieth an argument againſt the merites of workes: for all theſe wordes, promiſe, faith, Chriſt, might be giuen, to beleuers, are againſt merites, and not one of them can ſtand with deſeruing workes. 26 Nowe there followeth an other handling of the ſecond part of this Epiſtle: the ſtate whereof was this: Although the Lawe (that is, the whole gouernement of Gods houſe according to the Lawe) doe not iuſtifie, is it therefore to be aboliſhed, ſeeing that Abraham himſelfe was circumciſed, and his poſteritie held ſtill the vſe of Moſes Lawe? Paul affirmeth that it ought to be aboliſhed, becauſe it was inſtituted for that end and purpoſe, that it ſhould be as it were a ſchoolemaſter and keeper to the people of God, vntill the promiſe appeared in deede, that is to ſay, Chriſt, and the Goſpel manifeſtly publiſhed with great efficacie of the Spirit. x The cauſe why wee were kept vnder the Lawe, is ſet downe here. 27 Becauſe age changeth not the condition of ſeruants, hee addeth that we are free by condition, and therefore, ſeeing we are out of our childehood, we haue no more neede of a keeper and ſchoolemaſter. 28 Vſing a generall particle, leaſt the Iewes at the leaſt ſhould not thinke themſelues bounde with the band of the Law, he pronounceth that Baptiſme is common to all beleeuers, becauſe it is a pledge of our deliuerie in Chriſt, as well to the Iewes as to the Grecians, that by this meanes all may be truely one in Chriſt, that is to ſay, that promiſed ſeede of Abraham, and inheritors of euerlaſting life. y He ſetteth Baptiſme, ſecretly againſt circumciſion, which the falſe apoſtles ſo much bragged of. z The Church muſt put on Chriſt, as it were a garment, and be couered with him, that it may be throughly holy, and without blame. a You are all one: and ſo is this great knot and coniunction ſignified.

CHAP.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Being deliuered from the bondage of the Law, 4 by Christes comming, who is the ende thereof, 9 it is very absurd to slide backe to beggerly ceremonies: 13 He calleth them againe therefore to the puritie of the doctrine of the Gospel, 21 confirming his discourse with a fine allegorie.

1 Then [1] I say, that the heire as long as he is a childe, differeth nothing from a seruant, though he be Lord of all,

2 But is vnder tutours and gouernours, [a] vntill the time appointed of the Father.

3 Euen so, we when we were children, were in bondage vnder the [b] rudiments of the world.

4 [2] But when the [c] fulnesse of time was come, God sent foorth his Sonne made of a [d] woman, and made vnder the Law,

5 That hee might redeeme them which were vnder the Lawe, that we *might receiue the [e] adoption of the sonnes.

6 [3] And because ye are sonnes, God hath [f] sent foorth the [g] Spirit of his Sonne into your hearts, which crieth, Abba, Father.

7 Wherefore, thou art no more a [h] seruant, but a sonne: nowe if thou be a sonne, thou art also the [i] heire of God through Christ.

8 [4] But euen then, when ye knewe not God, ye did seruice vnto them, which by nature are not Gods:

9 But now seeing ye know God, yea, rather are knowen of God, howe turne ye againe vnto impotent and [k] beggerly rudiments, whereunto as from the beginning ye will be in bondage [l] againe?

10 Ye obserue dayes, and moneths, and times and yeeres?

11 I am in feare of you, least I haue bestowed on you labour in vaine.

12 [5] Be ye as I (for I am euen as you) brethren, I beseech you: ye haue not hurt me at all.

13 And ye know how through [m] infirmitie of the flesh, I preached the Gospel vnto you at the first.

14 And the [n] triall of me which was in my flesh, ye despised not, neither abhorred: but ye receiued me as an Angel of God, yea, as [o] Christ Iesus.

15 [p] What was then your felicitie? for I beare you record, that if it had bene possible, ye would haue plucked out your owne eies, and haue giuen them vnto me.

16 Am I therefore become your enemie, because I tell you the trueth?

17 They are [q] ielous ouer you [r] amisse: yea, they would exclude you, that ye should altogether loue them.

18 But it is a good thing to loue [s] earnestly alwayes in a good thing, and not onely when I am present with you.

19 My litle children, of whom I trauaile in birth againe, vntill Christ be formed in you, 20 And I would I were with you nowe, that I might [t] change my voyce: for I am in doubt of you.

21 [6] Tell me, ye that [u] will be vnder the Lawe, doe ye not heare the Lawe?

22 For it is written, that Abraham had two sonnes, * one by a seruant, and * one by a free woman.

23 But he which was of the seruant was borne after the [x] flesh: and he which was of the free woman, was borne by [y] promise.

24 By the which things another thing is ment: for [z] these mothers are the [a] two testaments, the one which is Agar of mount [b] Sina, which gendreth vnto bondage.

25 (For Agar or Sina is a mountaine in

1 He declareth that by another pauble similitude, which he said before concerning the keeper and schoolemaster: For he saith, that the Law (that is, the whole gouernement of Gods house according to the Law) was as it were a tutour or ouerseer appointed for a time, vntill such time as that protection and ouerseeing which was but for a time, being ended, we should at length come to be at our owne libertie, & should liue as children, and not as seruants. Moreouer, he sheweth by the way, that that gouernance of the Law, was as it were an A.B.C. and as certeine principles, in compasion of the doctrine of the Gospel.

a This is added, because he that is alwayes vnder a tutour and gouernour, may hardly be counted a freeman.

b The Lawe is called rudiments, because that by the Lawe God instructed his Church as it were by rudiments, and afterward powred out his holy Spirit most plentifully in the time of the Gospel.

2 He vttereth and declareth many things at once, to wit, that this tutourship was ended at his time, that curious men may leaue to aske, why that schoolemastership lasted so long. And moreouer, that wee are not sonnes by nature, but by adoption and that in that Sonne of God, who therefore tooke vpon him our flesh, that we might be made his brethren.

c The time is said to be full, when all parts of it are past and ended, and therefore Christ coulde not haue come either sooner or later.

d He calleth Marie a woman, in respect of the sexe, and not as the worde is vsed in a contrary sence to a virgine, for she remained a virgine still. *Rom.8.15.

e The adoption of the sonnes of God, is from euerlasting, but it is reueiled & shewed in the time appointed for it.

3 He sheweth that we are in such sort free and set at libertie, that in the meane season we must be gouerned by the Spirit of Christ, which reigning in our hearts, may teach vs the true seruice of the Father. But this is not to serue, but rather to enioy true libertie, as it becommeth sonnes and heires.

f By that that followeth he gathereth that that went before: for if wee haue his Spirit, we are his sonnes, and if we are his sonnes, then are we free.

g The holy Ghost, who is both of the Father and of the Sonne: but there is a peculiar reason why he is called the Spirit of the Sonne, to wit, because the holy Ghost sealeth vp our adoption in Christ, and maketh vs a full assurance of it.

h The word, seruant, is not taken here for one that liueth in sinne, which is proper to the infidels, but for one that is yet vnder the ceremonies of the Law, which is proper to the Iewes.

i Partaker of this blessing.

4 He applieth the former doctrine to the Galatians, with a peculiar reprehension: for in comparison of them, the Iewes might haue pretended some excuse as men that were borne and brought vp in that seruice of the Lawe. But seeing the Galatians were taken and called out of idolatrie to Christian libertie: what pretence might they haue to goe backe to those impotent and beggerly rudiments.

k They are called impotent and beggerly ceremonies, being considered apart by themselues without Christ: and againe, for that by that meanes they gaue good testimonie that they were beggers in Christ, when as notwithstanding, for men to fall backe from Christ to ceremonies, is nothing els, but to cast away riches, and to followe beggerie.

l By going backward.

5 He mitigateth and qualifieth those things, wherin he might haue seemed to haue spoken somewhat sharply, very artificially and diuinely, declaring his good will towards them in such sort, that the Galatians could not but either be vtterly desperate when they reade these things, or acknowledge their owne lightnesse with teares, and desire pardon.

m Many afflictions.

n Those dayly troubles wherewith the Lord tried me amongst you.

o For my ministeries sake.

p What a talke was there abroad in the world amongst men, howe happy you were.

q For they are iealous ouer you for their owne commoditie.

r That they may conuey all your loue from me, to themselues.

s He setteth his owne true and good loue which was earnestly bent towards them, against the naughtie vicious loue of the false apostles.

t Vse other word among you.

6 Because the false apostles vrged this, that vnlesse the Gentiles were circumcised, Christ could profit them nothing at all, and this dissension of them which beleeued of the circumcision, against them which beleeued of the vncircumcision, was full of offence: the Apostle, after diuers arguments wherby he hath refuted their errour, bringeth forth an allegorie, wherein he saith, the holy Ghost did shadow out vnto vs, all these mysteries: to wit, that it should come to passe, that two sortes of sonnes should haue Abraham, a father common to them both: but not with like successe: for as Abraham begate Ismael, by the common course of nature, of Agar his bond maide and a stranger, and begate Isaac of Sara a free woman by the vertue of the promise, and by grace only, and the first was not onely not heire, but also persecuted the heire: So there are two couenants, and as it were two sonnes borne to Abraham of those two couenants, as it were of two mothers. The one was made in Sina, without the land of promise, according to which couenant Abrahams children according to the flesh were begotten: to wit, the Iewes, which seeke righteousnesse by that couenant, that is, by the Law: but they are not heires, nay they shall at length be cast out of the house, as they that persecute the true heires. The other was made in that high Hierusalem, or in Sion, (to wit, by the sacrifice of Christ) which begetteth children of promise, to wit, beleeuers, by the vertue of the holy Ghost, which children (as Abraham) doe rest themselues in the free promise, and they onely by the right of children shall be partakers of the fathers inheritance, and these seruants shall be shut out.

a That desire so greatly. *Gene.16.15. *Gene.21.1.

x As all men are, and by the common course of nature.

y By the vertue of the promise, which Abraham layed hold on for himselfe and his true seede, for otherwise Abraham and Sara were past begetting and bearing children.

z These doe represent and shadowe foorth.

a They are called two couenants, one of the old Testament, and another of the Newe: which were not two in deede, but in respect of the times, and the diuersitie of the gouernement.

b He maketh mention of Sina, because that couenant was made in that mountaine, of which mountaine Agar was a shadowe.

Arabia

Arabia, and it [c] answereth to Hierusalem, which now is) and [d] she is in bondage with her children.

26 But Hierusalem, which is [c] aboue, is free: which is the mother of vs all.

27 [7] For it is written, *Reioyce thou barren that bearest no children: breake forth, and crie, thou that trauailest not: for the [f] desolate hath many moe children, then she which hath an husband.

28 *Therefore, brethren, we are after the [g] maner of Isaac, children of the [h] promise.

29 But as then he that was borne after the [i] flesh, persecuted him that was borne after the [k] Spirit, euen so it is now.

30 But what saith the Scripture, *Put out the seruant and her sonne: for the sonne of the seruant shall not be heire with the sonne of the free woman.

31 [8] Then brethren, wee are not children of the seruant, but of the free woman.

CHAP. V.

1 Hauing declared that wee came of the free woman, hee sheweth the price of that freedome, 13 and howe we should vse the same, 16 that wee may obey the Spirite, 19 and resist the flesh.

STand fast therefore in the libertie wherewith Christ hath made vs free, and be not intangled againe with the yoke of bondage.

2 [1]*Behold, I Paul say vnto you, that if ye be [a] circumcised, Christ shall profite you nothing.

3 For I testifie againe to euery man, which is circumcised, that he is bound to keepe the whole Lawe.

4 Ye are *[b] abolished from Christ: whosoeuer are [c] iustified by the Lawe, ye are fallen from grace.

5 [2] For we through the [d] Spirit waite for the hope of righteousnesse through faith.

6 [3] For in Iesus Christ neither circumcision auaileth any thing, neither [4] vncircumcision, [5] but [e] faith which worketh by loue.

7 [6] Ye did run well: who did let you, that ye did not obey the trueth?

8 [7] It is not the perswasion of [f] him that calleth you.

9 *[8] A litle leauen doth leauen the whole lumpe.

10 [9] I haue trust in you through the Lord, that ye will be none otherwise minded: but hee that troubleth you, shall beare his condemnation, whosoeuer he be.

11 [10] And brethren, if I yet preach circumcision, why doe I yet suffer persecution? Then is the slander of the crosse abolished.

12 [11] Would to God they were euen cut off, which doe [s] disquiet you.

13 For brethren, ye haue bene called vnto libertie: [12] onely vse not your libertie as an occasion vnto the flesh, but by loue serue one another.

14 [13] For [h] all the Lawe is fulfilled in one worde, which is this, *Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

15 [14] If ye bite and deuoure one another, take heede lest ye be consumed one of another.

16 [15] Then I say, *Walke in the Spirite, and yee shall not fulfill the lustes of the flesh.

17 For the [i] flesh lusteth against the Spirite, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary one to an other, so that ye cannot doe the same things that ye would.

18 And if ye be led by the Spirit, ye are not vnder the Lawe.

19 [16] Moreouer the workes of the flesh are manifest, which are adulterie, fornication, vncleannes, wantonnes,

20 Idolatrie, witchcraft, hatred, debate, emulations, wrath, contentions, seditions, heresies, 21 Enuie, murthers, drunkennes, gluttonie, and such like, whereof I tell you before, as I also haue tolde you before, that they which doe such things, shall not inherite the kingdome of God.

22 But the [k] fruite of the Spirite is loue, ioy, peace, long suffering, gentlenes, goodnes, faith,

---

[a] Looke howe the case standeth betwixt Agar and her children, euen so standeth it betweene Ierusalem and hers.

[b] That is, Sina.

[c] Which is excellent, and of great accompt.

[d] He sheweth that in this allegorie, he hath followen the steps of Esai, who foretold that the Church should be made and consist of the children of barren Sara, that is to say, of them which onely spiritually should be made Abrahams children by faith, rather then of fruitfull Agar, euen then foreshewing the casting off of the Iewes, and calling of the Gentiles. * Esai.54.1. [f] She that is destroyed and wasted. *Rom.8.9. [g] After the maner of Isaac, who is the first begotten of the heauenly Hierusalem, as Ismael is of the slauish Synagogue. [h] That seed vnto which the promise belongeth. [i] By the cõmon course of nature. [k] By the vertue of Gods promise and after a spiritual maner. *Gen.21.10. [8] The conclusion of the former allegorie, that we by no meanes procure or call backe againe the slauerie of the Law, seeing that the children of the bondmaid shal not be heires.

[1] Another obtestation wherein he plainely witnesseth that iustification of workes, and iustification of faith cannot stand together, because no man can be iustified by the Law, but he that doeth fully and perfectly fulfill it. And he taketh the example of circumcision, because it was the ground of all the seruice of the Lawe, and was chiefly vrged of the false apostles. *Actes 15.1. a Circumcision is in other places called the seale of righteousnesse, but here we must haue consideration of the circumstance of the time, for nowe had Baptisme come in the place of Circumcision. And moreouer Paul reasoneth according to the opinion that his enemies had of it, which made circumcision a piece of their saluation. *1.Cor.1.17. b That is, as he himselfe expoundeth it afterward, yet are fallen from grace. c That is, seeke to be iustified by the Lawe, for in deede no man is iustified by the Lawe. 2 He priuily compareth the new people with the old: for it is certaine that they also did ground all their hope of iustification and life in faith, and not in circumcision, but so, that their faith was wrapped in the externall and ceremoniall worship: but our faith is bare and content with spirituall worship. d Through the Spirit, which ingendreth faith. 3 He addeth a reason, for that now circumcision is abolished, seeing that Christ is exhibited vnto vs with full plentie of spirituall circumcision. 4 He maketh mention also of vncircumcision, least the Gentiles should please themselues in it, as the Iewes doe in circumcision. 5 The taking away of an obiection: If all that worship of the Law be taken away, wherein then shall wee exercise our selues? In charitie, saith Paul: for faith whereof we speake cannot be idle, nay it bringeth forth daily fruites of charitie. e So is true faith distinguished from counterfeite faith: for charitie is not ioyned with faith as a fellowe cause, to helpe forward our iustification with faith.

[6] Against he chideth the Galatians, but with an admiration, and therewithal a praise of their former race, to the end that he may make them more ashamed. [7] He playeth the part of an Apostle with them, and vseth his authoritie, denying that that doctrine can come from God, which is cõtrary to his. [f] Of God. *1.Cor.5.6. [8] Hee addeth this, that he may not seeme to contend vpõ a trifle, warning the diligently (by a similitude which he borroweth of leauen, as Christ himselfe also doth) not to suffer the puritie of the Apostolicall doctrine, to be infected with the least corruption that may be. [9] He mitigateth the former reprehension, casting the fault vpon the false apostles, against whom he denounceth the horrible iudgement of God. [10] He inciteth them to constancie, how that he seeketh not his own profite in this matter, seeing that he could eschewe the hatred of men, if he would ioyne Iewdaisme with Christianitie. [11] An example of a true Pastor inflamed with the zeale of Gods glory, and loue of his flocke. [g] For they that preach the Law, cause mens consciences alwayes to tremble. [12] The third part of this Epistle, shewing that the right vse of Christian libertie consisteth in this, that being deliuered and set at libertie from the slauerie of sinne & the flesh, and being obedient to the spirite, we should serue vnto one anothers saluation through loue. [13] He propoundeth the loue of our neighbour, as a marke whereunto all Christians ought to referre all their actions, and thereunto he citeth the testimonie of the Law. [h] This particle (All) must be restrained to the second Table. *Leuit.19.18. matth.22.39. mar.12.31. rom.13.9. iames 2.8. [14] An exhortation to the practice of charitie, by the profite that ensueth thereof, because that no men prouide wisely for themselues, then they that hate one another. [15] He acknowledgeth the great weakenesse of the godly, for that they are but in part regenerate: but hee willeth them to remember that they are indued with the Spirite of God, which hath deliuered them from the slauerie of sinne, and so of the Lawe so farre foorth as it is the vertue of sinne, that they should not giue themselues to lustes. *Rom.13.14. 1.pet.2.11. [i] For the flesh dwelleth euen in the regenerate man, but the Spirite reigneth, although not without great strife, as is largely set foorth, Rom 7. [16] He setteth out that particularly, which he spake generally, reckening vp some chiefe effects of the flesh, and opposing them to the fruites of the Spirite, that no man may pretend ignorance. [k] Therefore they are not the fruites of free will, but so farre foorth as our will is made free by grace.

17 Least that any man should obiect, ℣ Paul played the Sophister, as one who urging the Spirit, vrgeth nothing but that which the Law commandeth, he sheweth that he requireth not that literall and outward obedience, but spirituall, which proceedeth not from the Lawe, but from the Spirit of Christ, which doth beget vs againe, and must and ought to be the ruler and guider of our life.

23 Meekenesse, temperance: 17 against such there is no lawe.

24 For they that are Christes, haue crucified the flesh with the affections and the lustes.

25 If we [l] liue in the Spirite, let vs also walke in the Spirite.

26 [18] Let vs not be desirous of vaine glorie, prouoking one another, enuying one another.

l If we be in deede endued with the quickening Spirit, which causeth vs to die to sinne, and liue to God, let vs shew it in our deeds, that is, by holines of life. 18 He adderh peculiar exhortations according as he knewe the Galatians subiect to diuers vices: and first of all he warneth them to take heede of ambition, which vice hath two followers, backebiting and enuie, out of which two it cannot be but many contentions must needes rise.

CHAP. VI.

1 Nowe he entreateth particularly of charitie toward such as offend, 6 toward the ministers of the word, 10 and those that are of the household of faith: 12 Not like vnto such who haue a counterfaite zeale of the Lawe, 13 glorying in the mangling of the flesh, 14 and not in the crosse of Christ.

1 He condemneth importunate rigour, because that hys therein reprehensions ought to be moderated and tempered by the spirit of meekenesse.

BRethren, [1] if a man be [a] suddenly taken in any offence, ye which are [b] spirituall, [c] restore such one with the [d] spirit of meekenesse, [2] considering thy selfe, least thou also be tempted.

a Through the malice of the flesh and the deuill.

b Which are vpholden by the vertue of Gods Spirit.

c Labour to fill vp that that is wanting in him.

d This is a kinde of speech which the Hebrewes vse, giuing to vnderstand thereby, that all good gifts come from God.

2 He toucheth the sore: for they commonly are most seuere iudges, which forget their owne infirmities. 5 He sheweth that this is the end of reprehensions, to raise vp our brother which is fallen, and not proudly to oppresse him. Therefore euery one must seeke to haue commendation of his owne life by approuing of himselfe, and not by reprehending others. e Christ, in plaine and flat words, calleth the commaundement of charitie, his commandement. * 1.Cor.3.8. 4 A reason, wherefore men ought to haue the greatest eye vpon themselues, because that euery man shall be iudged before God, according to his owne life, and not by comparing himselfe with other men. 5 It is meete that maisters should be found by their schollars, so farre forth as they are able. f Of whatsoeuer hee hath, according to his abilitie. * 1.Cor.9.7. 6 He commendeth liberalitie towards the poore, and strikes of all chideth them which were not ashamed to pretend this and that, and all because they would not helpe their neighbours, as though they could deceiue God: and afterwards compareth almes to a spirituall sowing, which shall haue a most plentifull harueste, so that it shall be very profitable: and compareth couetous nigardlines to a carnall sowing, whereof nothing can be gathered but such things as fade away, and perish by and by.

[2] Considering thy selfe, &c. Beare ye one anothers burden, &c. [3] Beare ye one anothers burden, and so fulfill the [e] Law of Christ.

3 For if any man seeme to himselfe, that he is somewhat, when he is nothing, he deceiueth himselfe in his imagination.

4 But let euery man proue his owne worke: and then shal he haue reioycing in himselfe onely and not in another.

5 *[4] For euery man shall beare his owne burden.

6 [5] Let him that is taught in the word, make him that hath taught him, partaker of [f] all his * goods.

7 [6] Be not deceiued: God is not mocked: for whatsoeuer a man soweth, that shall he also reape.

8 For he that soweth to his [g] flesh, shall of the flesh reape corruption: but he that soweth to the spirit, shall of the spirite reape life euerlasting.

g To the commodities of this present life.

9 *Let vs not therefore be wearie of well doing: for in due season we shall reape, if we faint not.

*2.Thess.3.13.

7 Against such as are liberall at the beginning, but continue not, because the harueste seemeth to be deferred very long, as though the seede time & the harueste were at one instant.

10 [8] While we haue therefore time, let vs doe good vnto al men, but specially vnto them, which are of the houshold of faith.

8 They that are of the houshold of faith, that is, such as are ioyned with vs in the profession of one selfe same religion ought to be preferred before all other, yet so notwithstanding that our liberalitie extend to all.

11 [9] Ye see howe large a letter I haue written vnto you with mine owne hand.

9 The fourth and last part of the Epistle, wherein he returneth to his principall end and purpose to wit, that the Galatians should not suffer themselues to be led out of the way by the false apostles: 10 he painteth out those false apostles by their colours, reproouing them of ambition, as men that do not that which they do, for any affection and zeale they haue to the Lawe, but onely for this purpose, that they may purchase themselues fauour against their owne sort, by the circumcision of the Galatians. h He setteth a faire shewe against the trueth. i In keeping of ceremonies. k For the preaching of him that was crucified. l That they haue entangled you in Iudaisme, and yet he harpeth on the forme of circumcision. 10 He flicketh not to compare himselfe with them, shewing that on the contrary part he reioyceth in those afflictions which he sustained for Christes sake, and as he is despised of the world, so doeth he in like sort esteeme the world as nought: which is the true circumcision of a true Israelite. m When Paul vseth this word in a good sense or part, it signifieth to rest a mans selfe wholy in a thing, and to content himselfe therewith. n Vpon the true Israel, whose praise is of God, & not of men, Rom.2.29. 11 Continuing still in the same metaphore, he opposeth his miseries and the marks of those stripes which he bare for Christes sake against the skar of the outward Circumcision, as a true marke of his Apostleship. o Marks which are burnt into a mans flesh, as they vsed it in old time, to marke their seruants ℣ had run away from them. p For it importeth much, whose marks we beare: for ℣ cause maketh the Martyr, & not the punishment. 12 Taking his farewel of them, he witheth the grace, and the Spirit against the deceits of the false apostles, which laboured to bring those outward things into their braines. q With your mindes and hearts.

[10] But God forbid that I should [m] reioyce, but in the crosse of our Lorde Iesus Christ, whereby the world is crucified vnto me, and I vnto the world.

15 For in Christ Iesus neither circumcision auaileth any thing, nor vncircumcision, but a newe creature.

16 And as many as walke according to this rule, peace shall be vpon them, and mercy, and vpon the [n] Israel of God.

17 [11] From hencefoorth let no man put me to busines: for I beare in my body the [o] marks of the [p] Lord Iesus.

18 [12] Brethren, the grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with your [q] spirit, Amen.

k For the crosse of Christ. [12] Not like vnto such who haue a counterfaite zeale of the Lawe, 13 glorying in the mangling of the flesh, 14 and not in the crosse of Christ.

l In the flesh.

m reioyce.

The

The Epistle of Paul to the Ephesians.

CHAP. I.

1 After the salutation, 4 he entreateth of the free election of God, 5 and adoption, 7. 13 from whence mans salvation floweth as from the true naturall fountaine: and because so high a mysterie cannot be understood, 16 he prayeth that the full 20 knowledge of Christ may by God be revealed vnto the Ephesians.

1 The inscription and salutation, whereof we haue spoken in the former Epistles. *1.Cor.1.2.

PAVL [1] an Apostle of IESVS CHRIST by the will of God, to the *Saints, which are at Ephesus, & to the *faithful in Christ Iesus.

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

4 This is the definition of the Saints, shewing what they are. *1.Cor.1.3. 1.pet.1.3.

2 The first part of the Epistle, wherein he handleth all the parts of our saluation, propounding the example of the Ephesians, and diuers exhortations, and beginning after his maner with thanksgiuing.

3 *[2] Blessed be God, [3] and the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, [4] which hath blessed vs with [b] all spirituall blessing in [c] heauenly things in [5] Christ,

3 The efficient cause of our saluation is God, not considered confusedly and generally, but as the father of our Lord Iesus Christ.

4 *[6] As he hath chosen vs in [d] him, before the foundation of the world, [7] that we [e] should [f] be holy, & without blame [g] before him in loue:

4 The next final cause, and in respect of vs, is our saluation, all things being bestowed vpon vs which are necessarie to our saluation, which kind of blessing is heauenly and proper to the elect.

5 *[8] Who hath predestinate vs, to be adopted through Iesu Christ [h] in himselfe, according to the good pleasure of his will,

6 *[9] To the [i] praise of the glory of his grace, [10] wherewith he hath made vs freely accepted in his beloued,

7 *[11] By whom wee haue redemption through his blood, euen the forgiuenesse of sinnes, according to his rich grace:

8 *[12] [k] Whereby he hath beene abundant toward vs in [l] all wisedome and vnderstanding,

9 And hath opened vnto vs the [m] mysterie of his will [13] according to his good pleasure, which he hath purposed in him,

10 [14] That in the dispensation of the fulnesse of the times, he might [n] gather together in one all things, both which are in heauen, and which are in earth, euen in Christ:

11 *[15] In whom also we are chosen when we were predestinate according to the purpose of him, which worketh [o] all things after the counsell of his owne will,

12 That we, which [p] first trusted in Christ, should be vnto the praise of his glory:

13 *[16] In whom also ye haue trusted, after that ye heard the [q] word of trueth, euen the Gospell of your saluation, wherein also after that ye beleeued, ye were [r] sealed with the holy [s] Spirit of promise, 14 Which is [t] the earnest of our inheritance, for the [t] redemption of that libertie purchased vnto the praise of his glory.

15 *[17] Therefore also after that I heard of the faith, which ye haue in the Lorde Iesus, and loue toward all the Saints,

16 I cease not to giue thankes for you making mention of you in my prayers,

17 *[18] That the God of our Lorde Iesus Christ, the Father of [u] glorie, might giue vnto you the spirit of wisedome, and reuelation through the [x] acknowledging of him.

18 That the eies of your vnderstanding may be lightened, that ye may knowe what the [y] hope is of his calling, and what the riches of his glorious inheritance is in the Saints,

19 *[19] And what is the exceeding greatnesse of his power toward vs, which beleeue, * according to the working of his mightie power,

5 The matter of our saluation is Christ, in whom onely we are indued with spirituall blessing and vnto saluation.

6 He declareth the efficient cause, or by what meanes God y Father saueth vs in his Sonne: Because saith he, he chose vs from euerlasting in his Sonne.

d To be adopted in him.

7 He expoundeth the finall cause which he maketh double, to wit, sanctification, and iustification, whereof he will speake hereafter. And hereby also two things are to be noted, to wit, that holinesse of life cannot be separate from the grace of election: and againe, what pureness soeuer is in vs, is þ gift of God who hath freely of his mercy chosen vs.

e Then God did not chuse vs, because we were, or otherwise should haue bene holy, but to the end we should be holy.

f Being clothed with Christes righteousnes.

g Truely and sincerely.

8 An other plainer exposition of the efficient cause, and also of eternall election, whereby God is said to haue chosen vs in Christ, to wit, because it pleased him to appoint vs out when we were not yet borne, whom he would make to be his children by Iesus Christ: so that there is no reason here of our election to be sought, but in þ free mercy of God, neither is faith which God foresaw, the cause of predestination, but þ effect.

h God respecteth nothing, either that present is, or that is to come, but himselfe only.

9 The vttermost and chiefest finall cause is the glory of God the Father, who saueth vs freely in his Sonne.

i That as his bountifull goodnes deserueth al praise, so also it should be set foorth and published.

10 Another finall cause more neere, is our iustification, while þ he freely accounteth vs for iust, in his Sonne.

11 An expounding of the material cause, how we are made acceptable to God in Christ, for it is he only whose sacrifice by the mercy of God is imputed vnto vs, for forgiuenes of sinnes.

12 Now he commeth at length to the formall cause, that is to say to vocation or preaching of the Gospel, whereby God executeth that eternall counsell of our free reconciliation and saluation in Christ. And putting in place of the Gospel all wisdome and vnderstanding, he sheweth how excellent it is.

k By which gracious goodnesse and bountifulnesse.

l In perfite and sound wisdome.

m For vnlesse the Lord had opened vnto vs that mysterie, we could neuer haue so much as dreamed of our selues.

13 Not only the election, but also the vocation proceedeth of meere grace.

14 The father exhibited and gaue Christ, who is the heir of all the elect vnto the which, at that time which was conuenient according as he hath wisely disposed all times from euerlasting. For Christ is he, in whom all the elect from the beginning of the world, (otherwise wandering and separated from God) are gathered together: which some were then in heauen, when he came into the earth, (to wit, such as by faith in him to come, were gathered together) and other being found vpon the earth, were gathered together of him, and the rest are daily gathered together.

n The faithfull are said to be gathered together in Christ, because they are ioyned together with him through faith, and become as it were one man.

15 He applieth seuerally the benefite of vocation to the beleeuing Iewes, going backe to the very fountaine, that euen they also may not attribute their saluation, neither to themselues, nor to their flocke, nor to any other thing, but to the onely grace and mercie of God, both because they were called, & also because they were first called.

o All things are attributed to þ grace of God without exception, and yet for all that, we are not flocks, for he giueth vs grace both to will, & to be able to doe those things that are good, Phil.2.13.

p He speaketh of the Iewes.

16 Now he maketh the Ephesians (or rather all the Gentiles) equall to the Iewes, because that notwithstanding they came last, yet, being called by the same Gospel, they embraced it by faith, and were sealed vp by the same spirit, which is the pledge of election, vntill the inheritance it selfe be seene, that in them also the glory of God might shine foorth, and be manifested.

q That word which is trueth in deede, because it commeth from God.

r This is a borowed kind of speach taken of a seale, which being put to any thing, maketh a difference betweene those things that are authentical, and others that are not.

s With that Spirit, which bringeth not the Law, but the promise of free adoption.

t Full and perfect.

17 He returneth to the former gratulation, concluding two things together of those things that went before, the first is, that all good things come to vs frō God the Father in Christ, and by Christ, that for them he may be praised of vs. The second is, that all those things (which he bringeth to two heads, to wit, faith and charitie) are increased in vs by certaine degrees, so that wee must desire increase of his grace, from whom we haue the beginning, and of whom we hope for the end.

18 The causes of faith, are God the Father lightening our minds with his holy Spirit, that we may embrace Christ opened vnto vs in the Gospel, to the obteining of euerlasting life, and the setting foorth of Gods glorie.

u Full of maiestie.

x For it is not enough for vs to haue knowen God once, but wee must knowe him euery day more and more.

y What blessings they are which he calleth you to hope for whom he calleth to Christ.

19 The excellencie of faith is declared by the effects, because the mightie power of God is set foorth and shewed therein.

*Chap.3.7. col.2.12.

20 The Apostle willeth to behold in our most glorious Christ with the eyes of faith that most excellent power & glory of God, wherewith all the faithful are partakers, although it be as yet very darke in us, by reason of the ignominie of the crosse and the weakenesse of the flesh.

20 [20] Which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his [z] right hand in the heauenly places, 21 Farre aboue all principalitie, & power, and might, and domination, and euery [a] Name, that is named, not in this world onely, but also in that that is to come.

22 [21] And hath made all things subiect vnder his feete, & hath giuen him ouer al things to be the [b] head to the Church, 23 Which is his body, euen the [c] fulnesse of him that filleth all in all things.

z To be set on Gods right hand, is to be partaker of the soueraignrie which he hath ouer all creatures. a Euery thing whatsoeuer it bee, or aboue all things be they of neuer such power or excellencie. 21 That we should not thinke that, that excellent glory of Christ is a thing wherewith we haue nought to do, he witnesseth, that he was appointed of God the Father head of all the Church, and therefore the body must be ioyned to this head which other wise should be a maimed thing without the members which notwithstanding is not of necessitie (seeing that the Church is rather quickened and sustained by the only vertue of Christ, so farre off is it, that he needeth the fulnesse thereof) but of the infinite good will and pleasure of God, who vouchsafeth to ioyne vs to his Sonne. b In so much that there is nothing but it is subiect to him. c For the loue of Christ is so great towards the Church, that though he do fully satisfie all with all things, yet he esteemeth himselfe, but a maimed & vnperfect head, vnlesse he haue the Church ioyned vnto him as his body.

CHAP. II.

1 The better to set out the grace of Christ, he vseth a comparison, calling them to mind, 5 that they were altogether castawayes and aliants. 8 That they are saued by grace, 13 and brought neere, 16 by reconciliation through Christ, 17 published by the Gospel.

1 He declareth again the greatnesse of Gods good will by comparing that miserable state wherein we are borne, with that dignitie whereunto we are auanced by God the Father in Christ. So that he describeth that condition in such sort, that he saith, that touching spirituall motions we are not only borne halfe dead, but wholy and altogether dead. *Colossians 2, 13.

AND [1] *you hath he quickned, that were [a] dead in [2] trespasses and sinnes,

2 [3] Wherein, in times past ye walked, [4] according to the course of this worlde, and [b] after the prince that ruleth in the aire, euen the spirit, that nowe [5] worketh in the [c] children of disobedience,

3 [6] Among whom wee also had our conuersation in time past in the lusts of our [d] flesh, in fulfilling the will of the flesh, and of the minde, and [7] were by nature the [c] children of wrath, as wel as [f] others.

4 [8] But God which is rich in mercie, through his great loue wherewith hee loued vs,

5 Euen when wee were dead by sinnes, hath quickned vs together in Christ, by whose grace ye are saued, a Looke, Rom. 6.2.

So then he calleth them dead, which are not regenerate: for as the immortalitie of them which are damned, is no life, so this knitting together of body and soule, is properly no life, but death in them which are not ruled by the Spirit of God. 2 He sheweth the cause of death, to wit, sinnes. 3 Hee prooueth by the effects that all were spiritually dead. 4 He prooueth this euil to be vniuersal, insomuch as all are slaues of Satan. b At the pleasure of the prince. 5 Men are therefore slaues to Satan, because they are willingly rebellious against God. c They are called the children of disobedience, which are giuen to disobedience. 6 After that he hath seuerally condemned the Gentiles, he confesseth that the Iewes amongst whom he numbreth himself, are not a whit better. d By the name of flesh in the first place, he meaneth the whole man, which he deuideth into two parts: into the flesh, which is the part that the Philosophers terme without reason, & into ỹ thought, which they call reasonable: so that he leaueth nothing in man halfe dead, but concludeth that the whole man is of nature the sonne of wrath. 7 The conclusion: All men are born subiect to the wrath and curse of God. e Men are said to be the children of wrath passiuely, that is to say, guiltie of euerlasting death by the iudgement of God, who is angry with them. f Prophane people which knew not God. 8 Now hereof followeth another member of the comparison, declaring our excellencie, to wit, that by the vertue of Christ we are deliuered from that death, and made partakers of eternal life, to the end that at length we may reigne with him. And by diuers and sundry meanes he beateth this into their heads, that the efficient cause of this deliuerie is the free mercy of God: and Christ himselfe is the material cause: and faith is the instrument, which also is the free gift of God: and the end is Gods glory.

6 And hath raised vs vp [g] together, and made vs sit together in the heauenly places in Christ Iesus,

7 That hee might shewe in the ages to come the exceeding riches of his grace through his kindnesse toward vs in Christ Iesus.

8 For by [h] grace ye are saued through faith, and that not of your selues: it is the gift of God,

9 [9] Not of workes, least any man should boast himselfe.

10 For we are [i] his workemanship created in Christ Iesus vnto good workes, which God hath ordeined, that we should walke in them.

11 [10] Wherefore remember that ye being in time past Gentiles in the flesh, and [k] called vncircumcision of them, which are [l] called circumcision in the flesh, made with handes.

12 That ye were, I say, at that time [m] without Christ, and were [n] aliants from the common wealth of Israel, and were * strangers from the couenant of promise, and had no hope, and were without God in the world.

13 [11] But now in Christ Iesus, ye which once were farre off, are made neere by ỹ blood of Christ.

14 [12] For he is our peace, which hath made of both one, and hath broken the stoppe of the partition wall,

15 * In abrogating through his flesh the hatred, that is, the Law of commaundements which standeth in ordinances, for to make of twaine one newe man in himselfe, so making peace,

16 And that he might reconcile both vnto God in [o] one body by his crosse, and [p] slay hatred thereby,

17 [13] And came, and preached peace to you which were afarre off, & to them ỹ were neere.

18 For [q] through him we both haue an entrance vnto the Father by one Spirite.

19 [14] Nowe therefore yee are no more strangers and forreiners: but citizens with the Saints, and of the houshold of God,

20 [15] And are built vpon the foundation

g To wit, as he addeth afterwards, in Christ, for as yet this is not fulfilled in vs but onely in our head, by whose spirit we haue begun to die to sin, and liue to God, vntil that worke be fully brought to an end: but yet the hope is certaine, for we are as sure of that we looke for, as we are of that we haue receiued already.

h So then, Grace, that is to say, the gift of God, and faith, doe stand one with another, to which two these are contrary, To be saued by our selues, or by our works. Therefore what meane they which would ioyne together things of so contrary nature?

9 He taketh away expressly and namely from our works the praise of iustification, seeing that the good works of the selues are the effects of grace in vs.

i He speaketh here of grace, & not of nature: therefore be the works neuer so good, looke what they are, they are of grace.

10 Applying the former doctrine to the Gentiles, he sheweth that they were not only as Iewes, by nature, but also after an especiall sort, strangers and without God: therefore they ought so much the rather remember that same so great a benefit of God. k You were called no otherwise then Gentiles, that all the world might be witnesse of your vocleannes. l Of the Iewes which were knowen from you by the marke of circumcision, the marke of the couenant. m Hee beginneth first with Christ, who was the end of all the promises. n You had no right or title, to ỹ common wealth of Israel. *Rom. 9.4. 11 Christ is the onely bond of the Iewes and Gentiles, whereby they be reconciled to God. 12 As by the ceremonies & worship appointed by the Law, the Iewes were deuided from the Gentiles, so now Christ, hauing broken downe the partition wall, ioyneth them both together, both in himselfe, and betwixt themselues, and to God. Thereby it followeth, that who so euer establisheth the ceremonies of the Law, maketh the grace of Christ void and of none effect. * Col. 2.14. o He alludeth to the sacrifices of the Law, which represented that true and only Sacrifice. p For he destroyed death by death, & fastened it as it were to the crosse. 13 The preaching of the Gospel is an effectus all instrument of this grace, common as well to the Iewes as to the Gentiles. q Christ is the gate as it were, by whom we come to the Father, & the holy Ghost is as it were our lodes man who leadeth vs. 14 The conclusion: The Gentiles are taken into the fellowship of saluation, and he describeth the excellencie of ỹ church calling it the citie and house of God. 15 The Lorde committed the doctrine of saluation, first to the Prophets, and then to the Apostles, the end whereof is euer ter as it were, and substance, is Christ. Therefore that is in deed the true & Catholique Church, which is builded vpon Christ by the Prophets and Apostles, as a spirituall temple consecrated to God.

of the Apostles and Prophets, Jesus Christ himselfe being the [r] chiefe corner stone, 21 In whom all the building [f] coupled together, groweth vnto an holy Temple in the Lord.

22 In whom ye also are built together to be the habitation of God by the Spirit.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee declareth that therefore hee suffered many things of the Iewes, 3 because her preached the mysterie touching the salvation of the Gentiles, 8 at Gods commaundement, 13 After he desired the Ephesians not to faint for his afflictions: 14 And for this cause he praieth vnto God, 18 that they may understand the great loue of Christ.

FOr [1] this cause, I Paul am the [a] prisoner of Jesus Christ for you Gentiles,

2 If yee haue heard of the dispensation of the grace of God, which is giuen me to youward,

3 That is, that God by reuelation hath shewed this mysterie vnto mee (as I wrote aboue in few words,

4 Whereby when yee reade, yee may know mine vnderstanding in the mysterie of Christ)

5 Which in [b] other ages was not opened vnto the sonnes of men, as it is now reueiled vnto his holy Apostles and Prophets by the Spirit,

6 That the Gentiles should be inheriters also, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the Gospel,

7 Whereof I am made a minister by the gift of the grace of God giuen vnto me through the effectual working of his power.

8 Euen vnto me the least of all Saintes is this grace giuen, that I should preach among the Gentiles the vnsearcheable riches of Christ,

9 And to make cleare vnto all men what the fellowship of the mysterie is, which from the beginning of the worlde hath bene hid in God, who hath created all things by Jesus Christ,

10 [2] To the intent, that now vnto principalities & powers in heauenly places, might be knowen by the Church the [c] manifold wisdom of God,

11 According to the [d] eternall purpose, which hee wrought in Christ Jesus our Lord:

12 By whom we haue boldnes & entrance with confidence, by faith in him.

13 Wherefore I desire that ye faint not at my tribulations for your sakes, which is your glory.

14 [3] For this cause I bowe my knees vnto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, 15 (Of whom is named the whole [e] family in heauen and in earth)

16 That he might grant you according to the [f] riches of his glory, that ye may be strengthened by his spirit in the [g] inner man,

17 That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith,

18 That ye, being rooted and grounded in [h] loue, may bee able to comprehend with all Saints, [i] what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height:

19 And to know the [k] loue of Christ, which [l] passeth knowledge, that ye may be filled with all [m] fulnesse of God.

20 [4] Vnto him therefore that is able to doe exceeding abundantly aboue all that wee aske or thinke, according to the power that worketh in vs, 21 Bee prayse in the Church by Christ Jesus, throughout all generations for euer, Amen.

1 That is, the head of the building, for the foundations are as it were y heads of the building. f So that God is the workeman not onely of the foundation, but also of the whole building.

2 He maintaineth his Apostleship against the offence of the crosse, wherefore also he vseth an argument to confirme himselfe, affirming that he was not onely appointed an Apostle by the mercy of God, but was also particularly appointed to the Gentiles, to call them on euery side to saluation, because God hath so determined it from the beginning, although he deferred a great while the manifestation of that his counsell.

a These words, the prisoner of Jesus Christ are taken passiuely, that is to say, I Paul am cast into prison for maintaining the glory of Christ.

b He meaneth not that none knew the calling of the Gentiles before, but because very few knew of it, and they that did know it, as the Prophets, had it reueiled vnto them very darkly and vnder figures.

2 The vnlooked for calling of the Gentiles, was as it were a glasse to the heauenly Angels, wherein they might behold the marueilous wisedom of God.

c God neuer had but one way onely, to saue men by: but it had diuers fashions and formes. d Which was before all beginnings.

3 He teacheth by his owne example, that the efficacie of the doctrine depended vpon the grace of God, & therefore he ought to ioyne prayers with the preaching and hearing of the word, which are needful not onely to them which are yong lings in religion, but euen to the oldest also, that they growing more and more by faith in Christ being confirmed with all spirituall gifts, may be grounded and rooted in the knowledge of that immeasurable loue, wherewith God the Father hath imbraced vs in Christ, seeing that the whole familie, whereof part is already receiued into heauen, and part is yet here on earth, dependeth vpon the adoption of the heauenly Father in his onely Sonne. e All that whole people, which hath but one houshold Father, and that is the Church which is adopted in Christ. f According to the greatnes of his mercy. g Looke Rom. 7. 22. h Wherewith God loueth vs, which is the roote of our election. i How perfite the worke of Christ is in euery part. k Which God hath shewed vs in Christ. l Which passeth all the capacitie of mans wit, to comprehend it fully in his minde: for otherwise who so hath the Spirit of God, perceiueth so much (according to the measure that God hath giuen him) as is sufficient to saluation. m So that we haue abundantly in vs, whatsoeuer things are requisite to make vs perfite with God. 4 He breaketh foorth into a thanksgiuing, where by the Ephesians also may be encouraged to hope for any thing of God.

CHAP. IIII.

These three last chapters conteine precepts of maners. 1 He exhorteth them to naturall loue. 7 Sundry gifts are therefore bestowed of God, 16 That the Church may be built vp. 18 He calleth them frō the vanitie of the infidels, 25 from lying, 29 and from filthie talke.

ITherfore, [1] being prisoner in the Lord, pray you that yee walke worthy of the [a] vocation whereunto ye are called,

2 [2] With all humblenesse of minde, and meekenesse, with [b] long suffering, supporting one another through loue,

3 [3] Endeuouring to keep the vnitie of the Spirite in the bond of peace.

4 [4] There is one bodie, and one Spirite, euen as ye are called in one hope of your vocation.

5 There is one Lord, one Faith, one Baptisme.

6 One God and Father of all, which is [c] aboue all, and [d] through all, and [e] in you all.

1 Another part of the Epistle, conteining precepts of christian life, the summe whereof is this, that euery man behaue himselfe as it is meete for so excellent grace of God.

a By this is meant the generall calling of the faithfull, which is this, to be holy as our God is holy.

2 Secondly, he commendeth meekenesse of mind, which is shewed partly by bearing one with another. b Looke Mat. 18. 25. 3 Thirdly, hee requireth perfite agreement, but yet such as is knit with the band of the holy Ghost. 4 An argument of great weight, for an earnest entertaining of brotherly loue and charitie one with another, because we are made one body as it were of one God and Father, by one Spirit, worshipping one Lord with one faith, and consecrated to him with one Baptisme, & hope for one self same glory, whereunto we are called. Therefore who soeuer breaketh charitie, breaketh all these things asunder. c Who onely hath the chiefe authoritie ouer the Church. d Who onely powreth foorth his prouidence, through all the members of the Church. e Who onely is ioyned together with vs in Christ.

7 [5] But vnto euerie one of vs is giuen grace, accozding to the meaſure of the [f] gift of Chriſt.

8 Wherefoze he ſaith, When hee aſcended vp on hie, he ledde [g] captiuitie captiue, and gaue gifts vnto men.

9 (Nowe, in that he aſcended, what is it but that hee had alſo deſcended firſt into the [h] loweſt parts of the earth?

10 Hee that deſcended, is euen the ſame that aſcended, farre aboue all heauens, that he might [i] fill [k] all things)

11 [6] He therefoze gaue ſome to be [l] Apoſtles, and ſome [m] Prophets, and ſome [n] Euangeliſts, and ſome [o] Paſtors, and Teachers,

12 [7] For the repairing of the Saints, for the woꝛke of the miniſterie, and for the edification of the [p] body of Chriſt,

13 [8] Till wee all meete together (in the [q] vnitie of faith and that acknowledging of the Sonne of God) vnto a perfite man, and vnto the meaſure of the [r] age of the fulneſſe of Chriſt, 14 [9] That we hencefoꝛth be no moꝛe childꝛen, [10] wauering and caried about with euerie winde of doctrine, by the [s] deceite of men, and [t] with craftines, whereby they lay in waite to deceiue.

15 [11] But let vs follow the trueth in loue, and in all things, growe vp into him, which is the head, that is, Chriſt, 16 By whom all the bodie beeing coupled and knit together by euery ioynt, for the furniture thereof (accoꝛding to the [u] effectual power, which is in the meaſure of euerie part) receiueth [x] increaſe of the body, vnto the edifying of it ſelfe in [y] loue.

17 [12] This I ſay therefoze and teſtifie in the Loꝛde, that yee hencefoꝛth walke not as *other Gentiles walke, in [z] vanitie of their minde,

18 Hauing their vnderſtanding darkened, and beeing ſtrangers from the [a] life of God thꝛough the ignoꝛance that is in them, becauſe of the hardneſſe of their heart:

19 Which being [b] paſt feeling, haue giuen themſelues vnto wantonneſſe, to woꝛk all vncleanneſſe, euen with [c] greedineſſe.

20 [13] But ye haue not ſo learned Chriſt,

21 If ſo be yee haue heard him, and haue bene taught by him, [d] as the truth is in Jeſus,

22 *That is, that ye caſt off, concerning the conuerſation in time paſt, [e] that olde man, which is coꝛrupt thꝛough ỹ deceiueable luſts,

23 And be renewed in the [f] ſpirit of your minde,

24 And put on the new man, which [g] after God is created [h] vnto righteouſneſſe, and [i] true holines.

25 [14] Wherefoze caſt off lying, and ſpeake euery man trueth vnto his neighbour: foꝛ we are members one of another.

26 [15] Be [k] angrie, but ſinne not: let not the ſunne goe downe [l] vpon your wꝛath.

27 Neither giue place to the deuill.

28 [16] Let him that ſtole, ſteale no moꝛe: but let him rather labour, and woꝛke with his hands the thing which is [m] good, that he may haue to giue vnto him that needeth.

29 [17] Let no [n] coꝛrupt communication pꝛoceede out of your mouthes: but that which is good, to the vſe of edifying, that it may miniſter [o] grace vnto the hearers,

30 [18] And grieue not the holy Spirite of God, by whome yee are ſealed vnto the day of redemption.

5 He teacheth vs, ỹ we indeed are all one bodie, and that all good giftes pꝛoceede from Chriſt only, who reigneth in heauen hauing mightily conquered al his enemies (from whence he beſteꝛeth al giftes vpõ his Church) but yet notwithſtanding theſe gifts are diuerſly ꝑtaũyn wayes diuided accoꝛding to his wil & pleaſure, and therefoze euery man ought to be content with that meaſure that God hath giuen him, & to beſtow it to the common ꝓfite of the whole body.

f Which Chriſt hath giuen.

k The Church.

6 Firſt of all he mẽtioneth vp the Eccleſiaſtical functions, which are partly extraoꝛdinary & for a ſeaſon, as Apoſtles, Pꝛophets, Euangeliſts, & partly ordinary and perpetual, as Paſtors and Doctors.

l The Apoſtles were thoſe twelue vnto whom Paul was afterwarde added, whoſe office was to plant Churches throughout all the worlde. m The Prophets office was one of the chiefeſt, which were men of marueilous wiſedome, and ſome of them could foretell things to come. n Theſe the Apoſtles vſed as fellowes in the execution of their office, beeing not able to anſwere all places themſelues. o Paſtours are they which gouerne the Church, and Teachers are they which gouerne the ſchooles. 7 Hee ſheweth the ende of Eccleſiaſtical functions, to wit, that by the miniſterie of men al the Saints may ſo growe vp together, that they may make one myſtical body of Chriſt. p The Church. 8 The ꝑfit of this miniſterie is perpetual ſo long as we are in this woꝛlde, that is, vntil that time that hauing put off the fleſh, and thoꝛoughly and perfectly agreeing betwixt our ſelues, we ſhalbe ioyned with Chriſt our head. Which thing is done by the knowledge of the Sonne of God increaſing in vs. and hee himſelfe by litle and litle growing vp in vs vntil wee come to bee a perfite man, which ſhall bee in the woꝛlde to come, when God ſhal bee all in all. q In that moſt neere coniunction which is knitte and faſtened togeẽher by faith. r Chriſt is ſaide to grow vp to full age, not in himſelf, but in vs. 9 Betwixt our childhood (that is to ſay, a verie weake ſtate, while as we doe yet altogether wauer) and our perfect age, which we ſhall haue at length in another woꝛld, there is a meane, to wit our youth, and ſtraight going foꝛward to perfection. 10 He compareth them which reſt not themſelues vpon the woꝛde of God, to litle boates which are toſſed hither and thither with the doctrines of men as it were with contrary winds, and therwithall ſuperaduerteth them that it commeth to paſſe not onely by the lightneſſe of mens braine, but alſo by the craftineſſe of certaine, which make as it were an art of it. s With thoſe vncertaine chances which toſſe men to and fro. t By the deceite of thoſe men which are very well practiſed in deceiuing of other. 11 By earneſt affection of the trueth and loue, we growe vp into Chriſt: foꝛ hee (being eſſentiall by the miniſterie of his woꝛde, which as the vital ſpirite doeth ſo quicken the whole body, that it nouriſheth al the limmes thereof accoꝛding to the meaſure and ꝓpoꝛtion of ech one) quickneth and cheriſheth his Church, which conſiſteth of diuers functions, as of diuers members, & preſerueth the ꝓpoꝛtion of euery one. And thereof it followeth that neither this body can liue without Chriſt, neither can any may grow vp ſpiritually, which ſeparateth himſelfe from the other mebers. u Of Chriſt who in maner of ỹ ſoule quickneth al the members. x Such increaſe as is meet ỹ body ſhould haue. y Charity is ỹ knitting of the lims together.

11 He deſcendeth to the fruits of Chriſtian doctrine, and reaſoneth firſt vpon the principles of maners and actions, ſetting downe a moſt graue compariſon betweene the chiltzen of God, and them, which are not regenerate: foꝛ in theſe men, al the powers of the minde are corrupted, and their minde is giuen to benitie, and their ſenſes darkened with moſt groſſe miſtines, and their affections are ſo accuſtomed by litle and litle to wickednes, ỹ at length they run headlong into al vncleanneſſe, being vtterly deſtitute of al iudgement.

* Rom.1.21.

z If the nobleſt parts of the ſoule be corupt, what is man but coꝛrupſion onely?

a Whereby God liueth in them.

b Voide of all iudgement.

c They ſtroue to paſſe one another, as though there had bene ſome gaine to be gotten by it.

13 Here followeth the contrary part touching men which are regenerate by the true and liuely knowledge of Chriſt, which haue other principles of their doings farre differẽt, to wit, holy and honeſt deſires, and a minde cleane changed by the vertue of the holy Ghoſt, from whence ꝓceede alſo like effectes, as a iuſt and holie life in deede. d As they haue learned, which acknowledge Chriſt in deede, and in good earneſt. * Col.3.8. e Your ſelues. f Where there ought to haue bene the greateſt force of reaſon, there is the greateſt coꝛruption of all which waſteth all things. g After the image of God. h The effect and ende of the newe creation. i Not fained nor counterfet. 14 Hee commendeth ſeuerally certaine peculiar Chriſtian vertues, and firſt of all hee requireth trueth, (that is to ſay, ſincere maners) condemning all deceite and diſſembling, becauſe we are bꝛõe one foꝛ another. 15 Hee teacheth vs howe to bridle our anger in ſuch ſoꝛt, that, although it bee hote, yet that it breake not out, and that it bee ſtraightwayes quenched before we ſleepe: leaſt Satan taking occaſion to giue vs euill counſel thꝛough the wicked counſeller, deſtroy vs. k It is ſo fallen out, that you bee angrie, yet ſinne not: that is, bridle your anger, and doe not wickedly put that in execution, which you haue wickedly conceiued. l Let not the night come vpon you in your anger, that is, make an attonement quickely, for all matters. 16 Hee deſcendeth from the heart, to the handes, condemning theft: and becauſe the men which giue themſelues to this wickednes, vſe to pꝛetend pouertie, hee ſheweth that labour is a good remedie againſt pouertie, which God bleſſeth in ſuch ſoꝛt, that they which labour haue alwayes ſome ouerplus to helpe other, ſo farre is it from this, that they are conſtrained to ſteale other mens goods. m By labouring in things that are holie, and profitable to his neighbour. 17 He diſcendeth thꝛough the tongue alſo, teaching vs ſo to temper our talke, that our hearers mindes bee not onely not deſtroyed, but alſo inſtructed. n Worde for worde, rotten. o By grace, he meaneth that, whereby men muſt profite to the going on forward in godlines and loue. 18 A generall pꝛecepe againſt all exceſſe of affections which dwel in that part of the minde, which they call, Angry, and hee ſetteth againſt them the contrary meanes. And thirdly a moſt vehement pꝛeface, how we ought to take heede that we grieue not the holy Spirite of God thꝛough our immoderatenes and intemperancie, who dwelleth in vs to this end, to moderate all our affections.

19 An argument taken from the example of Chriſt, moſt graue and vehement, both for pardoning of thoſe iniuries which haue bene done vnto vs by our greateſt enemies, and much more for hauing conſideration of the miſerable, and vſing moderation and gentle behauiour towards all men.

31 Let all bitternesse, and anger, & wrath, crying, and euill ſpeaking be put away from you, with all malicioulnes.

32 Be yee courteous one to another, and tender hearted, freely forgiuing one another, 19 euen as God for Chriſtes ſake, freely forgaue you.

CHAP. V.

2 Leſt in thoſe vices which hee reprehended, they ſhould ſee light by his admonitions, 5 Hee terrifieth them by denouncing ſeuere iudgement, 8 and ſtirreth them forwarde. 11 Then hee deſcendeth from generall leſſons of maners, 21 to the particular dueties of wiues 25 and husbands.

BE ye therefore followers of God, as deare children,

2 *And walke in loue, euen as Chriſt hath loued vs, and hath giuen himſelfe for vs, to be an offering and a ſacrifice of a ſweete ſmelling ſauour to God.

3 *[1] But fornication, and all vncleannes, or couetouſnesse, let it not bee once named among you, as it becommeth Saints,

4 Neither filthines, neither foolish talking neither [a] iesting, which are things not comely, but rather giuing of thankes.

5 [2] For this yee know, that no whoremonger, neither vncleane perſon, nor couetous perſon, which is an [b] idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdome of Chriſt, and of God.

6 * Let no man deceiue you with vaine words: for, for ſuch things commeth the wrath of God vpon the children of diſobedience.

7 [3] Bee not therefore companions with them.

8 For yee were once darkeneſſe, but are now [c] light in the Lord: walke as children of light.

9 (For the fruite of the [d] Spirit is in all goodneſſe, and righteouſneſſe and trueth)

10 Approouing that which is pleaſing to the Lord.

11 And haue no fellowſhippe with the vnfruitfull woorkes of darkeneſſe, but euen [e] reproue them rather.

12 For it is ſhame euen to ſpeake of the things which are done of them in ſecret.

13 But all things when they are reproued of the light, are manifeſt: for it is light that maketh all things manifeſt.

14 Wherefore, [f] hee ſayeth, Awake thou that ſleepeſt, and ſtand vp from the [g] dead, and Chriſt ſhall giue thee light.

15 [4] Take heed therefore that ye walk circumſpectly, not as fooles, but as * wiſe, 16 [h] Redeeming the ſeaſon: for the [i] daies are euill.

17 *Wherefore, be ye not vnwiſe, but vnderſtand what the will of the Lord is.

18 [5] And be not dronke with wine, wherein is [k] exceſſe: but bee fulfilled with the Spirite.

19 Speaking vnto your ſelues in pſalms, and hymnes, and ſpirituall ſongs, ſinging, and making melodie to the Lord in your [l] hearts,

20 Giuing thankes alwaies for all things vnto God euen the father, in the Name of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, 21 [6] Submitting your ſelues one to another in the feare of God.

22 ¶ *[7] Wiues, ſubmit your ſelues vnto your husbands, [8] as vnto the Lord.

23 *[9] For the husband is the wiues head, euen as Chriſt is the head of the Church, [10] and the ſame is the ſauiour of his bodie.

24 [11] Therefore as the Church is in ſubiection to Chriſt, euen ſo let the wiues bee to their husbands in euery thing.

25 ¶ *[12] Husbands, loue your wiues, euen as Chriſt loued the Church, and gaue himſelfe for it.

26 [13] That hee might [m] ſanctifie it, and cleanſe it by the waſhing of water through the [n] worde, 27 That he might make it vnto himſelfe a glorious Church, [o] not hauing ſpot or wrinkle, or any ſuch thing: but that it ſhould be holie and without blame.

28 [14] So ought men to loue their wiues, as their owne bodies: he that loueth his wife, loueth himſelfe.

29 For no man euer yet hated his [p] owne flesh, but nourisheth and cherisheth it, euen as the Lord doeth the Church.

30 For wee are members of his bodie,

15 That no man might dreame of naturall coniunction or knitting of Christ and his Church together (such as the husbands and the wiues is) hee sheweth that it is secret, to wit, spirituall and such as farre differeth from the common capacitie of mans which consisteth by the vertue of the Spirit, & not of the flesh, by faith, and by no naturall band. 16 The conclusion both of the husbands duetie toward his wife, and of the wiues toward her husband.

6 Not with seruice to the eye as men pleasers but as the seruants of Christ [9] doing the will of God from the heart,

7 With good will, seruing the [e] Lord, and not men.

8 [10] And know yee that whatsoeuer good thing any man doeth, that same shall he receiue of the Lord, whether he be bond or free.

9 [11] And yee masters doe the same things vnto them, putting away threatning: and 4 Proofe of the first argument. 5 The third argument, taken of the profit that ensueth thereby: Because the Lord vouchsafed this commaundement amongst all the rest of a speciall blessing. b With a speciall promise: for otherwise the second commaundement hath a promise of mercie to a thousand generations, but that promise is generall. 6 It is the duetie of fathers to vse their fatherly authoritie moderately and to Gods glory. 7 Such informations and precepts as being taken out of Gods booke, are holy and acceptable to him. 7 Now he descendeth to the third part of a familie, to wit, to the duetie both of the masters, and of the seruants. And he sheweth that the duetie of seruants consisteth in an hearty loue and reuerence to their masters. * Colos. 3. 22. tit. 2. 9. 1. pet. 2. 18. 8 Hee mitigateth the sharpnesse of seruice, in that they are spiritually free notwithstanding the same, and yet that spirituall freedome taketh not away corporall seruice: insomuch that they cannot be Christs, vnlesse they serue their masters willingly and faithfully, so farre forth as they may with safe conscience. d With carefull reuerence: for slauish feare is not allowable, much lesse in Christian seruants. 9 To cut off occasion of all pretences he teacheth vs that it is Gods will that some are either borne or made seruants, and therefore they must respect Gods will although their seruice be neuer so hard. e Being moued with a reuerence to God ward, as though ye serued God himselfe. 10 Although they serue vnkinde and cruell masters, yet the obedience of seruants is no lesse acceptable to God, then the obedience of them that are free. 11 It is the duetie of masters to vse the authoritie that they haue ouer their seruants, modestly and holily seeing that they in an other respect haue a common master which is in heauen, who will iudge both the bond, and the free.

knowe that euen your master also is in heauen, neither is there f respect of person with him.

10 [12] Finally, my brethren, bee strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might.

11 Put on the whole armour of God, that yee may be able to stand against the assaults of the deuill.

12 [13] For we wrestle not against flesh, and s blood, but against * [h] principalities, against powers, and against the worldly gouernours, the princes of the darknesse of this worlde, against spirituall wickednesses, which are in the hie places.

13 [14] For this cause take vnto you the whole armour of God, that yee may be able to resist in the [i] euill day, and hauing finished all things, stand fast.

14 Stand therefore, and your loynes girded about with veritie, and hauing on the brest place of righteousnesse, 15 And your feete shod with the [k] preparation of the Gospel of peace.

16 Aboue all, take the shielde of Faith, wherewith ye may quench all the fierie dartes of the wicked, 17 And take the helmet of saluation, and the swoorde of the spirite, which is the woorde of God.

18 And pray alwayes with all maner prayer and supplication in the [l] Spirite: and watch thereunto with all perseuerance and supplication for all Saints.

19 And for me, that vtterance may bee giuen vnto me, that I may open my mouth boldly to publish the secret of the Gospel.

20 Whereof I am the ambassadour in bonds, that therein I may speake boldly, as I ought to speake.

21 ¶ [15] But that ye may also know mine affaires, and what I doe, Tychicus my deare brother and faithfull minister in the Lord, shal shew you of all things, 22 Whome I haue sent vnto you for the same purpose, that yee might knowe mine affaires, and that hee might comfort your hearts.

23 Peace bee with the brethren, and loue with faith from God the Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

24 Grace be with all them which loue our Lorde Iesus Christ, to their [m] immortalitie, Amen,

12 He concludeth the other part of this Epistle, with a graue exhortation, that all be readie and fight constantly, trusting to spirituall weapons, vntill their enemies be cleane put to flight. And first of all he warneth vs to take the armour of God, wherewith our enemie may be disperced.
13 Secondly he declareth that our chiefest and mightiest enemies are inuisible, that we may not thinke that our chiefest conflict is with men. Against men, which are of a fraile and brittle nature, against which are set spirituall subtilties, more mightie then the other by a thousand parts.
* Chap. 2. 2.
h Hee giueth these names to the euil angels by reason of the effects which they worke: not that they are able to doe the same of themselues, but because God giueth them the bridle.
14 He sheweth that these enemies are put to flight with the onely armour of God, to wit, with righteousnesse of conscience, a godly and holy life, knowledge of the Gospel, faith, and to be short, with the woorde of God, and vsing daily earnest prayer for the health of the Church, and especially for the constancie of the true, godly and valiant Ministers of the woorde.

i Looke Chap. 5. 16. k That the preparation of ye Gospel may bee as it were shoes to you: and it is very fitly called the Gospel of peace, for that, seeing we haue to go to God through most dangerous rankes of enemies, this may encourage vs to go on manfully, in that yee knowe by the doctrine of the Gospel, that wee take our iourney to God who is at peace with vs. l That holy prayers may proceede from the holy spirit. 15 A familiar & very amiable declaration of his state, together with a solemne prayer, wherewith Paul is wont to end his Epistles. m To life euerlasting.

The Epistle of Paul to the Philippians.

CHAP. I.

3 Hauing testified his godly and tender affection towarde the Philippians, 12 hee entreateth of himselfe, and his bondes: 22 And pricketh them forward by his owne example, 27 and exhorteth them to vnitie 28 and patience.

PAul [1] and Timotheus the seruaunts of IESVS CHRIST, to all the Saints in Christ Jesus which are at Philippi, with the [a] Bishops, and Deacons:

2 Grace bee with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lorde Jesus Christ.

3 I thanke my God, hauing you in perfect memorie.

4 (Alwayes in all my prayers for all you, praying with gladnesse)

5 Because of the [b] fellowshippe which ye haue in the Gospel, from the [c] first day vnto now.

6 And I am perswaded of this same thing, that hee that hath begun this good woorke in you, will perfourme it vntill the [d] day of Jesus Christ,

7 As it becommeth me so to iudge of you all, because I haue you in remembrance that both in my [e] bands, and in my defence and confirmation of the Gospel you all were partakers of my [f] grace.

8 [2] For God is my record, howe I long after you all from the very heart roote in Jesus Christ.

9 [3] And this I pray, that your loue may abound, yet more and more in knowledge, and in all iudgement,

10 That ye may allow those things which are best, that yee may bee pure, and without offence vntill the day of Christ, 11 Filled with the [g] fruits of righteousnesse, which are by Jesus Christ vnto the glorie and praise of God.

12 ¶ [4] I would yee vnderstood, brethren, that the things which haue come vnto me, are turned rather to the furthering of the Gospel,

13 So that my bandes [h] in Christ are famous throughout all the [i] iudgement hall, and in all other places, 14 In so much that many of the brethren in the Lorde are boldened through my bands, and dare more frauckly speake the [k] word.

15 Some preach Christ euen through enuie and strife, and some also of good will.

16 The one part preacheth Christ of contention and not [l] purely, supposing to adde more affliction to my bands.

17 But the others of loue, knowing that I am set for the defence of the Gospel.

18 [5] What then? yet Christ is preached all maner wayes, whether it be vnder a [m] pretence, or sincerely: and I therein ioy: yea and will ioy.

19 For I knowe that this shall turne to my saluation through your prayer, and by the helpe of the Spirite of Jesus Christ, 20 [6] As I feruently looke for, and hope, that in nothing I shall bee ashamed, but that with all confidence, as alwaies, so now Christ shalbe magnified in my body, whether it be by life or by death.

21 For Christ is to me both in life, and in death aduantage.

22 [7] And whether to liue in the [n] flesh were profitable for me, and what to chuse I knowe not.

23 For I am distressed betweene both, desiring to be loosed and to be with Christ, which is best of all.

24 Neuertheless, to abide in the flesh, is more needfull for you.

25 And this am I sure of, that I shall abide, and with you al continue, for your furtherance and ioy of your faith.

26 That ye may more abundantly reioyce in IESVS CHRIST for me, by my comming to you againe.

27 [8] Onely let your conuersation bee, as it becommeth the Gospel of Christ, that whether I come and see you, or else bee absent, I may heare of your matters that yee [o] continue in one Spirite, and in one minde fighting together through the faith of the Gospel.

28 [9] And in nothing feare your aduersaries, which is to them a token of perdition, and to you of saluation, and that of God.

29 [10] For

The marke whereat he shooteth in this Epistle, is to confirme the Philippians by all meanes possible, not only not to faint, but also to goe forward. And first of all he commendeth their former things, to exhort them to goe forward which thing he saith he hopeth fully they will doe, and that by the ministerie of their louely christian loue, but in the meane season he referreth all things to the grace of God.

1 By the Bishops are meant both the Pastours, which haue the dispension of the word, and the elders that gouerne, and by deacons, are meant those that were stewards of the treasurie of the Church, and had to looke vnto the poore.

b Because that they also are made partakers of the Gospel.

c Euer since I knew you.

d The spirit of God will not forsake you vnto the very latter end, vntill your mortall bodies shall appeare before the iudgement of Christ and be glorified.

e A true proofe of a true knitting together with Christ.

f Hee calleth his bands grace, as though hee had receiued some singular benefite.

g He declareth his good will toward them, therewithal shewing by what meanes chiefly they may be confirmed, to wit, by continuall prayer. 3 He sheweth what thing we ought chiefly desire, to wit, first of all y we may increase in the true knowledge of God (so that we may be able to discern things that differ one frō another) also in charitie, y euen to the end we may giue our selues to good works in deede, & the glory of God by Jesus Christ. g If righteousnes be the tree, & good works the fruites, then must the Papists needes be deceiued, when they say that works are the cause of righteousnesse. 4 He pretendeth the offence that might come by his persecution, whereby diuers tooke occasion to disgrace his Apostleship. To whom he answereth, that God hath blessed his imprisonment in such wise, that he is by that meanes become more famous, and the dignitie of the Gospel by this occasion greatly enlarged, although not with like affection in all men, yet indeede.

h For Christes sake.

i In the Emperours court.

k The Gospel is called the word, to set forth the excellencie of it.

l Not with a pure minde: for otherwise their doctrine was pure.

5 Hee sheweth by setting forth his owne example, that the end of our afflictions is true ioy, and that through the vertue of the Spirit of Christ, which he giueth to them y like it.

m Vnder a goodly colour and shew: for they make Christ a cloke for their ambition and enuie.

6 We must continue euen to the ende, with great confidence, hauing nothing before our eyes but Christes glorie onely, whether we liue or die.

7 An example of a true shepheard, who markethe more account howe he may profite his sheepe, then he doeth of any commoditie of his owne wherunder.

n To liue in this mortall body.

8 Hauing set downe these things before, in maner of a preface, he beseecheth now to exhortations, warning them first of all, to consent both in doctrine and minde, and afterward, that being thus knit together with those common bands, they continue through the strength of faith to beare all aduersitie in such sort, that they admit nothing vnworthie the profession of the Gospel.

o The word signifieth to stand fast in, and it is proper to wrestlers, that stand fast and shrinke not a foote. 9 We ought not to be discouraged but rather encouraged by the persecutions which the enemies of the Gospel imagine & practise against vs: seeing that they are certaine witnesses frō God himselfe both of our saluation, & of the destruction of y wicked.

10 He proueth that his saying, that perſecution is a token of our ſaluation, becauſe it is a gift of God to ſuffer for Chriſt, which gift he beſtoweth vpon his owne, as he doeth the gift of faith. 11 Nowe hee ſheweth for what purpoſe he made mention of his afflictions.

29 [10] For vnto you it is giuen for Chriſt, that not onely ye ſhould beleeue in him, but alſo ſuffer for his ſake, 30 [11] Hauing the ſame fight, which yee ſawe in me, and nowe heare to be in me.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee exhorteth them aboue all things 3 to humilitie, 6 and that by the example of Chriſt. 19 He promiſeth to ſend Timotheus ſhortly vnto them, 26 and excuſeth the long tarying of Epaphroditus.

1 A moſt earneſt requeſt to remoue all thoſe things, whereby that great and ſpeciall conſent and agreement is commonly broken, to wit, contention and pride, whereby it commeth to paſſe that they ſeparate themſelues one from another.

IF [1] there be therefore any conſolation in [a] Chriſt, if any comfort of loue, if any fellowſhip of the Spirit, if any [b] compaſſion and mercie,

2 Fulfill my ioy, that ye be like minded, hauing the [c] ſame loue, being of one accord, and of one iudgement,

3 That nothing be done through contention or vaine glory, but that in meekeneſſe of minde euery man eſteeme other better then himſelfe.

4 Looke not euery man on his owne things, but euery man alſo on the things of other men.

5 [2] Let the ſame mind be in you that was euen in Chriſt Jeſus,

6 Who being in the [d] forme of God, [e] thought it no robberie to be [f] equall with God:

7 But he made himſelfe of [g] no reputation, and tooke on him the [h] forme of a ſeruant, and was made like vnto men, and was found in ſhape as a man.

8 He humbled himſelfe, and became obedient vnto the death, euen the death of the Croſſe.

9 [3] Wherefore God hath alſo highly exalted him, and giuen him a [i] Name aboue euery name,

10 That at the Name of Jeſus ſhoulde [k] euery knee bowe, both of things in heauen, and things in earth, and things vnder the earth, 11 And that [l] euery tongue ſhould confeſſe that Jeſus Chriſt is the Lord, vnto the glory of God the Father.

12 [4] Wherefore my beloued, as ye haue alwayes obeyed me, not as in my preſence only, but nowe much more in mine abſence, ſo

2 Any Chriſtian comfort.
b If any feeling of inward loue.
c Like loue.
2 He ſetteth before them a moſt perfite example of all modeſtie and ſweete converſation, Chriſt Jeſus, whom we ought to followe with all our might: who abaſed himſelfe ſo farre for our ſakes, although he be aboue all, that he tooke vpon him the forme of a ſeruant, to wit, our fleſh, willingly, ſubiect to all infirmities, euen to the death of the croſſe.
d Such as God himſelfe is, and therefore God, for there is none in all parces like to God but God himſelfe.
e Chriſt that glorious and euerlaſting God knewe that he might righteſully and lawfully not appeare in the baſe fleſh of man, but remaine with Maieſtie meete for God: yet hee choſe rather to debaſe himſelfe. f If the Sonne be equall to the Father, then is there of neceſſitie an equalitie, which Arrius that Heretike denieth: and if the Sonne bee compared with the Father, then is there a diſtinction of perſons, which Sabellius that Heretike denyeth. g Hee brought himſelfe from all things, as it were to nothing. h By taking our manhood vpon him. 3 Hee ſheweth the moſt glorious euent of Chriſtes ſubmiſſion, to teache vs that modeſtie is the true way to true praiſe and glory. i Dignitie and renoume, and the matter with it. k All creatures ſhall at length be ſubiect to Chriſt. l Euery nation. 4 The concluſion: We muſt goe on to ſaluation with humilitie and ſubmiſſion by the way of our vocation.

[m] make an ende of your owne ſaluation with feare and trembling.

m He is ſaid to make an end of his ſaluation, which runneth in the race of righteouſneſſe.

13 [5] For it is God which worketh in you, both [n] the will and the deede, euen of his good pleaſure.

5 A moſt ſure and grounded argument againſt pride, for that wee haue nothing in vs praiſe worthie, but it commeth of the free gift of God, & is without vs, for wee haue no abilitie or power, ſo much as to will well, (much leſſe to do well) but onely of the free mercie of God.

14 [6] Doe all things without *murmuring and reaſonings, n Why then wee are not ſtockes, but yet we doe not will well of nature, but onely becauſe God hath made of our naughtie will a good will.

15 [7] That ye may be blameles, and pure, and the ſonnes of God without rebuke in the middes of a naughtie and crooked nation, among whom ye ſhine as *lights in the world,

6 He deſcribeth modeſtie by the contrary effectes of pride, teaching vs, that it is farre both from al malicious and cloſe or inward hatred, & alſo from open contentions and brawlings. *1. Peter 4.9.

16 Holding forth the [o] word of life, [p] that I may reioyce in the day of Chriſt, that I haue not runne in vaine, neither haue laboured in vaine.

7 To be ſhort, he requireth a life without fault, and pure, that being lightened with the light of God, they may ſhine in the darkeneſſe of this world. *Matth. 5.14.

o The Goſpel is called the words of life, becauſe of the effectes which it worketh.

17 Yea, and though I be offered vp vpon the [q] ſacrifice, and ſeruice of your faith, I am glad, and reioyce with you all.

18 For the ſame cauſe alſo be ye glad, and reioyce with me.

8 Againe hee pricketh them forward, ſetting before them his true Apoſtolike care that he had of them: comforting them moreouer, to the end they ſhould not be vnfit for the greateneſſe of his afflictions, no not although he ſhould die to make perfit their oblation with his blood, as it were with a drinke offering.

19 [9] And I truſt in the Lord Jeſus, to ſend *Timotheus ſhortly vnto you, that I alſo may be of [r] good comfort, when I know your ſtate.

20 For I haue no man like minded, who will faithfully care for your matters.

21 *For [s] all ſeeke their owne, and not that which is Jeſus Chriſtes.

22 But ye know the proofe of him, that as a ſonne with the father, he hath ſerued with me in the Goſpel.

23 Him therefore I hope to ſend aſſoone as I knowe howe it will goe with me,

24 And truſt in the Lorde, that I alſo my ſelfe ſhall come ſhortly, 25 But I ſuppoſed it neceſſarie to ſend my brother Epaphroditus vnto you, my companion in labour, and fellowe ſouldier, euen your meſſenger, and he that miniſtred vnto me ſuch things as I wanted.

26 For he longed after all you, and was full of heauineſſe, becauſe ye had heard that he had bene ſicke.

27 And no doubt he was ſicke, very neere vnto death: but God had mercy on him, and not on him onely, but on me alſo, leaſt I ſhould haue ſorowe vpon ſorowe.

28 I ſent him therefore the more diligently, that when yee ſhould ſee him againe, yee might reioyce, and I might be the leſſe ſorrowfull.

29 Receiue him therefore in the Lord with all gladneſſe, and make much of ſuch.

30 Becauſe that for the [t] worke of Chriſt, p As if he ſaide, I brought you Philippians to Chriſt, my deſire is that you preſent your ſelues a liuely ſacrifice to him, and then ſhall it not grieue me to be offered vp as a drinke offering, to accompliſh this your ſpirituall offering. 9 Moreouer, he confirmeth their minds both by ſending backe Epaphroditus vnto them, whoſe fidelitie towardes them, and great paines in helping him, he commendeth: and alſo promiſing to ſend Timothie ſhortly vnto them, by whoſe preſence they ſhall receiue great commoditie, and hoping alſo to come himſelfe ſhortly vnto them, if God will. *Acts 16.1. q May be confirmed in my ioye of minde. *1. Cor. 10.24. r The moſt part. s Hee calleth it here the worke of Chriſt, to viſite Chriſt, being poore and in bands in the perſon of Paul.

he was neere vnto death, and regarded not his life, to fulfill that seruice which was lacking on your part toward me.

CHAP. III.

2 He refuteth the vaine boastings of the false apostles, 7 and setteth Christ against them. 10 He setteth out the force and nature of faith, 15 that laying all things aside, they may be partakers of the crosse of Christ, 18 the enemies whereof he noteth out.

MOreouer, [1] my brethren, reioyce in the Lord. [2] It grieueth me not to write the [a] same things to you, and for you it is a sure thing.

2 Beware of dogs: beware of euill workers: beware of the [b] concision.

3 [3] For we are ỹ circumcision, which worship God in the spirit, and reioyce in Christ Iesus, and haue no confidence [c] in the flesh:

4 [4] Though I might also haue confidence in the flesh. If any other man thinketh that he hath whereof he might trust in the flesh, much more I,

5 Circumcised the eight day, of the kinred of Israel, of the tribe of Beniamin, *an Ebrew of the Ebrewes, * by the Law a Pharisie.

6 Concerning zeale, I persecuted the Church: touching the righteousnesse which is in the Lawe, I was vnrebukeable.

7 But ỹ things that were [d] vantage vnto me, the same I counted losse for Christes sake.

8 Yea, doubtlesse I thinke [e] all things but losse for the excellent knowledge sake of Christ Iesus my Lord, for whom I haue counted all things losse, and doe iudge them to be dongue, that I might [f] winne Christ,

9 And might be found in [g] him, that is, [h] not hauing mine owne righteousnesse, which is of the Lawe, but that which is through the faith of Christ, euen the righteousnesse which is of God through faith,

10 [5] That I may [i] know him, and the vertue of his resurrection, and the [6] fellowship of his afflictions, and be made conformable vnto his death,

11 If by any meanes I might atteine vnto the [k] resurrection of the dead:

12 Not as though I had already attained to it, either were already perfect: but I follow, if that I may comprehend that for whose sake also I am [l] comprehended of Christ Iesus.

13 Brethren, I count not my selfe, that I haue attained to it, but one thing I doe: I forget that which is behinde, and endeuour my selfe vnto that which is before,

14 And follow hard toward the marke, for the prise of the hie calling of God in Christ Iesus.

15 [7] Let vs therefore as many as be [m] perfect, be thus minded: and if ye be otherwise minded, God shall reueile euen the same vnto you.

16 Neuertheless, in that whereunto we are come, let vs proceede by one rule, that we may minde one thing.

17 Brethren, be followers of me, and looke on them, which walke so, as ye haue vs for an ensample.

18 [8] * For many walke, of whom I haue tolde you often, and nowe tell you weeping, that they are the enemies of the Crosse of Christ:

19 Whose [n] ende is damnation, whose God is their bellie, and whose [o] glorie is to their shame, which mind earthly things.

20 [9] But our conuersation is in heauen, from whence also we looke for the *Sauiour, euen the Lord Iesus Christ, 21 Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like vnto his glorious body, according to the working, whereby he is able euen to subdue all things vnto himselfe.

1 A conclusion of those things which haue bene before saide, to wit, that they go forward cheerefully in the Lord.

2 A preface to the next admonition that followeth, to take good heede and beware of false apostles, which ioyne circumcision with Christ, (that is to say, iustification by workes, with free iustification by faith) and beate into mens heads the ceremonies which are abolished, for true exercises of godlinesse and charitie. And he calleth them dogs as pharisaine barkers, and euill workemen, because they neglected true workes, and did not teach the true vse of them. To be short, he calleth them Concision, because in vsing Circumcision they cut off themselues and others from the church.

a Which you haue oftentimes heard of me.

b He alludeth to circumcision, of the name whereof whiles they boasted, they cut asunder the Church.

3 He sheweth that we ought to vse true circumcision, to wit, the circumcision of the heart, that cutting off all wicked affections by the vertue of Christ, we may serue God in puritie of life. c In outward things, which pertaine nothing to the soule. 4 He doubteth not to preferre himselfe euen according to the flesh, before those peruerse hote bigers of the Lawe, that all men may knowe that hee doeth with good iudgement of minde, lightly esteeme all those outward things: forsomuch as he lacketh nothing, which hath Christ, nay, the confidence of our workes cannot stand with the free iustification in Christ by faith. *2.Cor.11.22. *Actes 23.6. d Which I accounted for vantage. e He shutteth out all workes, aswell those that goe before, as those that come after faith. f That in their place I might get Christ, and of a poore man become rich: so farre off am I from losing any thing. g In Christ: for they that are found without Christ, are subiect to condemnation. h That is to be in Christ, to be found not in a mans owne righteousnes, but clothed w the righteousnes of Christ imputed to him. 5 This is the end of righteousnesse by faith touching vs, that by the vertue of his resurrection we may escape frō death. i That I may feele him in deede and haue a triall of him. 6 The way to that eternall saluation is to follow Christ his steps, by afflictions & persecutions, vntil we come to Christ himself who is our marke whereat we shoote, and receiue that reward whereunto God calleth vs in him. And the Apostle setteth these true exercises of godlinesse against those vaine ceremonies of the Law, wherein the false apostles put the summe of godlinesse. k To life euerlasting, which followeth the resurrection of the Saints.

1 For we runne not but so farre foorth as we are laid hold on of Christ, that is, as God giueth vs strength, and sheweth vs the way.

7 The conclusion of this exhortation standing vpon three members: The one is, that such as haue profited in the trueth of his doctrine, should continue in it. The second is, that if there be any which are yet ignorant and vnderstand not these things, and doubt of the abolishing of the Law, they should cause no trouble, and should be gently borne withall, vntill they also be instructed of the Lord. The third is, that they esteeme the false apostles, by their fruites: wherein he doubteth not to set foorth himselfe for an example.

m He said before that he was not perfect. So that in this place he calleth them perfect, which haue somewhat profited in the knowledge of Christ, and the Gospel, whom he setteth against the rude and ignorant, as he expoundeth himself in the next verse following. 8 He painteth out the false apostles in their colours, not vpon malice or ambition, but with sorowe and teares, to wit, because that being enemies of the Gospel (for that is ioyned with affliction) they regard nothing els, but the commodities of this life: that is to say, that flowing in peace, quietnesse, and all worldly pleasures, they may liue in great estimation amongst men whose miserable end he foresheweth them of. *Rom.16.17. n Reward. o Which they hunt after at mens hands. 9 Hee setteth against these fellowes, true pastours which neglect earthly things, and aspire to heauen onely, where they knowe, that euen in their bodies they shall be clothed with that eternall glory, by the vertue of God. *1.Cor.1.7. titus 2.13.

CHAP. IIII.

1 From particular exhortations, 4 he commeth to generall. 10 He saith that he tooke such ioy in their readinesse to liberalitie, 12 that he will patiently beare the want.

THerefore, [1] my brethren, beloued and longed for, my ioy and my [a] crowne, so continue in the [b] Lord, ye beloued.

2 [2] I pray Euodias, and beseech Syntyche, that they be of one accord in the Lord,

3 Yea, and I beseech thee, faithful yokefellow, helpe those women, which laboured with me in the Gospell, with Clement also, and with other my fellowe labourers, whose names are in the *[c] booke of life.

1 A rehearsall of the conclusion: That they manfully continue, vntill they haue gotten the victorie, trusting to the Lordes strength.

a My honour.

b In that concord, whereof the Lord is the band.

2 He also calleth on some by name, partly because they needed priuate exhortation, and partly also to stirre vp other, to be more prompt and ready. *Reuel.3.5. and 10.6. and 21.27. c God is saide after the maner of men, to haue a booke, wherein the names of his elect are written, to whō he will giue euerlasting life. Ezechiel calleth it the writing of the house of Israel, and the secrete of the Lord, Chap.13.9.

3 He addeth particular exhortations: and the first is, that the ioy of the Philippians be not hindered by any afflictions that the wicked imagine and worke against them.
d So is the ioy of the world distinguished from our ioy.
4 The second is, that taking all things in good part, they behaue themselues moderately with all men.
e Your quiet and setled minde.
5 The taking away of an obiection: We must not be disquieted through impatience, seeing that God is at hand to giue remedie in time against all our miseries.
6 The third is, that we be not carefull for any thing, but with sure confidence giue God thankes, and 4 [3] Reioyce in the [d] Lord alway, againe I say, reioyce.

5 [4] Let your [e] patient minde be knowen vnto all men. [5] The Lord is at hand.

6 [6] Be nothing carefull, but in all things let your requests be shewed vnto God in prayer, and supplication with [f] giuing of thankes.

7 And the [g] peace of God which passeth all vnderstanding, shall preserue your [h] hearts and mindes in Christ Iesus.

8 [7] Furthermore, brethren, whatsoeuer things are true, whatsoeuer things [i] are honest, whatsoeuer things are iust, whatsoeuer things are pure, whatsoeuer things are worthie loue, whatsoeuer things are of good report, if there be any vertue, or if there be any praise, thinke on these things,

9 Which ye haue both learned and receiued, and heard, and seene in me: those things doe, and the God of peace shall be with you.

10 [8] Nowe I reioyce also in the Lorde greatly, that nowe at the last your care for me springeth afresh, wherein notwithstanding ye were carefull, but yee lacked opportunitie.

11 I speake not because of [k] want: for I haue learned in whatsoeuer state I am, therewith to be content.

12 And I can be [l] abased, & I can abound: euery where in all things I am [m] instructed, both to be full, and to be hungrie, and to abound, and to haue want.

13 I am able to doe all things through the helpe of Christ, which strengtheneth me.

14 Notwithstanding ye haue well done, that ye did communicate to mine affliction.

15 [9] And ye Philippians knowe also that in the [n] beginning of the Gospel, when I departed from Macedonia, no Church communicated with me, concerning the matter of giuing and receiuing, but ye onely.

16 For euen when I was in Thessalonica, ye sent once, and afterward againe for my necessitie, 17 [10] Not that I desire a gift: but I desire the fruit which may further your reckoning.

18 Nowe I haue receiued all, and haue plentie: I was euen filled, after that I had receiued of Epaphroditus that which came from you, an [o] odour that smelleth sweete, a sacrifice acceptable and pleasant to God.

19 And my God shall fulfill all your necessities through his riches with glory in Iesus Christ.

20 Unto God euen our Father be praise for euermore. Amen.

21 Salute al the Saints in Christ Iesus. The brethren, which are with me, greete you.

22 All the Saints salute you, and most of all they which are of [p] Cesars household.

23 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

9 He witnesseth that he remembreth also their former benefites, and against putteth away vnseasonable suspicion of immoderate desire, in that that he receiued nought of any els.
n At the beginning, when I preached the Gospel amongst you.
10 He witnesseth againe, that he alloweth well of their benefice, not so much for his owne sake as for theirs, because they gaue it not so much to him, as they offered it to God as a sacrifice, which of the Lord himselfe well not be forgotten.
o He alludeth to the sweete smelling fauours that were offered in the old Lawe.

CHAP. I.

1 After the salutation, 4 Hee prayseth them the more to make them attentiue vnto him. 7 He reporteth the testimonie of the doctrine which they heard of Epaphras. 13 Hee magnifieth Gods grace towards them, 20 and sheweth that all the partes of our saluation consist in Christ alone.

a By the free bountifulnesse of God.
b Colosse is situated in Phrygia, not farre from Hierapolis and Laodicea, on that side that they bend toward Lydia and Pamphylia.
1 He commendeth the doctrine that was deliuered them by Epaphras, and their readinesse in receiuing it.

PAul an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the [a] will of God, & Timotheus our brother,

2 To them which are at [b] Colosse, Saints and faithfull brethren in Christ: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

3 [1] We giue thankes to God euen the [c] Father of our Lorde Iesus Christ, alwap praying for you:

4 Since we heard of your faith in Christ Iesus, and of your loue toward all Saints,

5 For the [d] hopes sake, which is laide vp for you in heauen, whereof yee haue heard before by the worde of trueth, which is the Gospel,

6 Which is come vnto you, euen as it is vnto all the world, and is fruitefull, as it is also among you, from the day that ye heard and truely knewe the grace of God,

7 As yee also learned of Epaphras our deare fellow seruant, which is for you a faithfull minister of Christ:

8 [2] Who hath also declared vnto vs your loue

c We cannot otherwise consider of God to our saluation, but as he is Christes Father, in whom we are adopted.
d For the glory that is hoped for.
2 He declareth his good will towards them, calling them the they must not still remaine in one kinde, but goe on further both in the knowledge of the Gospel, and also in the true vse of it.

loue in the [c] Spirit.

9 For this cause wee also, since the day we heard of it, cease not to pray for you, and to desire that ye might be fulfilled with knowledge of [f] his will in all wisedome, and spirituall vnderstanding,

10 That ye might walke worthie of the Lord, and please him in all things, being fruitfull in all good workes, and increasing in the knowledge of God,

11 [3] Strengthened with all might through his glorious power, vnto all patience, and long suffering with [g] ioyfulnesse,

12 [4] Giuing thankes vnto the [5] Father, which hath made vs meete to be partakers of the inheritance of the Saintes in [h] light,

13 Who hath deliuered vs from the power of darkenesse, and hath translated vs into the kingdome * of his deare Sonne,

14 [6] In whome wee haue redemption through his blood, that is, the forgiuenesse of sinnes,

15 [7] Who is the * image of the inuisible God, [i] the first begotten of euery creature, 16 * For by him were all things created, which are in heauen, and which are in earth, things visible and inuisible: whether they be [k] Thrones or Dominions, or Principalities, or Powers, all things were created by him, and for him.

17 And he is before all things, and in him all things consist.

18 [8] And hee is the head of the body of the Church: he is the beginning, * and the [l] first begotten of the dead, that in al things he might haue the preeminence.

19 * For it pleased the Father, that in him should [m] all fulnesse dwell,

20 [9] And through peace made by that blood of that his crosse, to reconcile himselfe through him, through him, I say, [n] al things, both which are in earth, and which are in heauen.

21 [10] And you which were in times past strangers and enemies, because your mindes were set in euill workes, hath [o] he nowe also reconciled,

22 In that body of his [p] flesh through death, to make you holy, and vnblameable and without fault in his sight,

23 [11] If yee continue grounded and stablished in the faith, and be not mooued away from the hope of the Gospel, whereof ye haue heard, and which hath beene preached to [q] euery creature which is vnder heauen, [12] whereof I Paul am a minister.

24 Nowe reioyce I in my sufferings for [r] you, and fulfill the [s] rest of the afflictions of Christ in my flesh, for his bodies sake, which is the Church.

25 [13] Whereof I am a minister, according to the dispensation of God, which is giuen me vnto you-ward, to fulfill the word of God.

26 * Which is the mysterie hid since the world began, and from all ages, but nowe is made manifest vnto his [t] Saints,

27 To whom God [u] would make knowen what is the riches of his glorious mysterie among the Gentiles, which riches is Christ in you, the hope of glory,

28 [14] Whom we preach, admonishing euery man, and teaching euery man in [x] all wisedome, that we may present euery man perfect in Christ Iesus, 29 Whereunto I also labour and striue, according to his working which worketh in me mightily.

[c] Your spirituall loue, or your loue which commeth from the spirit.

[f] Gods will.

[g] The gift of continuance is not of vs, but it proceedeth from the vertue of God, which he giueth freely vnto vs.

[h] It must not be vnwilling, and as we were drawen out of vs by force, but proceede from a merie and ioyfull minde.

[3] Hauing ended the preface, he goeth to the matter it selfe, that is to say, to an excellent description (although it be but short) of the whole Christian life, which is chiefly diuided into three treatises: the first of all he propoundeth the doctrine according to the order of the causes, beginning from this verse to the 21. And from thence he beginneth to apply the same to the Colossians with diuers exhortations to the 6. verse of the second Chapter. And last of all in the third place, euen to the third Chapter, hee refuteth the corruptions of true doctrine.

[4] The efficient cause of our saluation is the onely mercie of God the Father, who maketh vs meete to be partakers of eternall life, deliuering vs from the darkenesse wherein we were borne, & bringing vs to the light of the knowledge of the glory of his Sonne. [5] In that glorious and heauenly kingdome. * Matth. 3. 17. and 17. 5. 2 pet. 1. 17. [6] The matter it selfe of our saluation, is Christ the Sonne of God, who hath obteined remission of sinnes for vs, by the offering vp of himselfe. [7] A liuely description of the person of Christ, whereby wee vnderstand that in him onely, God theweth himselfe to be seene: who was begotten of the Father before any thing was made, that is, from euerlasting, by whom also things that are made, were made without any exception, by whom also they do consist, and whose glory they serue. * Hebr. 1. 3. i Begotten before any thing was made: and therefore the euerlasting Sonne of the euerlasting Father. [8] Ioh. 1. 3. k He setteth foorth the Angels with glorious names, that by the comparison of most excellent spirits, we may vnderstand how farre passing the excellencie of Christ is, in whom onely we haue to content our selues, and let goe all Angels. [8] Hauing gloriously declared the excellent dignitie of the person of Christ, hee describeth his office and function, to wit, that hee is that same to the Church, that the head is to the body, that is to say, the prince and gouernour of it, and the very beginning of true life, as who rising from death, is the Authour of eternall life, so that he is aboue all, in whom onely there is most plentifull abundance of all good things, which is powred out vpon the Church * Reue. 1. 5. 1. cor. 15. 20. l Who so rose againe that he should die no more, & who raised other from death to life by his power. * Iohn 1. 14 chap. 2. 9. m Most plentifull abundance of all things perteining to God. [9] Now he teacheth how Christ executed that office which his Father inioyned him, to wit, by suffering the death of the crosse (which was ioyned with the curse of God) according to his decree, that by this sacrifice he might reconcile to his Father all men, as well them which beleeued in him to come, & were already vnder this hope gathered into heauen, as them which should vpon the earth beleeue in him afterward. And thus is iustification described of the Apostle, which is one and the chiefest part of the benefite of Christ.

[n] The whole Church. [10] Sanctification is another worke of God in vs by Christ, in that that he restoreth vs (which hated God extremely, and were wholy and willingly giuen to sinne) to his gracious fauour in such sort, that he thereby withall powreth vpon vs his holy Spirit, and consecrateth vs to righteousnesse.

[o] The Sonne.

[p] In that fleshly body, to giue vs to vnderstand that his body was not a fantasticall body, but a true body.

[11] The second treatise of this part of the Epistle, wherein he exhorteth the Colossians not to suffer themselues by any meanes to be moued from this doctrine, shewing and declaring that there is no where any other true Gospel.

[q] To all men: whereby we learne that the Gospel was not shut vp within the corners of Iudea alone.

[12] He purchaseth authoritie to this doctrine by his Apostleship, & taketh a most sure proofe thereof, of his afflictions, which he suffereth for Christ his Name, to instruct the Churches with their examples of patience. [r] For your profite and commoditie. [s] The afflictions of the Church are saide to be Christes afflictions, by reason of that fellowship and knitting together, that the body and the head haue the one with the other, not that there is any more needed to haue the Church redeemed, but that Christ sheweth his power in the dayly weakenesse of his, and that for the comfort of the whole body.

[13] He bringeth another proofe of his Apostleship, to wit, that God is the authour of it, by whom also he was appointed peculiarly Apostle of the Gentiles, to the ende that by this meanes, that same might be fulfilled by him, which the Prophets foretold of the calling of the Gentiles. * Rom. 16. 25. eph. 3. 9. 2. tim. 1. 10. tit. 1. 2. 1. pet. 1. 20. [t] Whom he chose to sanctifie vnto himself in Christ: moreouer he saith, that the mystery of our redemption was hidden since the world began, except it were reueiled vnto a few, who also were taught it extraordinarily. [u] Thus Paul brideleth the curiositie of men. [14] He protesteth that he doth faithfully execute his Apostleship in euery place, bringing men vnto Christ only through the Lords plentifull blessing of his labours. [x] Perfect and sound wisedome, which is perfect in it selfe, and shall in the end make them perfect that followe it.

CHAP. II.

4 He condemneth, as vaine, whatsoeuer is without Christ, 11 intreating specially of circumcision, 16 of abstinence from meates, 18 and of worshipping of Angels. 20 That wee are deliuered from the traditions of the Lawe through Christ.

FOr I [1] would ye knewe what great fighting I haue for your sakes, and for them

[1] The taking a way of an obiection. In that that he suffred not the Colossians, nor the Laodiceans, he did it not of any negligence, but is so much the more carefull for them.

of

of Laodicea, and for as many as haue not seene my [a] person in the flesh,

2 [2] That [b] their hearts might bee comforted, and they knit together in loue, and in all riches of the [c] full assurance of vnderstanding, to know the mysterie of God, euen the Father, and of Christ:

3 In whom are hid all the treasures of [d] wisedom and knowledge.

4 [3] And this I say, least any man should beguile you with [e] entising words:

5 * For though I bee absent in the flesh, yet am I with you in the spirite, reioycing and beholding your [f] order, and your [g] stedfast faith in Christ.

6 As ye haue therefore [h] receiued Christ Iesus the Lord, so walke in him,

7 Rooted and built in him, and stablished in the faith, as ye haue bene taught, abounding therein with thanksgiuing.

8 [4] Beware least there bee any man that [i] spoile you through philosophie, and vaine deceit, [5] through the traditions of men, [6] according to the [k] rudiments of the world, [7] and not after Christ.

9 [8] For [l] in him [m] dwelleth [n] all the fulnesse of the Godhead [o] bodily.

10 And yee are complete in him, which is the head of all principalitie and power.

11 [9] In whom also ye are circumcised with * circumcision made without hands, by putting off the [p] sinful body of the flesh, through the circumcision of Christ.

12 [10] In that yee are * [q] buried with [r] him through baptisme, [11] in whome yee are also raised vp together through the faith of the operation of [s] God, which raised him from the dead.

13 * [12] And you which were dead in sinnes, [13] and in the vncircumcision of your flesh, hath he quickened together with him, forgiuing you all your trespasses,

14 [14] And putting out the * [t] hand writing of ordinances that was against vs, which was contrary to vs, he euen tooke it out of the way, and fastened it vpon the crosse,

15 And hath spoyled the [u] Principalities, and Powers, and hath [x] made a shewe of them openly, and hath triumphed ouer them in the [y] same crosse.

16 [15] Let no man therefore condemne you in meate and drinke, or in respect of an holy day, or of the newe moone, or of the Sabbath dayes.

17 Which are but a shadowe of things to come: but the [z] body is in Christ.

18 [16] Let no man at his pleasure beare rule ouer you by [a] humblenesse of mind, [c] worshipping of Angels, [17] aduancing himselfe in those things which he neuer sawe, [18] [b] rashly puft vp with his fleshly mind, 19 [19] And holdeth not the [c] head, whereof all the body furnished and knit together by ioints and bandes, increaseth with the increasing of [d] God.

20 [20] Wherefore if ye be dead with Christ:

a Me present in body.

2 He concludeth shortly the summe of the former doctrine, to wit, that the whole summe of true wisedome, and most secret knowledge of God, consisteth in Christ onely, and that this is the vse of it touching men, that they being knit together in loue, rest themselues happily in the knowledge of so great a goodnes, vntill they come fully to enioy it.

b Whom he neuer sawe.

c Of that vnderstanding, which bringeth foorth a certaine and vndoubted persuasion in our minds.

d There is no true wisedome without Christ.

3 A passing ouer to the treatise following, against the corruptions of Christianitie.

e With a framed kind of talke made to perswade.

* 1. Cor. 5. 3.

f The maner of your Ecclesiasticall discipline.

g Doctrine.

h So then Christ hangeth not vpon mens traditions.

4 He bringeth all corruptions to three kindes.

i Principles and rules, wherewith God ruled his Church, as it were vnder a schoolemaster.

k The first is that, which resteth of vaine and curious speculations, and yet beareth a shewe of certaine subtill wisedome.

l This is a word of warre, and it is as much as to driue or carie away a spoile or bootie.

5 The seconde, which is manifestly superstitious and vaine, and standeth onely vpon custome and fained inspirations.

6 The third kinde was of them which ioyned the rudiments of the worlde, (that is to say, the ceremonies of the Lawe) with the Gospell.

7 A generall confutation of all corruptions is this, that that must needes be a false religion, which addeth any thing to Christ.

8 A reason: Because onely Christ God and man, is most perfect, and passeth farre aboue all things, so that whosoeuer hath him, may require nothing more.

m By these wordes, is shewed a distinction of the natures.

n This worde (Dwelleth) noteth out vnto vs the ioyning together of those natures, so that of God and man is one Christ.

o The knitting together of God and man, is substanciall and essentiall.

9 Nowe he dealeth precisely against the third kinde, that is to say, against them which vrged the Iewes religion: and first of all, he denyeth that wee haue neede of the circumcision of the flesh, seeing that without it wee are circumcised within, by the vertue of Christ.

* Romanes 2. 29.

p These many wordes are vsed to shewe what the olde man is, whom Paul in other places calleth the body of sinne.

10 The taking away of an obiection: Wee neede not so much as the externall signe which our fathers had, seeing that our Baptisme is a most effectuall pledge and witnesse, of that inwarde resoyling, and renewing.

* Romanes 6. 4. ephesians 1. 19.

q Looke Romanes 6. 4.

r So then all the force of the matter commeth not from the very deede done, that is to say, it is not the dipping of vs into the water by a Minister that maketh vs to be buried with Christ, as the Papistes say, that euen for the very actes sake, wee become verily Christians, but it commeth from the vertue of Christ, for the Apostle addeth the resurrection of Christ, and faith.

11 One ende of Baptisme is the death and buriall of the olde man, and that by the mightie power of God onely, whose vertue wee lay holde on by faith, in the death and resurrection of Christ.

s Through faith which commeth from God.

* Ephes. 2. 1.

12 An other end of Baptisme is, that we which were dead in sinne, might obteine free remission of sinnes and eternall life, through faith in Christ who died for vs.

13 A new argument which lieth in these fewe wordes, and it is thus: Circumcision was no vnderance to you, why you being iustified in Christ should not obteine life: therefore you need not circumcise flesh to the attainement of saluation.

14 He speaketh now more generally against the whole seruice of the Lawe, & sheweth by two reasons yt it is abolished: First, to what purpose should he [s] hath obteined remission of al his sins in Christ, require those helps of the Lawe? Secondly, because, that if a man do rightly consider those rites, he shall finde that they were so many testimonies of our guiltines, whereby wee manifestly witnessed as it were by our owne handwritings, that we deserued damnation. Therefore did Christ put out that handwriting by his comming, and fastening it to the crosse, triumphed ouer all our enemies, were they neuer so mighty. Therefore to what ende and purpose should wee nowe vse those ceremonies, as though we were still guiltie of sinne, and subiect to the tyrannie of our enemies? * Ephes. 2. 15.

t Abolishing the rites and ceremonies.

u Satan and his angels.

x As a conqueror made he a shew of those captiues, and put them to shame.

y The crosse was a chariot of triumph. No conqueror could haue triumphed so gloriously in his chariot, as Christ did vpō the crosse.

15 The conclusion: wherein also he nameth certaine kindes, as the difference of dayes, and meates, and proueth by a new argument that we are not bound vnto them: to wit, because those things were shadowes of Christ to come, but we possesse him now exhibited vnto vs.

z The body as a thing of substance and pith, heereth against shadowes.

16 He disputeth against the first kinde of corruptions, and setteth downe the worshipping of Angels for an example which kinde of false religion he confuteth, first, this way: because that they which dying in such a worship, attribute that vnto themselues which is proper onely to God, to wit, authoritie to binde mens consciences with religion, although they seeme to dying in these things by humblenes of minde.

a By foolish humblenes of minde: for otherwise humblenes is a vertue. For these Angel worshippers, blamed such of pride as would go straight to God, & vse no other vndermeanes besides Christ.

17 Secondly, because they rashly thrust vpon them for oracles, those things which they neither sawe nor heard, but deuised of themselues.

18 Thirdly, because these things haue no other ground whereupon they are built, but onely the opinion of men, which please them selues without all measure in their owne deuises.

b Without reason.

19 The fourth argument, which is of great waighte, because they spoyle Christ of his dignitie, who onely is sufficient both to nourish and also to increase his whole body.

c Christ.

d With the increasing which commeth from God.

20 Now last of all he fighteth against the second kinde of corruptions, that is to say, against mere superstitious, inuented of men, which partly deceiue the simplicitie of some with their craftinesse, and partly with their foolish superstitions and to be laughed at: as when godlines, remission of sinnes, or any such like vertue, is put in some certaine kinde of meate and such like thinges, which the inuentours of such rites themselues vnderstand not, because in deed it is not. And heereby an argument taken of comparison. If by the death of Christ who established a newe couenant with his blood, you be deliuered from those externall rites wherewith it pleased the Lorde to prepare the worlde, as it were by certaine rudiments to that full knowledge of true religion, why woulde ye be burdened with traditions I wote not what, as though ye were citizens of this worlde, that is to say, as though yee depended vpon this life, and earthly things? Nowe this is the cause why before verse 8. hee followed another order then he doeth in the confutation: because he sheweth there by what degrees false religions came into the world, to wit, beginning first by curious speculations of the wise, after which in processe of time succeeded grosse superstition, against which mischiefes the Lorde set at length that seruice of the Lawe, which some abused in like sort: but in the confutation, he began with the abolishing of the Lawe seruice, that he might shewe by comparison, that those false seruices ought much more to be taken away.

from the ordinances of the world, why [c] as though ye liued in the world, are ye burdened with traditions?

21 [21] As Touch not, Taſte not, Handle not.

22 [22] Which all periſh with the vſing, [23] and are after the commandements and doctrines of men.

23 [24] Which things haue in deede a ſhewe of [f] wiſdome, in [g] voluntary religion and humbleneſſe of minde, and in [h] not ſparing the body, which are things of no value, ſith they pertaine to the filling of the fleſh.

[c] As though your felicitie ſtoode in theſe earthly things, and ye kingdome of God were not rather ſpirituall.
21 An imitation in the perſon of theſe ſuperſtitious men, rightly expreſſing their nature and vſe of ſpeach.
22 Another argument: The ſpirituall and inward kingdom of God cannot conſiſt in theſe outward things, and ſuch as periſh with the vſing. 23 The third argument: Becauſe God is not the author of theſe traditions, therefore they doe not binde the conſciences. 24 The taking away of an obiection. Theſe things haue a goodly ſhewe, becauſe men by this meanes, ſeeme to worſhip God with a good minde, and humble themſelues, and neglect the body, which the moſt part of men curiouſly pamper vp and cherith: but yet notwithſtanding the things themſelues are of no value, for ſo much as they perteine not to the things that are ſpirituall and euerlaſting, but to the nourriſhment of the fleſh. [f] Which ſeeme in deed to be ſome exquiſite thing, and ſo wiſe deuices as though they came from heauen. [g] Hence ſprang the workes of ſupererogation, as the Papiſts terme them, that is to ſay, needleſſe workes, as though men performed more then is commaunded them: which was the beginning and the very ground, whereon Monkes merites were brought in. [h] A liuely deſtruction of Monkery. [i] Seeing they ſtand in meate and drinke, wherin the kingdome of God doeth not ſtand.

CHAP. III.

1 Againſt earthly exerciſes, which the falſe apoſtles vrged, 2 he ſetteth heauenly: 5 And beginneth with the mortifying of the fleſh, 8 whence he draweth particular exhortations, 18 and particular dueties which depend on eche mans calling.

IF [1] ye then [2] be [a] riſen with Chriſt, [3] ſeeke thoſe things which are aboue, where Chriſt ſitteth at the right hand of God.

2 Set your affections on things which are aboue, and not on things which are on the [b] earth.

3 [4] For ye are dead, [5] and your life is hid with Chriſt in God.

4 When Chriſt which is our life ſhall appeare, then ſhall ye alſo appeare with him in glory.

5 [6] * Mortifie therefore your [c] members which are on the earth, fornication, vncleanneſſe, the inordinate affection, euill concupiſcence, and couetouſneſſe which is idolatrie.

6 For the which things ſake the wrath of God [d] commeth on the children of diſobedience.

7 Wherein ye alſo walked once, when ye liued in them.

8 But nowe put ye away euen all theſe things, wrath, anger, maliciouſneſſe, curſed ſpeaking, filthie ſpeaking, out of your mouth.

9 Lie not one to another, [7] ſeeing that ye haue put off the olde man with his workes,

10 And haue put on the newe, [8] which is renewed in [e] knowledge after the image of him that created him, 11 [9] Where is neither Grecian nor Iew, circumciſion nor vncircumciſion, Barbarian, Scythian, bond, free: But Chriſt is all, and in all things.

12 Now therefore as the elect of God holy and beloued, [f] put on the [g] bowels of mercies, kindneſſe, humbleneſſe of minde, meekeneſſe, long ſuffering:

13 Forbearing one another, and forgiuing one another, if any man haue a quarell to another: euen as Chriſt forgaue, euen ſo doe ye.

14 And aboue all theſe things put on loue, which is the [h] bond of perfectneſſe.

15 And let the peace of God [i] rule in your hearts, to the which ye are called in [k] one body, and be ye thankefull.

16 Let the worde of Chriſt dwell in you plenteouſly in all wiſedome, teaching and admoniſhing your owne ſelues, in [l] Pſalmes, and hymnes, and ſpirituall ſongs, ſinging with a grace in your hearts to the Lord.

17 * And whatſoeuer ye ſhall doe, in word or deede, doe all in the [m] Name of the Lord Ieſus, giuing thanks to God euen the Father by him.

18 ¶ * [10] Wiues, ſubmit your ſelues vnto your husbands, as it is [m] comely in the Lord.

19 * [11] Husbands loue your wiues, and be not bitter vnto them.

20 * [12] Children, obey your parents in [o] all things: for that is well pleaſing vnto the Lord.

21 [13] Fathers, prouoke not your children to anger, leaſt they be diſcouraged.

[1] Another part of this Epiſtle, wherein he taketh occaſion by reaſon of thoſe vaine exerciſes, to ſhewe the duetie of a Chriſtian life: which is an, ordinarie thing with him, after he hath once let downe the doctrine it ſelfe.
2 Our renewing or new birth, which is wrought in vs by being partakers of the reſurrection of Chriſt, is the fountaine of all holineſſe, out of which ſundrie armes or riuers doe afterwards flowe. a For if we be partakers of Chriſt, we are caried as it were into another life where wee ſhall neede neither meate nor drinke, for wee ſhall be like vnto the Angels. 3 The ende and marke which all the dueties of Chriſtian life ſhoote at, is to enter into the kingdome of heauen, and to giue our ſelues to thoſe things which leade vs thither, that is, to true godlineſſe, and not to thoſe outward and corporall things. b So hee calleth that ſhewe of religion, which he ſpake of in the former Chapter. 4 A reaſon taken of the efficient cauſes and others: you are dead as touching the fleſh, that is, touching the olde nature which ſeeketh after all tranſitorie things, and on the other ſide, you haue begunne to liue according to the Spirite, therefore giue your ſelues to ſpirituall and heauenly, and not to carnall and earthly things. 5 The taking away of an obiection: whiles we are yet in this world, wee are ſubiect to many miſeries of this life, ſo that the life that is in vs, is as it were hidden: yet notwithſtanding wee haue the beginnings of life and glory, the accompliſhment whereof which lyeth nowe in Chriſtes and in Gods hand, ſhall be aſſuredly and manifeſtly performed in that glorious comming of the Lorde. 6 Let not your dead nature be any more effectuall in you, but let your liuing nature be effectuall. Mowe the force of nature is knowen by the motions. Therefore let the affections of the fleſh dye in you, and let the contrarie motions which are ſpirituall, liue. And hee reckoneth vp a great long ſcroule of vices, and their contrary vertues. * Epheſians 5.3. c The motions and luſtes that are in vs, are in this place very properly called members, becauſe that the reaſon and will of man corrupted, doeth vſe them as the body doeth his members.

[d] Vſeth to come. 7 A definition of our olde birth taken of the partes thereof, which are the putting off of the olde man, that is to ſay, of the badneſs which is in vs by nature, and the reſtoring, and repairing of the newe man, that is to ſay, of pureneſſe which is giuen vs by grace: but both of them are but begun in vs in this preſent life, and by certaine degrees finiſhed, the one dying in vs by little & little, and the other coming to the perfection of another life, by little and little. 8 Newneſſe of life conſiſteth in knowledge which reneweth man to the image of God his maker, that is to ſay to the ſincerite and pureneſſe of the whole ſoule. [r] He ſpeaketh of an effectuall knowledge. 9 He reſteth them againe that the Goſpel doeth not reſpect thoſe externall things, but true iuſtification and ſanctification in Chriſt onely, which haue many fruites, as he reckoneth them vp here: But conſidereth two things eſpecially, to wit, godly concord, and continuall ſtudy of Gods worde. [f] So put on, that you neuer put off. [g] Thoſe moſt tender affections of exceeding compaſſion.

h Which bindeth and knitteth together all the dueties that paſſe from man to man. i Rule and gouerne all things. k You are ioyned together into one body through Gods goodneſſe, that you might helpe one another, as fellowe members. l By Pſalmes hee meaneth all godly ſongs which were written vpon diuers occaſions, and by Hymnes, all ſuch as conteine the praiſe of God, and by ſpirituall ſongs, other more peculiar & artificious ſongs which were alſo in praiſe of God, but they were made fuller of muſicke. * 1. Cor. 10.31. m Call vpon the Name of Chriſt, when you doe it, or, doe it to Chriſtes praiſe and glory. * Epheſ. 5.22. 10 He goeth from precepts which concerne the whole ciuill life of man, to precepts pertayning to euery mans familie, and requireth of wiues, ſubiection in the Lorde. n For thoſe wiues doe not well, that do not ſet God in Chriſt before them in their loue, but this Philoſophie knoweth not. * 1. Pet. 3.1. 11 He requireth of husbands, that they loue their wiues, and vſe them gently. * Epheſ. 6.1. 12 He requireth of children, that according to Gods commandement they be obedient to their parents. o In the Lord, and ſo is it expounded, Epheſ. 5.19. 13 Of parents, that they be gentle towards their children.

22 ¶ [14] * Seruants

22 ¶ [14]* Seruants, bee obedient vnto them that are your masters according to the flesh, in all things, not with eye seruice as men pleasers, but in singlenesse of heart, fearing God.

14 Of seruants, that fearing God himselfe to whom their obedience is acceptable, they reuerently, faithfully, and from the heart, obey their masters.
*Ephes.6.5. titus 2.9. 1.pet.2.18.

23 And whatsoeuer ye doe, doe it heartily, as to the Lord, and not to men, 24 Knowing that of the Lorde ye shall receiue the [p] reward of the inheritance: for yee serue the Lord Christ.

p For that that you shall haue duely obeyed your masters, the time shal come, that you shall bee made sonnes, of seruants, and then shall you knowe this of a suretie, which shall bee when you are made partakers of the heauenly inheritance.

25 [15] But he that doeth wrong, shal receiue for the wrong that hee hath done: and there is no respect of persons.

CHAP. IIII.

2 He returneth to generall exhortations, 3 touching prayer, and gracious speach, 7 and so endeth with greetings and commendations.

YE Masters, doe vnto your seruants, that which is iust, and equall, knowing that ye also haue a Master in heauen.

1 He addeth certaine generall exhortations, and at length endeth this Epistle with diuers familiar and godly salutations.
*Luke 18.1. 1.thess.5.17.

2 [1]*[2] Continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thankesgiuing,

2 An open and free mouth to preach the Gospel. 4 In al parts of our life, wee ought to haue good consideration euen of them which are without the Church. * Ephes.5.15. b Aduisedly and circumspectly. c Seeke occasion to winne them, although you lose of your owne by it. 5 Our speach and talke must bee applied to the profit of the hearers. d Framed to the profite of your neighbour, e Against this is set filthy communication, as Ephes.4.29.

7 ¶ Tychicus our beloued brother and faithfull minister, and fellowe seruaunt in the Lord, shall declare vnto you my whole state:

8 Whom I haue sent vnto you for the same purpose, that hee might knowe your state, and might comfort your hearts,

9 With Onesimus a faithfull and a beloued brother, who is one of you. They shal shew you of all things here.

10 Aristarchus my prison fellowe saluteth you, and Marcus Barnabas cousin, (touching whome ye receiued commaundements, If hee come vnto you, receiue him)

¶ The first Epistle of Paul to the Thessalonians.

CHAP. I.

1 Hee therefore beginneth with thankesgiuing, 4 to put them in minde that whatsoeuer was prayse worthy in them, 11 came of Gods goodnesse: 8 and that they are ensamples vnto others.

PAVL, and Siluanus, and Timotheus, vnto the Church of the Thessalonians, which is in God the Father, and in the Lord Iesus Christ: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

2 [1] We giue God thankes alwayes for you all, making mention of you in our prayers.

1 An example of right Christian respecting, whereby also we learne, that such as haue great gifts in them, are in two sorts beholden, to wit, if they consider that they haue receiued all from God, and that continuance must be desired at his hands, whereunto also the whole Epistle exhorteth the Thessalonians. 2 Hee commendeth them for three speciall gifts, effectuall faith, continuall loue, and patient hope: to the ende they might be assured being indued with such excellent gifts, not to continue in Gods election.

3 [2] Without ceasing, remembring your effectuall faith, and diligent loue, and the patience of your hope in our Lord Iesus Christ, in the sight of God, euen our Father, a Word for word, that your election is of God.

4 Knowing, beloued brethren, that ye are [a] elect of God.

5 [3] For our Gospell was not vnto you in word onely, but also in power, and in the holy Ghost, and in [b] much assurance, as ye know after what maner wee were among you for your sakes.

6 [4] And ye became followers of vs, and of the Lord, and receiued the word in much affliction, with [c] ioy of the holy Ghost,

7 So that ye were as ensamples to all that beleeue in Macedonia and in Achaia.

8 For from you sounded out the worde of the Lord, not in Macedonia and in Achaia onely: but your faith also which is towarde God, spred abroad in all quarters, that we neede not to speake any thing.

9 For [d] they themselues shewe of vs what maner of entring in wee had vnto you, [5] and how ye turned to God from idoles, to serue the liuing and true God,

10 And to looke for his Sonne from heauen, whome he raised from the dead, euen Iesus which deliuereth vs from [e] that wrath to come.

3 Another reason why they ought in no wise start backe, but continue to the ende, because they cannot doubt of his doctrine which hath bene so many wayes confirmed vnto them, euen from heauen, as they themselues did well know.

b Paul sheweth by two things that there followed very great fruit of his preaching, to wit, by these gifts of the holy Ghost, and that certaine assurance which was throughly setled in their minds, as appeared by their willing bearing of the Crosse.

4 Another reason, because euen to that day, they embraced the Gospel with great chearefulnesse, in somuch that they were an example to all their neighbours: so that it should be more shame to them to faint in the mid-race.

c With ioy which commeth from the holy Ghost. d All the beleeuers. 5 It is no true conuersion to forsake idoles, vnlesse a man therewithall worship the true and liuing God in Christ the onely redeemer. e This word (That) is not put here without cause: and by (Wrath) is meant that reuenge and punishment, wherewith the Lord will iudge the world at length in his terrible wrath.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee declareth howe faithfully hee preached the Gospell vnto them, 5 seeking neither gaine, 6 nor praise of men: 10 and hee prooueth the same by their owne testimonie: 14 that they did courageously beare persecutions of their countrey men: 17 that hee desireth very much to see them.

FOR [1] yee your selues knowe, brethren, that our entrance in vnto you was not in vaine,

2 [2] But euen after that we had suffered before, and were shamefully entreated at * Philippi, (as ye know) we were bold in [a] our God, to speake vnto you the Gospell of God with much striuing.

3 [3] For our exhortation was not by deceit, nor by [b] vncleannesse, nor by guile.

4 [4] But as we were [c] allowed of God, that the Gospel should be committed vnto vs, so we speake, not as they that please men, but God, which [d] approueth our hearts.

5 Neither yet did wee euer vse flattering words, as ye know, nor coloured couetousnes, God is record.

6 [5] Neither sought wee praise of men, neither of you, nor of others, when wee might haue bene [e] chargeable, as the Apostles of Christ.

7 But wee were [f] gentle among you, euen as a nource cherisheth her children.

8 [6] Thus being affectioned towarde you, our good will was to haue dealt vnto you, not the Gospell of God onely, but also our owne soules, because ye were deare vnto vs.

9 [7] For yee remember, brethren, * our labour and trauaile: for wee haue trauailed day and night, because wee would not be chargeable vnto any of you, and preached vnto you the Gospel of God.

10 [8] Ye are witnesses, and God also, howe holily, and iustly, and vnblameably we behaued our selues among you that beleeue.

11 [9] As yee know how that wee exhorted you, and comforted, and besought euery one of you (as a father his children)

12 [10] That yee * woulde walke worthy of God, who hath called you vnto his kingdome and glorie.

13 [11] For this cause also thanke wee God without ceasing, that when ye receiued ỹ word of God, which ye heard of vs, ye receiued it not as the worde of men, but as it is in deede the word of God, which also worketh in you that beleeue.

14 [12] For brethren, ye are become followers of the Churches of God, which in Iudea are in [g] Christ Iesus, because ye haue also suffered the same things of your owne [h] countrey men, euen as they haue of the Iewes.

15 [13] Who both killed the Lord Iesus and their owne Prophets, and haue persecuted vs away, [14] and God they please not, and are contrary to [i] all men, 16 And forbid vs to preach vnto the Gentiles, that they might be saued, to [k] fulfill their sinnes alwayes: for the [l] wrath of God is come on them to the vtmost.

17 [15] For asmuch, brethren, as wee [m] were kept from you for a season, concerning sight, but not in the heart, wee enforced the more to see your face with great desire.

18 Therefore wee would haue come vnto you (I Paul, at least once or twise) but Satan hindered vs.

1 That which he touched before shortly concerning his Apostleship, he handleth now more at large, and to that ende & purpose which he spake of.

2 The vertues of a true Pastor are, freely without feare to preach the Gospel, euen in the midst of dangers. *Act. 16.12.

a Through God his gracious helpe.

3 To teach pure doctrine faithfully and with a pure heart.

b By any wicked & naughty kinde of dealing. 4 To approue his conscience to God, being free from all flatterie and couetousnesse. c Seeing there is this difference betweene the iudgements of God and the iudgements of men, that when men choose, they respect the qualities of those things which stand before them, but God findeth the reason of his counsell onely in himselfe, it followeth that seeing wee are not able to thinke a good thought, that whomsoeuer he first chuseth to those holy callings, hee maketh them able, and doeth not finde them able. And therefore in that wee are allowed of God, it hangeth vpon his mercie. d Which liketh and alloweth of them. 5 To submit himselfe euen to the basest, to winne them, and to eschew all pride.

e When I might lawfully haue liued upon the expences of the Church.

f We were not rough, but easie, and gentle as a nource, that is neither ambicious nor couetous, but taketh all paines as patiently as if she were a mother.

6 To haue the flocke that is committed vnto him in more estimation then his owne life.

7 To depart with his owne right, rather then to bee chargeable to his sheepe. *Acts.20.34. 1.corinth.4.12. 2.thess.3.8.

8 To excel other in example of godly life.

9 To exhort and comfort with a fatherly minde and affection.

10 To exhort all men diligently & earnestly to lead a godly life. *Ephes.4.1.phil. 1.27.col.1.10.

11 Hauing approued his ministery, he commendeth againe (to that end and purpose that I spake of) the chearefulnesse of the Thessalonians which was answerable to his diligence in preaching, and their manly patience.

12 He confirmeth them in their afflictions which they suffered of their owne people, because they were afflicted of their owne countrey men: which came as well (saith he) to the Churches of ỹ Iewes, as to them: and therefore they ought to take it in good part.

g Which Christ hath gathered together. h Euen of them which are of the same countrey and the same towne that you are of. 13 He preuenteth an offence which might be taken, for that the Iewes especially aboue all other persecuted the Gospell. That is no new thing, saith he, seeing they slew Christ himselfe, and his Prophets, and haue banished me also. 14 He forsetelleth the vtter destruction of the Iewes, lest any man should be moued by their rebellion. i For the Iewes would neither enter into the kingdom of God themselues, nor suffer other to enter in. k Vntil that wickednes of theirs which they haue by inheritãce as it were of their fathers, be growen so great, that the measure of their iniquitie being filled, God may come foorth to wrath. l The iudgement of God being angry, which indeed appeared shortly after in the destruction of the citie of Hierusalem, whither many reforted euen out of diuers prouinces, when it was besieged. 15 He meeteth with an obiection, why he came not to them straightwayes being in so great misetie, I desired oftentimes (saith he) and it lay not in mee, but Satan hindered my endeuours, and therefore I sent Timothie my faithfull companion vnto you, because you are most deare to me. m Were kept asunder from you, and as it were orphanes.

19 For what is our hope or ioy, or crowne of reioycing? are not euen you it in the preſence of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt at his comming?

20 Yes, ye are our glory and ioy.

CHAP. III.

1 To ſhew his affection toward them, he ſendeth Timothie vnto them: 6 Hee is ſo mooued by the report of their proſperous ſtate, 9 that he cannot giue ſufficient thanks, 11 and therefore he breaketh out into prayer.

WHerefore ſince wee couldе no longer forbeare, wee thought it good to remaine at Athens alone,

2 *And haue ſent Timotheus our brother and miniſter of God, and our labour felowe in the Goſpell of Chriſt, to ſtabliſh you, and to comfort you touching your faith,

3 That no man ſhould bee mooued with theſe afflictions: [1] for ye your ſelues know, that we are appointed thereunto.

4 For verily when we were with you, we tolde you before that wee ſhoulde ſuffer tribulations, euen as it came to paſſe, and yee know it.

5 Euen for this cauſe, when I coulde no longer forbeare, I ſent him that I might know of your faith, leſt the tempter had tempted you in any ſort, and that our labour had bene in vaine.

6 [2] But nowe lately when Timotheus came from you vnto vs, and brought vs good tidings of your faith and loue, and that ye haue good remembrance of vs alwayes, deſiring to ſee vs, as we alſo doe you,

7 Therefore, brethren, we had conſolation in you, in all our affliction & neceſſitie through your faith.

8 For now are we [a] aliue, if ye ſtand faſt in the Lord.

9 For what thanks can we recompence to God againe for you, for all the ioy wherewith we reioyce for your ſakes before our God,

10 Night and day, *praying exceedingly that wee might ſee your face, and might [b] accompliſh that which is lacking in your faith?

11 Nowe God himſelfe euen our Father, and our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, guide our iourney vnto you.

12 [3] And the Lorde increaſe you, and make you abound in loue one towarde another, and toward all men, euen as we do toward you:

13 *To make your hearts ſtable and vnblameable in holineſſe before God euen our Father, at the comming of our Lorde Jeſus Chriſt with all his Saints.

*Acts.16.1.

1 The will of God who calleth his on this condition, to bring them to glory by affliction, is a moſt ſure remedie againſt all afflictions.

2 Becauſe they haue hitherto gone ſo well forward, he exhorteth them againe to make an ende of the reſt of the iourney, ſeeing that therein alſo they ſhal doe him their Apoſtle a great pleaſure.

1 For now you cannot otherwiſe thinke me ſafe and in good caſe, vnleſſe you goe forward in religion and faith.

*Rom.1.10. and 15.23.

b Paul was conſtrained through the importunate dealing of the enemies to leaue the building which he had ſcarce begunne: And for that cauſe he had left Silas and Timotheus in Macedonia, and when Timothie came to Athens to him, he ſent him backe againe ſtraightway. So that he deſireth to ſee the Theſſalonians, that he may throughly accompliſh their faith and religion, that was as yet imperfect.

3 Another part of the Epiſtle, wherein he ſpeaketh of the dueties of a Chriſtian life. And he ſheweth that the perfection of a Chriſtian life, conſiſteth in two things, to wit, in charitie toward all men, and toward puritie of the heart, the accompliſhment whereof notwithſtanding is deferred to the next comming of Chriſt, who will then perfit his worke by the ſame grace, wherewith he begunne it in vs. *Chap.5.23. 1.corinth.1.8.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He exhorteth them 3 to holineſſe, 9 and brotherly loue, 13 He forbiddeth them to ſorow after the maner of infidels. 15 Hee ſetteth out the hiſtorie of our reſurrection.

AND [1] furthermore wee beſeech you, brethren, and exhort you in the Lord Jeſus, that ye [a] increaſe more and more, as yee haue receiued of vs, how yee ought to walke, and to pleaſe God.

2 For ye know what commandements we gaue you by the Lord Jeſus.

3 *[2] For this is the will of God euen your [b] ſanctification, and that yee ſhould abſtaine from fornication,

4 [3] That euery one of you ſhould knowe, howe to poſſeſſe his veſſell in holineſſe and honour,

5 [4] And not in the luſt of concupiſcence, euen as the Gentiles which know not God:

6 *[5] That no man oppreſſe or defraud his brother in any matter: for the Lord is auenger of all ſuch things, as we alſo haue tolde you before time, and teſtified.

7 *For God hath not called vs vnto vncleanneſſe, but vnto holineſſe.

8 Wherefore that [c] deſpiſeth theſe things, deſpiſeth not man, but God who hath euen giuen you his holy Spirit.

9 [6] But as touching brotherly loue, ye need not that I write vnto you: *for ye are taught of God to loue one another.

10 Yea, and that thing verely yee doe vnto all the brethren, which are throughout all Macedonia: but we beſeech you, brethren, that yee increaſe more and more.

11 [7] And that yee ſtudie to be quiet, and to meddle with your owne buſineſſe, [8] and to worke with your owne hands, as we commanded you,

12 That yee may behaue your ſelues honeſtly toward them that are without, and that nothing be lacking vnto you.

13 ¶ [9] I would not, brethren, haue you ignorant [10] concerning them [11] which are aſleepe, that ye ſorrowe not euen as other which haue no hope.

14 [12] For if we beleeue that Jeſus is dead, and is riſen, euen ſo them which ſleepe in [d] Jeſus, will God [e] bring with him.

15 [13] For this ſay wee vnto you by the and 4.21. 7 Hee condemneth vnquiet braines, and ſuch as are curious in matters which apperteine not vnto them. 8 Hee rebuketh idleneſſe and ſlouthfulneſſe, which vices whoſoeuer are giuen vnto, fall into other wickednеſſe, to the great offence of the Church. 9 The thirde part of the Epiſtle, which is interlaced among the former exhortations (which he returneth vnto afterward) wherein hee ſpeaketh of mourning for the dead, and the maner of the reſurrection, and of the latter day. 10 Wee muſt take heede that we doe not immoderately bewaile the dead, that is, as they vſe to doe which thinke that they are vtterly periſhed. 11 A confirmation: for death is but a ſleepe of the body (for hee ſpeaketh of the faithfull) vntill the Lorde commeth. 12 A reaſon of the confirmation, for ſeeing that the dead is riſen, the members alſo ſhall riſe, and that by the vertue of God. d The dead in Chriſt, which continue in faith whereby they are graffed into Chriſt, euen to the laſt gaſpe. e Wil call their bodies out of their graues, and ioyne their ſoules to them againe. 13 The maner of the reſurrection ſhall be thus. The bodies of the dead ſhall bee as it were raiſed out of ſleepe at the ſound of the trumpet of God. Chriſt himſelfe ſhall deſcend from heauen. The Saintes (for hee ſpeaketh properly of them) which ſhall then bee founde aliue together with the dead which ſhall riſe, ſhall bee taken vp into the cloudes to meete the Lord, and ſhall be in perpetuall glory with him.

f word of the Lord, that we which liue, and are remaining in the comming of the Lorde, ſhall not preuent them which ſleepe.

16 For the Lorde himſelfe ſhall deſcend from heauen with a [b]ſhoute, and with the voice of the Archangel, and * with the trumpet of God: and the dead in Chriſt ſhall riſe firſt:

17 Then ſhal we which liue and remaine, be [i]caught vp with them alſo in the cloudes, to meete the Lord in the aire: and ſo ſhal we euer be with the Lord.

18 Wherefore, comfort your ſelues one another with theſe words.

f In the Name of the Lord, as though he himſelfe ſpake vnto you.

g He ſpeaketh of theſe things, as though he ſhould be one of them whom the Lord ſhall find aliue at his comming, becauſe that time is vncertaine: and therefore euery one of vs ought to be in ſuch a readineſſe, as if the Lord were comming at euery moment.

h The word which the Apoſtle vſeth here, ſignifieth properly that encouragement which mariners vſe one to another, when they altogether with one ſhoute put foorth their oares and rowe together. * 1. Cor. 15. 52.

CHAP. V.

1 Concerning the curious ſearching for the ſeaſons of Chriſts comming, 6 he warneth them to be ready dayly to receiue him: 11 And ſo giueth them ſundry good leſſons.

BUt [1] of the times and [a] ſeaſons, brethren, ye haue no neede that I write vnto you.

2 For ye your ſelues knowe perfectly, that the day of the Lord ſhall come, euen as a thiefe in the night.

3 For when they ſhall ſay, Peace and ſafetie, then ſhall come vpon them ſudden deſtruction, as the trauaile vpon a woman with child, and they ſhall not eſcape.

4 [2] But ye, brethren, are not in darkeneſſe, that that day ſhall come on you, as it were a thiefe.

5 Yee are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, neither of darkeneſſe.

6 Therefore let vs not ſleepe as doe other, but let vs watch and be ſober.

7 For they that ſleepe, ſleepe in ỹ night, and they that be drunken, are drunken in the night.

8 [3] But let vs which are of the day, bee ſober, *putting on the breſtplate of faith and loue, and of the hope of ſaluation for an helmet.

9 [4] For God hath not appointed vs vnto wrath, but to obtaine ſaluation by the meanes of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, 10 [5] Which died for vs, that whether we wake or ſleepe, we ſhould liue together wᵭ him.

11 [6] Wherefore exhort one another, and edifie one another, euen as ye doe.

12 [7] Now we beſeech you, brethren, that ye [b] acknowledge them which labour among you, and are ouer you in the [c] Lord, and admoniſh you, 13 That ye haue them in ſingular loue for [d] their workes ſake. [8] Be at peace among your ſelues.

14 [9] Wee deſire you, brethren, admoniſh them that are [c] out of order: comfort the feeble minded: beare with the weake: be patient toward all men.

15 [10] * See that none recompenſe euill for euil vnto any man: but euer follow that which is good, both toward your ſelues, and toward all men.

16 [11] Reioyce euermore.

17 * Pray continually.

18 In all things giue thankes: for this is the [f] wil of God in Chriſt Jeſus toward you.

19 [12] Quench not the Spirit.

20 Deſpiſe not prophecying.

21 Trie all things, and keepe that which is good.

22 [13] Abſteine from al [h] appearance of euil.

23 Now the very God of peace [i] ſanctifie you throughout: and I pray God that your whole ſpirite and ſoule and body, may be kept blameleſſe vnto the comming of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt.

24 [14] * [k] Faithfull is he which calleth you, which will alſo [l] doe it.

25 [15] Brethren, pray for vs.

26 Greet al the brethren with an holy kiſſe.

27 I charge you in the Lorde, that this Epiſtle bee read vnto all the brethren the Saints.

28 The grace of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt be with you, Amen.

1 The day that God hath appointed for this iudgement, we know not. But this is ſure that it ſhal come vpon men when they looke for nothing leſſe.

a Looke Acts 1. 7.

2 Returning to exhortations, he warneth vs which are lightened with the knowledge of God, that it is our duetie not to liue ſecurely in deliciouſneſſe, leaſt we be ſuddenly taken in a deep ſleepe in pleaſures: but contrarywiſe to haue an eye to the Lord, and not ſuffer our ſelues to be oppreſſed with the cares of this world, for that is meete for the darkeneſſe of the night, and this for the light.

3 We muſt fight with faith and hope, much leſſe ought we lie carelelly ſnoring.

* Eſai. 59. 17. ephe. 6. 17. 4 He pricketh vs forwards by ſetting moſt certaine hope of victorie before vs. 5 The death of Chriſt is a pledge of our victory, for therefore he died, that we might be partakers of his life or vertue, yea euen whiles we liue here. 6 We muſt not onely watch our ſelues, but wee are alſo bound to ſtirre vp and confirme one another.

7 We muſt haue great conſideration of them which are appointed to the miniſterie of the word, and gouernment of the Church by God, and doe their duetie.

b That you acknowledge and take them for ſuch as they are, that is to ſay, men worthy to be greatly accounted of among you,

c In thoſe things which pertaine to Gods ſeruice: ſo is the eccleſiaſticall function diſtinguiſhed from ciuil authoritie, and true ſhepheards from wolues, d So then, where this cauſe ceaſeth, there muſt the honour ceaſe.

8 The maintenance of mutuall concord, is eſpecially to be looked vnto.

9 We muſt haue conſideration of euery man, and as the diſeaſe is, ſo muſt the remedie be vſed.

e That keepe not their ranke or ſtanding.

10 Charitie ought not to be ouercome with any iniuries. *Prou. 17. 13. and 20. 22. matth. 5. 39. rom. 12. 17. 1. pet. 3. 9.

11 A quiet and appeaſed minde, is nourished with continuall prayers, reſpecting the will of God.

f An acceptable thing to God, and ſuch as he liketh well of.

12 The ſparkes of the Spirit of God that are kindled in vs, are nourished with dayly hearing the worde of God: but true doctrine muſt be diligently diſtinguiſhed from falſe.

g The expounding of the word of God.

13 A general concluſion, that we waiting for the comming of Chriſt, doe giue our ſelues to pureneſſe both in minde, will, and body, through the grace and ſtrength of the Spirit of God.

h Whatſoeuer hath but the very ſhew of euil, abſteine from it.

i Separate you from the world, and make you holy to himſelfe through his Spirit, in Chriſt, in whom only you ſhal attaine vnto that true peace.

14 The good will and power of God is a ſure confirmation againſt all difficulties, whereof we haue a ſure witnes in our vocation. *1. Cor. 1. 9.

k Alwayes one, and euer like himſelfe, who performeth in deede whatſoeuer he promiſeth: and an effectuall calling is nothing els but a right declaring and true ſetting foorth of Gods will: and therefore the ſaluation of the elect, is ſafe and ſure.

l Who wil alſo make you perfect.

THE

The second Epistle of Paul to the Thessalonians.

CHAP. I.

3 He commendeth the increase of faith, and charitie, 4 and the patience of the Thessalonians: 6 and describing Gods vengeance against such as oppresse the godly, 10 he teacheth the godly to waite for the last iudgement.

PAul and Siluanus, and Timotheus, vnto the Church of the Thessalonians, which is in God our Father, and in the Lord Iesus Christ:

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

*1.Thess.1.3. 1 The first part of the Epistle, wherein he reioyceth that though the grace of God, they haue manfully sustained all the assaults of their enemies, wherein he confirmeth them, moreouer shewing with what gifts they must chiefly fight, to wit, with faith and charitie, which must daily increase.

3 *[1] Wee ought to thanke God alwayes for you, brethren, as it is meete, because that your faith [a] groweth exceedingly, and the loue of euery one of you towarde another, aboundeth.

4 So that wee our selues reioyce of you in the Churches of God, because of your patience and faith in all your persecutions and tribulations that ye suffer.

a That whereas it grew vp before, it doeth also receiue some increase euery day more and more.

5 *[2] Which is a manifest token of the righteous iudgement of God, that ye may be counted worthy of the kingdome of God, for the which ye also suffer.

*Iude 6.

2 He openeth the fountaine of all true comfort, to wit, that in afflictions which we suffer of the wicked for righteousnesse sake, we may beholde as it were in a glasse the testimonie of that iudgement to come, and the end thereof most acceptable to vs, and most sharpe to his enemies.

6 [3] For it is a righteous thing with God, to recompence tribulation to them that trouble you,

7 And to you which are troubled, rest [4] with vs, * [5] when the Lorde Iesus shall shewe himselfe from heauen with his mightie Angels,

8 In flaming fire, rendering vengeance vnto them, [6] that doe not know God, and which obey not vnto the Gospell of our Lord Iesus Christ,

9 Which shall bee punished with euerlasting perdition, from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power,

10 When hee shall come to be glorified in his Saints, and to bee made marueilous in all them that beleeue (7 because our testimonie toward you was beleeued) in that day,

11 [8] Wherefore, we also pray alwayes for you, that our God may make you worthie of

3 A proofe: God is iust, therefore he wil worthily punish the vniust, and wil doe away the miseries of his people. 4 Hee confirmeth them also by the way, by this meanes, that the condition both of this present state and the state to come, is common to him with them. * 1.Thessal. 4.16. 5 A most glorious description of the second comming of Christ, to be set against all the miseries of the godly, and the triumphs of the wicked. 6 There is no knowledge of God vnto saluation, without the Gospel of Christ. 7 The children of God shall bee counted by the faith which they haue in the Gospel, which is preached vnto them by the Apostles. 8 Seeing that we haue the marke set before vs, it remaineth that we goe vnto it. And we goe to it, by certaine degrees of causes: first by the free loue and good pleasure of God, by vertue whereof all other inferiour causes worke: from thence proceedeth the free calling to Christ, and from calling, faith, whereupon followeth both the glorifying of Christ in vs, and vs in Christ.

[b] this calling, and fulfill [c] all the good pleasure of his goodnesse, and the [d] worke of faith with power, 12 That the Name of our Lorde Iesus Christ may bee glorified in you, and ye in him, according to the grace of our God, and of the Lord Iesus Christ.

b By (calling) he meaneth not the very act of calling, but the selfe same thing wherevnto we are called, which is the glory of that heauenly kingdome.

c Which he determined long since onely vpon his gracious and mercifull goodnesse towards you.

d So then, faith is an excellent worke of God in vs: and we see here plainely that the Apostle leaueth nothing to free will, to make it checkmate with Gods worke therein, as the Papists dreame.

CHAP. II.

2 Hee sheweth that the day of the Lorde shall not come, till there bee a departure from the faith, 3 and that Antichrist bee reuealed, 8 whose destruction hee setteth out, 15 and thereupon exhorteth to constancie.

NOwe [1] we beseech you, brethren, by the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ, and by our [a] assembling vnto him.

1 The second part of the Epistle, conteyning an excellent prophecy of the state of the Church, which shall be from the Apostles times vnto the latter day of iudgement.

a If we thinke earnestly vpon that vnmeasurable glory, which we shall be partakers of with Christ, it wil be an excellent remedie for vs against wauering and impatience, so that neither the glistering of the world shall allure vs, nor the dreadful sight of the crosse dismay vs.

2 [2] That yee be not suddenly moued from your minde, nor troubled neither by [b] spirite, nor by [c] worde, nor by [d] letter, as it were from vs, as though the day of Christ were at hand.

3 Let no man deceiue you by any meanes: [3] for that day shall not come, except there come a departing first, and that [e] that man of sinne be discloſed, euen the sonne of perdition,

4 Which is an aduersarie, and [f] exalteth himselfe against all that is called God, or that is worshipped: so that hee doeth sit as God in the Temple of God, shewing himselfe that hee is God.

5 [5] Remember yee not, that when I was yet with you, I tolde you these things?

6 And now ye knowe what withholdeth that he might be reueiled in his time.

7 [6] For the mysterie of iniquitie doeth alreadie worke: [7] onely hee which now [h] withholdeth, shall let till hee be taken out of the way.

2 We must take heed of false prophets, especially in this matter, which go about to deceiue, and that for the most part, after three sorts: for either they brag of fained prophetical reuelations, or they bring coniectures and reasons of their owne, or vse counterfeit writings.

b By dreames and fables, which men pretend to be spiritual reuelations. c Either by word of mouth, or by bookes written. d Either by forged letter, or falsely glosed vpon. 3 The Apostle foretelleth that before the comming of the Lorde, there shall be a throne set vp cleane contrary to Christes glory, wherein that wicked man shall sit, and transferre all things that appertaine to God, to himselfe, and many shall fal away from God to him. e By speaking of one, he pointeth out the body of the tyrannous and persecuting Church. f All men know who he is that saith he can shut vp heauen and open it at his pleasure, and tooke vpon him to be Lorde and Master aboue all Kings and princes, before whome Kings and princes fall downe and worship, honouring that Antichrist as a god. 4 He foretelleth, that Antichrist (that is, whosoeuer bee he that shall occupie that seat that falleth away from God) shal not reigne without the Church, but in the very bosome of the Church. 5 This prophecie was continually declared to the ancient Church, but it was neglected of them that followed. g Which hindereth and stayeth. 6 Euen in the Apostles time the first foundations of the Apostaticall seate were layde, but yet so that they deceiued men. 7 He foretelleth, that when the Empire of Rome is taken away, the seate that falleth away from God shall succeed and shall holde his peace, as the old writers, Tertullian, Chrysostome and Hierome doe expound it. h Hee which is now in authoritie and ruleth all, to wit, the Romanes Empire.

8 [s]And then shall [i]that wicked man be reueiled, * whom the Lord shall [k]consume with the [l]Spirit of his mouth, and shal abolish with the brightnesse of his comming.

9 [p] Euen him whose comming is by the effectuall working of Satan, with all power, and signes, and [m]lying wonders,

10 And in all deceiuablenesse of vnrighteousnes, among them that perish, because they receiued not the loue of the trueth, that they might be saued.

11 And therefore God shall sende them [n]strong delusion, that they should beleeue lies,

12 That all they might bee damned which beleeued not the trueth, but [o]had pleasure in vnrighteousnes.

13 [10] But we ought to giue thanks alway to God for you, brethren beloued of the Lord, because that God hath from the beginning chosen you to saluation, through [p]sanctification of the Spirit, and the [q]faith of trueth, 14 Whereunto hee called you by our [r]Gospel, to obtaine the glory of our Lorde Jesus Christ.

15 [11] Therefore, brethren, stand fast and keepe the instructions, which yee haue bene taught, either by word, or by our Epistle.

16 Now the same Jesus Christ our Lord, and our God euen the Father which hath loued vs, and hath giuen vs euerlasting consolation and good hope through grace, 17 Comfort your hearts, and stablish you in euery word and good worke.

8 [s] And then shall [i] that wicked man be reueiled, * whom the Lord shall [k] consume with the [l] Spirit of his mouth, and shal abolish with the brightnesse of his comming.

9 [p] Euen him whose comming is by the effectuall working of Satan, with all power, and signes, and [m] lying wonders,

10 And in all deceiuablenesse of vnrighteousnes, among them that perish, because they receiued not the loue of the trueth, that they might be saued.

11 And therefore God shall sende them [n] strong delusion, that they should beleeue lies,

12 That all they might bee damned which beleeued not the trueth, but [o] had pleasure in vnrighteousnes.

13 [10] But we ought to giue thanks alway to God for you, brethren beloued of the Lord, because that God hath from the beginning chosen you to saluation, through [p] sanctification of the Spirit, and the [q] faith of trueth,

14 Whereunto hee called you by our [r] Gospel, to obtaine the glory of our Lorde Jesus Christ.

15 [11] Therefore, brethren, stand fast and keepe the instructions, which yee haue bene taught, either by word, or by our Epistle.

16 Now the same Jesus Christ our Lord, and our God euen the Father which hath loued vs, and hath giuen vs euerlasting consolation and good hope through grace, 17 Comfort your hearts, and stablish you in euery word and good worke.

[s] That wicked- [i] lie shall at [k] ngth be detec- [l] by the worn [m] the Lord, and [n] al vtterly be [o] tified by [p] spistles com- [q] ing. [r] Word for [s] ord, that law- [t] le fellow, that [u] so say, he that [v] al tread Gods [w] w cleane va- [x] r foote. [y] 8. 11.4. [z] Bring to [a] ught. [b] With his word, [c] the true Mini- [d] sters of the word [e] as a mouth, [f] hereby the [g] ord breaketh [h] ut that mightie [i] nd euerlasting [k] word, which shall [l] reake his ene- [m] nies in sunder, as [n] were an iron [o] d. [p] He foretelleth [q] hat Satan wil [r] eclow al his [s] ight and pow- [t] r, and bie all [u] lfe myracles [v] hat he can to [w] stablish that [x] are, g that with [y] reat successe, [z] ecause the wic- [a] kednes of the [b] ngls doth so de- [c] rue it: yet so, [d] hat only the vn- [e] faithful shal pe- [f] rish through his [g] eceit. [h] Which are [i] partly false and [k] partly wrought to establish a falshood. [n] A most mightie working to deceiue them. [o] They liked lies so wel, that they had pleasure in them, which is the greatest madnesse that may be. 10 The elect shall stande stedfast and safe from all theyr malicheifes. Now election is knowen by these testimonies: Faith is gathered by sanctification: faith, by that that we accept vnto the trueth: trueth, by calling, through the preaching of the Gospel: from whence wee come at length to a certaine hope of glorification. [p] To sanctifie you. [q] Faith which layeth hold not vpon lies, but vpon the trueth of God, which is the Gospel. [r] By our preaching. 11 The conclusion: It remaineth then, that we continue in the doctrine which was deliuered vnto vs by the mouth and writings of the Apostles, through the free good will of God, which comforteth vs with an inuincible hope, and also in all godlinesse our whole life long.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee desireth them to further the preaching of the Gospell with their prayers, 6 and to withdraw themselues from those, who through idlenesse. 11 and curiositie peruert good order: 14 Whom he excludeth from the company of the faithfull.

[1] Furthermore, [1] brethren, * pray for vs, that the word of the Lord may haue free passage and be glorified, euen as it is with you,

2 And that we may be deliuered from [a] vnreasonable and euill men: [2] for all men haue not faith.

3 But the Lord is faithfull, which wil stablish you, and keepe you from [b] euil.

4 [3] And wee are perswaded of you through the Lord, that ye both do, and wil do the things which we warne you of.

5 [4] And the Lord guide your heartes to the loue of God, and the waiting for of Christ.

6 [5] We warne you, brethren, in the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye withdraw your selues from euery brother that walketh inordinately, and not after the instruction, which he receiued of vs.

7 [6] For yee your selues knowe, * how yee ought to followe vs: * for wee behaued not our selues inordinately among you,

8 Neither tooke wee bread of any man for nought: but we wrought with labour and trauaile night and day, because we would not bee chargeable to any of you.

9 Not because we haue not authoritie, but that wee might make our selues an ensample vnto you to follow vs.

10 For euen when we were with you, this we warned you of, that if there were any, which would not worke, that he should [c] not eate.

11 For wee heare, that there are some which walke among [7] you inordinately, and worke not at all, [8] but are busie bodies.

12 [9] Therefore them that are such, wee warne and exhort by our Lorde Jesus Christ, that they worke with quietnesse, and eate their owne bread.

13 [10] And yee, brethren, bee not wearie in well doing.

14 [11] If any man obey not this our saying in this letter, note him, and haue no [12] company with him, [13] that he may be ashamed:

15 [14] Yet count him not as an enemie, but admonish him as a brother.

16 [15] Now the Lorde himselfe of peace giue you peace alwayes by all meanes. The Lord be with you all.

17 [16] The salutation of mee Paul, with mine owne hande, which is the token in euery Epistle: so I write,

18 The grace of our Lorde Jesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

1 [1] Hee desireth them to further the preaching of the Gospell with their prayers, 6 and to withdraw themselues from those, who through idlenesse. 11 and curiositie peruert good order: 14 Whom he excludeth from the company of the faithfull.

[1] Furthermore, [1] brethren, * pray for vs, that the word of the Lord may haue free passage and be glorified, euen as it is with you,

2 And that we may be deliuered from [a] vnreasonable and euill men: [2] for all men haue not faith.

3 But the Lord is faithfull, which wil stablish you, and keepe you from [b] euil.

4 [3] And wee are perswaded of you through the Lord, that ye both do, and wil do the things which we warne you of.

5 [4] And the Lord guide your heartes to the loue of God, and the waiting for of Christ.

6 [5] We warne you, brethren, in the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye withdraw your selues from euery brother that walketh inordinately, and not after the instruction, which he receiued of vs.

7 [6] For yee your selues knowe, * how yee ought to followe vs: * for wee behaued not our selues inordinately among you,

8 Neither tooke wee bread of any man for nought: but we wrought with labour and trauaile night and day, because we would not bee chargeable to any of you.

9 Not because we haue not authoritie, but that wee might make our selues an ensample vnto you to follow vs.

10 For euen when we were with you, this we warned you of, that if there were any, which would not worke, that he should [c] not eate.

11 For wee heare, that there are some which walke among [7] you inordinately, and worke not at all, [8] but are busie bodies.

12 [9] Therefore them that are such, wee warne and exhort by our Lorde Jesus Christ, that they worke with quietnesse, and eate their owne bread.

13 [10] And yee, brethren, bee not wearie in well doing.

14 [11] If any man obey not this our saying in this letter, note him, and haue no [12] company with him, [13] that he may be ashamed:

15 [14] Yet count him not as an enemie, but admonish him as a brother.

16 [15] Now the Lorde himselfe of peace giue you peace alwayes by all meanes. The Lord be with you all.

17 [16] The salutation of mee Paul, with mine owne hande, which is the token in euery Epistle: so I write,

18 The grace of our Lorde Jesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

[1] He craueth [2] the consequent- [3] ly according to [4] his wonted [5] manner, di- [6] recting admoniti- [7] ons: The first [8] of them is, that [9] they make prayers [10] for the in- [11] crease and free [12] passage of the [13] Gospel, and for the [14] saluation of the faithfull ministers of the same. * Ephes. 6. 19. Colos. 4. 3. [a] Which haue no care of their duetie. [2] It is no maruell that the Gospel is hated of so many, seeing that faith is a rare gift of God. Notwithstanding the Church shall neuer be destroyed by the multitude of the wicked, because it is grounded and staied vpon the faithful promise of God.

b From Satans snares, or frō euil. 3 The second admonition is, that they follow alwayes the doctrine of the Apostles as a rule for their life. 4 Thirdly, he diligently & earnestly admonisheth them of the things which are giuen vs by the onely grace of God, to wit, of charitie, and a watchful minde to the comming of Christ. 5 Fourthly, he saith, that idle and lasie persons, ought not to be relieued of the Church, nay, that they are not to be suffered. 6 Least hee might seeme to deale hardly in them, he setteth forth himselfe for an example, who besides his trauaile in preaching laboured with his hands, which he saith he was not simply bound to do. * 1. Cor. 11. 1. * 2. Thess. 4. 11. c What shal we doe then with those idle bellie Monkes, and blind sacrificing priests? A Monke (saith Socrates, booke 8. of his Tripartite history) which worketh not with hands, is like a theefe. 7 How great a fault it is, he declareth by that that God created no man in vaine, & to no purpose, neither is there any to whom he hath not allotted as it were a certaine standing and roume. Whereupon it followeth that the ofice which God hath appointed, is troubled by the idle, yea broken, which is great shame and wickednes. 8 Hee reprehendeth a vice, which is ioyned with the former, whereupon followe an infinite sort of mischeifes: to wit, that there are none more busie in other mens matters, then they which neglect their owne. 9 The Lord commandeth and the Apostles pray in the Name of Christ, first, that no man be idle, and next, that euery man doe quietly and carefully fre to doe his duetie in that office and calling wherein the Lorde hath placed him. 10 Wee must take heed, that some mens vnworthines cause vs not to be slack in wel doing. 11 Excommunication is a punishment for the obstinate. 12 We must haue no familiaritie nor felowship with the excommunicate. 13 The end of the excommunication is not the destruction, but the saluation of the sinner, that at least through shame he may be driuen to repentance. 14 We must so eschew familiaritie with the excommunicate, that we diligently seeke all occasions & meanes that may be, to bring them againe into the right way. 15 Prayers are the seales of all exhortations. 16 The Apostle subscribeth his letter with his owne hand, that false letters might not be brought and put in place of true.

The first Epistle of Paul to Timotheus.

CHAP. I.

Setting foorth a perfect patterne of a true Pastour, whose office especially consisteth in teaching, 4 he warneth him that vaine questions set apart, hee teach those things, 5 which further charitie and faith: 12 and that his authoritie be not condemned, 14 hee sheweth what an one he is made through the grace of God.

PAVL [1] an Apostle of IESVS CHRIST, by the ‖commandement of God our Sauiour, & of our Lord Iesus Christ our hope,

2 Unto Timotheus my naturall sonne in the faith: Grace, [a] mercy, and peace from God our Father, and from Christ Iesus our Lord.

3 [2] As I besought thee to abide still in Ephesus, when I departed into Macedonia, so doe, that thou mayest warne some, that they teach none other doctrine,

4 [3] Neither that they giue heed to fables and [b] genealogies which are endlesse, which breede questions rather then godly edifying, which is by faith.

5 [4] For the end of the [c] commandement is [d] loue out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith vnfained.

6 [5] From the which things some haue erred, and haue turned vnto vaine iangling.

7 [6] They would be doctors of the Lawe, and yet vnderstand not what they speake, neither whereof they affirme.

8 [7] And we know, that the Law is good, if a man vse it lawfully,

9 [8] Knowing this, that ꝑ Law is not giuen vnto a [e] righteous man, but vnto the lawlesse & disobedient, to the vngodly, and to [f] sinners, to the vnholy, & to the prophane, to murtherers of fathers and mothers, to manslaiers,

10 To whoremongers, to buggerers, to men-stealers, to liars, to the periured, and if there bee any other thing, that is contrary to wholesome doctrine, 11 [9] Which is according to the glorious Gospel of the blessed God, [10] which is committed vnto me.

12 [11] Therefore I thanke him, which hath made me [g] strong, that is, Christ Iesus our Lord: for he counted me faithfull, and put me in his seruice:

13 When before I was a [h] blasphemer, and a persecuter, and an oppresser: but I was receiued to mercie: for I did it ignorantly through vnbeliefe.

14 But the grace of our Lorde was exceeding aboundant [12] with faith and loue, which is in Christ Iesus.

15 [13] This is a [i] true saying, & by all means woorthie to be receiued, that * Christ Iesus came into the world to saue sinners, of whom I am chiefe.

16 Notwithstanding, for this cause was I receiued to mercy, that Iesus Christ should first shew on mee all long suffering vnto the ensample of them, which shall in time to come beleeue in him vnto eternall life.

17 [14] Now vnto the King euerlasting, immortal, inuisible, vnto God [k] onely wise, be honour & glory, for euer and euer, Amen.

18 [15] This commandement commit I vnto thee, sonne Timotheus, according to the prophesies, which went before vpon thee, that thou [l] by them shouldest fight a good fight, 19 Hauing [m] faith and a good conscience, [16] which some haue put away, & as concerning faith, haue made shipwracke.

20 Of whom is Hymeneus, and Alexander, * [17] whom I haue [n] deliuered vnto Satan, that they might [o] learne not to blaspheme.

1 First of all, he auoucheth his owne free vocation and also Timothees, that the one might be confirmed by the other: & therwithall he declareth the summe of the Apostolical doctrine, to wit, the mercy of God in Christ Iesus apprehended by faith, the end whereof is yet hopen for.

‖ Or, ordinance.

a There is as much difference betwixt mercy & grace, as is betwixt the effect & the cause: For grace is that free good wil of God, wherby he chose vs in Christ, and mercy is that free iustification which followeth it.

2 This whole epistle consisteth in admonitions, wherein all the duties of a faithfull Pastor are liuely set out. And the first admonition is this, that no innouatiõ be made either in the Apostles doctrine it selfe, as in the maner of teaching it.

3 The doctrine is corrupted not onely by false opinions, but also by vaine and curious speculations: the declaration and inheritance whereof can nothing helpe our faith.

b He noteth our one kind of vayne questions.

4 The second admonition is, that the right vse and practise of the doctrine must be ioyned with the doctrine. And that consisteth in pure charitie, and a good conscience, and true faith.

* Rom. 13. 10.

c Of the Law.

d There is neither loue without a good conscience, nor a good conscience without faith, nor faith without the word of God.

5 That which he spake before generally of vaine and curious controuersies, hee applieth to them which pretending a zeale of the Lawe, dwelled vpon outward things, & neuer made an end of babblings of foolish trifles.

6 There are none more vnlearned, & more impudent in vsurping the name of diuines, then foolish sophisticall babblers.

7 The taking away of an obiection: He condemneth not the Law, but requireth the right vse and practise of it.

8 He in deed escapeth the curse of the Law, and therefore doeth not abhorre it, who fleeing and eschewing those things which the Lawe condemneth, giueth himselfe with all his heart, to obserue it: and not he that maketh a vaine babbling of outward and curious matters.

e And such a one is he, whom the Lord hath indued with true doctrine, and with the holy Ghost.

f To such as make an arte, as it were, of sinning.

9 He setteth against fond and vaine babbling, not onely the Law, but the Gospel also, which commendeth not, but greatly commendeth the wholesome doctrine contained in the commaundements of God, and therefore hee calleth it a glorious Gospel, and the Gospel of the blessed God, the doctrine whereof these babblers knew not.

10 A reason why neither any other Gospel is to be taught, then he hath taught in the Church, neither after any other sort, because there is no other Gospel beside which God committed to him.

11 He maintaineth of necessitie his Apostleship against some ꝑ carpe at his former life. Behasting himselfe rather to hel, to abuse Christes onely mercy, wherwith he abolished all those his former doings.

g Which gaue me strength not only when I had no wil to do well, but also when I was wholy giuen to euil.

h These are the preparatiue works which Paul braggeth of.

12 He ꝓmoueth this change by the effects, saying that, that he was a prophane man, is because a beleeuer: and he that did most outragiously persecute Christ, burneth now in loue towards him.

13 He turneth the reproch of the aduersaries vpon their owne head, shewing that this singular example of the goodnes of God, redoundeth to the commoditie of ꝑ whole Church.

i Worthie to be beleeued.

* Matth. 9. 13. marke 2. 17.

14 Hee breaketh out into an exclamatiõ, euen for very zeale of mind, for that he cannot sufficiently himselfe in amplifying the grace of God.

k Looke Iohn 17. 3.

15 The conclusion of both the former fatherly admonitions, to wit, that Timothie striuing manfully against all lets, being called to the ministerie according to many prophesies which went before of him, should both maintaine the doctrine which he had receiued, and keepe also a good conscience.

l By the helpe of them.

m Wholesome and sound doctrine.

16 Whosoeuer keepe not a good conscience, do loose also the little and litle, the gift of vnderstanding: which hes ꝓoued by two most lamentable examples.

* 1. Cor. 5. 5.

17 Such as sal from God, and his religion, are not to be suffred in the Church, but rather ought to be excommunicated.

n Cast out of the Church, and so deliuered them to Satan.

o That by their smart they might learne what it is to blaspheme.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee exhorteth them to make publike prayers for all men, 4. 5 and that for two causes: 8 And therefore he willeth all men in all places to pray, 9 And declareth in what apparell 11 and with what modestie, women ought to behaue themselues in holy assemblies.

I [1] EXhort therefore, that first of all supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giuing

1 Hauing also patched those things, which pertaine to doctrine, he speaketh now in the second place of the other part of the ministerie of the word, to wit, of publike prayers. And first of all, declaring this question, for whom we ought to pray: he teacheth that we must pray for all men, and especially for all maner of Magistrates, which thing was at that time somewhat doubted of, seeing that kings, yea, and the most part of Magistrates were at that time enemies of the Church.

of thanks be made for all men,

2 For Kings, and for all that are in authoritie, [2] that wee may lead a quiet and a peaceable life, in all godlines and [a] honestie.

3 [3] For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Sauiour, 4 Who will that all men shalbe saued, and come vnto the acknowledging of the trueth.

5 [4] For there is one God, and one Mediator betweene God and man, which is the [b] man Christ Iesus,

6 Who gaue himselfe a ransome for all men, [5] to be that testimonie in due time,

7 * Whereunto I am ordeined a Preacher and an Apostle (I speake the trueth in Christ, and lie not) euen a teacher of the Gentiles in [c] faith and veritie.

8 [6] I will therfore that the men pray, euery where [d] lifting vp pure hands without [e] wrath, or [f] doubting.

9 *[7] Likewise also the women, that they aray themselues in comely apparell, w̄ shamefastnesse and modestie, not with broided haire, or gold, or pearles, or costly apparel,

10 But (as becommeth women that professe the feare of God) with good works.

11 Let the woman learne in silence with all subiection.

12 * I permit not a woman to teach, [8] neither to vsurpe authoritie ouer the man, but to be in silence.

13 [9] For * Adam was first formed, then Eue.

14 *[10] And Adam was not [g] deceiued, but the womā was deceiued, and was in the transgression.

15 [11] Notwithstanding, through bearing of children she shalbe saued, if they continue in faith and loue, and holines with modestie.

CHAP. III.

2 Hee setteth out Bishops, 8 and Christian Deacons, with their wiues, 12 children and families: 15 hee calleth the Church the house of God.

THis [1] is a true saying, [2] If any man [a] desire the office of a Bishop, he desireth a worthy worke.

2 * A Bishop therefore must bee vnreproueable, the husband of [b] one wife, watching, temperate, modest, harberous, apt to teach,

3 Not [c] giuen to wine, no striker, not giuen to filthie lucre, but gentle, no fighter, not couetous,

4 One that can rule his owne house honestly, hauing children vnder obedience with all honestie.

5 For if any cannot rule his owne house, how shall he care for the Church of God?

6 He may not be a yong scholer, least hee being puffed vp fall into the [d] condemnation of the deuil.

7 He must also be well reported of, euen of them, which are without, least he fall into rebuke, and the snare of the deuil.

8 [3] Likewise must [c] Deacons be graue, not double tongued, not giuē vnto much wine, neither to filthie lucre, 9 * Hauing the [f] mysterie of the faith in pure conscience.

10 And let them first be proued: then let them minister, if they be found blamelesse.

11 [4] Likewise their wiues must be honest, not euil speakers, but sober, and faithfull in all things.

12 [5] Let the Deacons bee the husbands of one wife, and such as can rule their children well, and their owne households.

13 For they that haue ministred well, get themselues a good [g] degree, and [b] great libertie in the faith, which is in Christ Iesus.

14 [6] These things write I vnto thee, trusting to come very shortly vnto thee.

15 But if I tarie long, that thou mayest yet know, how thou oughtest to behaue thy selfe in the [7] house of God, which is the Church of the liuing God, the [i] pillar and ground of trueth.

1 Hauing dispatched y treatise, as well of doctrine, and of the maner of handling of it, as also of publike prayer, he now in the third place commeth to the persons themselues, speaking first of Pastors, and afterward of Deacons, and he bleth a Preface, that the Church may know that these be certaine and sure rules.

2 A bishoprike or the ministerie of the word is not an idle dignitie, but a worke, and that an excellent worke: and therfore a bishop must be furnished with many vertues both at home & abroad. Wherfore it is requisite before he be chosen, to examine wel his learning, his gifts, and ablenesse, & his life.

a He speaketh not here of ambitious seeking, then the which there cannot be a worse fault in the Church, but generally of the mind and disposition of man, framed and disposed to helpe and edifie the Church of God, when and where-soeuer it shall please the Lord. * Tit. 2. 6.

b Therefore he that shunneth out maried men from the office of bishops, onely because they are maried, is Anti-christ.

c A common tipler, & one that will sit by it.

d Least by reason that he is aduanced to that degree, he take occasion to be proud, which will vndo him, and so he fal into the same condemnation that the deuil himselfe is fallen into. 3 Likewise the Deacons must first be proued, that there may be a good triall of their honestie, trueth, sobrietie, mind void of couetousnesse, that they are well instructed in the doctrine of faith, and to be short, of their good conscience and integritie. e These are they that had to see to the poore. * Chap. 1. 19. f The doctrine of the Gospel, which is a mysterie in deed: for flesh and blood doe not reueile it. 4 Regard must bee had also, to the Pastours and Deacons wiues. 5 They that haue moe wiues then one, at one time, must neither bee called to be ministers, nor to be Deacons. g Honour and estimation. h Bold and assured confidence without feare. 6 Paul purposing to adde many peculiar things pertaining to the daily office of a Pastour, speaketh first a word or two concerning his comming to Timothie, that he should be so much the more carefull, least at his comming he might be reproued of negligence. 7 The Pastour hath alwayes to thinke, how that he is occupied in the house of the liuing God, wherein the treasure of the trueth is kept. i To wit, in respect of men: for the Church resteth vpon that corner stone, Christ, and is the preserver of the trueth, but not the mother.

An argument taken of the end: a wit, because that magistrates are appointed to this end, that we might peaceably and quietly liue in all godlines and honestie, and therefore must we commend them especially to God, that they may faithfully execute so necessary an office.

This word conteineth all kind of dutie, which is to be vsed amongst men in their affaires.

Another argument, why Churches or Congregations ought to pray for all men, without any difference of nation, kind, age or power: to wit, because the Lord by calling of all sortes, pe-sonnes and time that are greatest enemies to the Gospel, will haue his Church gathered together after this sort, and therefore praiers to be made for all.

God should not else be manifested to be the onely God of all men, vnlesse he should shew his goodnes in saluing of all sortes of men: neither should Christ be meete to be the onely Mediatour betweene God and all sortes of men, by hauing taken vpon him that nature of man which is common to all men, vnlesse he had satisfied for all sortes of men, and made intercession for all. b Christ Iesus which was made man. 5 A confirmation, because that euen to the Gentiles, is the secret of saluation nowe opened and made manifest, the Apostle himselfe being appointed properly to this office, which hee doeth faithfully and sincerely execute. * 2. Tim. 1. 11. c Faithfully and sincerely: and by faith he meaneth wholesome and sound doctrine, and by trueth, an vpright and sincere handling of it. 6 Hee hath spoken of the persons for whom wee must pray: and nowe he teacheth that the difference of places is taken away: for in times past, one onely nation, and in one certaine place, came together to publike seruice: but nowe Churches or Congregations are gathered together euery where, (orderly and decently) and men come together to serue God publikely with common prayer, neither must we striue for the nation, or for the purification of the body, nor for the place, but for the minde to haue it cleane from all offence, and full of sure trust and confidence. d Hee putteth the signe for the thing it selfe, the lifting vp of handes for the calling vpon God. e Without theese grieses and offences of the minde, which hinder vs from calling vpon God with a good conscience. f Doubting, which is against faith, Iames 1. 6. * 1. Peter 3. 3.

Thirdly, he appointeth women to learne in the publike assemblies with silence and modestie, being comely apparelled, without any riot or excesse in their apparell. *1. Cor. 14. 34. 8 The first argument, why it is not lawfull for women to teach in the Congregation, because by this meanes, they should be placed aboue men, for they should be their masters: which is against Gods ordinance. 9 He prooueth this ordinance of God, whereby the woman is subiect to man, first by that, that God made the woman after man, for mans sake. * Gen. 1. 27. and 2. 7, 21. * Gen. 3. 6. 10 Then, because that after sinne, God enioyneth the woman this punishment, for that the man was deceiued by her. g Adam was not deceiued, but through his wiues meanes, and therefore she is worthily for this cause subiect to her husband, and ought to be. 11 He addeth a comfort by the way, that this subiection hindreth not but that women may be saued as well as men, if they behaue themselues in those burdens of marriage holily and modestly, with faith and charitie.

16 [8] And

3 There is nothing more excellent then this trueth, whereof the Church is the keeper and preserver here among men, the ministerie of the word being appointed to that end and purpose: for it teacheth vs the greatest matters that may be thought of, to wit, that God is become visible in the person of Christ by taking our nature vpon him, whose maiestie notwithstanding in so great weaknesse was manifested many wayes, insomuch that the sight of it pierced the very Angels, and to conclude, he being preached vnto the Gentiles was receiued of them, & is now placed aboue in glory vnspeakable. k The power of the Godhead shewed it self so marueilously in that weake flesh of Christ, that though he were a weake man, yet all the world knoweth, he was and is God.

16 [8] And without controuersie, great is the mysterie of godlinesse, which is, God is manifested in the flesh, [k] iustified in the Spirit, seene of Angels, preached vnto the Gentiles, beleeued on in the world, and receiued vp in glory.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He condemneth aswell false doctrines 3 of marriage and the choise of meats, 7 as also prophane fables: 8 and commendeth the godly exercise, 13 & the daily reading of the Scripture.

1 He setteth against that true doctrine, false opinions, which he foretelleth that certaine which shall fall away from God and his religion, shall bring in by the suggestion of Satan, and so, that a great number shall giue eare to them. a From the true doctrine of God. 2 Although hereticks counterfeit holinesse neuer so much, yet haue they no conscience. b For they will as it were practise the arte of disguised persons and players, that we may not thinke they will be lurking in some one corner, or keepe any resemblance of shamefastnesse. c Whose conscience waxed so hard, that there grew an hard flesh in it, that is, it became so hard that it could not be pierced with any reason. d Which haue their conscience seared with a hote iron, that is, which are so hardened in their sinnes, that they are not moued with any reason.

NOwe [1] the Spirite speaketh euidently, that in the latter times some shall depart from the [a] faith, and shal giue heed vnto spirits of errour, and doctrines of deuils,

2 [2] Which speake lies through [b] hypocrisie, and haue their [c] consciences burned with an hote iron,

3 [3] Forbidding to marry, and commaunding to abstaine from meates [4] which God hath created [5] to bee receiued [6] with giuing thankes of them which beleeue and know the trueth.

4 [7] For euery creature of God is good, and nothing ought to be refused, if it bee receiued with thanksgiuing.

5 [8] For it is [d] sanctified by the [e] worde of God, and prayer.

6 [9] If thou put the brethren in remembrance of these things, thou shalt bee a good minister of Iesus Christ, which hast beene nourished vp in the words of faith, and of good doctrine, which thou hast continually [f] followed.

7 [10] But cast away prophane, and olde wiues fables, [11] and exercise thy selfe vnto godlinesse.

8 [12] For bodily exercise profiteth little: but godlinesse is profitable vnto all things, which hath the promise of the life present, and of that that is to come.

9 [13] This is a true saying, & by all means worthie to be receiued.

10 For therefore we labour and are rebuked, because we trust in the liuing God, which is the Sauiour of all men, specially of those that beleeue.

11 These things warne and teach.

12 [14] Let no man despise thy youth, but be vnto them that beleeue, an ensample, in worde, in conuersation, in loue, in spirit, in faith and in purenesse.

13 [15] Till I come, giue attendance to reading, to exhortation, & to doctrine.

14 Despise not the gift that is in thee, which was giuen thee by prophesie with the laying on of the handes of the company of the Eldership.

15 These things exercise, and giue thy selfe vnto them, that it may be seene how thou profitest among all men.

16 Take heede vnto thy selfe, and vnto learning: continue therein: for in doing this thou shalt both [h] saue thy selfe, and them that heare thee.

2 Although hereticks counterfeit holinesse neuer so much, yet haue they no conscience. b For they will as it were practise the arte of disguised persons and players, that we may not thinke they will be lurking in some one corner, or keepe any resemblance of shamefastnesse. c Whose conscience waxed so hard, that there grew an hard flesh in it, and so became to haue a canker in it, and now at length required of very necessitie to bee burned with an hote yron. 3 Hee setteth downe two kindes of this false doctrine, to wit, the Law of sole life, and difference of meats. 4 Hee prooueth that hee iustly called such doctrines deuilish, first, because the teachers of them make lawes of things which are not their owne: for haue they created the meates? 5 Secondly, because they ouerthrow with their decrees, the ende wherefore they were created of God, to wit, that wee should vse them. 6 Thirdly, for that by this meanes they rob God of his glory, who will bee honoured in the vse of them. And heerewithall, the Apostle declareth, that wee must vse the liberalitie of God, soberly, and with a good conscience. 7 He setteth an Apostolicall rule, for taking away the difference of meates against that false doctrine. 8 Hee vseth Gods benefites rightly, which acknowledgeth the giuer of them by his worde, and calleth vpon him. d It is so made pure and holy in respect of vs, so that we may vse it with a good conscience, as receiued at the Lordes handes. e We confesse and acknowledge, that God is the maker and giuer of those creatures which wee vse. Secondly, that wee are of the number of those, who through Christes benefite, haue recouered that right ouer all creatures, which Adam lost by his fall. Thirdly, by our prayers we craue of the Lord, that wee may vse those meates with a good conscience, which wee receiue at his handes. Fourthly, we make an ende of our eating and drinking, with thanksgiuing and prayer: and so are our meates sanctified to vs. 9 The conclusion with an exhortation to Timothie, to propound these things diligently to the Churches, which hee had sucked of the Apostle euen in a manner from the teate. f Neuer departing from the side of it. 10 Hee setteth against true doctrine not onely against that false and apostaticall doctrine, but also against all vaine and curious fabilities.

11 It is not only requisite that the minister of the word be sound in doctrine, but also that his life be godly and religious. g In the true seruing of God. 12 Godlinesse consisteth in spirituall exercise, and not in outward austerenes of life, which though it be something to be accounted of, if it be rightly vsed, yet it is in no wise comparable with godlines. For it profiteth not of it selfe, but through the benefit of an other, but this hath the promise both of the life present, and of that that is to come. 13 He goeth a little from his matter, & sheweth that they which giue themselues to godlinesse, although they are afflicted and reprocched, are notwithstanding not to be counted miserable as other men are, because they are not afflicted for that cause that other men are, and the ende of them both is farre different one from the other. For howe can God forsake his, which is bountiful euen towards his enemies? And he willeth that this doctrine be well beaten into their heads. 14 Now he returneth to that exhortation, shewing which are the true vertues of a Pastor, whereby hee may come to be reuerenced although he be but yong, to wit, such speech and life as are witnesses of charitie, zeale, faith, and puritie: but here is no mention made of the crosier staffe, ring, cloke, and such other foolish and childish toyes. 15 The priuate exercise of Pastors, is continuall reading of the Scriptures, whereout they may draw matter of wholesome doctrine and exhortation, both to themselues and to other. h Faith is by hearing, and hearing by preaching: and therefore the Ministers of the word are so sayd to themselues and other, for that in them the Lorde hath put the word of reconciliation.

CHAP. V.

1 Hauing set downe a maner how to reluke all degrees, 5 he entreateth of widowes, who then were chosen for the seruice of the Church: 17 Then he commeth to Elders, 23 and speaketh somewhat touching the health of the body.

1 Of keeping measure in priuate reprehensions according to the degrees of ages and kinds. 2 The Apostle giueth these rules touching the care of widowes. a Haue care of those widowes which haue need of helpe. 3 Widowes children and nephewes must take care for their parents, according to their habilitie. 4 The first reason, because that that which they bestow vpon theirs, they bestow it vpon themselues. cause nature it selfe teacheth vs to recompense our parents. 6 cause this duetifulnes pleaseth God.

REbuke [1] not an Elder, but exhort him as a Father, and the yonger men as brethren,

2 The elder women as Mothers, the yonger as sisters, with all purenesse.

3 [2 a] Honour widowes, which are widowes in deed.

4 [3] But if any widow haue children or nephewes, let them learne first to shew godlinesse [4] toward their owne house, and [5] to recompense their kinred: [6] for that is an honest thing, and acceptable before God.

5 [7] And

5 [7]And she that is a widow in deede and left alone, trusteth in God, and continueth in supplications and prayers night and day.

6 [8]But she that liueth in pleasure, is dead, while she liueth.

7 These things therefore warne them of, that they may be blamelesse.

8 If there bee any that prouideth not for his owne, and namely for them of his household, he denieth the faith, and is worse then an Infidel.

9 [9]Let not a widowe bee taken into the number vnder three score yeere olde, that hath bene the wife of [b] one husband,

10 And well reported of for good workes: if she haue nourished her children, if she haue lodged the strangers, if she haue [c] washed ỹ Saints feete, if shee haue ministred vnto them which were in aduersitie, if she were continually giuen vnto euery good worke.

11 [10]But [d] refuse the yonger widowes: for when they haue begun to waxe wanton against Christ, they will marrie, 12 Hauing damnation, because they haue broken the first faith.

13 [11]And likewise also being idle they learne to goe about from house to house: yea they are not onely idle, but also prattlers and busie bodies, speaking things which are not comely.

14 [12]I will therefore that the yonger women marrie, and beare children, and gouerne the house, & giue none occasion to the aduersarie to speake euil.

15 For certaine are already turned backe after Satan.

16 [13]If any faithfull man, or faithfull woman haue widowes, let them minister vnto them, and let not the Church be charged, that there may bee sufficient for them that are widowes in deed.

17 ¶ [14]The Elders that rule well, let them be had in [e] double honour, [f] specially they which labour in the word and doctrine, 18 For the Scripture saieth, * Thou shalt not mouzel the mouth of the Oxe that treadeth out the corne: and, * The labourer is worthie of his wages.

19 [15]Against an Elder receiue none accusation, but vnder two or three witnesses.

20 [16]Them that sinne, rebuke openly, that the rest also may feare.

21 ¶ * [17]I charge thee before God and the Lorde Iesus Christ, and the elect Angels, that thou obserue these things without preferring one to an other, and doe nothing partially.

22 [18]Lay hands suddenly on no man, neither bee partaker of other mens sinnes: keepe thy selfe pure.

25 [19]Drinke no longer water, but vse a little wine for thy stomacks sake, and thine often infirmities.

24 [20]Some mens sinnes are open before hand, & goe before vnto iudgement: but some mens follow after.

25 [21]Likewise also the good workes are manifest before hand, and they that are otherwise, cannot be hid.

7 The second rule. Let the Church haue care of such as are widowes in deed, that is to say, such as are poore and destitute of helpe of their owne friends, and liue godly and religiously.

8 The third rule: Let widowes that liue in pleasure, and neglect the care of their owne familie, be holden and accounted as fallers away from God and his religion, and worse then very Infidels.

9 The fourth rule: Let none vnder three score yeere old, be taken into the number of widowes, to serue the Congregations or Churches, and such as are free from all reproch of vnchastitie, and are well reported of, for their diligence, charitie, and integritie.

b That hath had no more husbands, but one at one time.

c This is spoken in respect of the maner of those countries.

10 The first reason why yonger widowes are not to be admitted to this ministerie, to wit, because for the lightnes of their age, they will at length shake off the burden that Christ hath laid vpon them, and thinke rather vpon marying againe: and so will forsake the ministery whereunto they had bound themselues.

d Take them not into the colledge of widowes.

11 Another reason because they are for the most part prattlers and busie bodies, and gadders vp and downe, neglecting their charge and duetie. 12 The fifth rule: Let yonger widowes marrie and gouerne their houses godly. 13 The sixt rule: Let the faithfull helpe their widowes at their owne charges as much as they can, & let not the Congregation be burdened with these expenses. 14 Now he giueth rules, and sheweth how he ought to behaue himselfe with the Elders, that is to say, with the Pastors and such as haue the gouernance in the discipline of the Church, which is president of their company. The first rule: Let the Church or Congregation see vnto this especially, as God himselfe hath commanded, that the Elders that doe their duetie wel, be honestly maintained. e We must be more carefull for them, then for the rest. f There were two kindes of Elders, the one attended vpon the gouernment onely, and looked to the maners of the Congregation, the other did beside that, attend vpon preaching and prayers, to and for the Congregation. * Deuteronomie 25.4. 1.cor.9.9. * Matth.10.10. luke 10.7. 15 The second rule. Let no accusation bee admitted against an Elder, but vnder two or three witnesses.

16 The third rule. Let the Elders so conuicted be rebuked openly, that they may be an example to other. * Chap.5.13.

17 The fourth rule. Let sincerite be vsed without any preiudice or respect of persons in Ecclesiastical proceedings (especially against the Elders) because God himself is there present, & the Lord Iesus Christ with a multitude of Angels.

18 The fift rule. Let the Minister lay hands suddenly on no man. Let him not be faultie herein, either by fauouring any mans folly, or peruerse affection: If ought be done otherwise then well of his followes, let him keepe his conscience pure. g As much as in thee lieth, do not rashly admit any whatsoeuer, to any Ecclesiastical function. 19 The sixt rule. Let the Elders haue indifferent consideration of their health, in the maner of their diet. 20 Because hypocrites sometimes creepe into the ministerie, although there be neuer so great diligence vsed, the Apostle willeth the Pastours not to be troubled therefore, or slake any whit of their diligence in trying and examining, because the Lord hath appointed a time to discouer the faults of such men. and it is our parts to take heed that we offend not therein. 21 Another comfort belonging to them, which sometimes are slandered and misreported of.

CHAP. VI.

1 He sheweth the duetie of seruants: 10 and what a mischieuous euill couetousnesse is: 13 and hauing spoken somewhat of rich men, hee once againe forbiddeth Timothie 20 to cumber himselfe with vaine babblings.

LEt [1]as many seruaunts as are vnder the yoke, count their masters woorthie of all honour, [2]that the Name of God, & his doctrine be not euil spoken of.

2 [3]And they which haue beleeuing masters, let them not despise them, because they are brethren, but rather doe seruice, because they are faithfull, and beloued, and [a] partakers of the benefite. [4]These things teach and exhort.

3 [5]If any man teach otherwise, and consenteth not to the wholesome wordes of our Lord Iesus Christ, and to the doctrine, which is according to godlinesse,

1 He addeth also rules for the seruants dutie towards their masters: whereupon no doubt there were many questions then mooued by them, which tooke occasion by the Gospel to trouble the common state. And this is the first rule: Let seruants that are come to the faith, and haue infidels to their masters, serue them notwithstanding with great fidelitie. 2 The reason: least God should seeme by the doctrine of the Gospel to stirre vp men to rebellion and all wickednesse. 3 The second rule: Let not seruaunts that are come to the faith, and haue also masters of the same profession and religion, abuse the name of brotherhood, but let them so much the rather obey them. a Let this be sufficient, that as touching those things which pertaine to euerlasting life, they are partakers of the same good will and loue of God, as their masters themselues are. 4 A generall conclusion, that these things ought not onely to be simply taught, but must with exhortations bee diligently beaten into their heads. 5 Hee condemneth seuerely, and excommunicateth or casteth out of the Church as proud men, such as content not themselues with Christes doctrine, (that is to say, the doctrine of godlines) but weary both themselues and others, in vaine questions, (for all other things are vaine) because they content not themselues in Christes doctrine: and as lying deceiuers, because they sauour or sound of nothing but vanitie: as mad men, because they trouble themselues so much in matters of nothing: as mischieuous plagues, for that they cause great contentions, and corrupt mens minds and iudgement: to be short, as prophane and wicked, because they abuse the precious name of godlinesse and religion, to filthie lucre.

4 He is puft vp and knoweth nothing, but doteth about questions and [b] strife of wordes, whereof commeth enuie, strife, railings, euill surmisings, b Striuings about words, and not about matter: and by words he meaneth al those things which haue no pith in them, & whereby we can reape no profite.

5 Froward [c] disputations of men of corrupt mindes, and destitute of the trueth, which thinke that gaine is godlinesse: from such separate thy selfe.

c Such as we see in those shamelesse schooles of Poperie, which are nothing els but vaine babling and prating.

6 [d] But godlines is great gaine, if a man be content with that he hath.

d He turneth away fitly, the name of gaine and here, confessing that godlines is great gaine, but farre after another sort, to wit, because it bringeth true sufficiencie.

7 [7] For wee brought nothing into the world, and it is certaine that we can carry nothing out.

8 Therefore when we haue food and raiment, let vs therewith be content.

9 [8] For they that wil be rich, fall into tentation and snares, and into many foolish & noisome lustes, which drowne men in perdition and destruction.

10 For the desire of money is the roote of all euill, which while some lusted after, they erred from the faith, and [d] pierced themselues through with many sorrowes.

11 [9] But thou, O [e] man of God, flee these things, and follow after righteousnesse, godlines, faith, loue, patience, & meekenesse.

12 Fight the good fight of faith: lay hold of eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses.

13 *[10] I charge thee in the sight of God, who quickeneth all things, and before Iesus Christ, which vnder Pontius Pilate * witnessed a good confession, d Sorow and griefe doe as it were pierce through the minde of man, and are the harueft and true fruites of couetousnesse. 9 A peculiar exhortation to diuers vertues, wherewith it behoueth the Pastors especially to be furnished. e Whom the Spirit of God ruleth. *Chap. 5. 21. 10 A most earnest request and charge, to obserue and keepe all the premisses faithfully, with our eyes set vpon the comming of Iesus Christ, whose glory wee haue to set against the vaine glittering of this world, and his power, against all the terrors of the wicked. *Matth. 27. 11. Iohn 18. 37.

14 That thou keepe this commandement without spot, and vnrebukeable, vntill the appearing of our Lord Iesus Christ, 15 Which in due time he shal shew, that is f*blessed and Prince only, the King of Kings, and Lord of Lordes, 16 Who onely hath immortalitie, and dwelleth in the light that none can attaine vnto, * whom neuer man sawe, neither can see, vnto whom be honour and power euerlasting, Amen.

17 [11] Charge them that are rich in [g] this world, that they be not high minded, and that they *trust not in vncertaine riches, but in the [h] liuing God, (which giueth vs aboundantly, all things to enioy,)

18 That they doe good, & be rich in good workes, and be ready to distribute, and communicate, 19 *[12] Laying vp in store for themselues a good foundation against the time to come, that they may obteine eternall life.

20 [13] O Timotheus, keepe that which is committed vnto thee, and auoid prophane and vaine babblings, and oppositions of science falsly so called,

21 Which while some [i] professe, they haue erred concerning the faith. Grace be with thee, Amen.

f He heapeth many words together, to one purpose: whereby he voucheth the power of God, which if we stick fast vnto, we shal not be mooued out of our standings. *Chap. 1. 11. reuel. 17. 14. and 19. 16. *Iohn 1. 18.

11 He adderh for an ouerplus as it were a sharpe admonition to the rich, that they chiefly take heed of two mischiefs, to wit, of pride, and deceitfull hope, against which he setteth three excellent vertues, hope in the liuing God, liberalitie towards their neighbour, and gentle conditions.

g In things pertaining to this life, with whom those men are compared, which are rich in good workes. *Mar. 4. 19. luke 12. 15.

h Who onely is, and that euerlasting: for he setteth the fraile nature of riches against God. *Matth. 6. 3. 12 The praise of liberalitie, by the effects thereof: because it is a sure testimonie of the Spirit of God which dwelleth in vs, and therefore of the saluation that shall be giuen vs. 13 He rehearseth the chiefest of all the former exhortations, which ought to be deeply imprinted in the minds of all Ministers of the word, to wit, that they eschew all vaine babblings of Sophistrie, and continue in the simplicitie of sincere doctrine. i Not onely in word, but also in countenance & gesture: to be short, whiles their behauiour was such that euen when they held their peace, they would make men beleeue, their heads were occupied about nothing but high and weightie matters, euen then they erred concerning the faith.

¶ The first Epistle to Timotheus, written from Laodicea, which is the chiefest citie of Phrygia Pacatiana.

The second Epistle of Paul, to Timotheus.

CHAP. [a] I.

1 He commendeth Timothies faith, 6 and exhorteth him to goe on faithfully in the charge committed vnto him: 8 And that neither for his bonds, 15 nor the reuolting of others, he faint. 11 He triumpheth of his Apostleship. 14 He willeth him to haue care of the thing committed vnto him, 16 and praiseth Onesiphorus.

PAUL an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the will of God, [a] according to the promise of life which is in Christ Iesus, a Sent of God to preach that life, which he promised in Christ Iesus.

2 To Timotheus my beloued sonne: Grace, mercy & peace frō God the Father, and from Iesus Christ our Lord.

3 [1] I thanke God, * whom I serue from mine elders with pure conscience, that without ceasing I haue remembraunce of thee in my prayers night and day,

4 Desiring to see thee, mindefull of thy teares, that I may be filled with ioy:

5 When I call to remembrance the vnfained faith that is in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and in thy mother Eunice, and am assured that it dwelleth in thee also.

1 The chiefest marke that he shooteth at in this Epistle, is to confirme Timothie to continue constantly and manfully euen to the end, setting first before him the great good will he beareth him, & then reckoning vp the excellent gifts which God would as it were haue to be by inheritance in Timothie, & his ancestors, which might so much the more make him bound to God. *Acts 22. 3. b From Abraham, Isaac and Iacob: for he speaketh not of Pharisaisme, but of Christianisme.

6 [2] Where-

6 [2] Wherefore, I put thee in remembrance that thou [c] stirre vp the gift of GOD which is in thee, by the putting on of mine hands.

7 For God hath not giuen to vs the Spirit of [d] feare, but of power, and of loue, and of a sound mind.

8 [3] Be not therefore ashamed of the testimonie of our Lord, neither of me [e] his prisoner: but bee partaker of the afflictions of the [f] Gospell, according to the [g] power of God,

9 [4] Who hath saued vs, & called vs with an *holy calling, not according to our *works, but according to his owne purpose and grace, which was [h] giuen to vs through Christ Iesus [i] before the *world was.

10 But is now made manifest by that appearing of our Sauiour Iesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortalitie vnto [k] light through the Gospell.

11 * [5] Whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and Apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles.

12 [6] For the which cause I also suffer these things, [7] but I am not ashamed: for I know whom I haue beleeued, and I am perswaded that he is able to keep that which I haue committed to him against that day.

13 [8] Keepe the true paterne of the wholesome wordes, which thou hast heard of me in faith and loue which is in Christ Iesus.

14 [9] That woorthie thing, which was committed to thee, keepe [10] through the holy Ghost, which dwelleth in vs.

15 [11] This thou knowest, that al they which are in Asia, be turned from me: of which sort are Phygellus and Hermogenes.

16 The Lorde giue mercie vnto the house of Onesiphorus: for he oft refreshed me, and was not ashamed of my chaine, 17 But when he was at Rome, he sought me out very diligently, and found me.

18 The Lord grant vnto him, that he may find mercy with the Lord at that day, & in how many things hee hath ministred vnto me at Ephesus, thou knowest very well.

CHAP. II.

2 The better to set out perseuerance in the Christian warfare, 3 hee taketh similitudes 4 from souldiours, 6 and from husbandmen. 10 He sheweth that his bondes are for the profit of the Saints: 15 Then hee warneth Timothie to diuide the worde of truth aright, 17 to beware of the examples of the wicked, 22 and to do all things modestly.

THou [1] therefore my sonne, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Iesus.

2 And what things thou hast heard of me, by [a] many witnesses, the same deliuer to faithful men, which shall be able to teach other also.

3 [2] Thou therefore suffer affliction as a good souldier of Iesus Christ.

4 No man that warreth, entangleth himselfe with the affaires of [b] this life, because hee would please him that hath chosen him to be a souldier.

5 [3] And if any man also striue for a Maistrie, hee is not crowned, except he striue as he ought to doe.

6 [4] The husbandman must labour before he receiue the fruits.

7 [5] Consider what I say: and the Lorde giue thee vnderstanding in all things:

8 [6] Remember that Iesus Christ, made of the seed of Dauid, was raised againe from the dead according to my Gospel, 9 [7] Wherein I suffer trouble as an euil doer, euen vnto bondes: but the word of God is not bound.

10 Therefore I suffer all things, for the elects sake, that they might also obtaine the saluation which is in Christ Iesus, with eternall glory.

11 [8] It is a true saying, For if we be *dead together with him, we also shall liue together with him.

1 The conclusion of the former exhortatiō which hath also added vnto it a declaration, how that they doe not keepe that worthy thing that is committed vnto them which keepe it to themselues, but they rather which be most freely communicate it with other, to the end that many may be partakers of it, without any mans losse or hinderance.

a When many were by, which can beare witnes of these things.

2 Another admonition: That the ministerie of the word is a spirituall warfare, which no man can so trauell in, that he may please his captaine, vnlesse he forgoe and part with all hinderances which might draw him away from it.

b With affaires of houshold, or other things that belong to other ordinarie businesses.

3 The third admonition: The ministerie is like to a game or iusting, wherein men striue for the victorie, and no man is crowned, vnlesse he striue according to the lawes which are prescribed. bee they neuer so hard and painfull. 4 Another similitude tending to the same ende, no man may looke for the haruest, vnlesse he first take paines to plowe and sowe his ground. 5 All these things cannot be vnderstood, and much lesse practised, vnlesse we aske of God and he giue vs vnderstanding. 6 He confirmeth plainly two principles of our faith, which are alwayes assaulted of heretikes, the one whereof (to wit, that Christ is the true Messias, made man of the seed of Dauid) is the ground of our saluation: and the other is the highest part of it, to wit, that he is risen again from the dead. 7 The taking away of an obiection: Trueth it is, that he is kept in prison as an euil doer, yet there is no cause, why therefore some should go about to derogate credite from his Gospell, seeing that notwithstanding God did blesse his ministerie, nay rather, that example of this his captiuitie and patience, did sundry wayes confirme the Church in the hope of a better life. 8 The fourth admonition: we ought not to contend vpon words and questions, which are not only vnprofitable, but also for the most part hurtfull: but rather vpon this, how we may frame our selues to all maner of patience, and to die also with Christ (that is to say, for Christs name) because that is the plaine way to the most glorious life: as contrarywise the falling away of men can diminish no part of the trueth of God, although by such meanes they procure most certaine destruction to themselues. *Rom. 6.5. c If we be afflicted with Christ, and for Christes sake.

2 He warneth vs to set the inuincible power of the Spirit, which God hath giuen vs, against those stormes which may and doe come vpon vs.

c The gift of God as it were a certaine liuely flame kindled in our hearts, which the flesh and the deuil goe about to put out: and therefore we on the contrary side must labour as much as we can to foster & keepe it burning.

d To pierce vs thorow, and terrifie vs, as men whom the Lord will destroy.

3 He prooueth that the ignominie or shame of the crosse is not onely not to be ashamed of, but also that it is glorious & most honourable: first, because the Gospel wherefore the godly are afflicted, is the testimonie of Christ: and secondly, because at length the great vertue and power of God appeareth in them.

e For his sake.

f The Gospel after a sort is sayd to be afflicted in them that preach it.

g Through the power of God.

*4 He sheweth with how great benefites God hath bound vs to maintaine holily and constantly his glorie which is ioined with our saluation. and reckoneth vp the causes of our saluation, to wit, that free and eternal purpose of God to saue vs in Christ which was to come, whereby it should come to passe, that we should at length be freely called of God by the preaching of the Gospel, to Christ the destroier of death and author of immortalitie. *1. Cor. 1, 2. *Titus 3. 5. h Hee saieth that that grace was giuen vs from euerlasting, vnto which we were predestinate from euerlasting. So that the doctrine of foreseene faith and foreseene workes, is cleane contrary to the doctrine which preacheth and teacheth the grace of God. i Before that course of yeares, which hath runne on euer since the beginning of the world. *Rom. 16. 25. ephes. 1. 4. colos. 1. 26. tirus. 1, 2. k Hath caused life and immortalitie to appeare. 1. Tim. 2. 7. 5 That is, the Gospel which the Apostle preached. 6 He confirmeth his Apostleship by a strange argument, to wit, because the world could not abide it, and therefore it persecuted him that preached it. 7 By setting his owne example before vs, he sheweth vs how it may be, that we shall not bee ashamed of the crosse of Christ, to wit, if we be sure that God both can and will keepe the saluation which hee hath as it were laied vp in store by himselfe for vs against that day. 8 Hee sheweth wherein he ought to bee most constant, to wit, both in the doctrine it selfe, the abridgement whereof is faith and charitie, and next in the manner of teaching it, a liuely paterne and shape whereof Timothie knew in the Apostle. 9 An amplification, taken of the dignitie of so great a benefit committed to the ministers. 10 The taking away of an obiection. It is an hard thing to do it, but the Spirit of God is mightie, who hath inwardly indued vs with his vertue. 11 Hee preuenteth an offence which arose by the meanes of certaine that fell from God and the religion, and withall sheweth their names that they might be knowen of all men. But hee setteth against them the singular faith of one man, that one onely good example might counterpoise and weigh downe all euill examples.

12 If we suffer, we shall also reigne together with him: * if we denie him, he also will denie vs.

13 If * wee beleeue not, yet abideth hee faithfull he cannot denie himselfe.

14 Of these things put them in remembrance, and [d] protest before the Lord, that they striue not about wordes, which is to no profit, but to the perverting of the hearers.

15 [g] Studie to shewe thy selfe approoued vnto God, a workeman that needeth not to be ashamed, diuiding the worde of trueth [e] aright.

16 [f] Stay prophane and vaine bablings: [10] for they shall encrease vnto more vngodlinesse.

17 And their worde shall fret as a canker: of which sort is Hymeneus and Philetus, 18 Which as concerning the trueth haue erred from the marke, saying that the resurrection is past already, and doe destroy the faith of certaine.

19 [11] But the foundation of God remaineth sure, & hath this seale. The Lord knoweth who are his: and, Let euery one that [g] calleth on the Name of Christ, depart from iniquitie.

20 [12] Notwithstanding in a great house are not onely vessels of gold and of siluer, but also of wood and of earth, * and some for honour, and some vnto dishonour.

21 If any man therefore [h] purge himselfe from these, he shalbe a vessell vnto honour, sanctified, and meete for the Lord, and prepared vnto euery good worke.

22 [13] Flee from the lustes of youth, and followe after righteousnesse, faith, loue, and [14] peace, with them that * call on the Lorde with pure heart.

23 * And put away foolish and vnlearned questions, knowing that they ingender strife.

24 But the seruant of the Lorde must not striue, but must be gentle toward all men, apt to teach, [i] suffering the euill.

25 Instructing them with meekenes that are [k] contrary minded, prouing if God at any time will giue them repentance, that they may acknowledge the trueth, 26 And come to amendement out of that snare of the deuill, of whom they are taken prisoners, to doe his wil.

CHAP. III.

1 He foretelleth the dangerous times that are to insue. 9 but with the certaine hope of victorie, 10 he encourageth him to the combat, setting out especially the tryall of sound doctrine.

THis [1] knowe also, that in the [x] last dayes shall come perilous times.

2 For men shall be louers of their owne selues, and couetous, boasters, proude, cursed speakers, disobedient to parents, vnthankfull, [2] vnholy,

3 Without naturall affection, truce breakers, false accusers, intemperate, fierce, no louers at all of them which are good,

4 Traitours, headie, high minded, louers of pleasures more then louers of God,

5 Hauing a shewe of godlinesse, but haue denied the power thereof: [3] turne away therefore from such.

6 For of this sort are they which creepe into houses, and leade captiue simple women laden with sinnes, and led with diuers lustes.

7 Which women are euer learning, and are neuer able to come to the acknowledging of the trueth.

8 * And as Iannes and Iambres withstood Moses, so doe these also resist the trueth, men of corrupt mindes, reprobate concerning the faith.

9 [3] But they shall preuaile no longer: for their madnesse shall be euident vnto all men, as theirs also was.

10 ¶ [4] But thou hast [b] fully knowen my doctrine, maner of liuing, purpose, faith, long suffering, loue, patience,

11 Persecutions, and afflictions which came vnto me at [c] Antiochia, at Iconium, and at Lystri, which persecutions I suffered: but from them all the Lord deliuered me, 12 Yea, and all that will liue godly in Christ Iesus, shall suffer persecution.

13 But the euill men and deceiuers shall ware [d] worse and worse, deceiuing, and being deceiued, 14 But continue thou in the things which thou hast learned, and which are committed vnto thee, knowing of whom thou hast learned them.

15 And that thou hast knowen the holy Scriptures of a child, which are able to make thee wise vnto saluation, through the faith which is in Christ Iesus.

*Mat. 10.33. mar. 8.38. *Rom. 3.3. and 9.6.

d Called God to witnes, or as a iudge: as Moses, Ioshua, Samuel, and Paul himselfe did, actes 20.

9 The first admonition: A minister must not be an idle disputer, but a faithfull steward in deuiding aright the word of trueth, in so much that hee must stop the mouthes of other vaine babblers.

e By adding nothing to it, neither ouerslipping any thing, neither mangling it, nor renting it in sunder, nor wresting of it: but marking diligently what his hearers are able to beare, and what is fit to edifying.

f Marke and watch and see they creepe not on further.

10 He discouereth the subtilte of Satan, who beginning with these principles, draweth vs by litle and litle to vngodlinesse through the meanes of that wicked and prophane babbling, still creeping on: which hee prooueth by the horrible example of them that taught, that the resurrection was already past.

11 A digression, wherein he saluteth that offence that rose by their falling away: shewing first, that the elect are out of all danger of any such falling away: secondly, that they are knowen to God, and not to vs: and therfore it is no maruaile if we count hypocrites oftentimes for true brethren: but we must take heede that we be not like them, but rather that we be in deede, such as we are said to be.

g That serueth and worshippeth him, and is as it were named of him, a faithfull man or Christian.

12 The taking away of an obiection: it is no dishonour to the good man of the house, that he hath not in a great house al vessels of one sort and for one seruice, but wee must looke to this, that wee be founde vessels prepared to honour. *Romanes 9.21.

h By these wordes is meant the execution of the matter, and not the cause: for in that we purge our selues, it is not to be attributed to any free will that is in vs, but to God, who freely and wholy worketh in vs, a good and an effectuall will.

13 Returning to the matter from whence he digressed verse 16. hee warneth him to exercise himselfe in waighty matters, and such as pertaine to godlinesse.

14 The first admonition: We must aboue all things eschewe al bitternesse of mind both in teaching all men, and also in calling them backe which haue gone out of the way. *1.Cor.1.2. *1.Tim. 1.4. and 4.7. titus 3.9.

i To winne them through our patient bearing with them. but not to please them or excuse them in their wickednesse.

k He meaneth such as doe not yet see the trueth,

1 The seuenth admonition: we may not hope for a Church in the world without corruption: but there shall be rather great abundance of most wicked men euen in the very bosome of the Church, which notwithstanding shal make a shew & countenance of great holinesse and charitie. *1.Tim.4.1. 2.peter 3.3. iode 18.

2 Which make no account, either of right or honestie.

3 We must not dally with such men as resist the trueth not of simple ignorance, but of a peruerse minde, (which thing appeareth by their fruites which he painteth out here liuely) but we must rather turne away from them. *Exod.7.11.

3 He addeth a comfort: The Lord will at length plucke off all their visars.

4 That we be not deceiued by such hypocrites, we must set before vs the vertues of the holy seruants of God, and we must not be afraide of persecution which they suffered willingly, & which alwayes followeth true godlinesse. But we must especially hold fast the doctrine of the Apostles, the summe whereof is this, that we are saued through faith in Christ Iesus.

b Thou knowest throughly not onely what I taught and did, but also howe I was minded and disposed. c Which is in Pisidia. d Their wickednesse shall dayly encrease.

*1.Pet.1.20.

16 *5 For the whole Scripture is giuen by inspiration of God, & is profitable to teach, to conuince, to correct, and to instruct in righteousnesse,

5 The eight admonition which is most precious: A Pastour must be wise by the worde of God onely: wherein we haue perfectly deliuered vnto vs, whatsoeuer perteineth either to discerne, knowe and establish true opinions, and to confute false: and furthermore, to correct euill maners, and to frame good.

17 That the c man of God may be absolute, being made perfect vnto al good workes.

c The Prophets and expounders of Gods will, are properly and peculiarly called, Men of God.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He chargeth him to preach the Gospel with al diligence, 3 in that so miserable a time: 6 That his death is hard at hand, 8 yet so, that as a conquerour, he maketh haste to a glorious triumph. 10 He sheweth the cause why he sendeth for Timothie, 11 euen by reason of his present state.

1 The principal & chiefe of al admonitions, being therefore proposed with a most earnest charge, is this: that the worde of God be propounded with a certaine holy importunitie, as necessitie requireth: but so, that a good and true ground of the doctrine be laid, and the vehemencie be tempered with all holy meekenesse.

I 1 Charge thee therefore before God, and before the Lord Iesus Christ, which shall iudge the quicke and dead at that his appearing, and in his kingdome,

2 Preach the word: be instant, in season and out of season: improue, rebuke, exhort with all long suffering and doctrine.

3 2 For the time will come, when they will not suffer wholesome doctrine: but hauing their eares itching, shall after their owne lustes, get them an heape of teachers,

4 And shall turne their eares from the truth, and shalbe giuen vnto a fables.

2 Faithful Pastours in times past tooke all occasiõs they could, because men were very prõpt and ready to returne to their fables.

a To false & vnprofitable doctrines which the world is now so bewitched withall, that it had rather ỹ open light of the trueth were vtterly put out, then it would come out of darknes.

5 3 But watch thou in all things: suffer aduersitie: doe the worke of an Euangelist: b cause thy ministerie to be throughly liked of.

6 4 For I am nowe readie to be c offered, and the time of my departing is at hand.

7 I haue fought a good fight, and haue finished my course: I haue kept the faith.

8 For hence forth is laide vp for me the crowne of righteousnesse, which the Lord the righteous iudge shall giue me at that day: and not to me onely, but vnto al them also that loue that his appearing.

3 The wickednes and falling away of the world ought to cause faithfull ministers to be so much the more carefull. b Proue and shewe by good and substantiall proofe, that thou art the true minister of God. 4 He foretelleth his death to be at hand, and setteth before them an excellent example, both of inuincible constancie, and sure hope. c To be offered for a drinke offering: and he alludeth to the powring out of blood or wine which was vsed in sacrifices.

9 5 Make speede to come vnto me at once:

10 For Demas hath forsaken me, & hath d embraced this present world, and is departed vnto Thessalonica. Crescens is gone to Galatia, Titus vnto Dalmatia.

5 The last part of the epistle, setting forth grieuous complaints against certaine, and examples of singular godlinesse in euery place, and of a mind neuer wearied.

d Contented himselfe with this world. *Col.4.10,14.

11 *Onely Luke is with me. Take Mark and bring him with thee: for he is profitable vnto me to minister.

12 And Tychicus haue I sent to Ephesus.

13 The cloke that I left at Troas with Carpus, when thou comest bring with thee, and the bookes, but specially the parchments.

14 Alexander the coppersmith hath done me much euil: the Lord reward him according to his workes.

15 Of whom be thou ware also: for hee withstood our preaching sore.

16 At my first answering no man assisted me, but all forsooke me: I pray God, that it may not be laid to their charge.

17 Notwithstanding the Lord assisted me, and strengthened me, that by me the preaching might be fully beleeued, and that all the Gentiles should heare: and I was deliuered out of the mouth of the e lion.

e Of Nero.

18 And the Lord will deliuer me from euery f euill worke, and will preserue me vnto his g heauenly kingdom: to whom be prayse for euer and euer, Amen.

f Preserue me pure from committing any thing vnworthy my Apostleship. g To make me partaker of his kingdome.

19 Salute Priscа and Aquila, and the *householde of Onesiphorus.

20 Erastus abode at Corinthus: Trophimus I left at Miletum sicke.

21 Make speede to come before winter. Eubulus greeteth thee, and Pudens, and Linus, and Claudia, and all the brethren.

22 The Lorde Iesus Christ be with thy spirite: Grace be with you. Amen.

¶ The second Epistle written frõ Rome vnto Timotheus, ỹ first bishop elected of ỹ church of Ephesus, when Paul was presented the second time before the Emperour Nero.

THE EPISTLE OF PAVL TO TITVS.

CHAP. I.

6 He sheweth what kind of men ought to be chosen ministers: 10 how vaine babblers mouthes should be stopped: 12 And through this occasion he toucheth the nature of the Cretians, 14 and the Iewes who put holines in outward things.

1 He boasteth his Apostleship, (not for Titus, but for ỹ Cretenses sake) both by the testimonie of his outward calling, and by his consent wherein he agreeth with all the elect from the beginning of the world.

PAul 1 a seruant of God, and an Apostle of Iesus Christ, according to the faith of Gods b elect, 2 and the acknowledging of the trueth, which is according vnto godlinesse, a A minister, as Christ himselfe in that that he was a Minister and head of the Prophets, is called a seruant, Esa.43.10. b Of those whom God hath chosen. 2 The faith wherein all the elect consent, is the true and sincere knowledge of God, tending to this ende, that worshipping God aright, they may at length obteine life euerlasting according to ỹ promise of God, who is true, which promise was exhibited in Christ in due time according to his eternall purpose.

2 Unto the c hope of eternall life, which God that cannot lie, hath d promised before the *c world began:

c Hope is the ende of faith. d Freely and of his meere liberalitie. *Rom.16,25. ephes.3.9. colos.1.26. 2.tim.1.9. 1.pet.1.20. e Looke 2.Tim. 1.9.

3 3 But hath made his word manifest in due time through the preaching, which is committed vnto me, according to the *commaundement of God our f Sauiour.

3 This trueth is no other where to be sought, but in the preaching of the Apostles. * Galatians 1.1. f This worde (Sauiour) doeth not onely signifie a preserver of life, but also a giuer of life. 4 The Apostle moueth the Cretenses to beare Titus, by setting forth his consent and agreement with them in the faith, and therewithall sheweth by what speciall note wee may distinguish true ministers from false.

4 4 To Titus my naturall sonne according to the common faith, [5]Grace, mercy, and peace from God the Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ our Sauiour.

5 [6]For this cause left I thee in Creta, that thou shouldest continue to redresse the things that remaine, and shouldest ordeine Elders in euery citie, as I appointed thee,

6 * If any bee vnreprooueable, the husband of one wife, hauing faithfull children, which are not slandered of riot, neither are soil obedient.

7 [7]For a Bishop must bee vnreprooueable, as Gods [h]steward, not [i]froward, not angrie, nor giuen to wine, no striker, not giuen to filthy lucre,

8 But harberous, one that loueth goodnesse, [k]wise, [l]righteous, holy, temperate,

9 [8]Holding fast that faithfull word according to doctrine, [m]that he also may be able to exhort, with wholesome doctrine, and conuince them that say against it.

10 [10]For there are many disobedient and vaine talkers and deceiuers of mindes, chiefly they of the [l]Circumcision, 11 Whose mouthes must be stopped, which subuert whole houses, teaching things, which they ought not, for filthy lucres sake.

12 [m]One of themselues, euen one of their own prophets said, The Cretians are alwaies liars, euill beastes, slow bellies.

13 This witnesse is true: wherefore conuince them [n]sharply, that they may be sound in the faith,

14 And not taking heed to * Iewish fables and commandements of men, that turne away from the trueth.

15 [11]Vnto the pure *are all things pure, but vnto them that are defiled, and vnbeleeuing is nothing pure, but euen their [o]mindes and consciences are defiled, 16 They professe that they knowe God, but by workes they denie him, and are abominable and disobedient, and vnto euerie good worke reprobate.

5 There is but one way of saluation, common both to the Pastors, and the flocke.
6 The first admonition to ordeine Elders in euery citie.
* 1. Tim. 3 2.
g This word is proper to horses and oxen, which will not abide the yoke.
7 The second admonition what faults Pastours (whom he comprehended afore vnder the worde Elders) ought to be voyde of, and what vertues they ought to haue.
h Whome the Lord hath appointed steward of his gifts.
i Not hard conditioned and euil to please.
k Circumspect, of a sound iudgement, and of a singular example of moderation.
l The third admonition: The Pastour must hold fast that doctrine, which the Apostles deliuered, and perteineth to saluation, leauing all curious and vaine matters.
9 The fourth admonition: To apply the knowledge of true doctrine vnto vse which consisteth in two things, to wit, in gouerning them which shewe themselues apt to learne, and confuting the obstinate.
10 An applying of the generall proposition to a particular: The Cretenses aboue all other need sharpe reprehensions: both because their minds are naturally giuen to lyes and slouthfulnes, and because of certaine couetous Iewes, which vnder a colour of godlinesse, ioyned partly certaine vaine traditions, and partly olde ceremonies with the Gospel. l Of the Iewes, or rather of those Iewes which went about to ioyne Christ and the Law together. m Epimenides, who was counted a Prophet amongst them, Looke vpon Laertius, and Cicero in his first booke of diuination. n Roughly and plainly and go not about the bush with them. *2. Tim. 1.4. 11 He sheweth in few wordes, that puritie consisteth not in any externall worthip, and that, that is according to the old Law (as in differences of meats, and washings, and other such things which are abolished) but in the minde and conscience: and whosoeuer teach otherwise, know not what is true religion in deede, and also are nothing lesse then that they would seeme to be. * Rom. 14. 20. o If our mindes and consciences be vncleane, what cleannesse is there in vs before regeneration?

CHAP. II.

2 He setteth out the dueties of sundry persons and states, 6 and willeth him to instruct the Church in maners. 11 He draweth an argument from the ende of our redemption, 12 which is, that we liue godly and vprightly.

BVt [1]speake thou the things which become wholesome doctrine,

2 [2]That the elder men be watchful, graue, temperate, sound in the faith, in loue, and in patience.

3 The elder women likewise, that they be in such behauiour as becommeth holinesse, not false accusers, not subiect to much wine, but teachers of honest things,

4 That they may instruct the yong women to bee sober minded, that they loue their husbands, that they loue their children,

5 That they bee temperate, chaste, [a]keeping at home, good and * subiect vnto their husbands, that the worde of God bee not euill spoken of.

6 Exhorting yong men likewise, that they be sober minded.

7 [3]In all things shewe thy selfe an example of good workes with vncorrupt doctrine, with [b]grauitie, integritie,

8 And with the wholesome worde, which cannot be condemned, that he which withstandeth, may be ashamed, hauing nothing concerning you to speake euill of.

9 *[4]Let seruants be subiect to their masters, and please them in all [c]things, not answering againe,

10 Neither pickers, but that they shew all good faithfulnes, that they may adorne the doctrine of God our Sauiour in all things.

11 *[5]For that grace of God, that bringeth saluation vnto all men, hath appeared,

12 And teacheth vs that wee should denie vngodlinesse and [d]worldly lusts, and that we should liue soberly and righteously, and godly in this present world,

13 [e]Looking for that blessed hope, and appearing of that glory of that mighty God, and of our Sauiour Iesus Christ, 14 Who gaue himselfe for vs, that hee might redeeme vs from al iniquitie, and purge vs to be a [f]peculiar people vnto himselfe, zealous of good workes.

15 These things speake, and exhort, and conuince with als authoritie. See that no man despise thee.

1 The first admonition: The doctrine must not onely be generally pure, but also be applied to all ages and orders of men, according to the diuersitie of circumstances.
2 What are the chiefest vertues for olde and yong both men and women: and how they ought to be stirred vp vnto them continually.
a No gadders vp and downe.
* Ephes. 5. 23.
3 The fifth admonition: That both the Pastours life and doctrine must be sound.
b Not such a grauitie as may driue men from comming to the minister, but such as may cause them to come in most reuerent and honest sort.
* Ephes. 6. 5. col. 3. 22. 1. pet. 2. 18.
4 The seuenth admonition, of seruants dueties toward their masters.
c Which may be done without offence to God.
* 1. Cor. 1. 2. colos. 1. 22.
5 The eight admonition belonging to all the godly, that seeing God calleth all men to the Gospel, and Christ hath so iustified vs, that he hath also sanctified vs, wee must all of vs giue our selues to true godlines, setting before vs a sure hope of that immeasurable glory: which thing must in such sort be beaten into their heads, that the gainsayers also must bee repressed, by the authoritie of the mightie God. d Lusts of the flesh, which belong to the present state of this life and worlde. e Christ is here most plainly called that mightie God, and his appearance and comming is called by the figure Metonymie, our hope. f As it were a thing peculiarly laid vp for himselfe. g With all authoritie possible.

CHAP. III.

1 He willeth that all generally bee put in mind to reuerence such as be in authoritie: 3 That they remember their former life, and attribute all iustification vnto grace. 9 And if any brabler withstand these things, 10 bee willeth that he be reiected.

PVt [1]them in remembrance that they * bee subiect to the Principalities and powers,

1 He declareth particularly and seuerally that which he said before generally, noting out certaine chiefe and principall dueties, which men owe to men, and especially subiects to their magistrates. * Rom. 13. 1. 1. pet. 2. 13.

and that they be obedient, and readie to euery good worke,

2 That they ſpeake euill of no man, that they be no fighters, but ſoft, ſhewing al meeknesse vnto all men.

3 [3] * For wee our ſelues alſo were in times paſt vnwiſe, diſobedient, deceiued, ſeruing the luſts and diuers pleaſures, liuing in malicioufneſſe and enuie, hatefull, and hating one another.

4 But when that bountifulneſſe and that loue of God our Sauiour toward man appeared,

5 * Not by the woorkes of [a] righteouſneſſe, which wee had done, but according to his mercie hee ſaued vs, by the waſhing of the newe birth, and the renewing of the [b] holy Ghoſt,

6 Which hee ſhedde on vs abundantly, through Ieſus Chriſt our Sauiour,

7 That wee, being iuſtified by his grace, ſhould be made heires according to the hope of eternall life.

8 [3] This is a true ſaying, and theſe things I will thou ſhouldeſt affirme, that they which haue beleeued God, might bee carefull to ſhew forth [c] good woorkes. Theſe things are good and profitable vnto men.

9 * But ſtay fooliſh queſtions, and genealogies, and contentions, and brawlings about the Lawe: for they are vnprofitable and vaine.

10 [4] Reiect him that is an heretike, after once or twiſe admonition, 11 Knowing that hee that is ſuch, is peruerted, and ſinneth, being damned of his owne ſelfe.

12 [5] When I ſhal ſend Artemas vnto thee, or Tychicus, be diligent to come to mee vnto Nicopolis: for I haue determined there to winter.

13 Bring Zenas the expounder of the law, and Apollos on their iourney diligently, that they lacke nothing.

14 And let ours alſo learne to ſhew forth good woorks for neceſſary vſes, that they be not vnfruitfull.

15 All that are with me, ſalute thee. Greet them that loue vs in the faith. Grace bee with you all, Amen.

* 1. Tim. 1. 4. and 4. 7. 2. Tim. 2. 23.

4 The miniſters of the word, muſt at once caſt off hereſikes, that is, ſuch as ſtubburnely and ſeditiouſly diſquiet the Church, and will giue no eare to Eccleſiaſticall admonitions.

5 Laſt of all, hee writeth a word or two of priuate matters, and commendeth certaine men.

The Epiſtle of Paul to Philemon.

1 Paul handling a baſe and ſmall matter, yet according to his maner moueth aloft vnto God. 8 Sending againe to Philemon his vagabond and theeuiſh ſeruant, hee entreateth pardon for him and verie gravely preacheth of Chriſtian equitie.

PAul a priſoner of Ieſus Chriſt, and our brother Timotheus, vnto Philemon our deare friend, and fellow helper.

2 And to our deare ſiſter Apphia, [e] to Archippus our fellowe ſouldier, and to the Church that is in thine houſe:

3 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

4 I * giue thankes to my God, making mention alwayes of thee in my prayers,

5 (When I heare of thy loue and faith, which thou haſt toward the Lorde Ieſus, and toward all Saints)

6 That the [a] fellowſhip of thy faith may be made effectuall, and that whatſoeuer good thing is in you through Chriſt Ieſus, may bee [b] knowen.

7 For wee haue great ioy and conſolation in thy loue, becauſe by thee, brother, the ſaints [c] bowels are comforted.

[c] bowels, as though the heart were refreſhed and comforted.

8 Wherefore, though I bee verie bolde in Chriſt to command thee that which is conuenient, 9 [1] Yet for loues ſake I rather beſeech thee, though I be as I am, euen Paul aged, and euen now a priſoner for Ieſus Chriſt.

10 I beſeech thee for my ſonne * Oneſimus, whom I haue begotten in my bonds.

11 Which in times paſt was to thee vnprofitable, but now profitable both to thee and to mee.

12 Whom I haue ſent againe: thou therefore receiue him, that is mine owne [d] bowels.

13 Whome I would haue reteined with me, that in thy ſteade hee might haue miniſtred vnto me in the bonds of the Goſpel.

14 But without thy mind would I do nothing, that thy benefit ſhould not be as it were of [e] neceſſitie, but willingly.

15 It may be that hee therefore [f] departed for a ſeaſon, that thou ſhouldeſt receiue him for euer.

16 Not now as a ſeruant, but aboue a ſeruant, euen as a brother beloued, ſpecially to me: how much more then vnto thee, both in the [b] fleſh and in the Lord?

17 If therefore thou count our things common, receiue him as thy ſelfe.

19 I Paul haue written this with mine owne hand: I will recompenſe it, albeit I do not ſay to thee, that thou oweſt moreouer vnto me euen thine owne ſelfe.

20 [i] Yea, brother, let me obteine this pleaſure of thee in the Lord: comfort my bowels in the Lord.

i Good brother let me obteine this benefite at thine hand.

21 Truſting in thine obedience, I wrote vnto thee, knowing that thou wilt doe euen more then I ſay.

The Epiſtle to the Hebrewes.

THe drift and ende of this Epiſtle, is to ſhew that Ieſus Chriſt the Sonne of God both God and man is that true eternall and only Prophet, King, & high Prieſt, that was ſhadowed by the figures of the old Law, and is now indeede exhibited: of whom the whole Church ought to be taught, gouerned, and ſanctified.

CHAP. I.

1 To ſhewe that the doctrine which Chriſt brought, is moſt excellent, in that it is the knitting vp of all propheties, 4 he aduanceth him aboue the Angels: 10 And proueth by diuers teſtimonies of the Scripture, that he farre paſſeth all other.

1 The firſt part of the generall propoſition of this Epiſtle: The ſonne of God is in deede that Prophet or teacher, which hath actually bene perfourmed that that God after a ſort and in ſhadowes ſignified by his prophets, and hath fully opened his Fathers will to the world.

[1] AT [a] ſundrie times and in diuers maners God ſpake in the olde time to our fathers by the Prophets: in theſe [a] laſt dayes hee hath ſpoken vnto vs by his [b] Sonne, a So that the former declaration made by the Prophets was not full, and nothing muſt be added to this later.

b Which one Sonne is God and man.

2 [2] Whome hee hath made [c] heire of all things by whom alſo he made the [d] worlds.

3 * Who being the [c] brightnes of the glorie, and the ingraued forme of his [f] perſon, and [g] bearing vp all things by his mighty worde, [3] hath by himſelfe purged our ſinnes, and [h] ſitteth at the right hande of the maieſtie in the higheſt places.

4 [4] And is made ſo much more excellent then the Angels, in as much as he hath obteyned a more excellent [i] Name then they.

5 [5] For vnto which of the Angels ſaide he at any time, * Thou art my Sonne, [k] this day begate I thee? [6] and againe, I * will bee his Father, and he ſhalbe my Sonne?

6 [7] And [l] againe, when he bringeth in his firſt begotten Sonne into the world, he ſaieth, * And let all the Angels of GOD worſhip him.

7 [8] And of the Angels he ſaieth, * He maketh the ſpirits his [m] meſſengers, and his miniſters a [n] flame of fire.

8 But vnto the Sonne he ſaieth, * O God thy [o] throne is for euer [p] and euer: the ſcepter of thy kingdome is a [q] ſcepter of righteouſneſſe.

9 Thou haſt loued righteouſnes and [r] hated iniquitie. Wherefore God, euen thy God, hath [s] anointed thee with the oyle of gladnes aboue thy [t] felowes.

10 [9] And, * Thou Lord, in the beginning haſt [u] eſtabliſhed the earth, and the heauens are the works of thine hands.

11 They ſhall periſh, but thou doeſt remaine: and they all ſhall waxe olde as doeth a garment.

12 And as a veſture ſhalt thou folde them vp, and they ſhall be changed: but thou art the ſame, and thy yeeres ſhall not faile.

13 [10] Vnto which alſo of the Angels ſayd he at any time, * Sit at my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footeſtoole?

a The ſecond part of the ſame propoſition: The ſame Sonne is appointed of the Father to be our King and Lord, by whom alſo he made all things: and in whom onely he ſetteth forth his glory, yea, and himſelfe alſo to be beholden of vs, who beareth vp and ſuſteineth all things by his will and pleaſure. c Poſſeſſour and equall compartner of all things with the Father. d That is, whatſoeuer hath bene at any time, is, or ſhal be. * Col.1.15. e He in whom that glory and Maieſtie of the Father ſhineth, who is otherwiſe infinite, and cannot be beholden. f His Fathers perſon. g Suſteineth, defendeth, and cheriſheth. 3 The third part of the ſame propoſition: The ſame Sonne executed the office of the his Priеſt in offering vp himſelfe, and is our onely & moſt mightie Mediatour in heauen. h This ſheweth that his ſacrifice is not only moſt acceptable to the Father, but alſo is euerlaſting, & furthermore how farre this hie Prieſt paſſeth all other high Prieſts. 4 Before he commeth to declare the office of Chriſt, he ſetteth forth the excellencie of his perſon, & firſt of all he ſheweth him ſo to be man, that therewithall hee is God alſo. i Dignitie and honour. 5.6.7.8.9.10. 1 Therefor hee inferreth that good heede muſt bee giuen to Chriſtes doctrine: 9 And he ſetteth him out vnto vs euen as our brother in our fleſh, that we may with a good will yeeld vp our ſelues wholy vnto him.

Now as it were pausing with himselfe, and shewing to what ende and purpose all these things were spoken, to wit, to vnderstand by the excellencie of Christ about all creatures, that his doctrine, maiestie, and Priesthood, is most perfect, he vseth an exhortation taken from a comparison.

He maketh himselfe an hearer.

They are saide to let the worde runne out, which holde it not fast when they haue heard it.

The Lawe which appointed punishment for the offenders: and which Paul saieth was giuen by Angels, Gal. 3.19. and Steuen, Acts 7.53.

If the breach and transgression of the worde spoken by Angels was not suffered vnpunished, much lesse shall it be lawfull for vs to neglect the Gospel which the Lord of Angels preached, and was confirmed by the voice of the Apostles, and with so many signes and wonders from heauen, and especially with so great a mighty working of the holy Ghost.

The meaning is the vse of this kingly dignity consisteth herein, that men might not only in Christ recouer y dignity which they haue lost, but also might be throgh him aduanced aboue all things, which dignitie of men Dauid describeth most excellently. *Psal. 8.6.

The answere: This is already fulfilled in Jesus Christ our head, who was for a time for our sakes inferiour to the Angels, being made man: but now is aduanced into most high glory.

VVHerefore [1] wee ought diligently to giue heede to the things which [a] we haue heard, lest at any time we [b] runne out.

2 For if the [c] worde spoken by Angels was stedfast, and euerie transgression, and disobedience receiued a iust recompence of reward,

3 How shall wee escape, if we neglect so great saluation, [2] which at the first began to be preached by the Lord, and afterward was confirmed vnto vs by [d] them that heard him,

4 * God bearing witnesse thereto, both with [e] signes and wonders and with diuers miracles, and gifts of the holy Ghost, according to his owne will?

5 [3] For hee hath not put in subiection vnto the Angels the [f] world to come, whereof we speake.

6 [4] But * one in a certaine place witnessed, saying, What is man, that thou shouldest be mindful of him? or the [h] sonne of man, that thou wouldest consider him?

7 Thou [i] madest him a little inferiour to the Angels: thou crownedst him with [k] glorie and honour, and hast set him aboue the workes of thine hands.

8 * Thou hast put all things in subiection vnder his feete. And in that hee hath put all things in subiection vnder him, hee left nothing that shoulde not bee subiect vnto him. [5] But wee yet see not all things subdued vnto him, 9 [6] But we [l] see Jesus crowned with glorie and honour, * which was made little [m] inferiour to the Angels, [7] through the [n] suffering of death, that by Gods grace hee might [o] taste death for [8] all men.

10 [9] For it became [p] him, for whome are all these things, and by whom are all these things, [10] seeing that hee brought many children vnto glorie, [11] that hee should consecrate the [q] prince of their saluation through afflictions.

11 [12] For he that [r] sanctifieth, & they which are sanctified, are all of [s] one: wherefore hee is not ashamed to call them brethren, 12 [13] Saying, * I will declare thy Name vnto my brethren: in the mids of the Church will I sing prayses to thee.

13 [14] And againe, * I will put my [t] trust in him, And againe, *[u] Beholde, here am I, and the children which God hath giuen me.

14 Forasmuch then as the children are [x] partakers of flesh and blood, hee also himselfe likewise tooke part with them, that hee might destroy * through death, him that had the [y] power of death, that is, the [z] deuill, 15 And that hee might deliuer all them, which for feare of [a] death were all their lifetime subiect to bondage.

16 [15] For hee in no sort tooke on him the [b] Angels nature, but he tooke on him the [c] seed of Abraham.

17 [16] Wherefore in [d] all things it behoued him to bee made like vnto his brethren, that hee might be [e] mercifull, and a [f] faithful hie Priest in things concerning God, that hee might make reconciliation for the sinnes of the people.

18 For in that he suffered, and was [g] tempted, hee is able to succour them that are tempted.

10 First of all, because the Father, to whose glorie all these things are to be referred, purposed to bring many sonnes vnto glorie. And how could hee haue men for his sons, vnlesse his onely begotten sonne had become brother to men?

11 Secondly, The Father determined to bring those sonnes to glorie, to wit, out of that ignominie wherein they lay before. Therefore the sonne should not haue bene seene plainely to be made man, vnlesse he had bene made like vnto other men, that hee might come to glorie by the selfe same way, by the which he should bring other: yea rather it became him which was Prince of the saluation of other, to be consecrated aboue other, through those afflictions, Prophet, King, and Priest, which are the parts of that principalitie for the saluation of other.

q She Chiefetaine who as he is chiefest in dignitie, so is he first begotten from among the dead, amongst many brethren. 12 The grounde of both the former arguments, for neither shoulde wee be sonnes through him, neither coulde hee be consecrate through afflictions, vnlesse he had bene made man like vnto vs. But because this Sonnehoode dependeth not vpon nature onely, for no man is accompted the sonne of God, vnlesse that besides that he is a sonne of a man, he be also Christes brother, (which is by sanctification, that is, by becomming one with Christ, who sanctifieth vs through faith) therefore the Apostle maketh mention of the sanctifier, to wit, of Christ, and of them that are sanctified, to wit, of all the faithfull, whome therefore Christ vouchsafeth to call brethren. r He vseth the time that now is to shewe vs that we are yet still going on, and increasing in this sanctification: and by sanctification hee meaneth our separation from the rest of the world, our cleansing from sinne, and our dedication wholy vnto God, all which Christ alone worketh in vs. s One, of one selfesame nature of man. 13 That which he taught before of the incarnation of the sanctifier, he applieth to the prophetical office. * Psal. 22.25. 14 He applieth the same to the kingly power of Christ, in deliuering his from the power of the deuill and death. * Psal. 18.3. t I will commit my selfe to him, and to his defence. * Esai. 8.18. u This Esai speaketh of himselfe and his disciples, but betokening thereby all ministers, as also his disciples signifie the whole Church. And therefore seeing Christ is the head of the Prophets and Ministers, these wordes are more rightly verified of him, then of Esai. x Are made of flesh and blood, which is a fraile and brittle nature. * Hose. 13.14. 1. corinth. 16.55. y The deuill is saide to haue the power of death, because he is the authour of sinne: and from sinne commeth death, and for this cause hee eggeth vs dayly to sinne. z He speaketh of one as of the Prince, ioyning to him secretly al his angels. a By (death) thou must vnderstand heere, that death which is ioyned with the wrath of God, as it must needes be, if it be without Christ, then the which there can be nothing deuised more miserable. 15 He expoundeth those wordes of flesh and blood, shewing that Christ is true man, and that not by turning his diuine nature, but by taking of mans natute. And he nameth Abraham, respecting the promises made to Abraham in this behalfe. b The nature of Angels. c The very nature of men. 16 Hee applieth the same to the Priesthood, for which hee should not haue bene fit, vnlesse he had become man, and that like vnto vs in all things, sinne onely except. d Not onely as touching nature, but qualities also. e That he might be truly touched with the feeling of our miseries. f Doing his office sincerely. g Was tried and egged to wickednesse by the deuill.

CHAP.

CHAP. III.

1 Nowe hee sheweth howe farre inferiour Moses is to Christ, 5. 6 euen so much as the seruant to the master: and so hee bringeth in certaine exhortations and threatnings taken out of Dauid, 8 against such as either stubburnely resist, 12 or els are very slowe to obey.

THerefore [1] holy brethren, partakers of the heauenly vocation, consider the [a] Apostle and high Priest of our [b] profession Christ Jesus:

2 [2] Who was faithfull to him that hath [c] appointed him, [3] euen as * Moses was in all his house.

3 [4] For this man is counted worthy of more glorie then Moses, inasmuch as he which hath builded the house, hath more honour then the house.

4 For euery house is builded of some man, and he that hath built all things, is God.

5 [5] Nowe Moses verely was faithfull in all his house, as a seruant, for a witnesse of the things which should be spoken after.

6 But Christ is as the Sonne, ouer his owne house, [6] whose [d] house we are, if we holde fast that [e] confidence and that reioycing of that hope vnto the ende.

7 Wherefore, as the holy Ghost saith, * To day if ye [f] will heare his voyce,

8 Harden not your hearts, as in the [g] prouocation, according to the day of the tentation in the wildernesse,

9 Where your fathers tempted me, prooued me, and sawe my workes fourtie yeeres long.

10 Wherefore I was grieued with that generation, and said, They [h] erre euer in their heart, neither haue they knowen my wayes.

11 Therefore I sware in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest.

12 [7] Take heede, brethren, least at any time there be in any of you an euill heart, and vnfaithfull, to depart away from the liuing God.

13 But exhort one another dayly, [i] while it is called to day, least any of you be hardened through the deceitfulnesse of sinne.

14 [8] For we are made partakers of Christ, if we keepe sure vnto the end that [k] beginning, wherewith we are vpholden, 15 [l] So long as it is saide, To day if ye heare his voyce, harden not your hearts, as in the prouocation.

16 For some when they heard, prouoked him to anger: howbeit, not all that came out of Egypt by Moses.

17 But with whom was hee displeased fourtie yeeres? Was he not displeased with them that sinned, * whose carkeises fell in the wildernesse?

18 And to whom sware hee that they should not enter into his rest, but vnto them that obeyed not?

19 So we see that they could not enter in, because of vnbeliefe.

1 Hauing laid the foundation, that is to say, declared and proued both the natures of one selfe same Christ, he giueth him three offices, to wit, the office of a Prophet, King, and Priest, and as touching the office of teaching and gouerning, compareth him with Moses and Iohua, vnto the 14. verse of the next Chapter, and with Aaron touching the Priesthood. And he propoundeth that which he purposeth to speake of, with a most graue exhortation, that all our faith may tend to Christ, as to the onely euerlasting teacher, gouernour, and high Priest.

a The Embassadour or messenger, as Rom. 15. he is called the minister of Circumcision.

b Of the doctrine of the Gospel which we professe.

2 He confirmeth this exhortation with two reasons, first of all, because Christ Iesus was appointed such an one of God: secondly, because he thoughly executed the offices that his Father enioyned him.

c Apostle and high Priest.

3 Now he commeth to the comparison with Moses, and he maketh them like one to the other in this, that they were both appointed rulers ouer Gods house, and executed faithfully their office: but by and by after he sheweth, that there is great vnlikelinesse in that same similitude. *Numb. 12. 7. 4 The first comparison: The builder of the house is better then the house it selfe, therefore is Christ better then Moses. The reason of the consequent is this: because the builder of this house is God, which cannot be attributed to Moses: and therefore Moses was not properly the builder, but a part of the house: but Christ as Lord and God, made all this house. 5 An other comparison: Moses was a faithfull seruant in this house, that is, in the Church, seruing the Lord that was to come, but Christ ruleth and gouerneth his house as Lord. 6 Hee applieth the former doctrine to his ende, exhorting all men by the wordes of Dauid to heare the Sonne himselfe speake, and to giue full credite to his wordes, seeing that otherwise they cannot enter into that eternall rest. d To wit, Christes. e Hee calleth that excellent effect of faith (whereby wee crie Abba, that is, Father) confidence, and to confidence hee ioyneth hope. * Psalme 95. 8. chapter 4. 7. f So that God was to speake once againe after Moses. g In the day that they vexed the Lorde, or stroue with him. h They are brutish and mad. 7 Nowe weighing the wordes of Dauid, he sheweth first by this word, To day, that we must not neglect the occasion while we haue it: for that worde is not to be restrained to Dauids time, but it comprehendeth all that time wherein God calleth vs. i While to day lasteth, that is to say, so long as the Gospel is offered to vs.

8 Now he commeth to the matter it selfe, and first of all he exhorteth by these wordes, If you heare his voyce, &c. shewing that they are spoken of meane of the hearing of faith, against which he setteth hardening through vnbeliefe.

k That beginning of trust and confidence: and after the manner of the Hebrewes, he calleth that beginning which is the first.

l So long as the voyce soundeth out.

*Num. 14. 37.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He ioyneth exhortation with threatning, lest they, euen as their fathers were, be depriued of the rest offered vnto them, 11 but that they endeuour to enter into it. 14 And so he beginneth to intreat of Christes Priesthood.

LEt vs feare therefore, least at any time by forsaking the promise of entring into his rest, any of you should seeme to be depriued.

2 [1] For vnto vs was the Gospel preached as vnto them: but the worde that they heard, profited not them, because it was not [a] mixed with faith in those that heard it.

3 [2] For we which haue beleeued, do enter into rest as he saide to the other, * As I haue sworne in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest: although the workes were finished from the foundation of the world.

4 For he spake in a certaine place of the seuenth day on this wise, * And God did rest the seuenth day from all his workes.

5 And in this place againe, If they shall enter into my rest.

6 Seeing therefore it remaineth [ỳ] some must enter therinto, * [ȩ] they to whō it was first preached, entred not therin for vnbeliefes sake:

7 Againe hee appointed in Dauid a certaine day, by To day, after so long a time, saying, as it is saide, * This day, if ye heare his voyce, harden not your hearts.

8 For if [b] Jesus had giuen them rest, then would he not after this haue spoken of another day.

9 There remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God.

1 By these words, His worde he sheweth that Dauids mens preaching of Christ, what they also preached, for Moses and the Prophets respected none other.

a He compareth the preaching of the Gospel to drinke, which being drunke, that is to say, beaten, profiteth nothing, vnlesse it be tempered with faith.

2 Least any man should obiect, that these two were partakers of the land of Canaan, and so entred into rest, he answereth that they were not partakers of the true rest, but of a shadow therof, and that the two manner of rests shadowed the Sacraments, the one of the which serueth to them which in God is safe, the other to them which haue rested from all their workes: other is vain to be that same, wherunto Moses led the people: but this rest is not the last rest whereunto we are called: & that is proued by two reasons. For seeing that Dauid so long time after, speaking to the people which were then placed in the land of Canaan, vseth these words, To day, and threatneth them still that they shall not enter into the rest of God, which refused then the voyce of God that sounded in their eares, we must needes say that he meant another time then the time of Moses, & another rest then the rest of the land of Canaan: And that is, that euerlasting rest, wherein wee begin to liue to God, after that ỳ race of this life ceased, as God rested the seuenth day frō all his works, that is to say, from making the world. Moreouer the Apostle therewith all signifieth that the way to this rest, which Moses and the land of Canaan & all that order of the Law did shadow, is opened in ỳ Gospel only. *Psal. 95. 11. *Gen. 2. 2. deu. 5. 14. *Chap. 3. 7. b He speaketh of Ioshua the sonne of Nun: and as the land of Canaan was a figure of our rest, so was Ioshua a figure of Christ.

19 [c] For

10 c For he that is entred into his rest, hath also ceased from his owne workes, as God did from his.

11 3 Let vs studie therefore to enter into that rest, lest d any man fall after the same ensample of disobedience.

12 4 For the e word of God is f liuely, and mightie in operation, and sharper then any two edged sword, and entreth through, euen vnto the diuiding asunder of the g soule and the h spirit, and of the ioynts, and the marowe, and is a discerner of the thoughts, and the intents of the heart.

13 Neither is there any creature, which is not manifest in i his sight: but all things are naked and open vnto his eyes, with whom we haue to doe.

14 5 Seeing then that we haue a great hie Priest, which is entred into heauen, euen Iesus the Sonne of God, let vs k holde fast our profession.

15 6 For we haue not an hie Priest, which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities, but was in all things tempted in like sort, yet without sinne.

16 Let vs therefore goe boldely vnto the throne of grace, that wee may receiue mercie, and finde grace to helpe in time of neede.

5 So likewise Christ tooke not to himselfe this honour, to be made the hie Priest, but he that said vnto him, * Thou art my Sonne, this day begate I thee, gaue it him.

6 As he also in another place speaketh, * Thou art a Priest for euer, after the f order of Melchi-sedec.

7 4 Who in the dayes of his flesh did offer vp prayers and supplications, with strong crying and teares vnto him, that was able to h saue him from death, and was also heard in that which he feared.

8 And though hee were the Sonne, yet i learned he obedience, by the things which hee suffered.

9 5 And being k consecrate, was made the authour of eternal saluation vnto all them that obey him:

10 And is called of God an hie Priest after the order of Melchi-sedec.

11 6 Of whom wee haue many things to say, which are hard to be vttered, because ye are dull of hearing.

12 7 For when as concerning the time ye ought to be teachers, yet haue yee neede againe that we teach you what are the first principles of the worde of God: and are become such as haue neede of milke, and not of strong meate.

13 For euery one that vseth milke, is inexpert in the l word of righteousnesse: for he is a babe.

14 But strong meate belongeth to them that are of age, which through long custome haue their m wits exercised, to discerne both good and euill.

*Psalm.2.7. chap.1.5.
*Psal.110.4. chap.7.17.
f After the likenesse or maner as it is afterward declared, Chap.7.15.
4 The other part of the second comparison: Christ being exceedingly afflicted and exceedingly mercifull asked not for his sinnes for he had none, but for his feare, and obteined his request, and offered himselfe for all his.
g While he liued here with vs, in our weake and fraile nature.
h To deliuer him from death.
i He learned in deede what it is to haue a Father, whom a man must obey.
5 The other part of the first comparison: But Christ was consecrate of God the Father, as the Authour of our saluation, and an high Priest for euer, and therefore he is so a man, that notwithstanding he is farre aboue all men.
k Looke Chap.2.10.
6 A digression, vntill he come to the beginning of the seuenth Chapter: wherein he partly holdeth the Hebrewes in the diligent consideration of those things which he hath said, and partly prepareth them to the vnderstanding of those things whereof he will speake.
7 An example of an Apostolike chiding.
l In the word which teacheth righteousnesse.
m All their power whereby they vnderstand and iudge.

CHAP. V.

1 First he sheweth the duetie of the hie Priest: 5 Secondly, that Christ is appointed of God to be our hie Priest, 7 and that he hath fulfilled all things belonging thereunto.

FOr 1 euery hie Priest is taken from among men, and is ordeined for men, in things perteining to God, 2 that hee may offer both a giftes and b sacrifices for sinnes.

2 Which is c able sufficiently to haue compassion d on them that are ignorant, and that are out of the way, because that he also is e compassed with infirmitie,

3 And for the same sake he is bound to offer for sinnes, as well for his owne part, as for the peoples.

4 *3 And no man taketh this honour vnto himselfe, but hee that is called of God, as was Aaron.

1 The first part of the first comparison of Christes Priesthood. 2 Which Priesthood: Diuers hie Priestes were taken from among men, and were called after the order of men.
3 The first part of the second comparison: Diuers as we are, yet made hie Priestes to the end that feeling the same infirmities in themselues which is in all the rest of the people, they should in their owne and the peoples name offer giftes and sacrifices, which are witnesses of common faith and repentance.
a Offerings of things without life.
b Beastes which were killed, but especially in the sacrifices for sinnes and offences.
c Fit and meete.
d On them that are sinfull: for in the Hebrewe tongue, vnder ignorance and errour is euery sinne meant, euen that sinne that is voluntarie.
e For that he himselfe beareth about with him a nature subiect to the same discommodities and vices.
*1.Chro.13.10. and 23.13.
3 The third comparison which is whole. The others are called of God, and so was Christ, but in an other order then Aaron: For Christ is called the Sonne, begotten of God, and a Priest for euer after the order of Melchisedec.

CHAP. VI.

1 He briefly toucheth the childish slouthfulnesse of the Hebrewes, 4 and terrifieth them with seuere threatnings: 7 Hee stirreth them vp to endeuour in time to goe forward: 9 Hee hopeth well of them: 13 Hee alleageth Abrahams example: 17 and compareth faith that taketh hold on the word, 19 vnto an Anchre.

THerefore, leauing the doctrine of the a beginning of Christ, let vs be led forward vnto perfection, 1 not laying againe the foundation of repentance from dead workes, and of faith toward God,

2 Of the doctrine of baptismes, and laying on of hands, and of the resurrection from the dead, and of eternall iudgement.

3 And this will we doe if God permit.

a The first principles of Christian religiō, which we doe call the Catechisme.
1 Certaine principles of a Catechisme, which comprehend the summe of the doctrine of the Gospel, were giuen in fewe words, and briefely to the rude and ignorant, to wit, the profession of repentance and faith in God: the articles of which doctrine, were demaunded of them which were not as yet receiued members of the Church, at the dayes appointed for Baptisme: and of the children of the faithfull which were baptized in their infancie, when hands were laide vpon them. And of those articles, two are by name recited: the resurrection of the flesh, and the eternall iudgement.

4 [2]* For it is [b] impossible that they which were once lightened, and haue [c] tasted of the heauenly gift, and were made partakers of the holy Ghost,

5 And haue tasted of the good worde of God, and of the powers of the worlde to come,

6 If they fall away, should be renewed againe by repentance: seeing they [d] crucifie againe to themselues the Sonne of God, and make a mocke of him.

7 [3] For the earth which drinketh in the raine that commeth oft vpon it, and bringeth foorth herbes meete for them by whom it is dressed, receiueth blessing of God.

8 But that which beareth thornes and briars, is reprooued, and is neere vnto cursing, whose ende is to be burned.

9 [4] But beloued, we haue perswaded our selues better things of you, and such as accompany saluation, though we thus speake.

10 [5] For God is not vnrighteous, that he should forget your worke, and labour of loue, which ye shewed toward his Name, in that ye haue ministred vnto the Saints, and yet minister.

11 And we desire that euery one of you shewe the same diligence, to the full assurance of hope vnto the ende, 12 [6] That ye be not slouthfull, but followers of them, which through faith and patience, inherite the promises.

13 [7] For when God made the promise to Abraham, because he had no greater to sweare by, he sware by himselfe, 14 Saying, * Surely I will [e] abundantly blesse thee and multiplie thee marueilously.

15 And so after that he had tarried patiently, he enioyed the promes.

16 For men verely sweare by him that is greater then themselues, and an othe for confirmation is among them an ende of all strife.

17 So God, willing more [f] abundantly to shewe vnto the heires of promes the stablenes of his counsell, bound himselfe by an othe,

18 That by two immutable things wherein it is vnpossible that God should lye, wee might haue strong consolation, which haue our refuge to lay holde vpon that hope that is set before vs,

19 [8] Which hope we haue, as an ancre of the soule, both sure and stedfast, and it entreth into that which is within the vaile,

20 [9] Whither the forerunner is for vs entred in, euen Jesus that is made an hie Priest for euer after the order of Melchi-sedec.

1 He aduertiseth to diligence to his edification, and a most sharpe threatning of the extreme destruction that shall come vpon them which fall from God and his religion.
2 Chap. 10.26. Matth. 12.45. 2 Per. 2.20.
b He speaketh of a generall backe sliding, and such as doe altogether fall away from the faith, and not of sinnes which are committed through the frailtie of man against the first and the second table.
c Wee must marke the force of this worde, for it is one thing to beleeue as Lydia did, whose heart God opened, Acts. 16.13. and another thing to haue some taste.
d As men that haue Christ, and as though they crucified him againe, make him a mocking stocke to all the world, and that to their owne destruction, as Iulian the Apostata, or backeslider did.
3 He setteth forth the former threatning with a similitude.
4 He mitigateth and asswageth all that sharpenesse, hoping better of them to whom he writeth.
5 He praiseth them for their charitie, thereby encouraging them to goe forward, and to holde out to the ende.
6 He sheweth what vertues chiefly they haue nede of to goe forward constantly, and also to profite: to wit, of charitie, and patience: and lest any man should obiect and say, that these things are impossible to be done, he willeth them to set before themselues the examples of their auncestors, and to followe them.
7 An other peece, to peeche them forward: Because the hope of the inheritance is certaine, if wee continue to the ende, for God hath not onely promised it, but also confirmed it with an othe. * Gene. 12.2. and 17.4. and 22.17. e I will heape vp benefites most plentifully vpon thee. f More then was needefull, were it not for the wickednesse of men which beleeue not God, no though he sweare. 8 He likeneth hope to an ancre: because that euen as an ancre being cast into the bottome of the sea, stayeth the whole ship, so doeth hope also enter euen into the very secret places of heauen. And he maketh mention of the Sanctuarie, alluding to the olde tabernacle, and by this meanes returneth to the comparisons of the Priesthood of Christ with the Leuiticall.

9 He repeateth Dauids words, wherein all these comparisons whereof he hath before made mention, are signified, as he declareth in all the next Chapter.

CHAP. VII.

1 Hee hath hitherto stirred them vp, to marke diligently what things are to be considered in Melchi-sedec, 15 wherein he is like vnto Christ. 20 Wherefore the Law should giue place to the Gospel.

1 [1] For this Melchi-sedec * was King of Salem, the Priest of the most high God, who met Abraham, as he returned from the slaughter of the Kings, and [a] blessed him:

2 To whom also Abraham gaue the tithe of all things: who first is by interpretation King of righteousnesse: after that, he is also King of Salem, that is, King of peace,

3 [2] Without father, without mother, without kinred, and hath neither beginning of his dayes, neither ende of life: but is likened vnto the Sonne of God, and continueth a Priest for euer.

4 [3] Nowe consider howe great this man was, vnto whom euen the Patriarke Abraham gaue the tithe of the spoiles.

5 For verely they which are the children of Leui, which receiue the office of the Priesthood, haue a * commaundement to take, according to the Lawe, tithes of the people (that is, of their brethren) though they [b] came out of the loynes of Abraham.

6 But he whose kindred is not counted among them, receiued tithes of Abraham, and blessed him that had the promises.

7 And [c] without al contradiction the lesse is blessed of the greater.

8 And here men that die, receiue tithes: there he receiueth them, of whom it is witnessed, that he liueth.

9 [4] And to say as the thing is, Leui also which receiueth tithes, payed tithes in Abraham.

10 For hee was yet in the loynes of his father Abraham, when Melchi-sedec met him.

11 [5] If therefore [d] perfection had beene

1 Declaring those words, According to the order of Melchisedec, wherevpon that comparison standeth of the Priesthood of Christ with the Leuiticall: first, Melchi-sedec himselfe is considered as the figure of Christ, and these are the beares of that comparison: Melchi sedec was a King and a Priest, & such an one in deede is Christ alone. He was a King of peace & righteousnesse, such an one in deede is Christ alone. * Gene. 14.18.
a With a solemne and Priestly blessing.
2 An other figure: Melchi sedec is set before vs to be considered as one without beginning and without ending, for neither his father, nor his mother, nor his ancestors, nor his death are written of: which an one in deede is the Sonne of God, to wit, an euerlasting priest: as hee is God, without mother wonderfully begotten: as he is man, without father wonderfully conceiued.
3 An other figure Melchi-sedec in consideration of his priesthood was above Abraham, for he tooke tenthes of him, & blessed him as a Priest: Such an one in deede is Christ, vpon whom dependeth euen Abrahams sanctification and all the beleeuers, and whom all men ought to worship and reuerence as the author of all. * Numb. 18.
b Were begotten of Abraham. c He speaketh of the publike blessing which the Priestes vsed. 4 A double amplification: The first, That Melchi-sedec tooke the tenthes as one immortall (to wit, in respect that he is the figure of Christ, for his death is in no place made mention of, and Dauid setteth him forth as an euerlasting Priest) but the Leuiticall Priests, as mortall men, for they succeede one another: the second, that Leui himselfe was tithed in Abraham by Melchisedec. Therefore the Priesthood of Melchi-sedec (that is, Christes, who is pronounced to be an euerlasting Priest according to his order) is more excellent then the Leuitical. 5 The third treatise of this Epistle, wherin after he hath proued Christ to be a King, a Prophet and a Priest, he now laudably illustrieth the condition & excellencie of al these offices, shewing that al these were but shadowes in all other, but in Christ they are true & perfect. And he beginneth with the Priesthood, wherewith also the former treatise ended, that by this meanes all the parts and members of the disputation, may better hang together. And first of al he proueth that the Leuitical Priesthood was imperfect, because another Priest is promised a long time after, according to an other order, yea to say, of an other manner of rule & fashion. d If the Priesthood of Leui could haue made any man perfect, by

by the Priesthood of the Leuites (for vnder it the Lawe was established to the people) what needed it furthermore, that another Priest should rise after the order of Melchi-sedec, and not to be called after the order of Aaron?

12 [6] For if the Priesthoode bee changed, then of necessitie must there be a change of the [c] Lawe.

13 For he of whom these things are spoken, perteineth vnto another tribe, whereof no man [f] serued at the altar.

14 For it is euident, that our Lord sprung out of Juda, concerning the which tribe Moses spake nothing, touching the Priesthood.

15 [7] And it is yet a more euident thing, because that after the similitude of Melchi-sedec, there is risen vp another Priest, 16 [8] Which is not made Priest after the [g] Lawe of the carnall commandement, but after the power of the endlesse life.

17 For hee testifieth thus, * Thou art a Priest for euer, after the order of Melchi-sedec.

18 [9] For the [h] commaundement that went afore, is disannulled, because of the weakenesse thereof, and vnprofitablenesse.

19 For the Lawe made nothing perfite, but the bringing in of a better hope made perfite, whereby we draw neere vnto God.

20 [10] And forasmuch as it is not without an othe (for these are made Priests without an othe:

21 But this is made with an othe by him that said vnto him, * The Lord hath sworne, and will not repent, Thou art a Priest for euer, after the order of Melchi-sedec)

22 By so much is Jesus made a suretie of a better Testament.

23 [11] And among them many were made Priestes, because they were not suffered to endure, by reason of death.

24 But this man, because hee endureth euer, hath a Priesthood, which [i] cannot passe from one to another.

25 Wherefore, he is [k] able also perfectly to saue them that come vnto God by him, seeing hee euer liueth, to make intercession for them.

26 [12] For such an hie Priest it became vs to haue, which is holy, harmelesse, vndefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher then the heauens:

27 Which needeth not dayly as those hie Priests to offer vp sacrifice, * first for his owne sinnes, and then for the peoples: [13] for [l] that did he [m] once, when he offered vp himselfe.

28 For the Law maketh men hie Priests, which haue infirmitie: but the [n] worde of the othe [14] that [o] was since the Lawe, maketh the Sonne, who is consecrated for euermore.

12 Another argument: There are required in an hie Priest innocencie and perfite pureness, which may separate him from sinners for whom hee offereth. But the Leuiticall hie Priestes shall not be found to be such, for they offer first for their owne sinne: but Christ onely is such a one, and therefore [p] true and onely hie Priest. * Leuit. 16. 11. 13 An other argument which notwithstanding he banneth afterward: The Leuiticall Priestes offered sacrifice after sacrifice, first for themselues, and then for the people. But Christ offered not for himselfe, but for other, not sacrifices, but himselfe, not oftentimes, but once. And this ought not to seeme strange, saith he, forsomuch as they are weake, but this man is consecrated an euerlasting Priest, and that by an othe. l That sacrifice which he offered m It was so done, that it needeth not to be repeated or offered againe any more. n The commandement of God which was bonnd with an oth. 14 Another argument taken of the time: former things are taken away by the later. o Exhibited.

CHAP. VIII.

1 To proone more certainely that the ceremonies of the Law are abrogated, 5 he sheweth that they were appointed to serue the heauenly paterne. 8 He bringeth in the place of Ieremie, 15 to proone the amendement of the olde covenant.

NOwe [1] of the things which we haue spoken, this is the summe, that we haue such an high Priest, that sitteth at the right hand of the throne of the Maiestie in heauens,

1 He briefly repeateth that, whereunto all these things are to be referred, to wit, that wee haue a farre other hie Priest then those Leuiticall hie Priests are, euen such an one as sitteth at the right hand of the most high God in heauen.

2 [2] And is a minister of the [a] Sanctuarie, [3] and of that [b] true Tabernacle which the Lord pight, and not man.

2 They of Leui were hie Priests in an earthly sanctuarie, but Christ is in the heauenly. a Of heauen.

3 [4] For euery hie Priest is ordained to offer both giftes and sacrifices: wherefore it was of necessitie, that this man should haue somewhat also to offer.

3 They of Leui exercised their Priesthood in a fraile tabernacle: but Christ beareth about with him a farre other tabernacle, to wit, his body, which God himselfe made to be euerlasting, as it shall afterward be declared.

4 [5] For he were not a Priest, if he were on the earth, seeing there are Priestes that according to the Lawe offer giftes,

5 Who serue vnto the paterne & shadowe of heauenly things, as Moses was warned by God, when he was about to finish the Tabernacle. * See, saide hee, that thou make all things according to the paterne, shewed to thee in the mount.

6 [6] But now our hie Priest hath obteined a more excellent office, in as much as he is the Mediatour of a better Testament, which chapter 9. 11. b Of his body. 4 He bringeth a reason why it must needes be that Christ should haue a body) which hee calleth a tabernacle which the Lorde pight, and not man, to wit, that he might haue what to offer: for otherwise he could not be an hie Priest. And the selfe same body is both the tabernacle and the sacrifice. 5 He giueth a reason why he said that our hie Priest is in the heauenly sanctuarie, and not in the earthly: because, saith he, if he were now on the earth, he could not minister in the earthly sanctuarie, seeing there are yet Leuitical priests which are appointed for him, that is to say, to be paternes of that perfite example. And to what purpose should the paternes serue, when the true and originall example is present? * Exod. 25. 40. Acts 7. 44. 6 He entreth into the comparison of the olde and transitorie Testament or couenant being but for a time, wherein the Leuiticall Priests were mediatours, with the newe, the euerlasting Mediatour whereof is Christ, to shewe that this is not onely better then that in all respects, but also that that was abrogated by this.

[a] He sheweth now that by the institution of the same Priesthood, not onely the imperfection of the Priesthood of Leui was declared, but also that it was changed for this, that these two cannot stand together, because that first appointement of the tribe of Leui, did that fourth the tribe of Juda, and made it also inferiour to Leui: and this latter doeth place the Priesthood in the tribe of Juda.

c Of the institution of Aaron.

f Had any thing to doe about the altar.

7 Left any man might obiect, that the Priesthood in deede was translated from Leui to Juda, but yet notwithstanding the same remaineth still, he doeth weigheth and expounderth those wordes of David, for euer, according to the order of Melchi-sedec, whereby also a diuers institution of Priesthood, is well perceiued.

g He proueth the vtter vtter and excellencie of the institution of Melchi-sedecs Priesthoode, by this, that the Priesthood of the Law did stand vpon an oth and bodily anoynting: but the sacrifice of Melchi-sedec is set out to be euerlasting and more spirituall.

g Not after the ordination, which commandeth fraile and transitorie things, as was done in Aarons consecration, and all that whole Priesthood. * Psalme 110. 4. chap. 5. 6. 9 Againe, that no man might obiect that the last Priesthood was added to make a perfite one, by the coupling of them both together, hee proueth that the first was abrogated by the latter, as vnprofitable, and that by the nature of them both. For howe could those corporall and transitorie things sanctifie vs, either of themselues, or being ioyned with another? h The ceremoniall Lawe. 10 Another argument, whereby hee proueth that the Priesthood of Christ is better then the Priesthood of Leui, because his was established with an othe, but theirs was not so. * Psalme 110. 4. 11 Another argument tending to the same purpose. The Leuiticall Priestes (as mortall men) could not be euerlasting, but Christ, as he is euerlasting, so hath hee also an euerlasting Priesthood, making most effectuall intercession for them which by him come vnto God. i Which cannot passe away. k He is fitte and meete.

is established vpon better promises.

7 He proueth by the testimonie of Ieremie, that there is a second Testament or couenant, and therefore that the first was not perfite.

7 For if that first Testament had bene vnblameable, no place should haue bene sought for the second.

8 For in rebuking them hee saieth, *Beholde, the dayes will come, saieth the Lord, when I shal make with the c house of Israel, and with the house of Iuda a new Testament:

*Ieremie 31.31, 32,33,34. rom.11.27. chap.10.16.

c He calleth it an house, as it were one familie of the whole kingdom: for whereas the kingdom of Dauid was diuided into two factions, the Prophet giueth vs to vnderstand, that through the new Testament they shalbe ioyned together againe in one.

9 Not like the Testament that I made with their fathers, in the day that I tooke them by the hand, to leade them out of the lande of Egypt: for they continued not in my Testament, and I regarded them not, saieth the Lord.

10 For this is the Testament that I will make with the house of Israel, After those dayes, saieth the Lorde, I will put my Lawes in their minde, and in their heart I will write them, and I will be their God, and they shal be my people, 11 And they shall not teache euery man his neighbour, and euery man his brother, saying, Knowe the Lorde: for all shall know mee, from the least of them to the greatest of them.

12 For I will be mercifull to their vnrighteousnesse, and I will remember their sinnes and their iniquities no more.

f The conclusion: Therefore by the latter and the new, the first and old is taken away, for it could not be called new, if it differed not from the old. And againe, that same is at length taken away, which is subiect to corruption, and therefore imperfite.

13 [8] In that he saieth a newe Testament, he hath abrogate the olde: now that which is disanulled and waxed olde, is ready to vanish away.

CHAP. IX.

2 Comparing the forme of the Tabernacle, 10 and the ceremonies of the Law, 11 vnto the trueth set out in Christ, 15 He concludeth that now there is no more need of an other Priest, 24 because Christ himselfe hath fulfilled these duties vnder the new couenant.

1 A diuision of the first Tabernacle which he calleth worldly, that is to say, transitorie and earthly, into two parties, to wit, into the holy places, and the Holiest of all.

THen [1] the first Testament had also ordinances of religion, and a [a] worldly Sanctuarie.

2 For the first Tabernacle was made, wherein was the candlesticke, and the table, and the shewbread, which Tabernacle is called the holy places.

a An earthly and a fleshly.

3 And after [b] the second vaile was the Tabernacle, which is called the [c] Holiest of all,

b He calleth it the second vaile, not because there were two vailes, but because it was behind the Sanctuarie or the first Tabernacle.

c The holiest Sanctuarie.

4 Which had the golden censer, and the Arke of the Testament ouerlaid round about with gold, wherein the golden pot, which had Manna, was, and * Aarons rod that had budded, and the * tables of the Testament.

*Num.7.10.

*1.King.8.9. 2.chro.5.10.

5 * And ouer the Arke were the glorious Cherubims, shadowing the [d] mercy seate: of which things we will not now speake particularly.

*Exod.25.21.

d The Hebrewes call the couer of the Arke of the couenant, the mercy seate, whom both the Grecians and we follow.

6 [2] Nowe when these things were thus ordeined, the Priestes went alwayes into the first Tabernacle, and accomplished the seruice.

2 Now he commeth to the sacrifices which he deuideth into those daily sacrifices, and that yerely & solemne sacrifice with the which the hie Priest only he once euery yeere entering into the Holiest of all with bloud offered for himselfe and the people.

7 But into the second went the *hie Priest alone, once euery yere, not without blood which he offred for himselfe, and for the [e] ignorances of the people.

*Exod.30.10. leuit.16.2.

e For the sinnes. Looke Chap.5.2.

8 [3] Whereby the holy Ghost this signified, that the way into the Holiest of all was not yet opened, while as yet the first tabernacle was standing.

3 Of that yerely rite and ceremonie he gathereth that the way was not by such sacrifices opened into heauen, which was shadowed by the Holiest of all:

9 [4] Which was a figure [f] for that present time, wherein were offered gifts and sacrifices that could not make holy, concerning the conscience, him that did the seruice,

4 For why, all the hie Priest alone enter in thither, shutting out all other, and that to offer sacrifices there, both for himselfe and for others, and after, did shut the Holiest of all againe?

10 [5] Which onely stoode in meates and drinks, and diuers washings, and carnal rites, [g] which were enioyned, vntil the time of reformation.

4 An obiection: If the way were not opened into heauen by those sacrifices (that is to say, if the worshippers were not purged by them) why then were those ceremonies vsed? To wit, that men might be called backe to that spirituall example, that is to say, to Christ, who should correct all those things at his comming.

11 [6] But Christ being come an hie Priest of good things to come, [7] by a [h] greater and a more perfect Tabernacle, not made with hands, that is, not of this building, f For that time that that figure had to last.

5 Another reason why they could not make cleane the conscience of the worshipper, to wit, because they were outward and carnall, or corporall things.

g For they were as you would say, a burden, from which Christ deliuered vs.

6 Nowe he entereth into the declaration of the figures, and first of all comparing the Leuiticall high Priest with Christ, (that is to say, the figure with the thing it selfe) hee attributeth to Christ the administration of good things to come, that is, euerlasting, which those carnall things had respect vnto.

7 An other comparison of the first corruptible Tabernacle with the latter, (that is to say, with the humane nature of Christ) which is the true incorruptible Temple of God, wherevnto the Sonne of God entered, as the Leuiticall hie Priestes into the other which was fraile and transitorie.

h By a more excellent and better.

12 [8] Neither by the blood of [i] goates and calues: but by his owne blood entred hee in once vnto the holy place, and obteined eternall redemption for vs.

8 An other comparison of the blood of the sacrifices with Christ. The Leuiticall hie Priestes entering by those their holy places into their Sanctuarie, offered corruptible blood for one yeere onely: but Christ entering into that holy body of his, entered by it into heauen it selfe, offering his owne most pure blood for an euerlasting redemption: For one selfe same Christ answereth both to the hie Priest and the Tabernacle, and the sacrifices, and the offerings themselues, as the trueth to the figures, so that Christ is both hie Priest and Tabernacle, and Sacrifice, yea, all these both truely and for euer.

i For in this yeerely sacrifice of reconciliation, there were two kindes of sacrifices, the one a goate, the other a heifer, or calfe. * Leuiticus 16.14. numbers 19.4. 9 If the outward sprinckling of blood and ashes of beastes, was a true and effectuall signe of purifying and cleansing, how much more shall the thing it selfe and the trueth being present, which in times past was shadowed by those externall Sacraments, that is to say, his blood, which is in such sort mans blood, that it is also the blood of the Sonne of God, and therefore hath an euerlasting vertue of purifying and cleansing, doe it?

13 [9] For if the blood of buls & of goates, and the ashes of an heifer, sprinkling them that are vncleane, sanctifieth as touching the [k] purifying of the fleth, k Hee considereth the signes apart, being separate from the thing it selfe. * 1. Peter 1.19. 1. Iohn 1.7. reuelation 1.5. * Luke 1.74. l From sinnes which proceed from death, and bring forth nothing but death.

14 Howe much more shall the * blood of Christ which through the eternall Spirite offered himselfe without fault to God, * purge your conscience from [l] dead workes, to serue the liuing God?

15 [10] And

15 [10] And for this cause is he the Mediator of the new Testament, that through * death which was for the redemption of the transgressions that were in the former Testament, they which were called, might receiue the promise of eternal inheritance.

16 [11] For where a Testament is, there must be the death of him that made the Testament.

17 * For the Testament is confirmed when men are dead: for it is yet of no force as long as he that made it, is aliue.

18 [12] Wherefore, neither was the first ordeined without blood.

19 For when Moses had spoken euery precept to the people, [m] according to the Lawe, hee tooke the blood of calues and of goates, with water and purple wooll and hyssope, and [n] sprinkled both the booke, and all the people, 20 * Saying, This is the blood of the Testament, which God hath appointed vnto you.

21 Moreouer, hee sprinkled likewise the Tabernacle with blood also, and all the ministring vessels.

22 And almost all things are by the Lawe purged with blood, and without sheading of blood is no remission.

23 It was then necessary, that the [o] similitudes of heauenly things should be purified with such things: but the heauenly things themselues are purified with better sacrifices then are these.

24 [13] For Christ is not entred into the holy places that are made with hands, which are similitudes of the true Sanctuarie: but is entred into very heauen, to appeare now in the sight of God for vs,

25 [14] Not that hee should offer himselfe often, as the hie Priest entred into the holy place euery yeere with other blood, 26 [15] (For then must he haue often suffred since the foundation of the world) but now in the [p] end of the world hath he bene made manifest, once to put away [q] sinne by the sacrifice of himselfe.

28 And as it is appointed vnto men that they [r] once die, and after that commeth the iudgement:

28 So * Christ was once offred to take away the sinnes of [s] many, [16] and vnto them that looke for him, shall hee appeare the second time without sinne vnto saluation.

15 An argument to proue that Christs offring ought not to be repeated: Seeing the sinnes were to be purged from the beginning of the world, and is procured the sinnes cannot be purged, but by the onely blood of Christ: he must needs haue died often times, since the beginning of the world: But a man can die but once: therefore Christes oblation which was once done in the latter dayes, neither could nor can be repeated. Seeing then it is so, surely the vertue of it extendeth both to the sinnes that were before, and to sinnes that are after his comming. p In the latter dayes. q That whole roote of sinne. r Hee speaketh of the naturall state and condition of man: For wee Lazarus and certaine other that died twise, that was no vsuall thing but extraordrie: and as for them that shall be changed, their changing is a kind of death, 1.Cor. 15.51. * Rom.5.8. 1.Peter 3.18. s Thus the generall promise is restrained to the elect onely: and we haue to seeke the testimonie of our election, not in the secret counsell of God, but in the effects that our faith worketh, and so wee must climbe vp from the lowest step to the highest, there to finde such comfort as is most certaine, and shall neuer be mooued. 16 Shortly by the way hee setteth out Christ as Iudge, partly to terrifie them, which doe not rest themselues in the oncly oblation of Christ once made, and partly to keepe the faithfull in their duetie, that they goe not backe.

CHAP. X.

1 He prooueth that the sacrifices of the Lawe were vnperfit, 2 because they were yeerely renued: 5 But that the sacrifice of Christ is one, and perpetuall, 6 he prooueth by Dauids testimonie: 19 Then hee addeth an exhortation, 29 and seuerely threatneth them that reiect the grace of Christ. 36 In the end hee praiseth patience, 38 that commeth of faith.

FOr [1] the Lawe hauing the shadow of good things to [a] come, and not the very image of the things, can neuer [b] with those sacrifices, which they offer yeere by yeere continually, sanctifie the comners thereunto.

1 He preuenteth a plaine obiection. Why then were those sacrifices offered? The Apostle answereth first touching that yeerely sacrifice which was [c] solemnest of all: wherein (saith he) there was made euery yeere a remembrance against all former sinnes. Therefore that sacrifice had no power to sanctifie: for to what purpose should those sinnes which are purged be repeated againe, and wherefore should newe sinnes come to be repeated euery yeere, if those sacrifices did abolish sinne: a Of things which are euerlasting, which were promised to the Fathers, & exhibited in Christ. 2 A conclusion following of those things that went before, and comprehending also the other sacrifices. Seeing that the sacrifices of the Lawe could not doe it, therefore Christ speaking of himselfe as of our hie Priest manifesteth in the flesh, witnesseth euidently that God resteth not in the sacrifices, but in the obedience of his Sonne our hie Priest, in which obedience hee offred vp himselfe once to his Father for vs. b The Sonne of God is sayd to come into the world, when he was made man. * Psal. 40.7. c It is word for word in the Hebrew text, Thou hast pearced mine eares through, that is, thou hast made me obedient and willing to heare.

2 For would they not then haue ceased to haue bene offred, because that the offerers once purged, should haue had no more conscience of sinnes?

3 But in those sacrifices there is a remembrance againe of sinnes euery yeere.

4 For it is vnpossible that the blood of buls and goates should take away sinnes.

5 [2] Wherefore when hee [b] commeth into the world, hee saieth, * Sacrifice and offering thou wouldest not: but a [c] body hast thou ordeined me.

6 In burnt offerings, and sinne offerings thou hast had no pleasure.

7 Then I said, Loe, I come (In the beginning of the booke it is written of mee) that I should doe thy will, O God.

8 Aboue when he said, Sacrifice and offering, and burnt offerings, and sinne offerings

o The conclusion of the former argument: therefore seeing the blood of beasts did not purge sinnes, the new Testament which was figure time promised, whereunto those outward things had respect, is now in deede established, by the death of Christ all transgressions might be taken away, and heauen in deede opened vnto vs: whereof if so be that Christ shed his blood also for the Fathers, for he was shadowed by those old ceremonies, otherwise, vnlesse they had serued to represent him, they had done nothing at all profitable. Therefore this Testament is called the latter, not as concerning the nature of it, (that is to say, remission of sinnes) but in respect of that time, wherein the thing it selfe was finished, that is to say, wherein Christ was in deede exhibited to the world, and fulfilled all things which were necessary to our saluation.

10 Rom.5.6. 1 Pet.3.18.

11 A reason why the Testament must be established by the death of the Mediator, because this Testament hath the condition of a Testament or gift, which is made effectuall by death, and therefore that it might bee effectuall, it must needes bee that he that made the Testament, should die. * Galath.3.15. 12 There must bee a proportion betweene those things which purifie, and those which are purified: Vnder the Lawe all those figures were earthly, the Tabernacle, the booke, the vessels, the sacrifices, although they were the figures of heauenly things. Therefore it was requisite that all those should bee purified with some matter and ceremonie of the same nature, to wit, with the blood of beasles, with water, wooll, hyssope. But vnder Christ all things are heauenly, an heauenly Tabernacle, an heauenly sacrifice, an heauenly people, an heauenly doctrine, and heauen it selfe is set open before vs for an euerlasting habitation. Therefore all these things are sanctified in like sort, to wit, with that euerlasting offering of the quickening blood of Christ. m As the Lorde had commaunded. n He vsed to sprinckle. * Exodus 24.8. o The similitudes of heauenly things were earthly, and therefore they were to bee set foorth with earthly things, as with the blood of beastes, and wooll, and hyssope. But vnder Christ all things are heauenly, and therefore they could not but bee sanctified with the offering of his liuely blood. 13 Another double comparison: The Leuiticall hie Priest entred into the Sanctuarie, which was made in deed by the commandement of God, but yet with mens hands, that it might be a patern of another more excellent, to wit, of the heauenly palace. But Christ entered into heauen it selfe. Againe, he appeared before the Arke, but Christ before God the Father himselfe. 14 Another double comparison: The Leuiticall hie Priest offred other blood, but Christ offered his owne: he euery yeere once iterated his offering: Christ offering himselfe but once, abolished sinne altogether, both of the former ages, and of the ages to come.

thou wouldest not haue, neither hadst pleasure therein (which are offered by the Law)

9 Then said he, Loe, I come to do thy wil, O God, he taketh away the [d] first, that he may stablish the second.

10 By the which will we are sanctified, euen by the offering of the body of Iesus Christ once made.

11 [3] And euery Priest [e] standeth dayly ministring, and oft times offreth one maner of offring, which can neuer take away sinnes.

12 But this man after hee had offered one sacrifice for sinnes, *sitteth for euer at the right hand of God, 13 [4] And from henceforth tarrieth, * till his enemies be made his footestoole.

14 For with one offering hath he consecrated for euer them that are sanctified.

15 [5] For the holy Ghost also beareth vs recorde: for after that he had said before, 16 * This is the Testament that I will make vnto them after those dayes, sayeth the Lord, I wil put my Lawes in their heart, and in their mindes I will write them.

17 And their sinnes and iniquities will I remember [f] no more.

18 Now where remission of these things is, there is no more offering for sinne.

19 [6] Seeing therefore, brethren, that by the blood of Iesus we may be bold to enter into the Holy place,

20 By the new and liuing way, which hee hath prepared for vs, through the vaile, that is, his [h] flesh:

21 And seeing wee haue an hie Priest, which is ouer the house of God,

22 [7] Let vs draw neere with a [i] true heart in assurance of faith, our [k] heartes being pure from an euil conscience,

23 And washed in our bodies with [l] pure water, let vs keepe the profession of our hope, without wauering (for he is faithfull that promised)

24 And let vs consider one another, to prouoke vnto loue, and to good workes,

25 Not forsaking the fellowship that wee haue among our selues, as the maner of some is: but let vs exhort one another, [2] and that so much the more, because yee see that the day draweth neere.

26 *For if we sinne [m] willingly after that we haue receiued [n] acknowledged that trueth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sinnes, 27 But a fearefull looking for of iudgement, and violent fire, which shall deuoure the [o] aduersaries.

28 [p] He that despiseth Moses Lawe, dieth without mercy * vnder two or three witnesses:

29 Of how much sorer punishment suppose ye shall hee be worthy, which treadeth vnder foote the Sonne of God, and counteth the blood of the Testament as an vnholy thing, wherewith he was sanctified, and doeth despite the Spirit of grace?

30 [10] For wee knowe him that hath said, *Vengeance belongeth vnto mee: I will recompense, saith the Lorde. And againe, The Lord shall [q] iudge his people.

31 It is a fearefull thing to fall into the hands of the liuing God.

32 [11] Now call to remembrance the dayes that are passed, in the which, after ye had receiued light, ye endured a great fight in afflictions, 33 Partly while yee were made a [r] gazing stocke both by reproches and afflictions, and partly while ye became [q] companions of them which were so tolled to and fro.

34 For both yee sorrowed with me for my bonds, and suffered with ioy the spoyling of your goods, knowing in your selues how that yee haue in heauen a better, and an enduring [s] substance.

35 Cast not away therefore your confidence which hath great recompence of reward.

36 For ye haue need of patience, that after ye haue done the will of God, ye might receiue the promise.

37 For yet a very [t] little while, and hee that shall come, will come, and will not tary.

38 *[u] Now the iust shall liue by faith: but if any withdraw himselfe, my soule shall haue no pleasure in him.

39 But we are not they which withdraw our selues vnto perdition, but follow faith vnto the conseruation of the soule.

CHAP. XI.

1 He declareth in the whole chapter, that the Fathers, which [x] from the beginning of the world were approued of God, attained saluation no other way then by faith, that the Iewes may know, that by the same path, they are knit vnto the Fathers in an holy vnion.

3 That is, the sacrifices, to establish the second, that is, the will of God.

3 A conclusion, laid the other part of the comparison: The Leuitical Priest repeateth the same sacrifice dayly in his sanctuary: whereupon it followeth that neither those sacrifices, neither those of beastes, neither the Priests themselues take away sinnes. But Christ hauing offered one sacrifice once for the sinnes of all men, and hauing sanctified his owne by one, sitteth at the right hand of the Father, hauing all power in his hands.

4 At the altar.

*Chap.1.13. psal.110.1. 1.cor.15.25.

5 He preuenteth a sinister obiection, to wit, that yet notwithstanding we are subiect to sinne and death, inferreth the Apostle answereth, that the full effect of Christs death hath not yet shewed it selfe, but that at length appeare when he shall set once put to flight all his enemies, with whom as yet we striue.

*Chap.1.13.

5 Although there do yet remaine in vs reliques of sinne, yet the merit of our sanctification which is to be perfected, hangeth vpon the selfe same sacrifice which neuer shalbe repeated: and that the Apostle proueth by alleging against the testimonie of Ieremie, that Sinne is taken away by the new Testament, seeing the Lorde saith that it shall come to passe, that accepting to the same of it, hee will no more remember our sinnes: Therefore wee needs haue no purging sacrifice to take away that which is already taken away, but wee must rather take paines, that we may vnto through faith be partakers of that sacrifice. *Iere.31.33.rom.11.27.chap.8.2.

6 Why then, where is the fire of Purgatorie, and that popish distinction of the fault, and the punishment? 7 He saith well, for sinne: for there remaineth another offering, to wit, of thanksgiuing.

6 The summe of the former treatise: We are not shut out vnto of the holy place, as the Fathers were, but we haue an entrance into the true holy place (that is, into heauen) seeing that wee are purged with the blood, not of beastes, but of Iesus. Neither as in times past, doeth the hie Priest shut vs out by setting the vaile against vs, but through the vaile, which is his flesh, hee hath brought vs into heauen it selfe, being present with vs, so that we haue now truly an hie Priest, which is ouer the house of God. h So Christes flesh sheweth vs the Godhead as it were vnder a vaile, for otherwise wee were not able to abide the brightnesse of it. 7 It muste graue exhortation, wherein he sheweth being that sacrifice of Christ may be applied to vs: to wit, by faith, which also he describeth by the consequents, to wit, by sanctification of the Spirite, which causeth vs surely to hope in God, and to procure by all meanes possible ons another saluation, through the loue that is in vs one towards another. i With no double and counterfeit heart, but with such an heart as is truely and in deed giuen to God. k This title which the Lord saith, Be ye holy, for I am holy. l With the grace of the holy Ghost.

2 Hauing mentioned the last coming of Christ, he stirreth vp to godly exercises, and withdraweth vs from all loue of this life, and from the fainthearted letters from God, the fearful iudgement seat of the Iudge, because they minished & withdrew himself from whom only saluation could come.

s Goods and riches, t He will come within this very little while.

u Now faith is the ground of things hoped for, and the euidence of things not seene.

x From the beginning of the world there was neuer any that pleased God, but by faith in Christ, as Abel, Enoch, Noah, Abraham, Moses, and all the Prophets.

NOw [1] faith is the ground of things, which are hoped for, and the euidence of things which are not seene.

2 [2] For by it our [a] elders were well reported of.

3 [*3] Through faith wee vnderstand that the world was ordeined by the word of God, so that the things which wee [b] see, are not made of things which did appeare.

4 [4] By faith Abel * offered vnto God a greater sacrifice then Cain, by * the which he obteined witnesse that he was righteous, God testifying of his gifts: by the which faith also he being dead, yet speaketh.

5 [5] By faith was * Enoch translated, that he should not [c] see death: neither was he found: for God had translated him: for before he was translated, he was reported of, that he had pleased God.

6 But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that commeth to God, must beleeue that God is, and that he is a [d] rewarder of them that seeke him.

7 [6] By faith * Noe beeing warned of God of the things which were as yet not seene, moued with reuerence, prepared the Arke to the saning of his houshold, through the which Arke he condemned the world, & was made heire of the righteousnesse, which is by faith.

8 [7] By faith * Abraham when he was called, obeyed God, to goe out into a place, which hee should afterward receiue for inheritaunce, and hee went out, not knowing whither hee went.

9 By faith he abode in the land of promise, as in a strange countrey, as one that dwelt in tents with Isaac and Jacob heires with him of the same promise.

10 For he looked for a city hauing a [e] foundation, whose builder and maker is God.

11 Through faith * Sara also receiued strength to conceiue seede, and was deliuered of a childe when she was past age, because shee iudged him faithfull which had promised.

12 And therefore sprang there of one, euen of one which was [f] dead, so many as the starres of the skie in multitude, and as the sande of the sea shore which is innumerable.

13 All these died in [g] faith, and receiued not the [h] promises, but saw them afarre off, and beleeued them, and [i] receiued them thankfully, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth.

14 For they that say such things, declare plainly, that they seeke a countrey.

15 And if they had beene mindefull of that countrey, from whence they came out, they had leasure to haue returned.

16 But nowe they desire a better, that is an heauenly: wherefore God is not ashamed of them to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a citie.

17 By faith * Abraham offered vp Isaac, when hee was [k] tried, and hee that had receiued the [l] promises offered his onely begotten sonne,

18 (To whom it was saide, * In Isaac shall thy seede be called.)

19 For hee considered that God was able to raise him vp euen from the dead: from [m] whence he receiued him also after [n] a sort.

20 [8] By faith * Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau, concerning things to come.

21 [9] By faith * Jacob when he was a dying blessed both the sonnes of Joseph, and * leaning on the end of his staffe, worshipped God.

22 [10] By faith * Joseph when hee died, made mention of the departing of the children of Israel, and gaue commaundement of his bones.

23 [11] * By faith Moses when hee was borne, was hid three moneths of his parents, because they sawe he was a proper childe, neither [o] feared they the kings * commandement.

24 By faith * Moses when hee was come to age, refused to be called the sonne of Pharaohs daughter,

25 And chose rather to suffer aduersitie with the people of God, then to enioy the [p] pleasures of sinnes for a season, 26 Esteeming the rebuke of Christ greater riches then the treasures of Egypt: for he had respect vnto the recompence of the reward.

27 By faith hee forsooke Egypt, and feared not the fiercenes of the King: for he endured, as he that sawe him which is inuisible.

28 Through faith he ordeined the * Passeouer and the effusion of blood, least hee that destroyed the first borne, should touch them.

29 [12] By faith they * passed through the red sea, as by dry land, which when the Egyptians had assayed to doe, they were swalowed vp.

30 [13] By faith the * walles of Jericho fell downe after they were compassed about seuen dayes.

31 [14] By faith the [q] harlot * Rahab perished not with them which obeied not, whe * she had receiued the spies [r] peaceably,

32 [15] And what shall I more say? for the time would be too short for me to tell of * Gedeon, of * Barac, and of * Sampson, and of * Jephte, also of Dauid, and Samuel, and of the Prophets:

33 Which through faith subdued kingdomes, wrought righteousnesse, obtained the promises, stopped the mouthes of lions,

34 Quenched the violence of fire, escaped the edge of the sworde, of weake were made strong

CHAP. XII.

1 He doeth not onely by the examples of the Fathers before recited, exhort them to patience and conſtancie, 3 but alſo by the example of Chriſt. 11 That the chaſtenings of God cannot bee rightly iudged by the outward ſenſe of our fleſh.

WHerefore, *[1] let vs alſo, ſeeing that wee are compaſſed with ſo great a cloude of witneſſes, caſt away euery thing that preſſeth downe, and the ſinne that [a] hangeth ſo faſt on: let vs runne with patience the race that is ſet before vs.

2 [2b] Looking vnto Jeſus the authour and finiſher of our faith, who for the [c] ioy that was ſet before him, endured the croſſe, and deſpiſed the ſhame, and is ſet at the right hande of the throne of God.

3 [3] Conſider therefore him that endureth ſuch ſpeaking againſt of ſinners, leſt ye ſhould be wearied and faint in your mindes.

4 [4] Ye haue not yet reſiſted vnto blood, ſtriuing againſt ſinne.

5 [5] And yee haue forgotten the conſolation, which ſpeaketh vnto you as vnto children, * My ſonne, deſpiſe not the chaſtening of the Lord, neither faint when thou art rebuked of him.

6 For whome the Lord loueth, hee chaſteneth: and he ſcourgeth euery ſonne that he receiueth:

7 If yee endure chaſtening, God offereth himſelfe vnto you as vnto ſonnes: for what ſonne is it whom the father chaſteneth not?

8 If therefore ye bee without correction, whereof al are partakers, then are ye baſtards, and not ſonnes.

9 [6] Moreouer wee haue had the fathers of our bodies which corrected vs, and wee gaue them reuerence: ſhould we not much rather be in ſubiection vnto the Father of ſpirites, that we might liue?

10 [7] For they verely for a fewe dayes chaſtened vs after their owne pleaſure: but he chaſteneth vs for our profit, that we might be partakers of his holineſſe.

11 Nowe no chaſtiſing for the preſent ſeemeth to bee ioyous, but grieuous: but afterward, it bringeth the quiet fruite of righteouſnes, vnto them which are thereby exerciſed.

12 [8] Wherefore lift vp your hands which [d] hang downe, and your weake knees, 13 And make [e] ſtreight ſteps vnto your feete, leſt that which is halting, bee turned out of the way, but let it rather be healed.

14 *[9] Followe peace with all men, and holineſſe, without the which no man ſhall ſee the Lord.

15 [10] Take heede, that no man fall away from the grace of God: let no [f] roote of bitternes ſpring vp and trouble you, leaſt thereby many be defiled.

16 [11] Let there bee no fornicatour, or prophane perſon as *Eſau, which for one portion of meate ſolde his birthright.

3 An amplification, taken of the circumſtance of the perſon and the things themſelues, which he compareth betweene themſelues: for how great is Jeſus in compariſon of vs, and how farre more grieuous things did he ſuffer then we?

4 He taketh an argument of the profit which commeth to vs by Gods chaſtiſements, vnleſſe wee be in fault. Firſt of all, becauſe ſinne, or that rebellious wickednes of our fleſh, is by this meanes tamed.

5 Secondly, becauſe they are teſtimonies of his fatherly good will towards vs, inſomuch that they ſhewe themſelues to be baſtards, which cannot abide to be chaſtened of God. *Prou.3.11.

6 Thirdly, if men yeelde the right to fathers to whom they ought God we this life, that may right correct them, that be much ſubiect to the our Father, is the author the ſpirites euerlaſting

7 An amplification of the former argument: fathers haue corrected vs after their fancie, ſome fraile and tranſitory but God chaſteneth and for teth vs for our ſingular profit, make vs partakers of his holineſſe: although our ſenſes preſently perceiue, yet of the matter proceeth it.

24 And to Iesus the Mediatour of the new Testament, and to the blood of sprinkling, that speaketh better things then that of Abel.

25 [13] See that ye despise not him that speaketh: for if they escaped not which refused him, that spake on earth: much more shall wee not escape, if we turne away from him, that speaketh from heauen.

26 [14] Whose voyce then shooke the earth, and nowe hath declared, saying, *[l] Yet once more wil I shake, not the earth onely, but also heauen.

27 And this word, Yet once more, signifieth the removing of those things which are shaken, as of things which are made with handes, that the things which are not shaken, may remaine.

28 [15] Wherefore seeing we receiue a kingdom, which cannot be shaken, let vs haue grace whereby we may so serue God, that wee may please him with [m] reuerence and [n] feare.

1 The shape and forme which he saw, which was a counterfeit and forged shape, not a true one. So he calleth them that are driuen vp into heauen, although the part of them perish sleepe in the earth.

2 The application of the former comparison: If they were not lawes to contemne the word which came on the earth, much more shall we not eschew the voyce which speaketh from heauen.

3 He compareth the stedfast obedience of the Gospel, wherewith the whole world was shaken, & euen the very frame of heauen was as it were astonished with the small voice banishing the sound of the gospel by the Prophet Aggeus 2.7. As appeareth euidently in this place the Prophet speaketh of the calling of the Gentiles, that these words must be referred to the kingdome of Christ.

4 We haue to set before vs the examples of valiant Captaines, whom we ought diligently to follow.

5 He repeateth the summe of the doctrine, to wit, the onely ground of all precepts of maners, and that is this: That we ought to quiet and content our selues in Christ onely: for there was yet neuer any man saued without ỹ knowledge of him, neither is at this day saued, neither shalbe saued hereafter.

6 He toucheth them which mixed an externall worship, and especially the difference of meats with the Gospel, which doctrine he plainely condemneth as cleane repugnant to the benefit of Christ.

d By this one kinde which concerneth the difference of cleane, and vncleane meates, we haue to vnderstand all the ceremonial worship.

e Which obserued the difference of them superstitiously.

7 He refuteth their errour by an apt and fit comparison. They which in times past serued the Tabernacle did not eate of the sacrifices whose blood was brought by sinne into the holy place by the hie priest. Moreouer these sacrifices did represent Christ our offring. Therefore they cannot be partakers of him which serue the Tabernacle, that is, such as stand in the seruice of the Law: but let not vs be ashamed to folow him ou of Hierusalem, from whence he was cast out and suffred for in this also Christ, who is the trueth, answereth that figure, in that he suffred without the gate.

f By the Altar, he meaneth the offerings.

g Whereof they cannot be partakers, which stubburnly retaine the rites of the Law.

8 Hee goeth on further in this comparison, and sheweth that this also signified vnto vs, that the godly followers of Christ must as it were go out of the world bearing his crosse.

9 Now that those corporall sacrifices are taken away, he teacheth vs that the true sacrifices of confession remaine, which consist partly in giuing of thankes, and partly in liberalitie, with which sacrifices in deed God is now delighted.

10 We must obey the warnings and admonitions of our Ministers and Elders, which watch for the saluation of the soules which are committed vnto them.

11 The last part of this Epistle, wherein he commendeth his ministerie to the Hebrewes, & wisheth them continuance and increase of graces from the Lord: and excuseth himselfe in that he hath vsed but few words to comfort them, hauing spent the Epistle in disputing: and saluteth certaine brethren familiarly & friendly.

1 The first place or part touching comfort in afflictions, wherein we ought not to be cast downe and be faint hearted, but rather reioyce and be glad.

4 [4] And let patience haue her perfect worke, that ye may be perfect and entire, lacking nothing.

2 The first argument, because our faith is tried though afflictions: which ought to be most pure, seyng it is so honourable for vs. *Rom. 5. 3.

5 [5] If any of you lacke [e] wisedome, let him aske of God, which giueth to all men liberally, and reproacheth no man, and it shalbe giuen him.

3 The second, Because patience, a farre passing and most excellent vertue, is by this meanes ingendered in vs.

6 * But let him aske in faith, and [f] wauer not: [6] for hee that wauereth, is like a waue of the sea, tost of the winde, and caried away.

7 Neither let that man thinke that he shall receiue any thing of the Lord.

8 A double minded man is vnstable in [g] all his waies.

9 [7] Let the brother of [h] low degree reioyce in that he is exalted:

10 [8] Againe he that is [i] rich in that hee is made low: [9] for as the flower of the grasse, shall he * vanish away.

11 For as when the Sunne riseth with heat, then the grasse withereth, and his flower falleth away, and the goodly shape of it perisheth: euen so shall the rich man wither away in all his [k] waies.

12 [10] * Blessed is the man, that endureth [l] tentation: for when he is tried, he shal receiue the crowne of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that loue him.

13 [11] Let no man say when hee is [m] tempted, I am tempted of God: [12] for God cannot be tempted with euill, neither tempteth he any man.

14 But euery man is tempted, when he is driuen away by his owne concupiscence, and is entised.

15 Then when lust hath conceiued, it bringeth forth [n] sinne, and sinne when it is finished, bringeth foorth death.

16 [13] Erre not, my deare brethren.

17 Euery good giuing, and euery perfect gift is from aboue, and commeth downe from the [o] Father of lights, with whom is no variablenesse, neither [p] shadow of turning.

18 [14] Of his owne [q] will begate he vs with the word of trueth, that wee should bee as the [r] first fruites of his creatures.

19 Wherefore my deare brethren, * let euery man be swift to heare, slowe to speake, and slowe to wrath.

20 For the wrath of man doeth not accomplish the [s] righteousnesse of God.

4 The third Argument proueth in maner of an exhortation, that true and continual patience may be discerned from fained and for a time. The crosse is as it were the instrument wherewith God doeth polish and fine vs. Therefore the worke and effect of afflictions, is the perfecting of vs in Christ. 5 An answere to a priuie obiection: It is easily said, but it is not so easily done. Hee answereth that wee neede in this case a farre other maner of wisdome, then the wisdome of man, to iudge those things best for vs, which are most contrary to the flesh: but yet we shal easily obteine this gift of wisedome, if wee aske it rightly, that is, with a sure confidence of God, who is moll bountifull and liberall. e By wisdome he meaneth the knowledge of that doctrine whereof mention is made before, to wit, wherefore we are afflicted of God, and what fruite we haue to reape of affliction. *Matth. 7. 7. marke 11. 24. luke 11. 9. iohn 14. 13. and 16. 23. f Why then, what need other Mediatour? 6 A similitude or going aside from his matter, against prayers which are conceiued with doubting minde, whereas we haue a certaine promise of God, and this is the second part of the Epistle. g In al his thoughts and his deedes. 7 He returneth to his purpose repeating the proposition, which is, that wee must reioyce in the crosse, for it doeth not presse vs downe, but exalt vs. h Who is afflicted with pouerte, or contempt, or with any kinde of calamitie. 8 Before he concludeth, he giueth a doctrine contrary to the former: to wit, how wee ought to vse prosperitie, which is plentie of all things: to wit, so, that no man therefore please himselfe, but be so much the more boyd of pryde. i Who hath all things at his will.

9 An argument taken of the very nature of things themselues, for they are mutable and transitorie. *Esa. 40. 6. 1. pet. 1. 24.

k Whatsoeuer he either purposeth in his minde or doeth.

10 The conclusion: Therefore we must patiently beare [illegible] and be assured [illegible] which commeth [illegible] all the [illegible] to wit, because we cannot be [illegible] way to the [illegible] of life, but [illegible] grace according [illegible] to the promise. *Iob 5. 17.

l Affliction wherby the Lord trieth him.

11 The third part of this [illegible] ille, wherein [illegible] descendeth [illegible] outward temptations, that is, [illegible] afflictions [illegible] by God tried [illegible] vs, to inward [illegible] that is, to the [illegible] lusts wherein [illegible] are stirred vp [illegible] not euil. The [illegible] summe is this: [illegible] Euery man is [illegible] the author of [illegible] these temptations [illegible] to himselfe, [illegible] and not of God, [illegible] for we beare [illegible] m Or, assayed.

12 Here is a reason shewed, why God cannot be [illegible] author of euill doing in vs, because he desireth not euil. n By sinne is meant in this place, actual sinne. 13 Another reason taken of contraries: God is the author of all goodnesse, and so, that he is alwayes like himselfe: how then can he be thought to be author of euil? o From him who is the fountaine and giuer of all goodnesse. p Hee goeth on in the metaphore: for the sunne by his manifolde and sundry kindes of turning, maketh houres, dayes, moneths, yeeres, light and darkenesse. 14 The fourth part concerning the excellencie and fruite of the word of God. The summe is this: we must heare the word of God with carefulnesse and diligently, seeing it is the seede, wherewith God of his free fauour and loue hath begotten vs vnto himselfe, picking vs out of the number of his creatures. Here the Apostle condemneth two faults, which doe greatly trouble vs in this matter, to wit, for that we so please our selues, that wee had rather speake our selues, then heare God speaking: yea we snuffe and are angry when wee are reprehended: against which faults, he setteth a peaceable and quiet minde, and such an one as is destrous of purities. q This is it which Paul calleth gracious fauour, and good will, which is the fountaine of our saluation. r As it were an holy kinde of offring, taken out of the residue of man. s That which God appointeth.

21 Wherefore lay apart all filthines, and superfluitie of maliciousnes, and receiue with [t] meekenesse the word that is graffed in you, which is able to saue your soules.

22 * [15] And bee ye doers of the word, and not hearers onely, [16] deceiuing your owne selues.

23 [17] For if any heare the word, and doe it not, hee is like vnto a man, that beholdeth his [u] naturall face in a glasse.

24 For when he hath considered himselfe, hee goeth his way, and forgetteth immediatly what maner of one he was.

25 But who so looketh in the perfect Law of libertie, and continueth therein, hee not being a forgetfull hearer, but a doer of the worke, shall be blessed in his [x] deed.

26 [18] If any man among you seeme religious, and refraineth not his tongue, but deceiueth his owne heart, this mans religion is vaine.

27 [19] Pure religion and vndefiled before God, euen the Father, is this, to [x] visite the fatherlesse, and widowes in their aduersitie, and to keepe himselfe vnspotted of the world.

t We are borne againe, the liuely image whereof we beholde in the Lawe. Behauing himselfe so: for workes doe shew faith. 18 The third admonition: The word of God prescribeth a rule not onely to doe well, but also to speake well. The fountaine of all brabling, and cursed speaking, and sawcinesse, is this, that we know not themselues. 19 The fourth: the true seruice of God standeth in charitie toward our neighbours (especially such as neede others helpe, as the fatherlesse and widowes) and puritie of life. x To haue a care of them, and to helpe them as much as we can.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee saith, that to haue respect of persons is not agreeable to Christian faith, 14 which to professe in wordes is not ynough, vnlesse 15 wee shewe it also in deedes of mercy and charitie, 21 after the example of Abraham.

MY [1] brethren, haue not the faith of our [a] glorious Lorde Iesus Christ * in respect of persons.

2 For if there come into your company a man with a golde ring, and in goodly apparell, and there come in also a poore man in vile raiment,

3 And yee haue a respect to him that weareth the gay clothing, and say vnto him, Sit thou here in a [b] goodly place, and say vnto the poore, Stand thou there, or sit here vnder my footestoole,

4 Are yee not partiall in [c] your selues, and are become iudges of euil thoughts?

5 [2] Hearken my beloued brethren, hath not God chosen the [d] poore of this world, that they should be rich in faith, and heires of the kingdome which hee promised to them that loue him?

a worshipped and honourable place. c Haue ye not (which yee ought not to doe) by this meanes within your selues iudged one man to be preferred before another? 2 He proueth, that they are peruerse and naughtie iudges, which preferre the rich before the poore, by that that God on the contrary side preferreth the poore, whom he hath enriched with true riches before the rich. d The needie and wretched, and (if we measure it after the opinion of the world) the veriest abiects of all men.

6 But yee haue despised the poore. [3] Doe not the riche oppresse you by tyrannie, and doe not they drawe you before the iudgement seates?

7 Doe not they blaspheme the worthy Name after which ye be [e] named?

8 [4] But if yee fulfill the [f] royall Lawe, according to the Scripture, which saith, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe, yee doe well.

9 But if ye regard the persons, ye commit sinne, and are rebuked of the Lawe, as transgressors.

10 [5] For whosoeuer shall keepe the whole Lawe, and yet faileth in one point, he is guiltie of [g] all.

11 [6] For he that said, Thou shalt not commit adulterie, said also, Thou shalt not kill. Nowe though thou doest none adulterie, yet if thou killest, thou art a transgressour of the Lawe.

12 [7] So speake ye, and so doe, as they that shall be iudged by the Lawe of libertie.

13 For there shalbe condemnation mercilesse to him that sheweth not [h] mercy, and mercy reioyceth against condemnation.

14 [8] What auaileth it, my brethren, though a man sayeth hee hath faith, when hee hath no workes? can that faith saue him?

15 [9] For if a brother or a sister be naked and destitute of dayly food, 16 And one of you say vnto them, Depart in peace, warme your selues, and fill your bellies, notwithstanding yee giue them not those things, which are needfull to the body, what helpeth it?

17 Euen so the faith, if it haue no workes, is dead in it selfe.

18 But [i] some man might say, Thou hast the faith, and I haue workes: shew me thy faith out of thy workes, and I will shewe thee my faith by my workes.

19 [10] Thou beleeuest that there is one God: thou doest well: the deuils also beleeue it, and tremble.

e Word for word, which is called vpon of you.

3 Secondly, he prooueth them to be mad men, for that the riche men are rather to be holden for cradle & curier, considering that they persecute the Church, and blaspheme Christ: for he speaketh of wicked & prophane rich men, such as the most part of them haue bene alwayes, against whom he setteth the poore and abiect.

4 The conclusion: Charitie which God prescribeth can not agree with the accepting of persons, seeing that we must walke in the kings hie way.

f The Law is said to be royal and like the kings hie way, for that it is plaine and without turnings, and that the Law calleth euery one our neighbour without respect, whom we may helpe by any kinde of duetie.

5 A new argument to proue the same conclusion: They doe not loue their neighbours, which neglect some, and ambitiously honour other: for hee doeth not obey God, which cutteth off from the commandements of God that, that is not so commodious for him, nay he is rather guiltie generally for the breach of the whole Law, although he obserue the residue. g Not that all sinnes are equall, but because he that breaketh one title of the Law, offendeth the Maiestie of the Law giuer. 6 A proofe because the Lawe maker is alwayes one and the selfe same, and the body of the Law cannot be diuided. 7 The conclusion of the whole treatise: we are vpon this condition deliuered from the curse of the Lawe by the mercie of God, that in like sort we should maintaine and cherish charitie and good will one towardes another, and who so doeth not so, shall not taste of the grace of God. h Hee that is hard and currish against his neighbour, or els helpeth him not, he shall finde God an hard and rough iudge to himselfe-ward. 8 The fift place which hangeth very wel with the former treatise, touching a true and liuely faith. And the proposition of this place is this: faith which bringeth not forth workes, is not that faith, whereby we are iustified, but an image of faith: for als this, they are not iustified by faith, which shewe not the effects of faith. 9 The first reason taken of a similitude: If a man say to one that is hungry, Fil thy belly, and yet giueth him nothing, this shall not bee true charitie: so if a man say hee beleeueth, and bringeth forth no workes of his faith, this shall not be a true faith, but a certaine dead thing set out with the name of faith, whereof no man hath to bragge, vnlesse hee will openly incurre reprehension, seeing that the cause is vnderstood by the effects. i Nay, thus may euery man beate downe thy pride. 10 Another reason taken of an absurditie: If such a faith were the true faith whereby wee are iustified, the deuils should bee iustified, for they haue that, but yet notwithstanding they tremble, and are not iustified therefore, neither is that faith a true faith.

20 [11] But wilt thou vnderstand, O thou vaine man, that the faith which is without workes, is dead?

21 Was not Abraham our father [k] iustified through workes, * when hee offered Isaac his sonne vpon the altar?

22 Seest thou not that the faith [l] wrought with his workes? and through the workes was the faith made [m] perfect.

23 And the Scripture was [n] fulfilled which saith, * Abraham beleeued God, and it was imputed vnto him for righteousnesse: and he was called the friend of God.

24 [12] Ye see then how that of workes a man is [o] iustified, and not of [p] faith onely.

25 [13] Likewise also was not * Rahab the harlot iustified through workes, when shee had receiued the messengers, and sent them out an other way?

26 [14] For as the body without the spirite is dead, euen so the faith without workes is dead.

11 The third reason from the example of Abraham, who no doubt had a true faith: but he in offring his sonne, shewed himselfe to haue that faith which was not vain of workes, and therefore he receiued a true testimonie when it was said, that faith was imputed to him for righteousnesse.

k Was he not by his works known and found to be iustified? for he speaketh not here of the causes of iustification, but by what effects we may know that a man is iustified.

*Gen.22.10.

l Was effectual & fruitful with good works.

m That the faith was declared to be a true faith, and that by works. n' Then was the Scripture fulfilled, when it appeared plainely, howe truely it was written of Abraham. *Gen. 15.6. rom.4.3. galat.3.6. 12 The conclusion: He is onely iustified that hath that faith which hath workes following it. o Is prooued to bee iust. p Of that dead and fruitlesse faith which you boast of. 13 A fourth reason taken from a like example of Rahab the harlot, who also prooued by her works that she was iustified by a true faith. *Iosh.2.1. 14 The conclusion repeated againe: faith which bringeth not foorth fruites and workes, is not faith, but a dead carcase.

CHAP. III.

3 To shewe that a Christian man must gouerne his tongue with the bridle of faith and charitie, 9 hee declareth the commodities and mischiefes that ensue thereof: 15 and how much mans wisedome 17 differeth from heauenly.

MY [1] brethren, bee not many maisters, [2] knowing that wee [a] shall receiue the greater condemnation.

2 For in many things we ‖ sinne all. [3] If any man sinne not in worde, he is a perfect man, and able to bridle all the body.

3 [4] Beholde, wee put bits into the horses mouthes, that they should obey vs, [&] we turne about all their body.

4 Beholde also the ships, which though they be so great, [&] are driuen of fierce windes, yet are they turned about with a very small rudder, whither soeuer the Gouernor listeth.

5 Euen so the tongue is a litle member, and boasteth of great things: [5] beholde, howe great a thing a litle fire kindleth.

6 And the tongue is fire, yea, [a] [b] world of wickednesse: so is the tongue set among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and [c] setteth on fire the course of nature, and it is set on fire of hell.

7 For the whole nature of beasts, and of birdes, and of creeping things, and things of the Sea is tamed, and hath bene tamed of the nature of man.

8 But the tongue can no man tame. It is an vnruly euil, ful of deadly poison.

9 [6] Therewith blesse wee God euen the Father, and therewith curse wee men, which are made after the [7] similitude of God.

10 [8] Out of one mouth proceedeth blessing and cursing: my brethren, these things ought not so to be.

11 Doeth a fountaine sende foorth at one place sweete water and bitter?

12 Can the figge tree, my brethren, bring foorth Olives, either a vine figges? so can no fountaine make both salt water and sweet.

13 [9] Who is a wise man and endued with knowledge among you? let him shew by good conuersation his workes in meekenes of wisedome.

14 But if ye haue bitter enuying and strife in your hearts, reioyce not, neither bee liers against the trueth.

15 This wisdome descendeth not from aboue, but is earthly, sensuall, and deuilish.

16 For where enuying and strife is, there is sedition, and all maner of euil workes.

17 But the wisedome that is from aboue, is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, easie to bee intreated, ful of [d] mercy and good fruites, without iudging, and without hypocrisie.

18 [10] And the fruit of righteousnes is sowen in peace, of them that make peace.

1 The first part is plaine: Let no man burthen (as most men ambitiously doe) authoritie to iudge and censure others rigorously.

2 A reason, Because they prouoke Gods seueritie against themselues, which so curiously and rigorously condemne others, being themselues guiltie and faultie.

a Vnlesse we forcease from this maisterlike and proud finding fault with others.

‖ Or, stumble.

3 The seuenth place, touching the bridling of the tongue, ioyned with the former, so that it is manifest that there is no man which may not iustly be found fault withall, seeing it is a rare vertue to bridle the tongue. 4 He proueth by two similitudes, the one taken from the bridles of horses, the other from the rudder of ships, how great matters may be brought to passe by the good moderation of the tongue. 5 On the contrary part he sheweth how great discommodities arise by the intemperancie of the tongue, throughout the whole world, to the end that men may so much the more diligently giue themselues to moderate it. b An heape of all mischiefs. c It is able to set the whole world on fire.

6 Among other faults of the tongue, the Apostle chiefly reproueth backbiting and speaking euil of our neighbours, and in them especially, which as wise will seeme to glory and reioyce.

7 He reuiueth by two reasons, that God can be pursued by that man that vseth euil speaking or backbiting: first because man is the image of God, which whosoeuer reuerenceth not, doeth not honour God himselfe.

8 Secondly, because the nature of nature which God hath set in things, will not suffer things that are so contrarie the one to the other, to stand one with the other.

9 The eight argument which hangeth with the former, touching meekenesse of minde, against which he setteth enuy and a contentious minde. And in the beginning be stoppeth the mouth of the chiefe fountaine of all these mischiefs, to wit, a false perswasion of wisedom, whereas notwithstanding there is no true wisedome, but that is heauenly, and frameth our mindes to all kind of true moderation and simplicitie. d He setteth mercy against the fierce and cruell nature of man, & sheweth that heauenly wisdom bringeth foorth good fruits, for he that is heauenly wise referreth all things to Gods glory, and the profite of our neighbours. 10 Because the world perswadeth it selfe that they are miserable which line peaceably and simply: on the contrary side the Apostle pronounceth that they shall at the length reape the haruest of peace able righteousnesse.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He reckoneth vp the mischiefs that proceed of the workes of the flesh, 7 Hee exhorteth to humilitie, 8 and to purge the heart 9 from pride, 10 backbiting 14 and the forgetfulnesse of our owne infirmitie.

FRom [1] whence are warres [&] contentions among you? are they not hence, euen of your pleasures, that fight in your members?

2 Ye lust, and haue not: ye enuie, and desire immoderately, and cannot obteine: yee fight, and warre, and get nothing, [2] because ye aske not.

3 Ye aske, and receiue not, because ye aske amisse, that ye might lay the same out on your pleasures.

4 [3] Ye adulterers and adulteresses, know

1 He goeth on forward in the same argument, condemning certaine other crimes of lewde contentions, to wit, inordinate pleasures, & immoderate lusts, by their effects, to shame them the more withall, and that the Lord doth iustly make them vaine, so that they bring nothing els to them in whom they are, but vncurable torments. 2 He reprehendeth the by name, because they are not ashamed to go about to make God the minister and helper of their lustes and pleasures in asking things which either are of themselues vnlawfull, or being lawfull, alie them to wicked purposes and vses. 3 Another reason why such vnbridled lusts and pleasures are vtterly to be condemned, to wit, because that he that ioineth himselfe to the world playeth the harlot from God, and breaketh the bands of that holy and spirituall mariage.

ye

ye not that the amitie of the worlde is the enmitie of God? Whosoeuer therefore will be a friend of the worlde, maketh himselfe the enemy of God.

5 [4]Do ye thinke that the Scripture saieth in vaine, The Spirit that dwelleth in vs, lusteth after enuie?

6 But the Scripture offereth more grace, and therefore saith, * God resisteth the proud, and giueth grace to the humble.

7 *[5]Submit your selues to God: resist the deuil, and he will flee from you.

8 Draw neere to God, and he will draw neere to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners, and purge your hearts, ye double minded.

9 [6]Suffer afflictions, and sorrow ye, and weepe: let your laughter be turned into mourning, and your ioy into [a]heauines.

10 *Cast downe your selues before the Lord, and he wil lift you vp.

11 [7]Speake not euill one of another, brethren. He that speaketh euill of his brother, or he that condemneth his brother, speaketh euill of the Lawe, and condemneth the Lawe: and if thou condemnest the Lawe, thou art not an obseruer of the Lawe, but a Iudge.

12 There is one Lawgiuer, which is able to saue, & to destroy. *Who art thou that iudgest another man?

13 [8]Goe to nowe ye that say, To day or to morow we wil go into such a citie, & continue there a yere, and buy and sell, and get gaine,

14 (And yet ye cannot tell what shall bee to morow. For what is your life? It is euen a vapour that appeareth for a litle time, and afterward vanisheth away)

15 For that ye ought to say, *If the Lorde will, and if we liue, we will do this or that.

16 But now ye reioice in your boastings: all such reioycing is euil.

17 [9]Therefore, to him that knoweth how to do well, and doeth it not, to him it is sinne.

2 Your riches are corrupt, and your garments are moth eaten.

3 Your gold and siluer is cankred, & the rust of them shalbe a witnesse against you, and shall eate your flesh, as it were fire. Yee haue heaped vp treasure for the last dayes.

4 Behold, the hire of the labourers, which haue reaped your fields (which is of you kept backe by fraude) crieth, and the cries of them which haue reaped, are entred into the [a]eares of the Lord of hostes.

5 Ye haue liued in pleasure on the earth, and in wantonnes. Yee haue [b]nourished your hearts, as in a [c]day of slaughter.

6 Yee haue condemned & haue killed the iust, and he hath not resisted you.

7 [2]Be patient therefore, brethren, vnto the comming of the Lord. [3]Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, vntill he receiue the former, and the latter raine.

8 Be ye also patient therefore and settle your hearts: for the comming of the Lord draweth neere.

9 [4d]Grudge not one against another, brethren, lest ye be condemned: [5]behold, the iudge standeth before the doore.

10 [6]Take, my brethren, the Prophets for an ensample of suffring aduersitie, & of long patience, which haue spoken in the name of the Lord.

11 Behold, we count them blessed which endure. Ye haue heard of the patience of Iob, & haue knowen what [e]end the Lord made. For the Lord is very pitiful and merciful.

12 [7]But before all things, my brethren, *sweare not, neither by heauen, nor by earth, nor by any other othe: but let [f]your yea, be yea, and your nay, nay, lest you fall into condemnation.

13 [8]Is any among you afflicted? Let him pray. Is any merie? Let him sing.

14 [9]Is any sicke among you? Let him call for the Elders of the church, and let them pray for him, and annoynt him with *oyle in the [h]Name of the Lord.

15 And the prayer of faith shall saue the sicke, and the Lord shal raise him vp: and if hee haue committed [i]sinnes, they shall be forgiuen him.

a The Lord who is more mighty then ye are, hath heard them.
b Ye haue pampered vp your selues.
c The Hebrewes call a day that is appointed to solemne banketting, a day of slaughter or feasting.
2 He applieth that to the poore, which he spake against the rich, warning them to waite for the Lords comming patiently, who wil reuenge the iniuries which the rich men do them.
3 The taking away of an obiection: Although his comming seeme to linger, yet at the last we must folow the husbandmen, who do patiently wait for y times that are proper for the fruits of the earth. And againe, God will not deferre the least iote of the time that he hath appointed.
4 He commendeth Christian patience, for that where as other things prouoke vs to reuenge one another, the faithfull on the contrary side, complaine not although they receiue iniurie.
d By grudging he meaneth a certaine inward cõplaining which betokeneth impatiencie.
5 The conclusion: The Lord is at the doore: he will defend his owne, & reuenge his enemies, and therefore we need not to trouble our selues.
6 Because mē men are wont to obiect, that it is good to repel iniuries by what means soeuer, he setteth against that, the examples of the fathers, whose patience had a most happy end, because God as a most bountiful Father, neuer forsaketh his.
e What ende the Lord gaue.
7 Because euen the best men sometimes through impatience breake out into othes, sometimes lesser, sometimes greater, the Apostle warneth vs to detest such wickednes, & to accustome our tongues to simple and true talke. *Matt. 5. 34.
f That that you haue to say or affirme, speake or affirme it simply, and without an othe: and that that you will deny, deny it simply and flatly.
8 He sheweth the best remedy against all afflictions, to wit, prayers which haue their place both in ioye and ioy.
9 He sheweth peculiarly, to what physicians especially we must goe, when we are diseased, to wit, to the prayers of the Elders, which then also could cure the body, (for so much as the gift of healing was then in force) and take away the chiefest cause of sicknesses and diseases, by obtaining for the sicke through their prayers and exhortations, remission of sinnes. *Marke 6. 13.
g This was a signe of the gift of healing: and now seeing we haue the gift no more, the signe is no longer necessary.
h By calling on the Name of the Lord.
i He hath reason in making mention of sinnes, for diseases are for the most part sent because of sinnes.

CHAP. V.

1 He threatneth the rich with Gods seuere iudgement, for their pride, 7 that the poore hearing the miserable end of the riche, 8 may patiently beare afflictions, 11 as Iob did, 14 euen in their distresses.

CHAP. I.

1 He extolleth Gods mercy ſhewed in Chriſt, which we lay hold on by faith, and poſſeſſe through hope: 10 whereof the Prophets foretold. 13 Hee exhorteth 15 to renounce the world, 23 and their former life, & ſo wholy yeeld themſelues to God.

PEter an Apoſtle of Jeſus Chriſt, to the ſtrangers that dwell here and there throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Aſia and Bithynia,

2 [1] Elect according to the [a] foreknowledge of God the Father vnto [b] ſanctification of the Spirite, through obedience and ſprinkling of the blood of Jeſus Chriſt: Grace and peace be multiplied vnto you.

3 Bleſſed be God, euen the Father of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten vs againe vnto a [c] liuely hope by the reſurrectiõ of Jeſus Chriſt from the dead,

4 To an inheritance immortal and vndefiled, and that withereth not, reſerued in heauen for vs,

5 [2] Which are kept by the power of God through faith vnto ſaluation, which is prepared to be ſhewed in the [d] laſt time.

6 Wherein ye reioyce, though now for a ſeaſon (if neede require) yee are in heauineſſe, through manifold tentations,

7 That the triall of your faith, being much more precious then golde that perisheth (though it be tried with fire) might bee found vnto your praiſe, and honour and glory at the [e] appearing of Jeſus Chriſt:

8 Whom ye haue not ſeene, and yet loue him, in whom now, though ye ſee him not, yet doe you beleeue, and reioyce with ioy vnſpeakable and glorious,

9 Receiuing the ‖ end of your faith, euen the ſaluation of your ſoules.

10 [3] Of the which ſaluation the Prophets haue inquired and ſearched, which prophecied of the grace that ſhould come vnto you,

11 Searching when or what time the Spirite which teſtified before of Chriſt which was in them, ſhould declare the ſuffrings that ſhould come vnto Chriſt, and the glory that ſhould follow.

12 Vnto whom it was reueiled, that not vnto themſelues, but vnto vs they ſhould miniſter the things, which are nowe ſhewed vnto you by them which haue preached vnto you the goſpel by the holy Ghoſt [f] ſent downe from heauen, the which things the Angels deſire to behold.

13 [4] Wherefore, [g] gird vp the loines of your mind: bee ſober, [5] and truſt [h] perfectly on that grace [6] that is brought vnto you, [7] in the reuelation of Jeſus Chriſt,

1 Peter purpoſing to ſpeake of the duties of a Chriſtian life, traineth firſt of the principles and beginnings of all Chriſtian actions, riſing farre higher then nature, and carying vs alſo farre aboue the ſame. For he ſheweth that we which are otherwiſe of nature ſinners, were through the free mercy of God the Father firſt choſen from euerlaſting: then according to that euerlaſting decree, were by a certaine ſecond creation made his ſonnes in Chriſt his onely begotten, by whoſe ſpirite we are inwardly changed, & by whoſe blood we are alſo reconciled, to ꝑ end, that as Chriſt himſelf roſe againe from the dead, we alſo might be receiued into that ſame heauenly and euerlaſting glory. a Or, according to the purpoſe of God, who neuer altereth nor changeth the ſame. b That being ſet apart frõ the reſt of the wicked world, through the working of the holy Ghoſt, they ſhould be conſecrated to God, Epheſ. 1.5. c Euerlaſting hope. 2 Now he ſheweth by what way we come vnto that glory, to wit, through all kind of afflictions, wherin notwithſtanding faith maketh vs ſo ſecure, that we are not onely not ouercome with ſorrow, but alſo through the beholding of God himſelfe (who otherwiſe is inuiſible) with the eyes of faith, are vnſpeakablely ioyful: becauſe all ſuch things, as they are but for a time, ſo are they not applied vnto vs to deſtroy vs, but as it were by fire to purge vs, and to make vs perfite, that at the length we may obteine ſaluation. d This is that time which Daniel calleth the time of the end, when as that great reſtoring of all things ſhalbe, which all creatures looke for, Rom.8.19.

e He ſpeaketh of the ſecond comming of Chriſt.

‖ Or, reward.

3 He putteth a difference betweene true faith, that is to ſay, that faith which onely hath an eie to the doctrine of the Prophets and Apoſtles, and faith: Afterward he taketh two degrees of one and the ſelfſame faith, according to the maner of the reuelations, when as indeed it is but one onely faith. Thirdly, he ſaieth, that the preaching of the Apoſtles is the fulfilling of the preaching of the Prophets, alſo though the latter end of it be as yet looked for of the very Angels.

f He alludeth to the prophecie of Ioel, which was exhibited vpon the day of Pentecoſt in the Apoſtles, who were in the firſt fruites of the holy Ghoſt, which this ſame our Peter declareth Acts 2.6. 4 Hee goeth from faith to hope, which is in deede a comparatiue that cannot bee ſundered from faith: and hee vſeth an argument taken of a compariſon: We ought not to bee wearied in looking for ſo excellent a thing, ſeeing the very Angels waite for with great deſire. g This is a borowed ſpeach of a common vſage amongſt them: for by reaſon that they weare long garments, they could not trauaile vnleſſe they girded vp themſelues: and hence it is that Chriſt ſayde Let your loynes bee girded vp. 5 Hee ſetteth foorth very briefly, what maner of hope ours ought to bee, to wit, continuall, inaſmuch as we reioy the thing wee hope for: then, what wee haue to hope for, to wit, grace (that is, free ſaluation) reuealed to vs in the Goſpell, and not that, that men doe rathly and fondly promiſe to themſelues. h Soundly and ſincerely. 6 An argument to ſtirre vp our mindes, ſeeing that God doeth not waite till we ſeeke him, but cauſeth ſo great a benefit to be brought euen vnto vs. 7 Hee ſetteth out the ende of faith, leaſt any man ſhould promiſe himſelfe either ſooner or later, that full ſaluation, to wit, the latter comming of Chriſt: and therewithall warneth vs, not to meaſure the dignitie of the Goſpell according to the preſent ſtate, ſeeing that that which wee are nowe, is not yet reueiled.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth the newe borne in faith, to lead their lyues anſwerable to the ſame: 6 and leaſt their faith ſhould ſtagger, he bringeth in that which was foretold touching Chriſt. 11 Then he willeth them to be obedient to Magiſtrates, 21 and that they patiently beare aduerſitie after Chriſtes example.

*Rom.6.4. ephes.4.23. coloſ.3.8. hebr.12.1.

1 Hauing laid for the foundation on the Spirit of God effectually working by the woꝛd, and hauing built theꝛeupon theꝛ vertues which are the grounds of all Chriſtian actions, to wit, faith, hope, and charitie: now he proceedeth to a generall exhoꝛtation, firſt member whereof is, that we flee all ſhew, both of ſecret and open malice.

2 The ſecond is, that being newly begotten and boꝛne of the incoꝛruptible ſeed of the woꝛd, deſiring and ſucking greedily the ſame milke as milke, we ſhould encreaſe and waxe, as it were grow vp in that ſpirituall life. Milke he calleth it, becauſe it is a moſt pure thing, but alſo that we ſhould take heede of them which coꝛrupt it. 3 As becommeth new men. ‖ Hee commendeth that ſpirituall nouriſhment for the ſweetneſſe and profite of it. ‖ Or, doe caſt. 4 He goeth on forward in the ſame exhoꝛtation, but vſeth another kind of boꝛowed ſpeach, alluding to the Temple. Therefoꝛe he ſaieth, that the company of the faithfull is as it were a certaine holy and ſpirituall building, built of liuely ſtones, the foundation whereof is Chriſt, as a liuely ſtone ſuſtaining all that are ioyned vnto him with his liuing breath, & knitting them together with himſelfe, although this ſo great a treaſure be neglected of men. 5 Going forward in the ſame ſimilitude, he compareth vs now to Prieſts, placed to this end in that ſpirituall Temple, that we ſhould ſerue him with a ſpirituall woꝛſhip, that is, with holineſſe and righteouſneſſe: but as the Temple, ſo is the Prieſthood built vpon Chriſt, in whom onely all our ſpirituall offerings are accepted. *Reuel.1.6. 6 He proceeth it by the teſtimonie of the Prophet Eſai. *Eſai.28.16. rom.9.33. 7 By ſetting the moſt bleſſed election of the beleeuers, and the moſt miſerable of the rebellious one againſt the other, he pricketh foꝛward the beleeuers, and triumpheth ouer the other: and alſo preuenteth an offence which ariſeth theꝛeof, that none doe moꝛe reſiſt this doctrine of the Goſpel, then they which are chiefeſt among the people of God, as were at that time that Peter wrote theſe things, the Prieſts and Elders, and Scribes. Therefoꝛe he anſwereth firſt of all: that there is no cauſe why any man ſhould be aſtoniſhed at this their ſtubburnes, as though it were a ſtrange matter, ſeeing we haue bene foꝛewarned ſo long before, that it ſhould ſo come to paſſe: and moꝛeouer, that it pleaſed God to create and make certaine to this ſelfe ſame purpoſe, that the Sonne of God might be glorified in their iuſt condemnation. Thirdly, ſo that the glory of Chriſt is theꝛeby ſet foorth greatly, whereas notwithſtanding Chriſt remaineth the ſure head of his Church, and they that ſtumble at him, call downe and ouerthꝛow themſelues, and not Chriſt. Fourthly, although they be ordeined to this ende and purpoſe, yet their fall and decay is not to bee attributed to God, but to their owne obſtinate ſtubburnes which commeth betweene Gods decree, and the execution theꝛeof, oꝛ their condemnation, and is the true & proper cauſe of their deſtruction. *Pſal.118.22.mat.21.42.acts 4.11. *Eſai.8.14.rom.9.33. 8 The contrary member, to wit, he deſcribeth the ſingular excellencie of the elect, and alſo leſt any man ſhould doubt whether he be choſen oꝛ not, he Apoſtle calleth vs backe to the effectual calling, that is, to the voice of the goſpel ſounding both in our eares and mindes by the outward preaching and Sacraments, whereby we may certainely vnderſtand that euerlaſting decree of our ſaluation, (which otherwiſe is moſt ſecret and hidden) and that through the onely mercy of God, who freely chuſeth and calleth vs. Therefoꝛe this onely remaineth, ſaieth he, that by all meanes poſſible we ſet foorth ſo great goodnes of the moſt mighty God.

all * Priesthood, an holy nation, a people set at libertie, that ye should shew forth the vertues of him that hath called you out of darkenesse into his marueilous light,

10 *Which in time past were not a people, yet are nowe the people of God: which in time past were not vnder mercie, but now haue obteined mercie.

11 [9] Dearely beloued, [10] I beseech you, as strangers and pilgrims, * [11] abstaine from fleshly lustes, [12] which fight against the soule, 12 [13] *And haue your conuersation honest among the Gentiles, that they which speake euill of you as of euill doers, [14] may by your * good workes which they shall see, glorifie God in the day of [d] visitation.

13 [15] *Therefore submit your selues vnto [e] all maner ordinance of man [16] for the Lordes sake, [17] whether it be vnto the King, as vnto the superiour, 14 Or vnto gouernours, as vnto them that are sent of him, [18] for the punishment of euill doers, and for the praise of them that doe well.

15 [19] For so is the will of God, that by well doing ye may put to silence the ignorance of the foolish men, 16 As free, and not as hauing the libertie for a cloke of maliciousnesse, but as the seruants of God.

17 [20] [d] Honour all men: *loue [e] brotherly fellowship: feare GOD: honour the King.

18 *[21] Seruants, be subiect to your masters with all feare, not onely to the good and courteous, but also to the froward.

19 *[22] For this is thanke worthie, if a man for [f] conscience toward God endure grief, suffering wrongfully.

20 For what praise is it, if when yee bee buffeted for your faults, yee take it patiently? but and if when yee doe well, ye suffer wrong and take it patiently, this is acceptable to God.

21 [23] For hereunto ye are called: for Christ also suffred for you, leauing you an ensample that ye should follow his steps.

22 *Who did no sinne, neither was there guile found in his mouth.

23 Who when he was reuiled, reuiled not againe: when hee suffered, he threatned not, but [24] committed it to him [25] that iudgeth righteously.

24 *[26] Who his own selfe bare our sinnes in his body on the tree, that wee being dead to sinne, should liue in righteousnesse: by whose stripes ye were healed.

25 For ye were as sheep going astray: but are now returned vnto the shepheard and Bishop of your soules.

Gen.17.6.

Hose.2.23. rom.9.25.

1 Pe returneth to the generall exhortation. b A reason why we ought to liue holily, to wit, because we are citizens of heauen, and therefore we ought to liue according to the Lawes not of this world, which is most corrupt, but if the heauenly citie, although we be strangers in the world. c Rom.13.14. gala.5.16.

11 Another argument: The children of God are not seruants to the flesh, that is, according to that carnall nature, but according to spirituall. Here some fitly noteth, that we must not beare rule in vs. 12 The third argument: for although those rules flatter vs, yet they cease not to fight against our saluation.

* 2.Cor.7.10. 22 The taking away of an obiection: Indeed the condition of seruants is hard especially if they serue froward maisters: but this their temptation shall be so much the more acceptable to God, if this their patience more with seruants, then the maisters iniuries.

f Because he knoweth a conscience of it to offend God, by whose good will and appointment he knoweth this burden is laide vpon him.

23 He setteth the grieuousnesse of Christ his suffring before them: he setteth plainly that Christ was also for seruants, that they should beare so much the more patiently this inequalitie betwixt men which are of one selfe same nature: moreouer setting before them Christ that Lord of Lords for an ensample, he signifieth that they cannot but seeme too delicate, which thinke themselues more grieued in bearing of iniuries, then Christ himselfe who was most iust, and most sharply of all afflicted, and yet most most patient. g A borowed kind of speech taken of painters & schoolemasters.

* Esai.53.9.1.iohn 3.5. 24 He setteth them a remedie against iniuries, to wit, that they commend their cause to God, by the ensample of Christ. 25 He setteth now to frame his speach to maisters, which haue also themselues a maister & iudge in heauen, who will iustly reuenge the iniuries that are done to seruants, without any respect of persons. * Esa.53.5.matt.8.17. 26 He calleth the seruants backe from the consideration of the iniuries which they are constrained to beare, to thinke vpon the greatnesse and the end of the benefit receiued of Christ.

13 The fourth argument, taken of the profite of so doing: for by this meanes also he prouoke for our good name & estimation, whilest we compell them at length to change their mindes, which spake euill of vs. * Chap.3.16. 14 The fifth argument, which also is of great force: Because the glory of God is greatly set forth by that meanes, whilest by example of our honest life, euen the most peruerse men are brought vnto God, and submit themselues vnto him. * Matt.5.16. h When God shall also haue mercie on them. 15 That which he spake generally, he now expoundeth by partes, describing seuerally euery mans duetie. And first of all he speaketh of obedience which is due both to the Lawes, and also to the Magistrates, both higher and lower. * Rom.13.1. c By ordinance, is meant the framing and ordering of ciuill gouernment: which he calleth ordinance of man, not because man inuented it, but because it is proper to men. 16 The first argument: because the Lord is the Author and reuenger of this policie of men, that is, which is set amongst men: and therefore the true seruants of the Lord must aboue all others be diligent obseruers of this order. 17 He preuenteth a cauill which is made by some that say, they will obey Kings, and the higher Magistrates, and yet contemne their ministers: as though their ministers were not armed with their authoritie which sent them. 18 The second argument taken of the end of this order, which is not onely most profitable, but also very necessarie: seeing that by this meanes vertue is rewarded, and vice punished: wherein the quietnesse and happinesse of this life consisteth. 19 He declareth the first argument more amply, shewing that Christian libertie doeth amongst all things stil of not at all consist herein, to wit, to cast off the bridle of Lawes, (as at that time some altogether vnskilfull in the kingdome of God reported) but rather in this, that liuing holily according to the will of God, we should make manifest to all men, that the Gospell is not a cloke for sinne & wickednesse, seeing we are in such sort free, that yet we are still the seruants of God, and not of sinne. 20 He diuideth the ciuill life of man, by occasion of those things which hee spake, into two generall partes: to wit, into those dueties which priuate men owe to priuate men, and especially the faithfull to the faithfull, and into that subiection wherby inferiours are bound to their superiours: but so, that Kings be not made equall to God, seeing that feare is due to God, and honour to Kings. d Be charitable and dueefull towards all men. * Chapter 1.22. rom.12.10. e The assemblie and fellowship of the brethren, as Zechorie 11.14. * Ephes.5.6. colosh.3.22. 21 Pe goeth to the duetie of seruants towardes their maisters, which hee describeth with these bounds, that seruants subiect themselues willingly, and not by constraint, not onely to the good and courteous, but also to the frowarde and harde maisters.

CHAP. III.

1 That Christian women should not contemne their husbands though they be infidels, 5 He bringeth in examples of godly women, 8 Generall exhortations, 14 patiently to beare persecutions, 15 and boldly to yeelde a reason of their faith. 18 Christes example.

LIkewise *[1] let the wiues be subiect to their husbands, [2] that euen they which obey not the word, may without the word be won by the conuersation of the wiues.

2 While they beholde your pure conuersation which is with feare.

3 *[3] Whose apparelling, let it not be that outward, with broided haire, and gosde put about, or in putting on of apparel:

4 But let it be the [a] hid man of the heart, which consisteth in the incorruption of a meek and quiet spirit, which is [b] before God a thing much set by.

5 [4] For euen after this manner in time

* Col.3.18. ephes.5.22. 1 In the three place he entreth vpon the mutuall duties in their husbands, commanding them to be obedient. 2 He speaketh namely of them which haue husbands (that were not Christians) which ought so much the more be subiect to their husbands, by their holy conuersation, the praise gaine them to the Lord.

* 1.Tim.2.9. 3 He condemneth the rise and excesse of women, and setteth forth their true apparelling, such as is precious before God, to wit, the inward and incorruptible, which consisteth in a meeke and quiet spirite. a Who hath his heart fattened in the heart: so that the bad man is set against the outward decking of the body. b Precious in deed, and to be taken of God. 4 An argument taken of the ensample of women, and specially of Sara, which was the mother of all beleeuers.

past

past did the holy women, which trusted in God tire themselues, and were subiect to their husbands,

6 As Sara obeyed Abraham, and *called him Sir: whose daughters ye are, while ye doe wel, [5] not being afraid of any terrour.

7 *[6] Likewise ye husbands, [c] dwell with them as men of [d] knowledge, [7] giuing [e] honour vnto the woman, as vnto the weaker [f] vessell, [g] euen as they which are heires together of the [g] grace of life, [h] that your prayers be not interrupted.

8 [10] Finally, be ye all of one mind: one sufferwith another: loue as brethren: be pitiful: be courteous, 9 *[11] Not rendring euill for euill, neither rebuke for rebuke: but contrarywise, blesse, [12] knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should be heires of blessing.

10 *[13] For if any man long after life, and to [k] see good dayes, let him refraine his tongue from euill, and his lippes that they speake no guile, 11 *Let him eschew euil, and do good: let him seeke peace, and follow after it.

12 For the eyes of the Lorde are ouer the righteous, and his eares are open vnto their prayers: and the [i] face of the Lord is against them that doe euil.

13 [14] And who is it that will harme you, if ye follow that which is good?

14 *Notwithstanding blessed are ye, if ye suffer for righteousnes sake. [15] Yea, *feare not their [k] feare, neither be troubled.

15 But [l] sanctifie the Lorde God in your hearts: [16] and be ready alwayes to giue an answere to euery man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you, with meekenes and reuerence, 16 Hauing a good conscience, that when they speake euill of you as of euill doers, they may be ashamed, which slander your good conuersation in Christ.

17 [17] For it is better (if the will of God be so) that ye suffer for well doing, then for euil doing.

18 *[18] For Christ also hath once suffered for sinnes, [19] the iust for the vniust, [20] that hee might bring vs to God, [21] and was put to death concerning the [m] flesh, but was quickened by the spirit.

19 [22] By ‖ the which he also went, [n] preached vnto the ‖ spirits that are in prison, 20 Which were in time passed disobedient, when [o] once the long suffring of God abode in the dayes of *Noe, while the Arke was preparing, wherin few, that is, eight [p] soules were saued in the water.

21 [23] Whereof the baptisme that nowe is, answering that figure, (which is not a putting away of the filth of the flesh, but a constant demanding which a good conscience maketh to [q] God) saueth vs also [24] by the resurrection of Iesus Christ.

22 Which is at the right hand of God, gone into heauen, to whom the Angels, [r] Powers, and might are subiect.

5 Because two more are of more feareful, be carefull them to [illegible] and that [illegible] requireth of [illegible] that subiection, which is [illegible] ioyning out [illegible] them either by [illegible] or feare.
6 Gen. 7.3.
[illegible] teacheth [illegible] beings also [illegible] duties, to [illegible] that the [illegible] vnderstanding and wise- [illegible] they haue, the more wisely and circumspectly they behaue themselues.
a Do all the duetie of wedlocke.
d The more wisdom the husband hath, the more circumspectly he must behaue himselfe in bearing those [illegible] commodities, which through the womans weakneslie oftimes cause trouble both to the husband and the wife.
7 The second argument: because the wife notwithstanding that she is weaker by nature then the man, is an excellent instrument of the same, made to shew most excellent [illegible] wherevpon it followeth, that she is not therefore to be neglected, because she is weake, but on the contrary part she ought to be so much the more cared for.
e Hauing an honest care of her.
f The woman is called a vessell after the maner of the Hebrues, because the husband vseth her as his fellow and helper to liue faithfully before God.
8 The third argument: for that they are equal in that which is the chiefest (that is to say, in the benefite of eternall life) which otherwise are vnequall as touching the gouernance and conuersation at home, and therefore they are not to be neglected although they be weake.
g Of that gracious and free benefite, whereby wee haue euerlasting life giuen vs.
9 The fourth argument: All brawlings and chidings must bee eschewed, because they hinder prayers and the whole seruice of God, whereunto the husband and the wife are equally called.
10 He returneth to common exhortations, and commendeth concord and whatsoeuer things pertaine to the maintenance of peace and mutual loue. *Pro.17.13. and 20.22. matt.5.39. rom.12.17. 1.thessal.5.15.
11 Thee must not onely not recompense iniurie for iniurie, but we must also recompense them with benefits.
12 An argument taken of comparison: Seeing that we our selues are called of God whom we offend in other, to so great a benefite, (so farre is he from reuenging the iniuries which we doe vnto him,) shall wee rather make our selues vnworthie of so great bountifulnes, then forgiue one another faults? And from this verse to the end of the chapter, there is a digression or going from the matter he is in hand with, to exhort vs valiantly to beare afflictions. *Psal.34.13.
13 A secret obiection: But this our patience shall be nothing els but a fleshing and hardening of the wicked in their wickednes, to make them set vpon vs more boldly and destroy vs. Nay (saieth the Apostle by the wordes of Dauid) to liue without doing hurt, and to follow after peace when it fleeth away, is the way to that happy and quiet peace. And if so bee any man be afflicted for doing iustly, the Lord marketh all things, and will in his time deliuer the godly, which cry vnto him, and will destroy the wicked.
h Lead a blessed and happy life. *Psal.1.16.
i This worde (Face) after the maner of the Hebrewes, is taken for (anger.)
14 The second argument: when the wicked are prouoked, they are more vngodly: therefore they must rather bee ouercome with good turnes. And if they cannot be gotten by that meanes also, yet notwithstanding they shall bee blessed. if wee suffer for righteousnesse sake.
* Matth.5.10.
15 A most certeine counsell in afflictions, bee they neuer so terrible, to bee of a constant mind, and to stand fast. But how shall we accomplish it? If we sanctifie God in our minds and hearts, that is to say, if wee rest vpon him as one that is Almightie, that loueth mankind, that is good and true in deed.
* Psal.8.12.
16 k Be not dismaied as they are.
l Giue him all prayse and glory, and hang only on him.
16 He not hide vs, when we are afflicted for the testimonie of our faith, but to be carefull to for redemption of our life, either with denying or renouncing the truth, or with like dishonest, or any such meanes but rather to giue an accompt of our faith boldly, and yet with a meeke spirit, and fit of godly reuerence, that the enemies may not haue to obiect, but may rather be ashamed of their selues.
17 A reason which standeth vpon two generall rules of Christianitie, which inwardly staieth all men alike out of Turkie one is, if we must needs suffer afflictions, it is better to suffer vngodlie then righteously: the other is this, he could not easily afflicted nor be hurt, but by the will of our God.
*Rom.5.6. heb 9.15.
18 A proofe of either of the rules by the example of Christ himselfe our chiefe paterne, who was afflicted not for his owne sinnes (which were none) but for ours, and that according to his Fathers pretter.
19 An argument taken of comparison: Christ the iust, suffered for vs that are iniust, and shal it grieue vs which are iniust to suffer for the Iustest cause?
20 An other argument being partly taken of things coupled together, to wit, because Christ bringeth vs to his Father that same way that he went himselfe, and partly from the cause efficient: to wit, because Christ is not only set before vs for an example to follow, but also he holdeth vs vp by his vertue in all the difficulties of this life, vntil he bring vs to his Father.
21 An other argument taken of the happy end of these afflictions, wherein also Christ goeth before vs both in example and vertue, as one who suffered most grieuous tormentes euen vnto death, although but in one part onely of him, to wit, in the flesh or mans nature: but yet became conqueror by vertue of his diuinitie.
m As touching his manhood, for his bodie was dead, and his soule felt the sorowes of death.
22 A secret obiection: Christ in deed might doe this, but what is that to vs? Yes (saieth the Apostle) for Christ hath shewen forth this vertue in al ages both to the preseruation of the godly (were they neuer so few and miserable, and to reuenge the rebellion of his enemies, as it appeareth by the dilluge of the flood) for Christ is he which in those daies (wil God thorough his patience appointed a time of repentance to the world) was present, not in corporal presence, but by his diuine vertue, preaching repentance, euen by the mouth of Noe himselfe who then prepared the Arke, to those disobedient spirites which are now in prison, waiting for the full recompense of their rebellion, if saued those few, (that is, eight onely persons) in the water.
‖ By the vertue of which Spirit, that is to say, of the diuinitie: therfore this word, Spirit, cannot in this place be taken for the soule, vnlesse we will say, that Christ was raised vp againe & quickned by the vertue of his soule.
‖ He calleth them spirits, in respect of his time, not in respect of the time that they were in the flesh.
n This word (once) sheweth that there was a forthermost day appointed, & if that were once past, there should be no more.
*Gen.6.14. mat.24.38. luke 17.26.
o Men.
23 A prepositional applying of the former example to the times which followed the cumming of Christ: for that preseruation of Noe in the waters, was a figure of our Baptisme, not although y material water of Baptisme saueth vs, as those waters which bare vp the arke saued Noe, but because Christ with his inward vertue, which y outward baptisme shadoweth, preserueth vs being washed, so y we may cal vpon God with a good conscience.
p The conscience being sanctified may freely call vpon God.
24 That selfe same vertue, whereby Christ rose againe, and now being exalted into heauen hath receiued all power, doeth at this day defend and preserue vs.

CHAP. IIII.

1 How Christes example, and applieth it 6 to the mortifying of the flesh, especially commending charitie: 12 And so intreateth of patience. 17 That it is necessarie that correction begin at the Church.

1 For

FOraſmuch [1] then as Chriſt hath ſuffred for vs in the fleſhe, arme your ſelues likewiſe with the ſame minde, which is, that hee which hath ſuffered in the fleſh, hath ceaſed from ſinne.

2 That hee henceforward ſhoulde liue (as much time as [a] remaineth in the fleſh) not after the luſtes of men, but after the will of God.

3 [*2] For it is ſufficient for vs that wee haue ſpent the time paſt of the life, after the [b] luſt of the Gentiles, walking in wantonnes, luſts, drunkennes, in gluttonie, drinkings, and in abominable idolatries.

4 [3] Wherein it ſeemeth to them [c] ſtrange, that yee runne not with them vnto the ſame exceſſe of riot: therefore ſpeake they euill of you.

5 Which ſhal giue accounts to him, that is ready to iudge quicke and dead,

6 [4] For vnto this purpoſe was the Goſpel preached alſo vnto the dead, that they might be condemned, according to men in the fleſh, but might liue according to God in the ſpirit.

7 [5] Nowe the ende of all things is at hand. Be ye therefore ſober, and watching in prayer.

8 [6] But aboue all things haue feruent loue among you: *for loue ſhall couer the multitude of ſinnes.

9 [7] Bee yee *harberous one to another, without grudging.

10 [8*] Let euery man as he hath receiued the gift, miniſter the ſame one to another, [9] as good diſpoſers of the manifolde grace of God.

11 [10] If any man ſpeake, let him ſpeake as the wordes of God. If any man miniſter, let him doe it as of the abilitie which God miniſtreth, that God in all things may be glorified through Ieſus Chriſt, to whome is praiſe and dominion for euer, and euer. Amen.

12 [11] Dearely beloued, think it not [d] ſtrange [12] concerning the fierie triall, which is among you to prooue you, as though ſome ſtrange thing were come vnto you:

13 [13] But reioyce, in as much as yee are partakers of Chriſtes ſufferings, that when his glory ſhall appeare, yee may bee glad and reioyce.

14 [*14] If ye be raiſed vpon for the Name of Chriſt, bleſſed are ye: for the [e] ſpirit of glorie, and of God reſteth vpon you: which on their part is euill ſpoken of: but on your part is glorified.

15 [15] But let none of you ſuffer as a murtherer, or as a thiefe, or an euil doer, or as a buſie body in other mens matters.

16 But if any man ſuffer as a Chriſtian, let him not bee aſhamed: but let him glorifie God in this behalfe.

17 [16] For the time is come, that iudgement muſt begin at the houſe of God. [17] If it firſt begin at vs, what ſhall the end be of them which obey not the Goſpel of God?

18 [*] And if the righteous ſcarcely bee ſaued, where ſhall the vngodly and the ſinner appeare?

19 [18] Wherefore let them that ſuffer according to the will of God, commit their ſoules to him in well doing, as vnto a faithfull creator.

1 Hauing ended his digreſſion (ſtil fleeing from the matter, now he returneth to his exhortation which he drake of, taking occaſion by that which he ſaide touching the death and reſurrection of Chriſt, profeſſing our ſanctification, that is to be ſanctified, is al one as to ſuffer in the fleſh, that is to ſay, to leaue off from our wickednes and diſorderlines: and to liue againe to God, that is to ſay, to be renued by the vertue of the holy Ghoſt, that we may leade the reſt of our life which remaineth, after the will of God.

a So much of this preſent life as remaineth yet to be paſſed ouer.

* 1.Pet.4.22.

b By putting vs in minde of the diſhoneſtie of our former life lyen in the filth of ſinne, he calleth vs to earneſt repentance.

b Wickedly and licentiouſly after the maner of the Gentiles.

c That we be not moued with the enemies peruerſe and ſlanderous iudgements of vs, we haue to ſet againſt them that laſt iudgement of God which remaineth for them: for none, whether they be then found liuing, or were dead before, ſhal eſcape it.

c They thinke it a new and ſtrange matter. 4 A digreſſion: becauſe he made mention of the laſt generall iudgement. And he preuenteth an obiection, that ſeeing Chriſt came very lately, they may ſeeme to bee excuſable which died before. But this the Apoſtle denieth for (ſaith he) this ſelfe ſame Goſpel was preached vnto them alſo (for he ſpeaketh to the Iewes,) and that to the ſame ende that I now preach it vnto you, to wit, that the fleſh being abolished and put away (that is to ſay, that wicked and naughty corruption which reigneth in men) they ſhould ſuffer themſelues to be gouerned by the vertue of the ſpirit of God. 5 Hee returneth to his purpoſe, vſing an argument taken from the circumſtance of the time. Becauſe the laſt ende is at hand, and therefore wee muſt ſo much the more diligently watch and pray, with true ſobrietie of mind. 6 Hee commendeth charitie of one towards another, becauſe it doth as it were burie a multitude of ſins, and therefore preſerueth & maintaineth peace & concord: for they that loue one another do eaſily forgiue one another their offences. * Pro.10.12. 7 Of all the duties of charitie, he commendeth one, namely which was at that time moſt neceſſarie, to wit, hoſpitalitie, which he will haue to be voluntarily and moſt courteous and bountiful. *Rom.12.13.hebr.13.2. 8 He ſheweth the vſe of charitie, to wit, that euery man beſtow that gift which hee hath receiued, to the profite of his neighbour. * Rom.12.6.phili.2.14. 9 A reaſon, becauſe that what gift ſoeuer wee haue, wee haue receiued it of God vpon this condition, to bee his diſpoſers and ſtewards. 10 He reckoneth vp two kindes of theſe gifts as chiefe, to wit, the office of teaching in the Church, and the other eccleſiaſticall functions, wherein two things eſpecially are to bee obſerued: to wit, that the pure word of God be taught, & whatſoeuer is done be referred to the glory of God the father in Chriſt, as to the proper marke.

11 Becauſe the croſſe is ioyned with the ſincere profeſſion of religion, the Apoſtle ſtirly repeateth that which he touched before, warning vs not to bee troubled at perſecutions and afflictions, as at a new and ſtrange thing.

d As though ſome new thing had befallen you, which you neuer thought of before.

12 The firſt reaſon: becauſe the Lord meaneth not to conſume vs with this fire (as it were) but to purge vs of our droſſe and make vs perfite.

13 Another reaſon: Becauſe the afflictions of the godly and the wicked differ very much, and chiefly in three points. Firſt, becauſe the godly communicate with Chriſt in their afflictions, and therefore ſhal in their time be partakers alſo of his glory. * Matth.5.10. 14 Secondly, becauſe that although the Infidels thinke farre otherwiſe, who in afflicting the godly blaſpheme God, yet the godly in that they are ſo rayſed vpon, are honoured of God with the true ſpirituall glory, and their adoption is ſealed in them by the Spirit of God. e By Spirite, he meaneth the gifts of the Spirite. 15 The third difference: for the godly are not afflicted for their euil doings but for righteouſneſſe ſake as Chriſtians: whereby it commeth to paſſe that the croſſe, ſeeing it is a teſtimonie vnto them of faith and righteouſneſſe, miniſtreth to them not an occaſion of ſlander, but of vnſpeakeable ioye: now the Apoſtle propoundeth this third difference vnder the name of an exhortation. 16 The third reaſon: Becauſe the Lorde of all the world being eſpecially carefull for them of his houſehold, doeth therefore chaſtiſe them firſt of all, yet ſo that hee keepeth a meaſure in his greateſt ſeueritie. And as hee hath alwayes bin to be wondred at, ſo doeth hee now eſpecially when as hee exhibited himſelfe in perſon to his Church. 17 Leaſt the godly ſhoulde bee offended and ſtumble at the vaine ſhadowe of felicitie of the wicked, as though God were not the gouernour of the world, for that the wicked are in good caſe, and the godly in euill, the Apoſtle teacheth by an argument of a compariſon of them together, that God who ſpareth not his owne, but nourtereth them vnder the croſſe, wil at length in his time puniſh the rebellious and wicked farre otherwiſe, whom he hath appointed to eternall deſtruction. * Prou.2.31. 18 The concluſion: Seeing the godly are not afflicted by chance, but by the wil of God, they ought not to deſpaire, but goe forward notwithſtanding in the way of holines and well doing, commending themſelues to God their faithfull Creator, that is to ſay, our Father.

CHAP. V.

1 He warneth the Elders not to vſurpe authoritie ouer the Church, 5 willing the younger ſort to bee willing to be taught, and to be modeſt, 8 to be ſober and watchful to reſiſt the cruel aduerſarie.

THe [1] Elders which are among you, [2] I beſeech which am alſo an elder, and a witneſſe of the ſufferings of Chriſt, and alſo a partaker of the glory that ſhalbe reueiled,

2 [3a] Feede the [4] flocke of God which

1 He deſcribeth peculiarly the office of the Elders, that is to ſay, of them that haue the cure of the Church.

2 He vſeth a preface touching [5] circumſtance of his owne perſon: to wit, that he as their companion communeth with them not of maners which he knoweth not, but wherein he is as well experienced as any, and propoundeth vnto them no other condition but that which he himſelfe hath ſuffered before them, and doeth ſtil take the ſame paines, and alſo hath one ſelfe ſame hope together with them. 3 The firſt rule: He that is a ſhepheard, let him feed the flocke. a He ſaith not, offer for [6] quicke and dead, and ſing patched ſhreds in a ſtrange tongue, but, (feede) 4 The ſecond: Let the ſhepheard conſider, that the flocke is not his, but Gods.

5 The third: Let not shepheards invade other mens flocks, but let them feede that which God hath committed vnto them.
6 Let the shepheards governe the church with the worde, and example of godly and vnblameable life, not by constraint but willingly, not for filthie lucre, but of a ready minde, not as lords ouer Gods portion and heritage, but as ministers. b Which is the Christian people. 7 That the shepheards mindes be not ouercome either with the wickednesse of men, or their cruelties, he warneth them to cast their eyes continually vpon that chiefe shepheard, and the crowne which is laid vp for them in heauen. 8 He commendeth many peculiar Christian vertues, & especially modestie: which admonition al of vs stand in need of, but especially the yonger sort by reason of the vntowardnesse and pride of that age. * Rom.12,10. 9 Because pride seemeth to many to be the way vnto the glory of this life, the Apostle witnesseth on the contrary side, that ignominie and shame is the reward of pride, and glory the reward of modestie. * Iames 4.6. * Iames 4,10. 10 Because those proud and lofty spirits threaten the modest and humble, the Apostle warneth vs to set the power of God against the vanitie of proud men, and to hang wholly vpon his prouidence. * Psal.55.23. matt.6.25. luke 12,22.

5 dependeth vpon you, [6] caring for it not by constraint, but willingly: not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mine:

3 Not as though yee were lords ouer Gods [b] heritage, but that ye may be ensamples to the flocke.

4 [7] And when that chiefe shepheard shall appeare, yee shall receiue an incorruptible crowne of glory.

5 [8] Likewise yee younger, submit your selues vnto the elders, and submit your selues euery man, one to another: *decke your selues inwardly in lowlinesse of minde: [9] for *God resisteth the proude and giueth grace to the humble.

6 Humble* your selues therefore [10] vnder the mightie hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time.

7 *Cast all your care on him: for hee careth for you.

8 [11] Be sober, and watch: for your * aduersarie the deuill as a roaring lyon walketh about, seeking whom he may deuoure.

9 Whom resist stedfast in [y] faith, [12] knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your [c] brethren which are in the world.

10 [13] And the God of all grace, which hath called vs vnto his eternal glory by Christ Iesus, after [y] ye haue suffered a litle, make you perfite, confirme, strengthen and stablish you.

11 To him be glorie and dominion for euer and euer, Amen.

12 [14] By Syluanus a faithful brother vnto you, as I suppose, haue I written briefly, exhorting and testifying howe that this is the true grace of God wherein ye stand.

13 [15] The Church that is at [d] Babylon elected together with you, saluteth you, and Marcus my sonne.

14 Greete yee one another with the *kisse of loue. Peace bee with you all which are in Christ Iesus, Amen.

11 The craftie of Satan by seeketh by all meanes to deuoure vs, is ouercome by watchfulnesse and faith. * Luke 22.32. 12 The persecutions which Satan stirreth vp, are neither new nor proper to any one man, but from olde and ancient time common to the whole Church, and therefore we must suffer that patiently, wherein we haue such mates to imp fellowes of our conflicts and combates. c Amongst your brethren which are dispersed throughout the world. 13 He testifieth vp as it were with a seale the former exhortation with a solemne prayer, against willing them of strength at his hands, of whom they had the beginning, and accomplishment: to wit, of God the Father in Christ Iesus, in whom we are sure of the glory of eternall life. 14 Continuance and perseuerance in the doctrine of the Apostles, is the onely ground and foundation of Christian strength: Now the summe of the Apostles doctrine, is saluation freely giuen of God. 15 Familiar salutations. d In that famous citie of Assyria, where Peter the Apostle of the circumcision then was. * Rom.16,16.1.cor.16,20.2.cor.13.12.

The second Epistle generall of Peter.

CHAP. I.

3 Having spoken of the bountifulnes of God, 5 and of the vertues of faith, 6 He exhorteth them to holines of life, 12 and that his counsell may be the more effectuall. 14 He sheweth that his death is at hand, 16 and that himselfe did see the power of Christ which he opened vnto the.

1 Of Saluation, wherein he giueth them to vnderstand that he ioyned with the rest of Christs embassadours, and otherwise agreeth with them in one selfe same faith which is grounded vpon the righteousnes of Iesus Christ, our God and Sauiour. a In that that God standing to his promises, shewed himselfe faithfull, and therefore iust vnto vs.

SImon [1] Peter a seruant and an Apostle of Iesus Christ, to you which haue obteined like precious faith with vs by [y] [a] righteousnesse of our God & Sauiour Iesus Christ:

2 Grace and peace be multiplied to you, [2] through the acknowledging of God, and of Iesus our Lord,

3 [3] According as his [b] diuine power hath giuen vnto vs all things that pertaine vnto [c] life and godlinesse, through the [d] acknowledging of him that hath called vs vnto glory and vertue.

4 [4] Whereby most great and precious promises are giuen vnto vs, that by the ye should be partakers of the [e] diuine nature, in that yee flee the corruption, which is in the [f] worlde through lust.

5 [5] Therefore giue euen all diligence thereunto: [b] ioyne moreouer vertue with your faith: and with vertue, knowledge:

6 [6] And with knowledge, temperance: and with temperance, patience: and with patience, godlinesse:

7 And with godlinesse, brotherly kindnes: and with brotherly kindnes, loue.

8 [7] For if these things bee among you, and abound, they will make you that yee neither

4 An explication of the former sentence, declaring the causes of so great benefites, to wit, God and his free promise, from whence all these benefites proceede. I say, the most excellent benefites, whereby we are deliuered from the corruption of the worlde, (that is,) from the wicked lusts which we carry about vs, and are made partaker of the diuine nature vnto God himselfe. e By the diuine nature he meaneth not the substance of the Godhead, but the partaking of those qualities, whereby the image of God is restored in vs. f In men. g For lust is the seate of corruption, and hath his place euen in our very bowels and inmost partes. 5 Hauing laide the foundation (that is, hauing declared the causes of our saluation, and especially of our sanctification) now he beginneth to exhort vs to giue our mindes wholly to the true vse of this grace. And he beginneth with faith, without which nothing can please God, and he warneth vs to haue it full fraught with vertue (that is to say, with good and godly maners) being ioyned with the knowledge of Gods will without which, there is neither faith, neither any true vertue. h Supplie also, and support or ayde. 6 He reckeneth vp certaine other principall vertues, whereof some pertaine to the first table of the Law, others to the last. 7 As those fruites do spring from the true knowledge of Christ, so in like sort the knowledge it self is fostred and groweth by bringing forth such fruites, insomuch that he that is vnfruitful, did either neuer know the true light, or hath forgotten the gift of sanctification which he hath receiued.

2 Faith is the acknowledging of God and Christ, from whence all our blessednesse issueth and floweth. 3 Christ setteth forth himselfe vnto vs plainly in the Gospel, and that by his onely power, and giueth vs all things which are requisite both to eternall life, wherein he hath appointed to glorifie vs, and also to godlinesse, in that he doth furnish vs with true vertue. b He speaketh of Christ, whome hee maketh God and the onely Sauiour. c Vnto saluation. d This is the summe of true religion, to be led by Christ to the Father, as it were by the hand.

shalbee idle, nor vnfruitfull in the acknowledging of our Lord Jesus Christ:

9 For hee that hath not these things, is blinde, and [i] cannot see farre off, and hath forgotten that he was purged fom his old sinnes.

10 [8] Wherefore, brethren, giue rather diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye doe these things, ye shal neuer fall.

11 For by this meanes an entring shal be ministred vnto you aboundantly into the euerlasting kingdome of our Lorde and Sauiour Jesus Christ.

12 [9] Wherefore, I will not bee negligent to put you alwayes in remembrance of these things, though that yee haue knowledge, and be stablished in the present trueth.

13 For I thinke it meete as long as I am in this [k] tabernacle, to stirre you vp by putting you in remembrance, 14 Seing I know that the time is at hand that I must lay down this my tabernacle, euen as our Lord Jesus Christ hath * shewed mee.

15 I will endeuour therefore alwayes, that ye also may be able to haue remembrance of these things after my departing.

16 *[10] For wee followed not deceiuable fables when we opened vnto you the power, and comming of our Lorde Jesus Christ, but with our eyes we saw his maiestie:

17 For he receiued of God the Father honour and glory, when there came such a voyce to him from that excellent glorie, * This is my beloued sonne, in whome I am well pleased.

18 And this voyce we heard when it came from heauen, beeing with him in the holy mount.

19 [11] Wee haue also a most sure worde of the Prophets, [12] to the which yee doe wel that ye take heede, as vnto a light that shineth in a darke place, vntil the [l] day dawne, and the [m] day starre arise in your hearts.

20 *[13] So that ye first know this, that no prophecie of the [n] Scripture is of any [o] priuat interpretation.

21 For the prophecie came not in old time by the will of man: but [p] holy men of God spake as they were [q] moued by the holy Ghost.

i He that hath not an effectuall knowledge of God in him, is blind as touching the kingdome of God, for he can not see things that are starre off, that is to say, heauenly things.

8 The conclusion: Therefore seing our calling and election is approued by these fruits, and is confirmed in vs, and moreouer seeing this is the onely way to the euerlasting kingdome of Christ, it remaineth that we cal our minds wholy that way.

9 An amplifying of the conclusion ioyned with a modest excuse wherein he declareth his loue towards them, and foretelleth them of his death which is at hand.

k In this body.

10 Another amplification taken both of the great certaintie and also excellencie of this doctrine, as whereof our Lord Jesus Christ & Sonne of God is author, whose glorie the Apostle himselfe both saw and heard.

* Matth.17.5.

11 The trueth of the Gospel is hereby also manifest, in y it agreeth wholly with the foretellings of the Prophets.

12 The doctrine of the Apostles doeth not shut out the doctrine of the Prophets, for they confirme eche other by eche others testimonies, but the Prophets were as candles which gaue light vnto the blind, vntil the brightnes of the Gospel began to shine.

l A more full and open knowledge, then was vnder the shadowes of the Law.

m That clearer doctrine of the Gospel. *2 Tim.3.16.

13 The Prophets are to be read, but so, that we aske of God the gift of interpretation, for hee that is the Author of the writings of the Prophets, is also the interpreter of them.

n He ioyneth the Scripture and prophecie together to distinguish true Prophecies from false.

o For all interpretation commeth from God.

p The godly interpreters and messengers.

q Inspired of God, and these their motions were in very good order, and not such as were the motions of the prophane soothsayers and foretellers of things to come.

CHAP. II.

1 He foretelleth them of false teachers, 3 whose wicked sleights and destruction he declareth. 12 He compareth them to brute beastes, 17 and to welles without water, 20 because they seeke to withdraw men from God to their olde filthinesse.

BUt [1] there were false Prophets also among the [a] people, euen as there shall bee false teachers among you: which priuily shall bring in damnable heresies, euen denying the Lorde, that hath bought them, and bring vpon themselues swift damnation.

2 [2] And many shall followe their destructions, by whome the way of trueth shall be euill spoken of.

3 [3] And through couetousnes shal they with fained wordes [b] make marchandise of you, [4] whose condemnation long since resteth not, and their destruction slumbreth not.

4 For if God spared not the * Angels that had sinned, but cast them downe into [c] hell, and deliuered them into [d] chaines of darknes, to be kept vnto damnation:

5 Neither hath spared the [e] olde world, but saued * Noe the eight person a [f] preacher of righteousnesse, and brought in the flood vpon the world of the vngodly.

6 And * turned the cities of Sodome and Gomorrhe into ashes, condemned them and ouerthrew them, and made them an ensample vnto them that after should liue vngodly.

7 And deliuered iust Loth vexed with the vncleanly conuersation of the wicked:

8 (For hee being righteous, and dwelling among them, in s seeing and hearing, [h] vexed his righteous soule from day to day with their vnlawfull deedes.)

9 The Lord [i] knoweth to deliuer the godly out of tentation, and to reserue the vniust vnto the day of iudgement vnder punishment:

10 [5] And chiefly them that walke after the flesh, in the lust of vncleannesse, and despise gouernment, which are bolde, and stand in their owne conceite, and feare not to speake euill of them that are in [k] dignitie.

11 Whereas the Angels which are greater both in power and might, giue not railing iudgement against them before the Lord.

12 [6] But these, as naturall brute beasts, led with sensualitie and [l] made to be taken, and destroyed, speake euill of those things which they know not, and shall perish through their [m] owne corruption.

1 As in times past there were two kindes of prophets, the one true, the other false, so Peter foretelleth them, that there shall bee some true and some false teachers in the Church, in so much that Christ himselfe shall be denied of some, which notwithstanding shall call him redeemer.

a Vnder the Law, while the state and policie of the Iewes was yet standing.

2 There shall not onely be heresies, but also many followers of them.

3 Couetousnes for the most part is a companion of heresie, & maketh marchandise euen of soules.

b They will abuse you and sell you as they sell cattel in a faire.

4 A comfort for the godly: God who cast the Angels that fell away from him, headlong into the darknesse of hell, at length wil be iudged: and who destroyed the olde world with the flood, and preserued Noe the eight person: and who burned Sodom, and saued Lot, will deliuer his elect from these errours, and will vtterly destroy those vnrighteous.

5 He goeth to another sort of corrupt men, which notwithstanding are within the bosom of the Church, which are wickedly giuen, & yet vntiuully speake euil of the authority of Magistrates (which y Angels themselues y minister before God, doe not dispraise.) A true & liuely description of the Romish clergie (as they call it.)

k Princes and great men, be they neuer so high in power therein.

6 A liuely painting out of the same persons, wherein they are compared to beasts which are made to snare themselues to destruction, while they giue themselues to fil their bellies: For there is no greater ignorance then is in these men, although they most impudently find fault in those things which they know not: & it shal come to passe y they shal destroy themselues as beasts in those pleasures wherewith they are delighted, & dishonour & defile the company of the godly.

l Made to this ende to be a pray to others: So do these men willingly cast themselues into Satans snares.

m Their owne wicked maners shal bring them to destruction.

13 And shall receiue the wages of vnrighteousnes, as they which count it pleasure daily to liue deliciously. ‖ Spots they are and blots, deliting themselues in their deceiuings, [n] in feastings with you,

14 [7] Hauing eyes ful of adulterie, and that cannot cease to sin, beguiling vnstable soules: they haue hearts exercised with couetousnesse, they are the children of curse:

15 Which forsaking the right way, haue gone astray, following the way of * Balaam, the sonne of Bosor, which loued the wages of vnrighteousnes.

16 Bvt hee was rebuked for his iniquity: for the dum beast speaking with mans voyce, forbade the foolishnes of the Prophet.

17 *[8] These are [o] welles without water, and cloudes caried about with a tempest, to whom the [p] black darknes is reserued for euer.

18 For in speaking [q] swelling wordes of vanitie, they [r] beguile with wantonnes through the lustes of the flesh them that were [s] cleane escaped from them which are wrapped in error,

19 Promising vnto them libertie, and are themselues the *seruants of corruption: for of whomsoeuer a man is ouercome, euen vnto the same is he in bondage.

20 [9] * For if they, after they haue escaped from the filthinesse of the worlde, through the acknowledging of the Lord, and of the Sauiour Iesus Christ, are yet tangled againe therein, and ouercome, the latter end is worse with them then the beginning.

21 For it had bene better for them, not to haue knowledged the way of righteousnesse, then after they haue acknowledged it, to turne from the holy commaundement giuen vnto them.

22 But it is come vnto them, according to the true Prouerbe, * The dogge is returned to his owne vomit: and the sowe that was washed to the wallowing in the myre.

[n] Or, litle rocks. [n] When as by being amongst the Christians in the holy banketts which the Church keepeth, they would seeme by that meanes to be true members of the Church, yet they are indeede but blottes of the Church.

[7] He condemneth those men, as shewing euen in their behauiour and countenance an immeasurable lust, as making marchandise of the soules of light persons, as men exercised in all the crafts of couetousnesse, to be short, as men that sell themselues for money to curse the sonnes of God after Balaams example, whom the dum beast reproued. * Num. 22. 23. * Iude 12.

[o] Another note whereby they may be well knowen what maner of men they are, because they haue inwardly nothing but either bitter paine or very hurtfull, although they make a shew of some great goodnesse: from the which they shall not escape vnpunished for it, because vnder pretence of false libertie, they draw men into most miserable slauerie of sinne.

[p] Who boast of knowledge and haue nothing in them.

[q] Most grosse darknesse. [q] They deceiue men with vaine and swelling wordes. [r] They take them, as fishes are taken with the hooke. CHAP. III.

1 Hee sheweth that hee writeth the same things againe, 2 because they must often be stirred vp, 4 because dangers hang ouer their heads through certaine mockers: 8 therefore he warneth the godly that they do not after the iudgement of the flesh, 12 appoint the day of the Lorde, 14 but that they thinke is alwayes at hande, 15 in which doctrine he sheweth that Paul agreeth with him.

THis [1] second Epistle I nowe write vnto you, beloued, wherewith I stirre vp, and warne your pure mindes,

[1] The remedie against those wicked enemies, both of true doctrine and holinesse, is to be sought for by the continuall meditation of the writings of the Prophets and Apostles.

2 To call to remembrance the wordes which were told before of the holy Prophets, and also the commaundement of vs the Apostles of the Lord and Sauiour.

3 * This first vnderstand, that there shall come in the last dayes, [a] mockers, which will walke after their lustes,

4 [3] And say, Where is the promise of his comming? for since the fathers died, all things continue alike from the beginning of the creation.

5 [4] For this they willingly know not, that the heauens were of olde, and the [b] earth that was of the water and by the water, by the word of God,

6 [5] Wherefore the worlde that then was, perished, ouerflowed with the [c] water.

7 [6] For the heauens and earth, which are nowe, are kept by the same worde in store, and reserued vnto fire against the day of condemnation, and of the destruction of vngodly men.

8 [7] Dearly beloued, be not ignorant of this one thing, that one day is with the Lorde, * as a thousand yeeres, and a thousand yeeres as one day.

9 [8] The Lord of that promise is not slacke (as some men count slacknesse) [9] but is patient toward vs, and * woulde haue no man perish but would all men to come to repentance.

10 [10] But the * day of the Lord will come as a theefe in the night, in the which the heauens shall passe away with a [d] noyse, and the elements shal melt with heate, and the earth with the works that are therein, shalbe burnt vp.

11 [11] Seeing therefore that all these things must be dissolued, what maner of persons ought yee to be in holy conuersation and godlinesse, 12 Looking for, and [e] hasting vnto the comming of that day of God, by which the heauens being on fire, shalbe dissolued, and the elements shal melt with heate?

13 But we looke for * new heauens, and a new earth, according to his promise, [f] wherein dwelleth righteousnesse.

2 He voucheth the second comming of Christ against the Epicures by name.

[a] Monstrous men, who will seeme wise by their contempt of God, and wicked boldnesse.

3 The reason which these mockers pretend because the course of nature is all one as it was from the beginning, therefore the worlde was from euerlasting, and shall be for euer.

4 He setteth against them the creation of heauen and earth by the word of God, which these men are willingly ignorant of.

[b] Which appeared, when the waters were gathered together in one place.

5 Secondly, he set against them the vniuersall flood, which was the destruction, as it were of the whole world,

[c] For the waters returning into their former place, this world, that is to say, this beautie of the earth which we see, and all liuing creatures which liue vpon the earth, perished.

6 Thirdly, he pronounceth that it shall not be harder for God to burne heauen and earth with fire, in that day which is appointed for the destruction of the wicked (which thing he will also doe) then it was for him in times past to make the world with his onely word, and afterward to ouerwhelme them with water. 7 The taking away of an obiection: In that hee seemeth to deferre this iudgement a long season, in respect of vs it is true, but not before God, with with whome there is no time either long or short. * Psal. 90. 4. 8 The Lord will surely come, because he hath promised: and that neither sooner nor later then he hath promised. 9 A reason why the latter day commeth not out of hand, because God doeth patiently waite till the elect be brought to repentaunce, that none of them may perish. * Ezech. 18. 32. and 33. 11. 1. tim. 2. 4. 10 A very short description of the last destruction of the worlde, but in such sort as nothing could be spoken more grauely. * Matth. 24. 44. 1. thessal. 5. 2. reuel. 3. 3. and 16. 15.

17 Yee therefore beloued, seeing yee knowe these things before, beware, lest yee bee also plucked away with the errour of the wicked, and fall from your owne stedfastnesse.

18 But growe in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Sauiour Iesus Christ: to him bee glorie both nowe and euermore. Amen.

12 Pauls Epistles are allowed by Peters testimony of Peter.
13 There be certaine of these things obscure & dark wherof the vnlearned take occasion to ouerthrow some men stand not fast, wresting the testimonies of the scripture to their own destruction. But this is the remedy against such deceit, to labour that we may daily more and more grow vp & increase in † knowledge of Christ. ‖ That is to say, among † which things for he disputeth not here whether Pauls Epistles be plaine or dark, but saith, that amongest those things which Paul hath written of in his Epistles, & Peter himselfe in these two of his owne, there are some things which cannot be so easily vnderstood, and therfore are of some drawn to their own corruption: and this he saith to make vs more attentiue and diligent, and not to remoue vs from the reading of holy things, for to what end should they haue written vaine speculations?

The first Epistle generall of Iohn.

CHAP. I.

1 He testifieth that he bringeth the eternall worde wherein is life, 5 and light. 9 God will be mercifull vnto the faithfull, if groning vnder the burden of their sinnes, they learne to flee vnto his mercie.

THat [1] which was from the beginning, which we haue [a] hearde, which wee haue seene with these our eyes, which wee haue looked vpon, and these hands of ours haue handled of that [b] woord of life,

2 (For that life was made manifest, and wee haue seene it, and beare witnesse, and [c] shewe vnto you that eternall life, which was with the Father, and was manifest vnto vs)

3 That, I say, which we haue seene and heard, declare we vnto you, [2] that ye may also haue fellowship with vs, and that our fellowship also may be with the Father, and with his Sonne IESVS Christ.

4 And these things write we vnto you, that that your ioy may be full.

5 [3] This then is the message which wee haue heard of him, and declare vnto you, that God * is light, and in him is no darknesse.

6 If we say that we haue fellowship with him, and walke in darkenesse, we lie, and doe not truely:

7 But if we walke in the [d] light as hee is in the light, wee haue fellowship one with another, [4] and the *blood of Iesus Christ his Sonne cleanseth vs from all sinne.

8 [5] *If we say that we haue no sinne, wee [e] deceiue our selues, and [f] trueth is not in vs.

9 [6] If we acknowledge our sinnes, hee is [g] faithfull and iust, to [h] forgiue vs our sinnes, and to cleanse vs from all vnrighteousnes.

10 [7] If we say we haue not sinned, we make him [i] a liar, and his [k] word is not in vs.

1 He beginneth with the description of the person of Christ, whome he maketh one and not two and him both God from euerlasting (for he was with the Father from the beginning, and is that eternall life) and also made true man, whome Iohn himselfe and his companions, both heard, and beheld, and handled.
a I heard him speake, I sawe him my selfe with mine eyes, I handled with mine hands him that is very God being made very man, and not I alone, but others also that were with me.
b That same euerlasting word by whome all things are made, and in whome onely there is life.
c Being sent by him: and that doctrine is rightly saide to bee shewed, for no man coulde so much as haue thought of it, if it had not bene thus shewed. 2 The vse of this doctrine is this, that all of vs beeing coupled and ioyned together with Christ by faith, might become the sonnes of God: in which thing onely consisteth all happinesse.
3 Now he entreth into a question, wherby we may vnderstand that we are ioyned together with Christ, to wit, if we be gouerned with his light. which is perceiued by the ordering of our life. And thus he reasoneth: God is in himself most pure light. therefore hee agreeth well with them which are lightsome, but with them that are darkesome he hath no fellowship. * Iohn 8.12. d God is saide to be light of his owne nature, and to be in light, that is to say, in that euerlasting infinite blessednesse, and we are saide to walke in light, in that the beames of that light doe shine vnto vs in the word.
4 A digression or going from the matter he is in hand with, to the remission of sinnes: for this our sanctification which walketh in the light, is a testimonie of our ioyning & knitting together with Christ: but because this our light is very darke, we must needes obteine another benefite in Christ, to wit, that our sinnes may be forgiuen vs being sprinkled with his blood: and this in conclusion is the prop and stay of our saluation. * Hebr.9.28.1.pet.1.19.reuel.1.5. 5 There is none but needeth this benefite, because there is none that is not a sinner. * 1.Kin.8.46. 2.chron.6.36. prouerbs 2.9. e This place doeth fully refute the perfitnesse and works of supererogation which the Papists dreame of. f So that Iohn speaketh not thus for modestie sake, as some say, but because it is so indeed.
6 Therefore the beginning of saluation is to acknowledge our wickednesse, and to require pardon of him, who freely forgiueth all sinnes, because he hath promised so to doe, and he is faithfull and iust. g So then our saluation hangeth vpon the free promes of God, who because he is faithfull and iust, will performe that which he hath promised. h Where are then our merites? for this is our true felicitie. 7 A rehearsall of the former sentence, wherein he condemneth all of sinne without exception: in so much that if any man perswade himselfe otherwise, he doeth as much as in him lyeth, make the woorde of God himselfe vaine and to no purpose, yea he maketh God a lyar: for to what ende either in times past necessarie sacrifices, as now Christ and the Gospel if we be not sinners? i They doe not onely deceiue themselues, but are blasphemous against God. k His doctrine shal haue no place in vs that is, in our hearts.

CHAP. II.

1 He declareth that Christ is our Mediatour and aduocate, 5 and sheweth that the knowledge of God consisteth in holinesse of life, 12 which appertaineth to all sorts, 14 that depend on Christ alone: 15 Then hauing exhorted them to contemne the worlde, 18 Hee giueth warning that antichrists be auoided, 24 and that the known trueth be stood vnto.

MY [1] little children, these things write I vnto you, that yee sinne not: and if any manne sinne, we haue an [a] Aduocate with the Father, Iesus Christ the iust,

2 And hee is the [b] reconciliation for our

1, It followeth not hereof that we must giue ouer wicked nature the bridle, as for so much the more freely, because our sinnes are cleansed away by † blood of Christ, but we must rather so much the more diligently resist sin. And yet we must not despaire because of our weakenes, for we haue an aduocate and a purger. sinnes: and not for ours onely, but also for the sinnes of the c whole world.

3 2 And hereby we are sure that we d know him e if we keepe his commandements.

4 3 He that saith, I knowe him, and keepeth not his commaundements, is a lyar, and the trueth is not in him.

5 4 But he that keepeth his word, in him is the f loue of God perfect indeede: hereby we know that ye are in g him.

6 5 Hee that saieth hee remaineth in him, ought euen so to walke, as he hath walked.

7 6 Brethren, I write no newe commaundement vnto you: but an olde commandement, which yee haue had from the beginning: this olde commandement is that worde, which yee haue heard from the beginning.

8 7 Again, a new commaundement I write vnto you, that h which is true in him, and also in you: for the darknesse is past, and that true light now shineth.

9 8 He that saith that hee is in that light, and hateth his brother, is in darknesse, vntill this time.

10 * He that loueth his brother, abideth in that light, and there is none occasion of euill in him.

11 But hee that hateth his brother, is in darknes, and walketh in darknesse, and knoweth not whither he goeth, because that darknes hath blinded his eyes.

12 9 Litle children, i I write vnto you, because your sinnes are forgiuen you for his k Names sake.

13 10 I write vnto you, fathers, because yee haue knowen him that is from the beginning. 11 I write vnto you, yong men, because ye haue ouercome that wicked one. 12 I write vnto you, litle children, because ye haue knowen the Father.

14 13 I haue written vnto you, fathers, because ye haue knowen him, that is from the beginning. I haue written vnto you, yong men, because ye are strong, and the worde of God abideth in you, and yee haue ouercome that wicked one.

15 14 Loue not this l worlde, neither the things that are in this world. If any man loue this world, the m loue of the father is not in him.

16 For all that is in this worlde (as the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life) is not of the Father, but is of this worlde.

17 15 And this world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but hee that fulfilleth the will of God, abideth euer.

18 16 n Litle children, 17 it is the last time, 18 and as yee haue heard that Antichrist shall come, euen nowe are there many Antichrists: whereby we knowe that it is the last time.

19 19 They went out from vs, but they were not of vs: for if they had bene of vs, o they should haue continued with vs, 20 But this commeth to passe, that it might appeare, that they are not all of vs.

20 21 But ye haue an p oyntment frō that q Holy one, and know all things.

21 22 I haue not written vnto you, because ye know not the trueth: but because ye know it, and that no lie is of the trueth.

22 23 Who is a lyar, but hee that denieth that Iesus is r that Christ? ſ same is that Antichrist that denieth the Father & the Sonne.

23 s Whosoeuer denieth the Sonne, the same hath not the Father.

24 24 Let therefore abide in you that same which ye haue heard from the beginning. If that which ye haue heard from the beginning, shall remaine in you, yee also shall continue in the Sonne, and in the Father.

c For men of all sorts, of al ages, and all places, so that this benefite belongeth not to the Iewes onely, of whome he speaketh as appeareth, vers. 7. but also to other nations.

2 He returneth to the testimonie of our coniunction with God, to wit, to sanctification, declaring what it is to walke in ſ light, to wit, to keepe Gods commandements. Wherby it followeth that holines doth not consist in those things which men haue deuised, neither in a vaine profession of ſ Gospel.

d This must be vnderstoode of such a knowlege as hath faith with it, and not of a common knowledge.

e For the tree is knowen by the fruite.

3 Holinesse that is, a life ordered according to the prescript of Gods commandements, howsoeuer we be, is of necessitie ioyned with faith, that is with the true knowledge of the Father in ſ Sonne.

4 He that keepeth Gods commandements is-meth God in deede: He that loueth God, is in God, or is ioyned together with God. Therefore he that keepeth his commandements is in him. f Wherewith we loue God.

g He meaneth our coniunction with Christ. 5 He that is one with Christ, must needs line his life, that is, must walke in his steps. 6 The Apostle going about to expound the commaundement of Charitie one towards another, telleth first that when he vrgeth holinesse, he vrgeth no new trade of life (as they vse to do which deuise traditions one after another) but putteth them in mind of that same Lawe which God gaue in the beginning, to wit, by Moses, at that time that God began to make Lawes to his people. 7 He addeth, that that doctrine indeed is olde, but it is now after a sort new, both in respect of Christ, and also of vs: in whome hee throughe the Gospel, engraueth his Lawe effectually, not in tables of stone, but in our mindes. h Which thing (to wit, that the doctrine is new which I write vnto you) is true in him, and in you. 8 Nowe hee commeth to the second table, that is, to charitie one towards another, and denieth that that man hath true light in him, or is in deed regenerate and the sonne of God, which hateth his brother: and such a one wandereth miserably in darknesse, bragge he of neuer so great knowledge of God, for that wittingly & willingly hee casteth himselfe headlong into hel. * Chap. 3. 14. 9 He returneth again from sanctification to remission of sinnes, because that free reconciliation in Christ is the ground of our sanctification, whereupon afterwards sanctification must be built as vpon a foundation.

i Therefore I write vnto you, because you are of their number whom God hath reconciled to himselfe. k For his owne sake: And in that he nameth Christ he shutteth out all other, whether they be in heaven or earth. 10 He sheweth that this doctrine agreeth to all ages, and first of all speaking to olde men, he sheweth that Christ and his doctrine are passing ancient, & therfore if they be delited with old things, nothing ought to be more acceptable vnto them. 11 He aduertiseth yong men, if they be desirous to shew their strength, that they haue a most glorious cōbate set here before them, to wit, Satan the worst enemy, who must be ouercome: fulfilling them to be as sure of the victorie, as if they had already gotten it. 12 Finally, he sheweth to children, that that true Father from whom they haue to looke for all good things, is set forth vnto them in the Gospel.

13 He addeth afterward in like order, as many exhortations as if he should say, Remember, ye Fathers, as I wrote euen now, that the eternall Sonne of God is reuealed to vs. Remember ye yong men, that the strength whereby I saide that you put Satan to flight, is giuen you by the word of God which dwelleth in you.

14 The world which is full of wicked desires, lusts, or pleasures, and pride, is vtterly hated of our heauenly father. Therefore the Father and the world cannot be loued together: and this admonition is very necessarie for greene and flourishing youth.

l He speaketh of the world, as it agreeth not with the will of God, for otherwise God is saide to loue the world with an infinite loue, Iohn 3. 16. that is to say, those whom he chose out of the world.

b Wherwith the Father is loued.

15 He sheweth how much better it is to obey the Fathers will, then the lusts of the world, by both their natures and vnlike euent.

16 Now he turneth himselfe to litle children, which notwithstanding are well instructed in the summe of religion, and willeth them by diuers reasons to shake off slouthfulnes, which is too too familiar with that age. n He vseth this word (Litle) not because he speaketh to children, but to allure them the more by vsing such sweet words. 17 First, because the last time is at hand, to that the matter suffereth no delay. 18 Secondly, because Antichrists, that is, such as fall from God are already come, euen as they heard that they should come. And it was hegry requisite to warne that vnheedy and wariesse age of that danger. 19 Aduersitie might stumble & be shaken. Therefore that they should not be terrified with the foule falling backe of certaine, first he maketh plaine vnto thē, that although such as fal from God and his religion had place in ſ Church, yet they were neuer of the Church: because ſ Church is the cōpany of ſ elect, which cannot perish, and therfore cannot fal from Christ. o So then ſ elect can neuer fall from grace. 20 Secondly: he sheweth that these things fal out to ſ profit of the Church, that hypocrites may be plainly knowen. 21 Thirdly, he comforteth thē to make thē stand fast, inasmuch as they are anointed of ſ holy Ghost with ſ true knowledge of saluation. p The grace of the holy Ghost, and this is a borowed kind of speech taken from ſ ointings vsed in ſ Law. q From Christ who is peculiarly called Holy. 22 The taking away of an obiection. Hee wrote not these things as to men which are ignorant of religion, but rather as to thē which do well know the truth, yea so farre forth ſ they are able to discerne trueth frō falshood. 23 He sheweth now plainly ſ false doctrine of ſ Antichrists, to wit, ſ either they fight against the person of Christ, or his office, or both together & at once. And they that do so, boast & brag of God, for ſ in denying the Sonne, the Father also is denied.

r Is the true Messias. s They then are deceiued themselues, and also do deceiue others, which say that the Turks & other infidels worship the same God that we do. 24 The whole preaching of the prophets & Apostles is contrary to that doctrine. Therefore it is vtterly to be cast away, and this wholly to be holden & kept, which leadeth vs to seeke eternal life in the free promise, that is to say, in Christ alone, who is giuen vs of the Father.

25 And

25 And this is the promes that he hath promised vs, euen that eternall life.

26 [25] These things haue I written vnto you, concerning them which deceiue you.

27 But that [t] anoynting which ye receiued of him, dwelleth in you: and ye [u] neede not that any man teache you: but as the same [x] Anoynting teacheth you of all things, and it is true, and is not lying, and as it taught you, ye shall abide in him.

28 [26] And now, litle children, abide in him, that when he shall appeare, we may be bolde, & not be ashamed before him at his comming.

29 [27] If yee knowe that he is righteous, knowe ye that hee which doeth righteously, is borne of him.

25 The same Spirit which inspireth the elect with the knowledge of the truth and sanctifieth them, giueth them therewithall the gift of perseuerance, to continue to the ende.
t The Spirit which you haue receiued of Christ, and which hath led you into all truth.
u You are not ignorant of those things, and therefore I teach them not as things that were neuer heard of, but call them to your remembrance as things which you doe knowe.
x He commendeth both the doctrine which they had embraced, and also highly praiseth their faith, and the diligence of such as taught them, yet so, that he taketh nothing from ỹ honour due to the holy Ghost.
26 The conclusion both of the whole exhortation, and also of the former treatise.
27 A passing ouer to the treatise following, which tendeth to the same purpose, but yet is more ample, & handleth the same matter after another order, for before he taught vs to goe vp from the effects to the cause, and in this that followeth, he goeth downe from the causes to the effects. And this is the summe of this argument. God is the fountaine of al righteousnesse, and therefore they that giue themselues to righteousnesse, are knowen to be borne of him, because they resemble God the Father.

CHAP. III.

1 Setting downe the ineſtimable glory of this, that we are Gods ſonnes, 7 he ſheweth that newneſſe of life muſt be teſtified by good workes, whereof Charitie is a manifeſt token. 19 Of faith, 22 and praying vnto God.

1 Beholde, [1] [a] what loue the Father hath giuen to vs, that wee should be [b] called the sonnes of God: [2] for this cause this worlde knoweth you not, because it knoweth not him,

2 [3] Dearely beloued, nowe are we the sonnes of God, but yet it is not made manifest what we shall be: and we know that when he shalbe made manifest, we shalbe [c] like him: for we shall see him [d] as he is.

3 [4] And euery man that hath this hope in him, purgeth himselfe, euen [e] as he is pure.

4 [5] Whosoeuer [f] committeth sinne, transgresseth also the Lawe: for [g] sinne is the transgression of the Lawe.

5 [6] And ye knowe that he was made manifest, that he might * take away our sinnes, and in him is no sinne.

6 Whosoeuer abideth in him, sinneth not: whosoeuer [h] sinneth, hath not seene him, neither hath knowen him.

1 He beginneth to declare this agreement of the Father and the Sonne, at the highest cause, to wit, at that free loue of God towards vs, wherewith he so loueth vs, that also hee adopteth vs to be his children.
a What a gift of how great loue.
b That we should be the sonnes of God, & so, that al ỹ world may perceiue we are so.
2 Before he declareth this adoption, he saith two things: the one, that this so great a dignitie is not to be esteemed according to the iudgement of the flesh, because it is vnknowen to the world, for the world knoweth not God the Father himselfe.
3 The other: This dignitie is not fully made manifest to vs our selues, much lesse to strangers, but we are sure of the accomplishment of it, inasmuch that we shall be like to the Sonne of God himselfe, & shal enioy his sight in deede, such as he is now, but yet notwithstanding this is deferred vntil his next comming.
c Like, but not equall.
d For now we see as in a glasse, 1. Cor. 13. 12.
4 Mowe he describeth this adoption, (the glory whereof as yet consisteth in hope,) by the effect, to wit, because that whosoeuer is made the sonne of God, endeuoureth to resemble the Father in puritie.
e This word signifieth a likenesse, but not an equalitie.
5 The rule of this puritie can frō no where els be taken but from the Lawe of God, the transgression whereof is that which is called sinne.
f Giueth not himselfe to purenes.
g A short definition of sinne.
6 An argument taken from ỹ material cause of our saluation: Christ in himselfe is most pure, & he came to take away our sinnes, by sanctifying vs in the holy Ghost. Therfore whosoeuer is truly partaker of Christ, doth not giue himselfe to sinne, & contrariwise he ỹ giueth himselfe to sin, knoweth not Christ. *Isa. 53. 6, 9. 1. pet. 2. 22, 24.
h He is said to sinne, that giueth not himselfe to purenes, and in him sinne reigneth: but sinne is said to dwel in ỹ faithful, & not to reigne in them.

7 [7] Little children, let no man deceiue you: he that doeth righteousnes, is righteous, as he is righteous.

8 [8] He that * committeth sinne, is of the [i] deuill: for the deuill [k] sinneth from the [l] beginning: for this purpose was made manifest that Sonne of God, that hee might loose the workes of the deuill.

9 Whosoeuer is borne of God, sinneth not: for his [m] seede remaineth in him, neither can he sinne, because he is borne of God.

10 [9] In this are the children of God knowen, and the children of the deuill: whosoeuer doeth not righteousnesse, is not of God, [10] neither he that loueth not his brother.

11 [11] For this is the message, that ye heard from the beginning, that * we should loue one another.

12 [12] Not as [n] Cain which was of that wicked one, and slew his brother: [13] and wherefore slewe he him? because his owne workes were euill, and his brothers good.

13 Marueile not, my brethren, though this world hate you.

14 [14] We [o] knowe that we are translated from death vnto life, because we loue the brethren: * he that loueth not his brother, abideth in death.

15 [15] Whosoeuer hateth his brother, is a manslayer: and ye knowe that no manslayer hath eternall life abiding in him.

16 *[16] Hereby haue wee perceiued loue, that hee layd downe his life for vs: therefore we ought also to lay downe our liues for the brethren.

17 * [17] And whosoeuer hath this [p] worlds good, and seeth his brother haue neede, and [q] shutteth vp his compassion from him, howe dwelleth the loue of God in him?

18 [18] My little children, let vs not loue in word, neither in tongue onely, but in deede and in trueth.

7 An other argument of things coupled together. He that liueth iustly, is iust, and resembleth Christ that is iust, & by that is knowen to be ỹ son of God.
8 An argument taken of contraries: The deuill is the author of sin, and therefore he is of the deuil, or is ruled by the inspiration of the deuill, that committeth sinne: and if he be the deuils sonne, then is he not Gods sonne: for the deuill & God are so contrary the one to the other, that euen the Sonne of God was sent to destroy ỹ workes of the deuill. Therefore on the contrary side, whosoeuer resisteth sinne, is the Sonne of God, being borne again of his spirite as of newe seede, in so much, that of necessitie he is now deliuered from the slauerie of sinne.
*Iohn 8. 44.
i Resembleth the deuill, as the childe doth ỹ father, & is gouerned by his Spirit.
k He saith not, sinned, but, sinneth, for he doth nothing else but sinne.
l From the very beginning of the world.
m The holy Ghost is so called of the effect he worketh, because by his vertue and mightie working as it were by seed, we are made new men.

9 The conclusion: By a wicked life they are knowē which are gouerned by the spirite of ỹ deuill: and by a pure life, which are Gods children.
10 He beginneth to commend charitie towards the brethren, as another marke of the sonnes of God.
11 The first reason taken of the auncientie of God which giueth the commandement. *Iohn 13. 34. and 15. 12.
12 An amplification taken of the contrary example of Cain which slew his brother. *Gen. 4. 8.
n He bringeth foorth a very fit and very olde example, wherein we may behold both the nature of the Sonnes of God, and of the sonnes of the deuill, and what state and condition remaineth for vs in this world, and what shall be the ende of both at length.
13 A short digression: Let vs not marueile that we are hated of the world for loueing our brethe, for such was the condition of Abel who was a iust person: and who would not rather be like him then Cain?
14 The second reason: Because charitie is a testimonie that we are translated from death to life: and therefore hatred towards the brethren is a testimonie of death, & whosoeuer nourisheth it, doeth as it were foster death in his bosome.
o Loue is a token that we are translated from death to life, forasmuch as by the effects the cause is knowen. * Chap. 2. 10. Ieuit. 19. 17.
15 A confirmation: Whosoeuer is a murtherer, is in eternall death: who so hateth his brother is a murtherer, therefore he is in death. And therupon followeth the contrary: He that loueth his brother, hath passed to life, for in deede we are borne dead. *Iohn 15. 13. ephes. 5. 2.
16 Mowe he sheweth howe farre Christian charitie extendeth, euen so far, that according to the example of Christ euery man forget himselfe, to prouide for and helpe his brethren. * Luke 3. 11.
17 He reasoneth by comparisons: for if wee are bound euen to giue our life for our neighbours, howe much more are we bound to helpe our brothers necessities with our goods and substance?
p Wherewith this life is sustained.
q Openeth not his heart to him, nor helpeth him willingly and cheerefully.
18 Christian charitie standeth not in words but in deede, & proceedeth from a sincere affection.

19 [19] For

19 [19] For thereby we knowe that we are of the trueth, [20] and ſhall before him aſſure our hearts.

20 For [r] if our heart condemne vs, God is greater then our heart, and knoweth all things.

21 [21] Beloued, if our heart condemne vs not, then haue we boldneſſe toward God.

22 *[22] And whatſoeuer wee aſke wee receiue of him, becauſe we keepe his commandements, and doe thoſe things which are pleaſing in his ſight.

23 * This is then his commaundement, That we beleeue in the Name of his Sonne Ieſus Chriſt, and loue one another as he gaue commandement.

24 * For he that keepeth his commandements, dwelleth in him, and he in him: and hereby we knowe that he abideth in vs, euen by the [s] Spirit which he hath giuen vs.

19 Hee commendeth charitie, by a triple effect: for firſt of all, by it wee know that we are in deede the ſonnes of God, as he ſhewed before.

20 Thereof it commeth that we haue a quiet conſcience, as on the contrary ſide he that thinketh that hee hath God for a iudge, becauſe hee is vniuſt to himſelfe, either he is neuer or els very rarely quiet, for God hath a farre quicker ſight then we, and iudgeth more ſeuerely.

r If an euil conſcience conuinceth vs, much more ought the iudgement of God condemne vs, who knoweth our hearts better then we our ſelues doe. 21 A third effect alſo riſeth of the former, that in theſe miſeries we are ſure to be heard, becauſe we are the ſonnes of God: as we vnderſtand by the grace of ſanctification, which is proper to the elect. * Matth. 21.22. Iohn 15.7. & 16.23. chap. 5.14. 22 The concluſion: That faith in Chriſt, and loue one towards another are things ioyned together, and therefore the outwarde teſtimonies of ſanctification muſt and doe anſwere that inward teſtimonie of the Spirit giuen vnto vs. * Iohn 6.23. and 17.3. * Iohn 13.34. and 15.10. s He meaneth the Spirit of ſanctification, whereby we are borne anew and liue to God.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Hauing ſpoken ſomewhat touching the trying of ſpirites: 4 For ſome ſpeake after the world, 5 and ſome after God: 7 He returneth to charitie, 11. 19 and by the example of God he exhorteth to brotherly loue.

DEarely [1] beloued, beleeue not euery [a] ſpirite, but trie the ſpirits whereby they are of God: for many falſe prophets are gone out into this world.

2 [2] Hereby ſhall ye knowe the Spirit of God, [b] Euery ſpirit which confeſſeth that [c] Ieſus Chriſt is come in the [d] fleſh, is of God.

3 And euery ſpirite that confeſſeth not that Ieſus Chriſt is come in the fleſh, is not of God: but this is the ſpirit of Antichriſt, of whom ye haue heard, how that he ſhould come, and nowe already he is in this world.

4 [3] Litle children, ye are of God, and haue ouercome them: for greater is he that is in you, then he that is in this world.

5 [4] They are of this world, therefore ſpeake they of this world, and this world heareth them.

1 Taking occaſion by the name of the Spirit, leſt loue and charitie ſhould be ſeparated from the worthy of God, which chiefly pertaineth of his true knowledge, he returneth to that which hee ſpake of in the ſecond chapter touching the taſting heede of Antichriſts. And he will haue vs here to take heed of two things, the one is, that ſeeing there be many falſe prophets, we doe not lightly giue credite to euery man: the other is, that becauſe many men teach falſe things, we ſhould not therefore beleeue any. The meane then obſerue a meane, that wee may be able to diſcerne the Spirits of God which are altogether to be followed, from impure ſpirits which are to be eſchewed. a This is ſpoken by the figure Metonymie, and it is as if he had ſaide, Beleeue not euery one that ſaith that he hath a gift of the holy Ghoſt to doe the office of a Prophet. 2 He giueth a certaine and perpetuall rule to know the doctrine of Antichriſt by, to wit, if either the diuine or humane nature of Chriſt, or the true vniting of them together be denied: or if the leaſt iote that may be, be derogated from his office who is our onely King, Prophet, & euerlaſting high Prieſt. b He ſpeaketh ſimply of the doctrine, and not of the perſon. c The true Meſſias. d In true man. 3 Hee comforteth the elect with a moſt ſure hope of victorie: but put ſo, that he teacheth them that they fight not with their owne vertue, but with the vertue and power of God. 4 Hee bringeth a reaſon why the worlde receiueth theſe teachers more willingly then the true: to wit, becauſe they ſeeke out nothing but that which is worldly: which is another note alſo to know the doctrine of Antichriſt by.

6 [5] We are of God, * he that knoweth God, heareth vs: he that is not of God, heareth vs not. Hereby know we the [e] ſpirit of trueth, and the ſpirit of errour.

7 [6] Beloued, let vs loue one another: [7] for loue commeth of God, and euery one that loueth, is borne of God, and knoweth God.

8 He that loueth not, knoweth not God: [8] God is [f] loue.

9 * Herein was that loue of God made manifeſt amongſt vs, becauſe God ſent that his onely begotten ſonne into this world, that we might liue through him.

10 Herein is that loue, not that we loued God, but that he loued vs, and ſent his Sonne to be a reconciliation for our ſinnes.

11 [9] Beloued, if God ſo loued vs, wee ought alſo to loue one another.

12 *[10] No man hath ſeene God at any time. If we loue one another, God dwelleth in vs, and his loue is [g] perfect in vs.

13 Hereby knowe we, that we dwell in him, and he in vs: becauſe he hath giuen vs of his Spirit.

14 [11] And we haue ſeene, and doe teſtifie, that the Father ſent that Sonne to bee the Sauiour of the world.

15 Whoſoeuer [h] confeſſeth that Ieſus is the Sonne of God, in him dwelleth God, and he in God.

16 And wee haue knowen, and beleeued the loue that God hath in vs. [12] God is loue, and he that dwelleth in loue, dwelleth in God, and God in him.

17 [13] Herein is that loue perfect in vs, that wee ſhould haue boldneſſe in the day of iudgement: for [i] as hee is, euen ſo are wee in this world.

18 There is no [k] feare in loue, but perfect loue caſteth out feare: for feare hath paineſulneſſe: and he that feareth, is not perfect in loue.

19 [14] Wee loue him, becauſe hee loued vs firſt.

5 He teſtifieth vnto them, that his doctrine and the doctrine of his fellowes, is the aſſured word of God, which of neceſſitie wee haue boldly to ſet againſt all the mouthes of the whole world, and thereby diſcerne the trueth from falſehood. *Iohn 8.47.

e True Prophets, againſt whom as falſe prophets, that is, ſuch as erre themſelues, and leade other into errour.

6 He returneth to the commending of brotherly loue & charitie.

7 The firſt reaſon: Becauſe it is a very diuine thing, and therefore very meete for the ſonnes of God: ſo that whoſoeuer is voide of it, can not be ſaid to knowe God aright.

8 A confirmation: for it is the nature of God to loue men, whereof wee haue a moſt manifeſt proofe aboue all other, in that that of his onely free and infinite good will towards vs his enemies, he deliuered vnto death, not a common man, but that his owne Sonne, yea his onely begotten Sonne, to the end that we being reconciled through his bloud might be made partakers of his euerlaſting glory.

f In that he calleth God, Loue, hee ſaith more then if he had ſaid that he loueth infinitely. * Iohn 3.16, 9 An other reaſon by compariſon: if God ſo loued vs, ſhall not we his children loue one another? *Iohn 1.18. 1.tim.6.16. 10 A third reaſon: Becauſe God is inuiſible, therefore by this effect of his ſpirit, to wit, by charitie, he is vnderſtood, yea and to be not out of vs, but ioyned with vs and in vs, in whom he is ſo effectually working. g Is ſurely in vs in deede, and in trueth. 11 He vnderlayeth this charitie with another foundation, to wit, faith in Ieſus, which ioyneth vs in deede with him, euen as charitie witneſſeth that we are ioyned with him. Furthermore he teſtifieth of Chriſt, as who had ſeene him with his eyes. h With ſuch a confeſſion as commeth from true faith, and is accompanied with loue, ſo that there be an agreement of all things. 12 A fourth reaſon: God is the fountaine and welſpring of charitie, yea charitie it ſelfe: therefore whoſoeuer abideth in it, hath God with him. 13 Againe (as a litle before) he commendeth loue, for that ſeeing that by our agreement with God in this thing, we haue a certaine teſtimonie of our adoption, it commeth thereby to paſſe that without feare we looke for that latter day of iudgement, ſo that trembling, and that torment of conſcience is caſt out by this loue. i This ſignifieth a likeneſſe, not an equalitie. k If we vnderſtand by loue, that we are in God, and God in vs, that we are ſonnes, and that we know God, and that euerlaſting life is in vs: he concludeth aright, that we may well gather peace and quietnes thereby. 14 Leſt any man ſhould thinke that that peace of conſcience proceedeth from our loue, as from the cauſe, he goeth backe to the fountaine, to wit, to the free loue wherewith God loueth vs as though we deſerued and do deſerue his wrath. And hereof ſpringeth another double charitie, which both are tokens and witneſſes of the firſt, to wit, that wherewith we loue God who loued vs firſt, and then for his ſake our neighbours alſo.

15 As he shewed that the loue of our neighbour cannot be separate from the loue wherewith God loueth vs, because this last engendreth the other: so he denieth that the other kinde of loue wherewith we loue God, can be separate from the loue of our neighbour: whereof it followeth that they lie impudently which say they worship God, and yet regard not their neighbours. 16 The first reason taken of comparison, why we cannot hate our neighbour, and loue God, to wit, because that he that cannot loue his brother, whom hee seeth, howe can hee loue God whom hee seeth not? * Iohn 13.34. and 15.12. 17 A second reason, why God cannot be hated and our neighbour loued, because the selfe same Lawmaker commaunded both to loue him and our neighbour.

20 [15] If any man say, I loue God, and hate his brother, he is a lyar: [16] for how can he that loueth not his brother whom he hath seene, loue God whom he hath not seene.

21 *[17] And this commaundement haue we of him, that he that loueth God, should loue his brother also.

CHAP. V.

1 He sheweth that brotherly loue and faith are things inseparable: 10 And that there is no faith toward God, but by beleeuing in Christ: 14 Hence proceedeth calling vpon God with assurance, 16 and also that our prayers be availeable for our brethren.

1 He goeth on forward in the same argument, shewing howe both those loues came into vs, from that loue wherewith God loueth vs, to wit, by Iesus our Mediatour laid hold on by faith in whom wee are made the children of God, and doe loue the Father of whom we are so begotten, and also our brethren whiche are begotten with vs.

WHosoeuer [1] beleeueth that Iesus is that [a] Christ, is borne of God: and euery one that loueth him, which begate, loueth [b] him also which is begotten of him.

2 [2] In this we know that we loue the children of God, when we loue God, and keepe his [c] commandements.

3 [3] For this is the loue of God, that we keepe his commandements: [4] and his * commandements are not [d] burdenous.

4 [5] For all that is borne of God, ouercommeth this world: [6] and this is that victorie that [e] hath ouercome this world, euen our [f] faith.

5 *[7] Who is it that ouercommeth this world, but he which beleeueth that Iesus is that Sonne of God?

6 [8] This is that Iesus Christ that came by water and blood: [9] not by water onely, but water and blood: and it is that [g] Spirit, that beareth witnesse: for that Spirit is trueth.

7 For there are three, which beare record in heauen, the Father, the [h] Word, and the holy Ghost: and these three are [i] one.

8 And there are three which beare record in the earth, the spirit, and the water and the blood: and these three agree in one.

9 [10] If we receiue the witnesse of men, the witnesse of God is greater: for this is the witnesse of God, which he testified of his Sonne.

10 *[11] He that beleeueth in that Sonne of God, hath the witnes in himselfe: he that beleeueth not God, hath made him a lyar, because he beleeued not the word, that God witnessed of that his Sonne.

11 [12] And this is that record, to wit, that God hath giuen vnto vs eternall life, and this life is in that his Sonne.

12 Hee that hath that Sonne, hath that life: and he that hath not that Sonne of God, hath not that life.

13 [13] These things haue I written vnto you, that beleeue in the Name of that Sonne of God, that ye may know that ye haue eternall life, and that ye may beleeue in the Name of that Sonne of God.

14 [14] And this is that assurance, that wee haue in him, * that if we aske any thing according to his will, he heareth vs.

15 And if wee knowe that hee heareth vs, whatsoeuer we aske, we knowe that we haue the petitions, that we haue desired of him.

16 [15] If any man see his brother sinne a sinne that is not vnto death, let him [l] aske, and he shall giue him life for them that sinne not vnto death, * There is a sinne vnto death: I say not that thou shouldest pray for it.

17 [16] All vnrighteousnesse is sinne, but there is a sinne not vnto death.

a It the true Messias.

b By one, he meaneth all the faithfull.

c The loue of our neighbour doeth so hang vpon the loue wherewith we loue God, that this last must needes goe before the first: whereof it followeth, that that is not to be called loue when men agree together to doe euill, neither that, when as in louing our neighbours, we respect not Gods commandements. c There is no loue where there is no true doctrine. 3 The reason: for to loue God, is to keepe his commandements, which being so, and seeing that both the loues are commanded of one and the selfe same Lawmaker, (as hee taught before) it followeth also, that we doe not loue our neighbours, when we breake Gods commandements. 4 Because experience teacheth vs that there is no abilitie in our flesh, neither yet will to performe Gods commandements, therefore lest the Apostle should seeme, by so often putting them in minde of the keeping of the commandements of God, to require things that are impossible, he pronounceth that the commaindements of God are not in such sort grieuous or burdensome, that wee can be oppressed with the burden of them. * Matthew 11.30. d To them that be regenerate, that is to say, borne a newe, which are led by the Spirite of God, and are through grace deliuered from the curse of the Lawe. 5 A reason: Because by regeneration we haue gotten strength to ouercome the world, that is to say, whatsoeuer striueth against the commaundements of God. 6 Hee declareth what that strength is, to wit, faith. e He vseth the time that is past, to giue vs to vnderstand, that although wee be in the battell, yet vndoubtedly wee shall be conquerours, and are most certaine of the victorie. f Which is the instrumentall cause, and as a meane and hand whereby wee lay holde on him who in deede doeth persourme this, that is, hath and doeth ouercome the worlde, euen Christ Iesus. * 1.Corinth.15.57. 7 Moreouer hee declareth two things, the one, what true faith is, to wit, that which resteth vpon Iesus Christ the Sonne of God: whereupon followeth the other, to wit, that this strength is not proper to faith, but by faith as an instrument is drawen from Iesus Christ the Sonne of God. 8 He proueth the excellencie of Christ, in whom onely all things are giuen vs, by fiue witnesses, three heauenly, and three earthly, which wholy and fully agree together. The heauenly witnesses are, the Father who sent the Sonne, the Word it selfe which became flesh, and the holy Ghost. The earthly witnesses are, water, (that is, our sanctification) blood, (that is, our iustification) the Spirit (that is, acknowledging of God the Father in Christ by faith, through the testimonie of the holy Ghost.)

9 He warneth vs not to separate water from blood, (that is, sanctification from iustification, or righteousnesse, beginne from righteousnesse imputed) for we stand not vpon sanctification, but so farre forth as it is a witnesse of Christes righteousnesse imputed vnto vs: and although this imputation of Christes righteousnesse be neuer separated from sanctification, yet is it the onely matter of our saluation. g Our spirite which is the third witnesse, he testifieth that the holy Ghost is trueth, that is to say, that that is true which he testifieth vs, to wit, that we are the Sonnes of God. h Looke Ioh.14. i Agree in one. 10 He beginneth by an argument of comparison, of what great waight the heauenly testimonie is, that the Father hath giuen of the Sonne, vnto whom agreeth both the Sonne himselfe, and the holy Ghost.

k I conclude, thus weighty that testimonie which I said is giuen in heauen, concerneth Iesus God, who so sheweth forth his Sonne. * Iohn 3.16.

11 He proueth the sureuesse of the earthly witnesses by euery mans conscience hauing that testimonie in it selfe, which conscience hee sayeth cannot bee deceiued, because it consenteth to the heauenly testimonie which the Father giueth of the Sonne: for otherwise the Father must needes be a lyar, if the conscience which accepteth and assenteth to the Father, shoulde lye. 12 Maine at length hee sheweth what this testimonie is that is confirmed with so many witnesses: to wit, that life eternall, euerlasting felicitie is the meere and onely gift of God, which is the Sonne, and proceedeth from him vnto vs which by faith are ioyned with him, so that without him, life is no where to bee founde. 13 The conclusion of the Epistle, wherein hee sheweth first of all, that euen they which alreadie beleeue, doe stand in needs of this doctrine, to the ende that they may grow more and more in faith: that is to say, to the ende that they may bee daily more and more certified of their saluation in Christ through faith. 14 Because wee doe not yet in effect obteine that which wee hope for, the Apostle ioyneth inuocation or prayer with faith, which hee will haue to proceede from faith, and moreouer to be conceiued in such sort, that nothing bee asked but that which is agreeable to the will of God: and such prayers cannot be vaine. * Chap.3.22. 15 Wee haue to make prayers not onely for our selues, but also for our brethren which doe sinne, that their sinnes be not vnto them, to death: and yet hee accepteth that sinne which is neuer forgiuen, or the sinne against the holy Ghost, that is to say, an vniuersall and wilfull falling away from the knowen trueth of the Gospel. l This is as much as if hee bade, let him desire the Lord to forgiue him, and hee will forgiue him being so desired. * Marth.12.31. marke 3.29. 16 The taking away of an obiection: In deede all iniquitie is comprehended vnder the name of sinne: but yet wee must not despaire therefore, because euery sinne is not deadly, and without hope of remedie.

17 A reason why we al may together pray no sinne is vnpardonable to saluation but, because they be borne of God, that is to say, made the sonnes of God in Christ, and being indued with his Spirite, they doe not serue sinne, neither are deadly wounded of Satan. 18 Euery man must particularly apply to himselfe the generall promises, that we may certainely perswade our selues, that whereas al the world is by nature lost, we are freely made the sonnes of God, by the sending of Iesus Christ his Sonne vnto vs, of whom we are lightened with the knowledge of the true God and euerlasting life.

18 [17] We knowe that whosoeuer is borne of God, sinneth not: but he that is begotten of God, keepeth himselfe, and that wicked one toucheth him not.

19 [18] We knowe that we are of God, and this whole world lieth in wickednesse.

20 But we know that that Sonne of God is * come, and hath giuen vs a minde to know him, which is true: and we are in him that is true, that is, in that his Sonne Iesus Christ: this same is that very [m] God & that eternal life.

21 [19] Litle children keepe your selues from idoles, Amen.

* Luk.24.45.

m The diuinitie of Christ is most plainely proued by this place.

19 He expresseth a plaine precept of taking heede of idoles which he setteth against the enemy true God, that with this scale as it were he might seale vp al the former doctrine.

The second Epistle of Iohn.

1 This Epistle is written to a woman of great renowme, 4 who brought vp her children in the feare of God: 6 he exhorteth her to continue in Christian charitie, 7 that she accompany not with Antichristes, 10 but auoide them.

THE Elder to the [a] elect [b] Lady, and her children, [1] whom I loue in ꝑ trueth: and not I onely, but also all that haue knowen the trueth,

2 For the truethes sake which dwelleth in vs, and shalbe with vs for euer:

3 Grace be with you, mercie and peace from God the Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ the Sonne of the Father, with [c] trueth and loue.

4 [2] I reioyced greatly, that I found of thy children walking in [d] trueth, as we haue receiued a commandement of the Father.

5 And nowe beseech I thee, Lady, (not as writing a newe commandement vnto thee, but that same which wee had from the beginning) that we * loue one another.

6 And this is that loue, that wee shoulde walke after his commandements. This commandement is, that as ye haue heard from the beginning, ye should walke in it,

7 [3] For many deceiuers are entred into this worlde, which confesse not that Iesus Christ is come in the flesh. He that is such one, is a deceiuer and an Antichrist.

8 [4] [e] Looke to your selues, that we lose not the things which we haue done, but that we may receiue a full reward.

9 Whosoeuer transgresseth and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that continueth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Sonne.

10 [5] If there come any vnto you, and bring not this doctrine, * receiue him not to house, neither bid him, God speede.

11 For he that biddeth him, God speede, is partaker of his euill deedes. Although I had many things to write vnto you, yet I woulde not write with paper and yncke: but I trust to come vnto you, and speake mouth to mouth, that our ioy may be full.

12 The sonnes of thine elect sister greete thee, Amen.

a This is no proper name, but to be taken as the word importeth, that is to say, to the worthy and noble Ladie.

b Excellent and honourable Dame.

c The bond of Christian coniunction or linking together is the true and constant profession of the trueth.

d With true knowledge which hath alwaies loue ioyned with it, and folowing it.

e This true profession condicteth both to loue one towards another which the Lord hath commanded, and also especially in wholesome and sound doctrine, which also is deliuered vnto vs: for the commandement of God is a sound and sure foundation both of the rule of manners, and of doctrine, and these cannot be separated the one from the other.

1 According as the trueth directeth them. * Iohn 15.12.

3 Anichristes fighting against the person and office of Christ, were already crept into the Church in the time of the Apostles.

4 He that marketh this practise of doctrine, loseth all.

c Beware and take good heede.

5 We ought to haue nothing to doe with them that defend peruerse doctrine. * Rom.16.17.

The third Epistle of Iohn.

1 Hee commendeth Gaius for hospitalitie, 9 and reprehendeth Diotrephes for vaine glory: 10 He exhorteth Gaius to continue in well doing: 12 and in the end commendeth Demetrius.

THE [1] Elder vnto the beloued Gaius, whom I loue in the trueth.

2 Beloued, I wish chiefly that thou prosperedst and faredst well as thy soule prospereth.

3 For I reioyced greatly when the brethren came, and testified of the trueth that is in thee, howe thou walkest in the trueth.

4 I haue no greater ioy then [a] these, that is, to heare that my sonnes walke in veritie.

5 Beloued, thou doest [b] faithfully, whatsoeuer thou doest to the brethren, and to strangers,

6 Which bare witnesse of thy loue before the Churches. Whom if thou [c] bringest on their iourney as it beseemeth according to God, thou shalt doe well,

7 Because that for his Names sake they went forth, and tooke nothing of the Gentiles.

1 An example of a Christian translation.

a Then these ioyes.

b As becommeth a beleeuer and a Christian.

c He commendeth to Gaius, either those selfe same men whom he had entertained before returning nowe againe to him, about the affaires of the Church, or els some other which had like businesse.

8 We

8 Wee therefore ought to receiue such, that we might be [d] helpers to the trueth.

9 [2] I wrote vnto the Church: but Diotrephes which loueth to haue the preeminence among them, receiueth vs not.

10 Wherefore if I come, I will call to your remembrance his deedes which he doeth, prating against vs with malicious wordes, and not therewith content, neither he himselfe receiueth the brethren, but forbiddeth them that would, and thrusteth them out of the Church.

11 Beloued, followe not that which is euil, but that which is good: he that doeth wel, is of God: but hee that doeth euill, hath not [e] seene God.

12 Demetrius hath good report of all men, and of the trueth it selfe: yea, and we our selues beare record, and ye knowe that our record is true.

13 I haue many things to write: but I will not with ynke and pen write vnto thee:

14 For I trust I shall shortly see thee, and we shall speake mouth to mouth. Peace be with thee. The friends salute thee, Greete the friends by name.

d That we our selues may helpe somewhat to the preaching of the trueth.

2 Ambition and couetousnesse two pestilent plagues (especially in them which haue any Ecclesiastical function) are condemned in Diotrephes person.

e Hath not knowen God.

The Generall Epistle of Iude.

3 He warneth the godly to take heede of such men, 4 that make the grace of God a cloke for their wantonnesse: 5 and that they shall not scape vnpunished, for the contempt of that grace, 6. 7 he proueth by three examples: 14 and alledgeth the prophecie of Enoch: 20 Finally hee sheweth the godly a meane, to ouerthrowe all the snares of these deceiuers.

IUDE a seruant of Iesus Christ, and [a] brother of Iames, to them which are called and sanctified [b] of God the Father, and [c] returned to Iesus Christ:

*2 Mercie vnto you, and peace and loue be multiplied.

3 [1] Beloued, when I gaue all diligence to write vnto you of the [d] common saluation, it was needefull for me to write vnto you to exhort you, that ye should earnestly [e] contend for the maintenance of the faith, which was [f] once giuen vnto the Saints.

4 [2] For there are certaine men crept in, which were before of olde ordeined to this condemnation: [3] vngodly men they are which turne the grace of our God into wantonnesse, and * denie God the onely Lord, and our Lord Iesus Christ.

5 [4] I will therefore put you in remembrance, forasmuch as ye once knew this, howe that the Lord, after that he had deliuered the people out of Egypt, * destroyed them afterward which beleeued not.

6 [5] The * Angels also which kept not their first estate, but left their owne habitation, he hath reserued in euerlasting chaines vnder darkenesse vnto the iudgement of the great day.

7 As * Sodom and Gomorrhe, and the cities about them, which in like maner as they did, committed fornication, and followed [h] strange flesh, are set forth for an ensample, and suffer the vengeance of eternall fire.

8 Likewise notwithstanding these [i] sleepers also defile the flesh, [6] and despise [k] gouernement, and speake euill of them that are in authoritie.

9 [7] Yet Michael the Archangel, when he stroue against the deuil, and disputed about the body of Moses, durst not blame him with cursed speaking, but saide, The Lorde rebuke thee.

10 [8] But these speake euil of those things, which they know not: and whatsoeuer things they knowe naturally, as beastes, which are without reason, in those things they corrupt themselues.

11 [9] Wo be vnto them: for they haue followed the way * of Cain, and are cast away by the deceite * of Balaams wages, and perish in the gainesaying * of Core.

12 [10] These are rockes in your [l] feastes of charitie when they feast with you, without [m] al feare, feeding themselues: * cloudes they are without water, caried about of windes, corrupt trees and without fruite, twise dead, and plucked vp by the rootes.

13 They are the raging waues of the sea, foming out their owne shame: they are wanb By God the Father.

c Set apart by the euerlasting counsell of God, to be deliuered to Christ to be kept.

1 The end and marke whereat he shooteth in this Epistle, is that he confirmeth the godly against certaine wicked men both in wholesome doctrine and good maners.

d Of those things that pertaine to the saluation of all of vs.

e That ye should defend the faith by all the might you can, both by true doctrine, good example of life.

f Which was once so giuen, that it may neuer be changed.

2 It is by Gods prouidence and not by chance, that many wicked men creepe into the Church.

3 He condemneth this first in them, that they take a pretence or occasion to waxe wanton, by the grace of God: which cannot be, but the chiefe empire of Christ must be abrogated, in that such men giue vp themselues to Satan, as at this day the sect of Anabaptistes doeth, which they call libertines. *2. Pet. 2. 21. 4 He setteth forth the horrible punishment of them which haue abused the grace of God to followe their owne lustes. * Numbers 14. 37. 5 The fall of the Angels was most seuerly punished, howe much more then will the Lord punish wicked and faithlesse men? * 2. Peter 2. 4.

*Gen. 19. 24.

g Following the the steppes of Sodome and Gomorrhe.

h Thus he couerly setteth foorth their horrible and monstrous lustes.

i Which are so blockish and void of reason, as if all their senses and wittes were in a most dead sleepe.

6 Another most pernicious doctrine of theirs, in that they take away the authoritie of Magistrates, and speake euill of them, as at this day the Anabaptists doe.

k It is a greater matter to despise gouernement then the gouernours, that is to say, the maner it selfe then the persons.

7 An argument of comparison. Michael one of the chiefest Angels, was content to deliuer Satan, although a most accursed enemie, to the iudgement of God to be punished: and these peruerse men are not ashamed to speake euill of the powers which are ordeined of God. 8 The conclusion: These men are in a double fault, to wit, both for their rash follie in condemning some, and for their impudent and shamelesse contempt of that knowledge, which when they had gotten, yet notwithstanding they liued as brute beastes, seruing their bellies. 9 He foretelleth their destruction, because they resemble of the wofoorth Cains shamelesse malice, Balaams filthy couetousnesse, and to be short, Cores seditious and ambitious head. * Genesis 4. 8. *Num. 22. 21. 2. peter 2. 15. *Numbers 16. 1. 10 He rebuketh most sharpely with many other notes and markes, both their dishonestie or filthinesse, and their shamelesse, but especially, their vaine brauerie of wordes, and most vaine pride, ioyning therewithall a most graue and braue threatning out of a most auncient prophecie of Enoch touching the iudgement to come. l The feastes of charitie, were certaine bankets, which the brethen that were members of the Church kept altogether, as Tertullian setteth them foorth in his Apolog. chap. 39. m Impudently, without all reuerence to God or man. *2. Peter 2. 17.

dying starres, to whom is reserued the [n] blacknesse of darkenesse for euer.

14 And Enoch also the seuenth from Adam, prophecied of such, saying, * Beholde, the Lord [o] commeth with thousands of his Saints, 15 To giue iudgement against all men, and to rebuke all the vngodly among them of all their wicked deedes, which they haue vngodly committed, and of all their cruell speakings, which wicked sinners haue spoken against him.

16 These are murmurers, complainers, walking after their owne lustes: * whose mouthes speake proud things, hauing mens persons in admiration, because of aduantage.

17 [11] But ye beloued, remember the words which were spoken before of the Apostles of our Lord Iesus Christ, 18 Howe that they tolde you that there should be mockers * in the last time, which should walke after their owne vngodly lustes.

19 [12] These are they that separate themselues from other, naturall, hauing not the Spirite.

20 But, ye beloued, edifie your selues in your most holy faith, praying in the holy Ghost, 21 And keepe your selues in the loue of God, looking for the mercie of our Lord Iesus Christ, vnto eternall life.

22 [13] And haue compassion of some, in putting difference:

23 And other saue with [p] feare, pulling them out of the fire, and hate euen that [q] garment which is spotted by the flesh.

24 [14] Nowe vnto him that is able to keepe you, that ye fall not, and to present you faultlesse before the presence of his glory with ioy, 25 That is, to God onely wise, our Sauiour, be glory, and maiestie, and dominion, and power, both nowe and for euer, Amen.

[11] The rising vp of such monsters was spoken before, that we should not be troubled at the strangenesse of the matter. 1. Tim. 4.1. 2. Tim. 3.1. 2. Pet. 3.3.

[12] It is the propertie of Antichristes to separate themselues from the godly, because they are not gouerned by the spirit of God, and contrariwise it is the propertie of Christians to edifie one another through godly prayers, both in faith and also in loue, vntill the mercy of Christ appeare to their full saluation.

13 Amongst them which wander and go astray, the godly haue to do this choise, that they handle some of them gently, and that other some being euen in the very flame, they endeuour to saue with seuere and sharpe instruction of the present danger: yet so, that they doe in such sort abhorre the wicked and filthines, that they eschew euen the least cogitation that may be.

p By fearing them, and holding them backe with godly seueritie. q An amplification, taken from the forebidden things of the Lawe which did defile. 14 Hee commendeth them to the grace of God, declaring sufficiently that it is God onely that can giue vs that constancie which he requireth of vs.

¶ I haue not thought good to put foorth any thing as yet, vpon the Reuelation, as I haue vpon the former bookes: notwithstanding I liked well to set downe in the meane season that, that I wrote a fewe yeeres since, concerning the authoritie of this booke. And this is it.

BEcause some men haue of long time doubted of the authoritie of this booke, I will in few words, confute those arguments, which are commonly brought to this purpose, and after shewe mine owne opinion, and what I thinke. And I will recite the arguments in such order, as Erasmus hath painefully and diligently gathered them together: whose iudgement seemeth to be so vncertaine in this point (as it is also in many other) that no man readily can tell what opinion he was of, saue that after much adoe, hee seemeth to bend this way, that hee is of opinion, that this booke is of some authoritie, though not of so good as the rest of the bookes are which wee receiue without any gainesaying. Therefore let vs heare what he saith. Hierome witnesseth, saith hee, that the Grecians in his time did not receiue the Reuelations. Dorotheus Bishop of Tyrus, and a Martyr, in his abridgement of liues recordeth that Iohn wrote his Gospell in the Isle of Pathmos, but maketh no mention of this booke. Athanasius a Grecian in his Catalogue doeth not say that this is Iohns worke. Dionysius of Alexandria, as Eusebius reporteth his wordes, in the seuenth booke of his Ecclesiasticall historie, thinketh that this booke was written of some other Iohn, who was a godly man. Eusebius himselfe so citeth this booke in diuers places of his historie, that hee doeth not flatly vouch it to be Iohns: but alleageth one Caius that was a good Christian in the fourth booke of his historie, who saith it was written of one Cerinthus an heretike. Let this bee the first argument which I answere in this sort. If we weigh the reasons that moued those men to reiect this booke, then wee shall see howe vndeseruedly they did it. Againe, as some did reiect it, so did the most part receiue it: in so much that Epiphanius reckeneth them amongs Heretikes that did reiect it: as for Iustine the Philosopher, and Iren Bishop of Lions: which were both Martyrs, and did not onely allowe it, but also wrote Commentaries vpon it, I will not speake of them. As for that that is alledged of Dorotheus, it is to no great purpose, for that hee is thought to reiect it, because he spake not of it. As touching Athanasius, Erasmus himselfe witnesseth that it is doubtfull whether that worke be his or no. Concerning Dionysius we will weigh by and by what he sayth, when we come to consider of his reasons. As for Caius (what man soeuer hee was) hee is easily to be refuted euen by Dionysius his wordes in the third booke of the Ecclesiasticall historie. As for Eusebius I make no accompt of him, for there are none learned, but finde want of iudgement in him. Now let vs come to the other argument. Hierome writeth (sayth hee) that certaine very well learned men founde great fault and spake sharpely against the whole matter of this booke, as though there were nothing in it worthie the grauitie of an Apostle, but onely a common historie of things shadowed with certaine darke figures and hard kind of speaches. And moreouer that in the very sentences themselues there was nothing that becommeth the grauitie of an Apostle. Which I answere in this sort: What learned men so euer these were, they are greatly to be blamed, in ttha they durst be so bold to speake euil of ỹ booke, which no doubt is very short, if those things be excepted, which we haue translated word forword out of the Prophets, Basil, Gregorie, Ciril, Epiphanius, Irene, Hippolite, as Aretas witnesseth, were not of this iudgement, which thought not only as Dionysius of Alexandria did, that some godly man wrote this booke, but also plainely vouched it to be Iohn the Apostle, which no doubt they woulde neuer haue done, if they had founde no resemblance of the grauitie of an Apostle in it.

And

And whether of theſe ſhall I count for the better learned? whether theſe men, which haue giuen record both of their ſingular godlines, and excellent learning by publiſhing many works, or thoſe men rather, whoſe only names are ſcarcely heard of: and the reaſons they vſe, giue ſufficient proofe how learned they were? They ſay there appeared no grauitie in this writer, and yet he hath taken euery whit almoſt word for worde out of the Prophets: they ſay he hath put downe a common hiſtory. But how can that be, ſeeing (a few things onely excepte) he meaneth no relation of things paſt, but foretelleth things to come? And therefore they do not only not ſpeake that, that is trueth, but not ſo much as any piece or reſemblance of trueth.

Now let vs come to the third argument: He is very curious (ſaith one) in ſetting downe his owne name, as as though he ſhould indite an obligation, and not write a booke, which is not only not vſed of any of the Apoſtles, but is alſo vnaccuſtomed of himſelfe: for in his Goſpel where he entreateth a great deale more modeſt matters, then theſe are, he neuer nameth himſelfe, but onely pointeth it out by ſome ſuch markes as theſe, the Diſciple whom Ieſus loued. And Paul when he is enforced to ſpeake of his Reuelations, ſetteth out the matter vnder an other mans perſon. And yet this man, while he deſcribeth the ſecrete conference which he had with Angels, had neuer done with theſe kinde of wordes, I Iohn. This reaſon moued Dionyſius of Alexandria to thinke, that ſome other man wrote this booke. But what weake, and ſlender coniectures are theſe? litle did thoſe good men conſider, that it was one thing to write an hiſtory, and an other to ſet downe a prophecie: for the trueth of an hiſtory hangeth not ſo much vpon the credite of the writer, as vpon other circumſtances: but a prophecie, becauſe it foretelleth things to come, ſtandeth vpon the authoritie of him that reueileth it, and his that preacheth it, ſo that it is of neceſſitie to giue vs to vnderſtand, both from whence the forewarning came, and who reueiled it, and who wrote it. Whereupon we ſee, that not onely in the beginning of prophecies, but alſo almoſt in euery viſion, there is nothing ſo curiouſly ſet downe as the Name of God who ſpake it, and the name of the Prophet who wrote it. Take for example, onely the Prophet Ieremie, who maketh mention of his name, at the leaſt an hundred times. And ſo was it requiſite for him to do, that he might not ſeeme to ſeeke lurking corners to hide himſelfe in as the falſe prophets did. And what? doe we not finde from the ſeuenth Chapter of Daniel, that almoſt in euery verſe he repeateth his owne name, and ſaith, I Daniel? And how oft doeth Eſay repeate theſe words, Eſay the ſonne of Amos? But Iohn did not ſo in his Goſpel. I grant: for he wrote an hiſtory, wherein that befel him, which befell to none other of the Diſciples: for he was occaſioned to ſpeake many things of himſelfe. Nay, Paul alſo did not ſo: In deede he did not ſo, in any place where he handled not his viſions purpoſely, but whenſoeuer he voucheth the excellencie of his miniſterie, how boldly and how magnifically doeth he call himſelfe that Paul which was appointed to be an Apoſtle, not of men, nor by men, but by Ieſus Chriſt? And how? when he reporteth thoſe his great combates, doeth he take vpon him another mans perſon? Nay let vs go further: Iohns name is not to be found (vnleſſe I be deceiued in my reckoning) aboue fiue times in all this worke: and thoſe words (I Iohn) but onely thriſe, to wit, chap. 1. verſe 9. and yet with an explication added to it, which may ſuffice abundantly to put away all ſuſpition of pride: and againe, chap. 21. verſe 2. and chap. 22. verſe 8. in both which places he reporteth onely ſimply what he ſaw, to the ende that no man might doubt of the trueth of his prophecie. Therefore, to make an ende of this reaſon in few wordes, that argument which Dionyſius maketh, is not onely vaine, but alſo argueth want of skill, and is in deede very ſlanderous: Nay, I may ſay more, and ſay truely (without any malice to any, as the Lord is witneſſe) that this was too vnaduiſedly ſpoken, where he ſaith, that the Euangeliſt is as curious in his often repeating of Iohn, as if he had bene writing an obligation, and no booke.

Now to the fourth argument: In all the Greeke copies that I haue ſeene, ſayeth he, it was not intituled the Reuelation of Iohn the Euangeliſt, but, of Iohn the Diuine, which is ſufficient to proue it was Iohn the Euangeliſt: for all that are learned know that he was by excellencie, and by a prerogatiue as it were, called by this name the Diuine, of all the old writers, becauſe neuer man wrote ſo plainely and diuinely of the diuinitie of Chriſt as he did. As for the other Iohn, who I thinke was a counterfait, was not called by this excellent name Diuine, but an Elder.

Now for the vnlikenes of his ſtile, and ſpeech, which that Dionyſius of Alexandria prooueth by three reaſons, as Nicephorus recordeth, Eccleſ. lib. 6. cap. 23. firſt by the whole courſe and nature of his words, ſecondly, that whereas the Goſpel and Catholike Epiſtle of Iohn, agree in very many pointes, this booke hath not one word like. Laſtly, becauſe Iohn had an excellent gift of ſpeach, but this man is very clowniſh, barbarous, and tripped oft in his language. To the firſt I anſwere, that in ſo diuers a matter, it is no maruaile, to ſee ſo diuers a kind of ſtile: for in the hiſtory of the Goſpel, and in the Epiſtles, though he ſpake as he was mooued by the holy Ghoſt, yet he ſpake what his minde led him: and here he is but the writer of ſuch things as he heard and were deliuered him: In the other he ſometime maketh report of the hiſtory, and ſometime teacheth: but in this he ſpeaketh of things to come, and in ſuch order of wordes as he is appointed: And ſhall we marueile then that he vſeth not one ſelfe ſame kind of ſentences? Nay, what writer was there euer ẏ was tied ſo ſhort? are not many things deliuered to him in the very words of the old Prophets, enen in the ſame that Ezechiel, Daniel, Zacharie, Eſay, and other ſpake withall, by the direction of the ſelfe ſame Spirit, which ſpake the ſelfe ſame in them in old time? And therfore it is no marueile that he vſeth not ſo refined a kind of ſpeach, as happily they would deſire, ſeeing he ſwarueth neither in ſpeach, nor in characters, from the Prophets which wrote in the Hebrew tongue: and therefore there is leſſe cauſe of ſuſpicion that it ſhould be any counterfeit worke ſlily crept into the Church.

Now remaineth the laſt argument, which ſeemeth to charge him that he fauoureth the hereſie of the Chiliaſtes, whereupon diuers thought that Cerinthus made this booke & fathered it vpon ſome of the Apoſtles. But for mine owne part, though I graunt that the Chiliaſtes haue abuſed many teſtimonies out of this booke, yet I cannot yeeld to that, & thinke that ſome heretikes ſhould make it, vnleſſe ſome man be able to ſhew me, that thoſe places cannot fitly be taken in any other ſenſe: or els what booke is there that we may receiue? And that thoſe places are otherwiſe to bee taken, diuers learned men haue ſhewed long agoe: ſo that the like hath befallen this booke as did to the Epiſtle to the Hebrewes, which ſome men reiected very obſtinately, becauſe it ſeemed to make for the Nouatians: whereas in deede they ought rather to haue accuſed their owne ignorance. Moreouer, ſeeing Cerinthus had many other mad and wicked opinions, as that he denied that God made the world, and taught that Chriſt was borne of Mary, & Ioſeph, as all other men are borne, and maketh Chriſt and Ieſus two diſtinct perſons: how commeth it to paſſe that hee ſprinckled none of his foule holy water amongeſt the reſt in this booke? But he was ſo farre from ſo doing, that contrarywiſe there may be diuers arguments taken out of this booke againſt thoſe errors: ſo that it may appeare by this one reaſon, that Cerinthus was not the Authour of this booke. And againe, whereas he ſpeaketh of the thouſand yeeres, he mentioneth no one iote of thoſe things, which Cerinthus ſo impudently chattred of. For where is there any mention of that riot which Cerinthus talketh of? where is that eating? drinking? where are thoſe mariages & paſtimes? where are the ſacrifices and holy dayes which ſhould be kept at Hieruſalem? Therefore this is a vaine and a fooliſh argument. And ſeeing thoſe things are ſo, though I would ſtiffely ſtand in contention for the Authours name, yet I rather iudge it to be Iohn the Apoſtle, then any other mans: For beſides that it appeareth to be very ancient, and the learneſt and the godlieſt of the olde Fathers doubt not, but it was Iohns, theſe coniectures alſo leade mee to thinke ſo: for that I finde none of thoſe dayes to whome either propheties ſo ful of maieſtie, or ſo honourable a name of a Diuine, may be aſcribed: and moreouer, that it ſauoureth of the worthines & excellencie of an Apoſtle, to write to the Churches of Aſia, and not to one Church: laſtly, becauſe thoſe things which are here ſpoken of Pathmos, agree wholy with that which the olde Fathers haue written with one conſent, concerning Iohns baniſhment. And yet notwithſtanding if it may be lawfull to coniecture by the kinde of ſpeach it ſelfe, I would thinke it to be no mans ſooner then Markes, who was alſo called Iohn: he is ſo like not only in words, but alſo in diuers kindes of ſpeach, to the Goſpel of S. Marke, in ſo much that theſe two bookes haue almoſt one kinde of character. As for the booke it ſelfe, though I confeſſe that theſe myſteries are as yet very darke to me, yet notwithſtanding, ſeeing there appeareth in all parts of it a great maieſtie of the ſpirit of prophecie, and the very ſteps and ſentences, yea and the wordes of the old Prophets, ſeeing there are to be found in it manifeſt and mighty teſtimonies, both of the Diuinitie of Chriſt, and alſo of our redemptiō: And laſt of al, ſeeing that part of thoſe things are moſt manifeſtly come to paſſe, which are foretold by him, as thoſe things which he ſpake of the deſtruction of the Churches of Aſia, & of the kingdome of the whore, which ſitteth vpon ſeuen hils, I am perſwaded and thinke that the holy Ghoſts meaning was to heape vp together, in this moſt precious booke, all ſuch things, as by the forewarning of the olde Prophets remained to be fulfilled after the comming of Chriſt: and added alſo a few things, as he thought expedient for vs. I grant they are very darke, but that is no ſtrange thing in the Prophets writings, as eſpecially in Ezechiels. But this is our fault, becauſe we take not diligent heed to things but ouerſlip thoſe iudgements of Gods prouidence, which daily are to be ſeene in his gouerning of the Church, by hauing our hearts too much ſet vpon our priuate affaires. To be ſhort, the Lord knoweth what, and how far it is expedient for vs to know, and therfore in times paſt, he ſo diſpoſed the light of his Prophets, as for his infinite wiſdome he ſaw it would be profitable for his Church. And therefore godly men haue to ſearch and wade in theſe myſteries with feare and reuerence ſo farre foorth, as lawfully and profitably they may: and let all men reuerence the myſteries of God, which are comprehended in this booke, whether they know them, or know them not, rather then as many doe, either mocke at them, or defile them with their fantaſtical commentaries.

g Patmos is one of the Iles of Sporas, whither Iohn was baniſhed as ſome write.
h This is, that holy rauiſhment expreſſed, wherewith the Prophets were rauiſhed, and being as it were caried out of the world, were conuerſant with God: and ſo Ezechiel ſaith often, that he was caried from place to place of the Lords Spirit, and that the Spirit of the Lord fell vpon him.

8 I * am [f] Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, ſaith the Lord, Which is, and Which was, and Which is to come, euen the Almightie.

9 I Iohn, euen your brother, and companion in tribulation, and in the kingdome and patience of Jeſus Chriſt, was in the Ile called [g] Patmos, for the worde of God, and for the witneſſing of Jeſus Chriſt.

10 And [h] I was rauiſhed in ſpirite on the [i] Lordes day, and heard behinde mee a great voyce, as it had bene of a trumpet.

11 Saying, I am Alpha and Omega, that firſt and that laſt: and that which thou ſeeſt, write in a booke, and ſende it vnto the ſeuen Churches which are in Aſia, vnto Epheſus, and vnto Smyrna, and vnto Pergamus, and vnto Thyatira, and vnto Sardis, and vnto

Philadelphia, and vnto Laodicea.

12 Then I turned backe to k see the voice, that spake with me: and when I was turned, I sawe seuen golden candlesticks, 13 And in the middes of the seuen candlesticks, one like vnto the Sonne of man, clothed with a garment downe to the feete, and girded about the pappes with a golden girdle.

14 His head, and haires were white as white wooll, and as snow, and his eyes were as a flame of fire, 15 And his feete like vnto fine brasse, burning as in a fornace: and his voyce as the sound of many waters.

16 And hee had in his right hande seuen starres: and out of his mouth went a sharpe two edged sworde: and his face shone as the Sunne shineth in his strength.

17 And when I sawe him, I fel at his feete as dead: then he layd his right hand vpon me, saying vnto mee, Feare not: I am that *first and that last,

18 And am aliue, but I was dead: and beholde, I am aliue for euermore, Amen: and I haue the keyes of hell and of death.

19 Write the things which thou hast seene, and the things which are, and the things which shall come hereafter.

20 The mysterie of the seuen starres which thou sawest in my right hande, and the seuen golden candlesticks, is this, The seuen starres are the l Angels of the seuen Churches: and the seuen candlestickes which thou sawest, are the seuen Churches.

CHAP. II.

1 Iohn is commanded to write those things, which the Lord knew necessary to the Churches of Ephesus, 8 of the Smyrnians, 12 of Pergamus, 18 & of Thyatira, 25 that they keepe those things which they receiued of the Apostles.

VNto the Angel of ỹ Church of Ephesus write, These things saith he that holdeth the seuen starres in his right hand, and walketh in the mids of the seuen golden candlesticks.

2 I know thy workes, and thy labour, and thy patience, and how thou canst not beare with them which are euill, and hast examined them which say they are Apostles, and are not, and hast found them liars.

3 And thou wast burdened and hast patience, and for my Names sake hast laboured, and hast not fainted.

4 Neuertheless, I haue somewhat a gainst thee, because thou hast left thy first loue.

5 Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and doe the first workes: or else I will come against thee shortly, and will remoue thy candlestick out of his place, except thou amend.

6 But this thou hast, that thou hatest the workes of the Nicolaitanes, which I also hate.

7 Let him that hath an eare, heare, what the spirit saith vnto the Churches, To him ỹ ouercommeth, will I giue to eate of the tree of life which is in the mids of the b Paradise of God.

8 ¶ And vnto the Angel of the Church of the c Smyrnians write, These things saith he that is first, and last, which was dead & is aliue.

9 I know thy workes and tribulation, and pouertie (but thou art rich) & I know the blasphemie of them, which say they are Iewes, and are not, but are the Synagogue of Satan.

10 Feare none of those things, which thou shalt suffer: beholde, it shall come to passe, that the deuil shall cast some of you into prison, that ye may be tried, and yee shall haue tribulation ten dayes: be thou faithfull vnto the death, and I wil giue thee the crowne of life.

11 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith to the Churches. He that ouercommeth, shal not be hurt of the second death.

12 And to the Angel of the Church, which is at d Pergamus write, This saith he which hath that sharpe sword with two edges.

13 I know thy works, & where thou dwellest, euen where Satans throne is, & thou keepest my Name, and hast not denied my faith, euen in e those dayes when Antipas my faithful Martyr was slaine among you, where Satan dwelleth.

14 But I haue a few things against thee, because thou hast there them that maintaine the doctrine of *Balaam, which taught Balac to put a stumbling blocke before the children of Israel, that they should f eate of things sacrificed vnto idoles, and commit fornication.

15 Euen so hast thou them, that maintaine the doctrine of the Nicolaitans, which thing I hate.

16 Repent thy selfe, or else I will come vnto thee shortly, and will fight against them with the sword of my mouth.

17 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith vnto the Churches. To him that ouercommeth, will I giue to eate of the g Manna that is hid, & will giue him a h white stone, & in the stone a new name written, which no man knoweth sauing he that receiueth it.

18 ¶ And vnto the Angell of the Church which is at Thyatira write, These things saith the Sonne of God, which hath his eyes like vnto a flame of fire, & his feete like fine brasse.

19 I know thy works & thy loue, and i seruice, & faith, and thy patience, & thy works, and that they are moe at the last, then at the first.

20 Notwithstanding, I haue a few things against thee, that thou sufferest the woman Iezabel, which calleth her selfe a prophetesse, to teach & to deceiue my seruants to make them commit k fornication, and to eate meats sacrificed vnto idoles.

21 And I gaue her space to repent of her b Thus Christ speaketh as he is Mediatour.

c Smyrna was one of the cities of Ionia in Asia.

d Pergamus was the name of a famous citie in old time in Asia, where the kings of the Attalians were alwayes resident.

e The faith of them of Pergamus is so much the more highly commended, because they remained constant euen in the very heate of persecution.

*Num. 24.14. and 25.1.

h Arethas writeth, that such a stone was wont to be giuen to wrestlers at games, or els that such stones did in old time witnes the quitting of a man.

i So he calleth those offices of charitie which are done to the Saints.

k By fornication, is oftentimes in the Scripture idolatrie meant.

b To deale with thee for.

fornication, and ſhe repented not.

22 Beholde, I will caſt her into a bed, and them that commit fornication with her, into a great affliction, except they repent them of their workes.

23 And I will kill her children with death: and all the Churches ſhall knowe that I am he which * ſearch the reines and hearts: and I wil giue vnto euery one of you according vnto your workes.

24 And vnto you I ſay, the reſt of them of Thyatira, As many as haue not this learning, neither haue knowen the [l] deepeneſſe of Satan (as they ſpeake) I will [m] put vpon you none other burden.

25 But that which yee haue already, holde faſt til I come.

26 For he that ouercommeth and keepeth my workes vnto the ende, to him will I giue power ouer nations, 27 * And hee ſhall rule them with a rod of yron: and as the veſſels of a potter, ſhall they be broken.

28 Euen as I receiued of my Father, ſo wil I giue him the morning ſtarre.

29 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit ſaith to the Churches.

CHAP. III.

1 The firſt Epiſtle ſent to the Paſtours of the Church of Sardis, 7 of Philadelphia, 14 and of the Laodiceans, 16 that they be not luke warme, 20 but endeuour to further Gods glory.

AND write vnto the Angel of the Church which is at [a] Sardis, Theſe things ſaith he that hath the ſeuen Spirits of God, and the ſeuen ſtarres, I know thy works: for thou haſt a [b] name that thou liueſt, but thou art dead.

2 Bee awake, and ſtrengthen the things which remaine, that are [c] readie to die: for I haue not found thy workes perfit before God.

3 Remember therefore, howe thou haſt receiued and heard, and holde faſt and repent. *If therefore thou wilt not watch, I will come on thee as a thiefe, and thou ſhalt not know what houre I wil come vpon thee.

4 Notwithſtanding thou haſt a few names yet in Sardis, which haue not defiled their garments: and they ſhall walke with me in white: for they are [d] worthy.

5 He that ouercommeth ſhall be clothed in white aray, & I will not put out his name out of the * Booke of life, but I will confeſſe his name before my Father, & before his Angels.

6 Let him that hath an eare, heare, what the Spirit ſaith vnto the Churches.

7 ¶ And write vnto the Angell of the Church which is of Philadelphia, Theſe things ſaith hee that is Holy, and True, which hath the [e] key of Dauid, which openeth and no man ſhutteth, and ſhutteth & no man openeth,

8 I know thy workes: beholde, I haue ſet before thee an open doore, and no man can ſhut it: for thou haſt a litle ſtrength and haſt kept my word, and haſt not denied my Name.

9 Beholde, I will [f] make them of the Synagogue of Satan, which call themſelues Iewes, and are not, but doe lie: beholde, I ſay, I will make them, that they ſhall come and worſhip before thy feete, and ſhall know that I haue loued thee.

10 Becauſe thou haſt [g] kept the word of my patience, therefore I wil deliuer thee from the houre of tentation, which will come vpon all the world, to try them that dwell vpon the earth.

11 Beholde, I come ſhortly: holde that which thou haſt, that no man take thy crowne.

12 Him that ouercommeth, will I make a pillar in the Temple of my God, and hee ſhall goe no more out: and I will write vpon him the Name of my God, and the Name of the citie of my God, which is the newe Hieruſalem, which commeth downe out of heauen from my God, and I will write vpon him my new Name.

13 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit ſaith vnto the Churches.

14 And vnto the Angell of the Church of the Laodiceans write, Theſe things ſaith [h] Amen, the faithfull and true witneſſe, that [i] beginning of the creatures of God.

15 I knowe thy workes, that thou art neither colde nor hote: I would thou wereſt colde or hote.

16 Therefore, becauſe thou art luke-warme, and neither colde nor hote, it wil come to paſſe, that I ſhall ſpewe thee out of my mouth.

17 For thou ſayeſt, I am rich and increaſed with goods, and haue neede of nothing, and knoweſt not how thou art wretched and miſerable, and poore, and blinde, and naked.

18 I counſell thee to buy of me golde tried by the fire, that thou mayeſt be made rich: and white raiment, that thou mayeſt bee clothed, and that thy filthy nakednes doe not appeare: and anoynt thine eyes with eye ſalue, that thou mayeſt ſee.

19 As many as I loue, * I rebuke and chaſten: be [k] zealous therefore and amend.

20 Behold, I ſtand at the doore, & knocke. If any man heare my voyce & open the doore, I will come in vnto him, and will ſuppe with him, and he with me.

21 To him that ouercõmeth, will I grant to ſit with mee in my throne, euen as I ouercame, and ſit with my Father in his throne.

22 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit ſaith vnto the Churches.

1 The booke ſealed with ſeuen ſeales, 3 which none could open: 6 that Lambe of God 9 is thought woorthie to open it, 12 euen by the conſent of all the companie of Heauen.

AND I ſawe in the right hand of him that ſate vpon the throne, a Booke written within, and on the backſide, ſealed with ſeuen ſeales.

2 And I ſawe a ſtrong Angel which preached with a lowde voice, Who is worthy to open the booke, and to looſe the ſeales thereof?

3 And no man in heauen, nor in earth, neither vnder the earth, was able to open the Booke, neither to looke thereon.

4 Then I wept much, becauſe no man was founde worthy to open, and to reade the Booke, neither to looke thereon.

7 And hee came, and tooke the Booke out of the right hande of him that ſate vpon the throne.

d To haue all praiſe giuen to him, as to the mightieſt and wiſeſt, &c.

13 And all the creatures which are in heauen, and on the earth, and vnder the earth, and in the ſea, and all that are in them, heard I, ſaying, Praiſe, and honour, and glory, and power be vnto him, that ſitteth vpon the throne, and vnto the Lambe for euermore.

14 And the foure beaſtes ſaide, Amen, and the foure and twentie Elders fell downe and worſhipped him that liueth for euermore.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Lambe openeth the firſt ſeale of the booke, 3 the ſecond, 5 the third, 7 the fourth, 9 the fift, 12 and the ſixt, and then ariſe, murders, famine, peſtilence, prayers of Saints, earthquakes, and diuers ſtrange ſights in heauen.

AFter, I behelde when the Lambe had opened one of the ſeales, and I heard one of the foure beaſtes ſay, as it were the noiſe of thunder, Come and ſee.

2 Therefore I behelde, and loe, there was a white horſe, and he that ſate on him, had a bowe, and a crowne was giuen vnto him, and hee went forth conquering that hee might ouercome.

3 And when hee had opened the ſecond ſeale, I heard the ſecond beaſt ſay, Come & ſee.

4 And there went out another horſe, that was red, and power was giuen to him that ſate thereon, to take peace from the earth, and that they ſhould kill one another, and there was giuen vnto him a great ſworde.

5 And when he had opened the thirde ſeale, I heard the thirde beaſt ſay, Come and ſee: Then I behelde, and loe, a blacke horſe, and he that ſate on him, had balances in his hand.

6 And I heard a voyce in the mids of the foure beaſtes ſay, A [a] meaſure of wheate for a penie, and three meaſures of barly for a penie, and oyle, and wine hurt thou not.

7 And when hee had opened the fourth ſeale, I heard the voyce of the fourth beaſt ſay, Come and ſee.

8 And I looked, and beholde, a pale horſe, and his name that ſate on him was Death, and Hell followed after him, and power was giuen vnto them ouer the fourth part of the earth, to kill with ſworde, and with hunger, and with death, and with beaſtes of the earth.

9 And when he had opened the fift ſeale, I ſawe vnder the altar the ſoules of them, that were killed for the worde of God, and for the teſtimonie which they mainteined.

10 And they cried with a loude voyce, ſaying, How long, Lord, which art holy and true! doeſt not thou iudge and auenge our blood on them that dwel on the earth?

11 And long white robes were giuen vnto euery one, and it was ſaide vnto them, that they ſhould reſt for a litle ſeaſon vntil their fellow ſeruants, and their brethren that ſhould be killed euen as they were, were [b] fulfilled.

12 And I behelde when he had opened the ſixt ſeale, & loe, there was a great earthquake, and the ſunne was as blacke as [c] ſackcloth of haire, and the moone was like blood.

13 And the ſtarres of heauen fell vnto the earth, as a figge tree caſteth her greene figges, when it is ſhaken of a mightie winde.

14 And heauen departed away, as a ſcroule, when it is rolled, and euery mountaine and Ile were mooued out of their places.

15 And the Kings of the earth, and the great men, and the rich men, and the chiefe Captaines, and the mightie men, and euery bondman, & euery free man, hid themſelues in dennes, & among the rockes of the mountaines, 16 And ſaid to the mountaines, and rocks, *Fall on vs, and hide vs from the preſence of him that ſitteth on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lambe.

17 For the great day of his wrath is come, and who can ſtand?

CHAP. VII.

1 The Angels comming to hurt the earth, 3 are ſtayed vntill the Elect of the Lord 5 of all tribes were ſealed. 13 Such as ſuffered perſecution for Chriſtes ſake 16 haue great felicitie, 17 and ioy.

AND after that, I ſaw foure Angels ſtand on the [a] foure corners of the earth, holding the foure windes of the earth, that the windes ſhould not blowe on the earth, neither on the ſea, neither on any tree.

a On the foure quarters or coaſts of the earth.

2 And I ſaw another Angel come vp from the Eaſt, which had the ſeale of the liuing God, and hee cried with a loude voyce to the foure Angels to whom power was giuen to hurt the earth, and the Sea, ſaying,

3 Hurt ye not the earth, neither the Sea, neither the trees, till wee haue ſealed the ſeruants of our God in their foreheads.

4 And I heard the number of them, which were ſealed, & there were ſealed an hundreth and foure and fortie thouſande of all the tribes of the children of Iſrael.

5 Of the tribe of Iuda were ſealed twelue thouſande. Of the tribe of Ruben were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Gad were ſealed twelue thouſand.

6 Of the tribe of Aſer were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Nephtali were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Manaſſes were ſealed twelue thouſand.

7 Of the tribe of Simeon were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of [b] Leui were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Iſſachar were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Zabulon were ſealed twelue thouſand.

b He skipped Dan, and reckoneth Leui.

8 Of the tribe of [c] Joſeph were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Beniamin were ſealed twelue thouſand.

c Of Ephraim, who was Ioſephs other ſonne, and had the birthright giuen him, whereof he is called Ioſeph.

9 After theſe things I behelde, and loe a great multitude, which no man could number, of all nations and kindreds, and people, and tongues, ſtood before the throne, and before the Lambe, clothed with long white robes, and palmes in their hands.

10 And they cried with a loude voyce, ſaying, Saluation commeth of our God, that ſitteth vpon the throne, and of the Lambe.

11 And all the Angels ſtoode round about the throne, and about the Elders, & the foure beaſtes, and they fell before the throne on their faces, and worſhipped God,

12 Saying, Amen. Praiſe, and glory, and wiſedome, & thankes, and honor, & power, and might a Hereby is ſignified what great ſcarcitie of corne there was; for the word here vſed is a kinde of meaſure of drie things, which is in quantitie but the eight part of a buſhel, which was an ordinarie portion vſed to be giuen to ſeruants for their ſtint of meate for one day.

b Vntil their number be fulfilled.

c So they called in old time thoſe wouen workes that were of haire.

might be vnto our God for euermore, Amen.

13 And one of the Elders spake, saying vnto me, What are these which are arayed in long white robes? and whence came they?

14 And I said vnto him, Lord, thou knowest. And he said to mee, These are they, which came out of great tribulation, and haue washed their long robes, & haue made their long robes white in the blood of the Lambe.

15 Therefore are they in the presence of the throne of God, and serue him [d] day & night in his Temple, and he that sitteth on the throne, will dwel [e] among them.

16 * They shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more, neither shall the sunne light on them, neither any heate.

17 For the lambe which is in the mids of the throne, shal gouerne them, & shal lead them vnto the liuely fountains of waters, and * God shall wipe away all teares from their eies.

d Healudeth to the Leuites, which serued day and night, for els there is no night in heauen.

e Or, vpon them whereby is ment: Gods defence and protection as it were towards them, who are as safe, as men in the Lords tents.

CHAP. VIII.

1 After the opening of the seuenth seale, 3 the Saints prayers are offered vp with odours. 6 The seuen Angels come forth with trumpets. 7 The foure first blow, & fire falleth on the earth, 8 the sea is turned into blood, 10.11 the waters waxe bitter, 12 And the starres are darkened.

AND whē he had opened the seuenth seale, there was silence in heauen about halfe an houre.

2 And I sawe the seuen Angels, which [a] stood before God, and to them were giuen seuen trumpets.

a Which appeare before him as his ministers.

3 Then another Angel came and stood before the altar hauing a golden censer, and much odours was giuen vnto him, that he should offer with the prayers of all Saintes vpon the golden altar, which is before the throne.

4 And the smoke of the odours with the prayers of all Saintes [b] went vp before God, out of the Angels hand.

b Our prayers are nothing worth, vnlesse the true and sweete sauour of that onely oblation be especially and before all things with thē, that is to say, vnlesse we being first of all iustified through faith in his Sonne, be acceptable vnto him.

5 And the Angel tooke the censer, and filled it with fire of the altar, and cast it into the earth, and there were voyces, and thundrings, and lightnings, and earthquake.

6 Then the seuen Angels, which had the seuen trumpets, prepared themselues to blowe the trumpets.

7 So the first Angel blew the trumpet, and there was haile and fire, mingled with blood, and they were cast into the earth, and the third part of trees was burnt, and all greene grasse was burnt.

8 And the second Angel blewe the trumpet, and as it were a great mountaine burning with fire, was cast into the sea, & the third part of the sea became blood.

9 And the third part of ỹ creatures, which were in the sea, and had life, died, and the third part of ships were destroyed.

10 Then the third Angel blewe the trumpet, and there fell a great starre from heauen, burning like a torche, and it fell into the third part of the riuers, and into the fountaines of waters.

11 And the name of the starre is called wormwood: therefore the third part of the waters became wormewood, and many men died of the waters, because they were made bitter.

12 And the fourth Angel blewe the trumpet, and the third part of the sunne was smitten, and the third part of the moone, & the third part of the starres, so that the third part of them was darkened: and the day was smitten, that the third part of it could not shine, and likewise the night.

13 And I beheld, and heard one Angel flying through the mids of heauen, saying, with a loud voyce, Woe, woe, woe to the inhabitants of the earth, because of the soundes to come of the trumpet of the three Angels, which were yet to blow the trumpets.

CHAP. IX.

1 The fifth Angel bloweth his trumpet, 3 and spoiling locusts come out. 13 The sixt Angel bloweth, 16 & bringeth foorth horsemen, 20 to destroy mankind.

AND the fifth Angel blew the trumpet, and I sawe a starre fall from heauen vnto the earth, and to him was giuen the keie of the [a] bottomlesse pit.

a By the bottomlesse pit, he meaneth the deepest darknesse of hell.

2 And he opened the bottomlesse pit, and there arose the smoke of ỹ pit, as the smoke of a great fornace, and the Sunne, & the aire were darkened by the smoke of the pit.

3 And there came out of the smoke Locustes vpon the earth, and vnto them was giuen power, as the Scorpions of the earth haue power.

4 And it was commanded them, that they should not hurt the grasse of the earth, neither any greene thing, neither any tree: but onely those men which haue not the seale of God in their foreheads.

5 And to them was commaunded that they should not kil thē, but that they should be vexed fiue moneths, and that their paine should be as the paine that commeth of a Scorpion, when he hath stung a man.

6 * Therefore in those dayes shall men seeke death, and shall not find it, and shall desire to die, and death shal flie from them.

*Chap. 6.16. esai. 2.19. hosea 10.8.

7 And the forme of the Locustes was like vnto horses prepared vnto battell, and on their heads were as it were crowns, like vnto gold, and their faces were like the faces of men.

8 And they had haire as the haire of women, & their teeth were as the teeth of lions.

9 And they had habbergions, like to habbergions of iron: and the sound of their wings was like the sound of charets when many horses run into battell.

10 And

10 And they had tailes like vnto scorpions, and there were stings in their tailes, and their power was to hurt men fiue moneths.

11 And they haue a king ouer them, which is the Angel of the bottomles pit, whose name in Hebrew is Abaddon, and in Greeke he is named Apollyon, that is, destroying.

12 One woe is past, & behold, yet two woes come after this.

13 ¶ Then the sixt Angel blew the trumpet, and I heard a voyce from the [b] foure hornes of the golden altar, which is before God,

14 Saying to the sixt Angel, which had the trumpet, Loose the foure Angels, which are bound in the great riuer Euphrates.

15 And ỹ foure Angels were loosed, which were prepared at an houre, at a day, at a moneth, & at a yeere to slay the third part of men.

16 And the number of horsemen of warre were twentie thousand times ten thousand: for I heard the number of them.

17 And thus I saw the horses in a vision, and them that sate on them, hauing fiery habergions, and of Iacinth, & of brimstone, and the heads of the horses were as the heads of lions: and out of their mouthes went foorth fire and smoke and brimstone.

18 Of these three was the third part of men killed, that is, of the fire, and of the smoke, and of the brimstone, which came out of their mouthes.

19 For their power is in their mouthes, & in their tailes: for their tailes were like vnto serpents, and had heads, wherewith they hurt.

20 And the remnant of the mē which were not killed by these plagues, repented not of the works of their hands that they should not worship deuils, and *idols of gold and of siluer, and of brasse, and of stone, and of wood, which neither can see, neither heare nor goe.

21 Also they repented not of their murther, and of their sorcerie, neither of their fornication, nor of their theft.

CHAP. X.

1 Another Angel appeareth clothed with a clonde, 2 holding a booke open, 3 & crieth out. 8 A voyce from heauen commandeth Iohn to take the booke: 10 he eateth it.

AND I saw another mightie Angel come downe from heauē, clothed with a cloud, and the raine bow vpon his head, & his face was as the sunne, and his feete as pillars of fire,

2 And he had in his hand a litle booke open, and he put his right foote vpon the sea, and his left on the earth,

3 And cried with a loud voyce, as when a lion roareth: & when he had cried, seuen thunders vttered their voyces.

4 And when the seuen thunders had vttered their voyces, I was about to write: but I heard a voyce from heauen saying vnto mee, [a] Seale vp those things which the seuen thunders haue spoken, and write them not.

5 And the Angel which I saw stand vpon the sea, and vpon the earth, [b] lift vp his hand to heauen.

6 And sware by him that liueth for euermore, which created heauen, & the things that therein are, and the earth, and the things that therein are, and the sea, & the things that therein are, that [c] time should be no more.

7 But in the dayes of the voyce of the seuenth Angel, when he shall begin to blowe the trumpet, euen the mysterie of God shall bee finished, as he hath declared to his seruaunts the Prophets.

8 And the voyce which I heard from heauen, spake vnto me againe, and sayd, Goe and take the little booke which is open in the hand of the Angel, which standeth vpon the sea and vpon the earth.

9 So I went vnto the Angell, and sayd to him, Giue me the litle booke. And hee sayd vnto me, Take it, and eate it vp, & it shall make thy belly bitter, but it shall be in thy mouth as sweete as honie.

10 Then I tooke the litle booke out of the Angels hand, and ate it vp, and it was in my mouth as sweete as hony: but when I had eaten it, my belly was bitter.

11 And he sayd vnto me, Thou must prophesie againe among the people and nations, and tongues, and to many kings.

CHAP. XI.

1 The temple is commanded to be measured. 3 The Lord stirreth vp two witnesses 7 whom the beast murdereth, 9 and no man burieth them. 11 God raiseth them to life, 12 and calleth them vp to heauen. 13 The wicked are terrified 15 by the trumpet of the seuenth Angel: The resurrection, 18 and iudgement is described.

THen was giuen me a reede, like vnto a rod, and the Angel stoode by, saying, Rise and mete the Temple of God, and the altar, and them that worship therein.

2 But the [a] court which is without the temple [b] cast out, & mete it not: for it is giuen vnto the Gentiles, and the holy city shall they tread vnder foote, two and fortie moneths.

3 But I will giue power vnto my two witnesses, and they shall prophesie a thousand two hundred and threescore dayes, clothed in sackcloth.

4 These are two oliue trees, and two candlesticks, standing before the God of the earth.

5 And if any man will hurt them, fire proceedeth out of their mouthes, and deuoureth their enemies: for if any man will hurt them, thus must he be killed.

6 These haue power to shut heauen, that it raine not in the dayes of their prophesying, and b He alludeth to the altar of incense, which stood in the court which the Priests were in, ouer against the Arke of the Couenant, hauing a vaile betwixt them.

*Psal. 119.4. and 135.15.

a Keepe them close.

b This was a gesture vsed of one that sweareth, which men doe yet now a dayes vse.

c There shal neuer be any more time.

a He speaketh of the outer court, which was called the peoples court, because all men might come into that.

b That is counted to be cast out, which in measuring is refused as prophane.

and haue power ouer waters to turne them into blood, and to smite the earth with all maner plagues, as often as they will.

c When they haue done their message.

7 And when they haue c finished their testimonie, the beast that commeth out of the bottomlesse pit, shal make warre against them, and shal ouercome them, and kill them.

d After a more secret kind of meaning and vnderstanding.

8 And their corpses shall lie in the streetes of the great citie, which d spiritually is called Sodom and Egypt, where our Lord also was crucified.

9 And they of the people and kinreds, and tongues, and Gentiles shall see their corpses three dayes & an halfe, and shal not suffer their carkeises to be put in graues.

10 And they that dwel vpon the earth, shall reioyce ouer them and bee glad, and shall send gifts one to another: for these two Prophets vexed them that dwelt on the earth.

11 But after three dayes and an halfe, the spirit of life comming from God, shal enter into them, & they shall stand vp vpon their feete: and great feare shall come vpon them which saw them.

12 And they shall heare a great voyce from heauen, saying vnto them, Come vp hither. And they shall ascend vp to heauen in a cloude, and their enemies shall see them.

13 And the same houre shall there bee a great earthquake, and the tenth part of the city shall fall, and in the earthquake shall bee slaine in number seuen thousand: and the remnant were sore feared, and e gaue glory to the God of heauen.

e Glorified God by confessing his Name.

14 The second woe is past, & behold, the third woe will come anone.

15 And the seuenth Angel blew the trumpet, and there were great voyces in heauen, saying, The kingdoms of this world are our Lords, and his Christs, and he shall reigne for euermore.

16 Then the foure and twentie Elders, which sate before God on their seats, fell vpon their faces, and worshipped God, 17 Saying, We giue thee thanks, Lorde God almightie, Which art, and Which wast, and Which art to come: for thou hast receiued thy great might, and hast obtained thy kingdom.

18 And the Gentiles were angry, and thy wrath is come, and the time of the dead, that they should be iudged, and that thou shouldest giue reward vnto thy seruaunts the Prophets, and to the Saints, and to them that feare thy Name, to smal and great, and shouldest destroy them which destroy the earth, 19 Then the Temple of God was opened in heauen, and there was seene in his Temple the Arke of his couenant: and there were lightnings, and voyces, and thundrings, and earthquake, and much haile.

CHAP. XII.

1 A woman 2 appeareth trauelling with child, 4 whose child the dragon would deuour, 7 but Michael ouercommeth him, 9 and casteth him out, 13 and she more he is cast downe and vanquished, the more fiercely he exerciseth his subtilties.

AND there appeared a great wonder in heauen: A woman clothed with the sunne, and the moone was vnder her feete, and vpon her head a crowne of twelue starres.

2 And shee was with child, and cried trauelling in birth, and was pained ready to bee deliuered.

3 And there appeared another wonder in heauen: for behold, a great red dragon hauing seuen heads, and ten hornes, and seuen crowns vpon his heads:

4 And his taile drew the third part of the starres of heauen, & cast them to the earth. And the Dragon stoode before the woman, which was ready to be deliuered, to deuour her child, when she had brought it forth.

5 So she brought forth a man child which should rule all nations with a rod of iron: and that her child was taken vp vnto God & to his throne.

6 And the woman fled into wildernesse, where she hath a place prepared of God, that they should feed her there a thousand, two hundreth and threescore dayes.

7 And there was a battell in heauen, Michael and his Angels fought against the Dragon, and the Dragon fought and his angels.

8 But they preuailed not, neither was their a place found any more in heauen.

a They were cast out, so that they were neuer seene in heauen any more.

9 And the great Dragon, that olde Serpent, called the Deuill and Satan, was cast out, which deceiueth all the world: he was euen cast into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.

10 Then I heard a loude voyce in heauen, saying, Nowe is saluation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast downe, which accused them before our God day and night.

11 But they ouercame him by that blood of that Lambe, and by that word of their testimonie, and they b loued not their liues vnto the death.

b He is said in the Hebrew tongue, to lose his life, that esteemeth nothing more precious then his life: and on the other side, he is said not to lose his life, who doubteth not to hazard it, when soeuer need requireth.

12 Therefore reioyce, ye heauens, and yee that dwell in them. Woe to the inhabitants of the earth, & of the Sea: for the Deuill is come downe vnto you, which hath great wrath, knowing that he hath but a short time.

13 And when the Dragon saw that he was cast vnto the earth, he persecuted the woman which had brought forth the man child.

14 But to ỹ woman were giuen two wings

of a great egle, that ſhe might flie into the wil-a Into that place which God had appointed for her. derneſſe, into her a place, where ſhe is nouriſhed for a time, and times, and halfe a time, from the preſence of the ſerpent.

15 And the ſerpent caſt out of his mouth water after the woman, like a flood, that hee might cauſe her to be caried away of the flood.

16 But the earth holpe the woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and ſwallowed vp the flood, which the dragon had caſt out of his mouth.

17 Then the dragon was wroth with the woman, and went and made warre with the remnant of her ſeed, which keepe the commundements of God, and haue the teſtimonie of Jeſus Chriſt.

18 And I ſtood on the ſea ſand.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The beaſt with many heads is deſcribed, 8 which draweth the moſt part of the world to idolatrie. 11 The other beaſt riſing out of the earth, 15 giueth power vnto him.

AND I ſawe a beaſt riſe out of the ſea, hauing ſeuen heads, & ten hornes, and vp-on his hornes were ten crownes, and vpon his heads the name of blaſphemie.

2 And the beaſt which I ſaw, was like a Leopard, and his feete like a beares, and his mouth as the mouth of a lion: and the dragon gaue him his power and his throne, and great authoritie.

3 And I ſaw one of his heads as it were wounded to death, but his deadly wound was healed, and all the world wondred and folowed the beaſt.

4 And they worſhipped the dragon which gaue power vnto the beaſt, and they worſhipped the beaſt, ſaying, Who is like vnto the beaſt! who is able to warre with him!

5 And there was giuen vnto him a mouth, that ſpake great things and blaſphemies, and power was giuen vnto him, to do two and fo-tie moneths.

6 And he opened his mouth vnto blaſphemie againſt God, to blaſpheme his Name, and his tabernacle, and them that dwell in heauen.

7 And it was giuen vnto him to make war with the Saintes, and to ouercome them, and power was giuen him ouer euery kinred, and tongue, and nation.

8 Therefore all that dwell vpon the earth, ſhal worſhip him, whoſe names are not written in the booke of life of that Lambe, which was ſlaine from the beginning of the world.

9 If any man haue an eare, let him heare.

10 If any lead into captiuitie, he ſhall goe into captiuitie: * if any kill with a ſword, hee must be killed by a ſword: here is the patience and the faith of the Saints.

*Gen. 9. 6. mat. 26. 52.

11 And I beheld another beaſt comming vp out of the earth, which had two hornes like the Lambe, but he ſpake like the dragon.

12 And hee did all that the firſt beaſt could do before him, & he cauſed the earth, and them which dwell therein, to worſhip the firſt beaſt, whoſe deadly wound was healed.

13 And he did great wonders, ſo that hee made fire to come downe from heauen on the earth, in the ſight of men,

14 And deceiued them that dwell on the earth by the ſignes, which were permitted to him to do in the ſight of the beaſt, ſaying to the that dwel on the earth, that they ſhould make the image of the beaſt, which had the wound of a ſword, and did liue.

15 And it was permitted to him to giue a a To giue life as Iannes and Iambres imitated the wonders that Moſes wrought. a ſpirit vnto the image of the beaſt, ſo that the image of the beaſt ſhould ſpeake, & ſhould cauſe that as many as would not worſhip the image of the beaſt, ſhould be killed.

16 And he made all, both ſmall and great, rich and poore, free & bond, to receiue a b marke b The marke of the name of the beſt. in their right hand or in their foreheads,

17 And that no man might buy or ſel, ſaue he that had the marke, or the name of the beaſt, or the number of his name.

18 Here is wiſdom. Let him that hath wit, count the number of the beaſt: for it is the number of a man, and his number is ſixe hundred threeſcore and ſixe.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The Lambe ſtandeth on mount Sion, 4 with his chaſte worſhippers. 6 One Angell preacheth the Goſpell: 8 an other foretelleth the fall of Babylon: 9 the third warneth that the beaſt bee auoided. 13 A voyce from heauen pronounceth them happy who die in the Lord. 16 The Lords ſickle is thruſt into the harueſt, 18 and into the vintage.

THen I looked, and loe, a Lambe ſtood on mount Sion, and with him an hundred fortie and foure thouſand, hauing his Fathers
Name written in their foreheads.

2 And I heard a voyce from heauen, as the ſound of many waters, and as the ſound of a great thunder: and I heard the voyce of harpers harping with their harpes.

3 And they ſung as it were a new ſong before the throne, and before the foure beaſts, and the Elders: and no man could learne that ſong, but the hundred, fortie & foure thouſand, which were bought from the earth.

4 Theſe are they, which are not defiled with women: for they are virgins: theſe fo-low the Lambe whitherſoeuer he goeth: theſe are bought from men, being the firſt fruits vnto God, and to the Lambe.

5 And in their mouthes was found no guile:
for they are without ſpot before the throne of God.

6 ¶ Then I ſaw another Angell flee in the middes of heauen, hauing an euerlaſting Goſpell,

Goſpel, to preach vnto them that dwell on the earth, and to euery nation, and kinred, and tongue, and people,

*Pſal.145.6. 7 *Saying with a loude voyce, Feare God, and giue glory to him: for the houre of his iudgement is come: and worſhip him that *Act.14.15. made *heauen and earth, and the ſea, and the fountains of waters.

8 And there folowed another Angel, ſaying, *Babylon that great citie is fallen, it is

*Iſai.21.9. iere.51.8. chap.18.2. fallen: for ſhe made all nations to drinke of the wine of the [a] wrath of her fornication.

a Of her fornication, whereby God was prouoked to wrath.

9 ¶ And the third Angel followed them, ſaying, with a loud voice. If any man worſhip the beaſt and his image, and receiue his marke in his forehead, or on his hand,

10 The ſame ſhall drinke of the wine of the wrath of God, yea, of the pure wine, which is powred into the cup of his wrath, & he ſhall be tormented in fire and brimſtone before the holy Angels, and before the Lambe.

11 And the ſmoke of their torment ſhall aſcend euermore: and they ſhall haue no reſt day nor night, which worſhip the beaſt and his image, and whoſoeuer receiueth the print of his name.

12 Here is the patience of Saints: here are they that keepe the commaundements of God, and the faith of Ieſus.

13 Then I heard a voyce from heauen, ſaying vnto me, Write, The dead which die

b That is, for the Lord. [b] in the Lord, are fully bleſſed. Euen ſo ſaieth the Spirit: for they reſt from their labours, c By works, is meant, the reward which foloweth good works. and their [c] works follow them.

14 ¶ And I looked, and beholde, a white cloud, and vpon the cloud one ſitting like vnto the Sonne of man, hauing on his head a golden crowne, and in his hand a ſharpe ſickle.

15 And another Angel came out of the Temple, crying with a loud voyce to him that

*Ioel.3.13. ſate on the cloude, *Thruſt in thy ſickle and reape: for the time is come to reape: for the

*Matt.13.39. *harueſt of the earth is ripe.

16 And hee that ſate on the cloude, thruſt in his ſickle on the earth, and the earth was reaped.

17 Then another Angell came out of the Temple, which is in heauen, hauing alſo a ſharpe ſickle.

18 And another Angel came out from the altar, which had power ouer fire, and cried with a loude cry to him that had the ſharpe ſickle, and ſayd, Thruſt in thy ſharpe ſickle, and gather the cluſters of the vineyard of the earth: for her grapes are ripe.

19 And the Angel thruſt in his ſharpe ſickle on the earth, and cut downe the vines of ẏ vineyard of the earth, and caſt them into that great wine preſſe of the wrath of God.

20 And that wine preſſe was troden without the citie, and blood came out of the wine-preſſe, vnto the horſe bridles, by the ſpace of a thouſand and fiue hundreth furlongs.

CHAP. XV.

1 The ſeuen Angels hauing the ſeuen laſt plagues, 3 They that conquered the beaſt, praiſe God. 6 To the ſeuen Angels, 7 ſeuen vials ful of Gods wrath, are deliuered.

AND I ſaw another ſigne in heauen, great and marueilous, ſeuen Angels, hauing the ſeuen laſt plagues: for by them is fulfilled the wrath of God.

2 And I ſaw as it were a glaſſie ſea, mingled with fire, and them that had gotten victory of the beaſt, & of his image, and of his marke, and of the number of his name, ſtand at the glaſſie ſea, hauing the harpes of God,

3 And they ſung the ſong of Moſes the [a] ſeruant of God, and the ſong of the Lambe, ſaying, Great and marueilous are thy workes, Lorde God almightie: iuſt and true are thy *[b] wayes, king of Saints.

a So is Moſes called, for honors ſake, as it is ſet forth, Deut. 34. 10.

*Pſal.145.17. b Thy doings. *Iere.10.7.

4 *Who ſhall not feare thee, O Lorde, and glorifie thy Name! for thou onely art holy, and all nations ſhall come and worſhip before thee: for thy iudgementes are made manifeſt.

5 And after that, I looked, and behold, the Temple of the tabernacle of teſtimonie was open in heauen.

6 And the ſeuen Angels came out of the Temple, which had the ſeuen plagues, clothed in pure and bright linnen, & hauing their breſts girded with golden girdles.

7 And one of the foure beaſtes gaue vnto the ſeuen Angels ſeuen golden vials ful of the wrath of God, which liueth for euermore.

8 And the Temple was full of ſmoke of the glory of God and of his power, and no man was able to enter into the Temple, till the ſeuen plagues of ẏ ſeuen Angels were fulfilled.

CHAP. XVI.

2 and 17 The Angels powre out the ſeuen vials of Gods wrath giuen vnto them, and ſo diuers plagues ariſe in the world, 18 to terrifie the wicked, 19 and the inhabitants of the great citie.

AND I heard a great voyce out of the Temple, ſaying to the ſeuen Angels, Go your wayes, and powre out the ſeuen vials of the wrath of God vpon the earth.

2 And the firſt went and powred out his viall vpon the earth: and there fell a noiſome and a grieuous ſore vpon the men, which had the marke of the beaſt, and vpon them which worſhipped his image.

3 And the ſecond Angel powred out his viall vpon the ſea, and it [a] became as the blood of a dead man: and euery liuing thing died in the ſea.

a It was turned into rotten and filthie blood, ſuch as is in dead bodies.

4 And the third Angell powred out his viall vpon the riuers and fountains of waters, and and they became blood.

5 And I heard the Angel of the waters say, Lord, thou art iust, Which art, and Which wast: and Holy, because thou hast iudged these things.

6 For they shed the blood of the Saints, and Prophets, and therefore hast thou giuen them blood to drinke: for they are worthie.

7 And I heard another out of the Sanctuary say, Euen so, Lord God almightie, true and righteous are thy iudgements.

8 And the fourth Angel powred out his viall on the sunne, and it was giuen vnto him to torment men with heate of fire,

9 And men boiled in great heat, and blasphemed the Name of God, which hath power ouer those plagues, and they repented not, to giue him glory.

10 And the fift angel powred out his viall vpon the throne of the beast, and his kingdome wared darke, and they gnawed their tongues for sorow.

11 And blasphemed the God of heauen for their paines, and for their sores, and repented not of their works.

12 And the sixt Angel powred out his viall vpon the great riuer Euphrates, and the water thereof dried vp, that the way of the kings of the East should be prepared.

13 And I saw three vncleane spirits like frogs, come out of the mouth of that dragon, and out of the mouth of that beast, and out of the mouth of that false prophet.

14 For they are the spirits of deuils, working miracles, to goe vnto the Kings of the earth, and of the whole world, to gather thē to the battel of that great day of God almightie.

15 (*Beholde, I come as a theefe. Blessed is he that watcheth and keepeth his garments, least hee walke naked, and men see his filthinesse)

16 And they gathered them together into a place called in Hebrew Armagedon.

17 ¶ And the seuenth Angel powred out his viall into the ayre: and there came a loude voyce out of the Temple of heauen from the throne, saying, It is done.

18 And there were voyces, & thundrings, and lightnings, and there was a great earthquake, such as was not since men were vpon the earth, euen so mightie an earthquake.

19 And the great citie was diuided into three parts, and the cities of the nations fell: & that great Babylon came in remembrance before God, *to giue vnto her the cup of the wine of the fiercenesse of his wrath.

20 And euery Ile fled away, & the mountaines were not [b] found.

21 And there fel a great haile, like [c] talets, out of heauen vpon the men, and men blasphemed God, because of the plague of the haile: for the plague thereof was exceeding great.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The great whore is described, 2 with whom the kings of the earth committed fornication. 6 Shee is drunken with the blood of Saints. 7 The mysterie of the woman and the beast that carieth her, expounded: their destruction. 14 The Lambs victorie.

THen there came one of the seuen Angels which had the seuen vials, & talked with me, saying vnto me, Come: I will shew thee the [a] damnation of the great whore that sitteth vpon many waters, a The sentence that is pronounced against the harlot.

2 With whom haue committed fornication the kings of the earth, and the inhabitants of the earth are drunken with the wine of her fornication.

3 So he caried me away into the wildernesse in the Spirit, and I saw a woman sit vpon a [b] skarlet coloured beast, full of names of blasphemie, which had seuen heads and ten hornes.

b A skarlet colour, that is, with a red and purple garment: and surely it was not without cause that the Romish clergie were so much delighted with this colour.

4 And the woman was araied in purple and skarlet, and gilded with gold and precious stones, and pearles, & had a cup of gold in her hand, full of abominations, and filthines of her fornication.

5 And in her forehead was a name written, A mysterie, that great Babylon, that mother of whoredomes, and abominations of the earth.

6 And I sawe the woman drunken with the blood of Saints, and with the blood of the Martyrs of IESVS: and when I sawe her, I wondred with great marueile.

7 Then the Angel sayd vnto me, Wherefore marueilest thou? I wil shew thee the mysterie of that woman, and of that beast, that beareth her, which hath seuen heads, and ten hornes.

8 The beast that thou hast seene, was, and is not, and shal ascend out of the bottomles pit, and shall goe into perdition, and they that dwel on the earth, shal wonder (whose names are not written in the booke of life from the foundation of the world) when they behold the beast that was, and is not, and yet is.

c Very children know, what that seuen hilled citie is, which is so much spoken of, and whereof Virgil thus reporteth. And compassed seuen towers within one wall: that citie it is, which whē Iohn wrote these things, had rule ouer the Kings of the earth: It was, and is not, and yet it remaineth to this day, but it is declining to destruction.

9 Here is the minde that hath wisedome. The [c] seuen heads, are seuen mountains whereon the woman sitteth: they are also seuen Kings.

10 Fiue are fallen, and one is, and another is not yet come: & when he commeth he must continue a short space.

11 And the beast that was, and is not, is euen the eight, and is one of the seuen, and shall goe into destruction.

12 And the tenne hornes which thou sawest, are tenne Kings, which yet haue not receiued a kingdome, but shall receiue power, as Kings b Appeared not: which the Hebrewes vtter after this sort, were not, Gen. 5. 24.

c As it were about the weight of a talent: and a talent was threescore pound, that is, sixe hundred groats, whereby is signified a marueilous & strange kind of weight.

Kings at one houre with the beast.

13 These haue one minde, and shall giue their power, and authoritie to the beast.

14 These shall fight with the Lambe, and the Lambe shall ouercome them: * for hee is Lord of lords, and King of kings: and they that are on his side called, and chosen, and faithfull.

*Chap.10.16. 1.tim 6.15.

15 And hee sayde vnto mee, The waters which thou sawest, where the whore sitteth, are people, & multitudes, and nations, & tongues,

16 And the ten hornes which thou sawest vpon the beast, are they that shal hate ỹ whore, and shall make her desolate and naked, & shall eate her flesh, and burne her with fire.

17 For God hath put in their hearts to fulfill his will, and to do with one consent, for to giue their kingdome vnto the beast, vntill the wordes of God be fulfilled.

18 And that woman which thou sawest, is that great citie, which reigneth ouer the kings of the earth.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 The horrible destruction of Babylon is set out 11.16.18 The marchants of the earth, who were enriched with the pompe and luxuriousnesse of it, weepe, and waile: 20 But all the elect reioyce for the iust vengeance of God.

AND after these things, I saw another Angel come downe from heauen, hauing great power, so that the earth was lightened with his glory.

2 And he cryed out mightily with a loud voyce, saying, * It is fallen, it is fallen, Babylon that great citie, and is become the habitation of deuils, and the hold of all foule spirits, and a cage of euery vncleane and hatefull bird.

*Chap.14.8. esai.21.9. ierem.51.18.

3 For all nations haue drunken of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the Kings of the earth haue committed fornication with her, and the marchants of the earth are waxed rich of the abundance of her pleasures.

4 And I heard another voyce from heauen say, Goe out of her, my people, that ye bee not partakers of her sinnes, and that ye receiue not of her plagues.

5 For her sinnes are [a]come vp into heauen, and God hath remembred her iniquities.

a He vseth a word which signifieth the following of sinnes one after another, and rising one of another in such sort, that they grewe at length to such an heape, that they came vp euen to heauen.

6 Reward her, euen as shee hath rewarded you, and giue her double according to her workes: and in the cup that shee hath filled to you, fill her the double.

7 In as much as shee glorified her selfe, and liued in pleasure, so much giue you to her torment and sorow: for she saith [b] in her heart, I sit being a queene, and am [c] no widowe, and shall [d] see no mourning.

b With her selfe.

c I am full of people and my ...

d I shall ... of none.

8 Therefore shall her plagues come at [e] one day, death, and sorowe, and famine, and she shalbe burnt with fire: for that God which condemneth her, is a strong Lord.

e Shortly and at one instant.

9 And the Kings of the earth shall bewaile her, and lament for her, which haue committed fornication, & liued in pleasure with her, when they shall see that smoke of that her burning.

10 And shall stand afarre off for feare of her torment, saying, Alas, alas, that great citie Babylon, that mighty citie: for in one houre is thy iudgement come.

11 And the marchants of the earth shall weepe and waile ouer her: for no man buyeth their ware any more.

12 The ware of golde, and siluer, and of precious stone, and of pearles, and of fine linnen, and of purple, and of silke, and Skarlet, and of all maner of Thine wood, and of vessels of yuorie, and of all vessels of most precious wood, and of brasse, and of yron, and of marble, 13 And of cinnamom, and odours, and oyntments, and frankincense, and wine, and oyle, and fine floure, and wheat, and beasts, and sheepe, and horses, and charets, and seruants, and soules of men.

14 (And the [f] apples that thy soule lusted after, are departed from thee, and all things which were fatte and excellent, are departed from thee, and thou shalt finde them no more)

f By this is meant that season, which is next before the fall of the leafe, at what season fruits ripen, and the word signifieth such fruits as are longed for.

15 The marchants of these things which were waxed rich, shal stand afarre off from her, for feare of her torment, weeping & wailing,

16 And saying, Alas, alas, that great citie, that was clothed in fine linnen and purple, and Skarlet, and gilded with golde, and precious stones, and pearles,

17 For in one houre so great riches are come to desolation. And euery shipmaster, and all the people that occupie shippes, and shipmen, and whosoeuer traffike on the sea, shall stand afarre off, 18 And crie, when they see that smoke of that her burning, saying, What citie was like vnto this great citie?

19 And they shall cast dust on their heads, and crie, weeping, and wayling, and say, Alas, alas, that great citie, wherein were made rich all that had ships on the sea by her costlinesse: for in one houre she is made desolate.

20 O heauen, reioyce of her, and ye holy Apostles and Prophets: for God hath punished her to be reuenged on her for your sakes.

21 Then a mightie Angel tooke vp a stone like a great milstone, * and cast it into the sea, saying, With such violence shall that great citie Babylon be cast and shall be found no more.

*Iere.5.63.

22 And the voyce of harpers, and musicians, and of pipers, and trumpeters shall be heard no more in thee, and no craftesman, of whatsoeuer craft hee be, shall be found any more in thee: and the sound of a millstone shall be heard no more in thee.

23 And the light of a candle shall shine no more in thee: and the voice of the bridegrome and of the bride ſhall be heard no more in thee: for thy marchants were the great men of the earth: and with thine inchantments were deceiued all nations.

24 And in her was found the blood of the Prophets, and of the Saines, and of all that were ſlaine vpon the earth.

CHAP. XIX.

2 The heauenly company prayſe God, for auenging the blood of his ſeruants, on the whore. 9 They are written bleſſed, that are called to the Lambes ſupper. 10 The Angel will not be worſhipped. 11 The mightie King of Kings appeareth from heauen. 19 The battel 20 where in the beaſt is taken, 21 and caſt into the burning lake.

AND after theſe things I heard a great voyce of a great multitude in heauen, ſaying, [a] Halleluiah, ſaluation, and glory, and honour, and power be to the Lord our God.

a Praiſe the Lord.

2 For true and righteous are his iudgements, for he hath condemned that great whore, which did corrupt the earth with her fornication, and hath auenged the blood of his ſeruants ſhed by her hand.

3 And againe they ſaid, Halleluiah: and that her ſmoke roſe vp for euermore.

4 And the foure & twentie Elders, and the foure beaſts fel downe, & worſhipped God that ſate on the throne, ſaying, Amen, Halleluiah.

5 Then a voyce came out of the throne, ſaying, Prayſe our God, all ye his ſeruants, and ye that feare him, both ſmall and great.

6 And I heard like a voyce of a great multitude, and as the voyce of many waters, and as the voyce of ſtrong thunderings, ſaying, Halleluiah: for the Lord that God that almighty God hath reigned.

7 Let vs be glad and reioyce, and giue glory to him: for the marriage of that Lambe is come, & his wife hath made her ſelfe ready.

8 And to her was granted, that ſhe ſhould be arayed with pure fine linnen and ſhining, for the fine linnen is the [b] righteouſneſſe of Saints.

b Good workes which are liuely teſtimonies of faith.

9 Then he ſayd vnto me, Write, *Bleſſed are they which are called vnto the Lambs ſupper. And he ſayd vnto me, Theſe words of God are true.

*Matth.22.2.

10 And I fell before his feet, * to worſhip him: but he ſaid vnto me, See thou doe it not: I am thy fellow ſeruant, and one of thy brethren, which haue the [c] teſtimonie of Jeſus, Worſhip God: for the teſtimonie of [d] Jeſus is the Spirit of propheſie.

*Chap.22.9.

c Which are commanded to beare witneſſe of Ieſus.

d For Ieſus is the marke that all the prophecies ſhoot at.

11 And I ſaw heauen open, and beholde, a white horſe, and he that ſate vpon him, was called Faithfull and true, and hee iudgeth and fighteth righteouſly.

12 And his eyes were as a flame of fire, & on his head were many crownes: and he had a name written, that no man knew but himſelfe.

13 And hee was clothed with a garment dipt in blood, and his name is called THE WORDE OF GOD.

14 And the hoſtes which were in heauen, followed him vpon white horſes, clothed with fine linnen white and pure.

15 And out of his mouth went out a ſharpe ſword, that with it he ſhould ſmite the heathen: for he *ſhall rule them with a rod of yron: for hee it is that treadeth the wine preſſe of the fierceneſſe and wrath of Almightie God.

* Pſal.2.9.

16 And hee hath vpon his garment, and vpon his thigh a name written, * THE KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS.

* Chap.17.14. 1.tim.6.15.

17 And I ſawe an Angell ſtand in the ſunne, who cryed with a loude voyce, ſaying to all the foules that did flie by the middes of heauen, Come, and gather your ſelues together vnto the ſupper of the great God,

18 That ye may eate the fleſh of kings, and the fleſh of hie captaines, and the fleſh of mightie men, and the fleſh of horſes, and of them that ſit on them, and the fleſh of all freemen, and bondmen, and of ſmall and great.

19 And I ſawe the beaſt, and the Kings of the earth, and their hoſtes gathered together to make battell againſt him that ſate on the horſe, and againſt his armie.

20 But the beaſt was taken, and with him that falſe prophet that wrought miracles before him, whereby he deceiued them that receiued the beaſts marke, & them that worſhipped his image. Theſe both were aliue caſt into a lake of fire, burning with brimſtone.

21 And the remnant were ſlaine with the ſword of him that ſitteth vpon the horſe, which commeth out of his mouth, and all the foules were filled full with their fleſh.

CHAP. XX.

1 The Angel 2 bindeth Satan for a thouſand yeeres: 8 Being looſed, he ſtirreth vp Gog & Magog, that is prime and open enemies, againſt the Saints, 11 but the vengeance of the Lorde cutteth off their inſolencie, 12 The bookes are opened, by which the dead are iudged.

AND I ſawe an Angel come downe from heauen, hauing the key of the bottomles pit, and a great chaine in his hand.

2 And hee tooke the dragon that old ſerpent, which is the deuill and Satan, and bound him a thouſand yeeres,

3 And caſt him into the bottomles pit, and he ſhut him vp, & ſealed the doore vpon him, that he ſhould deceiue the people no more, till the thouſand yeeres were fulfilled: for after that he muſt be looſed for a litle ſeaſon.

a For iudgement was cõmitted to them, as to members ioyned to the head: not that Chriſtes office was giuen ouer to them.

4 And I ſawe [a] ſeates: and they ſate vpon them, and iudgement was giuen vnto them, & I ſaw the ſoules of them that were beheaded for the

the witnes of Jeſus, and for the word of God, and which did not worſhip ẏ beaſt, neither his image, neither had taken his marke vpon their foreheads, or on their hands: and they liued and reigned with Chriſt a thouſand yeere.

5 But the reſt of the dead men ſhal not liue againe vntil the thouſand yeeres bee finiſhed: this is the firſt reſurrection.

6 Bleſſed and holy is hee, that hath part in the firſt reſurrection: for on ſuch the ſecond death hath no power: but they ſhall bee the Prieſts of God and of Chriſt, and ſhall reigne with him a thouſand yeere.

7 And when the thouſand yeere are expired, Satan ſhalbe looſed out of his priſon,

8 And ſhall goe out to deceiue the people, which are in the foure quarters of the earth: euen * Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battell whoſe number is, as the ſand of the ſea.

* Eze.39.2.

9 And they went vp into the [b] plain of the earth, & they compaſſed the tents of the Saints about, and the beloued citie: but fire came down from God out of heauen, and deuoured them.

b As if he ſaid, inſomuch that the whole face of the earth, how great ſoeuer it is, was filled.

10 And the deuill that deceiued them, was caſt into a lake of fire & brimſtone, where that beaſt and that falſe prophet are, and ſhalbe tormented euen day and night for euermore.

11 And I ſawe a great white throne, and one that ſate on it, from whoſe face fled away both the earth and the heauen, and their place was no more found.

12 And I ſawe the dead, both great and ſmall ſtand before God: and the bookes were opened, and * another book was opened, which is the booke of life, and the dead were iudged of thoſe things, which were written in the bookes, according to their works.

* Chap.3.5. and 21.27. philip.4.3.

13 And the ſea gaue vp their dead, which were in her, and death and hel deliuered vp the dead, which were in them: and they were iudged euery man according to their works.

14 And death and hell, were caſt into the lake of fire: this is the ſecond death.

15 And whoſoeuer was not found written in the booke of life, was caſt into ẏ lake of fire.

CHAP. XXI.

2 And I John ſawe the holy citie newe Hieruſalem come downe from God out of heauen, prepared as a bride trimmed for her huſband.

3 And I heard a great voice out of heauen, ſaying, Beholde, The Tabernacle of God is with men, and he wil dwel with them, and they ſhalbe his people, and God himſelf ſhalbe their God with them,

4 * And God ſhal wipe away al teares frō their eyes, and there ſhalbe no more death, neither ſorow, neither crying, neither ſhall there be any more pain: for ẏ firſt things are paſſed.

a Their lot and inheritance as it were.

9 And there came vnto me, one of the ſeuen Angels, which had the ſeuen vials full of the ſeuen laſt plagues, and talked with mee, ſaying, Come: I will ſhew thee the bride, the Lambes wife.

10 And he caried me away in the ſpirite to a great and an hie mountaine, and hee ſhewed me that great citie, that holy Hieruſalem, deſcending out of heauen from God,

11 Hauing the glory of God: and her ſhining was like vnto a ſtone moſt precious, as a Jaſper ſtone cleere as Chryſtall, 12 And had a great wall and hie, and had twelue gates, and at the gates twelue Angels, and the names written, which are the twelue tribes of the children Iſrael.

13 On the Eaſt part there were three gates, and on the Northſide three gates, on the Southſide three gates, and on the Weſt ſide three gates.

14 And the wall of the citie had twelue foundations, and in them the Names of the Lambes twelue Apoſtles.

15 And he that talked with me had a golden reed, to meaſure the citie withall, and the gates thereof, and the wall thereof.

b A foure ſquared figure hath equall ſides, and ouright corners, and therefore the Grecians call by this name thoſe things that are ſtedfaſt, and of continuance, and perfect.

16 And the citie lay [b] foure ſquare, and the length is as large as the breadth of it, and hee meaſured the city with the reede, twelue thouſand furlongs: and the length, and the breadth, and the height of it are equall.

17 And hee meaſured the wall thereof, an hundreth fourtie and foure cubits, by the meaſure of man, that is, of the [c] Angel.

c He addeth this becauſe the Angel had the ſhape of a man.

18 And the building of the wall of it was of Iasper: and the citie was pure golde, like vnto cleere glasse.

19 And the foundations of the wall of the citie were garnished with all maner of precious stones: the first foundation was Iasper: the second of Saphire: the third of Chalcedonie: the fourth of an Emerande:

20 The fift of a Sardonix: the sixt of a Sardius: the seuenth of a Chrysolite: the eight of a Beryl: the ninth of a Topaze: the tenth of a Crysoprasus: the eleuenth of a Iacynth: the twelfth an Amethyst.

21 And the twelue gates were twelue pearles, and euery gate is of one pearle, and the [d] streete of the citie is pure golde, as shining glasse.

[d] By the streete, he meaneth the broadest place of the citie.

22 And I sawe no Temple therein: for the Lord God Almightie and the Lambe are the Temple of it.

23 * And this citie hath no neede of the Sunne, neither of the Moone to shine in it: for the glorie of God did light it: and the Lambe is the light of it.

25 * And the gates of it shal not be shut by day: for there shalbe no night there.

* Esai.60.11.

26 And the glory, and honour of the Gentiles shalbe brought vnto it.

27 And there shall enter into it none vncleane thing, neither whatsoeuer worketh abomination or lies: but they which are written in the Lambes * booke of life.

CHAP. XXII.

1 The riuer of water of life is shewed, 2 and the tree of life: 6.7 Then followeth the conclusion of this prophecy, 8 where Iohn declareth, that the things herein conteined are most true: 13 And nowe the thirde time repeateth these wordes, All things come from him, who is the beginning and the end.

AND he shewed me a pure riuer of water of life, cleare as crystall, proceeding out of the throne of God, and of the Lambe.

2 In the middest of the streete of it, and of either side of the riuer was the tree of life which bare twelue maner of fruits, and gaue fruit euery moneth: and the leaues of the tree serued to heale the nations with.

3 And there shalbe no more curse, but the throne of God and of the Lambe shall be in it, and his seruants shall serue him.

4 And they shal see his face, and his Name shalbe in their foreheads.

5 * And there shalbe no night there, & they neede no candle, neither light of the sunne: for the Lord God giueth them light, and they shall reigne for euermore.

* Esa.60.19.

6 And he saide vnto me, These words are faithfull and true: and the Lorde God of the holy Prophets sent his Angel to shew vnto his seruants the things which must shortly be fulfilled.

7 Beholde, I come shortly. Blessed is hee that keepeth the words of the prophecie of this booke.

8 And I am Iohn, which saw & heard these things: and when I had heard and seene, * I fell downe to worship before the feet of the Angel, which shewed me these things.

* Chap.19.10.

9 But he said vnto me, See thou do it not: for I am thy fellowe seruant, and of thy brethren the Prophets, and of them which keepe the words of this booke: worship God.

10 And he saide vnto mee, Seale not the wordes of the prophecie of this booke: for the time is at hand.

11 He that is vniust, let him bee vniust stil: and he which is filthy, let him be filthy stil: and he that is righteous, let him bee righteous stil: and he that is holy, let him be holy stil.

12 And behold, I come shortly, and my reward is with mee, * to giue euery man according as his worke shalbe.

* Rom.2.6.

13 I am * Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last.

* Chap.1.8. and 21.6. esai.41.4. and 44.6.

14 Blessed are they, that do his commaundements, that their right may bee in the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the citie.

15 For without shalbe dogs & enchanters, and whoremongers, and murtherers, and idolaters, and whosoeuer loueth or maketh lies.

16 I Iesus haue sent mine Angel, to testifie vnto you these things in the Churches: I am the root and the generation of Dauid, and the bright morning starre.

17 And the Spirit & the bride say, Come. And let him that heareth, say, Come: and let him that is athirst, come: and * let whosoeuer wil, take of the water of life freely.

* Esai.55.1.

18 For I protest vnto euery man that heareth the words of the prophecie of this booke, If any man shal adde vnto these things, God shal adde vnto him the plagues, that are written in this booke:

19 And if any man shall diminish of the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the booke of life, and out of the holy citie, & from those things which are written in this booke.

20 He which testifieth these things, saith, Surely I come quickely. Amen. Euen so, come Lord Iesus.

21 The grace of our Lorde Iesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

THE ENDE.

¶ A BRIEFE TABLE OF THE INTERPREtation of the proper names which are chiefly found in the Olde Teſtament, wherein the firſt number ſignifieth the Chapter, the ſeconde the verſe.

WHereas the wickedneſſe of time, and the blindneſſe of the former age hath beene ſuch, that all things altogether haue beene abuſed and corrupted, ſo that the very right names of diuers of the holy men named in the Scriptures haue beene forgotten, and now ſeeme ſtrange vnto vs, and the names of infants that ſhould euer haue ſome godly aduertiſements in them, and ſhould be memorials and markes of the children of God receiued into his houſhold, haue beene hereby alſo changed and made the ſignes and badges of idolatry and heathenish impiety: we haue nowe ſet foorth this Table of the names that be moſt vſed in the olde Teſtament with their interpretations, as the Hebrew importeth, partly to call backe the godly from that abuſe, when they ſhall know the true names of the godly Fathers, and what they ſignifie, and their children now named after them, may haue teſtimonies by their very names, that they are within that faithfull familie that in all their doings had euer God before their eyes, and that they are bounde by theſe their names to ſerue God from their infancy, and haue occaſion to praiſe him for his workes wrought in them, and their fathers, but chiefly to reſtore the names to their integritie, whereby many places of the Scriptures and ſecret myſteries of the holy Ghoſt ſhall better be vnderſtanded. We haue medled rarely with the Greeke names, becauſe their interpretation is vncertaine, and many of them are corrupted from their originall, as wee may alſo ſee theſe Hebrew names ſet in the margent of this Table, which haue beene corrupted by the Grecians. Nowe for the other Hebrewe names that are not here interpreted, let not the diligent reader be carefull: for he ſhal finde them in places moſt conuenient amongſt the Annotations: at leaſt ſo many as may ſeeme to make for any edification, and vnderſtanding of the Scriptures.
